I certainly believe in saving energy, especially gasoline and especially since its gone up another few cents. However, I am very much against the 55 mph speed limit for now and forevermore.

In urging states to keep the 55 mph limits, officials declare it is responsible for the reduction in traffic deaths. I just don't see how they can make that statement off the tops of their heads. Traffic accidents were down before that law went into effect, and more than likely the reduced traffic due to inability to get gas was as much or more of a factor in reducing traffic fatalities than the speed limit.

I, for one, feel that the 55 mph speed limit is more likely to cause an accident than the 70 mph limit. We drove up to San Angelo Saturday morning, and got into a jam of about a half dozen cars and trucks, all going 55 mph. Suddenly, out of the blue, a small compact car zooms around our car. With a car approaching in the opposite lane, he crowds another car onto the shoulder in order to avoid a head-on collision. The car which was forced off the road throws gravel on the cars behind him. You'd think that this would be enough to scare the compact car driver half to death, but he was undaunted. Approaching a hill on a curve with the yellow stripe in his lane, he decides he just has to get around the rest of the cars and does just that. This time, the approaching car took the roadside. The compact breezed on and that was the last time we saw him on the open road.

We were somewhat surprised when we saw him again at a stop light in town and discovered a grown man was driving and had a car full of youngsters. The passenger seat next to the driver was apparently empty. I feel sure his wife was in a dead faint in the floor of the car.

This is just one good reason I dislike the 55 mph speed limit. Another, is the fact that on our fantastically good Texas highways, it seems ridiculous to be driving 55 alone on the road, without a car in sight, and the capability to see a mile in any direction, and really need to get somewhere in a hurry.

I don't know, I'm not really an authority, but then who is? I still think the limit should be between 55 and 70, and drivers should be able to use their own good sense. If they don't have any, they'll drive as they please anyway.

County Commissioners Court In Session With Full Agenda Mon.

The Crockett County Commissioners Court met in regular session Monday and attended to routine business for the most part. Some concern was expressed when it was learned that Dr. Wm. R. Johnson, chief of staff at Crockett County Hospital, had moved his office furniture and equipment by van Monday morning, after informing the court that he planned to attend school for a couple of weeks in Lubbock. The court agreed to take measures to get the situation cleared up by mid-week, either accepting Dr. Johnson's resignation as chief of staff and county health officer, or getting a firm commitment that he plans to return to Ozona and resume his practice.

Jackpot Ropings To Start Sat.

The first jackpot roping of the year will be held Saturday at the Ozona Rodeo Arena. The ropings, sponsored annually by the Ozona Roping Club, will be held through August. Saturday activities begin at 1:00 p. m. with the 12 and under flag race and barrel race.

Events and fees are as follows: 12 and under flags and barrels, $2.00; 13-16 flags and barrels, $4.00; open flags and barrels, $6.00; 15 and under breakaway roping, $5; open ribbon roping, $6.50; 2-calf average, $19.50; and 3-steer average, $31.50.

Fancy buckles will be given to the over-all winners in each event at the end of the season. A contestant must attend five or more ropings to be eligible for the trophy buckles.

Mrs. Herbert Kunkel and Mrs. Terry Gries, on behalf of the Ozona Garden Club, appeared before the court to ask for assistance in the annual spring clean-up which will be held next week, April 15-21. The court agreed to make county trucks available for trash pick up and agreed to clean and mow vacant lots with the owners' permission.

Garland Young reported on the civic center. He told the court that plans have been made to have the pool tables recovered when school is out for the current term. He also reported that a rule had been made which requires boys to wear shirts in the youth center. After a conference with Superintendent of Schools L. B. T.

Sikes, the court agreed to open all swimming pools the Monday following the close of school for the summer.

John Chiles Allen, nursing wing architect, was present and a discussion was held concerning furnishings for the nursing wing which is presently under construction at the north end of the hospital. The court authorized Allen to advertise for bids on furnishings.

After discovering that dirt had been hauled from county designated roads by private individuals at a home construction site, the court made a rule against any clearing or removing of dirt and materials from streets which will be under maintenance by the county. They also made a ruling that no streets will be paved until homes are under construction.

Jack Baggett met with the court to discuss various aspects of workmen's compensation. County workers are required to be covered by the state Workmen's Compensation law by June 1, 1974. A decision was postponed until next month's meeting.

Dudley McCary reported work on the Little League park north of the city has progressed rapidly, as well as on the public ball park. It was decided that lights will be used only during games or organized practices at the parks.

Sonny Kirklen, in giving the hospital report, told the court that Clayton Robinson, pharmacist at the Village Drug, had been appointed consulting pharmacist by the hospital board.

In other business Glenn P. Willeford was approved as new sheriff's deputy, and Jack Gillet reported on county road work. The court authorized advertisement of bids for a new street sweeper.

