My Opinion of the Last and of This War

By Homer Winston

I have been asked by Mrs. Andy Jack Stricklin to write a few words about the last war and also the present war. So far as the last war is concerned I will say that Sherman really failed to describe war at it is worse than he said it was. In the present war I think that Hitler will lose for the simple reason that he is great politician but not a great general who knows the fundamentals about war. He has had two of his best Generals so far as brains are concerned, murdered or done away with, and it takes brains as well as other things to win a war. I lived in Germany seven months and liked the German people better than I did the French or the British, but I don't like the military regime they have over there. I would guess that 90 per cent of the German people don't want war but they have no say in the matter where a dictator is at the head of the government. This being the case, a dictator has to keep the people at a high pitch of mind in order to stay in power. I think they will fall from within, because if Hitler kills off a few more brains, he is likely to go crazy by taking all the responsibility on himself, and will die at the hands of his own people. He has a job now taking care of the Poles and Czechs which is not so easy.

So far as the United States is concerned, I don't think we will get into this war, although there will be lots of propaganda to fight. I think that the U. S. is the poorest prepared nation among the great nations of the world for war. I think we should build 1,000 submarines, because you can take a cheap submarine and sink a forty million dollar battleship, and if we had 1,000 submarines and 3,000 airplanes, all the nations of Europe could not come over here and whip us. I think that if the U. S. ever falls it will be from friction from within instead of some other nation doing it directly. I think that the Dies Committee is doing a great work and I hope they do more. I think we should line up all the Reds and Huns and shoot them just as fast as they are proven guilty. Fight fire with fire and quit being so good and sentimental because if we don't the first thing we know they will overthrow the government and everything go bankrupt, and we will all be fighting or maybe working for ten cents per day.

I have been in Old Mexico, Canada, England, France, Belgium, Luxemburg, Germany, and with the exception of Canada, in comparison with the United States, to my way of thinking we are about three to four hundred years ahead of them so far as civilization is concerned, as they practically have no automobiles except those owned by the government, and the price of gasoline is from 40 to 85 cents per gallon. Not many radios, telephones, beauty shops, barber shops or bath tubs and other conveniences. We really don't appreciate what we have.

I think that Germany and Japan might fall in and go Communist with Russia, if Japan does not fall I think that Japan and Russia will divide China the same as Germany and Russia divided Poland, and the United States will be kicked out of the Far East. China was a great, peace loving people, and look what they got, from little old Japan, which has only about 80 million in round numbers against China's five hundred million, and if we don't quit talking peace so much and acting like a bunch of dirty cow-

Member Exemption Board Gives Views

By Judge Geo. W. Neil

In 1917, soon after Uncle Sam threw his helmet into Europe's military ring, later known as the World's War, Congress passed America's first Draft Act. This Act called all men between certain ages to register, with names, ages, occupations, etc., and then certain exceptions or exemptions from military duty were allowed, for instance men engaged in certain lines, useful to a nation at war, or having dependents and single men were taken first over married ones. A board of three men was set up, in each county to pass on all of such and to make registrations, exemptions, enlist and entrain them to Army camps. This was known as the Local Exemption Board, and I was Chairman of the one in Terry county. We served without pay, except the last three months, when the work of winding it all up became so arduous. The first year took but little time. When a new army was to be assembled, the call was sent to all counties, and we were allotted so many, maybe a dozen, sometimes more, we having their names and addresses, classifications, etc., 'called' them in, issued proper papers, railroad tickets and meal tickets sufficient to get them to camp; these tickets were accepted by cafes as cash, later redeemed by the Government. The railroad had just built into the county, but was not carrying passengers then, hence we entrained them at Lubbock. The boys were transported there by our loyal citizens, in cars, and by their own folks. When the train rolled in and they got on, there were farewells, kisses and weeping, more like a funeral, and indeed it was farewell to many of them. No, it wasn't like a football game.

One of the saddest trips of all to me, yet one typical of many others, was carrying a large group to the train at Lubbock. Wm. Guy Howard, by chance, rode in the seat with me, a good old country boy—I never saw him again. Some year or so afterwards, he with several others, were returned and stationed in the little white city across the draw. Which shows that Uncle Sam has a heart and soul as well as strong arms. Perhaps I'm too sentimental, but I can and do join with bereaved parents in the loss of a son, for to me, in a way, all of them were my boys. Indeed, ours was no pleasant task.

I must not let this opportunity pass, as we have never let one pass heretofore, to state, not in flattery but truthfully, that all of the boys, especially the local ones, responded to every call, made no ards we are liable to wind up like China, with no religion, no Democracy, no homes, wives and children, with nothing left to do but fight or be a slave. I had rather be a dead hero than a live slave. I have been real close to death a few times in my life and I prefer it to slavery. Our Pilgrim fathers landed at Plymouth with a gun in one hand and ammunition in the other and their wives carrying the Bible and this country has used the Bible as the corner stone in laying the foundation for this government. Everything we have, we have gotten by fighting for it one way or another so let's be prepared to fight in a world of turmoil as we now have.

I love peace as much as any man, as long as we can have it on decent terms and conditions, but I think that any able bodied man that is not willing to fight for the United States, should leave by his own volition or be deported at once. This is a land of opportunity, for the true and brave, and nobody else has any business in it. If we should have war I want it to be without profits to any one as blood is just as precious to me as money, and I want the grafters shot the same way as the Reds and Huns.

Yours for a better and happier United States, where women are thought more of than a cow or beast of the field.

LOCAL MASONS PUT ON WORK AT LAMESA

Joe Patterson, Burton Hackney and Jim Graves went to Lamesa, Tuesday night, to a meeting of the Royal Arch Chapter. They conferred a degree on three candidates. Patterson acted as High Priest, Hackney as Captain of the Host, Jim Graves as Royal Arch captain. Jesse D. Cox went as official Grand visitor.

trouble, and all went willingly, and many eagerly and patriotically.

We as a Board, had less trouble and complaint than any Board we have heard of since. We tried to be fair, tolerant and followed the rules of the draft, but the main reason was the willingness and sense of duty, of our boys, and of course all of us are proud of the job they did.

The "going over" was not the only sacrifice they made, many of them left lucrative employment, and suffered loss of a good business, some a small fortune. We got benefit in the draft of the railroad building crew which had many negroes and Mexicans among them, and a few transients, only one of these tried to evade, and he was picked up in Colorado, and duly entrained. In the summer of 1918, the second draft was made, including all of ages, over the first draft and up to and including the age of 45, which got me, but thanks to valor of the first bunch, they made it unnecessary for us to have to go, perhaps that's one reason why I think so much of them.

In Memoriam, Tribute By Mrs. Clarence Lewis

One day of each year we emphasize the gratitude that we feel every day of the 365 days. That day is November 11, Armistice Day, the day set aside, not to remember war and its horrors but to remember peace. We cannot speak too highly of them, and were we gifted with the greatest vocabulary in existence, we could not clothe in words our feeling—our gratitude.

None know better than we who lived during the last war the courage of our boys who fought for this great and glorious country of ours; the courage of our boys who fought for this great and glorious country of ours; the courage of our mothers, dads, and sweethearts, who gave of their loved ones to the death. It is to these, that we dedicate our thought, our feelings, our determination to continue the peaceful era for which they fought.

We still have with us four Gold Star mothers to pay tribute to: Mrs. Lucinda Howard, Mrs. Perla Cardwell, Mrs. J. O. Brown and Mrs. Racheal Tipton.

Mrs. Mary E. Lewis, 87, while not a Gold Star mother is one of the oldest mothers in the State to belong to the Auxiliary. Always keeps her dues paid up in advance. Her husband served in the Civil war, a son, the late Jim Lewis in the Spanish American and two sons, Clyde and Clarence in the World War.

Recently Mrs. Lewis was given recognition in the National Association American Legion magazine as an outstanding mother.

Balcony Completed at Palace Drug Store

Carpenters have completed a large 18x30 balcony at the Palace Drug Store, that will add greatly to the capacity of the downstairs as well as adding to the beauty and utility of the place in general. The addition of 540 additional square feet of floor space comes in mighty handy.

Such articles as proprietary medicines, medicated cotton, bandages, gauze, etc., school supplies and stationery and many other articles in their original cartons can be stored up there, and as they are needed a new box or carton can be opened and brought downstairs for shelving.

The Palace is very proud of this place, and have it well nigh filled with merchandise already.

History of American Legion Auxiliary

At the time the Charter of the American Legion Auxiliary was reinstated, March 18, 1930, it seemed that the women of this organization took on new life. The purpose of this organization has always been to assist in every way to fully carry out the program of the American Legion, which takes in so many important matters concerning American life to make it better for their families and all concerned. However, the first purpose is to help all ex-veterans and their families, then reach out to the sun. Civic affairs such as better roads, playgrounds, beautifying parks, sponsoring Campfire girls and Girl Scouts and aiding the Boy Scout work and other program for the betterment of the community is their aim. Then the question of relief and peace, keeping America for Americans, has been a work the Legion and Auxiliary have worked faithfully to put over. At this time Mrs. J. D. Miller was elected president. Through her knowledge of overseas duty and understanding, the conditions far away from our own borders, gave the Auxiliary something to go on. Child welfare was started and many hungry children were clothed and fed. Americanism programs were carried out through the schools and prizes were given for worthwhile educational essays. Poppies were bought from different soldiers and Christmas boxes sent to make them happy.

