THE CLUB CAFE IS THE FAVORITE EATING PLACE OF BROWNFIELD AREA

There is no Excuse for Poor Food Where the Means of Cooking, and a good Supply of Stuff to Be Cooked Meet. Farmers and Out Door Men Like the Club..

One of the favorite eating places of the entire area is the Club Cafe in Brownfield. This cafe is known all over this section for its fine meals, and only this week we heard a farmer friend remark that they always gave a fellow plenty to eat. Now, most any cafe will give the ordinary office or store worker all he wants to eat, but the man who labors out of doors in town or in the country just has to have larger servings. The Club gives them what they are looking for, cooked the way they like, and they naturally come back for more.

Joe Patterson, half interest proprietor and manager had considerable experience in the cafe business before coming to Brownfield from Crosbyton three years ago, January past. Upon coming to Brownfield, he and his brother-in-law, Gene West, purchased the Club Cafe, which is the oldest continuously operated cafe in the city, and already bore a good name among local as well as the traveling public. These fine young men continued to operate the cafe jointly until September last year, when they decided to open a first class cafe by the same name in Levelland. Mr. and Mrs. West moved to that city to open and operate it. The new cafe is also a success.

If there is any one thing that the Club Cafe prides above any other, it is their steaks, and if any can be stressed above the other, it is a T-bon or a Porterhouse. However, as Joe expressed it, a "whole cow" is purchased at one time, and any cut of steak you want is to be had. They have very large refrigeration room and can care for more than a day's run in their own storage. However, most of their meat is kept at the Bandy cold storage.

The Club has all the latest cooking utensils, including a double oven stove, an automatic Fryolator, large cabinet storage for their bottle drinks, ice cream and milk. They have one of the latest model automatic coffee brewers, that cares for a large patronage. They specialize in Arnholtz coffee, which is roasted and packed for use of cafes, and especially in brewers such as they have. This coffee always gives that rich flavor and rare aroma so liked by coffee drinkers. Something like an average of 75 pounds of this coffee is used each month, a great deal more per month during cold weather.

They have one of the keenest dish washing apparatus we have ever examined. There is a three compartment series of vats. The first contains soft, soapy water, and the dishes are immersed in wire baskets. From this they go to the next compartment which rinses them of all soap. From this vat they go to the next which is boiling water, capable of killing all germs. From this vat they are moved to the drainage tables to dry. No "rag" is used in the operation, and the vessels are kept from human touch just as much as possible.

The counters and tables are all smooth, and calculated to catch no dirt or filth of any kind, and are easily cleaned. The seats are upholstered and comfortable, and the whole dining room is thoroughly air conditioned.

Besides Mr. Patterson, who acts as cook, there are two other cooks, Al Jennings, Day Cook, and Roy Byrn, night cook. Mrs. Patterson heads the waitresses, the others

Brownfield Gets 50 Blocks of Paving.

Mayor Clyde C. Coleman informed us Monday that he had just received a wire for Senator Tom Connally to the effect that Brownfield's application for $50,000 or thereabout for paving 50 more blocks had been signed by President F.D. Roosevelt, and that it had already been tentatively approved by WPA.

Mr. Coleman, however, stated that the city was running a bit shy on its part of cash, and that some $15,000 worth of bonds would have to be voted to take care of our part of the paving. It is believed that the first order of such an election will be published this week in order that the work be held up just as little as possible.

We know there are people who oppose bonds, but the city of Brownfield has comparatively few bonds outstanding against it, and there never will be a time when we can approve them, and get some real paving done, than right now.

Besides, there are men with families that are going to have to have some kind of employment until fall, and whether or not we provide work and wages for them, we are going to have to go down in our pockets for relief funds, as the government is gradually cutting them off.

February Pullets Now Laying

T. F. Chrestman, of south Terry, was in one day this week to drop a couple of dollars in the old "missionary box," when the subject of chickens came up. Chrestman stated that he bought about 500 incubator chickens back in February, and that more than 300 of them, fortunately were pullets, yet he did not have them "sexed."

Mr. Chrestman further stated that some of these February pullets were already laying; that while the eggs were not large, they were eggs just the same. He is now getting several a day.

Mrs. Chrestman, who was operated on at the local hospital last week for appendicitis, is just doing fine, according to Mr. Chrestman.

To envy is to admit inferiority.—Anon.

being Misses Ruby Trickerfoose, and Wilmerth Hamilton. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton have a son, Bobby Joe, aged 9. Mr. Patterson's hobby is feeding out stock. He keeps a herd of hogs to use the refuse from the cafe, and sometimes some yearlings. You'll like the Pattersons and their personnel of helpers.

Clarence Hudgens Sells Interest in Grocery Store.

One of the largest grocery store deals that has been consummated here in quite awhile, was negotiated last Friday, when Kyle Graves became sole owner of the Hudgens Grocery Co., when he purchased the interest of his brother-in-law and partner, Clarence Hudgens in and to the store. We understand that hereafter the store will go under the name of Kyle Grocery, being the given name of the owner, as far more people now know him simply as Kyle than know his name is Kyle Graves.

Mr. and Mrs. Hudgens and son, Don, left Sunday for Los Angeles, Calif., on what will be a vacation, and a visit with their eldest son, Jim, who finished about a year ago in an Aviation school of engineering, and is now employed by one of the largest Airplane Mfg. companies in the United States perhaps. Don will likely take a course in training, and join his brother in the factory. Mr. Hudgens states that he was not quitting Brownfield at this time, but was still maintaining his residence here, and might return later to enter some kind of business. They have many friends in this area.

As to the new owner, we will just say there is not a man in this city that has more friends. Kyle came here about ten years ago and began as clerk in the store he now owns, known then as Hudgens & Knight grocery. He was born near Stephenville where he finished high school and entered John Tarleton college. It was in his old home town that he got his first experience in business, and having a host of friends there as well here now, he did well. But the call of the growing west called him, so he moved to Brownfield. While every man calls the place that mother and dad lives, home, Brownfield is truly home to Kyle, and likely always will be. Mr. and Mrs. Graves have one daughter, Miss Charlene, now grown.

This grocery store has changed hands but few times, three we believe, yet it is the oldest now doing business in the city. Up until January 1934, as stated above, it was known as the Hudgens & Knight grocery. At that time Messrs. Hudgens and Graves purchased the grocery, and it was moved to its present location in order to obtain more room in a 30X100 building with ceiling in the rear high enough to provide a large balcony where surplus stocks can be stored. The store is being remodeled throughout, and reconditioned this week, and a radical change in arrangement will be made. It will also again join the Red and White chain of home owned groceries.

This store has always taken great pride in its fresh meat, fruit and vegetable departments, and they have built up a large custom in these lines alone. Trucks from Arizona, California, Florida and the Rio Grande valley of Texas, regularly make this store with a choice selection of the best packeries, orchards and truck fields afford. One is never disappointed with their fine selection in these lines. Then the very best in tins, glass, cellophane, etc., are kept. No cheap, shoddy stocks are ever shelved in this store.

The old store with a new management, arrangement, and a swell stock of all you want in the grocery line, will have its formal opening with specials for next Friday and Saturday, June 16-17. But in the meantime, call and offer congratulations. Kyle will put this business over, anyway, but a pat on the back, and a word of cheer will make him feel better.

Kyle is a Baptist, Woodman and Rotarian. Hobby: Hunting and fishing, with a leaning to a little more hunting.

Mrs. R. J. Hastings and granddaughter, Miss Oneida Proctor, left Saturday for Denver Colo., where Mrs. Hastings has some children that she aims to visit during the hot summer, here.

Warning to Panhandle Cotton Farmers

Pink bollworms were again found widely scattered over the Panhandle quarantined area during the past season. This area is comprised of the Counties of Andrews, Cochran, Dawson, Ector, Gaines, Glasscock, Hockley, Howard, Martin, Midland, Terry, Yoakum and parts of Bailey and Lamb in Texas and Lea and Roosevelt in New Mexico.

The pink bollworm hibernates within cottonseed and it may be spread by seed movement to non-infested areas. Therefore, the danger of movement of such seed except through the prescribed channels, cannot be over-emphasized.

The movement of cottonseed in the area described above is prohibited under both Federal and State Pink Bollworm Quarantine Regulations, except when consigned to designated oil mills for treatment, or the seed is treated under the supervision of an inspector prior to movement, in which case it may move to any destination under permit. Violations of the regulations of the Federal and State Quarantines are subject to prosecution under law, a heavy fine and even a jail sentence.

Farmers, ginners and other interests have cooperated splendidly in fulfilling their obligations during the past. We request your continued cooperation to the extent that you advise anyone planning to move planting seed outside the area that such seed must be given special heat treatment and move under permit. Seed may be moved from one part of the above described area to any other part of it without treatment or without permit.

For additional information, you are requested to contact O. L. Walton, Brownfield, Texas, Telephone 172.

Mr. Walton stated to a Herald representative that the U. S. Department of Agriculture had no desire whatever to fine any farmer or cottonseed dealer, and therefore Mr. R. E. McDonald, in charge of the Division of Pink Bollworm Control was giving this information. The Herald advises each farmer who gets a copy of the Herald, to clip this article for future reference.

Officer Search Home In Meadow Area.

Sheriff Ches Gore and deputies Joe Price and Houston Hamilton, obtained warrants to search a home near Meadow this week, and a quantity of silk clothing and hose was brought back and much of it was identified by local merchants by their trade marks. It is believed that the woman was out peddling some of the stuff when they called, as she was not at home, but the home is being watched.

She caused some suspicion here when caught taking groceries, and then another lady informed the officers that she had offered her some new silk hose for only 25c per pair. She had a new and a novel way of pilfering, according to officers. A large pasteboard box was carried wrapped and tied with twine, as if it were a package. But the box had a trap door which she carried next her body, and clothing and other matter was slipped into it thru this opening.

It is believed that more than $50 worth of stuff was recovered and if so, she may get a rather stiff sentence.

Scuddays Return From Vacation

John Scudday and family of Forsan, came in last Friday from a vacation trip that carried them as far as Wyoming. They reported a good trip and a fine time, but but were in somewhat of a hurry to get home.

They spent the night with his brother-in-law, R. M. Kendrick and family. The Scudday family are old timers of Terry county and Brownfield.

Terry 4-H Club Boys Win Cash Prizes.

R. G. Nutt, Jr., a 4-H club boy of the Scudday community, won a cash prize in the 1938 National Farm Accounting contest, sponsored by the International Harvester Co., R. N. McClain, county agent, has announced. This was his first year to enter the contest. It is his third year in 4-H club work and he has turned in some creditable records, the agent said. He is secretary of the Scudday club and plans to enter the 1939 contest.