At the close of the meeting, it was decided to raise the salaries of the county road employees an additional $25. These men received the pay hike in January, but several were planning to quit to work on the interstate highway construction.

Easter School Holidays Told

Classes in all Ozona schools will dismiss at 2:30 p.m. this afternoon and resume Tuesday morning at the regular times. The four-day holiday will be the annual Easter holiday time for students and teachers.

Incumbents All Returned In Board Elections

In a rather uneventful dual-election Saturday, Crockett County voters returned all incumbents to the school board and to the Water District board of directors.

A total of 115 persons voted in the school board election and 52 votes were cast in the water election.

Returned to the school board for another term were George Bunker, Jr. with 91 votes, Sam Perner with 90 votes; Celestino R. Fuantoz with 107 votes and Joe Bean with 87 votes. Robert Flores received 2 write-in votes and Tony Parker received 3. All county school board trustees were also returned to office. Bob Bissett, trustee in Precinct 2, received 77 votes; Jeff Owens, Precinct 3 trustee, received 81 votes and Marshall Montgomery, trustee in Precinct 4, received 79 votes.

Returned for 2-year terms to the water district board were Lowell Littleton with 51 votes and J. W. Johnigan with 47.

Local Red Cross Asks Aid For Tornado Victims

Local Red Cross Chapters throughout the state are accepting disaster fund contributions to help finance aid to the tornado-torn mid-section of the United States. Local Chapter Chairman Bill Cooper has asked that Ozonans assist in this endeavor as much as possible.

The Red Cross has not conducted a fund drive in Ozona this year and funds are low. Those wishing to contribute may make a deposit to the Red Cross at the bank or drop their donation by the Water District office.

New Theatre Equipment For Better View

Sonny Kirklen, manager of the Big "O" Theatre, announced this week that new lamps and power supplies were installed at the theatre last week.

The first movie shown after the new equipment was installed was viewed Saturday night and the picture was much improved.

The equipment should make the picture about 50% brighter, and even dark scenes should have more clarity.

Contract Let For IS 10, Ozona Construction At Record High

Crockett County's economy received another boost last month when the highway construction contract for 6.9 miles of Interstate Highway 10 was awarded to the H. B. Zachry Co. of San Antonio for the sum of $5,943,908.85.

The work, supervised by District Engineer D. R. Watson, will be on the section of highway which runs through the south part of the city of Ozona. The project, which will require an estimated 425 working days, will be under Highway Department Engineer W. F.

Dixon of Ozona. The contract is for grading, structures, flexible base, two course surface treatment and delineation on 6.9 miles of Interstate Highway 10. The project extends from 0.8 mile west of State Hwy. 163 to SH 163 in Ozona and from the junction SH 163 in Ozona to 6 miles eastward.

The project will connect with work just finished on the roadbed an eighth of a mile west of Ozona, run through Ozona and connect with the completed portion of IS 10 east of Ozona. The road will not be open to traffic until paving contracts are let and completed which will be some time in the future.

Vacating the right-of-way for IS 10 has been a major project for the county. Crockett County has just recently completed its elaborate county road maintenance facility in the country club area north of town and is now busy constructing Little League and hardball playing fields plus other recreational facilities on county-owned land in the area.

Interested citizens have voiced hope that in the process of development of the new playground area, made necessary when IS 10 gobbled up the long known playing fields, that unused parts of the county-owned land be developed and beautified as picnic and park areas with tree-planting, grass sodding and addition of facilities that citizens might enjoy in the future. This area is located at the north edge of the city, with excellent soil and admirably displayed along the Highway 163 approach to this city. The well kept Texas Highway Department is across the country club street and north of the beautiful new county maintenance facility, and the recreational facilities are to the south.

Construction is also booming in the city proper, with the new nursing wing to the Crockett County Hospital under construction and a new home and medical clinic for Dr. Don Carlisle on the side of the east hill on Fairview Drive.

Construction projects in the new residential areas near the country club amount to an estimated total of upwards of half million dollars. Several homes have been completed in the Country Club Estates Addition and several new homes are nearing completion. The subdivision plus a four-unit two-

Lion Tracksters Make It Four Wins In Row

Ozona Lion Tracksters made it four district championships in a row last Thursday in Crane when they out-scored Big Lake in the final race of the day and scored 114 points to the Owls' 108 points.

The team really had to show what they were made of when the sprint relay team lost its bid for regional by dropping the stick in the last 40 yards of the race. The Lions came back fighting, picking up points from everywhere to set the stage for the mile relay and the championship.

This meet was probably the greatest team effort of the season for the Lions, as 20 of the 24 contenders scored and three of the four who did not score finished seventh in their races.

