Kitty's Korner By Kitty Montgomery

We always have hail in April, but this is the first time the garden club has been forced to cancel its annual flower show on that account. Seems that in April past the hail came long enough before the annual show to allow new growth to bloom or following the show. However, last Friday's hail pounded the prize specimens and bruised the buds that might have been blooming today, so no show.

And I understand that it will not be rescheduled. I had the loveliest Peace roses Friday. Those in full bloom were as big as saucers. I felt sure that I would be able to enter them in the horticulture division but the hail that night took care of that. The bush is in full bloom today, but the roses are only half as large and all deformed as a result of the pounding hail.

Seeing lots of activity at the old Meinecke building, I ambled over and discovered that it is being readied for a bakery, with sweets and custom cakes a specialty. Mr. and Mrs. M. Crosby of Alamogordo, N. M., will own and operate the sweet shop. I had an interesting talk with Mr. Crosby, who is a good advertisement for his baked goods, being about as broad as he is long. He told me that he got that way eating his own baking.

The Crosbys picked Ozona to set up shop in a most unusual manner. They sold their bakery in Alamogordo after 27 years and started out to vacation and look for a new location. Arriving in Ozona late one afternoon, they were impressed with the beauty of our town. They liked everything they saw in Ozona and discussed it as they went on their way to check out a list of 20 to 25 bakery locations. Their trip took them through East Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

They stopped at a motel in Central Texas and were looking over their list of locations on their return trip when Mr. Crosby asked his wife where she would like to locate. After a moment's thought she said "Let's go back to Ozona." Although Ozona was not on their list and they had little knowledge about the prospects, they returned the next day to investigate and found things to their liking. Mrs. Crosby is tying up loose ends at their former home and will move to Ozona next week. If everything goes according to schedule, the bakery will open May 5 and will feature fresh baked goods daily. So prepare to gain a few pounds.

School is coming to an end and teachers and kids alike are tired and ready for their 3-month vacation. I wouldn't mind a 3-month vacation myself and heaven knows I'm tired, born that way I guess.

Think I'll pull a sneaky this year. When school is out I'll find Jim a job and take myself a 3-month vacation. In fact, if I can find him a job, I may just keep him working. According to television films, all kids do on college campuses is run around trying to find out who they are and protesting. He already knows who he is and if he is working, he won't find time to protest.

Ozona HS Band To Compete In Cisco Contest

The Ozona High School Lion Band will travel to Cisco this weekend to compete in the Region 7 Concert and Sightreading Contest. Cisco Junior College will host the visiting bands. Classes 2-A and 3-A bands will compete Saturday.

Under the direction of band director Tommy Sanders, the Lion Band will play three numbers in concert and one for the sightreading contest. The concert repertoire will include "Chant and Jubilo," in which sounds of modern music predominate, "Tocatta for Band" and "Jubilissumarsch." The final number was sent to Sanders by Joe Bellamah, band director at Teas A&I College. As far as is known, the Ozona band is the only high school band in the United States to play the Zurich march.

The sightreading number will be unknown until the music is passed out to the band. It will be judged by how well the number is played by the band for the first time.

Class AA bands competing with Ozona include Hamilton, Coleman, Marble Falls, Winters, Grandbury, Cisco, Ballinger, Burnet, Llano, Clyde, Comanche and Brady.

Bands will be rated on performance. Ratings range from Division I, which is superior, through V, which is poor. Last year the Ozona band received a Division II rating, which is good.

However, this year the band will be competing in Class AA instead of Class A and the higher ratings will require a better performance.

Sanders said that in spite of the stiffer competition, he expects a Division II rating at least and possibly a Division I rating. He went on to say that this year's band is by far the finest he has had since he came to Ozona over five years ago and chances for an excellent rating are very good.

Earlier in the year, the band received a Division II rating at marching contest in Brady.

He drove back to town and was treated and released at the hospital. In spite of numerous stitches, he was able to be up and about Tuesday.

Two In-Town Auto Crashes Result In Property Damage

Two auto wrecks were reported by officers over the weekend, both in the city. Damage was heavy in one mishap, but there were no personal injuries in either collision.

A collision at 7:15 Saturday morning at the intersection of Ave. G and 12th St. was responsible for a around $1,100 worth of automobile damage. Vernon Shannon was traveling west on 12th St. in a 1968 Chevrolet and Elisa DeHoyos was traveling north on Ave. G in a 1968 Chevrolet station wagon, the two autos colliding in the intersection. Damage to each vehicle was estimated at $500 to $600. No injuries resulted.

