Kitty's Korner

By Kitty Montgomery

All Ozonans need to get to the city every now and then in order to really appreciate the town we live in.

We visited our son, Jim, in Austin last week, and getting back to uncrowded, quiet and peaceful Ozona was really a pleasure.

I've always considered Austin a rather small town, or small to medium. However, the pace last weekend almost got me down.

Jim was out of pocket when we got there, so Tom drove me around town. He makes me nervous in traffic at best, and that traffic was "the worst" to say the least. Anyway, he soon found out that he couldn't drive astraddle the white line, and change lanes anytime he wished.

He found this out, of course, after nearly getting smashed a couple of times. Well, by the time we got to see Jim, my composure was gone and I was ready to take my acid indigestion and get back to Ozona.

When you haven't seen your only child in two months, you tend to soften, so I relaxed as best I could and we went to lunch. This time with Jim driving, which was somewhat better.

We went to one of our "used to be" favorite places to eat, only to find noise, crowds, and you name it. We had to shout to carry on a conversation.

Arriving early in the day, we had no idea that it might be a little hard to find a place to stay the night, but it was "no rooms without reservations," almost every place we went, except of course the last one. It was on the freeway, or right off it, and if it had not been for the wailing of ambulances and sirens, we would have had a nice quiet visit.

We went to the fairly new mall to shop and were jostled further by the milling crowd. Pretty shops, but no leisurely shopping and browsing like we are able to do even on Saturday in Ozona. It was rush and tug all the way, and at least a mile back to the car.

We went to a nice place for dinner, and if it hadn't been for the cocktail lounge, we would have had to stand in line for an hour before eating. About all I enjoyed about the trip was seeing Jim, satisfying myself that he hadn't turned into a freak, the beautiful flowers, and the drive home.

A note to all the old friends of Maude S. Sanger, formerly of Ozona, Maude S. has been named "First Lady of Fort Stockton," and she will be honored with a tea in that city April 3 at the Rural Country Club from 2 till 4 in the afternoon.

She called last night to ask that I put a note in the paper asking all her friends to attend. She was going to send notes, but was afraid she would leave someone out inadvertently, so please feel free to go.

Drama Class To Present One-Act Play Fri. Nite

The cast of the UIL One-Act play will present their contest play, "The School For Husbands", Friday night at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Admission is free and everyone is invited to attend and support the students in this contest.

Moliere, a French playwright, wrote the "School For Husbands" in the 1600's, but the action of the play holds a timely lesson for us today. Ugly, stingy old Sganarelle wants to marry his ward, pretty young Isabelle; but she loves handsome Valere. So the young ones flirt behind the old one's back and make a fool of him, while Ariste and Sganarelle argue about the correct way to discipline wives and/or children. Steve Wilkins plays Sganarelle and Denise Deaton plays Isabelle. Other characters in the play are: Valere, Jack Baggett; Ariste, Brad Hoover; Leonor, Shelley Jones; Lisette, Rebecca Jones; Ergaste, Randal Papan; A notary, Ricky Webster; A Lackey, Debbie Deaton; A Lamplighter, Lynn Thompson. Crew members are David Sewell, Melonie Feltner, and Lida Tillman. Mrs. Tony Allen is the director.

The play will be presented Monday night in Crane at 6 o'clock for the district contest. Various clubs have invited the student to perform for them this week in preparation for the contest and these include The Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, Ozona Woman's League, and the Lion's Club. The students have worked 2 months on the play, practicing early and late around the spring sports and they would appreciate your presence Friday night.

Easter Seal Sales Go Well
 Crockett County's Easter Seal Representative reported today that the 1973 Easter Seal Appeal of the Easter Seal Society for Cripple Children and Adults is going well. Roy H. Thompson serves as Easter Seal Appeal Treasurer for Crockett County.

As Easter Seal Representative, Thompson is the person to contact for services from the Easter Seal Society. He can be contacted at Ozona National Bank, Ozona. When contacted for services, Thompson will provide the request to the Easter Seal Society to investigate the needs of the disabled person. The Society will advise the handicapped person of the best resources available to help him. Thompson added that contributions to the Easter Seal Appeal should be sent to him as soon as possible.

