Where has the summer gone? The heat is still with us, but school is almost under way. In fact, teacher report for duty Monday and high school registration is going on now. The summers seem to get shorter as I get older. This is nice, since I have a preference for winter. However, I guess the summers get shorter, the winters will also. Oh well.

A calamity has hit the fire department, and the more avid firefighters are almost ill as a result. It seems they had stored the old 1935 pumper truck at the county barn while making plans to refurbish it and use it as a show-piece. After checking it the other day, they found some parts missing, namely the old siren, a ladder broken and some other minor damage. It's entirely possible that whoever took the things thought the truck was being junked and just helped themselves. This is understandable, since it wasn't much to look at.

However, it's mighty near and dear to members of the department and all will be forgiven if the pieces can be returned, especially the siren. Return of the siren would just make the day for those stalwarts like Bob Falkner, Steve Kenley, B.B. Ingham and several others who were planning to work on the old truck. Please help out if you can.

A sort of Ripley's believe-it-or-not item came to our attention over the weekend. Ed Spontz caught a catfish with five tails. We tried to get a picture, but couldn't tell much about it. Ed said he had been fishing for 50 years and had never seen anything like it. We've certainly never seen anything like it. It was alive and well when we saw it Saturday. You curious fishermen might want to take a look.

Several Ozonans who are in the know about gas, the energy shortage, etc. are concerned about a company trying to lease enough land to drill under the town and tap the huge pocket of natural gas that's said to be there, underneath the city of Ozona that is. The company has a location, but needs more acreage in order to start drilling. I'm not up on all this procedure, but it seems to be some rule or another. They have approached the school and were turned down on leasing school-owned land, same with the Water District. We were not able to find out if the county officials had been contacted.

However, those who are concerned about the situation, are afraid the company will contact private individuals next and they say the money received from the company would be a mere pittance in the long-run. Several feel that the future will prove that Ozona and people living here might desperately need that reservoir of natural gas. It is entirely possible that future years will bring such a natural gas shortage that it will be feasible to have a homeowned system in order to furnish local homes and businesses with the fuel we've become so accustomed to and take for granted. If this situation should come about, the vast sea of natural gas Ozona is sitting on would be invaluable. If it has been removed and sent off to various areas via pipeline, it won't be there for local use. It doesn't replenish itself you know. When it's gone, it's gone.

This needs to be explored in depth by local officials and all others interested in the future well-being of Ozona.

We've all been complaining about dogs running loose in Ozona. It was taken up with the commissioners court last month, I believe. It has grown in scope, and we are almost overrun with stray animals. I noticed that other (CONTINUED ON LAST PAGE)

40-YEAR AWARD GOES TO SCOTTIE HOUSTON -- The State Highway Department recently gave a 40-year service award to Ozona Maintenance Foreman Houston, one of many commendations and awards given Houston during his years of service. Houston has been Maintenance Foreman in Crockett County since 1947. He began his career with the Department in Barnhart in 1935, and with the exception of a hitch in the U. S. Navy, has been with the Department since that time.

Hwy. Dept. Awards Houston For 40 Years

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation has given a 40 year Service Award and lapel emblem to Scottie A. Houston.

Scottie, Maintenance Construction Supervisor III in charge of the Ozona Maintenance Section, began his career with the Department in 1935 at Barnhart. Scottie's early years with the Department were spent as a laborer and truck driver, during which he learned the basic skills of highway maintenance and construction.

World War II interrupted Scottie's career as he entered the service in August 1942 and served with the U. S. Navy until his return to the Department in November 1945.

From the very beginning of his career, Scottie's early supervisors gave him such commendations as "this man is doing a very good job," and coincident with his promotion to Maintenance Foreman at Barnhart came the comment, "this man has been performing the duties of a Section Foreman for several months while serving as Patrolman at the Ozona subsection."

Scottie was commended

by letter from District Engineer D. R. Watson of San Angelo in October 1974 for the exceptional job he and his men performed during severe flooding conditions in Crockett County. In his letter, District Engineer Watson wished that "the public could know of the long hours and hard work" that go into providing roads and keeping them safe during such extreme conditions. The letter closed "Thanks for a job well done, I am proud to be associated with such dedicated people."

Scottie became Maintenance Foreman at Ozona February 2, 1947. He and his wife, Mozelle, have lived in Ozona since shortly after this promotion. The are members of the First Baptist Church, have two grown sons and two grandchildren. Scottie is also active in the Lions Club and the Masonic Lodge.