November 17, 1931, Mrs. Sam Pycatt was elected president. She worked faithfully and untrudgingly and the Charity or Relief program in Terry county rested on the shoulders of the Legion and Auxiliary for two or three years. The bonus for the soldiers was stressed. Memorial Day and Gold Star Mother's Day were recognized by the Auxiliary. We have as Gold Star mothers today, Mrs. C. S. Cardwell, Mrs. J. O. Brown, Mrs. L. Howard and Mrs. Tipton.

April 16, 1934, Mrs. Homer Winston was elected president.

October 9, 1935, Mrs. Jack Stricklin, Sr., was elected president.

October 18, 1937, Mrs. Hayden Griffin was elected president.

November 26, 1939, Mrs. Mon Telford was elected president.

All of the ladies have given their time and talents to this worthy organization. Supt. Erwin of the Lubbock schools urges all who are eligible, to join this organization at once and through a united effort we can keep peace for America. Our aim is to double our quota for this year so we will get a national award, and we're pressing forward to the purpose, so come and be one of us.

Trying For a Road to Cedar Lake Area

Judge R. A. Simms and Commissioner Tom Warren made a trip Tuesday to the Ashmore section of Gaines county. These county officials are looking out a road to the new town being built at the Cedar Lake oil fields.

Judge Simms stated that they had a fair route selected, but the last three miles of it would be in Gaines county, and he did not know how the officials of that county would respond to making connection.

Mrs. Miler Our Only Ex-Service Lady

In honoring our soldier boys this week there is one ex-service lady in Terry county we want to pay tribute to—Mrs. Jim Miller.

Mrs. Miller enlisted in YWCA early in the war and was stationed at Camp Sevier, S. Carolina and Quantico at Lee, Va., where she served one and one-half years, then went across to Constantinople, Turkey, where she served 14 months, then was sent to Czechoslovakia where she was stationed 14 months and was at other points in Europe at intervals, but altogether over some two and one-half years. She served in the various units of the YWCA.

As Miss Vernon, she met Jim Miller in Constantinople, Turkey and after the war they were married, coming to Brownfield as a bride in 1922.

Mrs. Miller has meant much to the city of Brownfield and is always one of the foremost ladies to help put over any project for the town, schools, band or church. Always an untiring worker. She is at present president of the Band Mother's club and is putting the work over in a big way.

Mrs. Miller has served as president of the local Legion Auxiliary and the most progressive years of the Auxiliary were under her term in office, and is the best versed in parliamentary laws of the Auxiliary of any one in the Unit. Wherever in this country there is an ex-service man or his family in distress or need you will find Mrs. Miller the first to render aid. The families she has helped to get soldier's compensation will all ways hold her in highest esteem for the true Christian woman she is.

Being an ex-service woman, she understands all the requirements for an ex-service man of his family to get compensation and is a great help in that line of rehabilitation.

Mrs. Miller is the mother of two lovely children, Larry and Elinor. Larry is 15, in high school, and plays a cornet in the high school band. Elinor is 9 and attends Ward school.

Last but not least is her husband, Jim, the smiling manager of Miller's Magnolia Station. A past Commander of the Post and at present Finance Officer, also the only four star member of the Legion Post, having been a member for twenty consecutive years.

Here From Brazil Visiting Brother

J. T. Banks, of Para, Brazil is here visiting his brother, Wes Banks, of the Gomez community. Mr. Banks is a salesman for gin and cotton oil machinery in the South American Republic. He and his wife have been here about 4 years, and he states that since Germany entered the war, American business is picking up below the equator. Mrs. Banks came home last summer, as her people mostly, all live in Alabama, and Mr. Banks' people all live in West Texas. He taught in the Brownfield schools in 1922.

It is very interesting to hear Mr. Banks tell about that country with its almost reverse change from our climate. However, he says that northern Brazil is within 8 degrees of the equator and the climate is almost the same the year around, but southern Brazil has a climate similar to ours. Of course it is hot Christmas, but

Lions to Sponsor Cubs-Slaton Game

Supt. Emmett Smith, of the Brownfield school system phoned us this week that every effort was made by the Chamber of Commerce as well as himself and other individuals to get the Cub-Slaton game changed from Saturday afternoon to Friday night, with no success. The Slaton people held out for Saturday, despite the suggestion that on account of it being Saturday, the gate receipts from Brownfield people would be at least $250.00 less than on Friday night.

These games seem to be set by the Interscholastic League some two years in advance, and unless both parties to the game agree to a change, there is no soup. Slaton plainly warned that the game would be called Saturday afternoon, whether the Cubs were there are not. So note it be. The Tigers will be met—and defeated—we hope. The Cubs had rather stiff workouts the first of the week with a slack up the rest of the time before the game, and are in fine fettle. However, they are going up against a real team this time.

The local Lions club is sponsoring this game, and are doing everything in their power to get as many people to attend the game, despite the fact that it is Saturday and Armistice Day as well. Tickets are now on sale at all the drug stores in Brownfield, and if bought here will cost 50c each, but if you wait to buy at the gate at Slaton, you will pay 75c for them.

Mr. Smith informed us that those going in the motorcade would meet at or before 12:15 p. m., at or near the school house. The game will be called at 2:30 p. m.

Mrs. S. B. Janes of southeast Terry called this week. Her late husband, who passed away in 1928 was chief engineer in the construction of this branch of the Santa Fe, and they lived here for quite a while at that time. At that time he purchased a farm 12 miles southeast of Brownfield. Mrs. Janes stated that few people here now recognize her when they see her, or she recognizes them.

they have carnivals, etc., instead of Santa Claus. Portuguese is the language mostly spoken.

Asked about the kind of cars used, he said that Germany had been flooding the country with cheap cars on the barter basis, but they would not stand the rough roads of the rural section, and the favorite cars were Fords and Chevrolets. Both have assembling plants in Brazil and the Brazilians like the power and pickup as well as the rugged construction and lasting ability of these cars.

He says that a city of 300,000 down there doesn't have a business district much larger than Lubbock. A town of 50,000 would have a business district about like Brownfield, and banks are not used a great deal.

Speaking of honesty, he says no one is afraid to pass through dark alleys at night, or that their cars will be stolen. In the first place, the people are honest and molest no one less, even after midnight in the night clubs and cabarets. The system of car registry is so strict, that it is well nigh impossible for one to be stolen, unless it is carried to a shop and dismantled and the parts sold. He often carries around $1,000 on his trips over that huge country, to pay rail fares and hotel expenses, if he is to be away for some time.

Like European nations, the natives graft the tourists, which are easily spotted. He was asked two prices for an article at Rio once while down there, but told the store keeper in Portuguese that he could buy a similar article in his town (Para) for half that amount. The shopkeeper looked over the store to see if anyone was listening, and told him to pay half price, but not tell the tourists.

Mr. Banks will leave for home again in December. He came by plane, and will likely return the same way.

LARGE BODY OF LATIN-AMERICAN STUDENTS AT U. T.

AUSTIN, October 30.—An already large nucleus of students from Pan-American countries is enrolled this fall at the University of Texas, an advance guard of registrants anticipated for the schools proposed Latin-American Institute, to open this fall.

Among the 83 foreign students enrolled this year are 50 from Mexico, ten from the canal zone, four from Puerto Rico, two each from Brazil and Cuba, and one each from Colombia, Paraguay and the Santo Domingo Republic.

Latin-American students this week were stimulated by the visit on the campus of a group of famous Latin-American women touring the United States on commission of the People's Mandate to End War, a Washington, D. C., committee.

The delegation lauded the University for its emphasis on Latin-American affairs, and praised the extensive Latin-American collection in the University library.

Already taught in the University are almost two-score courses in language, literature, anthropology, government, history and education of Latin-American countries and peoples.

Mrs. Joe Young, operator at the Hollywood Beauty Shop is confined to her home because of illness this week.

SOUTHERN METHODIST CHURCH DISSOLVED

A rather strange thing is going to happen next Sunday at the Methodist church! According to agreement of unification about next Friday, Nov. 17, in the annual Conference which convenes in Lubbock, Nov. 15, the Southern Methodist church will have its last session. Will dissolve and straightway become the Methodist church.

METHODIST W. M. S.

Mrs. H. Longbrake entertained the Methodist Missionary society with a covered dish luncheon, on Tuesday. The following program was given: Devotional, Mrs. Linville, leader; Mrs. Judson Cook, a talk on Resources of Younger Churches; Mrs. E. J. Loyd gave a paper on the Distant Triumph Song. This completed the study of the tragedy through triumph which the group has studied by council plan.

METHODIST CHURCH J. W. Hendrix, Pastor.

Church school at 9:45 a. m. If you are about town, down on the square on Sunday morning, any man among you, drop over to the Wines Hotel at 10 a. m. to the Men's Bible Class.