The Lions went into the meet without the services of Romaldo Cervantez, who was ill. Cervantez was the number 2 seeded long-jumper and the lead-off man on the sprint

WAR CLOUDS OVER ASIA

While the world's attention has been riveted on the Middle East during the past few months, storm signals have again been raised over the possibility of a major war between the Soviet Union and Communist China.

For example, two West German magazines (the influential weeklies DER SPIEGEL and STERN) and Britain's prestigious ARMY QUARTERLY virtually predict the outbreak of war by the end of the coming summer. And the Soviet Union's quarterly publication PROBLEMS OF THE FAR EAST reported in December that the Sino-Soviet talks over boundary issues, which began over four years ago, have reached an impasse while "an atomic bomb is hanging over the negotiating table."

A war between Russia and China would almost certainly involve nuclear weapons. This opens up such hideous and unpredictable possibilities for all mankind that it seems incredible that anyone of rational mind would unleash it. And yet, writer Alexander Solzhenitsyn, who presumably has some feel for the thinking of the Kremlin leaders, is reported to take the possibility very seriously and to have sent a warning to that effect to President Nixon. And it is a fact that since the armed clash on the Ussuri River five years ago, both China and Russia have massed enormous forces along their 4,000 mile frontier.

If there is war it would almost certainly be initiated by Russia in order to destroy China's nuclear potential before the new Chinese 3,500-mile missiles, capable of hitting Moscow, become operational toward the end of this year. This may explain why Red China now has become such an advocate of a strong NATO alliance: anything to keep the pressure on the Soviets elsewhere. If the Kremlin is really thinking of throwing the iron dice with Chairman Mao, then the tragedy of Watergate is magnified still further. Strong and effective U.S. leadership will be essential either to help prevent, or at least to minimize, a potential world cataclysm.

A STRANGE TWIST OF EVENTS

Difficult as it is for the average American to understand our foreign policies these days, there is nothing more puzzling than the attitude of some folks toward the free country of Rhodesia.

A number of Senators in Washington who claim that they deplore the act of economic blackmail by the Arabs were the first in line to vote for a measure which would impose economic blackmail on our part against Rhodesia, by banning the import of Rhodesian chromium.

Such a policy, if it should be confirmed by the House of Representatives, would not only force us to depend upon the Soviet Union for our supply of the critical metal, but it will also cost us about twice the price we are now paying Rhodesia. One result, according to experts in Washington, would be that the average family automobile will cost about $200 more than it does now.

Even stranger, however, is that according to newscaster Fulton Lewis, III, General Motors has directed its lobbyists in Washington to pressure for the passage of the measure which would impose the ban. "The reasoning in this case," says Lewis, "is that although (the ban) would push the price of ferro-chrome steels upward, GM wants to protect its investments in such black African nations as Zaire. . . . It is fearful that rejection of Humphrey's bill (which calls for the ban) might cause an anti-American reaction in black dominated regions."

Could it be, in addition to the reason cited by Fulton Lewis, that General Motors also wants to curry favor with the Soviet Union?

Whatever the reason, it might not be a bad idea for you to contact your nearest General Motors automobile dealer, and ask him in turn to ask HIS supplier why the American people should be expected to pay $200 more per automobile to make things good for General Motors.

BRING ON THE COAL

A recent newspaper ad by a group of power companies advises this: "America has more coal than the Middle East has oil. Let's dig it!"

We say, Amen. The United States, as the phrase goes, is the Saudi Arabia of the coal world. We have enough of the fossil fuel to last for at least 500 years. And, since we already use about 35 percent of the world's energy, we're going to need it.

Even with the lifting of the Arab oil embargo, it will be many years before the U.S. could become self-sufficient in oil, given the best of possible circumstances. In the meantime, we face the uneasy choice of compromising the ideal environment we want to have and the power from coal that we must have. While other forms of energy such as nuclear power are necessary, clearly it will be a good while yet before they can supply a large percentage of U.S. energy needs.

In response to a national need for wider use of coal, the Nixon administration is now mobilizing a task force to work out details of expansion.

STATE CAPITAL
Highlights AND Sidelights

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — Delegates to the 1974 Constitutional Convention have taken a break in their efforts to rewrite Texas' 1876-model Constitution.

The 181 delegates (Texas House and Senate members) are to spend the next 30 days back home discussing with their constituents the work accomplished thus far on the constitutional rewrite.

Decision to take the recess until May 6 was triggered partially by the desire of some delegates to return to their home districts to concentrate on re-election efforts, stymied for the most part for the last three months by their need to meet a five-day-a-week convention schedule in Austin.

Other convention delegates and convention leadership feel the 30-day break will provide opportunity for them to seek citizen comment on the work of the convention so far.

Many convention delegates have complained that the work schedule has been so strenuous they have had little opportunity to touch base with the folks back home.

When they return to Austin in May, delegates will go to work on new Constitutional articles dealing with the Judiciary, General Provisions and Separation.