Fishing and hunting are among Scottie's hobbies, and a Pecos River deer lease affords much relaxation and enjoyment. His latest hobby, however, has something to do with roads. Scottie now rides over them on a new motorcycle, but this time it's just for fun.

Where Have All The Liberals Gone?

In recent years, the smallest whiff of American scandal has elicited tremendous denunciation by the country's liberal intellectuals. The agonizing years of Vietnam and Watergate, alleged excesses by the CIA, and our current economic problems all have given them a field day.

Today, however, the major scandals facing the world come not from the United States and its allies, but rather from leftist forces who have seized power or are in the process of doing so in various countries. An entire Cambodian population was herded, like cattle, into a desolate countryside, where many thousands perished. A leftist junta in Portugal wiped out civil liberties wholesale. Citizens of India, formerly the world's largest democracy, lost their freedoms practically overnight under the goading of Indira Gandhi by the Soviet Union.

The response to these excesses by America's liberals can best be described as a deafening silence. Where are our liberal intellectuals — those self-proclaimed purveyors of the public conscience — now, when we really need them? Where are the newspaper pundits and network commentators, and where are the full-page ads signed by all those professors?

Jeffrey Hart, who writes a syndicated column for King Features, recently noted the absence of liberal protest over the situation in Portugal and asked what would have happened if the suppression had been perpetrated instead by a right-wing military regime. "There would be editorials, conferences and demands for boycott," answers Hart. "The halls of Congress and the United Nations would resound with speeches. Amnesty International would issue indignant statements. Movies on the order of 'Z' would be produced. Heartrending accounts of torture would appear everywhere."

Regarding the barbarity of the Khmer Rouge communist regime in Cambodia, Hart adds: "Once again, where is the fabled 'international conscience?' Where have all the ad hoc committees gone? ... The truth is that (the liberals) seem to be capable of indignation only over outrages perpetrated by the right, and numb to outrages by the left. This bias is so pervasive that by now it is taken for granted and has become invisible to those who participate in it."

We could not agree more with Professor Hart. The duplicity and double standard of these liberal influence-peddlers has been convincingly unmasked by their silence. It's a lesson we can't afford to forget the next time their poisonous pens are again unleashed on America.

LETTERS

AN OPEN LETTER TO ALL PARENTS OF BAND STUDENTS Dear Friends:

In the spring, the Ozona Band Boosters honored the high school band students with a banquet and the guest speaker was Greg Berry, band director at Howard Payne in Brownwood.

One significant remark he made was "... behind every successful band there is always a strong band booster organization. ..." We would like to think that our bands in 1975-76 will be among the top ranking bands in this area; but our students need our support and interest in order to rise to the top.

As publicity chairman for the Ozona Band Boosters, and on behalf of the newly elected joint presidents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Yeager and other officers, I would like to announce that beginning with band practice on August 11 we will have an all-out membership drive to collect $2.00 each from band parents ($4.00 for two parents). We feel that this is little to ask. We are also planning several fund-raising projects in which students of the bands will be asked to do their share, for it is indeed for their benefit that we seek funds to buy the much needed audio-visual equipment for their instruction, among other items.

The first Band Boosters meeting is set for August 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium, and we hope to see it filled with enthusiastic dues-paying members! Student band officers will be asked to be present also.

The Ozona Band Boosters is for parents of band students in the 7th through 12th grades, and if we work together as a team, encouraging our children to practice thirty minutes every day, and shouldering a little responsibility toward the raising of funds—the old saying "many hands make light work" will become a reality.

At our last meeting a Poor Man's Supper was set to be held prior to the first home game. We have also talked about a talent show for November, around Thanksgiving, so let's start digging up that long forgotten talent and make this a big success and lots of fun for the community when the time comes.

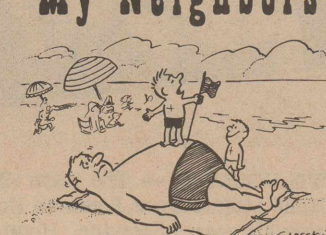

Won't you join me now in really getting behind our students and fine band director, Lane Scott, all of whom put in many hours of work for our enjoyment? I am confident you will. Mrs. Dick Kirby is our treasurer to whom checks may be mailed, or brought to the meeting.

