Let's Insure the Cubs This Season

We don't know what the athletic council is doing about the matter, as we have not consulted them, but the Herald believes that the time has come to insure the football players against possible accidents. We know this, however, the athletic council has really had its hands full for the past year getting the Cub Field in shape, and they may need some help in any new undertaking.

The Herald has reliable information that football players can be insured for $1.50 each that will pay for medical or surgical services up to $100. We believe that there are enough business and professional men in the town to underwrite each of the players. The Herald will agree to take one, at least.

Who else will pay the premium on at least one player—maybe two or three of them. Let's hear from some others, especially would an expression from the Athletic Council be appreciated along this line.

Local doctors have been doing this job gratis, but we should not impose on their good nature.

Hackney Trying to See All Voters

Burton G. Hackney, Terry county's candidate for the office of District Attorney of the 106th Judicial District, has been a very busy man the past several days, or since it became positively known that he was to be in the run-off with Rollin McCord.

Burton stated this week that he was making a supreme effort to see just as many voters of the district as possible before August 24th. He is leaving his campaign in Terry county as much as possible to his friends, allowing him to devote most of his time to the other counties of the district.

Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. Opens Offices

Mr. Fred Jones of Hobbs, N. M., came in Monday to open the offices for the Stanolind Oil & Gas Co., in the Odd Fellow building. The city and citizenship in general welcomes these new comers, and hope they like Brownfield. If you happen to meet them, be sure to tell them you are glad they and their families are to make Brownfield their home.

The personnel is as follows: Mr. John J. McCrea, in charge of the office, from Fort Worth. L. L. Bechtel of Caspar, Wyo., in charge of production in the Slaughter pool of northwest Terry and southwest Hockley. Vance Sidley, of Midwest, Wyo., in charge of production in the Cedar Lake pool, in northeast Gaines county. Mr. Jones is the clerk.

Since the extension of the Slaughter pool, and the constant widening of the Cedar Lake pool, major oil companies like the Stanolind are coming to realize that Brownfield is the logical center of the North Permian, and that prices are still kept in the bounds of reason, making living conditions the equal of towns far from oil production, with no boom prices.

The Herald hopes soon to be able to announce that other companies have made similar decisions about this city. In fact, such negotiations are now under way.

Blankenships Attend 2 Family Reunions

Uncle Jack Blankenship was in the latter part of last week and told us a lot about the recent trip to two reunions he and his better half attended, all her kin folks—he has no kin folks he says—but the wife has enough to make up for both. The first one was near Knox City on a creek, where there was a fine grove for the occasion. Seventy-three kinsmen attended this one.

The other one was near Carter, Oklahoma, where the other side of his wife's kin spread it on, but there were not so many of them. But he told an incident of a very old man and a German daschound that tickled him and we very much. But you'll have to ask Uncle Jack to tell you, as it would not be exactly appropriate to put in these columns.

Uncle Jack says that he saw only one place on the entire trip where crops were equal to Terry county crops, and that was in the sandy lands of Knox county, although they had fair crops in some sandy country north of Mangum, Okla. They came home via Amarillo.

R. C. Burleson Fools the Kids

About the most underhanded trick that we have heard of an adult playing on a bunch of kids lately, was perpetrated by R. C. Burleson on a bunch of visiting children at the fine country home, recently. The incident is vouched for by a local grocer who seemed to have furnished the melons.

Anyway, let it be said that it lacks about ten days of being time for Terry county melons to come on the market, so R. C. purchased four large ones, staked them to his own vines, and Sunday morning took the visiting kids out to his patch to harvest the day's eating melons.

Anyway, the kids were reported to have greatly enjoyed the treat, and we have often heard that "what one does not know, won't hurt them."

Patterson Leaving for Piggly Wiggly Convention

V. L. Patterson, manager of the local Piggly Wiggly store, will leave Saturday by train for Chicago, to attend the national Piggly Wiggly convention. He will be gone about a week.

Mrs. Patterson and little son will go to Roscoe, Texas, to visit her parents while Pat is away. Hope Pat behaves and comes home in a whole piece.

Elmer Moser is now employed at the Piggly Wiggly Grocery.

One & Three Quarter Inches of Rainfall

The Brownfield area has had no "gully washers" or "trash movers" in the way of rainfall the past week, but we have received a fine season that will guarantee a crop nearer the equal of the 1937 crop than we have had in years. Then too, while there may be hot days, the nights are likely to be cool and pleasant for the sleeper from this on. And cool nights mean a lot to growing crops after a hot day.

Beginning last Monday night, 1.10 inches of rain fell last week, according to the gauge here, and as this is written Tuesday morning, another 65-100ths has been added, making one and 3-quarter inches. This is a fair average of the entire county, yet some sections have received more.

We have talked with a number of farmers, as well as many business men who are over all parts of the trade area a great deal, and they believe we are in for a great cotton, corn and feed crop. Through the hot and dry July the crops were cleaned, and were ready for the fine rains that have fallen so slow that not a drop has run off the field or pastures. The rains also mean lots of good grass and fat cattle this fall.

Some of the older corn has suffered some, as well as cotton, but it is believed that the rains will revive the shedding old cotton on the hard lands, and it will put on a good top crop—plenty time. And all the younger cotton, as well as old cotton on the sandier lands, are still good, and the young corn and other row feed crops are simply spreading themselves.

Of course, we will not make 57,000 bales of cotton again as in 1937, we do not have the acreage, but we will, if not bothered too bad with insects, make around 30,000 or 35,000 bales, which is above the average.

Later: Judge Oliver reports 20-100 inches that fell Tuesday to be added to above, making 1.95 inches the past week.

Naval Men Now Taken Up to 50 Years Old

Commander C. T. Edwards of the American Legion post called this week, and showed us a letter from the Naval Recruiting station at Dallas, wherein it stated that former navy men are now being taken in certain classes up to 50 years of age. Provided they have been in certain kinds of employment since retirement, they will get a higher rating than V-6.

Those with no previous navy training, but are seamen, are also desired for enlistment. Age limits 17 to 50. Married men will be recruited only if qualified to fill higher ratings than V-6.

A number of the local Legion men attended the district meeting at Lubbock this week, and reported a very fine meeting. The state commander scored Lindbergh and Senator Holt, and a resolution was adopted supporting the national preparedness program.

Church of Christ Meeting Closes Sunday

The revival being conducted by Elder Wallace Layton at the Church of Christ since the first Sunday, will close Sunday night.

Good crowds, especially at night have been attending, and there have been several additions and restorations.

The subject for tonight, according to the minister, is "The Evils of Denominationalism." This will be a chart subject and a number of tracts on the subject will be handed those who may be interested.

Miss Patsy Carter is visiting her father's sisters in Fort Worth.

Banker Heads Panhandle South Plains Fair

LUBBOCK, August 12.—C. E. Maedgen, president of the Lubbock National Bank, was elected President of the Panhandle South Plains Fair Association to succeed Sam C. Arnett, at a recent meeting of the Board of Directors.

Other officers to serve with Maedgen are Homer D. Grant and

C. E. Maedgen

M. B. Hillburn as Vice Presidents and C. E. Hunt as Treasurer. Mrs. C. E. Luce was elected Secretary.

Directors, other than the officers named, are Neil H. Wright, Joe Baldrige, J. A. Hodges and Charles A. Guy. Arnett, the retiring President, remains on the Board.

Fair officials announced that automobiles and other prizes will not be distributed by the Association during the fair. The practice was carried through sixteen years as an advertising medium. To take the place of the advertising derived through the free prizes, Fair officials approved a 33-1-3 increase in the Association's advertising budget. Some of this additional allotment will go to various South Plains newspapers and radio station KFYO.

Directors tentatively approved a premium list equal to that of 1939, which approximated $8,000. Premiums in the Women's Department are expected to be increased.

Legionnaires Attend Meet in Lubbock

The largest assembly of new officers of American Legion posts in the history of the 19th congressional district met in Lubbock Monday evening, August 12.

