Paintings By Ozona Native On Exhibit

Forty acrylic paintings of churches along the Pecos River by Fort Sumner artist Betty Rosenberger will continue to be exhibited throughout the summer in the College of Santa Fe's Fogelson Library Center.

"Public requests have prompted the extension of the exhibit throughout the summer," said Harold Woodruff, director of development at CSF. The exhibit was on display at the College for a two-week period in May.

A special reception held for the artist in May attracted over 200 people from New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arizona, Texas, and Iowa to a pre-view of the paintings.

Mrs. Rosenberger refers to her work as "documentary portrayals of the river area churches".

In doing the series, she talked with parishioners and did extensive research before painting each church "brick by brick" for historical records. "She was very dedicated to her painting and it was quite a spiritual experience," explained Mrs. Jeff Good, who held a private showing of 28 of the paintings in her Ft. Sumner home last year.

Walter Cronkite, probably the most popular of the television newscasters, was recently asked if he agreed most television newsmen were left of center. Cronkite admitted they were liberal, possibly left of center as well.

This admission points to the problem today concerning America's news media. It's a well known fact that newspaper and television station ownership tends toward a conservative view.

Similarly, it's widely known that the working press—employed newsmen—lean toward the left. There was a time when ownership editorials, in the average rural and city newspaper, set the national media tone (though this has never been consistently decisive in electing Presidents, as the record shows).

Today, however, there is television, and in addition several large newspapers are distributed widely now by air mail to every part of the nation; therefore the three major networks, the two wire services and several national newspapers play a much greater proportionate role in influencing public opinion. How they slant the news almost certainly influences public opinion to a great extent.

That a small group of New York executives controls the selection and news comment going into most American homes every day, on the three networks, via the two wire services and in the nation's leading national newspapers, is disturbing to many moderates and conservatives. There are, actually, few conservative newscasters, such is the pressure, bias and power of the left on the working press level. There may be no answer to the problem; however, it is a problem and should be understood.

To The Graduate

June, 1973, is to be the first month of post-school life for millions of young Americans. Since they enter the stage of life at a time when there is much printed and spoken abuse of their country and its government, a word on the U.S. record is in order.

Our country's constitutional republican form of government has survived in its present form longer than any other in the world. The founding fathers of the nation, when they established the system, were ahead of their time, and they built a system flexible enough to change with changing times.

There are imperfections in the system and injustices in government and governing, but taken as a whole, the average citizen in the United States has something closer to an equal chance, economically and socially, than in any other major country. That is saying much for America, because we are a melting-pot nation of many races and religions.

We are an experimental nation in this sense. At our beginning two hundred years ago many sophisticated European scholars and philosophers predicted the idealistic principles and laws on which the new republic had been founded and would operate could not possibly survive; they felt a country composed of so many divergent nationalities and beliefs could not coalesce into a united nation.

Looking back on history, what has been the record? It is not perfect, but the people of this country have built the richest nation in the world, a nation of individual freedom for all, a nation which has never lost a war, a nation which constantly seeks to improve itself, to uplift the disadvantaged. We have a long way to go, yet, but that is not a bad start. Every newly-graduated young citizen should not casually accept these many blessings without an humble sense of thanksgiving and appreciation of the efforts and accomplishment of those who have gone before—who have done so much for all those starting out in 1973.

Women's Lib Fallout—

One of the unfortunate fallouts from the current women's lib movement is depreciation of the home and the role of the homemaker. Understandably, those women who have felt trapped in a home, especially those in unhappy homes, have depreciated that career.

But for most women, and men, in today's super-fast world, the home is the one island of refuge, in the American rat-race civilization. It has always been that for the happily married.

The foundation of any nation is the home. And the role of the homemaker—mother, wife and housekeeper—is almost all-important.

One of the causes of the country's social problems today is a breakdown in traditional family and home life. Depreciation of the home and the women who love their work and women and men who love their homes does not help the situation. In fact, as the pace of American life continues to increase, the importance of a happy home, a fortress of happiness removed from the storms of life, is increasingly important.

Thus, while no one wishes to force women to remain in the home, the natural, logical, desired place of most women is there, and rightly so, and they, and their husbands and children, who also logically love their homes, are the backbone of stability in the nation.

Washington News Letter

By
Congressman O. C. Fisher

If every American motorist used a gallon less a week there would be no gasoline shortage, according to fuel experts who are concerned about reduced supplies and the problem of increased consumption.

Gasoline rationing this year is not likely, but it is not ruled out. The fuel consumption rate is up 6%. Some price increases are being reported.

But we are told that if all motorists would take it on themselves to find ways to cut down on gas purchases, the problem would be solved.