Sincerely yours,
/s/Joan Nicholas
Publicity Chairman
P.S. Membership is also open to grandparents, other relatives and friends who want to help.

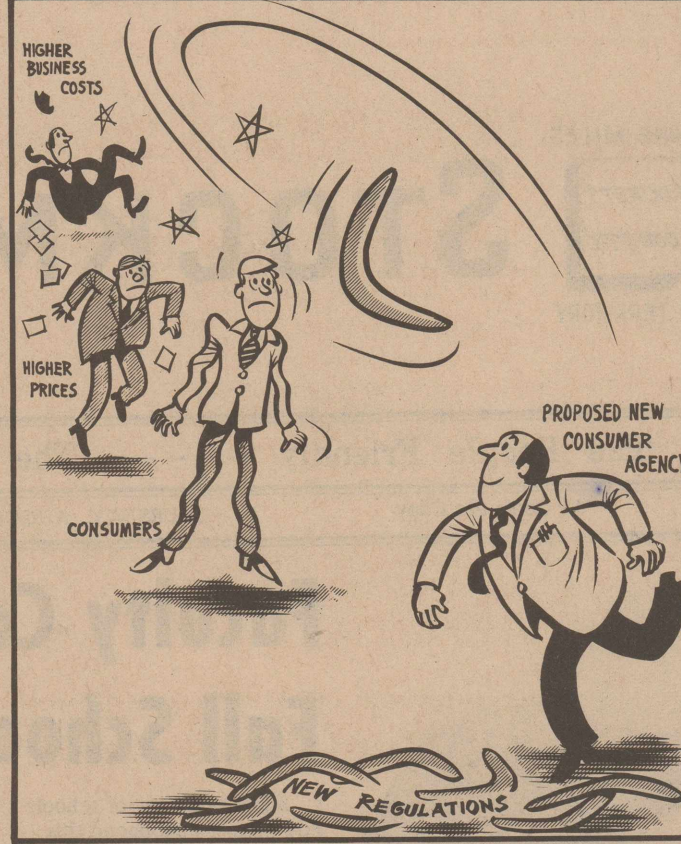

Cost of Government Has Risen Fastest

Of all the prices that have been driven up by inflation, the cost of government has climbed the most rapidly. The Congressional Joint Economic Committee reports that while food rose 12 per cent and transportation 14 per cent, income taxes by a middle income family rose 26.5 per cent.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights
by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — First state-regulated malpractice insurance rates in more than 20 years were approved by the State Insurance Board last week.

Rates cover doctors, dentists and hospital professional liability insurance rates.

The Board approved 11 company groups' filings and rejected requests from the Argonaut Group for hospital liability coverage.

Basic annual rates approved are for $25,000/$75,000 limits of liability. Board statisticians estimated that $100,000/$300,000 limits for doctors will cost about 50 per cent more and about 40 per cent more for hospitals.

Rates range from $140 a year for a non-surgical physician in Travis County to $1,032 for a non-surgical physician in Harris County, and from $5,416 a year for an orthopedic surgeon in Travis County to $8,256 for an orthopedic surgeon in Harris County.

"These rate approvals offer a responsible step toward alleviating the medical malpractice insurance crisis that was getting a toehold in Texas," State Insurance Board Chairman Joe Chrisite said.

Texas Hospital Association, meanwhile, announced plans to form its own insurance company to write liability coverage.

Vote Rights Studied

State, city, county and school district acts bearing on voting rights over a two-and-a-half-year period are subject to federal scrutiny under a new federal act.

The Federal Voting Rights Act is retroactive to November 1972 in application to all Texas election matters, according to Secretary of State Mark White Jr.

Not only will Texas elections be subject to federal supervision. Other requirements of the act include submission of all state and local government laws, ordinances, mandates and regulations affecting voting rights to the U.S. attorney general for clearance.

White views this as including all municipal annexations, alterations in voting district lines, changes in polling places, redistricting acts and changes from at-large to single-member districts or vice-versa.

Paycheck Hold Warned

Comptroller Bob Bullock has threatened to hold up some fat state employee paychecks where private supplements are not reported in detail by sources.

For years, some paychecks (particularly those of college officials) have been supplemented from private contributions, foundations and grants.

