The United States is spending literally millions of dollars down on the Gulf Coast to eliminate mosquitos around army camps. Is it essential that all Army camps be located in mosquito sections? Here in Terry county there is not a dozen mosquitoes to the square mile if one keeps the weeds down and the lawn mowed.

Congress has passed a bill extending the service time of draftees and National guardsmen from one year to two and one half years, but as a sop will give them a bonus of ten dollars per month for the overtime. Now, we are just wondering what congress will do about the high wage strikers in the industries that are holding up defense production. If Uncle Sam can tell one set of its citizens what they MUST do, he can tell all others the same dope.

The Hon. Chas. Guy of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal should be satisfied now without attaching other south Plains counties to Lubbock for governmental purposes. They seem to have an oil field in their back yard, and have a big government air training field out a few miles west. In fact, Lubbock gets just about all the pork from the barrel up at Washington, and the other countries are allowed a smell of the barrel occasionally. Yet, there is not a county paper that hits the administration solar plexis blows as often as the Lubbock papers.

Before hot weather for the summer is half over, Eee Eye Hill of the News, Tahoka, begins to worry when the first frost or killing freeze will come. Some of his customers say it will be 60 days from the first norther, and some say 90 days, the first norther being Tuesday, the 12th. We have had another norther this week, and we are just wondering what effect it will have on the previous week weather forecast. As between trying to guide the weather and keeping a New Mexico preacher in the straight and narrow, Hill Hubs Hell.

And, says John Price in his County-wide (Littlefield) News: "The railroads say they can't pay more than they take in." Sounds logical John, but a lot of us Kentry weekly editors live above what our businesses produce, and we have heard that farmers can go broke five years in six and keep farming. Perhaps the railroads have a rich relative by the name of Uncle Sam they could borrow some extra funds to give their employees. Just the same, there is always a day of reckoning, and the business that has a greater overhead than its income is headed straight for the bankrupt courts.

There is one thing that we hope will not occur after the close of World War No. 2, and it will close some time from utter exhaustion of one or both sides. That the U. S. never agrees with any European or Asiatic power to disarm. There is not the least bit of honor or stability about any of them, and any written or spoken agreement is just a scrap of paper. One of the greatest statesmen that the nation has ever produced ruined his health after the last war trying to get the United States to stay with England and France as a stabizing police force, but the then Wheelers, Lindburghs, and Nyses in the Senate killed the proposition as well as President Wilson. Then in a few years there was an agreement that all nations should disarm. As Germany was not much of a power then, little attention was paid to it, and strange as it may seem, as many people, both private and public officials from this and other peaceful countries that visited Germany after the establishment of the Hitler dictatorship, they seem not to have realized that country was fanatically preparing for war and world domination. It was either that, or such countries did not give a hang as long as they were getting the dollars. But President Roosevelt has seemed to sense a danger from the day he stepped into the White House, and has consistently advocated a greater Navy and a larger trained Army. President Roosevelt does not want war any more than you or I, but he is pledged to defend this country, and will if the isolationists will let him.

A GOVERNMENT OF LAW—COKE STEVENSON

As a private citizen I have always conceived it to be as much my duty, as that of any public official, to support and sustain this government of ours in all of its essential forms. To me the plan of government of our forefathers is of divine inspiration. It came from the same creative source from which the trees come. Men can

Cotton House A Reality

Heralded by the National Cotton Council as one of the most promising potential outlets for cotton in quantity, houses made of cotton are becoming realities. Shown above is a demonstration cotton house displayed at the Department of Agriculture in Washington. Easily and quickly erected, the house has both interior and exterior walls made of fire resistant, waterproof canvas covered plyboard. The roof is made of the same material. Cotton blanket insulation, serving both to keep the house cool and to deaden outside sounds, is used in the ceiling and side walls. Cotton materials were used throughout in furnishing the house. Approximately 650 pounds of cotton were required for walls and insulation alone.

prune, cultivate and protect a tree, but only God can give life and vigor to that tree. It is a government of worship, of respect and faith. Every commercial transaction is attested literally or figuratively by a coin which bears the motto "In God we trust." It is a government of laws and not a government of men. A government of law is not controlled by the weaknesses and prejudices of men. It is not swayed by the policies of any party nor by the individual opinion of any man who may be for the time being the chief executive.