4-H club work in Terry county has a brighter outlook for 1939 than it has had in several years. More interest is being shown among both boys and parents than in past years.

Approximately 100 boys have been enrolled, with a large majority selecting swine as a project. Three clubs are going "one variety," all members having agreed to purchase Poland China gilts. Twenty-three animals have already been delivered and more are to be purchased at a later date.

The boys are not going into the project with the idea of selling breeding stock or becoming registered breeders but are planning to feed their litters out on self-feeders and sell them as finished hogs. They realize that there is not always a ready market for purebred pigs but there usually is for a well finished animal of good type. The boys are building water troughs and shade for their animals as well as planting sudan pasture.

Sam Chisholm Making Good at Sul Ross

The many friends of Sam Chisholm, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Chisholm of this city, will be pleased to know that he is making the grade fine at Sul Ross State Teachers College at Alpine, Texas. But we that have known him all during the brief 20 year span of his life have been expecting something of Sam.

He is a freshman in Sul Ross and was the honor student in that class, making five A's and one B. Sam almost always leads his class, however, from primary grades on through high school and that is the reason we still think he should lead, we guess. His picture appears in the annual of his college along with the honor students among the sophomore, junior and senior classes. This summer, he has a position in the registrar's office while he pursues his studies through the summer.

Aside from that, he is preaching regularly to the church of Christ congregation at Alpine, and those who have heard him say he is sure to make a great minister.

Local Minister Seriously Ill.

J. H. Killion, minister of the church of Christ, is seriously ill at the local hospital as this is being written, and has been for several days. A brother from Arizona and a sister from south Texas are at his bedside.

Several years ago, Elder Killion was in a car wreck, one rib being left protruding inside of his body. Lately it has begun to penetrate his lung, but he was in no condition to have the rib removed. Monday he developed pneumonia, with chances greatly against his recovery.

BROWNFIELD IS FAST BECOMING ONE OF THE HIGHWAY CENTERS OF AREA

With Paved Highways, Some of them U. S., Pointing in Six Directions, the Future Looks Bright for Brownfield To Be a Bus and Truck Concentration Point.

We learn that George M. Garrett, division engineer at Lubbock has announced that the field notes for the highway to Lamesa are just about ready to be turned in to the Commissioner's Court of Terry County for their approval, and for them to secure the right-of-way to Welch or near there, where he road from Lamesa will meet our road.

In the meantime, Dawson county has most of its part of the highway graded and drained, and a large portion caliche, and at least five or six mile out of Lamesa ready for topping, which will be started at once. We hope Terry county, as soon as possible, will be ready to meet this challenge for a real highway from the oil field section to Gaines, Yoakum, Cochran and Hockley counties.

Then there is our 51 State already paved from Lubbock and all points north and east through Brownfield to Odessa, where one can take the Bankhead to almost any place. U. S. 380 through from Fort Worth and Dallas to as far west as an auto wants to go, is now nearing completion. There is still a small strip in west Garza unpaved, the last six miles in west Terry will be finished in the next few weeks, and this summer some time, the road will be paved to Plains.

The local highway officers showed us the blue prints of the road from Plains to Bronco this week, where it will join the New Mexico paved highway of the same U. S. number. There is only two curves from Plains to Bronco, both very slight and easy for the motorist to take. They believe that work of grading and drainage will start on this road this summer, and that by early summer, 1940, the last lap of this great highway will have been completed in Texas, as the Garza county section is to be finished this year.

Thus Brownfield will have a paved highway in six different directions. The one through Levelland, Littlefield and on to North Dakota promises in time to be one of the greatest north-south arteries of traffic in the nation, as it will carry traffic from Canada and the Black Hill Parks of the Dakotas, and end at the Big Bend International Park on the Rio Grande.

Twenty-five years ago, this tier of Texas counties, as well as New Mexico, were designated as the route through which would pass the great Southern National Highway from Washington, D. C., to San Diego, Calif. Had these counties at that time known as much as they do now, they would have bonded themselves and received what Federal aid they could, and the greatest east-west traffic artery would have passed through Post, Tahoka and Brownfield and Plains, etc., instead of 100 miles south of us.

Another Splurge of Corn-Maize Selling

Since the rain, and a great many of our farmers are selling off another portion of their maize and corn. A few weeks ago, the grounds just west of the city limits where huge piles of corn and maize were piled earlier, had become bare ground. The threshers had been removed, and the great piles of shuck and chaff had been burned.

But we noticed this week that new ricks of maize, but little if any corn had begun to rise on the grounds. This is easily explained. Usually, the best farmers keep enough grain to last them two years, or until they see they are sure of another crop before turning loose any surplus they have.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Christopher and little daughter, Donna Sue, spent the week-end visiting relatives and friend in Perryton and Amarillo.

Two Local Students Make "Who's Who."

The Herald is proud to relate that two Brownfield students in colleges made the "Who's Who" in American Universities and Colleges. They are Miss Queenelle Sawyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sawyer, and Miss Ona Faye Tittle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tittle.

To make the grade, pupils must be outstanding in character and Leadership in such activities as athletics, society, religion, and student government. Purpose: To aid the student to get the most out of a college career; compensation for what they have already done; recommendation of them to the business world, etc. The Who's Who describes these girls as follows:

SAWYER, Queenelle, B. Dec. 9 1918, Brownfield, Recognized in Women's Recognition Service, Pres. of Ko Shari Club, Sec. of Student Council, Member of Publications Com., Artist Course Com., and Inter-Club Council, Member of Association of Women Students and Junior Council. Majored in English. Will receive B. A. Degree and plans to do Anthropological Research work. Hobby: Collecting Indian Miniatures. Home: Brownfield. Attending Texas Technological College, Lubbock, Texas.

TITTLE, Ona Faye, B. Oct. 17, 1917, Merkel, Sec of Student Body, Pres. of Y. W. A. Majored in English. Will receive B. A. Degree and plans to Teach. Hobby: Knitting. Home: Brownfield. Attending Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, Texas.

Youth Returns to The Man of Years.

We always blossom out as a full fledged optimist in the summer. Life is easy and the weight of years hangs lightly as our vigor is renewed. Time don't mean a thing, and there is nothing to mar our pleasure. Angle worms get into our dreams, and fish dangle on our hook—right before our eyes. Our overcoat is in the pawnshop; our surplus rags are stuffed in a flour sack, and we are off to the shady waters where life is renewed day by day.

In this lovely mood we are in this morning, we have a kind of tender feeling toward creation in general. Perhaps the diet we live on is the cause of our lovely disposition, which consists of all the garden vegetables we can eat, all topped off with three quarts of buttermilk, three pones of corn bread and a dash of onion gravy. We think the vitamins from this garden hay gives us the pep to carry off the honors of a football game or something.

At any rate, summer is the time we renew our vows; shed tears as big as cowbells for past sins and get on good terms with our church. Perhaps if mother Eve had been more careful of the company she kept, we would have eternal summer and would be better off.

—R. E. Shugart

Just One Thing After Another With Martin

The many friends of Martin Line have been feeling for him lately. Several weeks ago, he took flu, followed by a long seige of pneumonia. This kept Martin from his work, and just last week he was able to go back on the job, feeling fine but still a bit weak.

Last Friday he came to work early, and pains began to rip and tear his abdomen. An examination at noon disclosed acute appendicitis, and he underwent an operation at the Treadaway-Daniell hospital that afternoon.

Called on him Tuesday afternoon. Reported he was feeling fine and had very little fever.

The Official Paper of Terry County and the City of Brownfield

Last Week, the Rochester Reporter celebrated its 17th birthday, twelve of which it has been under the management of Editor James A. Greer. Time passes. It seems but yesterday when Editor Greer was publishing a little paper at Meadow, and we used to go up sometimes and talk shop with him. Anyway, congratulations, and may the Reporter grow in size and prestige.

If it is not out of order, what has become of that cold storage plant we were hearing so much about some weeks ago? Was that like our cotton oil mill, just another promotion scheme, which died aborning? By the way, here's a hot tip for both Chambers of Commerce. While at Athens, we asked Archie Underwood if he ever figured on enlarging his holdings to include cotton oil mills. He told us it was out of his line, but that he was well acquainted with some prominent oil mill people, and that he would talk to them about an oil mill for Brownfield. He said he would be interested very much himself in seeing one located here.

Mrs. Edna Woolman Chase, editor-in-chief of Vogue, pleaded last week before shoe makers for a return to sanity in the construction of feminine footwear. "Your impractical footwear is ruining our feet," she said. "I won't be surprised if women walk right out on shoe makers and shellac their soles and put bells on their toes." When designers several years ago created shoes with open toes and no backs, they intended the bizarre creations for resort and evening wear, but the skeleton shoe became so popular they were adopted for everyday wear even on city streets. Shoe makers are rather jittery over the matter, now, of returning to some form of sanity in shoe construction. Getting the idea across will be the main hill ahead to climb.—Snyder Times.

Most Americans regard Mexico, the government, and not the people particularly, as out-laws taking whatever they see fit, whether it belongs to individuals or another nation. Many say that it is not safe to get off the beaten trails in that country, particularly if there is just two or three travel-fing together. But, many of the private Mexicans are waking up to the effect that that kind of old stuff is not going to go over at this time and age. In fact, those living near our borders say that since Mexico took over American ranches, mines and oil fields in that country, trade and therefore cash from the United States has almost stopped coming into their country, and that times are getting worse, as Mexicans make a mess out of trying to run most anything, especially oil fields and mines. American capital was invited into that country to develop it, but these investments have stopped short and the common Mexican is suffering from the consequence. It is believed that there will be a radical change in government in Mexico at the next election, despite the fact that that arch Communist, Trotsky is an honored guest and advisor, and that Mexico will try to pay for American and British property they have taken, or turn it back to the owners, and invite more capital to come in.

District Court is in session at Plains this and next week. It is reported by local attorneys in attendance, that there is several big lawsuits on the docket for trial there, involving much of the oil lands and leases.

State Hospital Opened This Week.

BIG SPRING, June 3.—The Big Spring state hospital will receive its first patients Monday.

Preparations are being made to receive other insane now confined in West Texas jails, and later other groups may be transferred from the Wichita Falls and San Antonio hospitals to relieve crowded conditions.

Superintendent George T. McMahan said the hospital could accommodate 450 patients soon, and a staff of over 100 will be employed. Established to serve primarily the West Texas area, the hospital represents an investment of $817,000 as the initial state appropriations plus about $100,000 spent by the city of Big Spring and Howard county for land, railroad spur and various other facilities.