Morning Worship, 11 a. m. And it starts exactly at that time. It assembles an interesting crowd. The choir furnishes select music and the pastor will deliver a sermon, using as theme, "The Gospel in a Nutshell." This will be the last Sunday before the annual Conference.

Evening Worship comes on at 7:30. This is one of the most interesting services of the day. The pastor does his best to make the service worthwhile, and endeavors to deliver a clear-cut, practical sermon, not so long, but to the point. The subject will be, "World Peace; Did Christ Expect It?" Now what do you suppose Jesus expected? Did Jesus offer directions for permanent peace upon the earth? If so, what were these instructions? This is an appropriate time to discuss such a subject—the closest Sunday to Armistice Day.

Young People will meet in their service at 6:45 p. m. and will run till the period for evening worship. If you are young, if not a member of some other organization, you are welcome.

BAPTIST CHURCH

The attendance Sunday in the Bible study was more than 300 but the supt., Brother Tipton desires a much better attendance which is possible, as we have but a few more than 50 per cent of the enrollment each Sunday.

The church voted unanimously to make contract with Ross Construction Co. for the erection of the new building with a condition that when funds are not available the work may be stopped short of completion. It is the earnest hope of all that there be no necessity for such action, however considering the cash and pledges and the loan contemplated, leaves us about eight thousand dollars short of completion. Work is expected to begin in a few days and an arrangement has been made with the contractors to use as much local labor as possible, many having expressed a desire to donate at least a portion of their work to the enterprise.

A teachers and officers meeting was held at the home of Mrs. W. W. Price on Thursday night to discuss the work of the Sunday School and refreshments were served by Mrs. Price and Mrs. J. S. Tipton.

The W. H. U. will meet in circles next Monday, 3 p. m. The Blanche Rose Walker circle will meet with Mother Green and the Lockett circle with Mrs. McBurnett.

Now that the construction of the building is to begin the loyal cooperation of every member of the church will be required to press it to completion. It is not being built by the rich, as we do not have them in our membership but the success of the work will depend upon what we of small paying ability may do about it. Visitors are always welcome here.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cox announce the arrival of a baby girl, Monday, November 6. Mr. Cox is employed at the Edwards grocery.

NORTH SIDE BAPTIST CHURCH

Many were the expressions of blessings received at all services of the North Side Baptist church last Sunday, and the anticipated increase in Sunday School attendance was happily realized.

We are looking for a still larger registration next Sunday, and extend an invitation to all who are not now in a Sunday School to come and enjoy the teaching from the Bible only.

Evangelist Jno. R. Denning will be with us again next Sunday, and at the night service will bring another prophetic message from the Book of Daniel, using as his topic: "Is the Roman Empire Being Revived?" and "Shall France and England Fail to Halt Hitler?" These messages have proven most interesting indeed to every listener and a blessing is promised to all who will come.

There is one amusement in Brownfield which we never visited until this week—the Venetian Auditorium skating rink. This clean amusement is open to the public and is run by the owner, Mr. Roy Wicker.

PLAYING SAFE

The barber was dark and swarthy, and his eyes were black and sparkling. It was evident that he was descended from Latin stock.

"What do you think of the Italian situation?" he inquired of the customer. "What is your opinion of Mussolini?"

"The same as yours," replied the man in the chair.

"But how do you know my opinion?" inquired the startled barber.

"I don't," admitted the man, "but you have the razor."

"Billy, do you know what happens to little boys who tell lies?"

"Sure, they ride for half-fare."

Red Cross Drive

Terry and Yoakum counties are under the same jurisdiction for Red Cross purposes and this is to notify the people that the drive will start November 15. Last year there was no drive for members, due to the fault of no one as far as we know. In the list of western counties, we were at the bottom last year, and now let's change that from the least to the greatest. We have a fair crop when our neighbors do not. Let's do our part!

It is the purpose of the organization to offer every person in both Terry and Yoakum counties an opportunity to join this national organization. We are dividing the territory in such a way that no volunteer worker will be imposed upon, but at the same time all who wish will have something to do.

C. L. (Abe) Lincoln has been appointed Roll Call chairman. He will have direct supervision of the drive in the business district of Brownfield. He has appointed Mrs. Ruth Moore to be in charge of the residential district, who will divide that between several of our ladies. These ladies will call at each home and offer an opportunity to become members. One-half of your money will remain in Brownfield, while the other half will go to the national headquarters.

The following chairmen have been appointed: Plains, Mrs. W. M. McInturff; Denver City, Mr. Ellison; Bennett, Mrs. F. R. Bennett; Gomez, Mrs. Kenneth Furr; Tokio, Joe Shelton; Meadow, Fred Henson; Wellman, Mrs. Ruth Pace; Harmony, C. A. Wilhite; Foster, L. D. Spradling; Lahey, Kenneth Purtell; Union, G. R. Day; Challis, Art Buckner; Pleasant Valley, Jess F. Blair; Harris, Otis Spears; Johnson, L. S. Salsar; Scudday, Mrs. Beulah Herring; Pool, Mr. H. C. Zorns.

Brownfield Business Districts: C. L. Lincoln, Chairman. Co-workers: C. L. Aven, Rex Headstream, John Bost, Homer Nelson, Gladys Green, Joe Patterson, Roy Collier, Mon Telford, Fred Smith, Jas. Harley Dallas, C. E. Ross, Roy Herod.

Residential Districts; Mrs. Ruth Moore, Chairman. Volunteer Co-workers: Miss Ethel Hunter, Mrs. C. F. Hamilton, Mrs. M. J. Tarpley, Mrs. R. L. Harris, Miss Olga Fitzgerald, Mrs. G. L. Daugherty, Mrs. Grady Goodpasture, Mrs. Dave Finney, Mrs. C. E. Ross, Mrs. Money Price, Mrs. Dave Perry, Mrs. Boyd Moore, Mrs. J. M. Teague, Mrs. H. F. Heath, Mrs. J. W. Hendrix.

There will be a meeting of these volunteer workers in the commissioners court room of the courthouse at Brownfield, Texas, Tuesday afternoon at 5:00, November 14.

“FRIENDS”

By Ruby Faye Parks

You know, those that you call friends are mighty scarce, that is, real ones. A person that will stick by your side no matter what happens, and is always ready to do you a good deed and expect nothing in return, is what I call a real friend.

Now those people who just pretend to be friends can be found at any time or at any place. They remind me of little kids; you know you have seen a little kid with a sack of candy, and just as long as the candy lasts, he has those "supposed-to-be friends" on every side and corner. But you just stick around until the candy is all gone, and so are the children gone that helped eat the candy. And standing there is the little boy with neither candy nor friends left. It made him feel lonesome and heartbroken because his playmates treated them as they did. But he learned that not many of these children were his friends, and that they weren't worth feel heartbroken over.

Now things on this same order happen as people are growing up, and after they are grown. Won't you agree with me and say, that a real friend is mighty hard to find in these days?

“MEIN KAMPF” REVIEWED

Thursday night, November 2, Mrs. R. H. Shuffler gave a book review on "Mein Kampf" (My Battle), the book written by Adolf Hitler, at the high school auditorium. Miss Gertrude Rasco played several piano selections before Supt. Emmitt Smith introduced Mrs. Shuffler.

There was a very nice audience, and the program lasted an hour and 15 minutes. After the review, Mr. and Mrs. Carson entertained the audience with piano music and solo, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

The sponsors were Miss Edwards and members of the junior class, and the money received will be used for the junior-senior banquet.

CUBLET WIN OVER TAHOKA PUPS BY 7 TO 0

The Junior High School Cublets won over Tahoka 7 to 0, Thursday, November 2. The fact that there were not any penalties in the game shows that the Cublets played a fair game. In the second quarter, quarter back Walls ran around right end for the one and only touchdown of the game. There was good interference, as Jones' blocking as halfback took two men out.

Authorities say that it was the cleanest game played by the Cublets this season. Some excellent punts were made by Billy Greenfield.

ONE DICTATOR VISITS ANOTHER DICTATOR

By James Reagan, (Theme in World History).

At last the great day is at hand. Lavish preparations costing millions of dollars have been completed. The visiting dictator comes in to the station in a heavily armored train. Here he is met by his friend(?) and escorted by an army to the palace. I don't know why they have the army guarding him, because all the people love him. (Also they have thousands in jail for reasons unknown).

The next day there is a military display. Millions of troops march by in review. There are goose-stepping black shirts, black African troops, and even a regiment of women trained for home defense. After these come thousands of tanks, huge artillery, small mobile field guns, anti-tank guns, anti-aircraft batteries, search lights, camel corps, machine gunners, and supply trains.

Next on the program is a sham (?) battle. The air force roars overhead, dropping tons of explosives on ground objectives. Soon the air is filled with flying fragments of shrapnel from bursting anti-aircraft shells, and the visiting dictator is glad that he wore his bullet proof vest and steel helmet, as several chunks of metal come off his armor plated dome. Meanwhile the tank attack has succeeded remarkably well in spite of heavy shelling. After this display the meeting is adjourned for dinner.