Secretary of Interior Rogers Morton recently urged car users to ride bicycles, take trains, use less air conditioning, use car pools, keep cars in "top shape," and drive slower. If your speed is reduced from 70 to 60 MPH, for example, your gasoline consumption is reduced by 11%.

Therefore, every auto owner would be well advised to follow these suggestions. Surely each of us can save a gallon a week.

The name Texas is to be assigned to a nuclear-powered guided missile frigate, now under construction at Newport News.

This will be the fourth naval ship to be named in honor of the Lone Star State. The first was an iron-clad ram of the Civil War, the second was the first commissioned battleship of the U. S. Navy which prowled the seas during 1895 to 1911. The third Texas performed brilliantly during two world wars before she became a Texas Memorial Ship on April 21, 1948.

The new Texas, when commissioned, will be one of the most powerful surface ships of the U. S. Navy. A fleet-air defense ship, she will combine nuclear propulsion with the latest anti-air and antisubmarine weapons systems.

June Weddings

Many people may not know it, but May was formerly considered an unlucky month for marriage. In fact, the way the month of June became the month of marriages is connected with the superstition that May was the month in which young people should not marry. Therefore, when June came around, a backlog of engaged couples had been created, thus producing a two-month crop of marriages for June.

Because June is an accepted month of marriages in the United States, and because so many graduations, both high school and college, occur in late May or early June, June is—for the merchant—a month to sell gifts. We're strongly opposed to this over-commercialization, although wedding gifts are a wonderful thing for the newly-married couple, especially if they have practical value.

ALCATRAZ A PARK

SAN FRANCISCO—Alcatraz Island has been turned over to the National Park Service. The park service hopes to make the abandoned crumbling island structures of the former Federal prison into a tourist attraction.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Policeman's Blunder

Officer Harrison halted a speeding motorist and gave him a ticket. But he failed to notice that the man was intoxicated. Scarcely five minutes later, the same motorist drove his car through a red traffic light and knocked down a woman pedestrian.

Could the woman hold the city legally liable for the accident because of the officer's blunder?

"The city is supposed to provide police protection," she argued in a court hearing. "That's what we pay taxes for. If the officer hadn't let that drunken driver get away, I would never have gotten hurt."

But the court disagreed, saying the law simply does not recognize this kind of a claim.

It is true that all members of the community are entitled to reasonable police protection. But this is a general, not a specific, right. It does not mean that each victim of a crime, if he can point to some police error, can collect damages from the city government.

The reasoning is mainly pragmatic. Courts fear that if such claims were allowed, the financial burden on cities would be staggering.

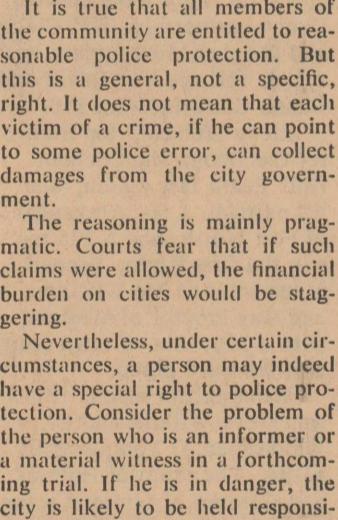

Nevertheless, under certain circumstances, a person may indeed have a special right to police protection. Consider the problem of the person who is an informer or a material witness in a forthcoming trial. If he is in danger, the city is likely to be held responsible for his safety.

"Otherwise," said one court, "it might become difficult to convince the citizen to cooperate with law enforcement officers."

In one unusual case, the family of a suicide victim tried to blame the city because the police had missed a chance to prevent the tragedy. They said officers had come out to investigate a family quarrel, then left with things still unsettled.

But the city was exonerated. The court said even if the officers should have stayed longer, they still could not fairly have foreseen that the man would take his own life.

Miss Saunders Becomes Bride Of Mr. Berger

Miss Sherry Saunders became the bride of Mr. Christ Deryll Berger during a ceremony Saturday evening at the Ozona United Methodist Church with Rev. John Berkeley, pastor, officiating. Parents of the couple are Mrs. John W. Henderson, III, of Ozona and Allan W. Saunders of Sonora, and Mrs. Wilfred Berger of Sonora and the late Mr. Berger. The church was decorated with branched candelabra holding yellow tapers. Yellow mums and greenery marked the pews. A large arrangement of yellow glads, pom mums and carnations centered the altar and the chancel rail was draped with garlands of smilex.

