Brownfield Cubs Blast Ralls 33-6

Brownfield's mighty little Cubs were a snarling, fighting host to Ralls' helpless Jackrabbits, and before a large home town crowd they proved that what they did at Crane wasn't just luck. The Cubs first string ran nine plays and scored five times. They gained possession of the ball four times, and little "Dunk" Warren carried the ball on four plays and scored every time.

The game opened with the Cubs receiving, and on the first play from scrimmage, "Loney" Warren loped over for a touchdown behind a wave of furious blockers. The attempt to run the extra point failed. After waiting impatiently for four downs, the locals gained possession of the ball, and Bowers slid off tackle and ran to the six-yard stripe where he tripped and fell. On the next play Warren trotted over behind his blockers for the second score of the game. Bowers converted, and most of the second string took over, the scoring ending for the half.

At the beginning of the third quarter the first string returned and "punched over" two scores before the subs returned again. Warren galloped for his third touchdown of the night the first time the Cubs gained possession of the ball. The play was around left end. Bowers added the extra point. A few plays later, Akers, coming in charging from the left, tackled and blocked a Jackrabbit punt. Bryan, left end picked up the ball and added the fourth counter. Bowers converted, and the second stringers came back into the game.

The Rabbits lone score came in the first of the last quarter on a play over the Cubs' left tackle. They failed to add point.

Five minutes before the game ended, the starters returned and said goodnight with another touchdown jaunt by Warren, and the play before the game ended, Bowers ran to the Ralls' two-yard stripe.

The outstanding player on the field, and he was all over it, was Pete "Little Willie" Brown. Calling a faultless game from his quarterback position, while being in nearly all of the defensive plays. Brown held the ragged forces of the second stringers together more than once, when it looked as if the Jackrabbits were loose for long runs he came from nowhere to make jarring tackles that stopped the Rabbits for losses. Paying tribute to Brown's fourth year of service for the locals, the coach left him in for the

REVIEWS

The mirth-making talents which Genger Rogers exhibited so effectively in such previous hits as "Stage Door" and "Vivacious Lady" are developed to new hilarious heights in the Rialto Theatre's current offering, "Bachelor Mother."

Miss Rogers enacts the role of a department store salesgirl who suddenly becomes a synthetic mother. She finds an abandoned baby, and despite her frantic denials, the whole world believe she is the tot's mother. When she plans to abandon the baby herself, the boss informs her that he will so ostracize her in the business world that she will never have a chance of earning her livelihood—and all because she refuses to fulfill her duty to society raising "her" baby!

Hopelessly Ginger accepts the task. When a romance springs from her boss' constant meetings with her under the guise of assisting her in bringing up the baby Ginger's self-appointed jealous boy friend apprises her boss' father that his son marry Ginger so that he can rightfully assert his role as grandfather to the baby, and the story assumes hilarious, side-splitting proportions!

Matching Ginger's splendid portrayal is that of her co-star David Niven, seen as the boss. With Charles Coburn as the frustrated grandfather, Frank Albertson as Ginger's green-eyed admirer, E. E. Clive as an acidulous butler, Ferike Boros and Ernest Truex in the featured cast, "Bachelor Mother" boasts a superb acting roster.

Garson Kanin, remembered for his brilliant work in "A Man to Remember" and "The Great Man Votes," directed "Bachelor Mother" from the clever screen play by Norman Krasna. A production by B. G. DeSylva, "Bachelor Mother" is an RKO Radio Picture.

Madison Weaver Returns to City

Kyle Graves, of the Kyle Grocery informed us this week that his old and faithful market man, Madison Weaver, was returning to Brownfield today (Friday) to again take charge of his butcher and meat department. Weaver is said to be one of the best meat cutters on the South Plains, and was an employee of this firm, leaving about a year ago for his farm near Lorenzo.

Having "rested" a year, Madison now wishes to live among the bright lights again, and there is some talk of his building a home on his fine lot on east Broadway. Anyway, we welcome Madison and family back to Brownfield.

entire game. This week the Cubs will journey to Levelland for their first conference game against a strong Lobo team. Many of the local fans plan to attend, and the Chamber of Commerce is reported making plans for chartering busses to carry them to the game. Let's all go to Levelland to see the Cubs win their first conference game.

Actual Construction On Levelland Road

The Levelland road is now under actual construction, which, of course, will be a section of the National Parks Highway. Work was started this week where the road branches off from the Lubbock highway in the north part of the city. Work started Tuesday morning.

The section of the road where it enters the Lubbock highway is being widened, and one lane will lead into that road to Lubbock, and another will lead into one coming into town. Already a crossing has been made over the railway.

In the future this is expected to be one of the most used and best highways in this immediate section, and as it originated in the national parks of South Dakota, and goes direct to the international parks of the Big Bend section of Texas, will in time be one of the most important north-south highways in the United States.

Oldsmobile Making Hit Everywhere

Production at the Oldsmobile and Fisher Body plants at Lansing is being stepped up approximately 20 per cent starting Monday, October 2.

C. L. McCuen, general manager, on announcing the increase said, "The enthusiastic reception accorded the new Oldsmobiles by our dealers during the past week when the cars were first presented to them, has resulted in an unprecedented flood of orders. Likewise, wherever the car has been pre-viewed by the public, it has made an instant hit and resulted in a large volume of advance orders that we are anxious to fill as early as possible. We are confident, after the first reactions to our 1940 line, that Oldsmobile is off to one of its best years in its history."

Local Banks Showing Good Statements

A combination statement of the banks her as revealed by their condensed statements are really good, and the people of the area have reason to be proud of their financial institutions. Most all banks now are more or less good, as they have rigid Federal and state inspection at frequent intervals, and the officials of all banks are hedged with restrictions as to lending money that once did not exist.

But even if our local banks were not hedged by laws passed in 1933 and since, to make banking institutions safe for depositors, the two banks here would be safe and sound anyway, as their statements to be published in a week or two will show. Below we give their combined condensed statement.

Lee O. Allen Is Tokio's Utility Man

Two ladies, representing the Herald, and with some time on their hands, drove out to the little city of Tokio, on the western boundary of Terry and the eastern boundary of Yoakum, to take a look at what is going on in that neck of the woods, and they were really thrilled upon their return to town. They are putting things over in west Terry and east Yoakum, and Lee O. Allen, proprietor of the gin and crushing mill seems to take a lead in making things lively out there, in preparing cotton for the compress where that production converges in the two counties. Lee O. built his present gin, a 4-80 Murray Airblast, on the site where his gin was destroyed by fire last year.

Mr. Allen stated that cotton in that section was averaging around a half-bale. He has handled 600 bales and expected 1500 for the season. Mr. Allen did not make a statement about the grade and staple, but any time Terry county produces as much as half a bale to the acre, you can bet your boots the staple is well up to all short staple sections, and as there has been little rain up to the past week end, the staple should be good.

Not only does Lee O. gin the fleecy staple till you can't rest, but he handles cottonseed meal, stock salt, coal, etc., for his customers in that section. Then he has facilities for crushing grain as well as bundle stuff for them right there at the gin plant, for cow feed, chicken feed and what have you. That is the reason we state that Lee O. is the general utility man of Tokio.

He is very proud of his herd of 40 head of hogs, which he keeps on feed, and sells as they become ready for the market. This makes the 12th year that he has been the official gin man for that area, his biggest year of course, being 1937 when he ginned 3400 bales. He is now fattening a beef which he intends to barbecue some time in the future to feed his many friends.

A cafe for the convenience of his customers is conducted by Mrs. Barney Farris, assisted by Miss Melba Lovelace, and these ladies are really giving service with a big "S." The jovial Lee O. Allen would make good with an ice house in Alaska.

See the New 1940 Chevrolet Saturday

It will be here tomorrow! The new 1940 Chevrolet that you have been expecting to see for the past few weeks. It will be on display at the Teague-Bailey Chevrolet Company's show rooms on east Main. Capable salesmen, men who have studied this car long before it arrived in Brownfield, will be on hand to show you the new car, explain its many advantages, the new improvements, which are many, as well as other technical features much better than we can explain them in this article. In fact, it would take much more space than we are covering in this article to do the engine details justice. See it, hear its details explained, and take a ride in it if you like.

