Kitty's Korner

By Kitty Montgomery

Another week has come and gone, and summer activities are already in full swing. It's one horse show down and one to go. The swimming pools are all open by now, and youngsters and others are bitten with the bicycle bug.

I've noticed that most of the youngsters have the 10-speed, way-off-the-ground, racing type cycle. However, I prefer the 3-speed, three-wheeler like Mrs. White is riding. I wouldn't be a bit surprised if this type transportation catches on like wildfire.

You'll notice that the passage of two bills by the legislature, thanks to "our man in Austin" Hilary Doran, will soon enable local authorities to enforce the law on stop signs, speeding on city streets and other traffic "no-no's" along with giving them the right to get junked and abandoned cars off the streets.

I hope this will help the traffic situation at the post office as well as elsewhere in town. Of course, we notice it more at the post office because we all rush to get the mail as soon as it's up.

Someone made a suggestion the other day that there would not be so much congestion at the post office if people would get their mail and go home to read it instead of sitting in their cars and taking up space, while reading mail. I think I've probably been guilty of that.

The energy situation seems to be worsening daily, and this is really a surprise for Texans. After all, we produce well over one-third of the oil in the nation, and it seems only fair that we should get to keep enough of it to meet our needs, but that's not the way things work.

The ecologists who managed to cancel the Alaskan pipeline, are probably using Texas oil for energy for their vehicles and to heat their homes. This is particularly tragic in the face of the fact that Alaska could supply most of the northern tier of the States with oil for gasoline and heating, etc. were the pipeline in operation.

This is extremely puzzling when you consider the fact that the oil companies have really done more for ecology than any other body of people. Of course there is always danger of a leak, but the consequences are not nearly so dire as being with energy. Good grief!

Girl Scout Day Camp Concludes

Crockett County Girl Scouts held day camp at the Bill Seahorn ranch last week.

Thirty-one girls from troops 189, 224, 117, 143 and 80 participated in the camping activities.

Mrs. Ray Boykin was day-camp director this year and Mrs. Ernest Dunlap was camp nurse. Unit leaders were Mrs. Doyle Lovell, Mrs. Gwen Page, Mrs. Roy Lobstein, Mrs. Gene Lilly, Mrs. Kenneth Kramer, Mrs. Charles Womack, and Mrs. Lawrence Janes. Cadette Scout Nancy Womack was camp aide.

Open house was held Thursday evening and around 50 guests made the trip to the ranch to see the camp units the girls had set up. They were served homemade cake and icecream.

The girls presented an Indian program by firelight for the guests and closed with a flag ceremony.

They broke camp Friday afternoon and returned to town.

Unidentified Gas Discovery In South Crockett

An unidentified gas discovery, probably Wolfcamp, was indicated in extreme south Crockett County with the flowing of gas for an unreported time at the rate of 3 million cubic feet daily on a 3/4 inch choke when drilling reached 4,345 feet at Amoco Production Co. Odessa, No. 1 T. A. Kincaid Jr., in 5-G4-TCRR, 6,100-foot wildcat, 30 miles southwest of Ozona, 5 3/4 miles southwest of extension area of Canyon gas production in the Ozona multipay field and 4 3/8 miles east of the one-well Morrison (Wolfcamp gas) field.

Drilling continued below 4,599 feet.

The Morrison opener, Mobil Oil Corp. No. 1 Blakey-Krueger, was finished May 2, 1966, for a calculated, absolute open flow of 1.84 million cubic feet of gas per day, with gas-liquid ration of 287,000-1, through perforations at 3,596-4,468 feet. A deep failure, it tested the Ellenburger in open hold at 13,538-14,250 feet.

Pecos River Canoe Trip

Six local boys spent several days last week paddling canoes down the Pecos River.

Making the trip were Rodney Pagan, Fleet Coates, Gary Mitchell, Dan Davidson, Jimmy West and Alton Everett.

The boys were picked up at the Pecos high bridge near Langtry Thursday, after setting out from the Tom Mitchell ranch above river the previous Saturday.