The occasion was the joint installation of the new officers at which Lou Roberts of Borger, state commander, officiated. Ceremonies were in the home of Allen Bros. post, 910 Texas Avenue who were official hosts for the occasion.

Eight posts outside of Lubbock were on hand for the installation.

The program started promptly at 7:30 o'clock and included a chow-line feed. Clark Mullican, Lubbock attorney and past commander of the Lubbock post, spoke briefly. Roberts then proceeded with the installation.

Those attending from here were C. T. Edwards, Chris Quante, J. M. Telford, Abe Lincoln, Homer Barnwell, Sam Pyeatt, H. R. Winston.

Terryites Will Enjoy A Real Tax Cut

Judge R. A. Simms was in on business early this week, and informed us that at a recent session of the Commissioners Court, that they made a reduction of 15c in the county tax rate. This reduction was made wholly in the Road and Bridge Department, and was made possible, he said, on account of the great increase in car and truck registration in Terry county.

This cut, together with the recently announced cut of 8 cents by the State of Texas, will give the old Tax Payer a real saving of 23 cents under the rate they paid last year, and will be highly appreciated.

The Herald, we know, voices the sentiment of the people of Terry county, when we say, Thank You!

Local Jaycees Hear State President

Speaking before an audience of 78 at the Cocanougher Cafe last Tuesday night, Binford Arney, Amarillo, state president of the Junior Chambers of Commerce, delivered a very interesting talk on National Defense.

During the national convention of the organization which was held in Washington, D. C., Mr. Arney was placed on a committee whose purpose it was to draw up resolutions on National Defense and whose privilege it was to be allowed to call before it and question any member of Congress and many other key figures of the defense set-up. With this experience, Mr. Arney was able to speak very authoritatively on this subject.

In the course of his speech, Mr. Arney stated that while our weapons were the equal if not superior to any on earth, they were woefully lacking in numbers; that our supply of munitions could be expended in three days; that our army is not as big as that of Belgium or the Netherlands; that there are not enough anti-aircraft guns in the country to defend New York City and that the Panama Canal is extremely vulnerable. He stated that it would be advisable for the country to undertake defending its possessions in the western hemisphere only until its various branches of defense are adequately strengthened. He strongly criticized the legislators who were delaying the passage of the compulsory Military Training bill.

Near the close of his address, Mr. Arney declared that seventy-five per cent of the delegates at the convention were in favor of the bill.

After Arney's talk, a motion was passed to wire congressman Mahon and Senators Sheppard and Connally that the local organization was in favor of the measure.

Invocation for the affair was delivered by W. A. Tittle. Music for the occasion was furnished by Roy Stevenson of Ropes and Mr. and Mrs. Ellison Carson, the numbers being introduced by Malcolm Thomason. Ray Christopher, local Jaycee president, introduced Mr. Arney. Vernon Brewer, local secretary, introduced the visitors and Raymond Johns of the Lamesa Senior Chamber of Commerce and T. L. Paterson, secretary of the local Senior Chamber of Commerce, were heard from in short talks. Brewer acted as master of ceremonies for the affair.

Ed Mayfield Leases Cosden Station

Ed Mayfield has leased the L. A. Rhyne Cosden Service Station on the Brownfield-Roswell highway, located 2 blocks west of the railroad. He is already in charge, and will handle Cosden products, and in addition have Havoline, Benzol, Diamond, Deep Rock, and Thermol oils and greases.

Ed is well known among the motorists of the area, having for several years been in the employ of H. R. Winston at the Snappy Service Station. He is very accommodating, and friendly to the nth degree, and we are sure he will make a real go of his new job. He asks that his friends and former customers call and see him at his new place of business.

Congressman Mahon On Inspection Tour

Congressman George H. Mahon, a member of the national defense appropriations committee, a sub-committee of the House appropriations committee, is on a tour of national defense posts in Alaska.

He left Washington by plane, with four other members of the sub-committee, a week ago Saturday for Seattle. From there the party was to make the trip to Alaska by clipper plane. Mahon is the only Texan on the sub-committee.

Mrs. Mahon and daughter Daphne are in Colorado City, visiting. She plans to leave there late this week, according to reports.

Mrs. Ray Christopher and Mrs. Jack Bailey left Monday for Ruidoso for a week's vacation.

Culberson to Make Strenuous Fight for Rail Commissioner

Crediting the support of Texas newspapers and the work of more than 12,000 volunteer workers with the success of his primary campaign for railroad commissioner, Olin Culberson today was burning up Texas highways to reach every section of the state before the runoff election. He planned to make at least 100 speeches during the next 30 days.

Before a banquet of firemen representing 400 Texas towns meeting at the annual firemen's training school at A. and M. College, Culberson thanked the 25,000 volunteer firemen of the state who had worked toward his election. Culberson served the firemen as secretary for the past 22 years and was active in their program to reduce fire insurance premiums by $2,500,000 a year for rural and urban areas in Texas.

Rallying to the Culberson standard were a number of the eliminated candidates for railroad commissioner including Walton Hood, John D. Copeland, Bailey Shepard, O. O. Terrell and others, who endorsed Culberson as the man best qualified by experience, integrity and ability for the office.

Rotarians Hear Health and Safety Program

In the absence of Dr. John R. Turner, Dr. W. S. Brumage had charge of the program at the Rotary Club last Friday. Subject for the program was "An Ounce of Prevention in Health and Safety."

Dr. Brumage told his audience of the great progress made by the medical profession toward the conquest of disease, many of them being almost completely eliminated in this country. He also stated that most of the better known diseases were more or less preventable. In closing, the doctor told of the work that was being done for and how treatment could be secured for needy crippled children.

Theme of today's program is "What I Know About the Other Man's Business." Featured on this program are Kyle Graves, C. L. Aven, Jim Graves and Dube Pyeatt.

Lots of Wind and Lightning; Little Rain

If it had rained in accordance with the amount of wind and electricity that the cloud had Saturday night, we might be in the same pickle as southwest Louisiana, calling for the Red Cross flood aid. But there was mighty little rain in the mixture.

Of course we had plenty rain before and since Saturday night. They say it's an ill wind that blows nobody good, and we have heard that lightning clears the atmosphere of germs, etc. Again, the thunder might have been sent to prepare us for Hitler's artillery.

Students Must Be Vaccinated

Dr. Brumage of the Five-County Health Unit, urges all children who are to enter school to be vaccinated for small pox.

The local school board has passed a law making it compulsory for all students to be vaccinated. Those who are unable to pay for this service can receive same by calling at the five county health unit headquarters in the court house.

Alexander Building To be Enlarged

Earl G. Alexander of Plainview, was down Tuesday looking for a contractor to figure on extending that part of their building occupied by the W. E. Latham Dry Goods Co., back the full length of the lot, making it 25x140 feet, instead of 25x100 feet as at present, thus giving them 1000 additional square feet of floor space, or a total of 3500 instead of 2500.

Earl stated to a Herald representative that Mr. Latham was badly crowded, as his stock was being constantly enlarged, and that it was physically impossible for him to properly display his goods as they should be displayed. As soon as bids on the construction can be consummated, the contract will be let for the extension of at least one story—two if there is a demand for it.

We believe that Earl will have little difficulty in getting tenants for the additional space of the second story. We believe that oil companies seeking headquarters here could be induced to take the additional space, as office space has been at a premium here for some time. It would not be a bad idea for either the Senior Jaycees to take this matter up before the contract is let, and get Mr. Alexander to put up the two story extension.

Earl and wife, who were both here, are still proud of the town they are still pleased to call home, and its rapid growth, and if they see that it will pay them to put the extra story on he extension, they'll do it. He stated to us that he would. The old part of the building is two stories.

Knob Knockers Visit Shamburger Yard

Sometime Monday night, burglars visited the offices of the C. D. Shamburger Lumber Co., entering at a window near the rear of the offices by breaking out a pane of glass, and near the safe. The knob on the safe was knocked off, but the burglar or burglars failed to get into the safe. They were probably scared away by passing people.