Key, Boss L. Key, Jewell Black, Dock A. Key, Lastell McRaven, Velma Lee Rhinehart, Anna Collum, H. M. Key, and Jim Key, if living and if dead, the unknown heirs of Jim Key are the joint owners in fee simple and together are the sole owners of the W. half and S. E. 1/4 of Sec. 98, Blk. 4-X containing 480 acres of land and all of Blk. 35 and 36 of the First Add. to the Town of Gomez, being part of Sec. No. 1, Blk. D-12, containing about 15 acres of land, all situated in Terry County, Texas, each owning an undivided 1-8 interest in said lands, and that the defendants Velma Lee Rhinehart and Lastell McRaven are the children and only children and heirs at law of Jim Key, deceased, if the defendant is dead, and if the above named defendants are in fact the only children and heirs at law of the said Jim Key, they own jointly an undivided 1-8 interest in said real estate.

That said defendant Jim Key mysteriously disappeared and have not been heard of for more than seven years next before the filing of this suit and that the presumption at law is that said Jim Key is now deceased and that at the time and before his disappearance the defendant Anna Collum was the wife of Jim Key and that if he died, he died intestate, and that the defendant Anna Collum is claiming some right, title or interest in the 1-8 interest owned by the said Jim Key, if living, or his heirs and unknown heirs, if he be dead.

That such real estate is of the estimated value of $10,000.00 that the said land and premises are in the possession of the defendants, or some of them with the consent of the plaintiffs and that the plaintiff Ima Lee Martin is entitled to an undivided 1-8 interest in and to the above described land and premises and an undivided 1-8 interest in and to all personal property owned by S. H. Key at the time of his death, plaintiff being the child and only heir at law of Mark Key, deceased and is entitled to said property, or an interest therein, by virtue of the last will and testament of her grandmother, Lucindy Key, deceased.

That plaintiffs Leona Knight and Jess Key being the children and only heirs at law of G. E. Key, deceased, have a valid and unsatisfied claim against the estate of Lucindy Key and S. H. Key, deceased, in that the last will of Lucindy Key and S. H. Key provided for the payment out of said estate to these plaintiffs the sum of $50.00 each; that the said claim has never been paid and that these plaintiffs are entitled to a lien against any property of the state, to secure the payment of such sum of money, and they pray for judgement against the state for the amount of their claim and the foreclosure of their lien.

Plaintiffs pray for a partition, and that upon final hearing they have judgement by the court determining whether or not the defendant Jim Key is dead or living and if dead, who are his heirs and only heirs at law; that said real estate be partitioned among such joint owners; that commissioners be appointed to divide and partition such real estate and personal property and an accounting be had for the rents and revenues of such property and that the plaintiffs Leona Knight and Jess Key have judgement against the defendants for the sum of $100.00 with interest thereon; that a lien be declared against the joint owners of said real estate and that such lien be foreclosed and for cost of suit.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, and have you before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

GIVEN UNDER MY HAND and Seal of said Court, at office in Brownfield, this the 19th day of May, A. D. 1939.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

The State of Texas,
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Terry County, Greeting:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to summon Chas. C. Chapman, Adeline Maud Chapman, Ora A. Countryman, Guy A. Countryman, Helen L. Countryman, Freida A. Johnson, Emery D. Johnson and Helen G. Countryman, by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest County where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Terry County to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Brownfield, on the Fourth Monday in August A. D. 1939, the same being the 28th day of August A. D. 1939, then and there to answer amended motion for new trial filed in said Court on the 30th day of December A. D. 1938, in a suit, numbered on docket of said Court as No. 2200, wherein Chas. C. Chapman, Adeline Maud Chapman, Ora A. Countryman, Guy A. Countryman, Helen L. Countryman, Freida A. Johnson, Emery D. Johnson and Helen G. Countryman are Plaintiffs, and "John Sanns, Mrs. John Sanns, wife of John Sanns, an dthe unknown heirs of the above named parties, deceased, their heirs and legal representatives" were named as Defendants, and Jennie Sanns, Ralph Sanns and James E. Sanns file said amended motion as the heirs of said defendants; such motion further alleging:

They sue to set aside a judgement rendered in favor of the plaintiffs in this cause, dated January 18, 1938, against the defendants in this cause for title to and possession of the west half section Eleven, Block D-14, Terry County, Texas, wherein judgement was taken upon citation by publication, which judgement is alleged to be defective:

That affidavit for citation did not allege their names and residences were unknown, nor did it otherwise described them, nor that they were non residents of the State, nor that the names of the heirs of John Sanns and Mrs. John Sanns were unknown.

That the citation published omitted from the names of plaintiffs that of Ora A. Countryman.

That on trial, the evidence offered by plaintiffs did not connect them with the State, nor any defendant, nor these parties, nor was the judgement based on any statute of limitation.

That Case No. 1214 this court was relied on by the plaintiffs for such judgement, but such case was without service upon any defendant in any manner provided by law; especially that the writ expired before return was complete, and before statutory time of service, was by posting only, and not returnable to the judgement term, and time was incomplete at the returnable term, nor was it directed to any defendant therein, and being a tax suit.

That to procure the judgement herein plaintiffs relied on a judgement in No. 2172 this Court, but these parties were not parties to such judgement, nor did it pretend to divest them of any title, nor their ancestors, nor any defendant herein.

That no defendant, nor these parties, have appeared nor answered in this suit nor in the two named suits.

That on trial, the evidence in this suit showed John Sanns as the owner of said land, and that he had never been divested of title nor possession.

That movants are all, and the only, children of John Sanns, deceased, and his widow, that he died without a will, and with no administration on his estate.

They pray such judgement of January 18, 1938, be set aside and a new trial granted.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, and have you before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

GIVEN UNDER MY HAND and the Seal of said Court, at office in Brownfield, Texas, this the 16th day of April A. D. 1939.

NOTICE OF ELECTION

THE STATE OF TEXAS,
COUNTY OF TERRY,
CITY OF BROWNFIELD:

On this the 7th day of June, A. D. 1939, the City Council of the City of Brownfield, Texas, convened in special session in the Council Room in the City Hall, at Brownfield, Texas, all members thereof being present, to-wit:

Clyde C. Coleman, Mayor,
C. J. Smith, M. J. Craig, Herman Chesshir, Tom Cobb, and I. M. Bailey, Aldermen.

Roy M. Herold, City Secretary, and among other business transacted, the following ordinance was passed, to-wit:

An ordinance by the City Council of the City of Brownfield, Texas, calling an election to be held within and for said City upon the question of authorizing the issuance of the bonds of said City in the amount of $15,000.00, for the purpose of constructing street improvements within said City, prescribing the time and place of holding said election, the qualification of the voters, the purpose of the bonds, the amount thereof, the interest rate, and submitting the proposition of the levy, assessment and collection of taxes to pay the annual interest on and provide a sinking fund to pay the bonds at maturity, prescribing the maturity of the bonds, the manner of holding said election, and declaring an emergency.

Whereas the City Council of the City of Brownfield, Texas, affirmatively finds that it is advisable to the best interest of said City that certain street improvements be made in said City and that the negotiable interest bearing coupon bonds of said City be issued for the purpose of financing the costs of such improvements and that it is necessary and expedient that an election be held within and for said City of Brownfield for the purpose of submitting to the legally qualified resident property taxpaying voters of said City, who own property subject to taxation in said City and who have duly rendered the same for taxation, the question of the authorization of said bonds:

NOW, THEREFORE, be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Brownfield, Texas:

I. That an election be held within and throughout the boundaries of the City of Brownfield, Texas, on the 24th day of June, A. D. 1939, said date being not less than fifteen days nor more than thirty days from the date of this ordinance, to determine whether or not the bonds of the City of Brownfield, Texas, shall be issued in the amount of Fifteen Thousand and No—100 Dollars ($15,000.00), bearing interest at the rate of three per centum (3 percent) per annum from date, and maturing at such time or times as may be deemed most expedient by the City Council of the City of Brownfield, Texas, serially not later than ten years from their date, with a maximum serial maturity of 1949, for the purpose of the construction and improvement of the public streets within said City; and whether or not ad valorem taxes shall be levied for the current year and annually thereafter, while said bonds or any of them are outstanding, upon all taxable property within said City subject to taxation, sufficient to pay the annual interest on said bonds and to provide a sinking fund to pay the bonds at maturity.

Said election shall be held under the provisions of and in strict conformity with the Constitution and Laws of the State of Texas, including Chapters 1 and 11, Title 22, Revised Statutes of Texas, and all acts amendatory, complementary and supplemental thereto.

11. All persons who are legally qualified resident property taxpaying voters of the City of Brownfield, Texas, who own property subject to taxation in said City and who have rendered same for taxation, shall be entitled to vote at said election.

That the ballots for said election shall have written or printed thereupon the following, to-wit:

"For the issuance of Bonds and the levying of the tax in payment thereof."

"Against the issuance of Bonds and the levying of the Tax in payment thereof."

And as to the foregoing proposition, each voter shall mark out with black ink or pencil one of the above expressions, thus leaving the other as indicating his vote on the proposition.

111. That said election shall be held at the City Hall, in the City of Brownfield, Texas, and the presiding clerks and judges of said election shall be as follows, to-wit:

J. D. Miller, Presiding Judge
Jesse D. Cox, Clerk
R. L. Adams, Clerk.

It is further ordained that a copy of this ordinance shall constitute proper notice of said election and notice thereof shall be given by publication of an executed copy of this ordinance in a newspaper of general circulation published in the City of Brownfield, Texas, the same day in each of two successive weeks, the date of the first publication to be not less than fourteen (14) days prior to the date set for said election; and in addition thereto notice of said election shall be given by posting a substantial copy of this ordinance in each of the election precincts of the City of Brownfield, Texas, and also at the City Hall in the City of Brownfield, Texas, which said notices shall be posted at least fifteen days prior to the date of said election. And the City Secretary of the City of Brownfield, Texas, shall cause said notices to be posted and published as above directed.

IV. Immediately after said election has been held, the officers holding same shall make returns of the result thereof to the City Secretary of the City of Brownfield, for canvassing by the City Council and shall return the ballot boxes to the City Secretary for safekeeping.

The manner of holding such election and canvassing and making the returns thereof shall be governed by the general election laws of the State of Texas when not in conflict with the provisions of the hereinbefore mentioned statutes, and the City Council will furnish the necessary ballots and other election supplies requisite for said election.

V. The fact that it is affirmatively found by the City Council of the City of Brownfield, Texas, that there is urgent need to proceed with the matter of the construction and improvement of the public streets of said City in order to make the same more convenient for the public at large creates an emergency and public necessity, demanding that the rule requiring the reading of this ordinance on more than one day before final passage, be suspended, and such rule is hereby suspended, and it is ordained that this ordinance shall take effect and be in force immediately upon its passage and approval.

