There is nothing we can do about rains that we know of. We have searched out all our resources, we have day dreamed, and almost layed wake at nights to scheme up something. But we have failed. It just keeps on raining.

The Pontiac division of General Motors tells of a large building they have erected to salvage waste of every kind on account of scarcity of materials for defense purposes. Here, for instance all nails are drawn from boards, the boards are then sawed to standard lengths, and thousands of tons of paper are baled to be transferred into corrugated boxes at the factory. Scrap steel and iron are salvaged in like manner.

The people of the United States are not conniving with the Reds of Russia when we help them try to stop old Hitler and his cutthroats. We may not agree with them either politically or religiously, if any of the Stalinites are religious, but we can agree that they are not aggressors in this war, and are far less likely to bother our way of life now or in the future than Hitlerism. We may not agree with a neighbor in religion; we may oppose bitterly his idea of politics, yet help him to the best of our ability to perform a good deed in the community.

Here, to our notion, is just about the biggest improvement we have heard of in the draft law recently. Heretofore, a draftee had only a preliminary examination by the local board doctor, and as a consequence, he closed up his personal, financial and other affairs, resigned his job perhaps, and was sent to the reception center only to be turned down for some defect. There he is without a job, as his old employer may have had to promise his successor several months or a year employment in order to get a hand. Now, before one is called out in this area, he may appear before an army board that is final at the Post Office Building, Lubbock and the draftee will know right then just where he is, before turning in his job.

One of our local business men who hails from the grand old state of Arkansas, and who by the way hears all the late jokes on the calendar, tells this one: It seems that an Arkansawyer had moved the family to Texas, and none of them were too well satisfied. One of the older boys at tended a revival, and he was asked if he was a Christian. The answer was no. Then, said the worker, you are likely to go to hell. Said the Arkansas youth, "if pa don't decide to move back to Arkansas, it won't make any difference". That ought to hold Texans who are inclined to poke fun at Arkansawyers.

The Nazis may think they are putting the fear of God in the hearts of people they have put in slavery, by killing off a lot of them who make any trouble or outcry against their masters. But if history does repeat, and it generally does, the blood of these martyrs will raise up their kin, their neighbors and friends, to give these hated brigands more and more trouble, over a wider and wider area, until it will take a huge army to keep down insurrection. And at the end of this war, it will finally end as all wars do, the German people as a while, many of them innocent of any personal wrong against others, will be the most thoroughly hated people on earth. This is too late an age of the world for slavery of other races and nations.

The Herald agrees with the Brownfield News that it is getting time to see about city delivery. Several months ago, when it was known that city delivery had been granted our city, our mayor Mr. Coleman promised that the city council was ready to erect permanent street markers when the present batch of paving was completed. Since that time, other citizens on still other streets decided to take advantage of a cheap paving rate, and so the matter has gone on and on. We imagine that just about all the paving that will be undertaken till at least next spring is under construction, and soon the permanent markers can be erected. In the meantime, there is something for the citizens to do; erect mail boxes at their homes and in the business section. We should however, never let the postal department know that we had forgotten the matter, or had decided to let it ride. There is too much congestion at mail time around the post office building, and it will gradually grow worse as the population increases. So let's keep hammering at city delivery.

"Wonder How It Works"

FIRST SHIPMENTS of American-made lend lease guns to help defend Asia against the Axis threat have reached these tough Sikhs, members of a famous North Indian race of fighting men in the service of Britain. Loss of the rich rubber and tin supplies of India, Malaya and Burma would be a blow not only to the war effort of Britain and her fighting Allies in the war against Hitler, but to the American defense program as well.

Judge Says - - -

Panama is midway twixt North and South America, in more ways than on the map. Last week it ousted one President by their method and inducted his successor by ours. They are modern too, the one parachuted over to Cuba, the other blitzkreiged into the seat, neither bullets or ballots were used. Maybe that is some of that "new order" for America. Little Panama, may learn us something yet; 'tis said a child shall lead them. The people of N & S America, will be slow to change for in one they delight to use bullets and pow wow, and up here we must have ballots and wow-wow. The ousted one said he merely left seeking treatment for a sore throat, or head, but we admire the tho'; if he comes back to Panama, he'll soon be seeking ointment for a different sore-spot.