One of the bills gives the Commissioners Court the authority to regulate and control traffic on city streets and county roads. This means that the County can pass ordinances

GRAVESIDE SERVICES HERE FOR FORMER OZONIAN

Graveside services for Mrs. J. R. (Lora Lee) Mays, 64, were held here Saturday morning at 11 a.m. in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Mays, a former Ozonian, died the previous Monday in Albuquerque, N.M. She was a member of the Montieith family, early day Ozonians. Surviving is her husband of Albuquerque.

BEATING THE ENERGY CRISIS is Mrs. Evert White on her new three-wheeler. It's equipped with three speeds and has an ample basket on back for grocery shopping or whatever. "Right On."

MEMORIAL DAY saw members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at the cemeteries placing American Flags on the graves of Crockett County veterans. A crew of volunteers from the post included John Walker, W. C. McKinney, Bud Harrison, Floyd Hokit, Al Fields and Martin Harvick. The men placed flags on 71 graves, and felt they had overlooked some. The flag-placing has become an annual event for the post. Above the flag waves over the grave of late high school principal J. A. Pelto.

A Dangerous Precedent

While most eyes continue to dwell on the not-unrelated Watergate case, the prior Pentagon Papers trial has fizzled to a conclusion which many people seem to find utterly satisfying but leaves many uneasy.

Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo, who admit stealing government papers marked "top secret" (whether they deserved to be categorized that way or not was a defense argument that seemed less than relevant), copying them and making them available to news media, have been cleared of all 13 charges against them because, U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne said, the government did not come into court with "clean hands".

He's probably right about that; when you employ illegal means to get evidence, no matter who you are, you are tainting your own case. And the government has admitted that agents of the White House broke into Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office to get a "profile" on Ellsberg, and, further, that before he ever became involved in the Pentagon Papers mess, the FBI had tapped his telephone.

So, it has been said, because of government "overkill", the case is dismissed and those charges cannot be brought again.

But doesn't it occur to anyone that a sorry precedent is being set here? Doesn't this appear to be giving anyone who seeks to oppose U.S. foreign policy (or domestic, for that matter) carte blanche to "listen" only to his own "conscience" and to disregard the law, to accomplish whatever it is he has in mind to accomplish? Including, if it happens, the handing over to foreign enemies the internal information his "conscience" tells him they should have.

Men (and women) have died for that in times past. There may be as many as 3 million persons working for the United States government, not counting the armed services. If each and every one of them is encouraged by the Ellsberg case to feel free to take pictures of any classified document to which he has access, this country is in big trouble.

Riggs' Service

Bobby Riggs, an old tennis pro, performed a service to the nation recently when he demonstrated the difference between the sexes—in tennis. Riggs, 55, offered to take on the best woman tennis player in the world to demonstrate that female tennis is not to be considered in the same class as men's tennis.

Margaret Court, the most popular and ladylike of the top women tennis players, and probably the best of them, gallantly accepted Riggs' challenge. He demolished her 6-2, 6-1.

So what? No chivalrous male will delight in the lady's humiliating defeat. But there is one undeniable fact the contest demonstrated. There is a difference between the sexes. With radical women libbers demanding this and that and trying to be men—against the wishes of most American women by the way—it's good to remind ourselves of the difference, which the Creator must answer for.

The world has acknowledged that difference for centuries, and laws and privileges and courtesies are based on it, sometimes unfairly, but often sensibly. To wipe them all off the books and pretend that women and men are the same and that the best thing for the nation is to treat them identically, admitting no difference, is, of course, unrealistic.

U.S. Future & Oil

One reason a settlement in the Middle East, perhaps impossible, is nevertheless so desirable is the prospect staring the western European nations, the United States and Japan in the face concerning energy.

A recent statement from a committee of the European parliament warned that unless the major energy consuming nations of the world begin to work together, rather than compete, to solve the problem of meeting their growing needs for oil, the situation could become both economically serious and politically dangerous well before 1980.

