Too many people have a tendency to sit back and say "Oh, let George do it," when it comes to serving their community, and I can include myself in this group. On the other hand, there are those who are sought out and roped in because they always do a good job whatever they undertake, these are the hard-workers who feel that it's an honor to serve their community. Then, last but not least, we have that small group of people who campaign for the top job in almost every community endeavor and usually get it because nobody else really wants the glory, publicity, hard work, etc. These you will find in every community. The top job is a sop to their ego, but the first thing you know the real work is being done by that old faithful second group. This is because those in group three never really accomplish anything. They are so busy being chairman of this and president of that, that they've over-extended themselves and have time to do nothing, much less do justice to their titles. Save for the hard-working second group, all projects and goals would go down the drain. Meanwhile, there are those of us in the first group who discuss this, but say "Oh, what the heck."

What I'm getting at, there are too many older Ozonans in group 2 who deserve a rest. And, alas, I fear too many of us who are under 50 are in groups 1 and 3. We really need to make an effort toward improvement.

Here it is July 4th and we at the Stockman are getting a holiday along with the rest of the town. Nobody around here can remember when the Stockman office got to close up on the Fourth of July. We have always been getting the paper out or getting ready to get it out. As luck would have it, the Fourth this year falls on "dead day," and we get to take off too. kk
Summer has just gotten under way, yet it seems we've already had a summer's worth of hot weather. That along with no rain.

People are already feeling draggy and puny with ailments they can't put a name to, and doing crazy things, as if we were already in the "dog days." The "dog days," as everyone is well aware, do not arrive until that long hot spell just before the first northern. And, it's not just Ozona. Look at what they are doing in Washington. Putting everybody in jail who tried to get evidence on Daniel Ellsberg, who stole and sold top secret documents. And Dr. Ellsberg? Got off scot free. That's not crazy?

DEDICATION CEREMONIES for the new Little League Park gave fans and others an opportunity to learn the importance of Little League to youngsters. The ceremonies were held Thursday night with L. B. T. Sikes, center, serving as master of ceremonies.

Others on the program were Little League officials and members of the Lions Club, along with County Judge Troy Williams. At right boys from the four teams present the flag. The new park replaces the park on the south side which has been torn down.

Bicentennial Planning Picnic Counted Success

Plans got under way Thursday evening for Ozona's Bicentennial celebration with a kick-off picnic in the yard of the R. A. Harrell home with thirty-three planners present.

Members of the Crockett County Historical Survey Committee, who have been appointed to the planning committee, heard many suggestions from those present.

Mrs. Harrell, who is chairman of the committee, said that those present were very enthusiastic and were a representative group of all segments of the community.

The group agreed unanimously on promoting a new museum for Ozona, a project which will be of lasting benefit to citizens here.

Town beautification will be a major part of the celebration planning, as well as some sort of historical celebration. It was planned to have a community religious service in the park with an old-fashioned basket lunch to follow.

The group planned to meet again following the July 4 holiday.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH

"We hold these Truths to be self-evident; that all Men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness . . ."

With these ringing words, the founding fathers laid the foundation for the reasons which impelled them "to assume among the Powers of the Earth, the separate and equal Station to which the laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them."

There can be no question at all, from a study of not only the Declaration itself, but of all the many documents and proclamations which preceded the American Revolution, that the American form of free government was founded upon a profound, fundamental, unquestioning belief in God, and in the Providence of God. The modern heathen may rage; the militant atheists may complain that it offends their sensitivities; some "new morality" politicians may be embarrassed by it; even some avant-garde (god is dead) religionists may try to avoid it; but the fact of history remains. America was founded upon belief in God.

More than that: the founding fathers perceived that God was the master architect, creator and builder of the Universe; that upon creating the world and all that is in it, God set forth certain inexorable, unchanging laws; and that these laws governed man, nature, and science alike. Hence, to have a "successful" nation, it was necessary to tune into, to seek accord with, to synchronize with, the Laws of God. It was a simple idea, but a revolutionary idea — indeed the most revolutionary of any government in history.

Further, man had a right to be free because that right was God-given; and since God had given man his freedom, no government, no principality, no power (not even King George!) had the right to take that freedom away. Indeed, that freedom was "unalienable"; it could not be given away, or traded, or sold, or relinquished in any way.