PREPARING DOOR PRIZES FOR THE DISTRICT 6 HOMEMAKER MEETING which will be held in Ozona Tuesday are Mrs. Glenn Sutton, right, Miss Debra Gentry, Crockett County Extension Agent, seated, and Mrs. Troy Williams, left. The ladies are from the local club which is hosting the event. Ninety-five homemakers had registered Monday of this week. Over 150 area homemakers are expected to attend.

District Homemakers To Meet In Ozona

The District 6 meeting of the Texas Home Demonstration Association will be Tuesday April 3, from 9:00 to 3:00 at the Civic Center. All homemakers are welcome to attend. Registration will be 35¢ and lunch will be $2.00. Individuals buying meal tickets will be eligible for free door prizes.

Mrs. Holloway District 6 THDA Director from Stanton will be presiding officer for the day's event. John Berkeley will give the morning invocation, with Mrs. George Glynn and Judge Troy Wilkins presiding. Through the district agents she supervises personnel and program development of counties where there are home economics programs.

Miss Williams is a native of Granbury and attended Tarleton State College before receiving her B. S. from Texas Woman's University. She received her M. S. in cooperative extension education, University of Wisconsin at Madison, 1959. She has done graduate studies at Texas A&M University and University of Arizona.

Three different workshops (Cultural Arts, 4-H, and Health) will be held during the afternoon session. Following the workshops, service project reports from each county will be presented. Elizabeth Zapata will present a talk on the THDA Scholarship to the afternoon session.

Tax Office To Be Open Sat.

The Tax Assessor-Collector's office in the courthouse annex will be open Saturday for late license plate purchases.

Vehicle owners are reminded that 1973 motor vehicle tags must be on cars by April 1. After that date, a penalty will be charged or an affidavit must be signed to the effect that the vehicle has not been on county or state roads since the April 1 at midnight deadline.

As of Tuesday, approximately 15 percent of Crockett County vehicle owners had not purchased new license plates. The office which usually is closed Saturday will be open until 5 p.m. this Saturday only.

Mrs. Audra Moore of San Angelo and Mrs. Billie Whately of Wichita Falls, both former Ozonans, were visitors here last week.

Lion Golfers Pull Up On Big Lake Team

Ozona Lion Golfers pulled to within 9 strokes of the Big Lake leaders at the district tournament in Crane last week. Crane and McCamey tied with a team score of 336, followed by Ozona with 338 and Big Lake with 343.

Ozona's district tournament was held here yesterday, but scores were not available by press time.

After four district tournaments, Big Lake leads with a team score of 1292, Ozona is next with 1301, followed by McCamey with 1320, and Crane with 1323.

The top two teams in each district go to the regional tournament. Ricky Webster is leading medalist in the district by seven strokes.

Individual scores by the Lions for the Crane tournament were Webster, 79; Mike Williams, 80; Lessley Russell, 89; Jack Baggett, 90 and Steve Wilkins, 91.

B team scores were Ronald Koerth, 83; Chris Reeves, 88; Craig Taliaferro 90; Darryl Karr, 92; Tommy Hoover, 93; Jack Welch, 94; Weldon Nicks, 99 and Kirby Kirklen, 99.

The final district tournament will be held next Wednesday in Coahoma.

Annual Spring Clean-Up Set For Next Month

Plans have been made to hold the annual spring clean up for Ozona April 9 through April 20. Two weeks this year instead of the usual one week.

The Ozona Garden Club sponsors the event and are working with the cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee this year.

The club has arranged to have county trucks available to carry off trash, rubbish and debris, and Ozona residents are urged to take advantage of the clean up to get rid of unsightly items around their homes, clean up vacant lots, and otherwise spruce up the town.

Businesses on the main highways and downtown are urged to use the annual clean up period to get rid of unsightly trash around their places of business.

All are asked to place discarded items near the curb, in an alley or in an area which is easily accessible for the county employees who will be manning the trucks.

It is not necessary to call, as the trucks will be canvassing the town throughout the two-week period.

Stockman Office Is Burglarized Over Weekend

When the staff of the Ozona Stockman arrived for work Monday morning they discovered that the building had been broken into over the weekend and around $40 to $50 was missing from the office safe.