President Nixon has called on the leading industrial nations to work together to avoid a competitive struggle for oil. A vigorous effort in this direction should certainly be pursued by both Congress and the executive branch of government.

There's no hiding the fact that Arab governments hold the key to the future; within their borders they have the enormous reserves of oil the industrial nations increasingly need. What will happen when these governments, who know fully well their economic power will have grown awesomely in a few years, apply the pressure is a grim question—and they will apply the pressure. Only intelligent planning and cooperation among the major oil consuming countries of the world now is likely to avert serious crisis or conflict in the years immediately ahead.

LET PUBLIC DECIDE CONSUMER NEEDS

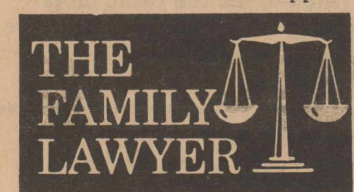

PROPOSED CONSUMER PROTECTION AGENCY

Washington News Letter

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

Compulsory busing got a setback last week when the Supreme Court upheld a lower court action which ruled a sweeping Richmond busing order was illegal. The local judge had directed a massive mixture of city school students with those in outlying areas, miles away. It set public education reeling backward in Richmond.

It remains to be seen what effect the decision will have nationwide. It was a 4-to-4 action, with Justice Powell (from Richmond) abstaining because he had been identified with the local school problems before President Nixon appointed him to the Supreme Court.

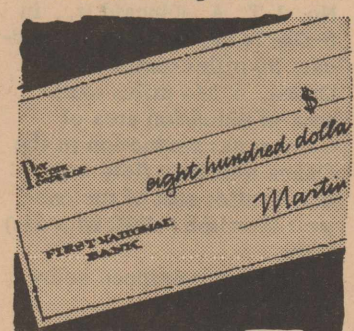

Upped Check

Martin bought a secondhand motorcycle from a friendly stranger, giving him a check for "eight hundred dollars." But when he got the check back from the bank at the end of the month, it had been upped to "thirty eight hundred dollars."

Martin decided that the bank had no right to take the extra $3,000 out of his account. "It's not my fault the fellow was crooked," he argued in a court hearing. "Let the bank try to collect the difference from him."

But the bank pointed out that Martin had made three careless mistakes in writing the check:

- 1) he had failed to fill in the payee's name;
- 2) he had failed to fill in the numbers after the dollar sign; and
- 3) he had left more than an inch of open space in front of the word "eight"—plenty of room for inserting the word "thirty."

The court concluded that Martin, by his negligence, had invited the tampering—hence, would have to bear the loss himself.

Of course, as a general rule, a bank has no right to pay any more money out of your account than you have authorized. The bank, after all, has the best opportunity to detect fraud by examining a check before cashing it.

But the law will usually shift the loss to you if, by your carelessness, you have made the check easy to alter.

Furthermore, you have a duty to go over your cancelled checks within a reasonable time after they are returned, and to alert the bank if something is amiss.

For example: A man whose signature had been forged on a check had to absorb the loss himself because he neglected, for almost six months, to let the bank know what had happened.

A court said that by his procrastination, he had deprived the bank of a fair chance to track down the villain.

ted him to the Supreme Court. Thus, if and when another forced busing case reaches that tribunal, and Justice Powell participates, he could in effect reverse the meaning of the Richmond case. And it is reported another case, similar to the Richmond deal, will reach the highest court from Detroit late this year.

There is evidence of a widespread revulsion against the use of school children of all races as pawns in the hands of social planners who place racial mixture ahead of education and who have no respect for the neighborhood school concept.

Here's a classic example of how a newspaper can distort the news by manipulating a headline. A big two-line front page headline which appeared in the May 22 issue of the Washington Post, announced:

CIA DEPUTY SAYS HALDEMAN TOLD HIM COVER-UP WAS 'THE PRESIDENT'S WISH'

The facts: The CIA Deputy (Gen. Vernon Walters), referred to in the headline, never at any time or place said what was attributed to him in the headline. On the contrary he swore it was his memory no such statement was ever made by Haldeaman. (I was a member of a committee which heard General Walters testify).

