Kitty's Korner

by Kitty Montgomery

I enjoyed visiting with old friends and meeting new ones at the Texas Press Association mid-winter meeting last week in Austin. It's always good to get away and visit with those who have the same problems, working conditions, etc.

Also enjoyed the many interesting speakers which included most of our top state officials.

There were serious sessions, fun sessions and bull sessions, and I'm sure most would agree that the bull sessions produced the most profitable exchange of ideas.

I was especially interested in a lecture by Russell Nees on Alpha-Dynamics, and wished I were not so old and set in my ways.

We went into the new philosophy as far as time would permit, and I determined to put it to use when I got home.

Everything depends upon your mental attitude according to Mr. Nees, and the ability to relax. We went through an exercise in this and I thought perhaps I failed because of my height. Instructions were to place your backbone firmly against the back of your chair and place your feet flat on the floor. Well, they just don't make a chair to accommodate me in that department. If my feet touch the floor, my back will not rest firmly against the back of the chair and vice-versa, so I had to give that up.

I thought surely that I could do the mental exercises, but that didn't work out either. Monday morning I woke up and before I got out of bed, as was instructed, I sent a message to my brain. . . . "Brain, this is the greatest day of my life." Before I had time to take a deep breath, I received a reply. . . . "Who are you kidding, woman, this is Monday morning, get to work." Well, so much for the old "mind control bit."

The trip there and back was uncomfortable, to say the least. In the first place, my car just won't go 55 mph on the open highway. I have to keep a constant eye on the speedometer and that means taking my eye off the road, and that's dangerous. When I began watching where I was going, the car just automatically started going faster. So I spent the entire trip exceeding the speed limit and watching for the highway patrolmen, or driving 55 mph and watching the speedometer. What a ghastly bore! If 55 mph does nothing else, it's going to keep me at home.

The latest from Ozona's rumor mill has it that Armand Hoover has been arrested for catnapping.

GRASS FIRES SUCH AS THIS are taking up man hours in the Ozona Volunteer Fire Department. This fire, located behind the Sweeten Service Station on the west hill was almost out of control before firemen were able to get to it Monday afternoon. The entire area was fenced off and the fire truck had to make its own pathway through the brush to get to it. Fence posts were ablaze along with the grass and brush and it created a potentially dangerous situation for those living below the hill on Ave. J. The unusually dry weather has created perfect conditions for grass fires throughout the county.

Volunteers For Juvenile Care Being Sought

Twice in the past six months the Crockett County Juvenile Court has been called on in an emergency to provide a temporary home to care for small children when the parent had to be placed in jail for some reason. One time it was two little girls, age 6 and 8 who had to be cared for until the mother's parents could make arrangements to come get them, another time the children were even younger.

Judge of the Juvenile Court, Troy Williams needs a list of several persons who could be called on in such emergencies to take little children into their home and care for them in such an emergency. Perhaps just overnight, or a couple of days at most. The county will pay for this care but volunteers are needed. "It is embarrassing to call on people personally and ask that they furnish such assistance," Judge Williams said.

"In this community of professing Christians there must be a number of persons, mothers and others who would take this opportunity to be of service to these unfortunate waifs of humanity who, through no fault of their own, are caught in such a web of circumstances," Judge Williams concluded.

For longer periods the Child Welfare Department which is based in San Angelo, will take the children and place them in that town.

Winter Best Time To Prevent Screwworms

Winter months give the stockman his best chance to prevent a disastrous screwworm infestation this coming summer and fall, says M. E. Meadows, Jr.

He is veterinarian in charge of the USDA's Screwworm Eradication Program. Screwworm cases in the United States are heading toward their winter lows. . . . the time when efforts to eradicate this flesh eating pest are most effective.

Knowing where each and every case occurs allows all weapons of the eradication program to be used at each specific occurrence, says Meadows. Pressure to eradicate the wild screwworm fly was most intense in Webb and Zapata counties the week ending January 19 because these were the only counties with reported infestations. Real County had a positive case on January 21.

Some larval samples submitted to the identification laboratory at program headquarters, however, were mature enough to raise fears that new flies are pupating in the ground. These fertile flies can emerge any time during the next six weeks. Only continued vigilance by livestock owners, and immediate reporting of each suspected case, can allow the program to prevent an epidemic in 1974.

Main thrust of the effort to eradicate the screwworm fly is releasing hundreds of sexually active but sterile male flies to mate with fertile wild female flies. Eggs produced by such matings do not hatch, thus preventing damage to livestock, and eventually eradicating the pest.