The recess will also provide Style and Drafting Committee staff members opportunity to review articles which have gained tentative approval to insure that no error has crept into the document during the heat of debate on the convention floor.

Convention leadership is now talking about submitting the final document to voters at the November, 1974, general election.

DIVIDEND PAYMENT Allstate Insurance Company has been ordered to pay Texas auto policyholders $4 million in cancelled dividends.

Allstate attorneys said they "completely disagree" and will appeal Insurance Commissioner Don Odom's order, hoping it will not discourage other companies from "making lower rates available to customers under new law."

Odom said Allstate's Texas certificate will be cancelled in Texas if dividends aren't being paid in 30 days.

Allstate stopped paying dividends on policies expiring October 3, the same day it obtained the State Insurance Board's permission to reduce rates for auto coverage.

DEMO CONVENTION FIGHT HEATS — Democratic liberals and conservatives are squaring off for another clash at precinct conventions May 4.

Houston liberal leader Billie Carr claimed Gov. Dolph Briscoe's supporters are trying to take over the Texas Democratic party rather than encouraging wider participation by all elements.

Activities of the Governor's Conventions Committee, headed by Gordon Wynne of Wills Point, is siphoning off money needed for an official Affirmative Action Program to bring in more new convention goers, charged Mrs. Carr.

She said liberals will have petitions at conventions endorsing a permanent national Democratic party charter guaranteeing full participation by all elements.

OFFICIAL OPINIONS — Prisoners in county jails must be permitted to vote, Atty. Gen. John Hill concluded in a recent opinion. Hill's interpretation which held a portion of the Texas Election Code unconstitutional does not apply to convicted felons since they would not be qualified to vote anyway.

The opinion speaks to persons who are in their home county jails on misdemeanor charges. The Election Code specifically states which persons may vote by mail — and in so doing, disenfranchises county prisoners, the ruling reads.

In another opinion, Hill advised the president of Tyler State College that the school has no legal authority to spend state money for a lawyer to handle the school's business.

Hill noted a 1973 rider to the appropriations bill restricts "outside" legal aid. The rider states no appropriation money may be legally spent by any agency to employ "outside" counsel unless the attorney general has been requested to perform the services and has certified his inability to provide them. Hill said Tyler State College has made no request for his help and has no certification from the attorney general.

The Ozona Stockman is ready to send out what we hope is the last billing. We are sending bills for the fractional amounts for everyone whose subscription comes due before June 1, 1974. Bills of two dollars or less may be paid in June along with the yearly subscription, if desired.

We have been trying for some time to have all subscriptions due on June 1, and this is almost accomplished. There will be a notice in the paper before this time, but no bills will be sent out. This is being done in lieu of raising subscription rates. We will appreciate your cooperation.

Washington News Letter
by Congressman O. C. Fisher

By a margin of 293 to 117 the House last week adopted a strong anti-busing provision to the big school aid bill, that would permit busing only as a last resort and then allow no student to be bused farther than the next closest school to his home.

But this is nothing new. The House has approved similar amendments any number of times in recent years, to have the Senate water down the anti-busing provisions and make them meaningless. A showdown on Senate busing sentiment took place in December on a vote to prohibit use of gasoline for busing of school children away from their home schools. Pro-busing won by a vote of 89 to 48.

Ultimately the House school aid bill, with anti-busing in it, will clash with a companion Senate bill, without anti-busing, and a compromise will have to be worked out.

But regardless of any anti-busing compulsion, written into law, there will still be the courts to deal with. The present court, with 4 Nixon appointees, has shown much more prudence and respect for congressional mandates than did the old Warren Court. So, maybe there's a change in the air.

Federal minimum wage will soon jump from $1.60 to $2.30 per hour, under a recent enactment, now at the White House. Basically, wage levels are determined by production and by essentiality. An employer cannot afford to hire a given worker unless that employee's work produces a profit for the employer. Thousands of enterprises operate on extremely tight profit margins. If the minimum gets too high they turn to automation, reduce the work force, or go out of business.

Under the new high levels, domestics will be hard hit. So will students, handicapped, elderly, and the unskilled in general.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Visit to Washington

Millions of American tourists will be visiting the nation's capital this year for a close-up look at their government. Although most of them won't realize it, they should be grateful for an unusual law called the Federal Tort Claims Act.

This Act, overturning the ancient doctrine that "the King can do no wrong," allows a citizen to hold the government liable in case he gets hurt on federal premises. For example, claims have been filed by:

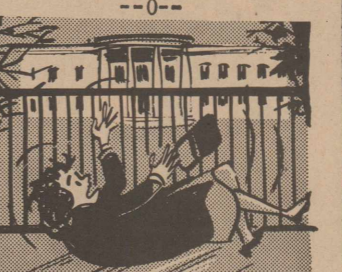

- a man who stumbled on uneven flooring in a Senate corridor;
- a woman who skidded down the steps of the National Gallery of Art;
- a woman who fell on ice behind the White House during a Christmas pageant; and,
- a woman who slipped in the lobby of the Smithsonian Institute.