The thief forced his way into the office by prying loose a panel in the back door. He apparently went directly to the safe in the front part of the building and took all the bills and change in the cash drawer, leaving the checks neatly stacked in the drawer.

Also missing was the key to the safe's cash drawer. Sheriff's deputies found the broken panel from the door and the small change box in the trash barrel behind the Ozona Boot & Saddlery.

In an apparent effort to put off discovery of the theft, the intruder taped a piece of press board over the panel of the door. When the tape came loose and the board dropped to the ground, the shop foreman discovered the broken panel.

Officers found no prints and felt the thief had used gloves or wiped his prints from everything he had touched.

Mrs. Ed Collett returned Sunday from Oklahoma where she visited her mother, Mrs. Sam Lawrence.

Lions Smash All Competition In Ozona Relays For Fifth Big Win

Ozona Lion Tracksters literally burned up the track at their own relays here Saturday to take an easy win in the Class AA division. The Lions piled up a fantastic 213 points to easily out-distance second place Crane with 76 points.

The win, the fifth in a row for the Lions, makes them the odds-on favorites to win their division in the San Angelo Relays this weekend.

IT CAN HAPPEN HERE

Washington News Letter

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

Should the death penalty be restored as an alternate punishment for crime?

That issue was revived by President Nixon's recent special message on crime, when he recommended resumption of capital punishment and also called for no-ball drug prosecutions, and a sharply curtailed use of the insanity defense in federal cases.

To meet the Supreme Court decision on the subject, new laws to allow the death penalty must differentiate between offenses which involved mitigation and those which do not.

The President included cases of war-time treason to invoke the death penalty.

I fully support the President's recommendations. I am convinced that having in the law capital punishment as an alternate punishment for crime is indeed a deterrent. Criminals don't like to face that kind of music, and the fact they know they may get the electric chair will often cause them to have second thoughts when they plan their evil designs.

A few days ago in nearby Maryland four thugs pulled a daylight robbery during which they forced 25 hostages into an 8-by-12 foot restroom, and after being surrounded by officers they fired indiscriminately into the group of helpless hostages. One robber was quoted as saying to the victims:

"I think I'll throw a hand grenade in here. What can I lose -- there's no death penalty any more."

What we do know is that from the beginning of time man, with all his ingenuity, has never discovered a means of preventing crime except by the example of punishment -- and the degree of possible punishment is a major factor. Let's concern ourselves with the innocent who have not been killed and who have a right to live.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Obstructing an Officer

Without any doubt, punching a policeman in the nose would amount to the crime of "obstructing an officer." But what about the assorted lesser confrontations that arise daily between citizen and constable? Where does the law draw the line?

Generally speaking, you may be guilty of this offense even if you do not resort to any force at all. Take the case of a youthful demonstrator who "went limp" when the police ordered him to climb into a patrol wagon. Charged later with obstructing an officer, he argued that he could not be punished for simply doing nothing.

Nevertheless, the court found him guilty as charged. The court said his refusal to obey a lawful order not only delayed and obstructed his own arrest but also delayed and obstructed the arrest of others.

Affirmative action, of course, is even riskier. Thus:

A motorist lost his temper when he found a meter maid beside his parked car, writing up a ticket that he felt was unjustified.

First, he refused to accept the ticket. Then, when the meter maid tried to put it on his windshield, he blocked her path and deflected her arm.

A court concluded afterward that these actions, added together, did constitute the offense of obstructing an officer.

This does not mean, however, that a policeman has to be treated with kid gloves. Reasonable remonstrance is within a citizen's rights.

In another case, while a man was being placed under arrest in a tavern, his wife informed the police—with vigor—that they had no right to take him away. Still, she did not interfere physically with the arrest. Nor did she use threatening language.

Haled into court for obstructing an officer, the woman was found not guilty of any offense.

The court said: "Policemen are no more exempt from criticism than cabinet ministers."

Springtime

The world of nature, coming to life around us now, a beauty beyond the capacity of mortal man is here to be appreciated.

Spring is a time of hope, baseball, summer dreams, pretty girls in pretty dresses and exhilaration over the warming weather and the end of winter.

A close observation of the many miracles on all sides of us in every field and forest and hillside can restore one's strength and peace of mind, and bring tranquility and humbleness to every thinking individual.