Sunday morning around 1:15 a 1962 Chevrolet driven by Braulio Ramirez stalled from high water in the draw on Ave. A. As the vehicle was being pulled out of the draw, it was hit in the rear by another vehicle. Damage was negligible.

Another date for the show had not been set at press time.

Hospital Rates, County Copier Prices Raised

Due to an increase in the cost of supplies, the price of Xerox copiers was increased from six cents to ten cents on the County's Xerox machine in the clerk's office. The price raise was approved at the regular April meeting of the commissioners court.

On recommendation of the hospital board, the commissioners increased hospital rates. A semi-private room was raised from $18 per day to $22 and a private room from $20 to $25 per day.

The court heard a report on the rabies vaccination clinic from county agent Pete Jacoby and Mrs. James Dockery reported on the Youth Council activities.

Lion Tracksters Are Eliminated In Regional Finals

Track season came to an official end for Ozona High School tracksters last weekend in the Regional meet in Lubbock, with a large crowd of Ozonans on hand.

All the Ozona boys qualified for the finals, Mike Haire in the high jump, Fleet Coates in the 220-yd dash, David Pagan in the discus, and the mile relay team of Don Huff, David Huff, Rodney Pagan and Coates tied for third best time in the qualifying round.

Luck wasn't with the Lions during the finals on Saturday and they won only two places. Mike Haire picked up a third place in the high jump and the mile relay team came in sixth.

Tippett Field Gains Confirmer VIP Re-entry Set

The Tippett multipay field gained its second lower Wolfcamp gas producer and a 7/8-mile northwest extension to that pay with completion of Forest Oil Corp. 1 Lamkin-Bassett, former Wolfcamp oil producer in the Crockett County portion of the field, 15 miles south of McCamey.

It was mined for acalculated, absolute open flow of 28 million cubic feet of dry gas per day through perforations at 6,296 feet, which had been acidized with 250 gallons. Top of pay was picked at 6,280 feet on Kelly bushing elevation of 2,676 feet.

Plugged back depth is 6,301 feet.

Original completion was in 1949 through perforations at 6,314-319 feet. Originally drilled to 6,330 feet, 5/2-inch casing was set at 6,325 feet.

Location is 440 feet from the southeast and southwest lines of the northwest half of 3-GC&SF.

The other producer is the firm's No. 1-A J. H. Tippett, which also produces from the regular Wolfcamp oil pay.

PROTESTERS' VICTORY

There has been a great deal of debate on whether or not the anti-war demonstrations are detrimental to national security. There is little doubt that the majority of U. S. citizens are in favor of maintaining a strong defense as a means of regaining the peace that all sensible men seek.

One question the adherents of the war resistance movement might ponder is what the enemy in Vietnam is doing to exploit the antics of the radical protesters. The answer can be found in news releases from Hanoi that invariably follow the statements of a few of the less rational doves in our government and in the well-financed peace demonstrations. The North Vietnam communist leaders boast of this as being the will of the majority of Americans. They know that this is false, but the Vietnamese people have no access to the truth and must accept the word of their rulers as gospel.

Another aspect of the radical dissenters' actions is not quite so conspicuous, but equally destructive. This is the closing down of Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) programs on campuses and the harassment of service recruiters on university campuses. School administrators find it easier to surrender to the demands of the violent than to continue to give academic credit, or in some cases even to continue the ROTC programs.

Even as they close the military training programs they encourage new courses in many fields that have no reason for being except as sops to the demands of radicals and special interest groups.

The banning of armed forces recruiters on campuses has caused the Marine Corps to fall short of its needs for new officer material and to lower standards for officer recruitment. This decline in standards should be viewed with some concern. These officers will be the men in charge of leading our sons in battle. Their knowledge and ability could mean the difference between life and death, victory or defeat for our soldiers. This seems to us to argue for more forceful measures in coping with violent demonstrators.

VANISHING AMERICAN

The man who brought many of us into the world, ministered to our coughs and our measles, and prescribed cures for all the small ailments associated with day-to-day survival is, according to acceptable authority, a disappearing breed.

A recent story in The New York Times described the alarming drop in the number of men who, within the recollection of many readers, constituted the whole body of authority and knowledge in the practice of medicine. A survey conducted in the small towns of New York State, reported that "the percentage of physicians in general practice has dropped from 70 to 21 per cent in the past 40 years."

This is a statistic that makes us feel both ancient and enlightened. Ancient, because specialization had surged upon us with its more sensitive diagnostic distinctions. Enlightened, because there simply isn't any way a specialist in the bizarre functions of the left nostril can tell you what's wrong down there in your ankle-joint.