The greatest game of the World serious, is still in, over in Europe's grid. Coach Hitler's team has gained much yardage, several first downs and while in scoring territory, hasn't kicked the final goal. Coach Stalin, tho hard pressed and calling for substitutes, is doing some excellent blocking and holding the lines. The English pep-squad, one of the best in the world, is doing the rah-rahing. France, Czech, Yugo, and Norway are heckling and throwing pop bottles. Turkey is scouting the game. Uncle Sam is warming up along the sidelines. Japan is betting heavy on both sides. Musso the assistant, is unable to attend because of injuries in former games, and he is sicka da tummi.

THANK GOD, THEY STILL CARRY BOOKS, NOT MASKS

Throughout the land the daily exodus of the school children of America has begun.

Racing along the quiet streets, scuffling through the fallen leaves, chattering together like a group of magpies, they go back to school, with, God be thanked, books under their arms, not gas masks. Gongs are to them the signal for recess or the end of the school day—not air raid warnings.

One of the great advantages in the American school system is the habits it inculcates in the children—the teaching of children from all sorts of homes that when they enter the class room, they are on the basis of equality with every other child in the room—Protestant, Catholic or Jew, White or Mongolian—that there the only superiority is superiority of brains, of concentration, of willingness to work.

There they have to learn how to get along with other children, which is the best training for getting along with people when they go out into the world. As in life, if they cannot keep up—no matter what the reason—they drop back into another class. Rain or shine they are expected to be at school in their appointed places at their appointed time. They learn that there are certain things that one cannot get out of—and they learn that alibis do not count.

But one thing that should be done in all the classes in all the schools in this country is to try to make the children realize what a privilege this freely going to school is. What a great advantage they have in a free education in a classroom where opportunity to learn is based on ability and on willingness to study, not on race or creed. We have neglected to stress the importance of school days in our haste to make gala days of the holidays. School has too often been something to be hurried through. We have neglected to teach the children to appreciate school itself.

The children of today must be taught that democracy, equality, freedom are not empty words, to be sung or recited about and then forgotten—but that they are clarion calls to tasks which are theirs as surely as they were the tasks of the pioneers, or of the boys in our armed services. The right to freedom must be earned by each generation. The young men of the country are in camp to fit themselves for the defense of their country if war comes. Their brothers and sisters are in school to fit themselves for life under these freedoms. All are soldiers together in an army for America.—County-Wide News, Littlefield.

Newspaper writers who have visited our troops during the war games came away convinced that all of the statements put out by isolationists regarding low morale among the boys is pure bunk. The new army is high in morale and the men are enjoying maneuvers in spite of the personal discomforts to which they are subjected. The men in the army are taking their job much more seriously than a large number of the people in this nation, who are not convinced that America faces a critical job in defeating Hitler. Maybe our boys will never be called into battle and 100 per cent American people hope this wish shall be true. But if this nation is forced to send men into battle, the boys will be able to take care of themselves. Warfare is no longer a game of handing a gun to an untrained man and telling him to shoot. The soldier of today must combat many must likewise know how to use such devices. The American soldier is not soft and neither is he just about ready to desert his post as the isolationists would have you believe.—Canyon New.

Governor Coke Stevenson is a story teller.

Here's one that's credited to Texas' pipe smoking chief executive:

On his ranch near Junction, he had working for him a cowhand who was the second biggest liar in the world, Stevenson figured. He had already fired the biggest.

And he thought he ought to have a heart-to-heart talk with the second cowboy, so the Governor told him how the other man had been let out because the rest of the men couldn't abide the fellows lies.

Yes, I know, and the cowhand shook his head.

Stevenson continued. Now take what he said about the trees in East Texas being 800 feet high - -

The cowboy broke in. Yeah, the trouble with that guy was he just never had seen any real trees like we have up in my country.

Colliers in a recent issue told of a loan shark case in Dallas. "For nine years, the victim paid $2.25 a week for a loan of $20, borrowed to settle a hospital bill. Never having been allowed to apply a cent to the principal, he still owed the $20., although he had paid a total of $1,053 or 5, 265 per cent interest.