The owners of the Teague-Bailey Chevrolet Co., are both householders of our city, connected with all forward movements looking to the best interests of the town and community. J. M. "Buddy" Teague has been here some five years, most of which time he has been connected with the motor car business. He has a wife and daughter. Jack Bailey, also married, has been a citizen here since the town was very small, having come here soon after the entrance of the railroads in this city. An introduction from us would be purely superfluous, for he is quite as well or better known here than we. Suffice to say that he has been connected with Chevrolet sales here many years, the last as partner with Mr. Teague.

Grady Zoin is the bookkeeper and parts man, and the sales force consists of Clyde Bond and Hugh Poor. Both are highly experienced and are valuable additions to the company. The firm is especially proud of their shop foreman, Virgil Boles, who was with the Chevrolet company at Memphis, Texas, for twelve years before coming here, seven of which period he was foreman there. Under him he has the following veteran personnel: Fowler Terrell, Crawford Burrows and Harvey Gage. These are all men of families, and are making our city fine citizens.

Just a bit here about their repair department would not be amiss. When the Carter Chevrolet Co. was purchased two years ago, it was said to be one of the best equipped shops for the repair of automobiles in this section of the country, and since that time many new machines and tools have been added, including one of the latest types of alignment machines, said to be the only one of its kind between Lubbock and Hobbs. These boys have the tools to do the work with; they keep on hand a large supply of genuine parts; they have men who can and will do the work with the OK on the car. Give them a trial.

But the thing we won't stress above everything else in this article is, don't miss seeing the wonderful new car. The boys are not sure of getting a full car until the factory assembly line gets limbered up on full production. But they'll have sufficient cars to show you what it is and begin making deliveries right away.

Roy Parnell New Ad Man for Theatres

Roy Parnell of Quanah, Texas, has accepted the position as advertising man for the Jones Theatres, the Rialto, Rio and Ritz. He came here about a week ago. He stated that he had been connected with the theatre business most of his life.

Conditions on account of drouth the past three years in the Quanah area had made conditions anything but good, heremarked, and aside from the sand blowing, he thought he would like Brownfield. We are under the impression, however, that some sand stirred around in the Quanah-Vernon area.

Misses Beryl Chesney and Elizabeth Upton attended a business and professional women's banquet at the Hilton Hotel in Lubbock Wednesday.

Chamber of Commerce Items

By J. E. Shelton, Secretary

In line with the policy of the Lions, Rotarians and Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring two football games that are to be played by the "Cubs". One at home and the other at Levelland, the latter to be tonight and we hope to have a good attendance on the part of the "fans" who of course, are desirous of seeing them win every game and the best way to assist in this is to be up there rooting for them.

We had a letter this week from Fern Sawyer, who is appearing at the Madison Square Garden Rodeo, in New York. From her letter it would appear that she and the other Texas girls are being royally entertained and said that Amon Carter, who is known to all Texans, had given them a banquet and had presented each one of the girls with a 3x beaver hat and had given them a one hundred dollar bill to be divided equally among them, to be spent for "fun." Paul Whiteman, nationally known orchestra leader is also to entertain with a dinner dance. She spoke of accidentally meeting up with our Jim Neil and said she was never as glad to see any one in her life as she was, as in spite of the fact that she was having a royal time, she got lonesome for the home folks. She is making a good showing and has won several of the events, which of course, was to be expected as she is really an outstanding amateur performer.

The writer was in attendance upon a meeting of the Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers which was held in Dallas during the past week and while there took time out to spend a few hours at the Fair, Farm Chemurgic exhibit and the Agricultural building where the county, FFA and 4H Club exhibits were housed. The manner of showing farm exhibits is vastly different from what it was a few years ago and there is no similarity between them. Of course I saw the community exhibit from Meadow and it was very creditable but up to the time that I left the awards had not been made. I believe that it would be a good idea for more of the communities of Terry county to have exhibits at this Fair and the county certainly should be included in the list. Even old Erath and Hood, where the writer and his wife were raised, had exhibits, but I notice that they did not feature cotton but appear to have adopted dairying, poultry raising together with fruit growing and pecan culture.

Ace Lillard, Death Defiers to be Here

Ace Lillard and his Death Defiers will thrill the people Tuesday night, October 17 at 8:30 p. m. at the new Brownfield football stadium, with an auto stunt show, direct from the Lubbock fair.

Sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and Athletic club. The show consists of 13 acts and there will be an hour and thirty minutes of thrills and spills, and action from start to finish. Just before Ace Lillard starts his show, he breaks a mirror, walks under a ladder, and carries a black cat as a passenger with him.

Ace Lillard has been in the stunting business for nine years and has had practically every bone in his body broken in some of these stunts that you will see: burning wall crashes, head stand on an automobile at 50 miles per hour, and that famous flaming T-bone crash in mid-air, and he comes roaring down the straightaway at 50 miles per hour, jumping four parked cars. This stunt is equivalent to jumping off any two story building in this town. There will be plenty parking space for everyone. Admission Adults 35c and children 20c.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Welborn were business visitors in Fort Worth the first of the week.

Jim Neill Signs With Brooklyn Dodgers

NEW YORK, Oct. 7, 1939. (Special to the Terry County Herald.)—Jim Neill, popular Texas football star, son of George W. Neill of Brownfield, arrived here on September 30 from Chicago. He was signed up by the Brooklyn Dodgers the same day, played with them the following day in Philadelphia, and now scheduled with his team to battle with the Washington Redskins October 8. He is stationed with his team for workouts at Freeport, a suburban town on Lang Island. Between games and workouts he has found time to visit the World's Fair and call on his friends on The New York Times, where he is warmly welcomed by the sports writers. He also dropped in at Madison Square Garden at the rodeo to greet three of the six Texas girl riders whom he knows, including Miss Fern Sawyer of Brownfield. New Yorkers like Jim and he is glad to be back in the big city again.

Fine Rains Visit This Section Sunday

Rain began falling here Saturday night, and continued to fall throughout the night, yet so gently that little cotton, except perhaps some very close to the ground was damaged. The rain gauge here registered one and one-half inches but heavier rains were reported in other sections of the county.

There has been quiet a lot of discussion as to its beneficial qualities other than immediate moisture. Some think it will help late feed if there is some warm weather between now and frost. It will help also to green up and to toughen the pasture grass on verge of blowing away, and perhaps prevent pasture fires.

We know that the rains will greatly benefit those who wish to plant wheat and other winter pastures, or turnips.

The Official Paper of Terry County and the City of Brownfield

The Herald regrets that it was unable to make the opening of the Motor Fuel Corporation stag party at Levelland Wednesday night, as that was just before press day, and then, we are having sessions with our dentist who is trying to relieve us of all that is left of our once good molars and incisors. Even very tender barbecue would have gone pretty tough in such a condition. Anyway, we congratulate the Motor Fuels Corporation, the first refinery on the South Plains, and we hope it grows to be one of the largest.

It is a hard matter to get the GOP as a party to tell just where it stands on the proposed new neutrality law. To support it would make them New Dealers, they think, and to oppose is unpopular, according to votes being taken by Gallup polls. So they are in a hard row, no matter how they act, and more and more people are of the opinion that if there is no peace in Europe in the next eight months or a year, FDR will be drafted by the people to resume management of the government at Washington. Plenty people are already saying that.

Joseph White, Jr., representing district No. 1 from New Boston, Texas, says that a $10 per ton on sulphur would put 25 million in the State treasury, and if matched by Federal funds, would be enough to give all the old people the amount Gov. O'Daniel promised last summer. Most of Texas' natural resources are being exploited by out-of-state people, and why not divide the matter as between sulphur, gas and oil, and give the old people, teachers, blind children, etc., what they need. But the governor seems to be set on making the common people pay the bill by sales tax, and not take it from corporations that are taking millions of dollars profit out of Texas annually. If Gov. O'Daniel really wants to see the old people helped, like he claims, let him call the legislature together, quit his dictatorial methods, and watch results. That is the honest opinion of this humble country editor.

O'DANIEL "OUT OF TOWN" TO PENSION DELEGATES

Representing an old age pension organization said to have 3,800 members, a delegation called Friday on Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel but failed to see him.