A lock expert from Lubbock worked about a half a day Tuesday before he succeeded in getting the safe open. Officers made an examination for finger prints, but evidently the thief wore gloves. The officers are continuing their investigation, however, for possible clues.

Joe Shelton Gets Job in Local P. O.

Joe Shelton, who has been postmaster at Tokio for the past several years, has accepted a position as clerk in the local post office, effective, we understand, September 1. Will C. Brown has been promoted to take the place of Mr. L. A. Jett, retiring.

We understand that Joe and family will move to Brownfield at once in order that he may be ready for his duties. We have not learned who will take his place as postmaster at Tokio.

'41 Hudson on Display At Ross Motor Co.

The 1941 version of the Hudson automobile is now on display at the Ross Motor Co. display rooms on Lubbock Avenue. Herald representatives who have seen it say it is a beauty, and has several entirely new features.

Mr. Ross invites all who may be interested to call and see this newest automobile.

And here is a hot tip for those who love watermelons. Scientists say they are rich in the important vitamin C. So eat 'em to your heart's content.

A lot of people have already learned that advertising doesn't cost anything—it pays something. Others are gradually learning. However, that does not keep a lot of guys from trying to press agent free advertising for men or measures.

The McLean News says that apparently some people think all the traffic laws were made for the other fellow. They will cut corners, drive without lights, run red lights or speed anywhere with impunity, with only the thought for their safety and the devil take the other fellow. A few stiff fines might change their minds however.

The Phillips Petroleum Co., and the B. F. Goodrich Co. have announced the formation of the nation's first synthetic rubber company, known as the Hydrocarbon Chemical and Rubber Co. It is stated that as much has been learned in 100 days about making synthetic rubber as was learned in 100 years about natural rubber.

But one of the heart-rending tragedies of the election, in our opinion, was the one wherein our friend Burton Hackney of Brownfield was one vote behind the second man in a six-county race for district attorney. Our guess is that the votes will be recounted and double-checked in that case.—Abilene Times.

Yes, but your friend Burton is definitely in the run-off, according to official count, he being some three votes ahead of the third man in the race.

Bill Knudsen, production chief of the National Defense program, stated recently that production of war planes had now reached a rate of 10,800 per year, and by January they would be speeded up to the 18,000 a year rate. They cleared contracts of $1,792,000,000 worth of army and navy contracts in the last two months. In the meantime, tooling for heavy production of munitions of all sorts is going forward rapidly, and there will be substantial deliveries by January first.

The grapevine route discloses the fact that there has been a great let-up in Red Cross contributions, as contributors are afraid that their donations for food, clothing and medicine will reach Hitler's army instead of the victims of it. If some arrangements cannot be made with German authorities for America to personally see to the distribution of such supplies, as fearless as it may seem, the Herald is not in favor of taking the chance of feeding Hitler's cutthroats. In fact, it is their business to feed, clothe and furnish medicine to the people they have subjugated.

Just about the time we are getting ready to quit paying poll taxes, along comes a congressman from out in California by the name of Geyer (some guy) and proposes to stop payment of poll taxes in Texas and seven other southern states. This would of course, apply only to elections wherein Federal office holders were concerned. His figures gives the low percentage of votes cast in these eight southern states at general elections as 14 per cent in South Carolina, the lowest, to only 33 in Tennessee, the highest. We might explain to Mr. Geyer that these states hold their election (nominations of the Democratic party) in the summer, and that is equivalent to election.

More than 28,000 votes were cast for candidates for representative in the 119th district this year—about twice the number when we were elected from there in 1926 and about four times the number who voted in the 116th district in this county this year. Some districts are due for a radical change in representation when the state is re-apportioned.—Abilene Times.

We are just guessing that the writer of the above is no other than Emmett Whitaker, who once represented the 119th district, as he lives at Abilene and works for the Times. Will just say that the people of the South Plains, the fastest growing section of Texas, are going to stay on the job this time until those East Texas hicks give us a square deal or secede from Texas. We are being taxed without proper representation, and that is what caused our own country to secede from England.

HOW BIG IS GIBRALTAR; WHY SO NAMED?

Great Britain's mighty fortress, located at the gateway to the Mediterranean off Spain, is about 3 miles long from north to south and varies in width from 1/4 to 3/4 of a mile. At its highest point, the Rock stands 1,408 feet above sea level. As a word, Gibraltar is a corruption of the Arabian "Jabal-Tariq," which may be translated to read "Rock of Tariq." Tariq is the name of the Moslem general who seized the rock in 711 and invaded Spain. Gibraltar, which was held by the Moslems for some 600 years, has been Britain's since 1704, when a Spanish garrison yielded it to a British fleet after two days of mediocre resistance. Britain's ownership of the Rock was formally confirmed in the Peace of Utrecht in 1713.—Pathfinder.

Truett Flache, who has been stationed at Ft. Bliss near El Paso was transferred to Ft. Sill, near Lawton, Oklahoma this week. He visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Flache en route to his new post.

W. R. Gandy Bedroom To Be Beautified
By Margetta Holloway

Mrs. W. R. Gandy, secretary-treasurer of the Pleasant Valley Home Demonstration Club, and bedroom demonstrator for her community, plans to begin work within the next few weeks on her bedroom improvement project.

The dresser is being worked over now by a friend who is leveling up the top and taking the 'stuck' out of the drawers. This piece of furniture is to be the first beautified by Mrs. Gandy. She plans to remove the several coats of chipped enamel with lye water and a brush, rinsing well in vinegar water which will neutralize the lye on the wood. Of course, before the new finish is put on, the entire dresser will be rubbed smooth with fine sandpaper and 'elbow grease' and wood filler applied. After the dresser, the bed will enjoy similar experiences. All the furniture is to be refinished in mahogany.

Walls are to be covered in a dusty rose paper of small, simple design, with the ceiling done in white. The windows will be curtained in a white, sheer, inexpensive material, with gaily colored what nots, dresser scarfs, and appropriate pictures will add interest to the room.

A cotton tufted bed spread will show to still greater advantage the mattress Mrs. Gandy plans to make this fall from 50 pounds of their whitest, longest staple cotton.

This bedroom improvement will be an example of what can be done with what one already has at small expense. The work, of course, will be done by the Gandy family, aided by interested friends.

DRIVING LESSONS BY TEXAS SAFETY ASS'N

AUSTIN, Aug. 12.—Driver training courses for instruction of Texas high school students in traffic safety will be offered next September with one-half credit allowed toward graduation, it has been announced by the Texas Safety Association.

Incorporation of safety education in the school curriculum recently was approved by the State Education Committee on Accreditation and successfully climaxes the efforts of the Texas Safety Association, the public safety department, and the state education department to secure its adoption.

The course will be an effective one designed for students approximating the legal driving age of sixteen who will receive driver's licenses upon passing it. Unique among driver training courses of other states is the home project feature of the Texas course which will permit behind-the-wheel instruction in driver operation under the supervision of the pupil's parents.

"The need for training youngsters in the principles of safe and sane driving has long been recognized," said George Clarke, executive secretary of the association. "Not only are these youngsters the drivers of tomorrow, they are to a most important extent the drivers of today."

"Statistics of the public safety department reveal that youthful drivers constitute 30 per cent of and drivers involved in fatal traffic accidents and 26 per cent of the total number of drivers involved in non-fatal accidents."

Mrs. Earl Bristoe and two children of Vernon are guests of her sister, Mrs. W. E. Latham and Mr. Latham.

BIG BUSINESS PUTS PRESSURE FOR WILLKIE ON CUSTOMERS

Commenting on high-pressure campaign methods now being indulged in by Willkie backers, the Macoupin County Enquirer (Carlinville, Ill.), carries this illuminating paragraph:

"Willkie backers are resorting to the chain letter racket to get campaign funds. And Big Business is back of the G. O. P. candidate 100 per cent. Henry J. Flori this week received a letter from the J. A. Sexauer Mfg. Co., big plumbing concern with plants and offices in New York, San Francisco, and Niagara Falls, asking him to send in a donation, and to send a letter like the one he received to '10 other good American citizens.' Surely no master plumber nor journeyman would break the chain," the letter stated.