I can't understand all this. Such a display as this seems to be calculated to impress one of the tremendous powers of this nation while all dictator X is doing is showing his brotherly love for dictator Y.

Soon the telegraph office is swamped with messages wanting to know who had invaded what, and who won.

After dinner comes a naval display. All the navy goes by in battle formation, and then they begin firing. The racket is terrific. This completes the day except for the conference, which lasts fifteen minutes, when the dictators reaffirm their love for each other. Dictator Y thanks dictator X for the show of mutual love (?) which he has just shown.

Finally dictator Y boards his train and pulls out for home. He sighs contentedly and plans a reception of dictator X, in which dictator X will have the honor (?) of firing one of his new 18-inch guns without earmuffs. (Ho-hum, the end of a perfect day).

CREED OF FFA

I believe in the future of farming, with a faith born not of words but of deeds—achievements won by the present and past generations of farmers; in the promise of better days through better ways, even as the better things we now enjoy have come to us from the struggles of other years.

I believe that to live and work on a good farm is pleasant as well as challenging for I know the joys and discomforts of farm life and hold an inborn fondness for those associations which, even in hours of discouragement, I cannot deny.

I believe in leadership from ourselves and respect from others. I believe in my own ability to work efficiently and think cleverly, with such knowledge and skill as I can secure, and in the ability of organized farmers to serve our own and the public's interest in marketing the products of our soil.

I believe we can safeguard those rights against practices and policies that are unfair.

I believe in less dependence on begging and more power in bargaining in the life abundant and enough honest wealth to help make it so—for others as well as myself and playing square with those whose happiness depends upon me.

I believe that real America can and will hold true to the best traditions in our life and that I can exert an influence in my home and community which will stand solid for my part in that inspiring task.

A HISTORIC SPOT

By Roberta Underwood

Almost everyone who has studied Texas history knows the story of Cynthia Ann Parker, but I wonder how many of us know how close to us she lived?

Some of the most weird scenery in Texas is to be found in the vicinity of Cedar Lake. One gets the impression that there might be an Indian hiding behind every other bush. Perhaps it is just their ghosts, as we learn from the monument erected by the State of Texas in 1936, that Indians are buried near there. The inscription on the monument reads: "Cedar Lake or Laguna Sabine, Largest Alkali Lake on the Plains. Old Indian Camp and Burial Site. Birthplace of Quanah Parker. A skirmish between Indians and U. S. Cavalry, under command of Lieut. John L. Bullas took place here October, 1875."

HOMEMAKING MEETING HELD IN LUBBOCK

By Barbara Garrett

The Future Homemakers of Texas met Saturday on November 4, in the Senior High School building at Lubbock.

Some 450 Home Ec. girls from different parts of northwest Texas were present.

Those who attended from Brownfield were: Mary Martin, Redell Parks, Arline Fore, Barbara Garrett, Lois Chambliss, and their sponsor, Miss Vivian Murphy.

After registration from 9:00 to 9:30, Lubbock's senior high orchestra presented us with several numbers.

Short plays, addresses, songs, and a tap dance featured the morning program.

In the afternoon there was group singing, music by the accordeon sextet, and a business meeting was held from 1:30 to 2:30. It was decided that the next meeting will be held at Eastland, Texas.

A very nice luncheon was served by the Mary Emma Chapter of senior high and the Future Homemakers of junior high school.

VIOLINS AND LOCOMOTIVES

Music and business are both based on harmony. They cannot be placed on one standard and expected to advance.

Pieces written for the Southland, such as "My Old Kentucky Home," "Old Black Joe," "Dixie," etc., seem more appropriate when played with a harmonica, guitar, violin or banjo. The more subtle music of today needs to be played by a modern orchestra.

Music changes and reflects the times. If music were restricted to a certain standard, it would not advance.

Business is the same as music, if leaders in business were tied down to non-flexible rules, there could be no improvement. The spirit of advancement would be lacking.

Through the ages, people who have been ground down under a tyrant, struggled to secure freedom. And when freedom was secured, there was a rapid advancement and rising living standards.

The United States has been the greatest example of this and is proof that freedom is a synonym for incentive and inspiration.

Music demands freedom of expression. Business, like music, cannot thrive on a code of restriction.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

By Juanita Lanious

The League of the Methodist church had a Halloween party October 30, at 6:45 p. m., and it lasted until 10:00 o'clock.

We all played some games. They were as follows: Grand march, with everyone marching around in a circle. We chose the best costume, the prizes being given to Emma Gene Coleman and M. J. Craig. Emma Gene was dressed like an Egyptian. They passed out pumpkins cut in halves, and you had to find one that fitted yours to find your partner. Then we played a card game, and a broom game which was a lot of fun. Emma Gene told everyone's fortune, and everyone read theirs out loud. Next we played general delivery, and knock in and knock out.

Refreshments were served to about forty guests. The refreshments were cocoa with a marshmallow in it, pigs in blankets, cookies, and favors.

Everyone reported a good time, and we went home happy.

HOW CAN WE IMPROVE OUR SCHOOL?

By Ruth Donathan

The question of what we can do to improve our school continues to be asked in our Press Club. Some fail to answer the question, or in other words, simply disregard it. The question should not only be answered, but the whole of the Brownfield High School should do their utmost to eliminate some things; as, running through the halls without a pass, running into people without even so much as saying "pardon me", gossip circles saying sarcastic remarks about individuals, attending to others business or always keeping up with individuals in school or out. Some can't seem to realize that others affairs do not concern them, whether they are aware of the fact or not.

We also need cooperation in our school. After all this is our school, and we should be ready to back it in all things including sports and everything that contributes to the betterment of our school.

A TRUE FAIRY TALE

When this present century came around the corner 39 years ago, the horse-drawn vehicles of the period were the outstanding methods of transportation on the roads. A little farther along in the years there were increases in the numbers of automobiles. The word "roads" is historically correct, because a decade elapsed after 1900 before a transcontinental "road" got a first coat of "surface"; was not until 1916 that Congress appropriated $75,000,000 that qualified it to boast that it had become a highway. It made Federal highways a national program.

The past score of years have witnessed wonderful changes. About 360,000 miles of surfaced highways have been built and there are enough cars in use to accommodate every man, woman, and child, and take 'em all for a ride at the same time.

Thousands of vacationers have motored the 3,000 miles between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans this season and many of them have added side trips from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico or the Southern boundaries of our country. None of them ever furnished a better or more accurate description than the old colored-man who once observed that "de world surely do move."

A few days ago a brief item in the press reported that General Motors had 387,824 stockholders. They are mostly small partners in a great business, receiving dividend earnings from the sales of hundreds of thousands of passenger cars, trucks, Diesel engines, airplanes, electric refrigerators, etc.

At Fall motor shows the American public will be able to witness remarkable mechanical advantages in the 1940 streamlined models. ARMISTICE DAY

TWENTY-ONE YEARS AGO—Gongs sounded along the front line. And then silence. It was the Eleventh Hour, the Eleventh Day, the Eleventh Month and the end of the World War. In cities people were jubilant over the news, and danced in the streets and wept for joy. Along the front line it was different. Just a silence. Tired, haggard faced men—fighting men—talked quietly to each other and wondered if it was really over. Then the message spread, officially, that shortly before 11 a. m. on that day the Allied battle chiefs had met with those of the German high command and signed the document that meant peace. That was the first Armistice day.

For Twenty One Years Legionnaires Have Been Serving Their Country in the Crises and Struggles of Peace as They Served It In War.

IT IS GOOD TO REMEMBER—That Armistice Day has grown to equal legal stature with other National holidays, through the post-war service of the Americans whose valor created the original Armistice. Their step is heavier, their shoulders not quite so straight, their numbers fewer, as they follow the flag down the main streets of America each succeeding Armistice Day. But they have "dedicated to the cause of world peace" all our Armistice Days—by their insistence on adequate national defense—their staunch opposition to foreign ideologies—their unswerving loyalty to the Stars and Stripes, to American democracy, and to the Constitution of the U. S.

WINTER DISARMED

90-hour threat ended by OIL-PLATING your engine today

You can probably agree that these are certainly conservative figures...

- 4 or 5 months of nasty weather right ahead of you now
- 8 or 10 daily cold starts for your car
- 6 to 8 minutes per start, till your engine's near-warm

And yet even that can run up your engine's cold-weather "starting-stretch" to right around 90 hours!... The foulest 90 hours that Gangster Winter could fire at your engine—your battery. And don't ever hope to halt him with motor oils whose biggest brag is "fast flow." That's not enough—and it's not your money's worth, considering that "fast flow" is mighty slow Winter lubrication compared to OIL-PLATING.