Playboy Stuff

Playboy, a men's magazine, recently featured an interview with a New York torpedo, a killer for hire. The man confessed to having already been hired to kill more than twenty people.

Such journalism raises anew questions about reporters' rights. Many newsmen argue courts have no right to compel them to reveal sources of information or news.

Yet if a reporter knows the identity of a killer (perhaps profits from writing about him) should he not be required to report such information to the police, for the good of the community?

As is true in the field of national security, it becomes clear on sober reflection that there can be no absolute immunity for newsmen in dealings with criminals. Freedom of the press must be safeguarded; but the public interest can sometimes dictate that they testify. The Supreme Court, an independent body, is the logical final tribunal to determine when.

Common Sense & Women

The U.S. Government is now seeking, in court, to force the Pittsburgh Press to stop printing its want ads under, "Jobs, Female Interest" and "Jobs, Male Interest."

The absurdity of the current American kick to make everyone the same is thus still at fever pitch. Everyone knows women and men are inclined, for various reasons, to favor certain jobs. For example, most families seeking a nurse for children prefer a female. Most people seeking yard or heavy work help prefer a male.

The Pittsburgh Press, in listing jobs according to the usual preference, isn't discriminating against anyone. Neither the Press nor employers are allowed, by law, to discriminate sexually in hiring. And everyone is free to read the job listings—and to apply.

Yet the Justice Department is now spending time, and the taxpayers' money, seeking to force the Press to ignore these natural preferences, in the name of women's lib.

As with the current constitutional amendment selling the idea women and men are the same, the majority of Americans, men and women, do not believe it, and are not in favor of it. But the agitators and militants, and politicians, are running the show.

Nixon & Housewives

At his latest news conference President Nixon advised American housewives to discriminate in their food purchases, so that demand for the more expensive meats and other foods now selling at greatly inflated prices, will ease.

The President, in rejecting price controls on food, says they won't work and would instead likely produce a black market. He believes housewives, by refusing to buy foods priced excessively high, can do more to ease inflationary pressures than controls.

If enough American housewives heed the President's words, demand for highly expensive foods can indeed be eased, and prices will inevitably recede. Of course, this reaction will last only a limited time—perhaps six months or a year.

The President believes by that time several measures already initiated to increase the food supply will have reduced food prices. The American housewife should cooperate in this effort. If by the end of the year it has not worked, the call for controls will probably be irresistible.

MRS. JACKIE LINN EASON

Ozonans Attend Perry-Eason Rites In Hurst

Mrs. Jean Scheuber and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Hale have returned to Ozona from the wedding of Mrs. Scheuber's granddaughter, Miss Patricia Lee Perry of Bedford, Texas to Mr. Jackie Linn Eason of Houston.

Marriage vows were exchanged March 31st in the First United Methodist Church of Hurst, Texas.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Perry of Bedford and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ray Eason of Arlington.

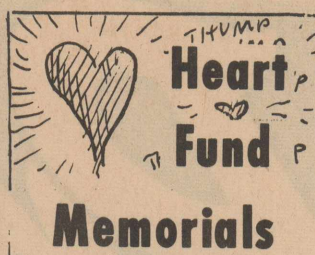

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an original gown of silk organza over white satin. The high collared bodice and flared lantern sleeves, accented by tiars and ruffles of reemboirdered alencon lace, fell to a full skirt and self train. Her matching chapel length veil was crowned by a high lace ruffle and edged in scallops of lace.

Other former Ozonans attending the wedding were Dr. and Mrs. James McMullan and Mr. and Mrs. Joe McMullan and their families, now of San Antonio. Dr. McMullan's son, Ashby, served as a candlelighter in the ceremony.

After a short wedding trip to Corpus Christi, the couple will make their home in Houston.

The bride attended Texas Tech where she was included on the Dean's Honor List. Before moving to Houston, Eason attended the University of Texas at Arlington for three years. Both will resume their studies at the University of Houston in June.

Spray Cans Are A Potential Home Hazard

Consumers handle potential bombs daily as aerosol spray cans—yet display few precautionary measures.

"Used according to directions, they're safe," Mrs. Doris Myers, home management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, noted.