No CCC Camp This Year—Maybe So Next Year

We have before us a letter addressed to Hon. Tom Connally, Junior Senator from Texas, from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Soil Conservation Service, which was in answer to one he had written them, as well as Senator Connally's enclosure of a letter he had received from the Herald in regards to a CCC camp to be located in Brownfield.

The substance of the letter addressed to Senator Connally was that at the present time the limited number of camps had already been assigned, and as there are no new ones being provided for in appropriations, those now in existence will have to have completed their objective at their present site.

The chief of the department stated that our application was being filed with the Amarillo office "with the request that full consideration be given the desire of the citizens of Brownfield at such times as camp moves become possible."

NEW SECRETARY FOR AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY

At the August meeting of the Board of Managers of the American Bible Society, the Rev. Frank Wyman Langham was elected Secretary of the Society's Southwestern District, composing the states of Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas, with headquarters in Dallas, Texas. He succeeds Rev. Mr. Langham is a native of Alabama, receiving his education not only in that state, but in California and in South Carolina. S., since 1924.

He comes to his new task September 1, from eleven years as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Palestine, Texas.

Says the Native Go Barefoot and Dip

We had a highly decorated card this week from Ben, Belle and Icky. If you don't know who they are, will tell you. It is Ben Hilliard, for several years assistant cashier at the Brownfield State Bank, who married Belle Williamson, who was employed by the Herald for some ten years. Icky is their small offspring. Ben is now with the auditing department of the Liquor Control Board, and they are taking their vacation in Tennessee and Kentucky, thus the card.

Naturally they would to, trying to guy us, send a card from Knoxville, knowing we are a native of the old Volunteer State, and being in the "licker business" to some degree, of course, they sent a card of a distillery hid back in a nice green thicket under a mountain bluff. The barrel the liquid is running into, is plainly marked, "coffee" and the bottle under the spout is a Coca-Cola bottle. As a further alibi for our grand old native state, it plainly states without equivocation, "making moonshine in Kentucky." Tennesseans don't drink anything stronger than branch water—well, hardly ever.

And in the writing on the front part, they state natives still go barefooted and dip snuff—still referring to Kentuckians, we presume. P. S. We understand that Ben, Belle and Icky are on their way to Brownfield to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Williamson before returning to his job in Dallas, and we are just wondering if they kept a sample of that barrel goods?

Why Birth Certificates Are So Important

AUSTIN, Aug. 12.—"Patience should be exercised by those who have made application to the State Department of health for a certified copy of their birth certificate, and have not yet received them," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"The Bureau of Vital Statistics is receiving an average of five hundred applications for birth certificate copies daily, and the number of persons available in the health department to handle this flood of requests is grossly inadequate to meet the demands made. The files must be searched for each individual record and when found it is photostated for the applicant."

"The reason for this great increase in applications for birth certificate copies can be found to be due, in part, to the gravity of the international situation. Army and Navy recruits must have a certified copy of their birth certificates to be eligible to enter military service. All persons connected with the radio broadcasting stations must have a copy of their birth certificates. Since a birth certificate is in reality the first citizenship paper of a baby born in these United States, thousands are applying for this personal record as legal proof of citizenship," continues Dr. Cox.

Some other important uses of birth records are:
To prove that a child has reached school age; To prove legal age to enter a profession or employment; To prove legal age to marry without parental consent; To determine the parents' liability for evidence in criminal cases involving certain acts of their children; As age of consent; As evidence to determine relations of guardians and wards; To obtain passports and similar document; As evidence in the administration of estates, and in settlement of insurance and pensions; As evidence in connection with jury service; To prove age in determining validity of contracts; To prove or disprove consanguinity or kinship; To secure old age pensions; To prove age as qualifications for voting and holding public office.

Be Sure You Have Protective Coverage

Bernis W. Carmichael, Asst. Soil Conservationist

Hundreds of acres of land in Terry County, that are being used for sudan pasture, have been over grazed during the past few weeks of drought. Since the rains of the past few days these pastures should be allowed to make a new growth of sudan to secure a protective cover against blowing. If these fields are not allowed to rest and produce a protective cover, they may suffer severe soil blowing next winter.

Recent dry weather that has visited the High Plains Region this summer, has severely damaged most of the row crops in many areas, and only good rains during the late summer and fall can establish the ground cover that will be necessary to protect a lot of the land against severe erosion next winter.

Dry weather also is causing many ranchers in some areas of the Plains, to begin a search for additional supply of feed for the coming winter. The decreased grass growth may result in severe damage to much of the range land. During drought periods, farmers and ranchers must be careful to preserve all the plant cover possible on lands that have been subject to blowing in the past, if they hope to prevent severe dust storms next winter.

If farmers keep their eyes open and realize the seriousness of the situation, which might develop, most of the damage can probably be prevented.

All stubble and other crop residues should be kept on the land and grazed pastures should be protected as far as possible.

Whenever stalk fields are over grazed, the damage to the land is less than when they are plowed and the small amount of feed secured from the field.

TO PREPARE THOUSANDS FOR FLYING

National Aeronautics Council Plans Course Under Military, Naval and Civil Experts

GEN. JAMES E. FECHET (Ret.)

THE National Aeronautics Council has just launched a movement to teach aviation in its various branches to thousands of young men and women, under the guidance of recognized experts who are officials of civilian flying services as well as ranking officers, or ex-officers, of the Army and Navy. The individual cost will be nominal—only twenty-five cents a week. The plan has in mind the many youths who are enthusiastic on the subject of becoming pilots or seeking careers in airport work or airplane manufacturing, but who cannot afford a flying school course, or who are in localities where aviation training schools are not available. It aims to present by mail the numerous preparatory steps in "ground school" work and emphasizes the point that a flying aspirant must learn a great many things on the ground before being fitted to sit at the controls of a plane.

General James E. Fechet, retired, formerly Chief of Air Corps, U. S. Army, heads the Editorial Board. Captain Holden C. Richardson, formerly with the Bureau of Aeronautics, U. S. Navy, and who piloted the famous NC-3 on its trans-Atlantic flight in 1919, is one of the advisory experts for naval aviation. Dr. Alexander Klein, chairman of the Engineering Department, Daniel Guggenheim School of Aeronautics, New York University, is in advisory capacity for civil aviation. Coordinating the work of these and numerous other experts, as general editor, is Don Ryan Mocker, well known throughout the aviation industry for the part he has played in its astounding growth. Among those who will contribute the benefit of their varied experience in the form of lectures and specialized instruction are Col. Harold E. Hartney, who was commander of the First Pursuit Group, A.E.F.; Col. Roger Q. Willis, a pioneer trans-Atlantic pilot; K. W. Schroeder, vice-president, United Air Lines; Dr. Jean Piccard, professor of aeronautical engineering, University of Minnesota, and some sixty other aviation executives and experts.

Many enthusiasts who do not aspire to become army pilots (perhaps because of age or slight physical defects) nevertheless may find the job they would fit in the humming atmosphere of the private or commercial airport. They may get the fundamental knowledge required for airplane engineering, designing or production department personnel, or for aerial photographer, radio operator, or some forty other jobs about the flying field. More than 1,500 photographs, charts and diagrams will have to be studied by the students in the course of mastering some 1,028 lectures; likewise air photos and working maps of the twenty-four principal American airports and others. All of these, however, are to be clearly and painstakingly explained in simple phraseology, as are more than 3,000 pages of instruction text.

Aviation authorities estimate that 900,000 or more trained men and women will be absorbed by civil and government air branches within the next twelve months. Particulars may be obtained from, and applications for the course made with, the National Aeronautics Council, Instruction Department, 37 West 47th St., New York, N. Y.