OIL-PLATING in your engine will lubricate before any oil can circulate. That's because the minute you start up with patented Conoco Germ Processed oil it makes OIL-PLATING "magnetize" to all inner engine surfaces, so that it cannot drain down again. It cannot retire to the crankcase as you park the car. Like any other good plating, OIL-PLATING stays right where it's plated by Germ Process action—all over the working parts. They've "got on" their OIL-PLATING all the while you're indoors. They never "take off" their OIL-PLATING. When you come out to start then, your OIL-PLATING can't be delayed even 90 seconds—or one-ninth of a second! And away you go. The battery hardly knows it was working. And it's a good long while before the gauge-stick calls for an added quart of Germ Processed oil. Your Mileage Merchant has your right Winter grade. Change today—to that Conoco station of his. Continental Oil Company

COMMON COLDS OFTEN START PNEUMONIA

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 6.—Potential victims of pneumonia, and families concerned, hold one of the keys to reduction of the death rate from this disease, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. It is estimated that each year 25,000 Texans suffer an attack of pneumonia.

As a means of prevention, people should guard against the common cold, neglect of which often leads to pneumonia as a complication.

Persons who develop pneumonia will have the best chance for recovery by knowing the symptoms of the disease and placing themselves under treatment promptly after each onset of illness. Beginning symptoms include a severe chill and fever, stabbing pain in the chest, cough with rust-colored, blood-tinged sputum, nausea and vomiting, loss of appetite, and family members to suspected should cause the patient and members of the family to suspect the possibility of pneumonia. Rusty sputum, usually a sign of inflammation in the lungs, naturally gives rise to the question as to the question of the cause of sickness. Examination of the sputum in a hospital or public health laboratory which serves as a pneumonia typing center, frequently shows the presence and type of the pneumonia germ, and makes clearer the exact nature of the illness.

SANTA FE CARLOADINGS

The Santa Fe System carloadings for the week ending Nov. 4, 1939, were 23,075 as compared with 22,552 for the same week in 1938. Received from connections were 6,289 as compared with 6,375 for the same week in 1938. The Santa Fe handled a total of 30,292 cars the preceding week of this year.

Science has found effective means of combatting pneumonia, through the use of proper serum and medicine. To be most effective, these treatments must be given early and after the exact cause of the inflammation has been determined.

During 1938, pneumonia deaths numbering 4,129 were recorded in Texas and it is necessary for all people to arm themselves with knowledge and to cooperate in measures to decrease the pneumonia death toll.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL ON 80 NETWORK SHOWS

WASHINGTON—More than 80 coast-to-coast programs will carry Red Cross membership appeals during Roll Call, November 11-30, it was announced at national headquarters of the organization here.

Membership appeals, it was explained, will be included in virtually every nation-wide broadcast to support the greatest membership Roll Call in 20 years. On Nov. 11, Roll Call will be officially opened by President Roosevelt and Chairman Norman H. Davis when they lead off a variety program in which 17 stars of radio, screen and opera participate at 10:30 p. m., (EST), over three networks.

BUCK DEER OFTEN HAVE FINISH FIGHTS

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 6.—A Texas Game Department warden recently arrived upon the scene of one of those terrific battles nature's children sometimes engage in just in time to rescue one deer, but the other had not survived a struggle to death which, persons who have witnessed such battles declare are as thrilling as any plot ever conceived by an author.

The warden arrived on a flat on the Herbert ranch in the Hill county to find a pair of seven and eight point bucks with their horns locked and signs of a terrific struggle having taken place. One buck was dead, but the warden worked with the other, the eight-pointer, got him loose and watched the deer literally stagger off into thick cover. Bucks fight frequently, but it is not so often that their horns become locked. However, if that occurs and no outside help is available, both deer are generally victims of the battle.

NOT SO WASTEFUL

We Americans have often been called a wasteful and improvident people. It's true we often spend money recklessly—but, at the same time, when it comes to erecting financial safeguards against the future, we have no competitors.

This country accounts for but 7 per cent of the world's population. And yet we own 70 per cent of all the world's life insurance.

So the fact is that we don't scatter our wherewithal to the winds at every opportunity. We spend more for luxuries than the people of any other country because we earn and have more. And also we spend more for the necessities—of which adequate financial protection is one of the most vital.

CATTLE SALES ACTIVE IN WEST TEXAS.

Twenty-five thousand head of cattle in West Texas, mostly along the T&P railroad, have been sold in recent weeks, according to reports here. A number of Lubbock and South Plains buyers participated in the sales or purchases.

Tobe Foster, Lubbock cattle buyer, has made a number of purchases recently. They include 400 head from Foy Proctor; 400 head of heifers from Scharbauer Cattle Co., from Clarence Scharbauer, Sr.; and Clarence Jr., 172 calves; he sold to Homer Ingham, 200 cows.

Foy Proctor also bought 325 cows and a few bulls from Len McClellens Circle bar ranch. They were sold to Tovera Packing Co. M. S. Doss, earlier in the season sold 1100 head of cows, 600 calves and 50 bulls from his Gaines county ranch near Proctor.

J. M. Shelton of Amarillo, who has fed at Brownfield the past year or two sold 1,500 head of calves to Proctor and Parks.

George Cleveland of Lubbock sold 175 steer calves to Proctor.

FIRE GETS THE JUMP

Fire, the great destroyer, is getting the jump on us again.

During the first nine months of last year the total fire loss was about $216,000,000. This year, loss for the first nine months is estimated at almost $230,000,000, a rise of $18,000,000. That rise alone, disregarding the total, would pay for 9,000 homes costing $2,000 each; give employment to 18,000 men at a wage of more than $80 per month, or build 1,800 miles of highway at a cost of $10,000 per mile.

In these totals of tragic, useless waste the thoughtful reader will find a challenge and opportunity. Early in October the nation observed Fire Prevention week. Any man or woman who could see, read or hear, learned something of the magnitude of our fire loss, of the concerted, 24 hours a day efforts being made to control it, and the simple rules and precautions that will prevent most fires, large or small. The week was wasted if the messages went in one ear and out the other. But if a substantial number of Americans took the lessons to heart, and reflected on the fact that fire prevention is every man's problem, the Week will prove to have been a banner date in the history of the country.

If you're still not sure how to help in fire prevention, go today to your fire department, insurance agent or interested civic organization. Put what you learn into practice. It will cost you little or nothing—and it will pay gigantic dividends in safety and security as well as dollars.

"LIFE"

To the preacher life is a sermon; To the joker, life's a jest; To the miser, life is money; To the loafer, life is rest.

To the lawyer, life is trial; To the poet life's a song; To the doctor, life's a patient; That needs treatment right along; To the soldier life's a battle; To the teacher, life's a school; Life's a great thing to the thinker

But a failure to the fool. To the man who loves his work; To the everlasting shirk.

Life is just a long vacation. But it's a constant dodging duty To the faithful earnest worker, Life's a story ever new;

Life is what we try to make, Friends—what is life to you? —Anonymous

WILDLIFE RACKETEERING

Claim is being made by individuals that local financial assistance is necessary to qualify for Federal Aid to Wildlife Projects. At least one individual has written that such projects will be allocated through his organization.

All Federal Aid to Wildlife Projects in this state are under the direction of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission and we have authorized no one to raise funds for these projects, nor has the Bureau of Biological Survey, which directs expenditure of Federal funds for this work, given such authority.

Any effort to misguide the public in this direction smacks of racketeering and we have no evidence that funds collected under such persuasion have gone for any beneficial wildlife purpose, and we are certain that they have not influenced the investment of the Pittman-Robinson funds. So far as we are concerned those funds will be expended on projects which have been recommended by our Regional Game Managers.

Any sportsman, landowner, nature lover, or their organizations can get careful observation of any suggestion that they make to the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, without contributing one thin dime to anyone.

We believe organizations may produce much good for wildlife where they raise funds and spend them locally, and we are always anxious to encourage such efforts which should not be confused with pure promotional collections by outsiders.

Super-Market Has Nice Business Bldg.

The Super-Market, located in the southeast portion of the city, on Highway 51, has now had time to arrange their stock in their new tile and stucco building, which is not only handy and well arranged for those who work there, but also in waiting on and assisting their customers in obtaining their needs. Then, it is also of easy access, and a lot of parking space for customers.

The building is really odd shaped, the front having to conform to the highway at that point, and the ends to streets that run due west. This is not noticeable, so much when you're in the building. They have one of the best arranged offices to be found, and is really pretty. In the basement, they have room for much storage capacity, where foods will not freeze even in cold weather. Also in the basement is a large cold storage vault that keeps perishables to the right temperature.

Super-Market is owned by Tom Cadenhead and his brother-in-law E. S. Hall; Grady Wright and Elmer Moser are employed in the grocery department, and Grady Shuman is the meat cutter and market man. Willie Arnett has charge of the filling and service station department, and handles Gulf, Continental and other brands of gas and oils.

Walter Bond, of El Paso, spent the week end with his mother and other relatives and friends.

APPROACH WITH CAUTION

Little imagination is required to recall the government enforced "bank holiday" of 1933. Business and industry lived in a state of suspended animation. Paychecks could not be cashed—bank accounts were frozen—in short, the man on the street learned almost instantly just how vital the banking industry is to the country.