"But used improperly, they can become extremely dangerous."

"Aerosols work on the principle that product and propellant—liquefied gas—are mixed in a container."

"When the push button mechanism is pressed, the propellant exerts pressure on the mixture in the can, forcing it up and out the valve."

"As it enters the atmosphere, the propellant converts to vapor, producing the familiar spray or foam effect," Mrs. Myers explained.

A great variety of products are available as aerosols.

"Today, an individual can instantly prepare hors d'oeuvres, decorate a dessert, clean the oven or paint furniture—all at a touch of his or her fingertip."

"However, besides being versatile, aerosols can cause injuries—even death."

"A major hazard is danger of explosion when containers are exposed to extreme heat. Heat causes the propellant to expand and explosions result. Even empty containers may explode when heated—due to expansion of any propellant remaining inside."

"Another danger involves flammability," the specialist continued. "Many products are flammable if sprayed near an open flame."

"Still others' fumes are toxic when inhaled—such as insecticides."

"Even the most common products may cause skin and eye irritations when misdirected," she added.

"Aerosol product labels furnish specific instructions and warnings concerning contents, use and disposal."

"Some aerosols are made for specific uses and should be handled only certain ways. Therefore, read the entire label before using the product—observe all warnings and follow directions."

"Before disposing an aerosol container, hold its valve open until all remaining product and gas escape. Place container with non-burnable trash—never in an incinerator."

"Store aerosols away from heat and out of the reach of children," Mrs. Myers emphasized.

"Within the last few years, numerous youngsters have died from inhaling aerosol vapors in highly concentrated amounts."

"Inhalation in many cases was intentional—in attempts to get 'high'. Hair spray was the household product used most often."

"Therefore, parents should alert all young people to the extreme danger of 'sniffing' aerosols or any other product," the specialist concluded.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR:

Dear Friends of Crockett Co:
Though the conquest of cancer has become a national goal more than 650,000 new cancer cases will be diagnosed this year. Many of these will be saved. Indeed, there are at least 1,500,000 Americans, alive and well, who have been cured of cancer.

Most people know the pioneering role of the American Cancer Society in cancer research; but, we don't think enough people know about the work of the ACS in helping to rehabilitate cancer patients. Tens of thousands of American women get breast cancer and most of them are saved by surgery.

For instance, of inestimable value is the Reach to Recovery Program of the Society. This helps women who have had such surgery overcome the difficult psychological problems that follow surgery as well as advising the patient on the use and availability of prostheses and of exercises which can help the woman to return more rapidly to normal family and community life. This free help is now available here in District Four upon request of the patient through her doctor.

Equally dramatic is the way the ACS helps those who have lost their voice boxes to cancer surgery—laryngectomees, they are called—learn to talk again.

The last 20 years have seen important advances in the treatment of cancer resulting from research. There have been improved surgical techniques and radiation therapy. In some instances, drugs have been effective against certain types of cancer and many scientists say that we have entered the era of significant development of drugs against cancer.

The role of education must not be underestimated. We know of actual cases, this year, that as a result of programs given in Crockett County, persons have sought the advice of their doctors early and malignancies have been detected in time for cure.

So, when a volunteer comes to your home or business during this year's Cancer Crusade remember that the Society's programs not only seek to wipe out cancer in your lifetime but help improve the quality of survival.

According to a report of the National Bureau of Information, of the twelve major health agencies, the American Cancer Society allocates the largest percentage of funds raised to research.....make your dollars work for YOU! A generous gift to the ACS is an investment in your own future.

Thank you, Sincerely,
Joan Nicholas

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

March is the last month recommended for planting and transplanting trees unless balled and burlapped.

There's still time to plant the above through April if soil is well prepared and a hole twice as that required for the root system or balled plants.

As flowers begin to fade on spring bulbs, remove the flower stalk. Do not cut the foliage, however, as it produces food for the development of a new bulb.

Begin watering new roses regularly and deep. If you planted bare-root roses, they may be a little slower showing leaf growth than established plants.

After dust storms, if you will wash shrub foliage with a strong spray of water, you may prevent the appearance of red spider and other insects.

If you plant by the moon, perhaps you have planted vegetables that produce food above the ground. Wait until dark of the moon to plant your root vegetables, potatoes, radishes, beets, etc.