Record: The 1940 first primary campaign should be remembered for a lot of things.

For the Sadler wowing and winning of the O'Daniel stringers, for Sadler's hiring of Jarrin' Jaw'n Kimbrough of all-American fame, for his suggestion that the Rio Grande river be set afire in case of invasion from the south, for his enlisting of that smoothie, Harley Sadler, in his campaign with a voice practically as unctuous as that of the governor, for the Sadler campaign song.

For O'Daniel's attack on all state departments and the subsequent disclosure that his boys belonged to the Millionaire Sportsmen's club . . . his reply that the boys had been used by perfidious politicians . . . his sound truck and its explanations, his snakes-and-vipers phrase which replaced Sing, Leon, and Pass the Biscuits, Pappy . . . his there ain't gonna be no runoff song.

For Thompson's about-face in campaigning methods . . . his where-were-you-Wilbert . . . his red-white-and-blue jalopy and it's a long way to tipperary refrain, his nickel-for-grandma slogan.

For the collapse of the Derden bubble, Derden's spat with Treasurer-Candidate McKee over whether a platform plank could be copyrighted . . . his joining the Hines bandwagon right when he was representing his campaign as at its height . . . For Hines' "For America I Will" pledge . . . and his quarrel with Mineral Water Magnate Carr Collins over radio time.

For Ma and Jim's revival of the flour sack issue (do you remember 1924?) . . . For Jim's ire when Pappy referred to him as the impeached governor . . . and Ma's taking the burden of speech-making in a big way.

For the "draft Brooks" pre-campaign campaign by Brooks . . . and his spat with Culberson over who was the more ethical in their respective uses of the volunteer firemen and the schoolboy patrols.

For the Hardin family campaign in all its entirety, including the quartet of cousins and the quintet of brothers . . . for the Hardin Hog episode, for the slogan, "Put Hardin in the Harness" and the song to the tune of "Put on Your Old Grey Bonnet".

Contour farming and high-speed highways have put curves into fence building. A straight fence dividing a pasture and a field farmed on the contour wastes either a great deal of pasture or farm land. The mechanics of building fences on the contour is explained in a new publication, "Farm Fences" Farmers Bulletin No. 1832, which can be secured from county agricultural agents or by writing either the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. or the Extension Service, Texas A. and M. College, College Station, Texas.

Dr. W. R. White Heads Hardin-Simmons U.

ABILENE, Aug. 5.—Dr. W. R. (Billy) White, nationally known denominational leader, newly elected to the presidency of Hardin-Simmons University, took office without formalities today as the school's seventh head.

"I'm going to hit the ground running," he told university trustee in accepting their tender of the position as successor to the late Dr. J. D. Sandefer, Hardin-Simmons president for 31 years.

First act of Dr. White, after accepting the presidency, was to go to the memorial triangle on the H-SU campus, where he laid a wreath on Dr. Sandefer's grave.

"Prexy, we are gathered here to dedicate ourselves, by the grace of God, to carry on the work you have so well begun, and to build, in His name, a superstructure of the foundation you have laid," he said there. Dr. Sandefer, at his death last March 22, was the dean of senior college and university presidents in the Southwest.

Dr. White comes to Hardin-Simmons from Oklahoma City, where for five years he has been the pastor of the First Baptist Church, second largest in the denomination. Of its 6400 members, 2500 have been added during Dr. White's ministry.

IT'S GREAT TO BE AN AMERICAN!

A man died last night . . . died with an arm torn away, his stomach contorted by short rationing . . . died writhing with his face turned into earth churned soft by the feet of troops. He lies there still . . . powerless now to hear his young son crying to stop the leather-heeled marauder who sacks his home, to see the flames leap up as they spread across the open town he left so recently.

But he, the dead soldier, was no American.

Too bad, that. If this had been his country he might have sat in the ball park last night and watched the great DiMag blast one over the left field fence. Or he might have heard Bing Crosby on the radio. He'd have come home from work, walking with his coat over his arm . . . or he'd have hopped a bus, or an elevated, or a street car. Or he'd have driven his own jalopy, yelling "Howdy!" to Jim Brown as he turned the corner into his own street. His young namesake would have been jumping for the funny papers before he'd have been able to get into the house; and once inside, his wife would have told him about the new blossoms in the garden, as he washed for dinner. Maybe he'd have topped off the meal with cherry pie and later in the evening he might have orated long and loud on the virtues or evils of his favorite subject—politics. He might have done all that and gone to bed with no greater worry than the thought of having to pay the light bill in the morning.

That's what it is to be an American. It's waking up with nothing to mar the sky but a cloud that looks like rain. It's celebrating the Fourth of July—INDEPENDENCE DAY—with a family picnic. It's writing a letter to the editor and telling him what's wrong with the government, or it's a year going by without seeing a soldier. It means all this to be an American . . . and it's GREAT—Memphis Labor Review.

PEOPLE WANT DEFENSE, NOT WAR

A financial authority recently made this significant observation: "Let us be on guard against the building of war hysteria. Let us keep it clearly in mind that we are talking about defense and not going to war. This is the time for clear thinking rather than emotional thinking."

The standard polls indicate that while the American people are almost unanimously in favor of adequate preparedness, they are also overwhelmingly opposed to belligerent participation in the European slaughter.

Industry does not want war, if for no higher reason, it knows from its experience in the last World War that it results in ruinous taxation and depression. It will do all in its power to avoid war—even while it does all in its power to make our defenses so strong that all aggressors will hesitate at bringing war to us.

STATE FIRE MARSHAL CAUTIONS RANCHMEN

AUSTIN, Aug. 5.—Texas farmers and ranchers today were advised by Marvin Hall, state fire insurance commissioner, to exercise every precaution in the prevention of costly forest fires.

The danger of such fires is high in the late summer and early fall, he said, especially in areas scorched by prolonged drought such as the panhandle region in West Texas. Land owners in South Texas also were advised to take steps to protect grazing areas.

Land scorched by fire may take two years for reseeding, necessitating heavy expense on the part of livestock men who may be forced to lease other pastures or purchase feed.

Hall advised the adoption of practices of old-time cowboys and Rangers in breaking off the heads of matches after they have been ignited. Small land owners have plowed furrows around pastures to guard against the spread of fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hogue recently visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lemmons in Snyder.

Industrial Mobilization Outlined by Governor

Participation of Texas in the industrial mobilization for national defense will receive the first attention of everyone connected with the Texas Industrialization Program, Governor W. Lee O'Daniel told chairmen of 227 local industrialization committees in a bulletin just released.

Commenting on the fact that Texas now has 8,000 manufacturing enterprises whose facilities will doubtless be useful to the nation in the present emergency, the Governor predicted that many new plants would be located in the State.

"It was fortunate," the Chief Executive said, "that when this emergency developed, we already had underway in Texas an Industrialization Program, with community and business surveys being made and with careful plans being laid for business expansion. The entire staff and facilities of the Texas Industrialization Program have now been assigned to the work of organizing the State's resources and energies to meet the needs of the new situation."

The Governor transmitted to the local committees a list containing hundreds of items which the Army and Navy Departments require, and gave the names and addresses of the procurement offices for the various branches of the federal service which will provide specifications requested by Texas concerns.

He advised local business executives to communicate directly with these procurement offices, pointing out that correspondence with or visits to Washington are not encouraged by the federal authorities supervising the defense program.

A JACK AND JILL STORY

College Sta., August 5.—How many miles is it from the house to the well on the average farm?

An engineer for the United States Department of Agriculture recently found that a farm woman who was born and who died on the same farm after an active 50 years of operating the place had been obliged to make on an average of four trips a day from the house to the well to provide water for the household. The well was 20 feet from the house and was 10 feet lower, so that a walk down hill and up was necessary.

The engineer calculated that during 50 years this woman had carried 7,000 barrels of water from the well to the house, had walked a distance equivalent to that from New York to San Francisco and back, and had climbed up a distance equal to 100 trips up and down Pike's Peak.