Special Editorial

The Struggle Behind Watergate

One of the unfortunate truths of life is that scandal—and gossip—travel faster from tongue to tongue, and create more interest, than truth. Mischief, sensational misconduct, attract more attention than more important developments. And newsmen and publicity-seeking politicians often turn public scandal into circuses.

This has never been more evident than in the Watergate fiasco and coverup, the juiciest prospecting field for newsmen in years; it's also a wonderful opportunity for the liberal press to regain its awesome power, to intimidate those who have had the courage to speak out against this enormous power, such as President Nixon and Vice President Agnew.

Because a national audience is guaranteed, even the Public Broadcast System has announced it will carry the Senate's Watergate hearings on prime time in the evenings! The networks will, of course, zero in on the scandal. Newspapers everywhere are competing to uncover the latest fillip; publicity-seeking politicians would wash any of the nation's dirty linen in public to emerge as television stars.

This sort of sensationalized cannibalism among the American people, smearing the office of the Presidency and the image of America, is in bad taste and, in part, politically and selfishly-motivated. The place for those involved in illegal Watergate activities is before grand juries and in the courts—in a sober, non-sensational atmosphere. That is, in fact, the only way justice can be fairly administered.

But Watergate is, perhaps foremost, a struggle between the left arm of the Democratic Party, and press, who have so often predicted a Nixon presidency would mean disaster, and the President. There are many who would help produce that disaster to vindicate their own forecasts. And in the process they rejoice that those who sneak secret government papers improperly and turn them over to the leftwing press go free and hail them as heroes!

The leftwing press praises those who stole secret papers because it agrees with their motives. But the same press powers throw mud and smear wholesale, including the office of the Presidency, in scandalizing the buggers and coveruppers because their motives—they feel—were bad.

It remains to be seen how the American people will react, in the end, to the struggle, but one suspects they will support the President, as they did last November, not because he is infallible or makes no mistakes, but because he has been a good President and has done much for the country and can continue to do so—if the leftwingers don't succeed in exploiting the admitted folly of Watergate to turn the nation against him and produce government chaos.

Senator Tower Reports

SENATOR JOHN TOWER'S WEEKLY REPORT TO TEXANS

The American people are being deprived by the mass hysteria which now pervades Washington in connection with the Watergate case—deprived of the golden opportunities to build a new era of peace and prosperity.

At the same time, the enemies of America are taking full advantage of the resultant opportunity to attack not only the Presidency, but our entire political system. It is high time for us to stop the tail from overshadowing the dog—and to put things back in a sane and proper perspective.

We are suffering from a self-imposed paralysis. Instead of spending our time trying to solve the great problems now confronting our state and nation, we have become practically immobilized by the fanatical furor over an absurd and senseless crime. The fact that it apparently was conceived by high-ranking political novices—who then followed the natural instinct for self-preservation and tried to cover it up—should not be allowed to let it consume all our waking hours.

There appears to be a great danger that we have become so engrossed in the so-called scandal that we may lose all sense of distinction between scandal and government. After all, those charged with running our government must be in a position to sustain the national security. Is the government to have no secrets at all? Is there no recourse against those who attend sensitive meetings where strategy is planned and outlined, and then telephone reporters to tell them what went on?

The hysteria that seems to have gripped so many—especially in this area where politics dominates the majority—has been brought on partially by the news media. There has been a disgusting display of pursuit of new revelations in the Watergate case, often at the expense of factual reporting. The slightest rumor has been played in screaming headlines as if it were an eyewitness account. Various elements of the news media have quoted each other when they could dig up nothing new. But despite some very bad cases of reporting, the entire Watergate affair has proved that a free press is essential in a truly free society.

As I have said repeatedly, we must see that those involved are apprehended and punished—but this certainly can be accomplished without having everyone in Washington make a full-time career of it.

