Saturday, November 23, at 10 p. m.

50,000 or 40,000 Credits Given For Each 5-Year Subscription

SECOND OFFER NOW OPEN—Closes November 23 at 10 p. m. The next eight days should prove a veritable vote picnic for those who desire with all their hearts to win. Your work during this second period will have an important bearing on your chances in this campaign. It's impossible to get too many votes. Get your standing way up in the club where it can't be reached. Then, after the smoke has cleared away and you are announced the winner of the splendid automobile offered' you can rest back of the steering wheel of your own motor car.

5-YEAR SUBSCRIPTIONS NOW WILL TURN THE TIDE TO VICTORY Get Them and Win!

Don't Overlook the Fact That Votes Possible of Att ainment Under the Present Offer can Make You A Winner

The spirit that the "Better Times" candidates manifested at the close of the first and greatest Credit Offer indicates that the second period now in effect is going to be a very sensational and exciting one. Those candidates who are low in the list today have expressed their intentions of working hard during these all-important days of the race, and many changes in the vote standings are going to take place: consequently, those who now hold leading positions will have to step lively in order to protect their past results. The second period of the race is not very long—just eight more days—and may tax your energy and persistency, but above all you must hold on to get your second wind and keep plugging for all you're worth.

No one can afford to take a rest now, for there's no telling how strong the competition will run during this period of the race. The safe and sane way, then, is to keep going at top speed—continually sending your vote score skyward. It is still an open question who will win the beautiful motor car and other awards and there is still time for the ambitious enterprising candidates to DIG in now and with a few days' effort place their names among the leaders.

Only a slight decrease in the number of votes has been made and plenty of opportunity is now offered to reach the top of the vote column. Begin today to win your share of an elaborate prize list.

HIGHER TEST (more volatile) GASOLINE

That's a perfect description of Phillips 66 Poly Gas.

During the coming winter months, you can confidently expect... based on past experience... that the Volatility Number (high test rating) of this amazing motor fuel will be 50 per cent higher than the average Volatility Number of premium price gasolines.

Think of it! Most motor fuels, including those which cost 2¢ extra per gallon, will not come within hailing distance of the volatility given by Phillips 66 Poly Gas, which sells at regular price. If you wonder how Phillips can afford to be so generous with high test quality, remember that Phillips is the WORLD'S LARGEST PRODUCER of natural high test gasoline.

Find out for yourself how this extra high test gasoline gives extra fast starting, even after your car has been standing all night in the cold. Note the faster warm-up. Feel the improvement in power and pick-up. And don't forget, you get more mileage, because you save the gasoline usually wasted by excessive use of the choke with low test motor fuel.

Tonight, get a trial tankful of extra high test Phillips 66 Poly Gas, without paying a penny extra. Then tomorrow, you can touch the button and START everytime, no matter how cold the day.

Phill-up with Phillips for Instant Starting

ITS OUR ONLY CHANCE TO GET NEW ROADS

Terry County has just voted a $300,000 road bond issue by an overwhelming majority; last week Hockley county ordered an election for a county-wide issue in that county for $340,000; this week Commissioners Court of Lamb county ordered an election on a $300,000 District issue to build an across-county road in this county.

The latter two issues will in all probabilities carry, exactly as the Terry county issue carried.

All three counties have every reason to expect that the State of Texas will pay the bulk of the interest and payments on these bonds, under the Bond Assumption Act, which is now in effect, but which must be re-enacted by the 1941 Legislature to make these assumptions possible. The idea that it will not be re-enacted is remote.

Several years ago, one cent additional gas tax levy was placed on gasoline sales, and this money is largely used for caring for road bond indebtedness in the counties.

The State Highway Department has recently announced that their expenditures for new roads in the immediate future at least, must of

Texas Has Heavy Fire Loss

AUSTIN, Nov. 12.—The value of insured property alone, destroyed by fire in Texas each year, would go a long way toward solving the relief problem or building up our national defense, Marvin Hall, state fire insurance commissioner, said today.

Texas has an annual insured fire loss of approximately nine and one-half million dollars, the Commissioner declared, and if this amount of money could be saved it would pay for 950 warplanes costing $10,000 each, or pay one-half of the cost of one of the world's finest first-line battle-ships.

It would pay the cost of food, clothing and shelter for more than 9,000 families for a period of one year. This amount of money would build 1,900 modern one-family suburban homes sheltering 9,500 people—the population of an average Texas city.

Mrs. J. J. McGowan was a Dallas visitor this week.

necessity be confined to highways that will most effectively serve national defense needs.

That can only mean that there will be little money for new construction from the Highway department in this section of the state, and our only chance for new roads, even badly needed roads, is to vote bonds to build them, and then anticipate that the bond assumption act will be continued.

If the state did not assume the bond, the burden would still not be too great for local property owners—if they are assumed, it will cost property owners practically nothing, or at least nothing more than the one cent extra gas tax which they now pay.—County Wide News, Littlefield.

We Rambled Off To San Antonio

While in Temple last week, after the lady had finished the clinic exams, we found that we could visit the Alamo City for a cheap rate of transportation, and having that sum in our billfold, we "rid" down there on Mr. Greyhound's bus. Passing along unfamiliar scenes, made us think of one of Dickens' stories where the little fellow rode the stage into London town, except the horns on the bus had a very modern sound, and there was no yo-hoing.