--LR--
We had a new director in band Tuesday. He kept everyone in stitches.

--LR--
All the track guys going to regional will be going to the Texas Relays this weekend.

True, payment under the Act is not automatic. The victim must be able to establish some measure of fault on the part of the government.

Thus, a woman tourist who stepped into a hole beside the Washington Monument won her claim because she proved governmental negligence. It seems that some faulty plumbing, installed by a government crew, had undermined the paving and caused it to sink.

But a man who stepped into a hole near the Jefferson Memorial (at Cherry Blossom time) was denied damages because he had ventured into an area where the public was not supposed to go. The court said the government was not required to be as careful in places where visitors were not expected.

Of course, the Act applies equally to federal premises all over the country. You have its protection in courthouses and post offices, military bases and national parks.

In one case, a boy won damages under the Act after a wobbly mailbox toppled over on him. The court felt that the mailbox was a federal "place of business," just like the post office, and should be kept just as safe.

EASTER — THE RESURRECTION
Luke 23:50, 55-56 & Luke 24:1-9

From The Living Bible

Then a man named Joseph, a member of the Jewish Supreme Court, from the city of Arimathea in Judea, went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. As the body was taken away, the women from Galilee followed and saw it carried into the tomb. Then they went home and prepared spices and ointments to embalm him; but by the time they were finished it was the Sabbath, so they rested all that day as required by the Jewish law. But very early on Sunday morning they took the ointments to the tomb — and found that the huge stone covering the entrance had been rolled aside. So they went in — but the Lord Jesus' body was gone. They stood there puzzled, trying to think what could have happened to it. Suddenly two men appeared before them, clothed in shining robes so bright their eyes were dazzled. The women were terrified and bowed low before them. Then the men asked, "Why are you looking in a tomb for someone who is alive? He isn't here! He has come back to life again! Don't you remember what he told you back in Galilee — that the Messiah must be betrayed into the power of evil men and be crucified and that he would rise again the third day?" Then they remembered, and rushed back to Jerusalem to tell his eleven disciples — and everyone else — what had happened.

Tornado Season Approaching

Tornado season is approaching in Texas, and certain precautions can save lives, warns Wayne Keese, agricultural engineer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Tornadoes are violent wind storms that usually grow out of threatening thunder clouds. In Texas, the peak tornado season is during the months of April, May and June, but tornadoes may occur anytime.

"Although tornadoes may occur at any hour of the day or night, they are most frequent during the warmer hours of the day," points out Keese.

When the possibility of a tornado exists, the National Severe Storms Forecast Center in Kansas City, Missouri, sends out a tornado watch to the threatened area. The message is teletyped to radio, television and National Weather Service stations in the area.

"A 'tornado watch' alerts people to the possibility of a tornado," explains the Texas A&M University System specialist. "When a watch is announced for your area, there is no need to interrupt normal activities except to listen for weather advisories and watch for threatening weather. Be sure a battery-powered radio is available in case power is lost."

A tornado watch identifies a specific time and area, but everyone in the general area should be alert for threatening conditions.

"When a tornado has actually been sighted or detected by radar, a 'tornado warning' is issued. The warning tells where and when a tornado was sighted, the direction it is likely to move, and the time it is expected to move through the warned area," explains Keese.

If a tornado warning is issued for your area, move immediately to a cellar, basement or civil defense shelter. If you are in a home or other building with no basement, go to the lowest level in the center of the house or other building. Take shelter in a small room or closet or under heavy furniture.

Keese also lists other safety precautions.

At home, open a few windows to allow for sudden air pressure changes. Then find shelter.

Stay away from windows and buildings with wide, free-span roofs. In open country, escape by moving at a right angle to the tornado's path. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in a ditch or ravine but do not stay in your car.

Get far enough away from a trailer or mobile home to avoid injury if it is overturned.

When you observe a tornado, report it promptly to the nearest law officer or National Weather Service Office. Otherwise, do not make calls so that lines can be kept open for emergency information.

After a tornado, always wear shoes and gloves in cleanup operations and damage inspections. Watch for hazards like broken or downed electrical wires and broken gas pipes. When entering a storm-damaged building, watch for ceilings and walls that may be ready to fall.

Never light a match, smoke or carry open flames into a building until you are sure there are no gas leaks.

Do not sight-see in disaster areas. Your presence will only hamper rescue and cleanup operations.

Junior Tennis Team Wins District Meet

Coach Sandy Tarno's junior division tennis team won the district meet at Crane last week with 16 team points, capturing first and second places in girls' singles and doubles.