Bluebonnets are beginning to bloom so watch for their display of blooms along the highways and hill sides.

Move houseplants from stronger sunshine if they prefer subdued lighting. Most plants that do not bloom are in this class, along with the African Violets.

Plants that are not to be repotted will benefit from top dressing with fresh, rich soil, after as much as possible of the old surface soil has been removed as can be, without doing too much damage to the roots.

Next month will be clean-up time for Ozona. Start grooming your home grounds, and nearby unsightly areas.

If everyone will enter this civic project we will again be called the cleanest and most beautiful small city in Texas. There are still many tall, dead weeds in places where the county mowers could not get to, so try to help get rid of this fire hazard.

The date of the county pick-up will be announced at a later time. Begin now to assure a more thorough job than if you wait until the last week.

Debra Says:
By HD Agent Debra Gentry

Most meat sections of the grocery store offer consumers a variety of ground beef at different prices and qualities. "Before buying, consumers should consider ground beef differences and use". Ground beef differences range from hamburger to chopped sirloin.

1. Hamburger generally combines lean beef from lower grades of meat with trimmings--or fat cuts--from higher grades. Although it usually contains the most fat and sells for the least price, hamburger makes good spaghetti, chili, meat loaf and casseroles.

2. Ground chuck, has less fat, more lean meat, and shrinks less during cooking. This is good for hamburgers and Salisbury steak.

3. The third type is ground round. The fat is closely trimmed, and it's especially good for weight watchers. Also, it's more expensive than either hamburger or ground chuck, and, with its low fat content, ground round may be less tender and juicy than other kinds.

4. Ground or chopped sirloin is the most expensive of four ground beef types offered. It is used in special recipes and deluxe burgers. Many consumers find sirloin very similar to ground chuck.

Be sure to consider how you plan to prepare and serve ground beef. In many cases, a less expensive type is just as suitable as a more expensive one.

Have a happy day and we hope this week's section on ground beef will be helpful. Next week we will take a look at "Handling Ground Beef".

The Dreams of Spring

In a way it is too bad Tennyson gave the world his classic verse about a young man's fancy. The dreams of Spring are not only for young men . . . and they're not only thoughts of love.

In many ways Spring awakens new hopes in every heart. The surge of life is renewed. Old frustrations are forgotten. The targets of happiness seem nearer. This is particularly true during Lent.

It's a good time to think. And from our thinking to plan how best to pursue the goals we really cherish.

Spring, and Lent, is a good time to go to church . . . or to go back to church if you've been away awhile . . .

Spring is a good time to seek the Source of resurgent living.

Higher Prices Are In Store For Food Imports

"It's going to cost more to flavor the soup. But agricultural exports should get a boost from the recent devaluation of the U. S. dollar."

That's the opinion of Dr. Roland Smith, grain marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"The 10 percent dollar devaluation will mean higher prices for certain imported food and fiber products such as spices, vanilla, pepper, coffee, tea, bananas, cocoa, silk and rubber. These changes should be immediately apparent."

"On the other hand, the agricultural export situation is difficult to analyze as world money markets are still unsettled. However, the devalued dollar means that U. S. products are now cheaper abroad so we may be able to sell more agricultural commodities in foreign countries," points out Smith.

The specialist contends that any increased export of agricultural commodities will not adversely affect the already tight supply situation on most products. "If foreign sales increase, they will come primarily from products that will be produced this summer and fall. U. S. farmers are increasing plantings this year due to increased demands, and total harvests are expected to reach record levels."

Transportation problems--congested ports and rail car shortages--are presently providing a cushion against any major changes in exports due to the cheaper dollar, notes Smith.

Would an earlier devaluation have boosted export sales even more than those recently consummated?

"Not necessarily," says Smith. "The U. S. was the only country that had sufficient grain supplies to meet the increased demand due to failing crops. Most countries had few alternatives to satisfy their needs."

In the long run, the fact that U. S. products are cheaper abroad may result in increased exports to the extent of causing some price reflection in the domestic market. This will vary from year to year according to the supply of the commodities involved. Typically, products in tight supply situations will be affected more by the dollar devaluation, explains Smith.