The above ordinance being read in full by the City Secretary, it was moved by Alderman M. J. Craig and seconded by Alderman I. M. Bailey that the rules requiring ordinances to be read at more than one meeting of the City Council be suspended for reasons stated in the emergency clause.

The motion carried by the unanimous vote of the Council.

Alderman Tom Cobb made a motion, which was seconded by Alderman C. J. Smith, that the ordinance be finally passed, which motion was carried by the following vote:

AYES: Aldermen Herman Chesshir, C. J. Smith, Tom Cobb, M. J. Craig and I. M. Bailey.
NOES: None. Passed, Approved and Adopted June 7th, 1939.

ATTEST:
CLYDE C. COLEMAN,
Mayor, City of Brownfield, Texas.

ROY M. HEROD,
City Secretary, City of Brownfield, Texas
(CORPORATE SEAL)
THE STATE OF TEXAS,

CITY OF BROWNFIELD:

I, Roy M. Herod, City Secretary of the City of Brownfield, Texas, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing is a true, full and correct copy of the minutes of the meeting of the City Council of the City of Brownfield, Texas, at which was adopted the ordinance calling an election for the issuance of the $15,000 proposed Street Improvement Bonds mentioned therein, as the same now appears of record in volume 3 at page 79 of the minutes of said City Council. I further certify that said copy is an executed copy and that the above signatures are the true and genuine signatures of said Officials.

ANOTHER STONE AGE RACE

It seems primitive man preferred to live in West Texas. The Southwestern division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science reports bones of ancient men found near Abilene, (Taylor county). These ancient Texans were long headed, had big feet, heavy thigh bones and chased elephants. In one find stone darts were so close to elephant remains that these weapons evidently were used in the hunt. The skeleton remains were at a depth of 10 feet, and from evidence based on type of stone-pointed weapons found these primitive people lived in Texas about 20,000 years ago, according to Smithsonian scientists, who went to Abilene to investigate the discovery.

Uncle Joe Bryant, who has been quite ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. L. Williams, was able to be up Saturday, and went home with another of his daughters, Mrs. Bayne Price, who lives near Plains.

Ed Aryann and son of Seminole, were up Friday.

Miss Marjorie Sue Bynum will leave Saturday for McMurray College in Abilene, to attend Summer school.

Miss Rowena Hulse, who has been teaching for the past few years in the Jal, N. M. schools, will attend the Colorado State College of Education, at Boulder, this summer. The Herald will follow her up, as she takes the old sheet wherever she goes.

Geo. Cardwell and family were over Tradesday shopping with our merchants.

Ed Thompson of the Gomez section reports that his crop is up and growing.

Mr. and Mrs. Luke Harrell and two lovely little daughters of Seminole, were the guests of Mrs. Harrell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Chisholm and other relatives, Sunday.

SITE OF TEXAS CAPITOL 100 YEARS OLD

About a century ago, April 13, 1839, Mirabeau B. Lamar, of the Republic of Texas, received a report from a five-man commission that it had selected the town of Waterloo (now Austin) on the east bank of the Colorado river as "the seat of future empire and the capitol of the State of Texas."

92 Per Cent Compliance Cotton Marketing Quotas

College Station, May 30. — Anticipating fully 92 per cent compliance with 1939 cotton acreage allotments, AAA workers at state headquarters here do not expect much Texas cotton to be penalized through the application of cotton marketing quotas on this year's crop.

Arrangements nevertheless were made here this month to single out the comparatively few growers expected to exceed acreage allotments and to place a 3-cent a pound tax on cotton they sell in excess of their marketing quotas.

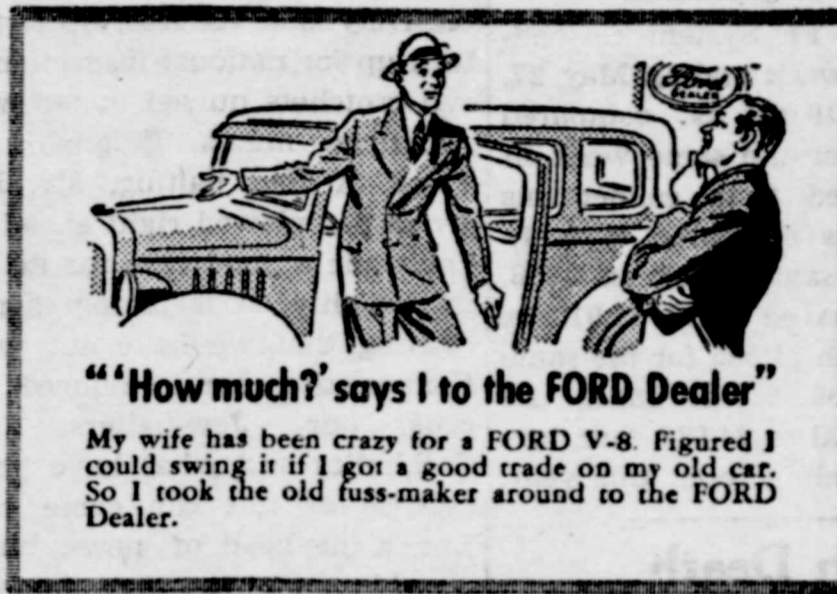

E. N. Holmgreen, state AAA administrator, explained that the tax, which is a cent larger than it was last year, will be collected by the buyer at the time of the sale.

A farm's marketing quota consists of either the normal or the actual production, whichever is the greater, of the farm's 1939 cotton acreage allotment — plus any carryover cotton which would have been subject to a penalty had it been marketed in 1938.

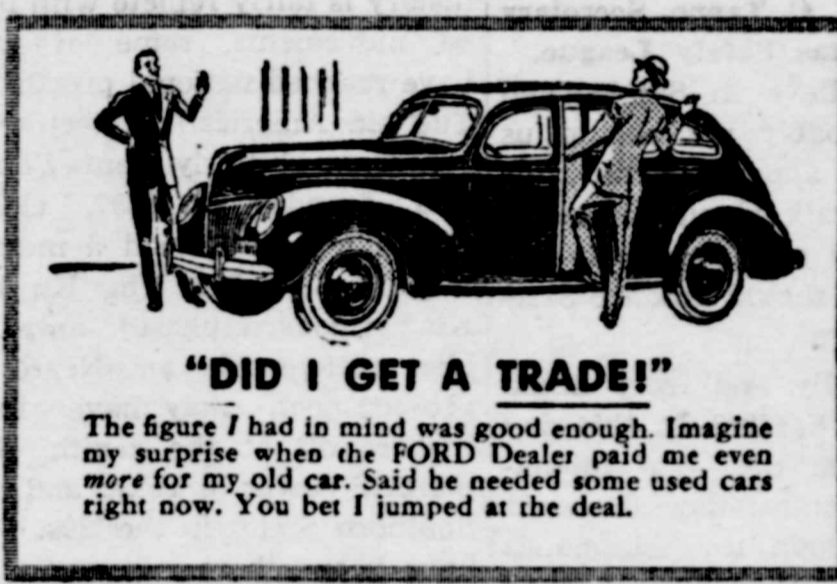

Producers who have no carryover penalty cotton and who plant within their 1939 cotton acreage allotments will receive white marketing cards and may sell all their cotton in 1939 without a penalty. The producer who overplants his

"DID I GET A TRADE!"
The figure I had in mind was good enough. Imagine my surprise when the FORD Dealer paid me even more for my old car. Said he needed some used cars right now. You bet I jumped at the deal.

AUSTIN—Incomplete statistics indicated today that May's traffic toll will be well under the total of 127 lives lost on streets and highways during May a year ago.

From highway patrol reports and newspaper stories, state police counted 96 dead in May traffic. The figure is likely to be increased, however, by reports from outlying patrol districts.

Of the 96 reported fatalities, 26 were pedestrian dead, 35 were car, truck or motorcycle operators and 35 were passengers.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN'S PEACE PLAN.

In these perilous times of "war and rumors of war," when the people of most nations are casting about for some method of avoiding the catastrophe which all of them fear, it might not be amiss for them to consider the plan that was once suggested by a man who had been a printer and a publisher. His name was Benjamin Franklin.

In 1788, when Turkey and Russia were engaged in one of their conflicts, Franklin wrote his friend, Benjamin Vaughn, as follows:

"I regret the immense quantity of misery brought upon mankind by this Turkish war; and I am burn his fingers by attacking Russia. "When will princes learn arithmetic enough to calculate if they want pieces of another's territory, how much cheaper it would be to buy them, than to make war for them, even though they were to give a hundred years purchase?"

But, if glory cannot be valued, and therefore the war for it cannot be subject to arithmetical calculation so as to show their advantage of disadvantage, at least wars for trade, which have gain for their object, may be proper subjects for such computation; and a trading nation, as well as a single trader, ought to calculate the probabilities of profit and loss, before engaging in any considerable adventure.

This, however, nations seldom ever do, and we have had frequent instances of their spending more money in wars for acquiring or securing branches of commerce, than a hundred years' profit or the full enjoyment of them can compensate."

Judging by the events of recent years, the statesmen of today seem no more capable than the princes of 150 years ago of "learning arithmetic enough to calculate, if they want pieces of another's territory, how much cheaper it would be to buy them, than to make war for them." Being statesmen, the solution of the problem may be too simple for them. Some day, though, they may realize the virtue of this suggestion by the American printer, who was also a practical idealist and a far-seeing philosopher, and, when all else fails, learn to their surprise that a "cost accounting system for peace and war" is the answer!—Publisher's Auxiliary.

The Santa Fe System carloadings for the week ending May 27, 1939 were 19,992 as compared with 19,929 for the same week in 1938. Received from connections were 4,921 as compared with 4,626 for the same week in 1938. Total cars moved were 24,913 as compared with 24,555 for the same week in 1938. The Santa Fe handled a total of 24,089 cars during the preceding week this year.

Sudden Death

By Captain J. C. Tappe, Secretary of the Texas Safety League. We all believe in Safety, and there is probably not one of us who does not appreciate the value of life. We talk about Safety on the highways and we firmly believe that we should practice Safety. But do we?

Do we really and truly think, talk and act Saefy? In this day of fast automobiles and mounting traffic deaths, new demands are placed upon us. Demands which require us to think beyond ourselves. We must think for the other person. We must think for that child playing along the highway or crossing the street.

Recently, the seriousness of accidents along the highways was brought very forcibly to my attention in a statement made by our State Director, Pierce Brooks of Dallas, when he said: "It is startling to realize that during the past eighteen months there were more people killed in traffic accidents in the United States than there were soldiers killed in the World War. We, as individuals, should think, talk and act Safety in the homes, as well as on the highways."