Such is the truly revolutionary idea which has set the United States apart from the other great nations of the world. And such is the meaning of the Glorious Fourth.

THE OTHER NUCLEAR THREAT

Although U.S. officials are concentrating on seeking a new agreement with the Soviet Union limiting strategic weapons, an even more serious matter may be on the horizon with the proliferation of nuclear know-how to additional countries, spurred in part by the Nixon Administration's pledge of a nuclear reactor for Egypt.

And, as if the growth of the world's nuclear club is not sobering enough, rational men must shudder at the possibility that a nuclear weapon could fall into the hands of groups with the outlook, say, of El Fatah, the Irish Republican Army or the Symbionese Liberation Army. Given the readily available textbook technology on how to build such a device, and the growing stockpiles of plutonium — the explosive component in nuclear weapons — this terrifying possibility must be faced.

"Let us not forget that there are nations who have actively aided terrorist bands and who might not stop at providing nuclear weapons," a leading expert on terrorism testified recently before the House Committee on Internal Security.

Jay Mallin, a former research scientist at the University of Miami's Center for Advanced International Studies, stressed that there is a "very real danger of nuclear weapons falling into the hands of terrorist groups." Mallin noted that in March 1973, a guerrilla band seized temporary control of a nuclear power station in Argentina. "The incident was a clear warning of what may happen in the future," he said.

It is obviously important for the United States to continue to seek genuine limitations of weapons with the Soviet Union. However, at the same time, we urge Federal officials not to underestimate the dangers to world peace of additional nations gaining a nuclear capability. And every citizen of every country has a stake in seeing that no outlaw terrorist group ever gets access to that capability.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights
by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — The energy crisis may bring lower auto insurance premiums, and the State Insurance Board has put off its annual rate hearing to see if that's possible.

The hearing won't take place until late September this year. By then, the Board hopes to get statistics on accidents and insurance claims for the first quarter of 1974.

The 55 miles an hour speed limit approved in special legislative session last December did not take effect until January 20. Driving was also curtailed sharply during early months of the year because of gasoline shortages.

If statistics for the first three months show lower rates are possible, the reduction would not go into effect until a month or more after the September hearing.

Texas Department of Public Safety has been asked to provide accident report details for the Insurance Board's 40 rating territories.

An average statewide reduction of 4.3 per cent was ordered last year, and many companies have granted further "deviation" reductions below the statewide rates fixed by the regulatory agency.

CONVENTION WINDING UP — The Constitutional Convention is racing toward a conclusion, but critical decisions — perhaps the toughest of the deliberations to date — remain.

President Price Daniel Jr. is hopeful of adjournment by July 15. Before that time, 121 votes must be rallied for the final document (and separate referendum items) to be submitted to voters.

ACCIDENTS PREDICTED — Col. Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, estimated 42 lives would be lost in July 4 holiday traffic accidents.

Speir, who declined to make Christmas-New Year period forecasts because of changing traffic conditions tied to the energy crisis, said the situation has become more stable. He said gasoline is available in most areas, and guessed this will bring additional auto movement on the highways during the mid-summer holiday.

Thirteen died in July 4 traffic last year, but the holiday period was only 30 hours long then, compared to an 102-hour period this year (with the fourth falling on Thursday). Eighty died in 1972 holiday traffic over a similar 102-hour period.

All available DPS troopers and department facilities will be used to curb unsafe and reckless drivers, Speir said. TRAINING CENTER ESTABLISHED — Gov. Dolph Briscoe ordered establishment July 1 of a new State Employees Training Institute to upgrade the unskilled and disadvantaged for jobs in state government.

The center, to be housed in the University of Texas, Austin, Extension Service facilities, will provide "intensive, short-term remedial education and skill training for new state agency employees and will have the capability to expand training for new responsibilities."

Texas Education Agency and UT division of Extension were assigned cooperative roles. COURTS SPEAK — The State Supreme Court will review a $200,000 damage suit against an Alpine dentist who shot to death a youth he believed to be stealing a battery from his car. The High Court in a divided decision held an El Paso lawyer's license should be suspended three years (rather than revoked) for theft of $401 of a client's money.

A life sentence assessed a Fort Worth man in the killing of a policeman was affirmed by the Court of Criminal Appeals. A July 25 hearing has been set in 167th district court here in a civil anti-trust suit filed by Atty. Gen. John Hill against Associated Milk Producers Inc. (AMPI). Hill claims "coercive" tactics were used by the nation's largest dairy cooperative to get a virtual monopoly on Texas milk production.