Bullock said state law requires that these supplements be reported in detail, but many are not. After September 1, he said, he will withhold approval of paychecks in cases where the supplements are not

AG Opinions

A school board represented under a district consultation agreement may meet in executive session to discuss salary schedules, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:
• The Board of Dental Examiners' executive secretary cannot receive a salary supplement for additional duties administering the dental laboratory and technician registration program.
• Subpoena power of the Alcoholic Beverage Commission is not affected by the Administrative Procedure and Texas Register Act.

• A state school for the mentally retarded may not refuse to admit a child solely because of parents' refusal to consent to a blood transfusion.

• State Board of Examiners of Psychologists may employ persons to assist in screening applicants for examination.
Courts Speak
The State Supreme Court rejected an attempt to force restoration of ousted Duval County Judge Archer Parr.

Meanwhile, a federal appeals court in New Orleans upheld conviction of Parr for perjury before a grand jury investigating income of his late uncle, George B. Parr.
A bond hearing for Parr, jailed in San Antonio, has been set for August 7 in Midland.

Food Weapon?

WASHINGTON—Will the United States ever use its abundant food basket as an international weapon?

That is a question being asked more and more as American supremacy in military and industrial strength continues to slip.

No one doubts American supremacy in food production. According to an official government study, the whole world has become dependent upon America for grain. The U.S. now supplies nearly three fourths of the net global exports. Trends in population, food production and climate indicate that American supremacy in food production will become even greater in years to come.

What should U.S. policy toward the rest of the world be when our country becomes the sole exporter of food? One alternative is to use food as a weapon for political blackmail of other countries. But this is something we should not do.

First, any decision to withhold food probably would stimulate production in other countries which could potentially cut into our own export markets. Other countries could produce more food if they were willing to pay the price.

Second, if the U.S. chooses to withhold food as a tool of national policy, what happens when the "needy" countries become the Soviet Union, China, or other, developed, but food-scarce nations? As long as the U.S. is dealing with clearly inferior military powers, it would perhaps be possible to use food as a "weapon" to exact diplomatic concessions. But it could be very dangerous to use such tactics against a nation that is as strong militarily as ourselves.

If food becomes so scarce that the major military and industrial powers are threatened, the world could see a forced migration to food producing areas, backed by military force and nuclear threats. The instability and resultant chaos in urban centers would make traditional civilized methods of problem-solving unworkable.

Another reason for rejection of a policy that would turn food into a tool of international diplomacy is moral. We would be turning our back on the proud record we have set of selfless aid to other nations which desperately need it.

In the event of world food shortages of such magnitude that the U.S. has a life-or-death power over the neediest countries, we would be false to ourselves to withhold the bread of life from starving peoples. I cannot think of any political advantage we could gain that would compensate for the sacrifice of our best impulses as a people and as a nation.

Bob Krueger Reports
U.S. Representative
21st District

This week the House narrowly turned down the opportunity for a major improvement in moving this nation toward energy independence, and, instead took a backward step toward increasing reliance on the Arab countries.

A number of us, both Democrats and Republicans, have been working for some months to fashion an energy policy which would allow the phased decontrol of government regulated oil prices. Over a period of several years, the government would move away from regulating the price of domestic oil, much of which is now sold at prices less than half of those which we pay for imported oil, and these prices are frequently too low to encourage new exploration and development in this country. Consequently, we now rely on imports for 40 percent of our oil, and this means that we will be increasingly subject to Arab blackmail and to the economic disaster that could be caused by another oil embargo.

In order to counter this threat, many of us, Democrats and Republicans alike, are working toward a compromise package that would protect the consumer against sharp price increases, but would give adequate rewards to producers of domestic oil so that we would not be subject to such economic blackmail by foreign countries. In this process, I offered one of the two major energy proposals considered by the House, and when both mine and the opposing versions narrowly lost, I was asked to offer President Ford's oil pricing compromise. On six occasions in the past ten days, I met with Frank Zarb, head of the Federal Energy Administration, and several Congressional leaders to work out this compromise. Although I did not like it as much as my own initial proposal, I was more concerned with getting an improved energy policy for the country than I was with seeing my own ideas enacted. Unfortunately, this proposal was also very narrowly defeated.