The State of Texas has spent thousands of dollars in the installation of highway signs. Much thought and study has been devoted to properly placing these CAUTION, SLOW, SCHOOL ZONE and other signs along these thoroughfares. If our motorists will "read and believe" in these signs which were installed for your safety, we will be on our sure way towards reducing accidents on the highways of Texas.

UN-AMERICANISMS

Martin Dies' lower house committee on un-American activities has demonstrated its usefulness over the long run in showing conclusively that its real effort is to turn up for national inspection the evil crotchets nursed in too many American minds. Originally accused of Red baiting, Mr. Dies' group has plowed right ahead and has made a good case for its own impartiality. It is merely demonstrating that we have our wooly Communists, our convinced Fascists, our Jew-baiters, anti-Catholics and what have you.

None of this can come justly under the head of news, but it should cause concern. American history is fairly replete with bigoted movements, some of which have reached national proportions. The old American Protective Association, bitterly anti-Catholic and founded in 1887, claimed within a short period a membership of 2,000,000. The Ku Klux Klan (modern phase), anti-Catholic, anti-Jewish, anti-Negro and pro-bedsheet, may have had a higher roll at the zenith of its political power in Texas and other Southern States in the '20s. There have been others.

Doubtless there will be always others for the simple reason that humanity is full of wrongheaded ideas. Daily nowadays you meet people who tell you that our ills can be righted if this group, religious, racial or political, is brought under control by such right-thinking persons as the man who is talking.

Concern over the matter is justified because all such talk and what may come out of it is in violent contrast to the essential principles of American government and American living. Any man in this country is entitled to his personal prejudices. He is free to dislike Jews, Catholics, Protestants, blacks, whites and reds and to have no truck with them. But the moment that he begins to urge governmental restriction of race, religion or principle, he belongs somewhere else, not here.—Dallas News.

Romie Stewart and wife, of Fort Worth, spent the week end visiting Mr. Stewart's mother, Mrs. Tennie Stewart and meeting many old time friends. Romie was practically raised in this county, and is now one of the officials of a large insurance company in Fort Worth.

FLY BY NIGHT NEWS-PAPERS(?) LIMITED

Fly-by-night newspapers which spring up in election years to "put pressure" on candidates for political advertising will be a thing of the past in the event Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel signs a bill now on his desk.

The bill was written by Rep. Augustine Celaya of Brownsville, provides that to accept advertising for more than one political candidate, a paper must have been published for at least 12 months prior to the acceptance of the advertising. The provision allowing one candidate to advertise was in order that candidates might be free to publish their own newspapers, as is an ever growing custom in politics in Texas.

To be certain that no legitimate publication is injured, the bill provides that the prohibition shall not apply to any newspaper or publication which has, prior to the acceptance of political advertising, been published and circulated generally, in the event such publication can show ownership of its physical plant and that its advertising rates are in proportion to the amount and kind of circulation.

FIFTY THOUSAND SIGHT-SEERS VISIT MUSEUM

Austin, May 30.—Fifty thousand and eight-seers have passed thru the great bronze doors of the Texas memorial museum since its opening four months ago, officials revealed here today.

Dr. Sellards, museum director, reported that visitors from 207 of the 254 counties in Texas, 44 other states and 19 foreign countries have viewed the state's greatest collection of Texana, located on the University of Texas campus. Only the states of Delaware, Nevada, New Hampshire and one other, were yet not represented on the visitor's register. From as far as Australia, Siberia and China, foreign visitors had paused in Austin to view the exhibits.

Walter Bond has been visiting his mother, Mrs. J. C. Bond the past week. He now lives in El Paso.

WHAT WE OWE THE TELEPHONE GIRL

The telephone girl sits in her chair and listens to voices everywhere. She hears all the gossip, she hears all the news, She knows who is happy and who has the blues;

She knows all our sorrows, she knows all our joys, She knows every girl who is chasing the boys. She knows all our troubles, she knows all our strife, She knows every man who is mean to his wife.

She knows every time we go out with the boys, She hears the excuses each fellow employs. She knows every woman who has a dark past, She knows every man who is inclined to be fast.

In fact there's a secret beneath each saucy curl, Of that quiet, demure looking telephone girl.

If a telephone girl would tell all she knows, It would turn half our friends in to bitterest foes.

She would start a small wind that would soon be a gale, Engulf us in trouble and land us in jail.

Should she let go a story of truth in full force, She would cause half our wives to sue for divorce.

She would get all the churches mixed up in a fight, She would turn day into sorrowing night.

In fact she could keep all the world in a stew, If she told a tenth part of all that she knew.

Now doesn't it set your head in a whirl, When you think what you owe the telephone girl?—Ex.

LOWEST COTTON EXPORTS IN 50 YEARS EXPECTED

AUSTIN—Dr. A. B. Cox, University of Texas cotton expert, today predicted a 50-year low for United States cotton exports this year.

Dr. Cox, director of the University Bureau of Business Research, estimated exports this year at less than three and a third million bales, compared with an average predepression total of nearly eight and a half million.

"The big reason why the United States has lost foreign markets for cotton is that it has not been willing to sell at world market prices," he declared.

GAIN IN EMPLOYMENT STEADY PAST TWO MONTHS

On the past day, May 22, that the Alexander Hamilton Institute issued a report showing a gain of 278,000 in factory employment during March, the United States Employment Service reported from Washington that its branch offices alone had found jobs during April for 20,496 persons. This is a gain of 17.2 percent over March 1939, and of 26.6 percent over April 1938.

WILD HOG OF SOUTHWEST TEXAS TO BE PROTECTED

The Peccary, the native North American wild hog, has finally attained the official status of a big game animal in Texas.

The ranks of the Collared Peccary or Javelina, have been depleted through long years of being hunted for their hides and as food, but Governor O'Daniel signed a bill introduced in the State legislature by Representative Fred Felty of San Antonio, they became legally protected and it is now lawful to take them only from Nov. 16 to Jan. 1. The bag limit is two per season.

Texas sportsmen, in general, are only now recognizing the Peccary as a game animal capable of producing considerable sport, but nimrods from other states are invading Southwest Texas in increasing numbers each year.

They find Peccaries are capable of doing considerable damage to the unwary hunter and his dogs. Peccaries reach a weight of fifty pounds and its meat is regarded as table fare.

Chevrolet Reports Increased Sales Over '38

DETROIT, May 29. — Dealers' retail sales of new Chevrolet cars and trucks in the first 10 days of May totalled 23,248 units, an increase of 1,505 over the corresponding period in April, and of 6,142 units, or 35.9 per cent, over the same 10 days last year. The announcement was made today at company headquarters here.

The period brought Chevrolet's sales for the year to date to 291,765 units, the records indicate. This is 70,212 units more than had been sold at this time in 1938, the percentage of increase being 31.7.

Used car sales in the first 10 days of May were 46,663 units, the report showed. This represents a gain of 5,172 units over the first 10 days of April, and of 10,483 units over the first 10 days of May a year ago.

Chevrolet's truck sales, for the year to date, have gained 32.8 per cent. Chevrolet is leading the field with 64,322 sales as compared with 48,409 at this time one year ago. Extension of the truck line, and addition of cab-over-engine models, are credited as factors in the gain.

DO IT TODAY

Every building should be checked at regular intervals for fire hazards. And it is obvious that the checking will be largely useless unless the checker is familiar with at least the more common hazards.

You, for instance, can adequately inspect your own home if you are armed with a certain amount of simple, non-technical knowledge.

Look at your roof—old or warped roofing easily collects sparks and flying brands. Thoroughly go over your chimneys in search of loose bricks, cracks or any other failure that might start or encourage a fire.

Keep your yard in clean, trim condition—dry grass, leaves, boards, etc., are readily ignited and are a definite danger to nearby buildings. The same thing is true of garages and sheds—cleanliness and good maintenance go a long way toward preventing fire. Pay special attention to the storage of inflammable materials such as gasoline and benzine should be kept in tight, metal containers. And remember that explosive liquids should never be used for home cleaning operations.

Accumulations of discarded material—whether old clothes, furniture or magazines—in closets, basement and attic, constitute one of the worst hazards. Oily rags are most dangerous of all, as they are subject to spontaneous combustion.

If you used wood for fuel, pile it neatly. And never mix rags or paper with wood or coal—spontaneous heating may result. The whole heating system should be inspected carefully, and it's wise to hire an expert for this job.

Oil burners should be installed with extreme care, and in accord with standard regulations. That is also true of gas appliances. No gas appliance should be used which lacks a thermostat for cutting off the supply in case the pilot light goes out.

If your work room, as many are, is littered and disorderly, you're simply asking for a fire. Keep it neat.

This doesn't exhaust necessary instructions by a long shot—but it shows you where to start. And it's a good idea to do it today.

A philosopher once said, "I care not who writes the nation's laws, if I may listen to its song." Suppose he tuned in the radio some night and heard our most popular songs—the Jitterbugs jittering, crooners crooning and even some of the church choirs adding a saucy swing to old time melodies. If our song indicates our trend, and they certainly do, the old philosopher would not hear anything to be elated over.—Lorenzo Enterprise.

Random reflections regarding Old Mexico:

Two Spanish words are almost all that the traveler needs—"Cuanto?" which means "How much?" and "Gracias," which means "Thanks."

Incidentally, when this pilgrim brought his Spanish into action for the first time since high school days, several in our Lions' group who did not speak the language said, "Your Spanish is so good that we can understand it"—rather a doubtful compliment.

Prices are quite reasonable in Mexico City. A heaping bowl of the largest and most luscious strawberries you ever ate, with a pitcher of cream so rich it will hardly pour, costs eight cents in American money in La Reforma Hotel coffee shop; and you can obtain a large glass of thick, pulpy flavormore orange juice not diluted and syruped as in our drug stores, for a dime. A daily newspaper is seven centavos (about a cent and a half) and there is an English language section but the news therein is of rather miscellaneous nature, not to say, sketchy nature. A shine is 15 centavos.

In fact, prices that were at times almost absurdly low nearly caused one member of the group embarrassment. As he and a lady left La Reforma for the dinner-dance tendered by the Mexico City Lions, a street vendor offered a bouquet of gardenias. In the United States (so I have heard) gardenias are a dollar each. He purchased the flowers and his companion, who was bare-headed, placed them in her hair; it looked as though a cluster of white butterflies had alighted there. All evening she thanked him for the bouquet. (She did not speak Spanish—the flowers cost 50 centavos or 10 cents, American money.)