It seems to us that there is much more to the basic problem than an accelerating majority of specialists. It goes back to the original mission of "The Doctor" in the small towns of this country. The doctor we have in mind was a generalist in the finest sense of the word. He was part psychiatrist (though he would have had no truck with the word); part disciplinarian, part dispenser of solace, occasional inventor of reasons — why, and — nearly always — gentle creditor to half the town.

The medical world is now beginning to take appropriate note of the value of the General Practitioner. We applaud this somewhat tardy recognition, but would like to suggest that this minority group has been drawing sustenance, all along, from one of the most responsive quarters of the human anatomy: the warm and grateful heart.

Washington News Letter

Congressman O. C. Fisher

Aside from Red faces of some local ex-Harvardites who, until recent campus eruptions, prided themselves and their alma mater as being somewhat above the mob-type forays of the mal-adjusted, the local scene last week was marked by publicity-seeking, camera-supported Senators probing around in a frantic search for underfed slum dwellers, and new developments on the fate of the poverty program.

Transcending all was the brutal shooting down of a U. S. plane and resulting murder of 31 helpless Americans. This massacre occurred more than 90 miles from the border of North Korea, whose migs did the dirty work. In the course of events there must, in the minds of many of us, be appropriate retaliation.

On the poverty front, a U. S. General Accounting Office (GAO) report, following a massive survey which took 15 months, manned by 250 investigators, found many defects, overlaps, confusion, extravagance, and waste of effort, by the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO).

The report called for many changes, including a transfer of Headstart to the Office of Education, the Job Corps to the Department of Labor, and dropping the Neighborhood Youth Corps because of its ineffectiveness.

Only the Community Action programs — by providing neighborhood centers in some cities for service for the poor — were found to have accomplished very much.

GAO's sharpest criticism was directed at the Job Corps, which spends $8,300 per man per year on training drop-outs. Investigators found little improvement of employability of Job Corps trainees that would not have otherwise occurred.

Since jobs and birth controls constitute the only real answer to poverty, I rather like the idea of dismantling the present grant programs and replace this with a voluntary and private enterprise plan which would feature tax write-offs to businesses willing to invest in poverty areas and to train unemployed workers there.

It looks as though the taxpayer will be the first of America's natural resources to be completely exhausted. — Springfield (Mass.) Record.

You know the old saying about not being able to fool all the people all the time. However, these superhighway interchange signs come pretty close to it. — Belton (Tex.) Journal.

OBEEDIENCE

By Mencha Diaz

Most parents think that their kids pay no attention to what they say.

On the contrary, the young people always consider what their parents will say before doing or not doing something which is thought to be bad. If the kids do a bad thing or break a rule of some kind, they don't mean to disobey, but a situation has come up where they have no choice.

When the parents are giving the kid a lecture, they know what their parents must think of them, but the kids are not always right.

By having this misunderstanding, the youngsters tend to make matters worse by disobeying a few more times. The parents then give them a hard punishment, which either straightens out everything or causes the young persons to become bad. They usually keep doing bad things until they abuse the law and end up in jail.

DRESS CODES

By Deena Vargas

Every schoolday morning teenagers all over America wake-up, stumble out of bed, and, as they search through closets and bureaus make their first decision of the day: what to wear to school. The possibilities are limited by what you own, what's clean, what your mother will let you out of the house in, and what your school dress code permits you to wear.

Most schools have dress codes of some kind. They consist of a long list of don'ts, plus means of expelling you after two warnings. Whatever the nature of the dress code, it's really not necessary.

The reasons are simple and may seem "terribly teenage" to most people. But, teenagers feel strongly that they are old enough to decide what is decent enough to wear to school. This idea of dress codes, does not improve their taste or self-respect, but rather destroys individuality.

The people who enforce these dress codes may wonder why a teenager would complain since the rules aren't really strict, but they wish to imply that they have more sense than to wear rollers, three-inch heels, or other such things.

The individual who often gets stepped on is the girl who wears pants to school to keep from freezing, or the who still likes to wear jeans, even though his friends have switched to dress pants. Don't these people have reasons for their attire?

It's sad not to be able to dress as you like. Because, despite anyone's opinion, some boys look good in long hair. Not all long-haired boys are hippies or go out and start demonstrations. I'm sure there are many long-haired boys who are good students and responsible people.

"Where will it all lead to, if we let them dress as they like?" ask the defenders of the code. Really no where, because for a few days there may be excitement, but after that everything would go right back to normal.

It's true that school is supposed to set standards of our conduct, but it is also where we go to learn to think, to judge, to make our own decisions. Dressing according to the rules won't change our taste or sense of right and wrong. But, remember "Clothes Don't Make the Man."