The Rev. E. E. Jones, Baptist minister heading the delegation, said they were told the governor was "not in town." From the Mansion reporters learned that the Governor was in town, but that he was busy working on his Sunday broadcast.

Jones said the delegation had been sent to Austin after a mass meeting in Rusk county. They did not want to ask the Governor to call a special session, he said, but they wanted to "talk over the feasibility of calling a session to pass a statutory law."

Jones said he went to a lot of homes in East Texas and there were a lot of people who "do not know where their next meal is coming from."

He said he would report his inability to see the Governor at another mass meeting to be held later at which Rep. R. G. Piner of Greenville is scheduled to speak. The delegation paid its own way to Austin Jones said.

World Beer Consumption Gains As Moderation Movement Grows

WORLD-WIDE consumption of beer and ale, which has been steadily increasing in the wake of temperance education advocating moderation and sobriety, reached a new post-war peak with the production of 196,000,000 barrels in the fiscal year 1938, according to preliminary figures collected by the League of Nations, at Geneva, Switzerland. The world increase of 2,000,000 hectolitres (1,700,000 barrels) over 1937 was due primarily to the estimated increase of 3,000,000 hectolitres in Europe, where temperance promotion and governmental advocacy of beverages of moderation have gained wide headway in recent years. The United Kingdom, Germany, Austria and Japan were among the major countries producing more beer during the fiscal year 1938 than during the previous year. Other nations reporting increases were Bulgaria, Estonia, Greece, Hungary,

Give The Cows A Real Chance

Most of the four-gallon cows are found in the classified "For Sale" columns of the daily and weekly newspapers. There's many a potential four-gallon cow growing up on Southwestern farms but a four gallon cow is only a two-gallon cow when she is given the feed material from which to manufacture only two gallons. We have wonderful sunshine and a balmy climate in the Southwest, as compared with say, New York, Michigan or Wisconsin. But sunshine doesn't fill the milk pail, any more than moonshine does. It takes food and water, plenty of it at the right time, to bring out all the milk-making faculties of the cow, here or in the north.

Once a year on July 1 the Department of Agriculture asks its thousands of volunteer crop reporters — mostly farmers — throughout the country to report the average daily production of their cows. This date in the Southwest is in the heat of mid-summer, and after the flush milk flow of early summer has declined, while in the northern states the season corresponds more nearly to our May. The figures therefore are somewhat weighted in favor of the northern states.

The sad fact remains, however, that (with the sole exception of Mississippi) Texas and Arkansas stand at the foot of the class in daily production per cow, with 10.7 pounds. Even South Carolina bests this by a fraction. Oklahoma heads the class in the Southwest with 14.1 pounds daily per cow, or about six and a-half quarts. The most significant point is that Oklahoma has raised her average about a quart per cow during the past few years, while Texas and Arkansas have raised their average daily production only half a pound, or less than a pint per cow, during the same period.

Maybe we shouldn't expect to stand up by the side of Minnesota, (23.0 pounds) Wisconsin (22.5 pound,) New York (21.4 pounds) or Oregon (20.3 pounds,) but there's something radically wrong when we fall so far below North Dakota (19.7 pound), South Dakota (16.9 pounds) and Kansas (15.7 pounds).

Don't blame it on old Bossy until you give her a chance to "do her stuff." We have some pretty poor cows in the Southwest, but we also have a high percentage with some good Jersey blood, and we have some as good as the best anywhere in the U. S. But we have been much more negligent in feeding than in breeding. The majority of our cows have never had a fair chance to prove themselves, because we have not furnished them enough of the right kind of feed and water for an entire lactation period to test their capacity for production. We have condemned many a cow as a poor producer without giving her the materials with which to produce.

There are a number of dairy cow testing associations in the Southwest, and ought to be a great many more. The average herd under test in Texas produced last year about 26 pounds of butterfat per cow in May and less than 22 pounds in September, October and November, averaging about 23 pounds a month for the year. One association (Central Plains) averaged 33 pounds in May and never fell below 24 pounds in the fall months, averaging 30 pounds for the year. It raised the average annual production 16 pounds in one year, mostly

Texas to Increase Quail Population

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 9.—A state-wide quail restoration project, upon which $24,253 will be expended this year, is the latest move of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission to aid in the restoration of the much-sought after little birds in the Lone Star State, it was announced today by the Executive Secretary of the Game Department.

The project is a cooperative affair with the Game Department providing 75 per cent of the cost by the use of Pittman-Robertson federal funds and the landowners contributing 25 per cent, much of which can be paid for in labor, by better feeding, though a few "culls" were sold after the first year's test proved they did not have the manufacturing capacity, even when supplied with the essential raw materials for milk and butterfat production.

This same association produced butterfat last year at an average feed cost of 13.4 cents per pound. Since home-grown feed constituted most of the feed cost, the feed was really "sold" to the cows on the farm, and hauled to town in cans. It brought two profits—one for the growing and harvesting, and one for the feeding and milking.

It does not pay to keep a five-quart cow; but it is worse to hold a ten to twelve quart cow down to five quarts by refusing to give her the raw materials for her full capacity.

but with the landowner receiving a small rental for the use of his land.

It is hoped to bring more than 100,000 acres under this project this year and twice that amount next year, the Executive Secretary said.

"Tests made in various parts of the State by the Game Department have shown that quail can be increased as much as 400 to 500 per cent," the Executive Secretary said. "This is done by the planting of proper food for the birds, much of it on what would otherwise be waste land, such as along in gullies and on fence rows, and by providing some cover for quail.

"We are selecting key areas in many counties and we hope to be able to set up restoration areas in at least seventy-five counties and possibly 100 before the year is over. These areas will be from 500 to 4,000 acres in size and on each as many fenced shelters will be built as we believe necessary to produce an appreciable increase in quail. These fenced areas will vary in size from one-tenth of an acre to an acre. These will be provided with pole or brush shelters to protect the birds. If food is the limiting factor in any area, an attempt will be made to encourage native plants, but they will be supplemented by domestic crops."

Among the renewals since last issue are; Ed Evans, A. R. Baldwin, J. M. Young, M. G. Phillips, and J. E. Eakin, city and routes; O. V. Hill, Tokio; Paul Gainer, Tatum; and J. M. Story, Plains.

Benny, Lamour, Arnold Star in Gag-Fest

The nation's No. 1 comedian, Jack Benny, accompanied by two grand co-stars in the person of Dorothy Lamour and Edward Arnold, proved again and conclusively that he is entitled to that rating when the new Paramount comedy with music, "Man About Town," which plays at the Saturday Preview and Sunday and Monday at the Rialto Theatre.

Jack, who is always at his best when he is playing his natural self, is provided with a role and a story which allows him to move with fluent ease through a series of farcical situations and sparkling wisecracks. Nicely attuned to the efforts of Jack and his co-stars is the work of a large group of featured players including Binnie Barnes, Phil Harris, Betty Grable, Eddie "Rochester" Anderson, E. E. Clive and Matty Malneck and His Orchestra.

Speaking of "Rochester," he is sensational in the big harem sequence of the picture, giving at that point one of two laugh-provoking dances which he does in the picture. Also doing a tremendous job in the harem sequence are the world-famed Merriell Abbott Dancers who do the most amazing acrobatic dancing ever seen on the screen.

Jack is presented in a role similar to that which he essays on his radio program. He's an impresario about to present a show in London. When Jack's leading lady arrives, accompanied by his orchestra leader, Phil Harris, Jack is chagrined to find she favors the attention of Harris.

After they depart to attend a show, Jack turns to his valet, "Rochester," for advice. "Rochester" suggests that Jack make Dorothy jealous by being seen with other girls. Jack makes several unsuccessful attempts to date girls of his own chorus—which incidentally includes twenty gorgeous Petty Girls—then manages to meet Binnie Barnes, a Lady of English nobility. At this point, the hilarious fun goes into high gear. Woven skillfully into the fabric of gags and amorous nonsense are three new hit songs, "Strange Enchantment" and "That Sentimental Sandwich," and "Fidgety Joe."