A pre-trial conference has been scheduled in Austin's 53rd district court July 16 on Frances "Sissy" Farenthold's $2.5 million campaign finance lawsuit against Governor Briscoe. The state settled its suit against Atlantic Richfield for $2.8 million. The case is the fourth settlement in 27 suits Hill filed against oil companies seeking fair market prices of "in kind" payments from public school land leases.

Washington News Letter
by Congressman O. C. Fisher

As the Congress chugs along, Capitol Hill atmosphere is polluted with impeachment overtones. Right now the Judiciary committee, which since last November, has wangled its way toward a showdown, and is now shooting for a vote before the end of July.

Thus far all hearings have been secret, behind closed doors, with an early agreement there would be no leaks of any evidence that is developed. But eager-beaver members have been accused of repeated leaks to the press, always oriented against the President. It is known that some of these leaks have contained misleading assumptions and half-truths. Even some committee staff members, numbering more than 50, have admittedly authored memos that have been surreptitiously released.

Although the leadership of the committee has openly condemned this rather infamous practice, it has persisted. It lends an aura of prejudice and unfairness to the committee's mission, and through the media it tends to give the public possible false impressions.

One leak related to a White House tape which supposedly indicated Dr. Henry Kissinger two years ago directed the bugging of 17 telephones by the FBI in efforts to find out who was guilty of passing out security secrets to left-wing newspapers. But some committee members insist the interpretation of the tape was unwarranted.

The reason for the attack on Kissinger apparently stemmed from the fear by pro-impeachment members and staffers that the Secretary's diplomatic triumph in the Mid-East might enhance the image of the President, and thus the counter offensive was launched.

Actually, regardless of who asked the FBI to find out who the leak traitors were, the action was legal, laudible and proper. The Nation's security was very directly involved.

Appearance of the park square in downtown Ozona was considerably improved this week with removal of a number of dead and dying mulberry trees from among the pecan trees filling the park area. The unsightly trees were removed by a crew of workmen under contract to the county, the result being a great improvement in the appearance of the park.

Bill's Scribblings
By - Bill Morrison, Minister
Ozona Church of Christ

As Sir Walter Scott, the great English author, lay dying, he said to his son, "Read to me from the book." The son asked, "Which book?" To which Scott replied, "There is only one book—the Bible." Such reverence for the Bible was not the superstitious, sentimental remarks of a dying man, but it was the conviction of a brilliant scholar, a literary genius.

What an amazing phenomenon is the Bible, "the book." Written by more than forty different writers over a period of 1500 years, but it is regarded as one book. Study of the Bible reveals that the sixty-six books which comprise it, form an organic unity and are concerned with one central theme—redemption. Thus, there is only one sound and reasonable conclusion: "the book" is "God breathed," inspired. (II Timothy 3:16)

The proof of its inspiration can stem from several sources. (1) The Bible itself claims inspiration. Both the Old and New Testaments repeatedly claim inspiration (Jeremiah 1:1-4; John 14:25-26; John 16:12-13) (2) Prophecy proves inspiration. Biblical prophecies and their fulfillments stand as indisputable facts of history. The most glorious prophecies are those relating to Jesus; fulfillment has not been partial and approximate, but complete and exact.

Read "the book", the Bible. Read it slowly, read it carefully, read it frequently and read it prayerfully.

"How blessed is the man who does not walk in the counsel of the wicked nor stand in the path of sinners, nor sit in the seat of scoffers! But his delight is in the law of the Lord and in His law he meditates day and night." (Psalms 1:1-2)

Dear Editor:
Reference is made to Mr. White's article on the Ozona flood of 1954. I was not in Ozona at this time, however, the article was so good that it made you think you were experiencing some of the dangers and horrors that the people had.

It was most satisfying and pleasant to note and to know of the cooperative spirit of the people and town in cooperating with their local government, the Crockett Soil and Water Conservation District, the Soil Conservation Service, and local land owners in undertaking a flood control project to prevent such an occurrence again.

I, as a newcomer since the flood, admire and am grateful for the spirit of the people and town in their cooperative effort.

There are some towns and communities in Texas and the U. S. which have had similar experiences, and after some 10 years or more have not been able to get the cooperative spirit necessary to complete a flood prevention project.