The American in Mexico City, if he makes the trip by automobile, would be wise to leave his car in storage and use a taxi. The fares are low: 20 cents for short distances, but the main reason for this advice is the terrific speed at which the automobiles travel. Cars dash along the Paseo de la Reforma at 50 miles an hour, miraculously missing dozens of other autos, moving nearly as wildly, at the cross streets. It seems incredible that a machine could go through such heavy traffic at such a speed for even one block without a terrible smash-up, yet this observer did not see a single collision.

The bull-fighters see how close they can let a bull's horns come without being struck—and pedestrians engage in a similar pastime with the automobiles. It is difficult, however, for a visitor to feel nonchalant when a car misses his hip-pocket by two inches while another, from the opposite direction nearly trims his whiskers.

Buses (which have supplanted street cars) have doors on both sides—which was a good thing for one citizen who, hotly pressed by an auto, put on a sprint and leaped on to a bus through a door on the side that doesn't have one in the United States, just in time to keep from being hit by the automobile. I shall always believe that he hadn't intended to get on the bus but did so for the reason that Brer Rabbit climbed a tree when he was chased by Brer Fox—he was just "oblegged" to.

At the beautiful Floating Island, a young Mexican selling handcarved leather billfolds called me "Mr. House." How he knew my name puzzled me until I recollected that each member of our group had his (or her) name typed on a large badge.

As we stood in the shadow of the ancient, awe-inspiring Pyramid of the Sun, a car radio started playing a song and the tune was "Pop-Eye, the Sailor Man."

Texas tidings: President Roosevelt inherited his money, says Lynn Landrum in his Dallas News column. Well, some people think that is better than getting elected to office and then founding a fortune by winning the lobbyists' money in a poker game.

It would have been quite a job for Senator Tom Connally in 1940 if he had had to explain why there was a loophole in his hot oil law whereby a man of influence and prominence avoided trial because of a technicality—so the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court reversing a lower court and holding that Renee Allred, Jr., brother of former Governor (and present Federal Judge) James V. Allred, must stand trial is a ruling that will help Connally next summer. He can stand some help.

"Casa Manana marches on" is the slogan coined by Lou Wolfson, executive director of the Fort Worth spectacle, opening July 21 for six weeks—meaning the new show will add to the reputation that Casa Manana has held for the three previous years as the finest entertainment in the United States.

These are the days of Commencement oratory and Jerry Sedler, State Railroad Commissioner, received a highly welcome invitation, to deliver the speech to the graduating class at Slocum, which isn't far from the little community of Hickory Grove, in Anderson county, where he was born. Ralph Yarbough, who made a strong race for Attorney General last summer, accepted an invitation to make the commencement speech at Chandler, his birthplace.

McClellan Writes Some Poetry.

It's not often that the Herald is very much interested in poetry, as we are not of a very poetical nature, but Les McClellan, State Highway Maintenance Superintendent handed us a poem written by one of his hands that appeared to us and we are passing it on to the readers.

Lester requires that his men write something or get up some slogan in connection with their work that will show their interest. Therefore, Walter got on the plan that was nearest his heart, poetry. He does not claim to be anything but an amateur.

OBSERVE SAFETY SIGNS

Don't think for a minute If you work for the State, That the road is all yours, And the traffic should wait.

You are badly wrong; Let's get this straight, You are a servant of the people And paid by the State.

So try and have a good reason, And do not do wrong, But do your work right And help traffic along.

Don't think you are always right, Because you are an old hand, Just one mistake from you, Might cripple some good man.

Are your signs all up? Are your flagmen at hand? Make your highway work safe As fast as you can.

Now to you travelers, Who drive too fast, When you see men working, Don't STEP on the GAS!

Try using your brakes, Cut down on your speed, You have just past a SLOW sign, Why don't you read?

Look for signals, watch for lights, Drive more carefully, Keep to the right, Then travel for all will be safe day and night.

Feeder Interests Invited to Big Spring

The United States Dry Land Experiment Station, Big Spring, Texas, has been conducting feeding experiments at this point for a number of years. These tests have been planned with the object in view of finishing Texas cattle on West Texas grown feed. This year, feeding tests will be completed June 16, at which a feeders' Day meeting will be held. The morning will be devoted to looking over the cattle, having them appraised by a packer representative, and general visiting. Lunch will be served at noon, after which the program will follow. The result of this test will be discussed.

Mr. J. M. Jones, Chief of Animal Husbandry of Texas Experiment Station of A & M College, and other members of the Texas A & M Experiment station staff, will discuss other problems connected with the feeding of cattle.

LESS BIRTHS BUT TEXANS LIVING LONGER

AUSTIN—That Texas is headed for an era of quieter, more mature living, is the prediction of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

The basis of this prediction is the declining birth rate and the increasing life span of the average Texan.

While the population may continue to increase until 1955, as government census experts predict, the percentage of youth is decreasing. By 1975 today's total American population over 65 will have trebled their number from seven and a half million to twenty-two and a half million.

Two reasons for this change in the age ration are smaller families and stricter immigration laws.

Third and most important reason is the longer average life expectation due to increasingly widespread use of medical and public health knowledge, which reduces mortality, particularly in childhood and allows the average person to live a longer span of life. For instance, a baby born in 1900 had a life expectation of 48 years. A baby born in 1935 could normally expect to be 61 years old.

Repercussions to this change in our population from youth to middle age will be gradual. Both young and old will do less productive labor, while the middle aged will do more. Fewer schools will be needed. Golf and other mild games will gain favor. Travel will be more popular as more people will have leisure. The jitterbug era of dancing will fade. The population will tend to decentralize as older people move to quiet suburbs or the country.

In the long run, America and Texas will undoubtedly benefit in the advent of experience and seasoned judgements in government and business.

When our population becomes more or less static, our scale of living will automatically rise, and the science of medicine and public health will have much to do with this change toward a longer and better life for more and more people.

Oil Business Great Industry In Texas

DALLAS, June 1. For every one hundred barrels of crude oil produced in the State of Texas, refineries now process 79 barrels for the production of gasoline and other refined petroleum products, according to a report recently issued by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association.

The extent to which home manufacture is being pursued by the Texas oil industry is shown by official figures of the U. S. Bureau of Mines. Last year, ac-

According to this authority, Texas produced about 474 million barrels of crude, while Texas refineries manufactured into refined oil products about 375 million barrels. This constituted 79 per cent of all the crude oil produced in Texas last year. Within the past six years Texas as oil refining operations have shown marked expansion. In 1933, 46 per cent, nearly half of Texas' crude oil production, was shipped out of the State to be refined in other parts of the world. Today as a result of expanding home refining facilities, only 21 per cent of Texas' oil is shipped out in its raw state in interstate and foreign commerce. Texas now has 152 oil refining plants with a daily crude oil day. capacity of over one million barrels. Sixty-three counties in Texas now have one or more oil refining plants which afford employment to 35,000 wage earners with a combined annual payroll of 40 million dollars. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Did you see him? His clothes were tattered and torn, had only one leg and walked on crutches. He must have been at least eighty with his long, hoary white hair hanging down to his shoulders; his face sun tanned to a deep bronze, was furrowed with deep wrinkles, but nothing seemed to daunt him as he pressed out to the Great Unknown with the look on his face that as God fed the sparrows: He too, would take care of him, just another beggar-hitchhiker.

Have you seen the cactus gardens? You will also see two stately century plants that are about to burst into full bloom. They stand some eight or ten feet high. These are the only one we know of in this part of the country. They were transplanted here and it is said they bloom only each 100 years. So, if you never expect to visit where these plants are native, you should see these, for you may not be here 100 years hence.

Mrs. Dalton Lewis has the cactus gardens, and her son, R. L. collected the plants when he was with one of the major oil companies working with a surveying crew down in the part of the state where cactus really grow. She also has a lily and fish pool, of which she is very proud.

Have you taken particular notice of the lawn of the John King home. It's beautiful, and when walking on the grass, it is like walking on small springs the turf is so dense. One odd thing about this yard is that they have no side walks to the front door, and still there is no beaten trail in the grass.

We don't mean there is not enough walking to the front door to make a path; it's that the lawn has such good care that walking does not harm it. Then, too, Mr. King being a nurseryman, he may have some secret formula for the growth of a lovely lawn.

WOODMEN CIRCLE NEWS

Those attending were: Serena Warren, Thelma Blair, Cornelia Moore, Rose Mayfield, Anva Nell Travis, Stella Jackson, Jennie Blair, and the hostess, Effie Smith.

JUNE HOME ECONOMICS NEWS

The summer work among the girls taking home-making in Brownfield High School has started off very well with forty girls enrolled. The program consists of group meetings daily of a number of girls to work on some type of project together. These activities as planned will be repairing and improving furniture, rooms and equipment in the home economics department at school. Two of the groups have chosen the kitchen and primary departments of two of the local churches as their improvement project. These make interesting as well as useful activities.

In addition to the group work, each girl plans and carries out some individual project in her own home. Some of the things the girls are now doing; preparation and serving of meals and entertainments; closet improvement, home made dressing tables and stools, recovering furniture, re-finishing walls and floors, making curtains and doing different kinds of needle work.

This work continues only thru the months of June, at the end of which one-half credit on condition her work has been satisfactory. Affiliation was given by the State Dept. last summer for one half credit, and we are applying for the last half this summer, which will make it possible to get a whole credit in summer project now.

They received word Wednesday that Mrs. Winston's father, Mr. Ashley of Rosenberg, Texas was quite seriously ill and they left Wednesday morning for that place. Mr. Ashley is one of the old settlers of Rosenberg, having lived there more than forty years. Before leaving, Mr. Winston came in and paid up for the 30th consecutive year to the Herald.

MISS PAULGER SPEAKS TO THE FEDERATION

We were fortunate in securing Miss Lonie Paulger of Lubbock, who brought us an interesting outline of her evangelistic work among children. She has been for the past winter holding week day Bible classes for the children of Lubbock.

These classes meet twice weekly and are of course, not compulsory but she says a surprisingly large number attend. She has been asked to hold classes this summer in connection with the Park Activity Programs in Lubbock. It seems that our Federated Missionary Society could easily and most profitably support and sponsor a Bible story hour on a similar plan to that used by Miss Paulger. Her work, of course, is interdenominational. We have discussed this matter for a number of months and we wonder if we are not ready to take action.

Miss Paulger asked that we convey her appreciation to the women of the Societies for the cash gift. She asked that we not fail to call her at any time she could be of any service to us.

MARRIED

Mr. Odell Collins and Miss Marguerite Wilson were married Wednesday at Seminole.

Mrs. Collins is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Wilson, of Oklahoma City.

Odell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Collins of the south part of the county.

We offer them congratulations and wish them much success in the future.