EDUCATION

By Charles Turland

Education is a good thing. With this, almost everybody is in agreement.

But what is expected of those who are educated?

The ability to make a good living.

The skills to perform efficiently at some occupation or profession.

The knowledge of the social graces that make females and males — ladies and gentlemen.

Are these the objectives of American schools, homes, and churches?

Partially, yes. Still, there must be a more important reason to educate youth. And that reason must be to educate each young person in the knowledge of freedom.

Freedom to make intelligent decisions.

Freedom to choose between the right and the wrong.

Freedom to question, even those who teach that which is "right and wrong."

Freedom to admit error and to rectify that error in the future.

Yes, American institutions produce a great number of learned students — students trained to be drivers and dentists, mechanics and architects. They teach skills. But who teaches the problems of life?

Solutions to everyday problems are simple, even if the facts relating to them are few. But what truly educated person has the answer to a problem with a mountain of fates?

The American people — members of a free society — need few people educated with skills. The American people need more citizens with questions yet unanswered based on mountains of facts.

Schools and homes and churches are not machines that supply answers. They are but guides to ideas that provide facts that many may supply answers.

And in this complex world and educated citizenry, should be prepared not to criticize, not to revolt, not to destroy, but to think, to plan, to sacrifice in an age of abominable bombs.

Closed and prejudiced minds, eager and ready to accept the easy answers to every problem, doom, not only themselves, but their country.

The future belongs to the questioning mind using facts learned from past mistakes. The future is in the minds of the learned who seek truth.

Answer to problems are easy.

Truth demands doubt, questions, research, and the cooperation of others who seek the truth.

For truth alone can make man free.

The 3 numbers that the band will play are "Chant and Jubilo", "Tocatta for Band" and "Jublasaum Marsch." The sightreading number is unknown until time to play the song. Windows of the Soul

Eyes have been called the windows of the soul. Clarity, expression and size—all of these are supposed to reveal character. A child's eyes seem innocent. But small, closely-placed eyes may also indicate deception. Some even say that you can tell a criminal by his eyes.

Calling it nonsense, even scientists find it hard to dispel the old wives' tales that have persisted for centuries.

Eyes, in a certain sense, can be the windows of the soul—precious windows through which you look at life. Don't judge another man by his eyes. Look instead through eyes of understanding and compassion, for in God's sight we are all equal. If your inner vision has been a bit faulty lately, why not start going to church next Sunday?

MIRACLE OF THE ACORN

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS

From Your State Capital By Vern Sanford Texas Press Assn.

Austin, Texas — Nine proposed constitutional amendments, headed by a recommended boost in the welfare ceiling from $60 million to $80 million and a $3.5 billion water bond proposition, are ready for an August 5 ballot.

Secretary of State Martin Dies, Jr., supervised drawing to determine ballot positions as soon as the legislature cleared the measures.

Here are the amendments as they will appear on the ballot.

HJR 3 — to delete obsolete provisions from the constitution.

HJR 9 — to authorize a $3.5 billion water revenue bond issue for financing the state's share of a $9 billion statewide water plan.

SJR 31 — to raise the present $4,800 a year salary of state legislators to the state-paid maximum level of district judges ($18,000) and give the lieutenant governor and house speaker half the pay of the governor (about $200,000 a year).

SJR 6 — to exempt non-profit water supply corporations from taxation.

SJR 8 — to raise the public welfare outlay limit from $60 million to $80 million a year.

HJR 7 — to raise the constitutional interest rate limit on some state government bonds.

HJR 4 — to provide for assistance payments to survivors of volunteer firemen, police and Texas Youth Council employees killed on duty.

HJR 50 — to authorize an additional $200 million in Texas Opportunity Plan student loan funds.

HJR 8 — to provide for annual legislative sessions. Voters last November rejected a raise in the welfare ceiling to $75 million (which has resulted in two cuts in benefit payments) and a hike in lawmaker pay to $8,400 a year.

CONGRESSIONAL REDISTRICTING — Anticipating U. S. Supreme Court orders that Texas must redistrict congressional districts to "mathematical exactness" after that court ordered the state of Missouri to do just that, Governor Preston Smith asked the Legislature to create a 7-man fact-getting committee and present them to the 1971 Legislature. Committee will be headed by Secretary of State Martin Dies, Jr., and will include three state senators and three House members.

Governor said he had been assured 1970 federal census statistics would be available in November of 1970 on computer tapes and proposed a committee budget of $225,000 which would include data computer rents.

He reasoned that this preparation would enable the 1971 Legislature to redistrict realistically. In case the state is ordered to redistrict before the 1970 census, Smith said the committee would have current information ready for legislative use in a special session.