The object of our visit was to see a niece who has been expecting the Stricklin family down there for the past several months, but one thing and another, mainly financial, perhaps, kept us from going. And with the fall and winter rush on, and sickness, there was no possibility for us getting down there before next spring at least. So, being that close, we thought we would run down to her house for the first time in our life, sample the cooking, and report to headquarters. The cooking and entertainment was par excellent, and headquarters has ordered further communications in that direction in the future.

But about the first rattle out of the box, our nephew-in-law slammed a car door shut on two of our typewriter fingers that has added our efficiency to some extent, and stopped us short of grabbing biscuits with both hands. But you ought to hear Don French laugh; he laughed the hurt out in a few minutes, both nails are due to depart from that hand in the near future, and we may have to punch the keys with the forefinger of our right, only, instead of both hands.

That is really an interesting country to visit, as it is a great contrast to our section, being so radically different. But the south Plains loses nothing in comparison to any section we have ever visited. But that was an interesting trip through an interesting country. What looked curious to a fellow from the south plains was that there stood stalks of green cotton waist high, and not a green boll on it. But they had gathered a fair crop. The biggest corn crop was made in the history of the section, almost, and a lot of it is still in the fields, but that was nothing strange, as it remains in the fields here until January, generally.

While there is considerably more "wet" territory down there than in this section, in merely passing through, one can tell the towns that has the colleges. Before you get very close in either direction, beer sign disappear, and then for a long way, there they are by the thousands again. For instance, there is a small Sahara around Belton, then again around Georgetown, wet again through Travis (Austin) county, but Hayes county is apparently dry, having both a state and a denominational college at San Marcus. But Comal, a heavily populated German county is as wet as the Atlantic so is Gaudalupe and of course Bexar. Travis and Comal on each side of Hayes, have both liquor and beer in a few feet of the line so that the thirsty from Hayes won't have to drive too far.

In traveling over that section, we thought of friends, past and present that had originated down there, and some of the towns suggested friends. For instance, we passed through Kyle, and the first thing that came into our mind was Kyle Graves. There is some very pretty parks in San Marcus, and especially in New Braunsfels. We noted that the thrift German-Americans of the later city had planted pecans instead of ordinary shade trees, and each home in the city seems to have all the pecans they will need for home use. San Antonio will be given in a later article.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Ordway and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Ordway of Amarillo visited E. S. Hurt Monday. Mr. Ordway and Mr. Hurt were classmates at the University of Texas.

Ira Duke of Lubbock visited in the J. W. Duke home Monday.

HISTORICAL THANKSGIVING

Many scenes have been written into American history since the first Thanksgiving was observed! Styles have changed. Laws have changed. Science, industry and mechanization have made fast strides in every phase of business and life.

Much has changed. But people remain the same—and today as generations ago, we still are thankful for the land we live in. For the religious freedom that was made our heritage by those first Americans—emigrants all, from lands of persecution.

History has seen many changes. But to us in America, there is still much to be thankful for.

Vitamins Are In Vogue; Let's Get the Facts

In recent years, the term "vitamin" has become a household word. To nearly everyone it means vim, vigor, vitality, and all that goes with good health. What are these vitamins anyhow? What is the story back of them?

The existence of certain unidentified substances having superior nutritive properties was suspected long ago. As early as 1500 B.C., Egyptians and Chinese hit on the discovery that eating livers would improve one's vision in dim light. Today we know that the liver supplied vitamin A, recognized as a protective food factor for night vision. About 1720, Kramer, an Austrian physician, found that when certain fresh foods, such as vegetables and fruits, were added to the diet of persons suffering from scurvy, this disease was cured. Today we know that these foods supplied vitamin C. These and other instances of earlier times afford an interesting background to our present knowledge of vitamins.

Word Coined 28 Years Ago

It was only 28 years ago that the word "vitamin" was coined. And since that time, the nation has become "vitamin-conscious." Scores of scientists are engaged in vitamin research. New discoveries are being made, and the subject has aroused such interest, that the public last year spent about $75,000,000 for vitamin products in drug stores.

For a long while, vitamins were looked upon as something quite mysterious. Today, although there is still considerable mystery, a great deal is known about them.

Several Kinds of Vitamins

We know there are several kinds of vitamins, and that each has its own specific function in the body. They help children to grow, give endurance and stamina, stimulate appetite, build body resistance, and have other values. Taken into the human body, they act somewhat like the ignition spark in an automobile.

Outstanding among recent discoveries are those of Dr. C. A. Elvehjem of the University of Wisconsin. He found, in studying the B vitamins, that meat is the richest source of these important factors. The three on which the most infor-

Vitamins Have Many Functions

The vitamins featured in this chart are all necessary for growth and health. In addition, vitamin A increases general body resistance and protects against night blindness and a severe eye inflammation. Thiamine stimulates the appetite, aids in the utilization of starches and sugars, and prevents beriberi. Riboflavin is necessary for normal functioning of body cells, protects against certain nervous disorders, and a type of eye inflammation. Nicotinic acid prevents and cures pellagra. Vitamin C prevents and cures scurvy, and protects gum tissues. Vitamin D, sometimes known as the "sunshine" vitamin, is essential in preventing rickets.