Mr. Moorhead is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Moorhead, a student of Texas Technological College and an employee of the Mark Halsey Drug Co., in Lubbock.

The Herald joins in wishing them many years of happiness.

BRAISED MEAT DISHES

One of the popular ways of cooking the economy cuts is by braising. Pot-roasts, Swiss steaks, beef and veal "birds" are examples of this way of cooking. The method is to dredge the meat first in flour if you wish and brown in hot lard. Then it is placed in a dish with a tight cover. A very small amount of liquid is added, and the meat is cooked at a simmering temperature, either on top of the range or in the oven, until it is tender. The length of time depends upon the size and shape of the cut as well as the kind of meat. But remember that this is a slow process of cooking. Keep the temperature low if you would have your meat tender and delicious.

Miss Mary Helen Marchbanks, while visiting her sister, Mrs. Joe Hopper last Sunday week at Slaton, had the thrilling experience of being caught out in the big hail storm that visited that section. Miss Marchbanks that the hail beat all their car glass and top out, and to add insult to injury, lightning struck a tree right near them.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sawyer and Miss Queenelle left Saturday for New York and the World's Fair and other places of interest. They will be gone several weeks.

THANKS HIS CUSTOMERS AND FRIENDS

I take this means of thanking my friends and customers for the splendid business they have extended the Hudgens Grocery Co., over the past several years. I wish to assure each of you that it has been a pleasure to me to have known you, and that our business relations with you have been very pleasant. Myself and family still call Brownfield our home, for our home is still maintained here. We are now taking a vacation and visiting our son in California, and we will decide later on our future course.

Sincerely,
Clarence Hudgens.

BAPTIST CHURCH NEWS

Good attendance in the services last Sunday with four members received into the fellowship of the church.

Superintendent of the Sunday School, brother C. A. White, was not present, but was in Memphis, Texas, at the bedside of his mother, who passed away Sunday. Many expressions of regret were made for the White family.

The question of proceeding with the building program, deferred from last Sunday, came up for settlement and it was harmoniously as well as unanimously agreed to proceed with the perfection of the plans and letting contract for the proposed building as soon as the details were out of the way which should not take more than three or four weeks. Many friends have expressed their interest in this improvement and some have volunteered to make a donation for the successful termination and completion of the building.

This building will greatly accommodate the services of the church and will give the community a building second to nothing in this portion of the plains country outside of Lubbock and many outside the church will be pleased to learn that it will be built this summer and all friends who can feel a willingness in their hearts to render material assistance will be welcomed to do so, as well as to visit the church at any time they desire.

The W.M.U. meet in circles next Monday at 4:00 P. M., in mission study as follows: Lottie Moon, with Mrs. Bandy; Annie

J. L. Langford is entitled to pass to see at RIALTO Fri.-Sat.

Boy Friends

(pass good for one only)

The Law Comes

Long, with Mrs. Auburg; Reagan, with Mrs. A. E. Carey, and Lockett, with Mrs. John Jenkins.

The regular monthly meeting of the Brotherhood would have been Monday evening of next week, but by general consent has been deferred one week on account of the meeting which is in progress at the Methodist church this and next week.

All regular services will be held in the church next Sunday and the pastor will be present after returning from the evangelistic conference on Seminary Hill this week. Perhaps one thousand pastors will engage in this conference and it is hoped they will return to their pulpits with the evangelistic fires burning high and lead their churches in great spiritual revivals in which the unsaved may come to love the Savior.

May all Christian people pray that the meetings now being held by our Methodist people may be of such as the Lord can honor and in which the unsaved may accept the Christ.

METHODIST CHURCH

J. W. Hendrix, Pastor

We are much interested in having a big increase in our Church School for next Sunday, 9:45 a. m., that means a big increase in the influence of our revival.

Then for both hours of worship next Sunday, we urge our people, one and all, to be present. That will be the most important hours in our meeting, the second sabbath of that revival. The services will be led by Rev. Ray Johnson, the evangelist, and his singer, Harry P. Armstrong. Both of these men are leaders of wide fame in their line.

The attendance from service to service is increasing in attendance and influence. Those present give us great courage, but we must here acknowledge there are some absent whom we expected to attend loyally. We see parents who have fine children to whom they are not giving any religious example. And their children attend or do not attend public worship at their pleasure. It rather excites concern about the future of such homes. It is the avowed prayer that these services will reach such situations in a vital religious manner. Leagues will meet at the usual hours Sunday evening.

REVIVAL

There is a revival going on in town which is launched on a big scale! It has made ready plenty of seats out back of the church; it has lighted it in an ideal way; has secured the help of two men of great ability and wide experience. These services are now in progress. This is the schedule of services: Worship, 10:00 a. m.; children's service, 4:30 p. m.; Intermediates and young people together at 7:45 p. m., and evening service in the open air pavillion at 8:15 o'clock. The Methodist church begs to be your host in this revival. You are welcome, one and all.

Mrs. Claude Merritt, of the Tokio section, accompanied by Miss Margie Smith, daughter of P. W. Smith, of that community, were in the Herald office Saturday. Miss Smith, who teaches English in the Sterling City high school, will receive her Master's degree from Columbia University, New York, this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Patterson were Sunday afternoon visitors of relatives in Lubbock.

Tom May, Agent

representatives, his constitutional amendment for a sales tax, and four times having been defeated. Gov. O'Daniel and the sales tax forces aiding in his fight prepared at the weekend for the fifth and final effort.

The Governor played his hold-card last Friday, when he signed the bill liberalizing pension rolls. In his Sunday morning broadcast, he placed the laurel wreath of victory on his own brow, and celebrated a triumph he seemed to regard as already won.

Senators Are Arrogant

The strategy this week was designed to put the last ultimate ounce of pressure upon the determined House minority which has opposed the constitutional sales tax. The House had sent its omnibus tax bill to the Senate where the State affairs committee promptly killed it, after hearing only three of a string of 40 witnesses. Motion to kill was offered by Sen. Will Pace, of Tyler, and only three votes—those of Clint Small, Manly Head and Olan Van Zandt—were cast against it. Those voting to kill included, Collier, Graves of Dallas, Martin, Moore, Nelson, Pace, Roberts, Shivers, Stone of Galveston, Stone of Washington, Wienert and Winfield. Van Zandt, the blind Senator from Grayson county, administered the death blow to the bill, when he refused to sign a minority report, which would have enabled it to go to the floor. Immediately afterward, on Pace's motion the same committee killed the House gross receipts tax bill, which has been pigeonholed in the committee for a month. This cut off all possible methods of raising pension revenue at this session except through a constitutional amendment for a sales tax. The Governor, in his radio talk, referred to it as a "compromise settlement" of the question. Actually, it was the most high handed and arrogant refusal by nine Senators to accept any compromise that has been seen in the Legislature since the Senate blocked a regular session in refusing to consider the race gambling repeal bill.

Will U. S. Quit Paying

Opponents of the sales tax in the House declared, after O'Daniel's blistering radio denunciation of them, that they would stand fast, and refuse again to accept the Senate sales tax plan. If the bloc of 60 House votes does stand pat on the final test this week, it is obvious the session will not pass any tax measure, and an early adjournment is expected.

On the other hand, the situation may not develop into the rosy-hued picture which the Governor described with many a chortle of glee to his Sunday radio audience. Instead of having delivered on his No. 1 promise—pensions for everybody of $30 a month—which he long ago abandoned, but now claims is met by the pension liberalizing bill,—he may find another and different picture.

The new bill adds about 80,000 to the rolls, which now number close to 118,000, pension officials say. Many informed persons in Austin assert that the Federal government will promptly cut off the Federal aid, claiming the liberalized Texas law does not meet Federal requirements of need. If that happens, the pensioners now on the rolls will find themselves immediately confronted with a reduction of 50 percent in the present average pension payment of $13.55 per month. Then, as soon as the additional 80,000 can be added to the rolls there will be a further reduction in the amount paid of approximately 40 percent. So the Texas pensioners may find themselves with an empty victory—with the law on their side but no money to pay off.

Plenty Liberal

Under the liberalized pension law, a couple over 65 might own a 200-acre black land farm, a residence costing $10,000, have a $1,000 life insurance policy each, and a substantial cash balance in the bank. They might further have six grown sons and daughters, single and living in their home, and earning $2400 a year each. But they would still be entitled to a pension, with no questions asked. Such a picture lends credence to the doubts of those who have had experience with the strict interpretation which the Federal Social Security places on the "need" requirement, before doling out the Federal cash.

Filibuster Costs A Million

The costly filibuster in the Senate, which has virtually stymied all important legislation during the dying weeks of the million-dollar record-breaking lengthy session, continued last week, and was due for another chapter. Sen. Weaver Moore of Houston, acting in behalf of the Senate majority who are opposed to the price-fixing "fair trades" act, but politically afraid to vote against it, held the floor for two days with a reading of a history of the Texas Press, and a list of the 900 newspapers published in the State. He was "debating" a bill sponsored by the Texas Press Association to fix a flat rate for legal publications, and require their publication in newspapers instead of posting them on courthouse doors. The fair trades act lies directly under the newspaper bill on the Senate's House bill calendar. Purpose of the filibustering group is to avoid a vote on the fair trades act by refusing to get to it on the calendar.

Long Time, No Pensions

Meanwhile, pending in the Senate unacted upon are the driver's license law, corrections to the highly controversial land vacancy bill, the county road bond indebtedness bill, and a dozen other matters of utmost importance to the State generally.

The final attempt to pass the sales tax amendment was scheduled for early in week in the House, and the issue may possibly be decided finally before this column is in print. If it should pass, the sales tax which has figured in the last three gubernatorial campaigns, will overnight become the hottest political issue in Texas, and participants in the 1940 primary campaigns will begin oiling their artillery on either side at once. If it should be adopted by the people, it will, of course, be many months before the law brings in any pension revenue.

ATTEND SISTER'S FUNERAL

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Lincoln returned late Sunday night from Rockwall, Texas, where they attended the funeral of his sister, Mrs. E. W. (Jack) Terry, who died Friday morning of a heart ailment.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry lived several months of 1935 in Brownfield. Survivors include: her husband and three daughters, one an infant only a few days old; Mrs. C. F. Lincoln and Mrs. W. D. Newell, mother and sister, Floydada; Hudson Lincoln, Sweetwater; W. B. Lincoln, Los Angeles, Calif., and C. L. Lincoln, of Brownfield, brothers.

Many of her friends here will remember her, as she attended the First Christian Church while residing at this place.

New Taxes Not Needed Says Writer

By Lynn Landrum in The Dallas News.