Arthur Hornblow, Jr., produced the picture for Paramount with a lavish hand. Mark Sandrich directed. Morrie Ryskind wrote the screenplay.

Mack Thomason reports that he has the best crop in his life on his new quarter section, 3 miles west of the Union gin.

Rev. J. E. Anderson was in this week from Plains, and reported the little city growing nicely. J. S. Dixon is rock veneering his ranch home. He also reports that a Mr. Mayfield is putting a paper in at Denver. He gave us a war story while here.

Mrs. J. T. Conant of Bosque, M., spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. John King and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Miller.

ty, as a young man he had driven a stagecoach. He became a merchant, and a banker. When the boom came, he and his partner, C. M. Caldwell built the waterworks, established the daily newspaper, built modern business structures and drilled dozens of big wells—four coming in within the space of 24 hours.

In an enjoyable session recently with J. D. Sandifer, Jr. chairman of the homecoming, and other prominent Breckenridge citizens, this columnist was laden with authentic stories of the oil field.

There was the fellow who applied to an operator for a job as a driller. Under questioning, the applicant admitted that he had never done any kind of work around a well.

"And yet you want me to turn over to you a drilling oil well and jeopardize an investment of many thousands of dollars," the operator exclaimed. "Why did you ask for a job as driller?"

"Don't the driller get the biggest pay?" the tenderfoot inquired.

And there was the officer who liked to play poker.

"When he entered a gambling place, nobody ever knew for a minute or so whether he was going to make a raid or get in the game", someone related.

That reminded someone else of the district representative of a company who had made his rounds collecting. It was Saturday night and he had several thousand dollars which he could not deposit till Monday morning. Fond of poker, he dropped by his favorite gambling place but the tables were all full. He lay across a bed in the corner and fell asleep.

When he awoke, he learned that a gang of hijackers had come in and robbed the house but didn't disturb him. One of the hijackers had remarked, "There's a poor devil they've cleaned and he's forgotten his troubles; let's be quiet and not wake him up."

Speaking of sleep, an oil company executive called up another official to get a lease man fired. "It's almost noon and he hasn't got up yet," the executive complained.

"That's all right; the longer he sleeps, the less time he'll have to buy us worthless leases," the other official said. (His company had had the misfortune to drill mainly dry holes.) And so the lease man wasn't fired.

All these, and a thousand other incidents, will be revived as the boom-day inhabitants return to Breckenridge for the homecoming. There'll be a parade, golf tournament for the visitors, a hall of memories (where hundreds of old-time photographs will be displayed), domino and checker tournaments, high school band concerts, ex-students' reunion at the high school, a square dance, and a football game between Abilene and Breckenridge high schools, traditional rivals. Thousands of people are expected to attend the celebration and the blare and color and excitement will be worth crossing the State to see.

Congratulation to H. B. Fox of the Madisonville Meteor, winner over 4,600 competitors in a national contest to select the "best country newspaper writer of 1939." A $500 prize and a trip to New York went with the honor. And congratulations also to Harold Severson of the Beeville Bee-Picayune frontier trading-post with silent Indians in bright blankets stalking through the streets and buffalo-killers filling the saloons. Sam Bass, hotly-pressed in the more populous parts of the State after a series of bold train and bank robberies, hid out near Breckenridge. They can still show you the bullet marks on the trees as evidence that the bandits kept in practice while there. And there are men yet living who remember Bass and can tell you tales connected with his stay in Stephens county. He went about openly, told folks who he was, bought supplies with gold and refrained from robbery. It was, no doubt, an idyllic vacation for the outlaw who was shot to death not long afterward at Round Rock.

In 1919, the population of Breckenridge was 700 and there was no railroad, supplies being freighted from Albany and Ranger and the mail being hauled from Eastland, 30 miles south. And then a gusher was drilled, and in a few months, the population had increased to perhaps 30,000 and Breckenridge was the largest town in the United States without a railroad. But not for long, because such a race as America has never seen took place as four lines were built at frantic speed to see which would be first to tap the inland metropolis.

The history of Breckenridge was typified in the career of one man—the late Breck Welker. The

One of the most picturesque stories in Texas is that of Breckenridge, out in West Texas, which—by the way—is planning to hold a homecoming on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 22 and 23, marking the twentieth anniversary of the big oil boom.

ECONOMIC VALUES OF TREES

College Station, Sept. 25.—Economic value of trees and grass as well as the scenic advantages of nature has been used in the government's agricultural conservation program, according to Sadie Hatfield, specialist in landscape gardening for the A. & M. Sollege Extension Service.

An opportunity to provide beauty, comfort, and convenience for the rural home is offered by the conservation program which makes grants of money for the planting of trees, grass and cover crops as soil-conserving agencies, she says. By this means the farm home may secure such landscaping material as forest or post producing trees, grass, stones, and fences.

"Never before have rural people had so much encouragement in making plantings and rearrangements which help in beautifying their homesteads," the specialist says. Some of the practices which entitle ranchmen to payment under the ranch part of the conservation program can also be used to improve the landscape and put beauty around the farm and ranch home, she adds.

The garden and orchard should be near the house and part of the landscape plan. Windbreaks and shade trees, screen plantings, recreational areas, woodlands or woodlots, poultry ranges, livestock pastures and wildlife production units should be arranged to improve the appearance as well as to increase the economic value of the homestead.

Farmers have until December 31 to carry out the soil-building practices under the current AAA program and qualify for soil-building payments. Last year Texas operators failed by approximately $2,913,000 to earn full allowances for these practices. Further information may be obtained from the offices of the county home demonstration and county agricultural agents.

Breeder-Feeders of the nation will be honor guests at a banquet under the auspices of the State Fair on October 10. It will be in recognition of the rapid progress of the industry in Texas and in honor of the bringing to the State Fair of the American Hereford Show, its first time south of Kansas City. The Fair is assured the greatest assemblage of livestock in its history.

ONE-STRAND FENCE

Score of Navarro county farmers are installing one-strand electric fences, which they describe as 100 per cent more efficient than the ordinary wire fence and only one-fifth as expensive. "One mile of properly constructed one-wire electric fence will cost about $20," D. C. Gatlin, Tupelo farmer said.

EXPENSIVE CAT FOOD

A Beaumont woman recently found that killing birds with a 22 rifle for the purpose of feeding her cat was rather expensive. Apprehended by the game warden stationed at Beaumont on a country road, the woman admitted she was shooting birds to provide food for her cat. She also admitted that the $36 in fine and cost she paid would have bought a lot of cat food from the grocer or butcher. She was violating 3 laws at one time, i. e., shooting from a motor car, shooting from a public road, and killing birds protected by state law.

9TH ANNUAL POSSUM DINNER

Four counties—Cherokee, Henderson, Smith and Anderson—will participate in the ninth annual possum dinner to be held at Frankston, (Anderson county), Wednesday before Thanksgiving. A PLACE FOR THE WEEKLY PAPER

"The place of the weekly newspaper is unique and secure. It performs a function that cannot be performed by any other agency. Proof of that is offered every week by every one of the more than six hundred weekly newspapers published in Texas. Each of the papers is important to its community—more important, no doubt, than most of the residents of that community realize... Any publication that is as closely read as the average weekly newspaper deserves the respect of a business man with something to sell."

"The country editors have their work to do in times of war as in times of peace. The manner in which, week after week, they do that work is in itself the highest tribute that can be paid them. These editors are figuring out for themselves their policy regarding war news, and they will do all right."

HAWKS ARE DEATH ON GRASSHOPPER HORDES

Birds are being given considerable credit for the lack of grasshoppers in West Texas this year. Hordes of hoppers destroyed crops last year, but large flocks of Swanson's hawks and horned larks, as well as thousands of burrowing owls moved in on them and destroyed many of the pests, according to word received by the Executive Secretary of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission from his game managers in the affected areas.

Not only did birds destroy vast numbers of grasshoppers, but one game manager observed a flock of Swanson's hawks numbering more than 1,000 feeding on mature hoppers last week and also scratching and digging around in the ground. After the flock flew away he checked the large field closely and was unable to find any egg pods. Thus is shown another good reason why the wild-life of Texas should be protected and why it is worth millions of dollars to landowners and sportsmen, the Executive Secretary pointed out.