Home demonstration agents and other workers of the A. and M. College Extension Service are constantly urging farm people who are financially able to install home conveniences, providing they do not already have them. According to Mrs. Bernice Claytor, extension specialist in home improvement, there is no household labor-saving convenience of more value on the farm than a water system and sewage disposal. Literature on probable cost and how to install water systems is available from the Extension Service.

PELLAGRA

AUSTIN, August 5.—Pellagra, while not a communicable disease, is of concern to the State Health Department since the Texas pellagra mortality over the past five years shows an annual rate of 697, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"Pellagra is a dietary deficiency disease caused by insufficiency of the proper foods. The disease infects a person slowly and may not be recognized until the victim begins to have a sore mouth, stomach trouble, and reddening and scaling of the skin. When these symptoms appear, the disease has been present for some time," Dr. Cox pointed out.

The longer period of time a person has been infected with pellagra, the harder it is to cure, so one should be on the lookout for the early symptoms, such as nervousness, indigestion and burning of the feet and hands. In its early stages, pellagra may be so severe as to affect the mind.

Pellagra is not contagious. If a person maintains the right dietary and is not otherwise diseased, he is in no danger even if he lives with a pellagra patient.

The prevention of pellagra is easier than its cure. Simplest rule of prevention is careful attention to the diet at all times. To make sure that your daily diet includes pellagra preventive vitamins, it should include plenty of milk, some fresh meat, and as many fresh vegetables as possible. Tomatoes, whole wheat products, salmon and brewer's yeast are particularly valuable for the pellagra preventive qualities.

"LOVE OF TRUTH"

Among those thrown into prison in Germany last fortnight were six individuals found guilty of using their ears. Their crime was the monstrous one of listening in on radio programs broadcast from foreign lands.

These six vile criminals had the temerity to suppose that God gave them a sense of hearing without any strings attached—as if God (Who is a good Nazi) would have thus sabotaged a law of Der Fuehrer! In their poisonous pluto-Democratic baseness, they were stupid enough to assume that if dogs and monkeys are free to absorb sound, human beings must be also—as if there were no difference between a human being and a dog or a monkey!

To what lengths will perfidy go! These six pairs of polluted ears were a clear menace to the Fatherland. For if the free exercise of one's sense of hearing were allowed, what could Nazidom expect? Why, before long people would begin to imagine they were at liberty to smell anything, see anything, talk anything and even think anything!

Considering the immensity of their crime, the six listeners-in were lucky to get off with nothing worse than three years in jail. If Adolf Hitler were a man of harder heart, he would have smashed in their eardrums, gouged out their just to be on the safe side. But Nazi justice is sweet-tempered and anyhow most Germans realize that foreign radio stations tell nothing but lies. Or, as the official report on this case put it: "In Germany everyone listens only to the German word. The love of truth of the German news policy is recognized throughout the world."

Of course.—Pathfinder.

A Long Standing Friend Passes On

From the last issue of the Merkel Mail, Merkel, Texas, we learn that our good friend, Rev. J. M. Fryar, who was the local Methodist pastor from 1914-17, has passed over the divide, the date being July 27th, at the home in Beebe, Ark. About two years ago he was superannuated on account of poor health, and moved to Beebe, where the superannuate home is located. The Mail stated that he was editing the Beebe Sentinel at the time of his death.

Deceased was born back in west Tennessee about the same time as the writer, and learned the printing trade there, later coming to Texas, editing papers at Colorado, Big Spring, Merkel, Rising Star, and Ranger before entering the ministry. Many the time while located here, when the Herald would get head over heels in work, the ex-printer and preacher would walk in, throw off his coat, don an apron, and work like sixty. We became great pals, and we had many mutual meals together.

He thoroughly enjoyed a good clean joke, and was a perfect mimic, and his own flock came in for some of his mimic stunts that tickled us greatly. This was not generally known however, as we kept it under our hat, and he of course did it all in fun for our amusement. We often told him he was a better printer and editor than preacher. He and family and the then presiding elder took their last meal in Terry county at our home, being New Year, 1918, when he was transferred to the North Texas conference. He held many pastorates in Arkansas. We promised to send him the Herald so long as we published it, and have kept our word. The family still gets it. Peace to his ashes, and condolence to his bereft family.

Survivors are his wife, two sons, and two daughters and several grand-children. He was a brother of Charles A. Fryar, publisher of the Shackelford County Leader, Albany, and former Merkel newspaper man. Two other brothers, one in Little Rock and one in Tennessee, also survive.

69 NEW OIL FIELDS

KISSING BUG INVADERS TEXAS

El Paso Herald-Post: "County Farm Agent Foster said he has received a number of inquiries from El Paso Valley residents about raids of the 'kissing bug,' particularly attacks on children. The kissing bug is a blood-sucker with peculiar mating habits. It is not new in the United States, but comparatively so in the El Paso Valley. The bug got its popular name—'kissing bug'—from its habit of choosing the lips or cheeks for its attacks. It inflicts a painful wound, as painful as a bee or yellow-jacket sting, and sometimes induces vomiting."

STRIKING AT NATION'S STOMACH

The people are willing and anxious to dig down in their pockets for the billions which are necessary to defend the United States in a hostile world of force. But the people should not be expected to tolerate unnecessary drains on their income. Laws which deter enterprise and artificiality boost the cost of living must be relegated to the scrap heap. 'Anti-efficiency' laws directed at modern distribution methods are good examples of this kind of legislative negation.

An army fights on its stomach. The same is true of nations. We are not at war. But we are fighting against time to gain the power to survive in the event that war is ultimately forced into our hemisphere. By all odds one of the most essential tasks is the low cost distribution of food and other necessities. This is the stuff on which morale is built—and it becomes all the more important at a time when the portion of national income absorbed by government is taking a sudden and drastic rise. America has perhaps the most efficient distribution system in the world. But pressure groups have been attacking this system on the ground that it is too big and too efficient! Many states have passed laws which, in effect, make economy and efficiency in distribution a crime.

What we need today is more efficiency, not less. We need more efficiency in our people, in our industry, and in our legislative halls. Business and political groups that spend their time in irrelevant sniping at imaginary evils of some other group, might well be looked upon with favor by the fifth columnist.

WTCC Submits Its Legislative Program

ABILENE, Aug. 12.—Week end announcement was made by J. S. Bridwell, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce...

This was the engagement of a noted budgeteer, Dr. Geo. C. Hester of Georgetown, for services as counsellor to the WTCC's commission on public expenditure...

Dr. Hester is an outstanding member of the faculty of Southwestern University, head of its school of government. He was formerly a member of the Legislature of Texas...

Highlights in the program: (1) To prepare and submit general recommendations as to the next biennium's budget for the state...

(2) To submit the main essentials of a measure setting up an up-to-date state budget procedure designed to effect centralization and control over all state receipts and disbursements...

(3) To submit the main essentials of an amendment to the state Uniform Budget Law, giving greater standardization to and mandatory requirements for budget making in local political subdivisions...

(4) To submit the main essentials of a measure to accomplish the collection of delinquent taxes, delegating this authority to the state rather than to local authorities...

ties, and requiring 100 per cent collection for fixing of local tax rates.

(5) To submit the main essentials of a measure to improve for local subdivisions the antiquated debt-incurring and debt-paying practices now in effect. Purpose of this measure would be to make it harder for local subdivisions to incur debts, and to make it easier to pay these debts...

The general outlines of the WTCC's program is being taken to the territory for complete explanation in a series of town meetings. Districts Nos. 1 and 2 (Panhhandle-South Plains) have been visited, and the whole territory is to be covered before the legislature meets in January...

Dr. Hester is taking his new assignment enthusiastically. He is already at work. His duties call for extensive research in a field in which he is thoroughly at home; also travel to other states where budgetary practices have been modernized and simplified.