Had six of the 435 House members changed their votes, we would have won, and the President had indicated that he was prepared to agree to the compromise—but we lost. Now it is my best guess that there will be a sudden decontrol of all domestic oil prices on September 1 and that is likely to mean an increase in the price of gasoline from 7¢ to 10¢ per gallon. If this happens, then some of those members anxious to punish people connected with the oil industry are likely to come back with punitive legislation and with threats of nationalizing the oil companies, though I do not believe such proposals would ever pass.

I think there are several reasons for this failure to reach a compromise: (1) the irrational desire among some to punish the oil companies; (2) a failure among some members to examine the real issues, but instead a willingness to vote for short-term price roll-backs as if that was a real help to the consumer; (3) the tendency among some to play confrontation politics, pitting the Congress against the President, rather than addressing the needs of the nation; and, (4) strong lobbying activity by special interest groups.

'It's The Law' In Texas

May a person obtain a permit from the sheriff or other county official to carry a pistol?

There is no permit law in Texas. The statutes set forth circumstances under which one may carry a pistol and no county official can authorize another citizen to violate the law.

Is it legal to carry a pistol to or from a place of purchase or repair?

Generally, yes; however, Texas courts have held that an unreasonable delay in carrying a pistol from the place of purchase to one's home is sufficient to sustain a conviction for violation of the law. Henson vs. State, 252 SW2d 711.

The term "on or about the person" has been expanded to include persons occupying vehicles. Convictions on these points were upheld in Hutspeth vs. State, 254 SW2d 130 and Garrett vs. State, 370 SW2d 270.

Is it permissible to carry a pistol that is unloaded or lacks a part essential to make it fire?

It is just as unlawful to carry an unloaded pistol as it is to carry one loaded and capable of being fired. It is not unlawful to carry a pistol which has been sufficiently disassembled to the point it is incapable of being fired or used in a threatening manner. The ultimate decision as to its operability or use belongs to a trial court judge or jury. (Continued next week)

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post
Usually August is our hottest month of the summer, so care should be taken to keep lawns and all plants and trees well watered if no rain. This is especially important for plants and shrubs that were planted in the winter and spring.

Start preparing beds for flowers and your vegetable garden area this month to have ready for fall planting. It is said that plants are only as good as the soil they are grown in.

Luther Burbank once said that he could grow plants from any part of the world in a soil mixture of one-third coarse sand, one-third garden clay and one-third rotted barnyard fertilizer. Since we are in an area of alkaline soil and usually have dry summers, with constant irrigation, the lime in the water raises the alkalinity of the soil. If your soil contains plenty of humus, so much water will not be required.

One advantage of alkaline soil is that there is a much wider variety of alkaline plants than acid-loving ones.

Be sure to have good drainage for flower beds to prevent water from standing on or in the soil for very long at a time. Spade the ground and if it is too hard to break into small particles, soak it thoroughly. When dry, cultivate well before planting.

Become acquainted with plant roots and the kind of soil they need. Plants adjust to many conditions with some effort to provide the correct soil.

Tender fibrous roots cannot penetrate a tight soil, so need a loose soil containing plenty of humus. Most of these are ever greens. Examples - azalea. Lateral waxy roots can live in clay soil, such as lilacs and forsythia.

Top root plants grow according to the soil they are grown in. In good soil they grow rapidly and in poor soil they are stunted and gnarled (pecan, mesquite, snap dragons).

Plants that grow well in alkaline soil are fruit trees, rock garden plants, cacti, succulents, vegetables, the majority of garden flowers - marigolds, stock, sunflower, carnation, pinks, tulips and summer bulbs.

If you grow pansies, the seed should be planted this month in moist soil.

Pay particular attention to plants that are now developing flower buds for later bloom - azaleas, camellias, dahlias and chrysanthemums.

August planting days: Above-ground crops - 11-14, 17-19. Root crops - 1, 4-6, 22-24, 27, 28.

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS

Brought to you by Lillian Brown

Many home makers ask whether their sofa and chairs should have solid colors--or designs, patterns and stripes. To answer that, a lot depends on the surroundings in the room, and the size of the room itself.

Generally, if you have large-patterned wallpaper, or prominent patterns on your carpeting or draperies, then some sofas and chairs would look better either in solid colors or with a small design.

If your walls, drapes or carpet are solid colors themselves, you might want designs on your seating pieces--but, here is a word of caution: If the room is small, patterns that are big and powerful make a room seem even smaller. Solid colors give a room a feeling of more space; however, even in a small room, you could use small or widely spaced patterns or the right stripes. In a large room, you don't have to be as hesitant in using large, colorful designs, or even a combination of different designs.