Sincerely,
Clitis H. Sinclair

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Gardening in the southwest in the summer usually depends upon scattered showers and artificial watering. Up to now those showers haven't appeared so the day after day watering should continue.

Reading of the 1954 flood last week by Evert White reminded us of our move to Ozona one year later. How fast these nearly 20 years have flown by. That 1955 July was one of the most pleasant since we came.

week or often enough to keep the yards watered enough to make Ozona a little gem in a desert, for the rains seem to miss most other areas. Maybe we will have a repeat this July.

I notice where a mulch is not used the soil is crusting quickly after watering, so should be carefully stirred with a small hand rake if a small area. This will keep the surface open and mellow.

It takes care and not just a green thumb to have beautiful well-grown house plants. Failure to grow plants successfully can be traced usually to neglect when they are dependent upon the grower for their needs. Most house plants can be given a new lease on life if placed outside during the warm summer months. They should be moved to an area with good air circulation, filtered sunlight and where you can enjoy them while relaxing or entertaining outdoors.

Set plants in a shady spot for a few hours each day until they become hardened to the outside growing conditions. Then leave them outside either with their pots exposed or with the pots buried in the soil up to their rims in a shaded mass of protective shrubbery or shade trees. They can remain here until cool weather, then take inside to become adjusted before the winter heat is turned on. They should produce considerable new growth during the summer and in a much improved condition. To name some of these that do well are the cutleaf philodendron, schefflera, dracaena, croton, tender succulents and many others. Feed house plants with a liquid or soluble fertilizer about once every two weeks. They're growing fast now and need extra nourishment and water.

To induce compact growth and more stems and flowers cut back your poinsettias 6 inches of tip growth on each branch. The plants will have plenty of time to form buds for winter bloom. If they have grown very tall they should be cut back more severely to about 12 or 15 inches high.

For a fall project the Ozona Garden Club is ordering bulbs, daylilies and peonies to add to the sale of plants, shrubs, etc., by the members. Also dried plant material, driftwood and arrangements will be available. All members are urged to start preparing for this project.

Debra Says

by Debra Price HD Agent

Obesity is one of the most common problems of man. If you exceed your desirable weight by more than 20 per cent, you are considered obese and a candidate for diseases of the heart, diabetes, digestive disturbances, and other difficulties.

Obesity is basically a problem of eating too much and exercising too little. Before reducing, you should visit your doctor to determine just how much weight you need to lose. A safe amount is usually no more than two pounds per week.

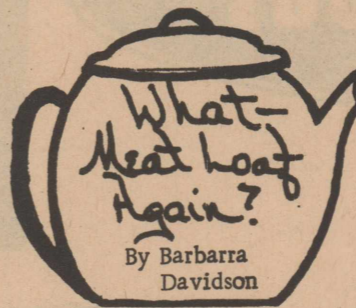

Daily exercise is necessary to burn up calories and keep your muscles in condition. Besides exercise, you must also cut down the amount of food you eat at each meal. There is no advantage to skipping meals completely, you only eat more at the next meal.

In selecting foods from the Basic Four Food Groups, you are eating foods with fewer calories. In the milk group, buttermilk, nonfat dry milk, dry curd cottage cheese and iced milk are among the lower calorie choices.

Lean meats, meats canned in water, baked and broiled meats are the lower calorie possibilities in the meat group. Try whole wheat or enriched breads and cereals with no added sugar to meet your daily needs from the bread and cereal group.

Some of the lower calorie foods in the fruit and vegetable group are fresh and frozen fruits and vegetables, and fruit canned in water rather than syrup. Season vegetables with bouillon and use vinegar, lemon juice and herbs on salads rather than rich salad dressings. Cutting down the amount of food you eat, eating a lower calorie diet than usual, and exercising regularly will help you lose weight and stay healthy.

FREEDOM

A liberty bell and lilies. Both symbols of freedom.

Nearly two hundred years ago, a bell proclaimed our release from political domination. The Founding Fathers gave us our liberty, and today we reap the benefits: a man can speak his mind without fear. This is freedom.

The lilies represent another kind of freedom. Synonymous with Easter, they are symbols of the greatest freedom of all, the freedom from death.

With its promise of everlasting life, with its hope for an eternal spring, the Christian message today rings across the land with ever increasing clarity.

Renew your own freedom. Go to church.