TECH WORKING ON GIN HUMIDIFIERS

LUBBOCK, Texas, Oct. 10.—Humidifying equipment has been installed this week in a local cotton gin, as an experiment in controlling static. The Texas Technological college textile engineering department is cooperating with an equipment manufacturer, a maker of compressors, and a West Texas Gin company in the experiment. A second installation will be made at Roaring Springs within the next few days.

"We expect to run the test on two gins throughout the cotton season this fall," M. E. Heard, head professor of textile engineering said, "taking data at frequent intervals. If the experiment fails, we will try again next year, because we believe the problem can be solved."

Textile plants and cotton mills have already recognized air moisteners as necessary equipment, he pointed out, but thus far cotton gins have not attempted their use. The present experiment grew out of discussion of ginners' problems at the Tech-sponsored cotton schools.

"Cotton manipulates best when neither too wet nor too dry," he explained. "The low humidity in this area during fall months make a normal condition for cotton impossible without artificial help."

It is hoped that us of humidifiers will greatly improve working conditions in cotton gins by eliminating fly and dust, and that it will minimize flash fire hazard. Real purpose of the present test is to determine whether better sample cotton can be ginned under these conditions than when the air is excessively dry.

A disturbing report comes from Washington to the effect that, taking advantage of the present situation, an attempt will be made by a certain well-known gentleman to bring up the so-called anti-lynching bill. A Washington radio reporter broadcast this information early in the week, and remarked that it was generally believed that if the bill is brought up there will be no attempt to filibuster against it, but that it will be passed by both houses and signed by the President. Well, all we can say on that subject is that we hope the report is not true, or that if it is true the President himself, if necessary, will take steps to influence the gentleman against introducing such a subject at this time. The anti-lynching bill is not an anti-lynching bill at all. If enacted into law it could not possibly prevent a single lynching. The bill is an insult to the peace officers of the South who have succeeded in practically eliminating the crime of lynching altogether. It is purely a political measure, a sop to the negro vote of certain Northern States, and its enactment at this time could serve no good purpose. We can assure the radio reporter in question that any attempt to take advantage of the present situation by bringing it up will be met with the same kind of opposition that has prevented its enactment in the past. And any harmful effect it may have upon national unity in the present situation will be the responsibility of the bill's sponsors. We would be lacking in common honesty if we did not say this in plain language.—The Texas Weekly.

THE FUTURE OF LABOR

Representative Bryan Bradburn

As we close another Labor Day, we reflect upon the activity of labor forces and contemplate on the future.

During 1933 and 1934 and to some extent in later years, labor made many gains. Favorable legislation was passed, government officials gave a helping hand, and the public had a sympathetic understanding. Hours were shortened, wages raised, working conditions improved, and in some instances, management divided the profits with labor.

During the past two or three years, public opinion has not been so sympathetic, and as a result, legislation relative to labor has slowed up considerably. This has been brought about to a large extent by the division and warring factions of the AFL and CIO. In some instances labor has tried to go too far and make too many demands all too quick. The reaction to all of this has not helped labor. This has not been labor's fault altogether, but it has been a contributing factor. A misunderstanding public and propaganda by management has also contributed.

The cause of labor has not been completely won. Although there are six or seven million members of various unions, at the same time, there are other things they need to do. The average income of one third of our population is $460 per year. This is not enough. Labor has been endeavoring to improve this situation. We hope they will succeed in an orderly manner. Labor should continue its program of getting safe working conditions, proper heat, light, air and modern safety devices. A fair wage scale and reasonable working hours could be materially improved. Management should lend a co-operative hand in bringing this about. Above all, the factions of labor should settle their differences and quit fighting among themselves.

Concho county ranchmen have found that carbon monoxide will kill prairie dogs almost instantly.

Taylor estimates the average age of the veterans is more than 95 years.

IN 1932 (last year before repeal) BEER'S TAXES WERE PRACTICALLY NOTHING!

*Data from Liquor Control Board, includes beer license fees and estimate (not official) of mixed license fees.

BEER helps even those who do not drink it! To the tune of a million dollars a day nationwide, beer tax revenue reaches back into every community, to help pay for relief, for public works, for education... and to lift a burden that would otherwise rest directly on the taxpayers.

To this, add a million new jobs made by beer. And a 100 million dollar farm market.

How can we keep these benefits... for you and

Nobody's Business

By Julian Capers, Jr.

AUSTIN—The difficulty with Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's ambitious plan to raise $2,300,000 for the old folks pensions by public subscription is practical, rather than legal. The Governor announced he has submitted the plan to Attorney General Mann for a ruling on its legality. The Governor has not published the details of his plan, but presumably it entails the borrowing of $2,300,000 to take up pension warrants now held by a syndicate of banks, which the State is pledged by law enacted by the past legislature, to begin retiring at the rate of $200,000 a month in October. The lawyers think there is no way the state's credit could be pledged. A contribution to the fund, then, would literally be a gift.

He Will Find Them Cold

Inasmuch as practically nobody in Texas has $2,300,000 except the special interests which were so friendly to the Governor's plan to finance pensions with a sales tax upon the people at the regular session, to raise money might prove an exceedingly difficult task. It is true that the sum represents only a small fraction of the actual cash savings which the special interests have effected in their tax bill by reason of the Governor's insistence upon a sales tax for pensions, which resulted in defeat of all tax legislation. It is probably true, also, that the gratitude of the special interests toward the Governor who has seen eye to eye with them on a program of no taxation has been so warmly and frequently expressed, that Governor O'Daniel may think they would be willing, for his political sake, to donate $2,300,000.

But $2,300,000 is a lot of folding money. Those who have studied the operations in Austin of the special interests who dislike to pay taxes are unanimously of the opinion that Governor O'Daniel will find them extremely warm when he is carrying the flag for their taxation program—and extremely cold and unappreciative when he starts talking about donating $2,300,000 to the old folks or anybody else. These interests have always exercised a strikingly effective control over their generous impulses, and so far as anyone here can see, they have not weakened noticeably in recent months.

Solons Have Edge

The Governor has continued to resist the rising tide of pressure from the old folks and legislators for a special session, and in this stand he has been warmly sup-

7 Rules For Safety

The outstanding fire prevention authority has issued a set of seven rules which, intelligently observed, would go a long way toward keeping the fire demon under control.

1. Use electricity safely. That means that all electric wiring and equipment should be installed in accordance with the National Electric Code, and that repairing and installation should be done by an expert workman. Amateur electric work is one of fire's best friends.

2. Smoke in safe places only. That goes for your home, your office, the factory in which you work, for the outdoors and everywhere else. Carelessness with matches or smoking materials destroy untold millions of dollars worth of property yearly.

3. Remember that great fires were small fires to start with. Proper building construction, plus good fire protection, would make it possible to prevent almost any fire from seriously spreading.

4. Fire breeds in oily waste—keep all such waste in a closed metal container.

5. Carelessness and ignorance are often the cause of explosive fires. Here is a rule especially applicable to workmen in industry, who should thoroughly understand the possible fire dangers involved in their particular jobs.

6. In many factories and places of business special fire hazards exist, which require unusual precaution and vigilance.

7. Cleanliness is a great aid to fire prevention. Keep your basement, garage, attic and closets clear of litter.

Every one of these rules is simple—all can be easily observed. Observing them may save your home or business—and, infinitely more important, human lives.

While Hitler is about as low as any human could sink, in the estimation of the reasonable minded and those who want right done, we should not blame all Germans for all this beast in human form does or says, for we feel sure that many of his own people are with him only by force. Neither should we blame all labor for what Lewis and Green say and do. There are wheat and tares in all lines of human activities and it is our duty to discriminate between the right and wrong.—Rochester Reporter.

Farmers have until December 31 to complete requirements for earning full soil-building allowances under the 1939 AAA program.

ported by the special interests, chiefly because it would be impossible at a special session to submit a constitutional amendment that would protect the special interests, as contained in the famous SJR-12. If O'Daniel does not convene the Legislature, it appears the old folks are simply out of luck until January, 1941. The members of the House, who passed every tax bill introduced seriously, except SJR-12, have a pretty good political alibi. O'Daniel, who first fostered a transaction tax, and then abandoned it for a sales tax, and insisted upon that and nothing else, is not in nearly such good political shape as the legislators are.