Due to rising costs, there will be no extra annuals printed this year. Annuals may be reserved by making a deposit of $4 or the full amount of $6 may be paid at this time. Those wishing to purchase annuals should get in touch with the principals in their schools or see Mrs. Jerry Hayes at the high school.

Bill Black Bids For Re-election In Precinct 2

Bill Black, Commissioner of Precinct 2, has authorized The Stockman to announce that he is a candidate for re-election to that post, subject to the May 4 Democratic Primary.

In announcing his bid for re-election, Black said he had enjoyed working with the court and the citizens of Crockett County for the past five years.

He said he felt the court had accomplished a great deal during his tenure in office. Black said there had been some trying times with the hospital, but said for the first time in a long while the Crockett County Hospital has become a facility all citizens could be proud of. He said the court is most pleased at this time with the doctors and the hospital staff.

Black said he is personally looking forward to the construction of the nursing wing, along with the other members of the court.

Citing the accomplishments of the court since he has been in office, he mentioned the new and modern jail facility which was so badly needed and built under the supervision of the present court. He pointed with pride at the 4-H and FFA livestock feeding facilities which have been vastly improved under the present county government. He mentioned the recent relocation of the road department in its new headquarters, all paid for with funds received for the sale of lands and buildings in IS-10 right-of-way. Black said the addition to the Civic Center for the use of the youth of the county has been very successful.

Black said that these things were provided by the court while operating within the budget and that the court felt that every taxpayer will benefit in some way from these accomplishments.

Black said, "I feel that if re-elected, I can be beneficial to the court and to the county because of past experience and knowledge of projects not yet completed." "I would like to thank the citizens of Precinct 2 and the county as a whole for the cooperation and support I have received while in office," Black commented. "Your continued support in my campaign for re-election will greatly be appreciated," he said.

Dr. Edington is a ruling elder in the First Presbyterian Church in Kerrville and is a Past Moderator of the Synod of Texas. He also served as a trustee of Stillman College at Tuscaloosa, Ala. and as a trustee of the Peterson Foundation in Kerrville.

A blanket invitation has been extended to all Ozonans and friends from area towns to attend the annual banquet. Hubert Baker, chamber manager, said. Registration of guests will be from 6:30 to 7 p.m. in the foyer of the center. The banquet fee will be $3 per person.

The invocation will be given by Rev. John Berkley, pastor of the Ozona United Methodist Church, with the dinner hour set for 7 p.m.

Dr. Edington served for a number of years as president of Schreiner Institute. He is a graduate of Southwestern at Memphis, a Presbyterian College at Memphis, Tenn., where he lettered in football and track. He received his Master of Arts degree from the University of Alabama and his LL.D. from Austin College at Sherman, Texas. He is a veteran of World War II, having commanded a U.S. Navy submarine in Atlantic service during that conflict.

Famous Horses To Appear In San Angelo

The Budweiser Champion Clydesdale horses are coming to San Angelo on February 1 and 2, 1974. Announcement of the appearance was made by Standard Sales Company, Budweiser Distributors in San Angelo. Daily appearances have been scheduled for 2:00 to 6:30 p.m. at K-Mart Plaza on Feb. 1, and 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at the Village Shopping Center on Feb. 2.

San Angelo is one of the stops the eight-horse hitch will make this year as they travel the country. The Budweiser Clydesdales are probably the most widely traveled horses in the United States, covering some 40,000 miles a year as they appear in parades, state fairs, horse shows, and other special events.

LARGE PANTHER BROUGHT IN FROM THE PECOS RIVER AREA OF CROCKETT COUNTY created quite a stir at the courthouse Monday afternoon. The big cat weighed 165 pounds and measured a total of 7 feet from head to tail. This breed has increased in number the past few years and can wipe out a lamb crop or kid crop in the space of a few hours. This is the second such animal caught in the area in a month's time. However, many ranchers in most parts of the county have had loss to predators such as this for some time. This panther was trapped on the Buster Deaton ranch near Pandale and killed by a ranch hand.

25 YEARS A FIREMAN -- Cleophas Cooke, left, was honored last week for 25 years service with the Ozona Volunteer Fire Department. Fire Chief Dorris Haire, right, presents Cooke with an engraved pen set in honor of the occasion. Cooke is one of three Ozona men to have 25 years service with the department. The other two are Bill Cooper and Byron Stuart.

Washington News Letter
by Congressman O. C. Fisher

Welfare abuses have plagued this country for years. And they keep cropping up. While misuse of overly generous food stamp privileges is considered more prevalent than others, an abuse of major proportions has been in the field of Aid of Families with Dependent Children (AFDC). This kind of welfare includes aid for illegitimate children, and it is reported that some mothers bank heavily upon this source of help even to the point of multiplying the numbers for that purpose.