In the first round of singles, Kelly Fenton downed her Midkiff opponent 6-3, 6-4, while Shannon Dockery took 6-1 and 6-2 rounds from her McCamey opponent. In the second round both Ozona girls downed their Crane opponents. Fenton won 6-1 and 6-2 and Dockery took 6-1 and 6-3 wins. In the finals with the two Ozona girls matched, Fenton won 6-3 and 6-4.

The first round of girls' doubles saw the Ozona team of Williamson and Perry taking 6-4 and 6-3 wins from the McCamey team. In the second round the Ozona pair downed Big Lake 9-7 and 6-3, to gain the finals. Karen Kirby and Karen Bebee downed Big Lake 6-4 and 8-6 in the semi-finals after drawing a bye in the first round. Williamson and Perry downed Kirby and Bebee 7-5, 6-1 in the finals to secure first and second places for Ozona.

IRS Warns Against Cash Payments

Dallas, Texas--Cold, hard cash is not the way to pay your 1973 federal income tax, Robert A. LeBaube, Acting Internal Revenue Service (IRS) District Director for North Texas, said today.

"Cash can get lost in the mail," he said, "leaving the taxpayer without a record of payment."

For the sake of assuring proper payment and for keeping good records, LeBaube said, taxpayers should use either checks or money orders payable to the IRS. That way, if the check or money order is lost, taxpayers can stop payment and issue a new one.

Another advantage of this type of payment, LeBaube said, is that taxpayers can write their social security number on the check or money order and further assure proper identification with their account.

Refined peanut oil is widely used for deep fat frying in the food industry. The high smoke point and flavor of refined peanut oil are two reasons for its use by the food industry. At the same time, however, homemakers traditionally haven't used it.

"Smoke point," is the lowest temperature at which an oil decomposes to produce smoke. Peanut oil's smoke point is 450-470 degrees F., which means it can be heated to those temperatures before it will smoke, making it a good cooking--especially frying--oil. It also can be used successfully in fondues for frying donuts, meat pies or fried pies.

The pleasing flavor and the amber color of the oil is dependent upon the variety of peanut, growth conditions and refining process. Some peanut oils of good quality may be slightly darker in appearance. Substitution of this oil in any recipe specifying a melted shortening assures excellent results.

Certain salad dressings and pastries take on unique flavors when made with peanut oil. They include, for example, Oil and Vinegar Dressing, Sunset Dressing and Peanut Butterscotch Squares. Also, recipes specifying olive oil are equally tasty when peanut oil is used.

Peanut oil will store at room temperature for considerable periods of time. Noting that peanut oil is almost 98.3 per cent digestible by man, one tablespoon--or 14 grams--of the oil contains 124 calories, 14 grams of fat and 7.3 grams of polyunsaturated fatty acids.

- Peanut Butterscotch Squares
 - 1 c. dark brown sugar
 - 1 tsp. vanilla
 - 2 c. sifted enriched flour
 - 1/2 tsp. baking powder
 - 2 to 3 tbsp. milk
 - 1/2 c. chopped salted peanuts
- frost as desired

Stir flour with baking powder and stir into oil-sugar-egg mixture, adding enough milk to leave dough quite stiff, but slightly moist. Stir in peanuts. Pour dough into greased 9-inch square baking pan. Bake (350 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes or until lightly browned around edges.
- Oil and Vinegar Dressing
 - 4 tbsp. vinegar
 - 1/2 tsp. pepper
 - 1 tsp. salt
 - 1/2 tsp. mustard
- Place all ingredients in bottle with tight lid or stopper. Shake vigorously until thoroughly mixed. Serve on a tossed green salad. (makes 1 cup)
- Sunset Dressing
 - 1/2 c. vinegar
 - 1/2 c. catsup
 - 1 tsp. salt
 - Dash hot sauce
 - 2 hard-cooked egg yolks, crumbled

Tips For Gardenors

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Those April showers have been very slow in showing up for a much needed general rain in all of Texas. This dryness keeps everyone busy watering flowers, shrubs, lawns and trees. Lawns need to be really soaked if there is no rain soon.

Spring blooming shrubs, spirea, azaleas, and hawthorn (raphiolepis) have been very full and beautiful the last week. They will need pruning attention as soon as they finish blooming and it's a good time to fertilize, too.

Day lilies will be putting on buds for their May blooming, so keep well watered. If some plants show pale green or yellow leaves, give them one of the iron foods and water into soil. Soon a dark green appearance will be noticed.

The soil seems to be warm enough to plant caladiums now. They like a cool, shady place and fade less in color if not in afternoon sun. Give plenty of water when very hot and dry.

Keep up with the spraying and dusting programs. In this way you can be sure to have healthy plants. Baits for snails, slugs and pillbugs must be used at the first indication that these creatures are becoming troublesome.