A government of men is subjected to all the whims and caprices, all the passions and cruelties, of men. In a government of men nothing is secure. The will of one man or of a few men constitutes the authority to which all men must submit in all things. This is the government of Hitler and Mussolini. In a government of law the God given rights of the people are protected, no matter who holds the office of chief executive. This is the government of England, whose constitution, though unwritten, is so sacred that King and Prime Minister dare not trespass upon it.

Ours is a government which inspires the men to obey the law. Obedience to law on the part of the individual is a fundamental requisite in a government of law. We oppose the making of law by a dictator; we oppose any authority which is founded on the unbridled edicts of one man or a set of men. By the same token we must not permit any individual to violate the law with impunity in a government of law. To countenance such action is to permit the individual to substitute his will and caprice for the certainty of the law. Our constitution provides that the governor shall cause the laws to be faithfully executed. This challenge to enforce the laws of this state is as great as the call of Seneca's pilot when, midst the storm of surging seas, he exclaimed to Neptune:

THE PINCH COMES TO HITLER

The pinch that forecasts the beginning of the end for Hitler's cruel reign as despotic despoiler of German and Europe is becoming increasingly plain.

Hitler's U-boats and sea raiders have been slowed to a standstill in the Atlantic, his luftwaaffe is divided and demoralized to the point of inefficiency on the western front, and not doing so well against the Red air forces; his diplomacy of rebellion and intrigue in South America and other parts of the world is discovered and routed; his blitzkrieg has lost its blitz; he is being forced to fight on several fronts; German morale is questioning and showing signs of cracking; his surpluses of oils and gasoline for power attack is alarmingly diminished and winter is coming on.

TOO MANY DROWNINGS IN PANHANDLE

Eighteen person have drowned in the Panhandle this year. . . . Perhaps 18 deaths by drowning doesn't seem like a prodigious figure.

But when you realize that the loss of life is from three to four times greater than the loss in areas abounded with lakes, rivers, an ocean, and man-made pools, it will take on a different perspective. In Los Angeles County, California, the total deaths by drowning in 1940 was only six. That is in a country where literally thousands swim daily throughout the year. This low drowning rate prevails in almost every part of the nation where there always have been ample swimming facilities.

Let us from the Panhandle face the facts: We have not been used to water—in large bodies—as other parts of the nation have; therefore, our people, young and old, do not have a natural respect for its treacher-eries. Here are a few ways of reducing our appalling drowning rate:

- 1—Train everyone possible how to swim and dive proficiently. Of course, this will take time.
- 2—Keep out of deep water until you are considered an expert swimmer.
- 3—Don't overtax your strength by essaying long swims without a boat escort.
- 4—NEVER go in the water until an hour has elapsed after eating.
- 5—And NEVER, NEVER go swimming when you have been indulging in alcoholic beverages. It is extremely hard on the heart: Just remember: aquatic sports are fun, but at times water can be your worst enemy. — Amarillo Times.

Let Freedom RING

Echoing and re-echoing through all the turmoil of today, the clear loud ringing of our Liberty Bell is a symbol of all that we Americans have to live for.

And today when the whole nation is preparing to hold that Liberty the Southwestern Associated Telephone Company is doing their part for National Defense. Defense orders, and all others are given courteous speedy service and the linemen are on duty at all times to repair any trouble and keep the ring as clear as that of the Liberty Bell.

Sgt. Akers will be the acting First Sergeant in the absence of First Sergeant Miller. Sgt Miller is vacationing and plans to be gone two weeks or ten days.

This department has predicted the arrival of the rifles for some time now, and since handbooks for care of the rifles, scorepads, instructions for disposal of the shipping cases and other literature, and since the schedule for Next Friday's drill includes trigger squeeze exercises, it can almost be concluded that the rifles will be here in the next two weeks.

The school for non-commissioned officers is still meeting each Tuesday night and will continue to do so until further orders.

DRAFT EXTENDED EIGHTEEN MONTHS

The bill to authorize the extension of military service, already approved by the Senate, passed by a margin of one vote, 203 to 202, in the House Tuesday. This passage authorizes 18 months extension of service, making a total of two and one-half years instead of the original one year. The bill also includes a $10.00 bonus to begin after the first year has been served.