According to the National Labor Relations Board, employees in 16,000 banks are subject to the "persuasion" of organized labor. Labor organizations, if the decision sticks before the courts, apparently have a rich field in which to operate, but will assume a heavy responsibility requiring an unprecedented degree of intelligent management and restraint on the part of men responsible for the acts of labor. Nothing would damn the cause of labor more than the use of "strong arm" methods to organize the banks.

Modern banks are a highly geared mechanism regulated by the public to serve the public. In a nation of 3,000,000 square miles and 130,000,000 inhabitants, their job is to keep the financial side of society a going concern. And the undisputable truth is that they have obtained a degree of success unequalled in the history of mankind. Labor in its own interest had best approach the banks with caution!

Of the 500,000 farms in Texas, nearly one-fourth do not have cows to provide the families with milk.

Cubs Engage Tigers

With only a few days to go before the most important game of the year, the Fighting Cubs, with the same spirit that has won the District Championship for two consecutive years, are making ready for the tussle with the Slaton Tigers, where they will defend their glorious Crown.

With only one obstacle hampering their stride, the Cubs will be in full strength. Tankersley, the Cubs' blocking back, will not start the game on account of a badly sprained ankle, but will be replaced with Locke, the Cubs' "Power House."

Facing stiff workouts Monday and Tuesday and then slackening up for the game on Saturday, the Cubs have selected as their password, "Let's get Those Tigers." The Cubs are dedicating this game to their Captain and four-year letter man, Pete Brown, who has guided the Cubs through many a victorious game, and is expected to guide them through to another Championship.

The Slaton Tigers are also in very fine shape for the game, and are expected to be very tough, as they are trying to avenge the 27-6 defeat of last year.

With all this in mind the two teams seem to be very evenly matched, and are expecting to play one of the hardest games in their gridiron history. So along with the Cubs and let's all go to the game and give them our moral support.

"Behind The Scenes In American Business"

By John Craddock

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—BUSINESS—Repeat last week by Congress of the embargo to warring nations and arms will give, of course, tremendous impetus to the aviation industry. As many as 7,800 planes may be bought by England and France, a number amounting to nearly 50 per cent of all the planes ever built in this country. Allied purchases are expected to cover a wide range of other products, too, including motor trucks and motorcycles, machine tools, field ranges, explosives, surgical instruments, hospital supplies, searchlights, gas masks, pontoon equipment, water-purifying units, etc. But not all business men are looking for soaring prosperity, for the word from London is that the English will have to curtail purchases of many other things from America, including passenger autos, tobacco, women's apparel, shoes, dried fruits, and Hollywood's movies. Undoubtedly the same goes for the French.

WASHINGTON—Because England, France and Germany had been principal competitors for this country for sale of goods in Latin America, forced withdrawal of European nations from the market is expected to boom demand for American products. At the same time, however, Latin America has lost part of the market for its goods in Europe. Latin America therefore can buy more of U. S. merchandise only if we take up the slack in their exports to Europe. As a first step in solving this problem, the Department of Commerce is advocating establishment of a trading center in New York city where importers and buyers may get a comprehensive view of all the products South America is in a position to supply.

LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS TO MEET NOVEMBER 14

Next meeting of the West Texas Law Enforcement association, which is made up of peace officers and others interested in keeping down law infractions will be Nov. 14 at Brownfield, it was announced by Truett Smith, secretary.

Ches Gore, Terry county sheriff, will be host. The last meeting was Oct. 11, at the Clayton-Johnson ranch in Borden county. Approximately 42 officers were present. Sheriff B. L. Parker of Lynn county is president.

SURGICAL SKILL HAS SAVED MANY WRECK VICTIMS

AUSTIN, Oct. 30.—Surgical skill has cheated the Texas traffic death book out of a number of victims, State Police asserted today as they counted the toll for the first nine months of 1939.

The score: 1,098 beyond medical aid; 9,898 injured, many so critically they were saved through only quickly administered treatment by surgeons. September claimed 128 lives while 1,233 were hospitalized. Thirty-one of the dead were pedestrians, eleven of whom were crossing streets at locations other than intersection when struck down, the State Police summary stated.

Daily from 5 p. m. to 9 p. m., the peak accident hours in September, ambulances made emergency runs to a total of 441 crashes in which 37 persons were taken to mortuaries instead of hospitals—all of these crashes, State Police director Homer Garrison, Jr., pointed out, were due to carelessness on the part of the average motorists.

The 1,486 collisions that month involved 2,563 vehicles and drivers and resulted in economic loss of $3,150,000 the statisticians computed, in addition to the loss of life and the large injury toll. Glaring headlights accounted for two of the dead while 24 were killed in non-collision accidents, usually caused from driving too fast for conditions.

Puzzling to traffic analysts were the 1,131 crashes which occurred on straight, level roads, 205 of which involved illegal passing. In 1,190 of the 1,486 collisions there were no defects in road construction that might have added to driving hazards. Only 183 of the 2,563 drivers were reported to have been drinking.

Cotton Accounts For 38c of Farm Dollar

AUSTIN, Nov. 6.—King Cotton is still a potent force in Texas' swing to industrialization, despite its drop from 1927 pre-eminence, a University of Texas expert predicted last week.

Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the University's Bureau of Business Research, pointed out that, although income from cotton and cotton seed now accounts for only 38 cents of each dollar of the Texas cotton farmer's income, compared with a 67-cent slice in 1927, the staple is still not only the state's best money crop, but its surest cultivated feed crop.

In the field of synthetic fibers, coupled with conditions set up by rapidly changing arts and technologies and by shifting trade balances, lies the way to healthy recovery for the cotton industry, he said. Consideration must be given to the natural environment in which the staple grows as well as to the physical characteristics of the plant itself, he added. "We are going to have to stop viewing the Texas cotton industry as an independent local enterprise and the worry of ginners, growers, merchants, and cottonseed crushers," he declared.

WHAT HAPPENED TO ELEPHANTS, MASTODONS

of fossil bones of ice age mastodons and elephants, which once roamed the Plains region in greater numbers than buffalo, has been completed at West Texas museum, situated on Texas Technological college campus. The display includes jaw bones, tusks, leg bones, and pelvic bones of the imperial elephant.

Tusks in both species, when cut in cross section, show certain concentric rings of growth similar to tree rings, Dr. W. C. Holden, museum curator, says. One eight-foot specimen of fossil ivory shows 24 of these growth rings. "The Plains region is one of the most prolific sources of elephant and mastodon material in the

2 Progressive Yoakum County Farmers

J. A. Parks of the Tokio community, (Yoakum county), has discovered that electric fences are a big time and money saver. He has about 2 or 3 miles of them on his farm, with one main line stretched across his place so that it is available to all fields. To pasture a field, he merely encloses it with another wire and hooks it on to the main line. By this method he can confine cows or hogs on Sudan grain sorghum or any other field of waste feed he wishes. He also finds it a very satisfactory method in permanent feed lots to separate hogs and cattle of different ages.

F. M. Cox, of Yoakum county, reports to his county agent, H. B. Horn, that he has found another world. Holden said. "The Imperial Elephant, the type found most often in this region, differed from its cousin, the mastodon, in several particulars. The elephant stood about 13 feet high, even higher than the African elephant. The air passages in his skull were so modified and enlarged that his head looked tall and dome-like. His tusks averaged ten feet, but have been found as long as 12 feet.

"In contrast, the mastodon was shorter and broader, rarely ever standing higher than nine feet at the shoulder. His forehead was low and he was a great deal wider across the pelvis." Certain specialized differences in the structure of teeth can be seen in the jaws at the West Texas Museum display.

"What happened to the elephants is a profound mystery," he said. "They had already shown themselves capable of adapting to such extremes as arctic cold of Siberia and tropical heat of Central America. Perhaps during one of those periods when glaciers were moving restlessly over the northern part of the United States, changing climatic conditions forced most of the mammals into the tropics where they may have been exterminated by disease and beasts of prey."

TEXAS CITRUS CROP 1939-40

A special citrus report issued by the Federal Agriculture Marketing Service estimates Texas grapefruit production for the 1939-40 crop will be 15,200,000 boxes and the orange crop 2,650,000 boxes. Both are below the previous year's production which were 15,670,000 boxes of grapefruit and 2,815,000 boxes of oranges.

use for grasshopper poison mash—it is an excellent fly killer. He found that flies would eat this poison mash more readily than hoppers, so he tried putting pans of it above reach of livestock in and around barns. Each pan collected dead flies a half-inch deep every day, and thousands died outside the pans. Best results were obtained by moistening the mash each day. Still better results were noted if a little sugar or syrup was added to help attract the flies.

The Official Paper of Terry County and the City of Brownfield

The Herald feels honored in being made an honorary member of the Texas Safety Council of which Pierce Brooks of Dallas is director. It was stated that the Herald had used much space toward furthering safety measures in Texas.

The question of late has been, "What is a neutral?" About the best definition we can give is that he is a Milquetoast in real life. In other words a man or woman that is neutral in religion, politics, or morality lacks something or other that would stiffen their backbone.

The Herald has received Vol. 1, No. 9 of the Texas Fireman, a well printed and edited monthly paper, which seems to represent the paid as well as volunteer firemen of the state. Jerry Sadler and Lon Smith did not make themselves very popular with state firemen recently when they fired Olin Culbertson.