This month is clean-up month. After the dry, dusty and windy days there is a great deal of litter on our streets, lots and vacant lots so enter into this clean-up and have your trash ready when the county trucks are available. Notice will be given. After spending time, money and effort to keep our city clean and beautiful there are still some that dump their litter and bottles within the city limits.

SENATOR JOHN TOWER, R-TEXAS

SENATOR JOHN TOWER'S WEEKLY REPORT TO TEXANS

The Senate has just taken a very important step which I feel will go a long way toward the return of some form of sound fiscal practice by the United States Congress.

Congress has ducked the question of regaining budgetary control throughout this period. In fact, the argument may well be made that it was President Nixon's attempts to control expenditures last year by imposing funds which finally forced the Congress to act.

Now the Senate has approved the Congressional Budget Act, and hopefully this measure will become law in the very near future. This represents a long-needed effort to restore the Congress to a position where it can make a meaningful input in the budget process.

As most of you know, two major steps must be taken in the Congress before a spending proposal is approved. First the new program must receive the appropriate committee authorization and then the legislation must be approved by the full Senate.

After the bill becomes law, the President and the Congress consider the level of appropriations for the program which is considered as part of the various appropriations for each of the executive departments.

In addition to sponsoring the Congressional Budget Reform Act, I had introduced a Senate Resolution proposing that authorization measures must be reported not later than one month prior to the beginning of the fiscal year to which they apply.

The Congressional Budget Act of 1974 is a serious effort on the part of Congress to regain some form of control over the governmental spending process.

May 15 to submit all authorization legislation for the next fiscal year. Between June 1 and September 25, all spending proposals would have to receive final approval or be ineligible for funding in the fiscal year beginning that October 1.

During that final budget period, the Congress would be required to reaffirm or revise any or all spending figures set out in its earlier budget proposals. In other words, if spending exceeded income, the Congress would have to affirmatively approve deficit spending or raise taxes to meet the added needs.

Again, I am most pleased that the Congress finally is moving toward sounder budgetary operations. This has been a matter of serious concern on my part since I have been a member of the United States Senate. Hopefully, this move will put so-called back door spending once more within the purview of our regular appropriations process, and return the power of the federal purse where it belongs--to the hands of the Congress.

Medical Expense Tops List For Taxpayer Error

Many taxpayers get smaller refunds--or have to pay additional taxes--because they make errors in reporting medical expenses, Frank Strickland, Administrative Officer of Internal Revenue for the San Angelo area, said today.

To avoid errors in deducting medical expenses on 1973 returns, Mr. Strickland advised taxpayers to read the Form 1040 instructions carefully before filing.

A common error taxpayers made in reporting medical expenses is in deducting medicine and drug expenses. Taxpayers can add these expenses to their other medical expenses only to the extent they exceed one percent of adjusted gross income.

"Some taxpayers," Mr. Strickland said, "try to deduct in full their drug costs in excess of one percent of their adjusted gross income instead of adding this excess to their other medical expenses, which are subject to a three percent limitation."

Another common error taxpayers made last year involved the medical insurance premium deduction. You can deduct one-half the cost of the premium paid for medical insurance, up to $150, without regard to the three percent of income limitation.

The Form 1040 instructions explain what is and is not deductible and also how the expenses should be reported.

Screwworm Outbreak Feared by Officials

There is cause for worry about severe numbers of screwworm infestations in Texas livestock this year, says Dr. M. E. Meadows. He is director of the Screwworm Eradication Program.

Several factors have combined to give screwworm program officials scant hope of controlling this pest in 1974. Larvae of the screwworm fly invade wounds to feed on the flesh of all warm blooded animals.

The screwworm control program is based on the finding that most female screwworm flies mate only once in their lifetime. Sexually sterile male flies are released in the vicinity of known screwworm infestations.

A severe infestation of screwworms left millions of pupae in the ground at the start of the winter. The winter was relatively warm with only a short period when maximum temperatures stayed below 60°.

Screwworm flies live and die without mating when temperatures stay below 60°. There wasn't enough cold weather during the past winter to provide a complete kill of the millions of pupae left in the ground from last fall's severe south Texas epidemic.

Now that there's been some rain in south Texas, and warm weather has returned, increasing numbers of screwworm infested wounds are being found in livestock.

Sixty cases were reported from 17 Texas counties during March. Cases in 15 of these counties were from discernible trends. A case in central Texas' Brown County, and another further north in Haskell County, have screwworm program officials puzzled and worried.

The two tiers of cases in south Texas counties have the same probable explanation. Cases started popping in Bee, Live Oak, Atascosa, La Salle, Zavala, and Frio Counties early in March. These are from pupae left in the ground from December infestations, say screwworm fighters.

The same factors are probably responsible for the cases in Kennedy, Brooks, Willacy, Cameron, Hidalgo, Jim Hogg, Zapata, and Webb Counties. Hold-over pupae from last fall's infestations are thought to be the origin of these cases.