Mrs. John R. May and J. T., of Little Rock, Ark., left Tuesday after spending a week with relatives here. They plan to visit in Lubbock, Plainview, Dimmitt and Maysville, Okla., before they return home.

My Week by Eleanor Roosevelt

JOINT TAX RETURNS I was glad to see that the house of representatives, in considering the tax bill, did not accept the idea of joint income tax returns for husband and wife. I realize that this might bring in a higher revenue, for it would frequently put the tax returns in the group where surtaxes make the tax much higher.

However, it seems to me that some other way of obtaining money would be wiser than a measure which strikes at the roots of a fundamental principle, which we in this country have been establishing over a period of years; the right of women to be considered as persons. There was a time when a woman married and her property became her husband's, her earnings were her husband's and the control of the children was never in her hands.

The battle for the individual rights of women is one of long standing and none of us should countenance anything which undermines it.

Do we believe that work of any kind, honestly performed, creates work? If so, then it is an advantage to have every individual using his abilities productively. It is true that machines have taken over the work of human hands to a great extent, but the real problem before us is how to make the work of the machines a benefit to human beings and not a detriment.

I do not think that, fundamentally, the way to solve the problem is to say that people should grow lazy and not use what abilities and gifts a kindly Providence may have given them. I realize that this is a question which can be argued from many points of view and this column is too short to cover it adequately. I am only trying to point out the fact that we have some decisions to make in the future, and we had better think them through intelligently and make sure of what we really believe.

AN EXPLANATION

A letter has just come to me which I want to quote and answer in this column: "Referring to a recent article the following is your statement: 'In the United States there are many areas where children cannot get to school and besides there are many families who have no clothes for their children. For more than eight years your husband has been the directing head of the United States and his announced policy on taking office was the 'forgotten man.'"

"With the information you must have on the matter I have quoted, I would be pleased to have your explanation as to why such conditions continue to exist in the United States.

"Your explanation, I think, should have the same amount of publicity as your original statement."

The answer seems to me fairly simple. This administration has put on the statute books a great deal of social legislation. Much of it was passed in opposition to the desires of many people, who honestly believed that conditions would return to what they once were and that it is a mistake to try to find new ways to adjust to new conditions. Experience alone can prove whether plans undertaken can have permanent value or not.

Some of them have already been in operation long enough to prove themselves. Others are in process of trial. The social security program as a whole, housing, WPA and NYA have all been factors in meeting the needs of what my correspondent calls the "forgotten man."

To wipe out, however, all injustices and inequalities in our democracy, to make in a period of 12 years a decent corner of the world for everyone to live, in the face of world conditions such as have existed, is beyond the hope of even the most sanguine. We can only be grateful for the fact that more people are aware of the problems of forgotten children as well as forgotten men and women, and that we are working together to make our corner of the world a better place for all of us to live.

NEED FOR NURSES

I have just been told that there is a great shortage of young women entering the nursing schools. At this time nurses are much needed, and it has always seemed to me that it is good training for any girl to take, whether she means to take up nursing as a profession or not. At the present time, the girls in training release nurses already trained, for duty where they are needed.

If later, these girls marry, or have no reason for earning a living by nursing, but wish to serve in some way in their community, there are innumerable opportunities to use the knowledge they have acquired in the service of a great many people. Therefore, if any young woman feels she wishes to do something for her country in the present crisis, and is willing to work hard, put in long hours, and sacrifice her leisure during these years of stress, I can think of few things as useful as taking a course in one of our good training schools for nurses.

Gives Formula For Leaf Worm Control

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 18— Within the coming month cotton leafworm may be expected to spread over a considerable area of the state, according to Cameron Siddall, entomologist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service. The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, he says recommends application of five to seven pounds per acre of calcium arsenate as a dust for control of the worms.

Lead arsenate applied in the same quantity also may be used as a means of control, although it kills more slowly. By adding lime, talc, or clay the dusting qualities of lead arsenate are improved. Paris green also provides a control element, but it should be mixed with equal amount of flour to increase adherence, and with five parts of hydrated lime to offset danger of burning the plant foliage. In other words the mixture should comprise one part each of poison and flour, and five parts of hydrated lime.