A recent government audit shows that one million welfare families are ineligible or overpaid at an annual cost of $1.17 billion.

The HEW reported these conclusions were reached from state samplings of 44,000 of the 3.1 million families receiving AFDC.

This shocking disclosure is sure to trigger a more detailed investigation of these raids on the federal treasury. And it should result in a tightening of guidelines and controls under which this form of aid is granted.

What is needed, and needed badly, is a major overhaul of all welfare programs--of which there are many. Public assistance should be strictly limited to the deserving, the elderly, the crippled, the orphans, the disabled, the blind, and others whose misfortunes require public help. Those who are able to work and refuse to work should be stripped from welfare rolls. There are too many who would rather have a handout than a job.

Some experts think the federal government is simply too big, too sprawling, too unwieldy, to engage in welfare business and maintain adequate policing and enforcement of eligibility standards. One possible remedy advanced would be for Uncle Sam to completely withdraw from the field of welfare (other than Social Security and other built-in services), and let the States finance and administer routine charity and welfare needs. After all, as one man put it, just interest alone on the federal debt will soon cost taxpayers $30 billion a year! Where local people pay the bills there is sure to be much better enforcement.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Far from the madding crowd," wrote the poet Thomas Gray, life can be beautiful.

It can also be a lot safer. Crowds have built-in dangers, and the law requires those in charge--if anyone is--to take reasonable precautions against accidents.

Consider this case: Moviegoers came swarming into the lobby of a downtown theater, determined to get good seats at the next "break." But they pushed so hard against the restraining rope that an elderly woman in front suffered a broken rib.

In due course, she filed a damage suit against the owner of the theater. At the trial, the owner protested:

"Crowding is one of the risks of going to see a popular picture. We can't help it if people have bad manners."

But the court granted the woman's claim. The court said the management had no business allowing more people into the lobby than it could safely control.

In another case, a publicity-seeking store created a crowd on purpose by not opening its front door on time. When the door was finally thrown open, the resulting scramble left two customers injured. For its negligent role in this affair, the management was later held liable.

Still, not every crowd-caused injury is preventable. Another woman was injured in an elevator when too many people tried to squeeze in. Was this, too, the responsibility of the management? Demanding damages, the woman said it was.

But a court disagreed, seeing no one at fault in such an odd, impromptu mishap. Said the judge: "How could the owner of the building either foresee a possible accident of the type described or forestall it?"

6 WAYS TO CONSERVE AND SAVE ON ELECTRIC COOKING

Today's modern electric range offers you a host of special features which assure uniform cooking results each time. You'll find that cooking electrically is clean, cool and economical.

- For best results, use flat bottom utensils with tight fitting covers. Utensils of medium or heavy weight aluminum conduct heat faster, transfer heat evenly and respond quickly to temperature changes.
- Match the utensil to the size of the unit. Use 8 inch units for large utensils. Use 6 inch units for small to average sized pans.
- Use high setting for a quick start for any surface cooking, or to boil water quickly. When cooking temperature is reached, switch to a lower setting.
- Do not pre-heat the oven for roasting or broiling, but do pre-heat the oven to the temperature given in the recipe for baking.
- Select correct, measured heat. The accurate heat selector switch or oven thermostat enables you to select, exactly, the same correct temperature each time you use it.
- For good heat distribution around the pans, when baking, they should not touch the sides of the oven or each other. Allow one inch clearance. Check for doneness at minimum baking time on recipe, don't keep opening oven door to peek.

Don't be misled by a "dietetic" label on foods. "Dietetic" doesn't necessarily mean the product has fewer calories than the regular product. In fact, many products labeled "dietetic" aren't meant for weight control diets--they're for persons on low sodium, low cholesterol, diabetic or other special diets.

Calorie-wise, many dietetic foods don't differ much from regular foods. For example, one-half cup regular ice cream contains 230-248 calories, while the same portion of dietetic ice cream has 200-211 calories. The main difference between them involves substituting sorbitol or mannitol for sugar in the dietetic product. Sorbitol and mannitol--like sugar--are metabolized as carbohydrates in the body. They provide the same number of calories as sugar, but at a slower rate. This is important for diabetics, who can't metabolize sugar adequately.

So, dietetic ice cream--which usually costs more and lacks the taste of regular ice cream--is intended for the diabetic rather than the weight-conscious person. Another example involves "diet" bread, which has the same number of calories per ounce as regular bread--but is sliced a little thinner. However, dietetic flavored gelatin actually contains fewer calories than regular flavored gelatin--nine calories per one-half cup, compared to 70 calories for regular flavored gelatin.