No screwworm infestations were recorded in other states during March. Reports from Mexico indicate a build-up of flies in Sonora and Chihuahua is moving north toward Arizona and New Mexico.

Fifty of last month's 60 cases were in cattle. Forty-one of these cases were in the navels of newborn calves which points up the necessity for close observation of the herd during calving season.

The energy crisis means a great deal more to women than just a shortage of gasoline, heating fuel, electricity, and the resultant shortage of goods.

The National Safety Council whose "Safety on the Streets" campaign has been in operation for over two years, is urging women wherever they must be out on the streets and highways at night to give extra thought to the dangers which may confront them and to plan their routes and actions in advance.

Common sense dictates that a woman will not be out alone unless absolutely necessary, but if she must be, the National Safety Council recommends she carry a flashlight, hold her purse close, and not walk in or near dark alleys or bushes.

When driving she is urged not to go unless she knows she has enough gasoline and that her car is in good repair. Never under any circumstances should she carry a reserve supply of gasoline.

Also, the council urges women to lock the car door and keep it locked. In a word, be wary.

Tex. Youth May Use Mail To Register

Colonel Melvin N. Glantz, the State Director of Selective Service for Texas, has announced the use of "registration by mail" in Texas.

Although inductions have ended, young men are still required by Federal Law to register with Selective Service at age 18. Failure to register makes the young man liable for an extreme penalty of five years in prison and $10,000.00 fine.

Recent reorganizations within the Selective Service System have left considerably fewer local board offices open in Texas. As a result, many registrants live a considerable distance from the nearest registration place. To make the requirement of registration more convenient for those men who are a great distance from a Selective Service Registrar, the forms for "registration by mail" will be used.

"Registration by mail" is not intended to replace the established procedure of appearing in person before a duly appointed Selective Service Registrar. It is designed only as a supplemental measure to accommodate the young man who lives so far from a place of registration that going before the Registrar would be an inconvenience.

To accomplish registration by mail, the young man can simply write to his nearest Selective Service System Area Office requesting the new form for registration by mail. The form will be forwarded immediately, and when completed and returned to Selective Service, the young man will have complied with the requirement of Federal Law to register with Selective Service.

Glantz said: "Since inductions have ended, many people think it is no longer necessary for young men to register, but the law still requires each young man to register within 30 days before or after his 18th birthday."

Glantz urged young men to keep their records clean by timely registration with Selective Service, and added: "If a young man has reached age 18 and has not yet registered, he should do so as soon as possible."

To receive the new registration by mail form, young men should write to the nearest Selective Service System Area Office or to State Headquarters Selective Service System in Austin, Texas.

The nearest Selective Service System Area Office is located at Room 610, 7 W. Twohig Bldg., 7 W. Twohig St. in San Angelo, Texas.

Simmer, Do Not Boil, Is Hint to Save Energy

Want to lower your total use of energy and get more from what you do use?

The First National City Bank (Citibank), New York City, in its monthly newsletter "Consumer Views," suggests many ways to conserve electricity and gas and, coincidentally, save money!

You may be surprised to learn that, though it costs only a trifle more than 2 cents to burn four 100-watt bulbs for three hours, to leave a 100-watt bulb burning for a year uses more than 60 gallons of oil to provide the electricity, and adds $28 (at pre-energy crisis prices) to your bill.

Use of power to switch lights on and off is infinitesimal. There are real savings in all the minutes you don't use a bulb. Turn off the lights in rooms you walk out of even if you will be gone only a few minutes.

Try a lower wattage bulb whenever one has to be replaced. Use fluorescent lighting wherever possible. A 40-watt fluorescent lamp gives more light than a 100-watt incandescent. Also, it lasts 10 times as long and uses less than half the energy.

When you're dusting, don't forget to wipe the bulbs and shades for more light on less wattage.

In general it's not the electric toothbrush, shaver, carving knife and garbage disposer, that eats up the biggest amount of energy. Nor is it even the toaster, broiler, coffee maker or deep fryer. Engineered to do one job efficiently, these are often cheaper to use than a stove.

Defrost your refrigerator before the frost is 1/4-inch thick. The frost itself acts as an insulator and cuts the cooling power of the coils.

Try to place refrigerator or freezer away from direct sunlight, heating pipes and the oven.

Freezers work best when full—but don't overload.

Test the tightness of your refrigerator door. Close it on a dollar bill. If the bill pulls out easily, you need a new gasket.

Preheat oven for baking but never for broiling. Do not preheat for slow-cooking items.

Bright shiny pans cook faster (and better) than dull ones.

Avoid violent boiling (except for those times when you're trying to reduce the liquid by evaporation). Simmering uses less heat. Whether boiling or simmering, the water temperature remains the same.

Prepare double or triple amounts of foods that need long cooking—and freeze the leftovers.