Best results are obtained by applying the poison with suitable dusting machinery, but where spraying is preferred, three pounds of calcium arsenate, or two pounds of lead arsenate, may be used with 50 gallons of water. If Paris green is applied as a spray, one half pound should be mixed with two pounds of hydrated lime in every 50 gallons of water, and thoroughly agitated before using.

SKY IS THEIR ELEMENT

Looking skyward, towards where the drama and adventure unfold, are these three birdmen, who star in the Paramount aviation spectacle, "I Wanted Wings," currently providing thrills at the Rialto Theatre. The three aviators are, left to right, Wayne Morris, William Holden and Brian Donlevy.

All spray mixtures should be freshly made up when applied.

Application of white arsenic, either in dry form or mixed with water as a spray, will seriously damage plants and is not advised. Some persons have included sal soda or lye, boiling the mixture until it clarifies, because as they say, white arsenic will not mix with it. In doing so they bring about a chemical reaction and produce sodium arsenate, which is soluble. But being soluble, it is even more dangerous to plant life in its burning effect than white arsenic.

Experience has taught farmers that a very weak solution of this applied as a very fine mist will destroy leafworm with a minimum of damage to cotton plants. But without experience the hazard of damage is very great, the entomologist says.

Giving the formula for mixing the white arsenic spray, Siddall cautions that it is not to be "understood as advising the use of the material or assuming any responsibility for results."

In making the mixture, one pound of white arsenic is placed in a kettle along with two pounds of sal soda and four gallons of water added. The mixture is boiled for 30 minutes, or until the liquid is clear without the appearance of undissolved crystals. Since during the procedure some of the water will have evaporated enough cold water should be added to make exactly four gallons. This is the stock solution, but it is so strong that it is not fit to apply to the plants.

For immediate use, two quarts of the stock solution are added to 50 gallons of water and applied with a sprayer capable of producing a very fine mist. The sprayer should be operated rapidly so that the solution does not gather in drops.

Repeating his warning, Siddall says that "it is thoroughly understood that the cotton grower is using the mixture at his own risk," and that he is only "passing on a formula that others have found useful."

WHITE SETS THE "BOYS" RIGHT ON ROOSEVELT'S FOREIGN POLICY

Love of country above jobs or else—was the warning recently issued by William Allen White, publisher and editor of the Emporia Gazette, in a strong editorial in his paper, in which the Kansas delegation was taken to task for its continual voting against President Roosevelt's foreign policy.

Mr. White, who was the first chairman of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, was a Willkie supporter and is a firm believer in the Administration's national defense program, published editorially, an open letter to the Kansas Congressmen. It is the first time he has publicly addressed the Republican delegation since he became particularly interested in foreign affairs several years ago.

Under the heading, "To Kansas Congressmen", Mr. White wrote:

"Dear boys—You have been playing the game, the partisan, Republican game on the foreign policy of this country for three or four years. Nearly every vote you have voted has been a minority vote. No poll has been taken yet in this state or this country indicating that anything like a respectable minority in this country is opposed to the President's foreign policy which you have opposed."

"You are entitled to think that he is leading us into war if you want to. But most of the folks think that he has been right. They elected him on his foreign policy they have followed him.

"From the time he spoke of quarantining the aggressor back in 1937, the President has had popular opinion with him. He has only kept abreast of European developments which menaced this continent. The American people have supported him. They have voted for him. They elected a Congress which has never failed him.

"Now then, any time in the next sixty days we are likely to be in the war, not war of our making, certainly not of the President's making.

"You are now asked by certain Republican leadership to vote for dis-membering and disorganizing our army in the face of the enemy.

"Come to your senses! Remember that if we do have war and the Republican boys have that record vote, no matter how much you may try to explain it by lambasting the President, in the next campaign you are open to accusations of disorganizing our armed forces under threat of war. It is absurd to say, 'Let the President declare war.' He doesn't want war any more than you do. Why should he declare war? You can't hide behind excuses that Roosevelt should declare war.

"You have gone as far as you can on the Quisling route. Watch out for a record vote in which you can never explain if this country is in war in 1942 and particularly if this country is losing ground in the war because you have torn our armed forces to pieces by your vote when war was threatened.

"It is all right to be good Republicans and it is all right to hold your job, but boys! take an old man's advice:

"When the folks know that you want your jobs worse than you love your country, you'll lose your jobs!

"Yours in affection, "W. A. W."

"And P. S.: It's getting time, Boys! Take a tumble to yourselves."