The people of America want to see justice done in this matter but they want prosecution, not persecution. And as a member of the United States Senate, I certainly intend to do my duty on any matter which comes before that body; but right now, I think the people of America want us to devote much of our time and energy to solving such problems as inflation, the energy crisis, pollution, natural disasters and the ever-increasing demands of the most affluent society the world has ever known.

Unfortunately, there are those who would be happy to see us fall in our efforts to cope with these problems—if the failure could be attributed either to the President of the United States or to some of those in whom he placed excessive trust. These are the people who would cut off their noses to spite their faces.

Regrettably, political espionage is indeed as old as politics itself. Some say it has become an accepted practice in American politics, but I reject this. There is neither reason nor excuse for illegal activities becoming a part of a political campaign. This is not to say that a candidate for public office should not try to keep up with what the opposition is doing—he would be a foolish candidate to do otherwise. But he certainly would be even more foolish to violate the law in his zeal to pursue information of any sort.

Let us fervently hope that the hearings already underway by the Senate Select Committee on Watergate avoid the show business atmosphere of some of the notorious congressional investigations of recent history. There is no reason to anticipate that they will, for it is very easy for such tactics to prejudice the judicial and prosecutive process. We can recall in recent history when the excesses of some investigators violated the civil rights of both the innocent and guilty. Let us hope that some important lessons of the past will not be forgotten or overlooked.

In the meantime, the wires have now been snipped on Watergate; we should now turn the matter over to the courts and get on with important legislative business. One might point out that the Pulitzer Prize won recently by the Washington Post was the first ever awarded for disclosures of political chicanery. The Chicago Tribune won a Pulitzer Prize for exposing vote frauds in Cook County, Illinois, during the 1960 Presidential elections.

It is most important to insure that the critical functions of our government do not come to a screeching halt because of continued walls of indignation about a crime in which the perpetrators have emerged as the main victims.

The pressing concerns which confront our Nation will not patiently await the day of the writing of the final Watergate story. Thus, to focus our attention, here in the Congress, on our critical domestic and international problems is not to condone the commission of whatever crimes might have been committed. I, for one, say let's get on with the job at hand, and let the courts prosecute the wrongdoers.

Hartley Johnigan is in Shannon Hospital in San Angelo recuperating from a heart attack suffered here last weekend.

Truman Brooks is in Methodist Hospital in Houston recuperating from open heart surgery. He was removed from the intensive care unit Monday.

Mrs. Enemencia Diaz is in Shannon Hospital in San Angelo where she underwent surgery Monday for repair of a broken leg she suffered in a fall at her home here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Americo Vargas of Dallas have been visiting friends and relatives here.

PRIZES FOR THE HORSE SHOW held here Saturday included this array of silver trays, trophies, clocks and the two saddles for best all-around in junior and senior division. The prizes were purchased by the Ozona Roping Club, sponsor of the annual show, at a cost of $1,200. The show featured 200 of the finest quarter horses in West Texas, plus entertaining rodeo events for the large turn-out of spectators.

Ozona Area Is Subject Of Daily Column

(Ed. Note: The following excerpts are from a column in the Abilene Reporter-News entitled Texas! Discovering the Lone Star State with Frank Oliver. It concerns this particular area of Texas and Ozona in particular)

The writer suggests a trip through San Angelo and west, turning at Barnhart south on State 163.

"This is the 'big sky' country" the writer continues, "where transporting becomes touring. Slow down. Relax. Breathe deeply of the crisp, pure air and lucky you if you have a convertible."

The paragraph about Ozona says: "The oil and wool-producing city of Ozona calls for a coffee, lunch or entire afternoon break. This only city in Crockett County, a county larger than Rhode Island, invites investigation of its famous western museum, beautiful parks and 'western' flavor. The stay includes a trip west of town to famous Fort Lancaster on the Pecos River, etc."

The article came to us from Mrs. R. A. Harrell, whose sister sent it to her from Abilene.