Hester wrote D. A. Bandeen: "I think the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has outlined some magnificent and far reaching projects. Once such plans are inaugurated and put in practice in Texas, they would not only save our state many millions annually, but would probably avoid multiplied millions in new taxes in the future. These five projects cover pretty generally the entire governmental problem in Texas, and by supplying such a program you would be rendering an invaluable service."

Miss Winnie DuBose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. DuBose, of Brownfield, has recently entered Draughton's Business College of Lubbock for specialized training in Shorthand and Typing. Miss DuBose is a half-day student.

Misses Jane Brownfield and Earlene Jones, James Youngblood and Boy Tarpley were guests of Mrs. L. M. Wingerd in Ruidoso, the first of the week.

Mrs. Jim Graves, Mrs. Marlin Hayhurst, and Miss Martin, house guest of Mrs. Graves, went to Carlsbad Wednesday to see the caverns.

Highways Not Built For Private Business

AUSTIN, Aug. 12.—The old controversy over the advantages and disadvantages, the justness and the injustices, the lack of economy in by-passing smaller cities with arterial highways has waxed violently back and forth over Texas and other states. Charles E. Simons turns the spy glass on a by-pass route being constructed by the Texas Highway Department around San Marcos. His article, "For Comfort, Safety and Convenience," appears in the August issue of Texas Parade.

"The contention is held by some," he writes, "that it is of small advantage to traffic by-passing a city with through traffic, that it is rank injustice to the respective business houses that draw a portion of their trade from that portion of the traveling public that travels by highway, that it doesn't save anybody anything.

"Others have argued that it is an imposition to force through traffic to go any place it doesn't want to go, especially through the winding narrow streets of many of our smaller towns and villages, that it constitutes a distinct traffic hazard both to the motorist and to the resident of the village, that it costs him more in wear and tear and gasoline and oil and that it also costs, in the aggregate, much time that could be saved.

"The author has listened attentively to both sides of the argument and has reached some very definite conclusions. Speaking solely for himself and with no intent to persuade those whose interests dictate and opposing viewpoint, he always has gone back to the principle that the traveling public foots the bill for the construction of a highway; that is, in a very real sense, his highway for which he has paid a heavy toll; that he, as the user of the highway who paid dearly for it is the main person to be considered in arriving at any decision concerning the traffic facility; that he is, the sole and exclusive reason for the construction of the highway in the first place and that he has, if anyone does have, the exclusive vested interest in it.

"This line of reason refutes the argument that a person who has constructed his business along an established artery of travel has a vested interest in the road and in the traffic that goes over it. This line of reasoning holds in view that the highway traveler was responsible for the road and the business, both, and that both should be subservient to his safety, convenience and comfort.

In This Corner
The Davis Travelogue
By Mrs. E. C. Davis

It is impossible to describe fully the beauty of the furnishings. The original French wall paper in a floral panelled design and antique oil portraits and paintings decorated the walls. The white marble fireplace was carved in a cala lily design over which hung a mirror in an adams frame. Upon the mantel was a French ormolu clock with urn-like vases on either side, all under glass cases. The door knobs were of silver. The furniture was of carved rosewood, all imported from France we saw genuine Hepplewhite and Sheraton chairs. The bronze chandeliers had Cupids mounted on the cross pieces. In the dining room was a large mahogany banquet table with its satin-like finish upon which rested a filigree silver fruit basket. The buffet was loaded down with silver services and decanters made of pure coin silver. The china cabinet contained French china and glassware worth a king's ransom and on the other side of the room was a marble topped table used for carving. The original gold brocaded drapes hung at the windows. The huge bedroom was furnished with French rosewood 4-poster canopy bed carved in a grape design. A trundle bed slipped under the big bed in the day time and a cradle stood in front of the window. In the corner was a priceless cheval mirror.

The hall dividing the house in two parts is about 80 feet long and very wide here we saw an old carved mahogany bookcase full of rare books, a finely carved pier table, sofas and chairs. From the ceiling was suspended a gorgeous bronze chandelier. Of course she told us some interesting stories about the Marshals who lived here — one that Mr. Marshal was the largest slave owner in Mississippi at the time of the Civil War. He owned 1600 slaves and treated them well.

Next we went to a typical town house called "The Airlie", the central part of this home had the distinction of being the oldest in Natchez, wings were added from time to time. It is frequently spoken of as the Buckner home. Mrs. Carroll introduced us to Mrs. Lena Stewart Merrill as we went into the house. In the hall was her grandfather's (Mr. Buckner) framed passport to Belgium where he went as ambassador in 1870. His law books were in a huge mahogany book case and desk, that contained a secret drawer. Among the furnishings were gorgeous marble torchiers flanking the fire place of wrought iron in grape design. There were French porcelain figurines mounted on velvet frames. Something we all had never seen before. In the living room were two gold upholstered chairs she called "hoop chairs" made especially for the ladies. In the dining room beautiful French and Belgium china and coin silver services were much in evidence. At the base of the buffet was a mirror 2 feet high and extending its length which was called "the petticoat mirrors."

When we left there we thought surely there could not be anything else to see but she took us to "The Auburn" now owned by the city and furnished at the cost of $21,000 by the Garden Club. The thing of greatest beauty here was the spiral staircase having no support of any kind, the huge mirrors in Adam's frame that reached from floor to ceiling and the Waterford Glass Chandeliers. The grounds had been planted by the Garden Club. Magnolias, gradenias and crepe myrtles in five shades were in blossom.

Then we went to the "King's Tavern," bought at the cost of $3,000 and restored and furnished at the cost of $15,000 by the Natchez Garden Club. The tap room, the open fireplace with cooking vessels, the pewter ware, the once rough benches and tables (now smooth with age), the vaulted ceilings and the ladies' sleeping quarters on the upper floor, all took you back to the early Colonial days when hustle and bustle were unheard of. The whole atmosphere of Natchez and their antebellum homes was so restful that I, for one, hated to leave our gracious lady guide when 11:30 a. m. came.

LUBBOCK COUPLE MARRIED AT METHODIST CHURCH HERE
Miss Mae Brady and Paul V. Bush were united in marriage on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock with Rev. H. W. Hanks, pastor of the Brownfield Methodist church, reading the service. A few friends witnessed the single ring ceremony.

After an hour's drive north, it began to rain and was misting as we drove through the cemetery seeing the Confederate and Union lines of defense and stopped at the museum where a Ranger told us the story of the siege of Vicksburg. After seeing the Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin monuments (the most beautiful there) we drove into Vicksburg for dinner. By that time it was really raining and we decided to change our theme song to "The Wind and the Rain in Our Hair." We had fired of the "Woodpecker's Song" anyway.

It rained all afternoon, till we got to Shreveport, La. By that time we heard of the floods and etc., in East Texas and we decided we had better get as far home as possible as soon as we could.

After eating at Shreveport at 8:30 p. m. we set out on the long night's trip home. Esther decided at Terrell she would walk to Dallas, she was so tired of the car. We all laughed when she finally got back in the car. I was home-bound and the car seemed to know it too. Though the down-pour in Dallas slowed us up some we arrived home right side up, safe and sound by noon the next day (Wednesday, July 3rd). Good old West Texas looked good to us for K was home!

METHODIST M. S.
Both circles of the Methodist Missionary Society met Monday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock at the church. Mrs. Finney led the monthly Outlook lesson. Mrs. H. W. Hanks gave the meditation. Mrs. Jacobson played a piano number and Mrs. Tobe Powers sang "Still, Still With Thee."
"The Jews in America" was the topic discussed by Mrs. H. H. Hughes. At the close of the program, Mrs. G. R. Arnett conducted a business meeting.

SIMPLIFYING ETIQUETTE
Young people who are confused by the numerous rules listed by so-called experts on etiquette can solve a lot of their problems by choosing the courteous way over the less courteous way to behave. This is a suggestion offered by Dosca Hale, specialist in parent education and child development for the A. and M. College Extension Service.