Gene Hurt Enjoys Reception at Ruidoso

Reception Center
Ft. Bliss, Texas
Sunday, Aug. 17th.

Dear Friends:
Last week-end stands out as a high-light for me because I spent it with Brownfield friends high in the mountains of Ruidoso and it was certainly a great feeling to be with and among friends again. It is hard for you folks back home to realize just how lonesome a fellow can get for the sight of a familiar face and the sound of a friendly voice. Much effort is being made to keep the morale of the American soldier on a high plane but a great deal of that effort is wasted due to the fact that so many civilians still look upon the uniformed soldier as a menace to society and a person to be shunned as though he had the plague. Of course that isn't true in the non-army post towns but it is markedly true in towns near Army camps. And yet many people who shun soldiers socially wonder why it is that the draftee wants to get out of the Army and why he is so dissatisfied with his lot. The answer is obvious and it is up to the civilian population to wake up to the fact that over half of the soldiers now in uniform are selectees and that their own son might very well be the next man called to the colors.

When soldiers put on their uniforms they are told that they are to be worn with honor and cautioned to do no act that will bring dishonor upon the uniform or the Army of which they are becoming a member. Most men take that to heart and consequently are embittered to discover that in the eyes of too many people the uniform is anything but a badge of honor. I am proud to say that I know that the people of Terry county regard a soldier highly and treat him with courtesy and respect. Last week end when I went to Ruidoso I had two of my soldier buddies with me and they were made thoroughly welcome by the home folks and are now real boosters of Brownfield and the people who live there.

During the past week some six hundred men have been processed here at the Reception Center and will be shipped on to training re- placement centers during the coming week. Yesterday I had a chat with Roger Curry and Horace Beck both former employees of the Herald and found them mighty glad to be together again. Roger is most likely to be transferred to some camp other than Ft. Bliss so their reunion will be short lived. He told me that three other chaps came down from Brownfield but that two were turned back. I haven't been able to find out which one was kept here, hope to see him tomorrow.

Final passage of the eighteen month extension bill has made many a soldier unhappy but they will soon readjust their thinking to the fact that they must serve longer than they contemplated. Most of us feel that we had rather fight if we are going to have it to do and get this mess over with but we also realize that as yet we are not prepared to get into a war.

I am to be in Roswell, N. Mexico with the orchestra and entertainers from the Reception Center next Thursday night. We are giving a program for the Roswell Rotary club at that time and are scheduled to return to Ft. Bliss the next day. If possible, I intend to get a few days off and spend part of the

Fashion Joins the Vltzkrieg via The First "V for Victory" Dress

Now the first "V For Victory" dress joins up with the wild-fire "V" campaign launched by Prime Minister Churchill. Millions of women all over the uncaptured world will soon be making and wearing this new "V" dress designed by the Simplicity Pattern Company of New York. Patterns for the "V" dress are on their way to 7,500 stores across the United States. More, with sewing instructions in Spanish, are winging their way to department stores in the 21 Latin American republics. Others are bound for England and Australia. Miss Josephine Johnson, 1940 Glamour debutante, chose this version of the "V" dress, made up in light grey wool. It has V-shaped shoulder sections outlined in bold red applique, V-shaped pocket flaps embroidered with the opening notes of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony—three long and one short, the equivalent of the gallant letter "V" in Morse code.

week-end in Brownfield and also make a trip to Lubbock to visit my sister and family who have recently moved there from Dallas. Hoping to see many of you soon, I am,
Very truly yours,
Pfc. Gene Hurt.

Lesser Prairie Chickens Prosper

Austin, Texas, Aug. 18 — While practically the entire 1941 Attwater prairie chicken crop on the coastal prairies of Texas was lost, the lesser prairie chickens of the Panhandle are prospering this year, according to word received by the executive secretary of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission from biologists and game wardens. Floods wiped out the nests and the young Attwater prairie chickens and the loss of an entire crop of birds will be sorely felt. The Attwaters face a precarious future due to the fact more and more of their range is being placed in cultivation by rice growers.

The lesser chickens of the north Texas plains not only produced a big crop of young birds, but increased rainfall has resulted in much more food and cover for them. There will be no open season in Texas on prairie chickens for at least five years, a law having been enacted by the last legislature continuing the closed season until 1946.