Because of the war in Europe, the southern states will have to watch their steps about a huge cotton crop next year. Cotton was much higher than now at the beginning of the World War, but did not advance in price a great deal until 1917-18. But let us remember that there was a carry-over of less than 4 million bales then, while we now have a carry-over of more than 14 million bales.

The Avalanche-Journal publishing Co. discontinued their weekly edition, the South Plains Farmer last week, stating that it was but a duplication of their daily papers. That was the second newspaper burial in Lubbock in a month, the Daily Times closing shop about a month ago. Just wasn't room for another daily in Lubbock, as the Avalanche-Journal, (morning and afternoon) covers the field mighty well.

The Texas State Highway department is asking the motorist to show some regard for men making repairs on highways by slowing up and pulling out on the shoulder if necessary. Twenty-three men have been injured in the past few months, some seriously. If motorists are not more careful, the road will have to be barricaded in the future, and you'll have trouble pulling around them. Don't get it into your precious head that your time is so darn valuable.

They are clamping down with Sunday desecration laws over in Lynn county, three merchants being indicted by the last grand jury. The Herald has studied the matter with much care, but is not sensible enough to see any difference in letting some places stay open and gather in the sheekles, while others are fined for doing the same thing. In other words we can't see the difference in us selling a subscription, or a dry goods store selling a shirt or a grocery store a sack of meal, than letting the filling station sell gas to people to run all over the country, or a drug store selling something to stop the bellyache.

There was very little Halloween pranking and destruction in Brownfield. In the first place we have three mighty fine men on the night police force, who were supplemented by the sheriff's force that night. In the second place, we have far above the average of manly and lady-like young people in our city, thanks to their raising in the home and instruction in the school rooms. Some of our high school students wrote some mighty fine article on how to have fun without destruction of property on Halloween.

It seems that Texas, as well as some other states is in for two Thanksgivings, or some one date and some another. Which one will be the main turkey day in Brownfield? President Roosevelt has proclaimed the 23rd as the day in the U. S. Gov. O'Daniel suggested two in his proclamation, both the 23rd and 30th. For business reasons, the president proclaimed the 23rd, as the 30th or last Thursday threw two holidays too close together, Thanksgiving and Christmas. And for business reasons, the governor suggests two, to clean up the large Texas turkey crop as much as possible.

Just 21 years ago tomorrow, the roll of the big guns, the crash of bursting shells, the spat-spat of machine guns, and the crack of infantry rifles were silenced at seven o'clock, on the 11th day of the eleventh month, 1918. We imagine that the silence all so sudden was just about as inspiring as the crash and rumble. But not for long. The boys are said to have come out of muddy trenches and shouted and hallowed and openly lit their cigarettes. That was just about the noisiest night in Brownfield in the memory of any now living here. Everyone who had a gun or pistol had them on the streets, and no questions asked. A railroad contractor had left a large consignment of dynamite here, and that was brought out and two or three sticks exploded at a time, and if you were within 100 feet, and not expecting a charge, it would almost upset you. A lot of windows in the small stores here then had to be replaced as they were cracked or shattered out. But no one said quit. It was a day of rejoicing.

105 YEARS OLD

Probably the oldest man in Texas, Joel W. Blackwell, of Dickens, Texas Dickens county, celebrated his 105th birthday October 5. He has lived in Texas 92 years, coming here from St. Francis, Arkansas, at the age of 13. He now lives with his daughter, Mrs. Pres Goen, at the Goen ranch, near Dickens.

We saw a picture of the instrument in an ad in the Southern Printer recently that was supposed to represent the weapon that little David used to slay the giant Goliath. The picture showed an ordinary "nigger shooter." When the fight as reported occurred in the old Bible times as recorded in Kings, there was no such stuff as rubber known, so far as we know. What David actually used was really a sling, consisting of a folded piece of leather about the size of one's hand with a string at each end. This was swung around the head of the thrower a few times, and one string then released, sending the stone two or three hundred yards if used by an expert. We could never get one of those stones to go within 45 degrees of where we aimed. It took a whale of a lot of practice with them. As for slingshot or nigger shooter, we used to kill sand lizards running with them.

Blessed are the merchants who advertise for they have faith in their business, and their prosperity shall increase many fold. Blessed is the woman who sends in a written account of a party or a wedding for she shall see the details and the names of her guests reported. Blessed are they who do not expect the editor to know everything by telling him whenever an interesting event occurs in which they are interested for they shall have a better newspaper in town. Blessed are they who get their copy in early for they shall occupy a warm spot in the heart of the editor. Blessed are they who do not think that they could run a paper better than the editor runs it—yea, thrice blessed are they, because there are so few of them in the community.—Times Record Spencer, W. Va.

WAVES DEPOSIT COINS OF 18TH CENTURY ON BEACH

Rehoboth Beach, Delaware.—Eighteenth century copper coins were washed up on the beach recently in the vicinity of Indian river inlet.

The coins were found near the edge of the breakers where incoming waves beat on a low shelf in the sand. They were of Irish and English vintage of the early 1700's.

Many such coins have been found before by residents of this resort—usually following a northeasterly storm. Coin collectors from far parts of the country have traveled here in search of old pieces.

Occasionally a few gold and silver pieces are found on the beach or back among the dunes and residents here have quite an array of collections.

It is believed that the money comes from wrecks of sailing vessels of the 18th century known to have gone down around the Cape Henlopen and Indian river.

BIG BANK'S RESOURCES CLIMB DESPITE "CHAOS"

Under the heading "The Road to Ruin" the Missouri Democrat discourses as follows:

In 1933 the resources of the Chase National Bank were $1,715,000,000. For six years thereafter, Winthrop W. Aldrich, president of the bank, inveighed against the "ruin of the nation in general and banking in particular as a result of New Deal policies."

Last January, Mr. Aldrich warned that the nation "lacked confidence." In May he told the New York Bond Club that the New Deal was leading to "financial chaos." Shortly afterward, Mr. Aldrich left for a trip to Europe to "get away from it all."

Now he comes home to find a surprise. We see by the Wall Street Journal that: Chase National Becomes First Bank with $3,000,000,000 Resources." In other words, as a result of New Deal "ruin", Chase National has become the biggest bank in the country, with greater resources than any U. S. bank ever had. Shed a tear.

School For Peace Officers at Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Nov. 6.—Peace officers of the South Plains will have an opportunity to attend a Police Instruction school conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Lubbock Police Department.

Plans for the school were made by special agent E. C. Wenig of the FBI. The program will be especially adapted to problems of this area, Don Reeder, Lubbock chief of police, announced early this week.

The two weeks school begins Monday afternoon, November 13, and will continue through November 24, with the exception of Saturday and Sunday. Subjects taught at the school will be Fingerprinting, Preservation of Evidence at the Scene of the Crime, Crime Scene Search, Cooperative Functions of the FBI, Legal Rights in Connection with Arrests, Discipline, Morale and Police Courtesy, Testifying in Court, Jui Jitsu, Disarming, Restraining Devices and Methods of Search, Traffic, Firearms, and Methods of Scientific Crime Detection.

There will be no charge for the two weeks school. Two identical sections of the school will be held for the convenience of all officers. The afternoon sessions will begin at 2:30, ending promptly at 4:30. The evening classes will start at 7:30, continuing until 9:30. Sessions will be held in the American Legion Hall, Lubbock.

INFANTRY DIVISION 'NOT WHAT SHE USTA' BE'

Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 6.—Long blister-making route marches by doughboys loaded down with 75 pounds of equipment are now as out-moded as your Aunt Emma's bicycle, according to Infantry officers here. The modern way of "getting the mostest thar firstest" is by high-speed motor trucks.

Uncle Sam has ordered 8,000 speed wagons for the army and now his soldiers can arrive at the end of a days march fresh and rested, feeling like their rifles are just rifles and not something out of the coast artillery. These machines, together with the ones already in use, are calculated to literally put the army on wheels.

The second division, located at this post, is the only completely motorized division in the army at present. It has 1,100 vehicles and moves at 30 miles an hour. It truly can be called "stream-lined" when one recalls that marching divisions move at only two-and-a-half miles an hour.

The war department is creating five stream-lined divisions which will be massed in the south and in the northwest for special training this winter. New equipment for these divisions will cost approximately $15,000,000.

Influx of the new machines into army areas will severely tax the motor repair units for the quartermaster corps, and recruiting officers are crying for men to enlist for training as drivers, mechanics and automotive electrical experts. Hundreds of men will be needed for servicing the new equipment in the eighth corps area, which embraces the southwestern states they said.

How to Organize a Soil Conservation Dist.

What is a soil conservation district. This question has been asked by several farmers of Terry county. One answer, according to R. N. McClain, County Agent, is that Soil Conservation Districts are local cooperative units, organized and managed by groups of farmers who face a common problem in conserving their soil and water sources.

Farmers in 27 states are organizing or planing to organize Soil Conservation Districts and nine other states, making a total of 36, have passed laws that permit the formation of such organizations.