"The courteous person usually keeps in mind the feelings and the comfort of others," Miss Hale says, pointing out these examples:
When a courteous person attends a party he remembers to say good-night to parents, club sponsors, and others hosts and hostesses.
A courteous girl rises when she is introduced to an older woman.
The courteous boy, when walking with a girl, walks on the outside of the walk.

A courteous guest, when invited to a meal, arrives at his hostess' home a few minutes before time for the meal; the less courteous guest arrives late and leaves immediately after the meal is over.
The courteous boy when calling for his date, parks the car at the front and comes to the door for the girl.
If there is an usher leading the way into a public assembly of some kind, a lady precedes a man in walking down the aisle.

The less courteous person who attends a party and does not like the games which are being played, sits back, looks bored, and makes remarks about the entertainment.
To help adolescents solve some of their behavior problems, Miss Hale has prepared a true and false test on "The Courteous Way," which is available to groups of young people interested in doing things the courteous way.

Rev. A. B. White, pastor of the First Baptist church of Paris, Texas came Monday, and if his first few sermons are a fair sample of what is yet to come it is a rare opportunity the people of the church and community have to hear the simple gospel proclaimed during this and next week. His style of address is unique and with great earnestness he pleads that men knowing themselves lost believe, and accept Christ as the only hope of sinning humanity. If you, dear reader, do not have a personal invitation from some friend to attend these services, will you not accept this as an invitation from the church and the preacher to attend?

FEWER TURKEYS BUT MORE TURKEY FARMS

College Station, Aug. 12.—More farmers are going into the turkey business, but smaller flocks are the rule and a 2 per cent decrease in number of turkeys is indicated for 1940 as compared with 1939, according to a preliminary study made by the USDA Agricultural Marketing Service.

Generally, the South Central and Western states, including Texas, show decreases of about 5 per cent; the South Atlantic states a decrease of 12 per cent; and North Atlantic and North Central states increases ranging from 5 to 10 per cent. It all adds up to a 2 per cent decrease in the turkey population.

An extensive survey of turkey flocks will be made in September in order to determine the number of turkeys in sight for market. Shortly thereafter Texas turkey growers will get the first indication of the market they may expect.

W. LEE THANKS FIFTH COLUMN HUNTERS

Texas citizens who have reported un-American activity to Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, were thanked last week by the governor and complimented on their "calm and considerate, yet intelligent" manner of reporting such activity.

Speaking from the mansion in Austin Governor O'Daniel thanked the citizens on his regular Sunday morning broadcast. The governor cautioned his listeners not to personally investigate un-Americans, but to report evidence "to those who are authorized by law to conduct investigations."—State Observer.

Terry Farm Families Live at Home

Farm families in Terry and Yoakum counties who have borrowed operating funds from the Farm Security Administration are cashing cream checks and checks they have received in payment for surplus poultry and eggs, according to Dennis Q. Lilly, RR Supervisor.

The pantries in these homes are being well filled with vegetables grown in the gardens on these farms, Mabel Whitney, Home Management Supervisor for the FSA in Terry and Yoakum counties added.

Miss Whitney said much of the money received from the sale of surplus farm products, together with the money saved from the home canning projects, will help the families obtain clothing and supplies for their children who will be starting to school in just a few weeks.

The farm security administration encourages all farm families who borrow money from this agency to diversify their farming operations and maintain a live-at-home program. The result is that not only are most of the families enjoying a higher standard of living, but they also are in a position to meet their obligations to the Federal Government.

Miss Whitney attributes much of the success of home canning and food preservation for winter use next winter to the purchase of pressure cookers and canning equipment with funds advanced by this agency. Miss Whitney said all but about 10 of the FSA borrowers now have pressure cookers.

Both Mr. Lilly and Miss Whitney declare that the farm families have provided a more adequate diet in addition to strengthening their financial structure through the use of the cow, sow, hen and live-at-home practices on their farms.

We Had a Birthday Celebration, By Jukes

We are sixty, almost, just lacking the time when the 23rd of August rolls around. But as the better half (she thinks) is to leave Saturday for a visit to California until her folks run her home, we had the cake and other cookies previous.

So, besides the home folks, including junior and wife and sub-junior, we had Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Roberts and daughter, Letha Nell; Mr. and Mrs. Archie Thompson and daughter, Lucille, of Coahoma; Mrs. Ida Collins and daughter, Dorothy and son, Toots, of Big Spring; Bernard Lay, wife and daughters, Helen and Jo Ann of Seagraves; Horace Beck and Ulee McPherson, employees of the Herald, city; Mr. and Mrs. Murnford Smith, Glendale, Arizona; Mrs. Sawyer Graham and little son, city.

All of them tried to devour the turkey and all the trimmings and accessories, not to mention a cake that Cary cooked that was a yard square. But they couldn't quite make it, so we called in two preachers, Black and family and Layton, Monday, to finish the job, and we've been having hash since.

Oh yes, we were literally showered with presents. We won't have to buy a shirt, or Sox, or handkerchiefs for some time. Well, thanks a lot, and come again next year on the 23rd.

LISTEN FROM WITHIN

Thomas Edison's deafness was not a handicap—it proved to be one of the secrets of his success. "It has been a blessing to me," he said "because it has forced me to listen from within."

When you "listen from within" you draw on your subconscious mind. You put to work your great storehouse of recorded impressions. Emerson recommended that every man should have a Quiet Room away from noise, distraction and confusion where he can be silent and think. Steinmetz had a shack in the woods. So did Elbert Hubbard, Thoreau, and other great thinkers.

The great scientist Von Helmholtz divided creative thinking into four steps: Preparation, Incubation, Illumination and Verification. Incubation means to relax and "listen from within." Then come the illumination—the flash of inspiration.

Those who work only with their conscious minds are shallow thinkers. To plumb the depths, to soar to the heights, we must learn to "listen from within."

FORMER RESIDENTS IN CAR ACCIDENT

C. D. Swinson and wife and 14-year-old son were taken to a hospital in Eunice last Tuesday afternoon, following a car wreck in which they were said to be seriously injured. The wreck happened between Hobbs and Eunice. Faulty brakes were thought to have caused the accident.

The Swinsons are former residents of Brownfield. Mr. Swinson, having been employed here by the Sharp Drilling Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cadenhead had as their guests this week Mrs. Earl Cadenhead and son Herbert of Littlefield.

W. P. Norris was in Levelland Thursday to see Major Taylor, who was in the hospital there following an accident at an oil well near Sundown.

I. M. Bailey and Glen Webber of the Palace Drug, were in Dallas from Sunday until Wednesday buying merchandise for their new drug store on east Main.

A HOME for the years..

THINKING OF BUILDING A HOME?

If you are, let us figure with you. We can avoid many troublesome delays often encountered in attempting to obtain F. H. A. loans through inexperienced parties. Our excellent record with Loan Agency Headquarters has been rewarded by being allowed certain privileges that insure the absolute minimum of delay in applying for a loan.

Then too, we can draw up your plans and specifications, thereby eliminating additional expense, and we carry a complete modern stock of builders hardware, plumbing fixtures and the latest materials that go to make a modern home.

For these reasons, we believe we are capable of taking care of your building problem now more satisfactorily than many other dealers.

COMPLETE JOB DEP'T.

EDNA, TEXAS
August 5, 1940

Dear Brother Publisher:—
I have been in the newspaper business since 1906 and a member of the Texas Press Association since 1910, and this is the first time I have ever written a letter to my brother publishers, and the first "political" letter I have ever written.

I am writing you now in the interest of the candidacy of my neighbor and friend, Judge Olin Culberson of Jackson County, who is in the run-off primary as a candidate for Railroad Commissioner. I know Judge Culberson well. I know he is honest and honorable; capable and trustworthy; experienced and energetic, and I think Texas needs this type of citizen in office. It is a real pleasure for me to recommend him to my fellow newspaper publishers.

If you can do him a good turn he will appreciate it and, if elected, he will show his appreciation by rendering the highest type of service, and as a brother publisher, I will appreciate it.

Thanks.
Fraternaly yours,
H. K. Staples