Davis is Appointed
Frank Davis, Itasca grocer, who has sold lots of Gov. O'Daniel's flour during the past few years, is the new member of the Board of Control, succeeding Claude Teer. Davis is 37. He has a reputation as a successful business man and civic worker in his home community, and managed O'Daniel's campaign in his district last year. Davis is the third flour merchant to be appointed to remunerative posts by O'Daniel, the other two being Hary Knox, Adjutant General, and T. B. Hill of Austin, member of the Industrial Accident Board.

Rules Humble Owes Tax.
Comptroller George Sheppard has been advised by Attorney General Gerald Mann that Humble Oil & Refining Co., owes the State $730,130 in delinquent chain store taxes, and instructed to collect it. Suit will be filed by Mann if payment is not made, which it probably will not be. Mann contends Humble's operation of 250 gasoline stations is taxable under the chain store tax law; Humble contends the operation is exempt. Mann spent four months investigating, before ruling Humble owes the tax.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING IS FOREMOST

Despite the appearance of other advertising media, the newspaper remains the most productive channel whereby industry can reach the buying public—and industry is fully aware of that fact.

A recent survey well illustrates the sustained popularity of newspapers among advertisers. The survey was made by four national associations serving chain stores, and covered 138 representative systems operating more than 33,000 stores, coast-to-coast, and having annual sales well in excess of $3,000,000,000.

During the typical year covered by the survey, these companies spent more than $55,000,000 for advertising, an average of $1,754 per store. Almost 58 per cent of the money was spent with newspapers. A little less than 10 per cent was spent on handbills and similar printed matter, much of which was produced in local newspaper plants. Only 4.30 per cent was spent for radio, with the balance made up of expenditures in miscellaneous media.

Breaking the figures down, it was found that drug chains spent 82.24 per cent of their advertising dollar with newspapers, grocery chains spent 56.53 per cent and general merchandise and variety chains spent 51.35 per cent.

That is a testimonial to the character of the American press. No institution holds a higher place in the esteem of the American people. This is particularly true of the newspapers serving the smaller towns of the country, which are read from "cover to cover" by their subscribers—news, locals, advertisements and all.

GOP PAPERS UNIMPRESSED BY PROMISE OF PLATFORM

Republican newspapers generally were pointedly unimpressed by Dr. Glen Frank's latest announcement concerning the arduous labors of the National Republican Platform Committee. Some of the commended Col. Frank Knox's frequent warning that "whenever and whatever" the Committee may offer in the way of a Republican program "probably will never see the light of day." The metropolitan Old Guard press gave the Frank announcement no editorial comment whatever.

The doctor told the Associated Press in Chicago Sept. 2 that "he and his 280 associates would be prepared to report on the state of the nation within six weeks." Continuing, the chairman declared his report "would be an investigation of American problems which the committee began two years ago. At that time," the news association explained, "Dr. Frank described the inquiry as a 'responsible search for the principles and lines of national action which will keep America a going concern.'"

Mid-western papers recalled that this was "either the twelfth or thirteenth definite promise" of a declaration of what the Republican party may be expected to stand for next year. The enormity of the task of recommending a substitute program for the New Deal is said to be "thoroughly appreciated." But asks a Dayton paper, "Will the country be ready next year to buy a pig in a poke?"

FORWARD TO A BETTER WORLD

"The world must be made safe for democracy," exclaimed the crusading Woodrow Wilson as he led the nation into a war that was to end war. The mighty effort failed, probably because the time has not yet arrived in the world when humans will devote their time to the improvement of the status and condition of the people of the globe.

Failure of that hope to materialize may dampen the spirits of some. War in Europe and elsewhere in the world seems a refutation of the idea that "every day in every way, the world grows better and better."

But when we study the pages of history we cannot fail to see that the average human's lot is infinitely better today than it ever was and we cannot fail to renew faith that whatever setbacks occur or what trend interrupts, the human race is steadily marching forward to a better world.

Those persons in this nation who are working and have worked to continue the upward trend of humanity must now put forth additional effort to insure that progress. They can contribute something to the great movement of the race whose ultimate goal is achievement of tranquility of equal rights, justice, and opportunity to every person who inhabits this globe, whether he be white,

Wild Turkeys Fed By Game Wardens

AUSTIN, Sept. 22 (Special).—Feeding of turkeys, attempted by the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission only in times of stress helped overcome the effects of a drought in the Hill country this year. As a result, that section of the state, faced with the possibility of having its seed crop of the big game birds wiped out, should have a sufficient stock of adult birds for the next breeding season.

Figures made available by the executive secretary of the Game Department reveal that a total of fifty-three feeding stations were established and that forty-five of them were used regularly by turkey until June 10 when the feeding program was discontinued due to general rains over the area helping alleviate the situation. It is estimated by the regional game manager of that area that more than 3,000 adult birds used the feeding stations. More than 3,300 pounds of maize and 54 bushels of corn were used in the drive to succor turkeys.

The Game Department does not advocate the artificial feeding of turkeys except upon unusual occasions because it produces heavy concentration of birds at the feeding stations and thus makes them more accessible to predators.

The crop of young turkey is negligible this year due to the effects of the drought.

Fred G. Brunk and his popular cast of 35 stage and vaudeville artists, including Marcella Durham and her 9-piece swing band, will show in Brownfield all next week, beginning Monday.

The opening play Monday night will be a really laughable hit: "Come On, Mary." Featuring Miss Maye Evans, the favorite leading lady of stage play audiences. Also, an old favorite, Bonnie, "Granny" Brunk, Jack Phillis, Don Keller, Walter Letsgo, Gilbert Lamb and Everet Evans as the leading performers in the opening night cast.

The pretty little Durham twins add plenty of spice and glamour to the acting cast, as well as music, singing and dancing specialties throughout the week.

Mr. Brunk urges folks to begin

Mrs. Vernon Brewer Publicity Chairman

PRESBYTERIAN M. S.

The Presbyterian Missionary Society met Monday at 2:30 at the church. There were nine present who discussed and enjoyed the Bible study. We are reviewing the Gospels for the next three months, the second and third Mondays of each month, and would like very much to have anyone who is interested to come and study with us. We do not attend to business on Bible study days so we would be glad to have visitors.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Attendance at the services last Sunday was much reduced due to the rain and muddy road.

The W. M. U. will meet in circles next Monday 2 p. m. for their industrial day when they make garments for the orphanage. The Blanche Rose Walker circle will meet with Mrs. Auburg.

The Brotherhood of the church will give a banquet to all of the men of the church and their wives and sweethearts next Monday evening 8 p. m. and it is the desire to make this an evening of good fellowship and if you are one of this number you have an invitation.

The church is much concerned this week about their building program and must let the contract in a very few days or defer until some time in the future. They are in dire need of more room for the Bible school and need an adequate auditorium and have been working on the matter for near two years now, but have been planning for the future as well as the present as we believe in the futre of this city and are expecting to have a church with twice its present enrollment in ten years and perhaps earlier, but when the architect told us that the building finished and equipped would cost fifty thousand dollars is was a terrible blow to our faith.

We wonder if other church people, service clubs, and forward looking business institutions of this city fully appreciate a completed auditorium fully equipped with a seating capacity of nine hundred people means to the city and community.

Other cities have issued bonds and built such an auditorium at the taxpayer's expense, and this is offered our community under the control of the church who will pay the upkeep themselves and furnish it free for worthy conventions or community meetings when not in actual use by the church. Does the fact that it is church controlled keep men of other faiths and of no church affiliations from giving their hearty endorsement and their liberal subscription? We cannot believe it, when it means so much to the community as a whole.

We expect our own membership to be for it one hundred per cent and to subscribe to the limit of their ability to make it possible and we do not think it unreasonable to expect the fine cooperation of our friends who are not members with us.

If you have not subscribed already, by all means do it today to be paid during the construction of the building.

We would acknowledge our gratitude to the following who have subscribed the amounts shown, none of whose families are members with us.