To find other foods low in calories, remember to read labels. Although some labels furnish the content's calorie count, the ingredient list also provides a key. Ingredients are listed with largest amounts first. Thus, if the first ones are calorie-rich--such as fat or oil, sugar, corn syrup, honey or chocolate--the product probably doesn't rate low in calories.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Last week I mentioned the names of a few new roses that will be in the nurseries and catalogues this spring. Maybe a list of a bumper crop of All-American selections in annuals will help when buying seed or plants. Trying these new varieties gives more interest and spice to gardening.

These new winners are chosen by a thorough scoring process conducted by judges in dozens of official test gardens over North America. Watch for them and buy early, as supplies may be limited.

The top winner this year with the only gold medal is a spectacular hybrid zinnia called "Scarlet Ruffles." It was developed especially as a "cut-and-come-again" zinnia useful for arrangements and is outstanding both in productiveness and beauty.

Foliage remains virtually free of mildew so watch this and compare with others. Bloom starts in June and continues to frost on plants that keep growing in all sorts of weather. Height about 28 inches. Another winning zinnia is now famous "Peter Pan Orange" and others in the group include Pink, Plum and Scarlet.

Marigold "Showboat" is the first triploid marigold to win A. A. S. Flowers are gold, 2 1/2 inches across, fully double, on 12-inch ball-shaped plants suited for edgings, bedding and container planting.

Celosia "Red Rox" is a plume celosia, quick and easy to grow, with shiny scarlet plume and fresh green foliage. It grows no more than 2 feet high, spreads about as wide, with a large central plume and many side stems.

Cosmos "Diablo" is a Klondyke cosmos similar to the older "Sunset" but redder. Flowers are semi-double, 2 inches across on free flowering plants up to 36 inches high.

Dianthus "Magic Charm" is the first hybrid mixture of dianthus ever offered. It contains a wide range--white, pink, salmon, scarlet, crimson with some speckled bicolors. Blooms are early and large--up to 1 1/2 inches across, on tufted plants

HANG-UP DEPARTMENT:

WHAT'S BEYOND IT?
IS IT LOCKED?

Sure, these are the questions a door raises. Jesus once said, "I am the door." His teachings have opened for millions a more meaningful, purposeful and satisfying life.

Yet people still get hung up on the questions of a locked door and what's behind it. The atheist says there's nothing beyond the door. The agnostic says we'll never know because it's locked. And the spiritually-hesitant just say, "I wish I knew..."

Sheer logic says try the knob. Common sense says grasp it firmly and turn. Those who have say it's amazing what rewards we discover with one twist of human initiative:

It's like going to church next Sunday when you haven't been there in years.

Cold Weather Brings Moisture Problems

During cold weather, homeowners often have difficulty maintaining a suitable relative humidity in their homes. And the fuel shortage may aggravate the situation even more this winter, says W. S. Allen, agricultural engineer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In homes where the air is too moist, condensation on cold, indoor surfaces causes window sweating, mildew and undesirable odors. To solve such problems, cold surfaces must be warmed or the moisture in the house reduced.

"If the house has a crawl space with no basement, thin sheets of polyethylene plastic can be used to cover the ground under the house," suggests Allen. "Excessive moisture can also be reduced by exhaust fans in the kitchen, bathroom and laundry area, the places that most contribute to raising relative humidity. Such fans need not operate continuously but only when these areas are in use."

In forced air heating systems, introducing outside air to the cold air return often solves the problem.

"Many condensation and sweating conditions on walls and windows may require structural changes to completely remedy the problem," says the Texas A&M University System specialist. "Storm windows and doors and insulation with vapor barriers added to the walls, ceiling and floor usually give good results."

Simply placing a fan in front of a large glass window or door to provide a flow of air over the cold surface will offer temporary relief.

When other measures do not give favorable results, a dehumidifier will provide more positive moisture removal.

For the house with low humidity or dry air problems, Allen suggests such remedies as less frequent operation of ventilation fans and boiling water on the range or heater. "However," warns Allen, "where conditions are severe, the boiling water method will not put sufficient water into the air."

Humidifier units, available in a range of sizes and types, can also be used to add moisture.

"Low humidity means the room temperature must be kept higher for good body comfort," says Allen. "By raising the humidity, occupants will be comfortable at a lower temperature and fuel can be saved."

Raising the relative humidity may also have an advantage in preventing health problems aggravated by too dry air.