Mrs. Bud Cox furnished the nuptial music at the organ. Soloist was Lynn Christie of Dallas.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Win Saunders, wore a pale ivory silk organza gown with an empress bodice delicately appliqued with Alencon lace and pearls. The gown featured a scalloped neckline and long bishop sleeves. The full, flowing skirt moved gracefully into a full chapel train. Her cathedral veil was a sweep of silk illusion appliqued with Alencon lace.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses. Maid of honor was Jan Saunders, cousin of the bride, of Wichita, Kansas. Matron of honor was Mrs. Gary Derrick of Eldorado. Bridesmaids were Misses Suzy Tankersley and Kathy Lynn Russell. Junior bridesmaid was Kay Ann Saunders of Kerrville, and flower girl was Miss Laurie Davis of Stephenville.

The bride's attendants wore identical gowns of soft yellow textured fabric, fashioned with puffed sleeves and trimmed with broad ecru lace ruffles. They carried bouquets of green symbidium orchids.

Best man was Larry Berger, brother of the bridegroom, of Sonora. Groomsmen were Tim Cole of Sonora, Courtney Barns of Denver, Colo., Charlie McDonald of San Angelo, Jess David Cook of Sonora, L. D. Mathis of San Angelo and Ray Smith, III, of San Antonio. Ringbearer was Michael Bell of Sonora.

A reception followed the wedding in the fellowship hall of the church. The hall was decorated with alabaster columns holding ems of yellow flowers and palm trees. The bride's table was centered with a silver epergne, holding arrangements of white roses, pomms and carnations.

Members of the houseparty were Mmes. James Baggett, Eugene Miller, Jack Tankersley, C. O. Spencer, Abe Morris, Buddy Russell, Bill Clegg, R. A. Harrell, C. O. Walker, George Bunger, Bob Bissett, Joe S. Pierce IV, Jess C. Marley, Floyd Hokit, Pleas Childress, Kirby Moore, L. B. Cox, Jr. and Mrs. Charles Applewhite.

Miss Mary Lynn Roberts of Wichita, Kan, and Miss Jacquie Tankersley presided at the bride's book.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the bridegroom's mother and his uncle, Jack Christie of Dallas, was held at the Ozona Country Club.

Mrs. Charles Applewhite, Mrs. James Baggett and Mrs. Eugene Miller were hostesses for the bridesmaid's luncheon Saturday.

Other parties for the bride included a breakfast Friday hosted by Mrs. R. A. Harrell and Miss Cynthia Harrell, and a party May 31, given by Mrs. Kirby Moore and Marsha Moore.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

June is a month of much color and fragrance in our gardens.

Few herbaceous perennials give the gardener so many flowers for so little effort as does the day lily. For that reason the plant is sometimes called the Perennial Supreme. There are hundreds of new varieties introduced each year. Here, and in most of the south, daylilies can be successfully divided and planted any month of the year. They will thrive in a variety of soils, from light, sandy types to heavy clays. They do not grow well in a poorly drained soil. Spade the soil deeply and work in generous amounts of organic matter. They should have sunlight for at least a half a day. For an attractive addition to the landscape, daylilies are especially effective in front of woody ornamentals, when used for erosion control on a steep bank, in single clumps or in flower beds and borders.

Gardeners throughout the drier areas of Texas are reminded to water ornamentals thoroughly before an application of insecticide is made. This is especially important if the weather has been extremely dry. Soaking the plants several hours before the spraying is to be made should eliminate any possibility of damage to the foliage.

Since we did not have May showers as we did last year, we can look forward to a moisture-laden month of June. Keep shrubs and small newly planted trees well-watered if no rain.

Notice there are several pretty and well-kept vegetable gardens over town. Roy Killingsworth invites you in with beautiful lettuce, onions, radishes and tomatoes growing in his flower beds, and it's almost time for blackeyed peas and combread. Homegrown vegetables seem to have a better and fresher taste and are well worth the effort and pleasure of gathering them.

Remember to slash fat edges of a steak before cooking. This keeps it from curling during grilling. Turn meat only once. Broil until brown on one side, turn it and continue cooking on other side.

AROUND THE BEND

The new superhighway is a masterpiece of engineering skill, yet you still can't see around the curve in the distance. Whatever lies beyond the bend is as much a mystery as it was when this was a single-lane road.

Today we are living in the space age and are exposed to fresh miracles with almost every passing hour. But we still can't "see around the bend" of life. We are as human as we ever were and have no way of knowing what is coming next.

Since the beginning of time, man has lived with this mystery. What keeps him going? For many, it is the knowledge that the answer to our fate lies in far more capable hands than ours. This is God's universe, after all, His creation, and we are His creatures.

True, you can't see around the bend. But you can equip yourself for life's journey by taking a single, all-important step. This step is toward the church of your choice.