A good rule to remember is that patterns on furnishings can be used well together as long as they don't compete with each other; they should be made to harmonize to help a room look its best. A certain amount of colorful designs and a mixture of patterns and stripes can be desirable, as long as you consider the mixture and make sure it's right.

And, for any help--to make any room in your home look its best--stop in and see us.

COOKING WHILE CAMPING TAKES CARE

In spite of camping freedoms, mealtime calls for special care when safety and nutrition are at stake. Care starts with planning. Consider length of trip, number to be fed, nearby towns as perishable-food sources, and family preference. Plan menus before shopping, and buy all nonperishable essentials for the whole trip.

At the campsite, store all foods in covered containers. Perishables, of course, are the biggest problem. To insure freshness, buy and freeze meat in the portions needed for preparing individual dishes over several days. Make hamburger patties or individual meat loaves and freeze ahead of time.

Keep all dry foods in airtight, moisture-proof plastic containers or bags. Enclose preparation instructions in the bag also. Coffee tins and other metal containers with lids are ideal for this purpose. Most fresh fruits and vegetables should be stored in an ice chest. Keep potatoes, onions and bananas in a cool dark place near room temperature. Also, dried fruits are easy to store and make good snacks.

Non-fat dry milk and non-fat dry buttermilk are handy for drinking and cooking, if fresh milk isn't available. For a handy spice collection, put small amounts of condiments, herbs or spices into small empty pill bottles. Masking tape works well to reseal spouts of open boxes or cartons.

As a final reminder, campers shouldn't drink water unless its safety is known. If it has to be used, boil it or use special purification tablets.

Until I became interested in sailing, I thought boats simply drifted with the wind. It hadn't occurred to me that few sailors would ever reach port in this manner.

And before I became earnest about church, I thought people's lives--their joys and disappointments, their achievements and failures--were largely a result of fate or fortune. Luck would long ago have replaced religion if this were true.

Now I know the thrill of sailing into the wind. Sure, tacking to port or starboard requires a zigzag course, and when your craft heels over at that precarious angle, it takes skill to control her. But that's part of the adventure--making headway against a strong wind.

Now, too, I know the thrill of believing in God... of setting a goal, of relying on His power, of devoting myself to reaching the destination. Making headway against adverse winds heels us over--but it's part of the adventure of being a Christian today.

towns are having the same problem. Sanderson has employed a dog catcher. After getting chased back into my house Saturday morning by a monstrous dog in my own front yard, I've decided we need to form some sort of citizens committee or hire a dog catcher on our own. QUALIFIES FOR JUNIOR AMATEUR GOLF TOURNAMENT - Ronald Koerth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Koerth, qualified in the fifth spot out of 30 golfers at the Big Spring Country Club last week to become eligible for the Junior Amateur Tournament in San Antonio next week. There will be around 150 young amateurs in the event.

Volunteers Needed For Cystic Fibrosis

Bekie Diaz is looking for people who can give a little of their time so that millions of children across the United States can have a better chance in life.

"I'm recruiting volunteers for a very important cause - helping children who suffer from cystic fibrosis and other lung-damaging diseases," said Diaz, chairman of the 1975 Breath of Life Campaign of the Lone Star Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. These volunteers will participate in a variety of activities aimed at raising funds to support care, research and education programs benefitting children who have asthma, chronic bronchitis, "childhood emphysema," recurrent pneumonia as well as cystic fibrosis.

"For these children, breathing can be a struggle," he said and added that most people probably aren't aware that lung diseases can threaten the lives of their children.

"Of the diseases that kill children, lung disease ranks second only to cancer," he stated. "And cystic fibrosis, the most serious of these diseases, is the number one genetic killer of children."

Diaz continued: "These are grim statistics. We hope to change them for the better. But, we need help. That's why we're appealing for volunteers for our Breath of Life Campaign to raise funds for support of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation programs benefiting these children."

"Although there is much to accomplish, there has been terrific progress in conquering these diseases since the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation was established in 1955. And this progress was made possible because of the public's support," said Diaz.

"For instance, in 1955, most children with cystic fibrosis died in their early years. Now, more than 50 percent are living past age 18 and becoming productive adults.

"But, we want to make it possible for all children with cystic fibrosis to live past age 18. Volunteers can help," he added.