METHODIST CHURCH

John W. Hendrix, Pastor

Church school at 9:45 each Sunday morning. This strong arm of the church unfolds its greatest opportunities to all, of all ages and sizes. It can't miss you unless you miss it! Judge R. Simms is General Superintendent.

Morning Worship: This brings to the fore a trained choir, one which has had its appointed rehearsals, and a planned program of music. The pastor will be present with a carefully prepared sermon. The subject is, "Jesus Finds a New Specimen."

This is in relation to our observance of Childhood and Youth Week. Jesus pointed out that life began very differently from general acceptance of his day.

Evening Worship: This period comes on at 8 p. m. Last Sunday evening we were busy with this question, "Is This the End?" And again this coming Sunday night we will discuss a like subject to continue along the same line. Perhaps we will discuss this question, "Will Jesus Return to Jerusalem?" It might be best to present an opinion upon this subject. The rage of this promised war makes this subject all the more timely.

Young People: Will meet 7:15 p. m. The leader of the program for Sunday will be Richard Elliot. A program will be prepared and carried out. You are invited to share with them these meetings.

METHODIST W. M. S.

Mrs. Paul F. Lawlis attended a bridge party at the home of Mrs. Alvin Allison in Levelland last Thursday.

CHILDHOOD, YOUTH WEEK

In setting apart this week it was the intention of Congress that it should be observed by all organizations interested in the training of youth, the P.-T. A., the public school, the churches. It is to be that season when every effort is made to reach the parents. The teachers, both in public schools and Church school, are to visit in the homes of the pupils, form acquaintance with the home, and initiate a deeper understanding between parent and teacher, and begin the cultivation of fellowship in the effort of youth training.

This week will be observed next week, beginning Sunday at the Methodist church. It is hereby requested that each teacher make arrangements to visit in the home of their pupils next week. That each home invite the teacher into their home. Perhaps the deepest love, at least, one of the deepest and most sacred relations on earth is that between children and parents. It is not the common belief that this love always takes the best course of manifestation. It is our pleasure to cooperate with any other institution which shall in anywise observe this week. The more the better.

JOHNSON P.-T. A.

The parents and teachers of the Johnson community met September 6 and elected officers for the coming school year. They are as follows:

President, Mrs. L. S. Salsar; Vice-Pres., Mrs. O. L. Reiger; Secretary, Mrs. Riley Jones.

The following teachers, Mrs. Salsar, Mr. Casey, Miss Bearden, and Miss Smith were made program committee. Miss Bearden will act as chairman.

The room mothers, elected by the pupils of each room separately are Mrs. R. S. Bearden, Mrs. Grady Patton, Mrs. Willard DuBase, and Mrs. Foster Winn.

Many fine things from this community were entered in the County Fair, September 22-23. Even though we did not win a place, we felt proud of our booth, which was decorated with the school colors. (Blue and white) by Mrs. Patton, Mrs. Winn, Mrs. Bench, and Miss Pauline Wheatley. One or two of our exhibits were carried to the South Plains Fair at Lubbock.

The second regular meeting nite was October 4. Miss Bearden's room gave the first program of the year.

The first ball game of the season was played between the fat and lean female teams. Due to the excellent marksmanship of the tall, lanky leans, they won the victory by a wide margin.

The laughs that the crowd had were well worth the small admission charges. But the sore muscles and bruises which the ladies are carrying could probably be sold for a small sum!

After the ladies game the men played the boys with the men coming out winners. Foster Winn and Riley Jones proved to be the stars of the game.

There will be a Hallowe'ns Carnival at the school house to raise funds to buy school equipment. Come! Have your fortune told! Play games! Win prizes! Bring your friends and enjoy and evening of F-U-N.

Mrs. L. H. Moncrief and sons recently visited relatives in Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Shoemaker were business visitors in Jal. Hobbs and other points in New Mexico the first of the week.

Rev. Fred A. Walker at Texas Synod

Rev. Fred A. Walker, pastor of the local Presbyterian church, was in early Monday to get in his Sunday announcements, as he was a delegate to the Texas Synod at San Angelo, representing the local church. Rev. Walker was recently host to the Abilene District Synod. The San Angelo session corresponds to the Baptist State Convention.

By the way, Rev. Walker learned us how to pronounce Synod. None of your business what he had been calling it, but the first three letters are pronounced the same as "sin." Well, smarty, what had you been calling it?

IF THE HEALTH DEPARTMENT HAD A MILLION DOLLARS

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 9.—The State could appropriate and spend one million dollars annually on a health program without cost to the State, declares the Texas State Department of Health. This can be demonstrated in connection with our schools alone, without regard to the saving effected in the general economic life of the State.

In the State Department of Health had such a sum for the maintenance of a general health program in all public schools, more than that amount could be shifted back to the general fund by the schools, through savings to their fund effected by the elimination of repeaters and other costs incidental to health conditions.

At least 25 per cent of the pupils in our public schools do not make a grade per year and have to be taught a second year in the same grade. With a total enrollment in the elementary schools of 1,071,000 pupils there are approximately 289,232 repeaters. The cost of instruction for this group is thereby doubled.

It costs $45.00 per year to educate a child. If this sum is multiplied by the repeaters the loss is $13,000,000. Not all this could be chargeable to health conditions, but at least two-thirds, or $9,750,000 could be so charged. By spending one million dollars per year, in promoting an adequate health program, enough of the money now wasted on repeaters in the elementary grades would be saved in three years to retire the present deficit in the general fund.

LET'S GO TO LEVELLAND! FRIDAY OCTOBER 13

The Brownfield Cubs are playing their first Conference game Friday night at Levelland! The members of the Chamber of Commerce are trying to provide busses for the band, pep squad and the Cubs. We want as many to take cars as possibly can. The procession will leave headed by Roy Moreman and a large caravan of cars following.

We sincerely hope a large percent of the student body as well as citizens of Brownfield can attend the game. The teams needs as much support as possible from us. How about going and showing the team that you want to support them. Sure, we want the Cubs to win, but they can't win alone. We all need to back our team and show them our loyalty.

Our team is leaving at 3:30 o'clock, and the cars led by Mr. Moreman will leave at 6 o'clock.

ADVERTISING OUR BEST

By Emogene Fitzgerald

Imagine the strange sights you would see if you took a trip around the world. Things would be very much alike in many places. Certain sights would be more interesting and impressive to you than some others.

Most cities in Japan, Africa and China would have small shops instead of many small buildings or sky-scrapers.

The people in many areas would be leading an unpleasant life. We have many advantages in every respect that they know little or nothing about.

So would we see that our best is not really "things" at all, or even our way of living, but a way of looking at a good life.

Some people object to helping these uneducated people, but I think they would be happier if they would learn how to enjoy living more. Have something to work to and not just barely exist as some of them are. After all the really helpful way is to share knowledge and ideas.

One of the reasons why we have not always been able to help other people as we should, is that we have sometimes forgotten that to share our best with them did not mean changing all their ways to fit ours. In some parts of the world the people live very comfortably according to the seasons which would be a very foolish thing for us to try. When we come to that, things can be different without being better or worse; perhaps we shall change our attitudes.

Some of us resent it when an older person takes things out of our hands with a "Here let me show you how to do it, that is all wrong." Yet another person may show a new way to do something, and we will not feel hard toward that person because he does not look down on us or our way of doing it. If we will have this attitude toward others, we will be able to become of help to them.

Many people often take the wrong attitude toward the different races of the world today. They look down on them because they are not so far advanced as we are. When some people have reached a higher position in life, they look down on others and seem to say, "See how high up in the world I am!"

Our ancestors are the people to whom the credit is due. They are the ones responsible for our advancement. If we are higher than some races, our ancestors are the ones who have pulled us up to this position. We are living in a world, that millions of people long ago, struggled and worked hard to build. We want to do our best to make this a better world to pass on to others not because we made it the very best, but because it was passed on to us, and we want the world to keep growing better.

The day turned out to be fairly successful as there was 61 dollars turned in Tuesday. The juniors expect to have some more turned in by the end of the week as there are a few absences in the class this week.

The senior rings have arrived at the Nelson-Primm Drug Store. Several of the seniors have bought them. By ordering them last year, we not only received them earlier, but received a free gift with them. The boys had choice of a belt buckle or a football pin; the girls had choice of a wristlet, necklace, or a charm bracelet. Several of each have been received with the rings.