Officers Elected For WT Boys Ranch Board

Ken G. Spencer, Crane County Attorney, was re-elected to another term as president of the West Texas Boys Ranch Board of Directors at the body's annual meeting May 26th. Elected to serve along with Spencer were Gene Newman, San Angelo, First Vice President, Don Weinacht, Blamorhea, Vice President, Lon Slaughter, San Angelo, Secretary, and Cal Sugg, Jr., San Angelo, Treasurer, Vice President, Buck Owens, Barnhart, Honorary Director, Mrs. Dennis O. Lilly, Brownfield. New directors elected to serve three year terms were Jim Bob Altizer of Del Rio, Dr. Carter Martin, of San Angelo, and Wm. Hucheson of Odessa.

The Charles E. Davidson Annual Award to the county supporting the Ranch the most per capita went to Garza County, scene of the OS Roping and Art Exhibit to benefit West Texas Boys Ranch. Jim Prather of Garza County accepted the award. Gene Newman discussed plans for a 25th anniversary meeting to be held in November 10th to honor all the past directors of the West Texas Boys Ranch for their service in establishing the 72 boy home.

Directors saw a slide report of the progress at the Ranch over the past year presented by Superintendent Kenneth Howell. Four Seniors were introduced, Joe Vara, David Nault, Joe Wells, and Jimmy George. Publicity films of Dallas running back Walt Garrison were also previewed for those present.

Ken Spencer, in summary told the directors, "That the greatest challenge is still before us, that of continuing, the fine tradition of West Texas Boys Ranch gained in the past 25 years, and the equal of exceed these accomplishments in the future. Since 1947, over 800 boys have received help and guidance at the publically supported ranch."

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Ozona is beginning to put on a colorful and fresh new look with most of the brown frozen leaves gone. It seems the most severely damaged were the mulberry trees and the few tall trees in town. All may have to be pruned back severely.

Most beautiful now are the roses in full bloom all over our city, especially the many varieties at the Redwood Motel. Do drive by if you haven't.

Now is the time to get the names of roses that bloom well in our area. Many can be bought in containers now, used on the patio this summer and planted in the fall if you wish.

One of the choicest flowers for our alkaline soil is the fall-blooming chrysanthemums. There are many varieties available now to be used for fall specimens, borders or in containers that can be moved from place to place for color. After they start growing, the tops should be pinched back every ten days until the last of July. This will make more blooms and more shapely plants.

A native American flower, the zinnia, is an easy annual to grow from seed, if you have an area that will have sunshine most of the day. A garden planted in zinnias alone, using different forms and colors, gives a most attractive effect. By planting seeds at two-week intervals, you can have a summer-long supply of cut flowers. All zinnias need room to develop branches so don't crowd them. Give even the smallest varieties a foot of room, the large may need two feet. When watering, soak roots, but don't sprinkle foliage. Always remove faded flowers.

She was selected for the All-Region and All-State choirs. She is a member of the A Capella Choir and the New Hope Singers, a religious folk group. Nanda has traveled with New Hope to Hawaii and Canada for concert tours and witnessing missions.

In the fall, she will enroll at Texas Tech with a major in sociology and music minor. Graduation exercises for Mac Arthur High School were held Saturday night at Texas Stadium in Irving. There were 480 in the Senior class.

Joanie will ride in the river parade, appear at the Style Show-Tea, be presented at the Patron Ball, and at the historical pageant, "The Land and the River." Joanie, a graduate of Ozona High School, is attending Texas Tech University where she is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha.

And now, tomorrow

The cap... the diploma... symbols of achievement. They mark the end of one way of life and imply the beginning of another.

But ten years from now, where will this diploma be and what will it mean? Will it be packed away in an attic trunk... framed on the wall of a room or office? Will it have been thrown out by accident or cast into a seldom-noticed corner? And what of the hopes and dreams that go with it? What will have happened to them?

Who knows? There is no set answer to life, no single solution to all its problems. Nor can anyone live life alone. Whether your diploma is still crisp or has gotten dusty—whether your dreams are still bright or have become slightly tarnished—forget about personal ambition as the sole answer to everything. Think of your own immortal soul. Go to church, and talk to God about it, through prayer.