Legislation that will permit the formation of Soil Conservation districts in Texas was passed by the legislature in 1939 and several districts are in line to be set up by farmers. Under the Texas law a group of 50 or more landowners may start to organize a district. Once their petition to organize is approved by the state committee the farmers hold a hearing. A petition for the organization of a district composed of Terry, Yoakum and Cochran counties has been approved and a hearing will be held Friday, November 17 at 2:30 p.m. in the district court room. All landowners in the county are urged to be present at this meeting to give testimony as to whether or not you favor such an organization.

Meetings will be held over the county to explain the law before the date of the hearing. Tentative dates have been set at the following school houses: Johnson, Tuesday, November 14; Wellman, Tuesday, November 14; Meadow, Friday, November 10; Union, Wednesday, November 15. All meetings to begin at 7 p. m.

It is reported that the mother of C. D. Ray is very ill at the local hospital where she was carried Wednesday. Three other sons and a daughter, living elsewhere have been notified.

Teague-Bailey Chevrolet dealers delivered the following cars this week: W. H. Collins, Special de luxe sedan; W. T. Dobbs, special sport sedan; Charles Compton, de luxe sedan; W. A. Brock, Sport sedan; T. J. Lamar, town sedan; E. V. Tarbuton, coupe; and Hurlley Chennault a town sedan.

Countess Von Bauman of New York City was a visitor in Brownfield Wednesday and Thursday of last week. She is a Yoakum county property owner and was here attending business matters. She was formerly Miss Helen Smith, of Munday, Texas.

Ross Motor Company delivered the following cars this week: G. M. C. pickup, O. C. Mitchell, Andrews; Hudson sedan, E. Stone; Oldsmobile coupe, E. F. Frailey; Oldsmobile sedan, Joe Ellison; Oldsmobile sedan, D. B. Gordon.

3 Hunters Return With 2 Deer

So far as we know, Glen Akers, local abstractor and insurance man; Dube Pyeatt, county clerk, and Jim Langford, north side farmer, are the first of the deer hunters to return this year from the hunting grounds. At least they were the first to report having killed anything. They got a seven and a four point buck, which were killed by Akers and Pyeatt. Mr. Langford failed to get one.

They left here Tuesday, October 31, and returned last Friday. They hunted in the Artesia section of New Mexico, and report a wonderful time hunting and camping in the rough.

Chamber of Commerce Items

By J. E. Shelton, Secretary

Judge Simms and the writer made a trip as far east as Aspermont last week for the purpose of conferring with county officials of several counties upon some highway matters which we consider of much importance toward future highway travel and this week the writer, accompanied by Chas. Dial, made a trip to Roswell in connection with the same matter and is expecting to be in Fort Worth the latter part of this week for a conference with other county officials concerning the same project.

The Chamber of Commerce is undertaking to develop a superior type of information from the Highway Departments of the various states and at this time we have maps and other illustrated information covering New Mexico, Texas, Arizona, Colorado and California and it is very complete and contains much information that is not included in the highway maps that are distributed by the various oil companies. We are undertaking to get lined up with the highway departments of other states in order that we may be able to render complete service at all times.

For the last several months we have been actively engaged in an attempt to contact some one who would be favorably disposed toward the construction of a modern hotel and have grabbed at every straw that pointed in that direction and two or three months ago we thought that we had located a man who might be able to swing the deal but have not heard anything from him in several weeks and have arrived at the conclusion that he failed to make connection as the last conversation that we had with him, he advised that his people could not quite convince themselves that the population of the town and surrounding county would be sufficient to support a modern hotel of the size that we desired. He was informed that we did not expect to remain at a standstill from a population standpoint and he replied he was trying to convince his people that fact. However, as stated, we have not heard from him and have undertaken to contact other companies and at this time have a letter in which the party advises that he will visit us within the next few days for the purpose of discussing the matter. However, even if his reaction is favorable, you can bet pretty strong that we are going to have to furnish part of the money if we get a hotel constructed.

Seagraves C. of C. Secretary visits Here

Bill Cooper, secretary-manager of the Seagraves Chamber of Commerce, was a visitor in our city, Friday, calling on business men, and paid the Herald a very pleasant call, as he has spent a great portion of his life in the newspaper business in Colorado City and other places. Bill is not hard to get acquainted with, and leaves a good taste in your mouth when he leaves, as he is not a know-it-all-type. He left a complimentary ticket at the Herald office for their big annual banquet next Thursday night, the 16th, but as we explained to Bill, that is a hard night for us to get off.

Some prominent speakers, including Judge Thompson, of Colorado City, president of the Permian Basin oil fields, and possibly Congressman Geo. Mahon, if he gets back from Washington in time to make the date. A good time is promised visitors. We also note that Seagraves and Seminole are co-operating on getting an earlier morning mail from the north and east than the Santa Fe, which often doesn't get to Seagraves until late afternoon. It is due here about eleven and at Seagraves an hour later, but lots of time does not reach Brownfield until afternoon.

The reason for this is the big pick-up in business with the coming of oil fields to the west of them, as well as the gathering and shipment of crops, and other pickups in fall business. This being a branch road, the trains are mixed, and have to care for freight as well as mail and express. We are sure the Santa Fe is doing the very best it can under the circumstances, but one does not like mail in late afternoon if they can avoid it. Brownfield gets a mail from Post slightly after 9 a. m., or they would probably join

Tom May, local leader of the Shrine fraternity of Masonry, was in this week and informed us that the Shriners of this section would convene at Amarillo next Wednesday, the 15th at Khiva Temple for their fall session of initiations. the two towns in their protests to the Post Office Department. We understand the Slaton-Tahoka-Lamesa branch of the Santa Fe has quit carrying the mail, it coming on an early morning bus from Lubbock.

'Fiddlin' Bill' Crowder Was In Saturday

Bill Crowder of the Wellman section was in Saturday to get his Herald on the right side of the ledger. Bill has been a constant reader of the Herald since he landed in Terry county some 25 years ago. The Crowder family has always been right on the frontier, having come here from Stonewall county, where he lived many years and knew all the old ranchmen and pioneers of that section.

Bill was always handy with a fiddle, violin to you perhaps, and played for many cowboy dances in the Stonewall brakes. After coming here he was old enough to be classed as an "old time fiddler" and has played in and won a number of contests in this section. Mrs. Crowder is still in good health, but seldom comes to town. They reared several boys, but only one remains at home now, we believe.

Bill says he has to take the Herald to keep up with our windjamming, and really gets a kick out of most of our palaver.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Boyd of Slaton, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Madison Weaver, Thursday of last week.

SCHOLASTIC APPOINTMENTS ARE RECEIVED

Saturday, Nov. 4, the schools of Terry county received the final $2 payment of the 1938-39 scholastic apportionment. Thus, we complete payment of vouchers for the last year in November of this year. We hope this condition does not exist longer, for the teachers must borrow money on their vouchers or discount them, which is expensive.

Redford Smith was a business visitor in Levelland this week.

NO STONE

The taxicab came to a halt. The fare descended and proceeded to search his pockets.

"Sorry old man," he said, "but I haven't a dime."

Seeing that the driver was not taking it any to well, he added, "And you can't get blood out of a stone."

"No," agreed the driver, "but what makes you think you're a stone?"

C. L. Aven was a Lubbock visitor, Friday.

Behind the Scenes In American Business

By John Craddock

New York, Oct. 23.—BUSINESS

—A chance for the unemployed or partly employed to pick up a few dollars is indicated by the sharp rise in scrap iron prices since the war. From $15 a ton in August to $25 or $26 a ton today means a squeeze on the profits of steel companies, which mix equal quantities of scrap with iron ore in making steel, but anyone with the time and energy to scour cellars, vacant lots or junk heaps for discarded pieces of iron or steel should be able to sell such finding to the local junk dealers at a good price.

Another effect of the war has been on carpet prices, and anyone contemplating buying a new rug for the home would be well advised to buy now. Although the U. S. is second only to Australia in wool production, the mild climate here makes it impossible to produce the course, heavy wool needed for the carpets. China, involved in her own war with Japan can ship none here. Argentina and other suppliers have had their clip embargoed because of the European conflict. Result is a looming shortage in America, already reflected in a ten per cent increase in carpet prices since Sept. 1.

WASHINGTON — Once again the government is becoming concerned as business activity increases. Word has gone out that the Department of Commerce soon will issue a warning against over-expansion. Unless the brakes are applied to rapidly mounting inventories in hands of retailers, wholesalers, and manufacturers, some officials in the department feel, business next spring may have to coast along with several lean weeks or months while waiting for goods now being produced to be consumed. The theory is, of course, that sustained recovery can be built only by expanding the nation's production and production facilities at a rate that keeps just a shade ahead of demand from the public which is the ultimate consumer.

Jim Floyd, Lubbock cotton buyer was a visitor here Tuesday.

Tudor Sales Co. delivered 3 tudor sedans to the Mid-Continent Supply Co. at Seagraves, this week. O. A. Lemley purchased a

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Flache and son and Truett Flache returned home Wednesday after visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hill in San Antonio.