A tramp knocked at the back door and the lady of the house said, "You seem to be an able-bodied man; you ought to be strong enough to work. And he replied, I know mum, and you seem to be beautiful enough to go on the stage, but evidently you prefer the simple life. She said step into the kitchen and I'll see if I can't stir up a meal for you.

One for the old joke contest: Two neighbor women had an argument. One claimed she had loaned the other a pitcher and, when it was returned it was cracked. The other woman said, In the first place, I returned the pitcher in good condition; in the second place, it was cracked when I borrowed it; and in the third place, I didn't borrow it at all.

COLORADO GIRL PAYS WITH SILVER DOLLARS

Lubbock, Oct. 6.—Silver dollars are carried to pay debts, not to create a sensation, thinks Nana Mae Milliken of Monta Vista, Colo., enrolled as a freshman H. E. student at Texas Tech this fall. She was faintly surprised at the stir caused in the college business office when she rolled out 20 silver dollars to pay the balance on her first month's room and board.

She brought six more silver dollars with her—just because she happened to have them—from her Colorado home, but failed in her effort to spend each one. Every attempt was thwarted by some eager coed who offered her a dollar bill in exchange for the collector's piece. Others asked her to send home for silver pieces coined in the year of their births.

Asked if they were not heavy to carry around in a purse, she answers matter-of-factly, "Oh, you don't carry them unless you are going to pay a bill".

Mrs. Lloyd Ledbetter of Odessa visited in Brownfield last week.

Mrs. J. A. King, jr., visited here briefly Saturday enroute to Pampa to attend the funeral of a friend. J. A. is the assistant manager of Montgomery Ward in San Angelo.

The Home In The National Picture; Theme Of P.-T. A. Program

The importance of the home in the national emergency was brought out forcefully in the Oct. 9 meeting of the West Ward Parent Teachers Association.

Rev. H. W. Hanks and Mrs. E. C. Davis as participants in a symposium on "Difficulties That Threaten Modern Home and Family Life", brought out these pertinent facts:

The modern hustle and bustle of living tend to reduce the home to a place where we eat, sleep, and change clothes for another pressing engagement. We must combat too many movies, too many clubs and unwholesome radio programs if we are to make home a place where the members of the family work and play together, share confidences and work out problems of mutual interest and where children are trained by example to respect the ideals of Christian living.

The homemaker faces a three-fold problem in these days of national emergency she must work diligently for the health of her family, studying nutrition planning the maximum in energy for each food-dollar she spends. She must teach the kind of patriotism which will build dependable citizens who are proud to take part in a government which allows him the right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

And she must plan clean wholesome social contacts within the family circle and also outside the home.

We who wish to defend the Democratic way of life must recognize the home as the main line of defense and exert every effort to strengthen the position of the home and the family.

Mrs. Fred Walker, in her discussion of Self-Discipline for Parents, gave this definition. Self-discipline of parents is doing something for or with a child which causes sacrifice of personal time and effort. Mrs. Walker stated that parents must discipline themselves to make sacrifices in two directions, namely, in time and in interest. They must give much time to the physical well being of the child. This may require staying home more, especially in the evenings, in order to give their child proper nourishment, rest and sleep. Wise parents will discipline themselves to giving up many outside interests in order to work and play with their child, thus helping him to do things for himself, to accept responsibility and to develop desirable social attitudes.

Wise parents will realize their responsibilities increase as the child's interests broaden. They will cooperate with the school by seeking to understand the child's problems; they will be patient and sympathetic listeners; they will avoid emotional upsets at home by controlling their tempers; and they will guide the child in his religious experiences.

Living Insurance Policy Holders Get Billion In '41

Payments by life insurance companies to living policyholders this year in the form of endowments, annuities, disability payments, surrender values, and dividends, passed the billion-dollar mark with the distribution of $1,056,624,000 in August, bringing the total for the year to date to $1,036,167,000, the Institute of Life Insurance reported today.

Rapid Growth In 20 Years

The use of life insurance benefits for policy holders while they are still living has grown increasingly in recent years, Mr. John son stated in making public the Institute's monthly report. Although death benefits paid to American families have tripled in the past 20 years, the benefits paid to living policyholders have increased at an even greater rate and this year will be at least $1,250,000,000 greater than in 1921.