Governor O'Daniel has had for months now a copy of the state-wide tax survey filed last September. That survey shows clearly how to raise all the money we need without a single new tax. It is the dodger of old taxes—not the dodger of proposed taxes—who has starved the general fund and put Texas 19 or 20 million dollars in the red. Deal with the dodger under the laws we already have and the job is done. This is strong language, but get a copy of that report and learn how it can be done.

Escaping Taxation

Henderson county, Texas, shows up in the report with 204,684 acres of land that isn't on the tax rolls, and apparently never has been on the rolls. Collingsworth county shows 153,042 unrendered acres. Meanwhile Collingsworth has 97,228 acres which are over-rendered or taxed twice!

For the state as a whole the result of the survey shows 4,892,355 acres which have never been on the tax rolls, with an additional 18,776,936 acres which are on the tax rolls but pay no taxes because they are listed "owner unknown." That is a total area of 23,669,291 acres, or about the size of the entire state of Indiana, which is subject to taxation. And that has been going on for years and years. Under the law all this land is subject for back demands for taxes for 20 years.

The survey cost the United States nearly $3,000,000 and the State of Texas nearly $500,000. The Comptroller has all that information. The tax officers of each county concerned has a full report of his county. And what has happened? The Comptroller put the whole business in the warehouse at Austin and the tax officers of each county put his copy in the ashcan. And the Governor wants a sales tax because he can't find any place else to get any taxes. The amount now due the State under the present law is $80,000,000.

Now mind you, this is the showing for tax dodging of present taxes on rural property alone. City and personal property are not included! And it is for but 208 out of the 254 counties in the state! It does not take into consideration what equalization of taxation would mean—one county renders automobiles at $6 apiece and another one at an average of $260 apiece, etc.

We don't need a dollar of new taxes. All we need is: (1) Collect all delinquent taxes and turn them into the general fund without division with any other fund as to delinquent taxes. (2) Put tax dodging property on the tax rolls; (3) collect from "unknown" owners who are made known by the report; (4) quit throwing away tax funds by tax remission to counties. (5) make approval of the tax rolls of a county more than a formality."

BELL TO TOLL AUTO DEATHS

The tolling of a bell, carried to all corners of Texas, by radio, will mark each traffic fatality under plans announced by the Department of Public Safety. Col. Homer Garrison, Director of the department, said he was now searching for a huge bell suitable for the purpose, which would be set up on the State capitol grounds. Reports of all deaths would be sent in by patrolmen; and as rapidly as they are received the deaths will be tolled out. Department spokesmen said arrangement had been made for the broadcast which the department hopes will reduce the annual death rate that last year accounted for 1,610 deaths by auto in Texas.

HOLLYWOOD NEWSLETTES

By IRVING PARKER

Hollywood's barbers are wearing dour expressions these days because of filmdom's current demand for furry faces and shaggy manes. A clean shaven actor is something of an oddity due to the run on historical pictures, westerns and stories glorifying hillbilly bandits, such as "Gone With the Wind," "Dodge City," and "The Oklahoma Kid."

Richard Dix fractured his hand twice during the filming of "Man of Conquest."

Jane West, star and author of "The O'Neills," popular radio series, has been turning in scripts despite an attack of pneumonia which hospitalized her.

Did you know that Frank Gill, writer and co-producer of the Joe E. Brown radio program (Thursday-CBS) is married to Verna Hillie of film fame? Frank's partner in mirth is Bill Demling.

The newest thing in radio variety shows to come out of the West is "Let's Go Hollywood," a lively piece featuring stars from the Warner lot, Leon Leonard's orchestra and Owen Crump as master of ceremonies. It attracted attention as a local program before it was released coast-to-coast over the Mutual network.

Report has it that Don Prindle will write comedy for a Tuesday transcontinental airshow and prepare gags for a major picture company. Don has been chief scripter for the Joe Penner program for the past two years.

Do you think John Wayne is the second Gary Cooper? Anyway, Republic studio executives are grooming the former football star for Cooper-like roles as the result of his hit in "Stagecoach."

Maxine Sullivan's recording of "Jeannie With the Light Brown Hair"—arranged by Claude Thornhill—will be on sale in your music store in a few days.

Water Main Extensions Made in City.

A two block extension of a six inch water main in the west part of the city, is being made this week in order to give the people in that portion of the city protection from fires, as well as to make city water available.

The extensions start in at or near the Independent gin, and run directly west down Hill street. A fire plug will be installed at the end of the six inch extension. Four inch piping will also be laid in the new addition recently taken into the corporate limits, and known as the Hamilton addition. This is in the extreme north end of the city.

THINGS HAPPENING FOR RUDOLPH MOORHEAD

Things happened thick and fast for Rudolph Moorhead, popular employee of the Corner Drug, last week. He traded cars for a de luxe model two door Chevrolet; had strep infection in his foot; acquired a new daughter-in-law, sister-in-law, niece and cousin-in-law, and stated he never missed a meal or an hour's work.

J. L. Moorhead and wife of Tuscola, Texas, and their daughter of Longview, Texas, were weekend guests of Dr. J. D. Moorhead and wife of Meadow. They made a short visit here Sunday afternoon to see Rudolph Moorhead and wife. J. L. and Dr. J. D. are brothers.

H. C. Heafner of Wellman, called in to renew and place an ad about his wife's fine pullets, that will be found in the classified department.

Joe Bailey and family were down last Friday from Lubbock, visiting and looking after their place west of town. They are off on a vacation to the Texas coast this week. Joe, formerly with the Herald, is now a linotype operator on the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

While out rabbit hunting one afternoon last week, we found the driest place to be around Gomez and south for a piece. However, those farmers have some right pretty young crops.

Uncle Jack Blankenship and wife have just returned from a trip that took them to the Texas coast, where they had a delightful vacation. They returned via Artesia, N. M., where he visited his sister.

Noah Bell and wife of Needmore called to renew this week. They have taken the Herald ever since it has been published.

What I Learned in the Prison Where Hauptmann Died," will be the subject of the sermon by Rev. Ray Johnson in the Pavilion back of the Methodist church, next Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stein and daughter, Joan, and Mrs. J. B. Taylor of Quanah, visited M. A. Tidwell and family, Sunday. Mary Alice Tidwell returned with them.

Mrs. Reba Boyd of Perryton, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ray Christopher.

Mrs. Joe J. McGowan left Tuesday for Quanah in response to a message saying her mother was not expected to live.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Cain, Doris Cain and Mary Jean Lees were Lubbock visitors Wednesday.

The banks were closed tighter than drum last Saturday all on account of it was the birthday anniversary of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy. His birthday is observed only in the South.

Mrs. W. C. (Pete) Smith, underwent major surgery on Monday of this week at the local hospital. Pete is an old time of Terry county, but now has a sheep ranch northeast of Tatum. He had us place his name on the list so as to keep up with the other old timers.

SOIL CONSERVATION

The Legislature has passed a soil Conservation Bill. It should have done this long ago. One member of the House many years ago started talking about Soil Conservation—and he has kept hammering at the matter every time the Legislature convened. He has been conservative in his views. He has not tried to build around his efforts some manner of political stepping stone. He has had at heart the interests of every farmer in Texas—he was not working along the lines of making the race for some State Office a few years later.

That member is the Hon. Robt. Fuchs of Brenham—one of agriculture's staunchest friends and whose efforts have leaned more to the interests of agriculture than to any other particular phase of state administrative powers.

If Fuchs could have been listened to many years ago, the soils of Texas would have been richer to the tune of hundreds of millions of dollars.

But Fuchs is conservative. He is the type of man who will do to tie to and the people of his district look upon him as an honest tireless faithful servant who is capable of engineering a thing through.

Possibly Fuchs's efforts have had more to do with the passage of the Soil Conservation Bill by the present session of the Legislature than any other one member—but he was an engineer—laying plans and selling the idea.

The reward for Mr. Fuchs will be in the enrichment of the soils for the future generations and their toils will be less and their income greater while he perhaps may be in that land beyond. But he will be conscious of having labored for the posterity of his people, his state and his nation.

Mr. Fuchs was the author of H. B. 13 of the 42nd Legislature—the states first soil conservation and may well be called, "The Father of soil conservation in Texas". Other states have patterned after Texas already.

OUR RAILROADS ARE VERY IMPORTANT

An official railroad watch inspector in a southern city recently ran an advertisement in a local newspaper. He pointed out the vital importance of the railroads to the farmers and manufacturers of this vast nation. And he said: "Almost one-third of the railroad mileage of the world is in the United States. Have you ever stopped to think what a paralyzing effect it would have on our entire nation if the railroads would cease operation for even 48 hours? It would be well if we would 'stop, look and listen,' considering well what the railroads and their employees mean to our community, their insurance of support to good schools, churches and homes."

The direct employment afforded by the railroads and the rail equipment concerns which serve their needs, is a tremendously important factor in the economic life of all America. And the indirect employment they provide is an even greater and more widespread factor.

That is why the railroad problem is every citizen's problem. That is why the welfare of us all depends, to some extent, on the welfare of our greatest single industry. That is why economists, labor leaders, government officials, newspapers and others country faces no more important domestic problem. — Cleburne Daily Times.

C. Sears and family took in the Eastern New Mexico singing convention at Hobbs, Sunday.

Joan Connally is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Joe J. McGowan.

Ross Rentfro of Amarillo, visited his daughter, Mrs. Cecil Smith this week.

Watch For Food Contamination In Summer

AUSTIN, Texas, May 29. — "It is a matter of vital importance, particularly during the warm summer season, that sanitary measures be applied to prevent the contamination of perishable foods," stated Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. Various intestinal disorders result from food which has in some way been rendered unwholesome. Summer diarrhea or "summer complaint," affecting young and old, is a serious type of stomach and bowel condition. So called "ptomaine poisoning," in nearly all cases, is none other than a food infection due to the presence in food of harmful bacteria or germs.

"Perishable food, if contaminated, endangers human health. This hazard is greater in warm weather because germs or their products multiply or develop more rapidly at high temperature. Some of the most valuable foods are of perishable nature. Such foods demand the exercise of safeguards. Among well known precautions, which need to be used if perishable foods are to be kept wholesome, are the following:

1. Some form of modern refrigeration or cooling is necessary to preserve food from day to day. Lack of an effective cooling process causes meat to spoil and milk to contain a dangerously large number of bacteria.

2. Resort to thorough cooking or boiling is the simplest and yet most useful method of preventing illness of food-borne character. This precaution applies especially to food prepared for infants and children.

3. Contamination of perishable food is avoided through the constant exercise of cleanliness on the part of those who handle food.

4. Pastries and other food products make a far greater appeal to the consumer or patron if there is an entire absence of flies. Adequate provision for screens and application of every known means of fly and insect extermination are worthwhile."