We are sure that it would be to the benefit of Mr. Nelson if all the seniors would get their rings from him soon. The seniors appreciate the cooperation Mr. Nelson has given us through the Nelson-Primm Drug Store.

er people as we should, is that we have sometimes forgotten that to share our best with them did not mean changing all their ways to fit ours. In some parts of the world the people live very comfortably according to the seasons which would be a very foolish thing for us to try. When we come to that, things can be different without being better or worse; perhaps we shall change our attitudes.

Some of us resent it when an older person takes things out of our hands with a "Here let me show you how to do it, that is all wrong." Yet another person may show a new way to do something, and we will not feel hard toward that person because he does not look down on us or our way of doing it. If we will have this attitude toward others, we will be able to become of help to them.

Many people often take the wrong attitude toward the different races of the world today. They look down on them because they are not so far advanced as we are. When some people have reached a higher position in life, they look down on others and seem to say, "See how high up in the world I am!"

Our ancestors are the people to whom the credit is due. They are the ones responsible for our advancement. If we are higher than some races, our ancestors are the ones who have pulled us up to this position. We are living in a world, that millions of people long ago, struggled and worked hard to build. We want to do our best to make this a better world to pass on to others not because we made it the very best, but because it was passed on to us, and we want the world to keep growing better.

JUNIORS WORK ON FIRST MONDAY

By Ruth Donathan

Perhaps some may wonder why the juniors were not in school first Monday. The explanation is that the first Monday in October was work day for the juniors. Some may ask, why the work day? That also will be explained. The purpose of the work day was to earn money for the junior and senior banquet, which will be next spring, and Monday happened to be the day set aside for the occasion.

The day turned out to be fairly successful as there was 61 dollars turned in Tuesday. The juniors expect to have some more turned in by the end of the week as there are a few absences in the class this week.

SENIORS RECEIVE RINGS

By Flaura Lee Shults

The senior rings have arrived at the Nelson-Primm Drug Store. Several of the seniors have bought them. By ordering them last year, we not only received them earlier, but received a free gift with them. The boys had choice of a belt buckle or a football pin; the girls had choice of a wristlet, necklace, or a charm bracelet. Several of each have been received with the rings.

We are sure that it would be to the benefit of Mr. Nelson if all the seniors would get their rings from him soon. The seniors appreciate the cooperation Mr. Nelson has given us through the Nelson-Primm Drug Store.

HOMEMAKER'S CLUB

By Barbara Garrett

Who says boys can't entertain? The Future Homemakers met last Thursday afternoon over in West Ward with the Vocational Agriculture boys. After a short business meeting, partners were chosen, and a great watermelon feast was held under the shade trees near West Ward. Interesting games were played until 3:45.

Mr. Neely and the Vocational Agriculture boys are reported to be doing nice work this year.

A few new members were added to our club last Thursday.

The next meeting of the girls club will be held the third Thursday of this month. A business meeting will be held.

DRAMATICS CLUB

The Dramatics club met and chose the characters for a play, which we hope to give sometime in assembly. The play is "Mary Comes Home From College." The following persons were chosen for the parts: Wanda Ruth Turner, Eldora Lewis, Billie Bob Wylder, and Earl Gaudlin.

SENIORS MUST HAVE CREDITS STRAIGHTENED

The senior sponsors, Miss Maize and Mr. McBrayer are urging all seniors to have their credits straightened while there is yet time. If this is not done soon, it will be too late to begin new subjects so as to graduate. However, most everyone has their credits straightened.

Cause the district cup this season they won. (We hope.)

WEST WARD NEWS

The Fourth grades have just finished an Indian unit and are vitally interested in the study of North America in Sociology.

The Fifth grades are interested in the race for America, especially the Spanish explorers.

Mr. and Mrs. Baze visited Mrs. Rentfro and Dale Sunday, October 8. They are both enjoying their work at Monahans.

The third grades have assembled a miniature zoo and museum. They are now working on an airport.

We are still enrolling new pupils, average of 10 to 12 a week.

The second graders decided last week that the safest way to walk to school is through the underpass. They counted cars and learned that over five hundred cars crossed that intersection between 1 and 2 o'clock.

COMPOSITION OF SCHOOL

By Erwin Moore

School is composed of several brick buildings on a large piece of ground. It is for the purpose of making girls quit giggling and think of something worthwhile sometimes, but most especially for the purpose of making us go to class. It is composed chiefly of pupils and teachers.

The teachers are of two varieties, being good and bad. The first kind died before my existence leaving me in a pretty fierce position, which proves we just don't know what we're getting into or what's ahead of us.

The main occupation at school is reciting, but as I have never done it yet, I can't fully explain.

ASSEMBLY NEWS

Juanita Cranford

Friday afternoon, October 6, 1939 the student body and faculty members met in the auditorium and had a pep rally led by the pep squad. Then Coach Nooncaster made a short talk and Claudie Gore did also. Afterward the band, pep squad and student body marched to town. In the order of the band first, pep squad next, then the seniors lined up on one side the juniors the other, then the sophomores behind the seniors and the freshmen behind the sophomores and the sixth grade behind the freshmen. The student body really needs more pep. Next time we parade town we hope to have more pep. We can if we try.

FEAST GIVEN BY FFA

The local chapter of Future Farmers are turning out to be very generous. Through the cooperation of each member who lives on a farm, enough watermelons were gathered up to have a small feast. It was decided among the boys to have the feast on Thursday. As guests for this feast, the chapter invited the Homemaking girls and their sponsor, Miss Murphy. There were about twenty or twenty-five girls present. It was held under the

WE RESERVE RIGHTS TO LIMIT QUANTITIES

Nobody's Business

By Julian Capers, Jr.

AUSTIN—The muddy waters of the pension problem grew murkier at this week end, as the date for the $6 cut in October pensions drew nearer. Gov. O'Daniel made a trip to Dallas to confer with several unnamed advisors, but announced no solution of the problem. In Austin, several legislators dug out the conference report of the special session of 1937, which was estimated to yield $5,000,000 a year for pensions, with small tax levies on sulphur, gas, public utilities companies, and franchise taxes, together with re-allocation of the cigarette tax. The bill failed of passage because the House refused to accept the conference report at the special session during Allred's administration. Now it is urged upon the governor that a three day special session be called, with this bill and nothing else submitted, the session to cost not over $25,000, and with a majority of legislators pledged in advance to approve the bill, provided the sponsors can get such pledges. The governor has given no indication of whether he might embrace this solution.

Mann Rules Against Remission.
A court battle led by Dallas county officials, seeking to override a ruling given this week by Attorney General Gerald Mann, holding the tax remission bill, under which counties would be given 50 per cent of State ad valorem income for a period of five years unconstitutional, was expected to be filed soon. With courage rarely seen in a political office in Texas, Mann held the remission bill, which was part of a general program fostered by large taxpaying interests to wreck the State's general fund and force a sales tax, violated the Constitution. It was backed solidly by county officials throughout the State, who saw it to be divided among the counties of a $10,000,000 pork barities. Many county tax and 1940 budgets were set up with the State gift anticipated. Mann's ruling wrecked these programs, unless the courts overturn it. Most good lawyers think Mann ruled according to law, and the courts will sustain him.

Politically, the ruling was probably the most unpopular made in years by an Attorney General, and it antagonized one of the most powerful political groups in Texas. But political considerations seem not to affect the ruling of Mann.

Beauchamp Slated for Bench
The resignation of Presiding Judge W. C. Morrow of the Court of Criminal Appeals this week gave Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel another major appointment. Best informed observers here believed the place would go to Tom Beauchamp, of Tyler, now Secretary of State. Judge Morrow's term would have expired next year, and the appointee will have to run for re-election in the July primaries. An appointed incumbent generally has the edge on "outside" candidates in such an election. Lloyd Davidson, state's prosecutor before the court, and Senator Clay Cotton of Palestine, have indicated they would run.

Misses Irma Smith and Virginia Dysert, Tech students, spent the week end here.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Graham and his mother were guests at the U. D. Sawyer ranch near Cross Plains, N. M., Wednesday.