Total death benefits paid in August were $78,165,000, of which $58,531,000 was for ordinary insurance and $8,931,000 was for group insurance and $10,703,000 was for industrial insurance.

RESULT OF NUMEROUS TAXING BOARDS

Property in the city of Austin is worth $12,000,000, more than all the property in Travis county, in which it is situated. That is, if you can believe county and city tax records.

This incongruity of the Texas tax structure was revealed by University of Texas Bureau of Municipal research tax experts while preparing to hold the First Assessor's Institute here. Reason for the discrepancy is the fact that county and city tax boards each make their own assessments, some counties have as many as eight layers of assessing boards. University officials said.

SOME AGED TREE IF YOU ASK US

A petrified tree—200,000,000 years old—that has turned to copper instead of iron is in possession of the Texas Memorial Museum, on the University of Texas campus.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Anthony, Jr. and Freda Anne visited here Friday, Saturday and Sunday. They are now living in Plains.

Texas May Set Record In Automobile Killings

Texas automobile drivers may set a record this year—a record for killing more people than they've ever killed before.

State Police director Homer Garrison raised this possibility today after studying the trend of "an alarming increase" in the states traffic toll for the first nine months of 1941.

Each month has shown a steady increase in the number of deaths over last year, Garrison observed. In August the increase amounted to 11 per cent. The count for September is not yet complete, and will not be for another 10 days, but already there is an increase over September of last year. The complete total for the nine months is likely to show an overall gain of as much as 13 per cent.

Mathematically, this rate of progression would result at the year's end in an increase of 20 per cent. That would mean 2,100 deaths, or approximately 50 more than the 2,043 deaths which set an all-time record in bloody 1937.

With 100 new Patrolmen and Drivers License Examiners due to graduate from training school late this month, Garrison saw a ray of hope. With diligent enforcement supplemented by the efforts of these new men during the two worst winter months, he said, it may be possible to reverse the death trend and stay even with, or perhaps a trifle under the 1937 record.

Vernon Bell Seriously Ill At San Antonio

The recent war maneuvers were realistic to at least one local family, for it looked for awhile as though they had a boy "missing in action".

When Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bell had not received their weekly letter for three consecutive weeks, from their son, Vernon, they put down the fact that the war games were keeping him too busy to write.

Finally two local boys from Vernon's company came home on a furlough, and hearing of their dilemma called to report their last sight of Vernon.

Railroad Workers Get Higher Pay Than 1929

Wage figures presented by railway employees to substantiate their demand for a 30 per cent pay hike were challenged before President Roosevelt's fact-finding commission here today by J. Elmer Monroe, Assistant Director of the Bureau of Railway Economics.

Railroad men were paid more in 1940 than ever before and their wages are still rising, Monroe declared. He cited reports of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Railroad Retirement Board showing that real wages in the rail industry are one third higher than in 1929.

Monroe showed that those railway employees who actually look to railroads alone for their earnings averaged more than $1,844 for those employees working within twelve months of the year.

Charts drawn from Railroad Retirement Board reports presented to the Commission showing that 862,153 railroad employees were paid $1,589,000,000 or $1,844 per man in 1939. This represented 87.2 per cent of all the money paid by the industry to all persons.

It is clear then, Monroe continued, that 87 per cent of any increase in wages would accrue to the men who averaged more than $1,844 in 1939.

Employees in train and engine service top the pay brackets with an annual average of $3,304 for engineers, $3,010 for conductors, $2,182 for brakemen and $2,316 for firemen, according to the witness' chart, the average for all train and engine service employees being $2,560.

Labor Dictators March On

One of the dreams of extreme radicals has always been the so-called "dictatorship of the proletariat"—in other words, a labor dictatorship. And considerable strides in that direction are being made in this country.

Everyone who can read knows that certain labor leaders are out to completely subjugate industry to their demands—to make the employer do their bidding, no matter how outrageous their terms, on an "or else" basis. Now the labor czars are turning their attention to the government itself.

One union organizer recently claimed that a majority of the clerical and maintenance employees of the State Road commission in 40 of 55 West Virginia counties had been organized. And it is known that organizers are busily engaged in building up unions of policemen, firemen, teachers, street departments, etc.