USE A LITTLE COMMON SENSE

Would you fight another guest for a seat at a party? Would you push the person ahead of you at a wedding reception? Would you shout at a woman to get out of your way on a dance floor?

Of course you wouldn't. Your manners are better than that. And the Texas Safety Association says, if you were just as courteous on the highway, there would be a lot fewer accidents.

Here are six ways to show good motor manners:

1. When some driver insists on the right-of-way, let him have it.
2. Watch out for the driver who tries to beat the traffic light. Let him risk his life to save a few seconds, but don't risk yours.
3. When a driver passes on a hill or curve, or misjudges the distance ahead, slow down and let him get back in line.
4. If a drive behind is over-anxious to get around you, pull over and let him pass before he takes a chance and involves you in an accident, too.
5. At night, dim your lights for approaching cars.
6. Don't expect the right thing from the other fellow. Always give him a break, even when he's wrong.

Bryan's contribution to the cause of religion was immeasurable. He assailed Bob Ingersoll, the agnostic, for "the cold and cheerless doctrine, 'I do not know'." And to the question, "If a man die, shall he live again?" Bryan made answer:

"Christ gave us proof of immortality—and yet it would hardly seem necessary that one should rise from the dead to prove that the grave is not the end. To every created thing, God has given tongue that proclaims a future life.

"If he touches the cold and pulseless heart of the buried acorn and causes it to burst forth from its prison walls, will He leave neglected in the earth the soul of man made in the image of His Creator? If He deigns to stoop and whisper to the rosebush, whose withered blossoms float upon the autumn breeze, the sweet assurance of another springtime, will He refuse the words of hope and cheer to the sons of men when the frosts of winter come? If matter mute and inanimate, though changed by the forces of nature into a multitude of forms, can never die, will the spirit of man suffer annihilation after it has paid a brief visit, like a royal guest, to this tenement of clay? No, I am as sure that I shall live again as I am that I live today.

"When I was in Cairo, I secured a few grains of wheat that had slumbered for more than 3,000 years in an Egyptian tomb. As I looked at them, this thought came into my mind: If one of those grains of wheat had been planted on the bank of the Nile the year after it grew and all its lineal descendants had been planted and replanted from that time until now, its progeny would today be sufficiently numerous to feed the teeming millions of the world.

"There is in the grain of wheat an invisible something which has power to discard the body that we see and, from the earth and air, fashion a new body so like the old that we can not tell one from the other. And if the grain of wheat can thus pass unimpaired through 3,000 resurrections, I shall not doubt that my soul has power to clothe itself in a new body, suited to its new existence, when this earthly frame has crumbled into dust."

RATHER BE U. S. MARINE THAN ITALIAN CAPTAIN

James A Vinci could have been a captain in the Italian army, but he decided he'd rather be a United States Marine.

Vinci, visiting his mother, in Italy in 1939, was inducted into the Italian army. Because he had a high school education he was commissioned a second lieutenant.

While United States consular officials were trying to establish his American citizenship, he served eight months in the Italian air corps.

At the conclusion of this service he was offered a transfer to Africa and a captain's commission. He refused, returned to the United States and enlisted in the Marine Corps here as a private.

Mrs. B. W. Blevins and children, and nephew, Earl Hardin, returned last week from a months visit in California. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Goldie Bevers who has been visiting her son, Mr. L. B. Bevers and family of Burbank; her daughters, Mrs. T. E. Stucker and husband and Miss Bernice Durham of Los Angeles, also Mrs. P. H. Hardin and Mr. Hardin and children of Tulare California.

The Dr. Daniell family sent us a post card from Gallup, N. M., this week, with the picture in color, of a bunch of Indians giving the snake dance. On of them seemed to be either dining off one the squirming reptiles, or kissing it. Well, we'd as soon look at the crops in Terry for pastime.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hilyard and little son, who have been here visiting Mrs. Hilyard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Williamson, left last week for their home in Dallas. Ben was formerly assistant cashier of the Brownfield State Bank, but resigned to accept a position on the Texas Liquor Control Board as auditor. Mrs. Hilyard was for some ten years an employee of the Herald.

Among other old timers that we noted here this week, was Otis Longbrake from up Borger way, where he has a good position. He and family came in Saturday night for a visit with his and her parents.