It is ominously clear what unionization of the government would mean. All government activity, including that of public protection, could be brought to a standstill at the word of the labor dictator in power. The public would be helpless. The labor leaders would be in the saddle—and the people would feel their spurs.

Back in 1937 the president of the United States said: "All government employees should realize that the process of collective bargaining, as usually understood, cannot be transplanted into the public service". But the labor leaders think differently—and they are determined to get their way at all hazards. Their real goal is absolute domination of this country—its government, its industries, and its people.

According to the Agricultural Marketing service milk production for the first half of 1941 amounted to nearly sixty billion pounds. This was an all-time record and about five per cent greater than for the corresponding period of 1940.

Sarah writes she's havin' cotton-covered wallboard put in her new house. Says it's cheaper in the long run, an' downright pretty too. Looks like these farm gals just ain't satisfied in the city 'til they get themselves surrounded with cotton.

Adverse weather has reduced Texas' 1941 turkey crop to an estimated 3,180,000 birds, compared with 3,843,000 raised in 1940, the U S Agricultural Marketing Service reported. Heavy spring rains and cold nights prevented a good hatch of turkeys in Texas and caused an unusually high mortality. The result will drop Texas from first into third place among the turkey raising States, behind Minnesota and California.

Not Much To Add To Our Ramble Trip

One of two have stated that we quit our May trip rather abruptly. We believe we did leave the party in bed and asleep, at the home of our wives. On other occasions we have written on old Tennessee fairly well, we think, and much that we would say here would be repetition. Will state however, that we only had a few days, from Saturday night until the next Thursday morning and that time was fairly well filled with visiting among the numerous kin.

Sunday morning was spent at old New Hope Church, the community center of hundreds of kin and old friends, and of course we betook ourselves up there in order to see as many of them as possible. And we did, the old building erected soon after the civil war, had many folks in it, but of course just Sunday school and worship, was not like being there when the "big meeting" starts with dinner on the ground, and such dinners. Boy! there is the fried chick, chicken and slicks, fried home cured ham, boiled ham, and all the trimmings.

Noticed Joe Roberts of Coahoma, who was with us, nosing around the building. He stated that he was trying to find some of our barefoot tracks we made about the old building when a boy. In our boyhood days the building was used for school as well as church, and we greatly fear that time and elements, augmented by the barefoot tracks of other and younger generations, have long since erased all our tracks. They are "gone with the wind".

In this connection, we might state that Mr. and Mrs. Roberts never tire of telling us what wonderful kin folks we have back in Tennessee, and how nice they were to them during the short visit. And we might add that no stranger attending a service at old New Hope has in the past or probably in the future, ever visited there without a number of invitations to 'go home with them for dinner, or to spend the night'.

According to late letters from Tennessee, we learn that the old church is to undergo quite a lot of remodeling and painting, not before needed by about 40 years, however.

45th YEAR AS PASTOR

Dr. George W. Truett, under whose leadership the First Baptist church of Dallas has grown from a membership of 715 to more than 8,000 in 44 years, began his 45th year as pastor of this church in September.

Sadler Reported Good Crowds

Harley Sadler had his show here for two nights last week. His financial agent called Saturday morning to pay his ad bill and we quizzed him about the attendance Friday night, knowing that a lot of people attended the football game at Seagraves, and a lot at picture shows here, not to mention it being a murky, nasty night.

Well, sir, says the FA, we can seat right at 1200 people, and I'd say all but 200 seats were taken. We'd guess the tent was full and running over Saturday night with no ball games and the clear weather.

Sadler is not a big advertiser, but his is one tent show that newspaper folk never have to look up to get their money. Sadler is a general favorite in any town in West Texas, being a west Texan with a west Texas complex.

PLAY SAFE! CHECK YOUR GOSSIP!

Strange it is how prone some of us are to give credence to rumors, especially so when many of them reflect in greater or less degree on friends and acquaintances.

Not too long ago we heard a rumor that reflected on the common honesty and integrity of a person who has served the community unselfishly and without reward for quite a term of years. The details were made up out of imagination from circumstances easily checked by anyone interested, and the facts were altogether in favor of the man in question.

Parlor, barber shop, beauty shop or street corner gossip—all carry a tremendous list in the direction of exaggeration and distortion of the truth. It is the civilized, the decent thing to check the gossip we hear before we give it any standing—and certainly before we add to its circulation.

All the gossiping is not done by the women, but man and woman, it will pay to play safe. Check your gossip!—Clarendon News.

75-YEAR-OLD WALNUT TREE

A black walnut tree 75 years old and six feet in diameter at the base stands in the yard of R. E. Sparkman of Italy. The tree yields from 10 to 20 bushels of excellent walnuts annually, said Sparkman. The tree grew from a single walnut planted in 1852.

Scrap Aluminum Drive Nets Less Than U S Goal

Remember back several weeks ago when Terry county people, under auspices of the local Howard American Legion Post, contributed 3,200 pounds of scrap aluminum to aid the nation's defense drive?

Officials of the Office of Production Management announced this week in Washington that the nation-wide drive Terry county people helped in had resulted in the collection of 11,835,139 pounds of the scrap metal—a total equivalent to the amount needed in the construction of 1,900 fighter airplanes.

The campaign, however, fell below officials expectations for O PM attaches hoped that from 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 pounds of scrap aluminum would be collected in the drive.

Experts estimated that the net yield of aluminum from scrap would be about 7,000,000 pounds. The remainder of the weight represented other materials, primarily iron and steel, which were attached to the aluminum articles.

All but 310,000 pounds of the scrap has been allocated already to smelters having defense ratings.

The aluminum was sold to the smelters by the government and the funds derived therefrom went into the treasury. Officials did not disclose how much was received for the scrap.

Department of Agriculture scientists have invented a machine which will cut two tons of staple length cotton into small pieces hourly. The chopped-up staple is used as substitute for lintners in making smokeless powder.

Isolationists Begin A Hasty Retreat

President Roosevelt is at the peak of popularity with the public. On top of that, the ratio of public support for his foreign policies, always high, is higher than it has been since the outbreak of war in Europe. America trusts the President and is pretty well united in the belief that other things must wait until the menace of Hitlerism is crushed finally and forever.

That public sentiment is shifting more than ever to the President's support is beyond dispute. The signs are manifold. There was the action taken by the American Legion convention and the disaffection of Senator Capper, of Kansas, and Rep. Dirksen, of Illinois, both Republicans, from the ranks of the isolationists.

What accounts for this new swing in sentiment? First, of course, is the ever growing conviction that the President stands head and shoulders above his contemporaries in understanding world events. Every development in Europe and the Orient proves that he has been right, everlastingly right, since the beginning of the great conflict.

The second reason is equally important—the confusion, the muddy thinking of men and the petty nonsense of the men who presumed to lead America along the path of isolation. The longer the war goes on, the smaller these men shrink in stature. They can't agree even among themselves.

Col. Lindbergh told his fellow countrymen that "even if America entered the war," is improbable that the Allied Powers could invade the continent and whip the Axis powers. In other words, England is done for, so stay out of it.

Mr. Herbert Hoover wants to keep hands off for another reason. He says a cold survey shows that Hitler is sure to be defeated even without an Axis rout on the continent. He thinks Hitler is done for. That certainly is a cold survey. He and Col. Lindbergh reached the same conclusion by methods of reasoning as far apart as the two poles.

Senator Gerald Nye turned a neat profit over the past several years by lecturing the public on the iniquity of war. The burden of his argument was that wicked Wall Street, anxious to protect its loans to the Allies, conspired to get the United States into the first world war. He brandished the Wall Street bogey, and incidentally Holloywood, for a time in the present crisis. Then he recalled that Wall Street has no direct financial stake this time because Uncle Sam is doing the lending. Wall Street, in fact, may lose a great deal through heavier taxes like the rest of us.

So Senator Nye detoured. He tossed in the hated racial issue in the hope of arousing public passions and prejudices. The sorry business backfired so he is now engaged in telling the public, at least those few who will listen, that his opponents dragged in the racial issue. Col. Lindbergh tried the racial stuff, rather gingerly, but he also found it too hot to handle.

Senator Vandenberg of Michigan that wordy and voluble statesman has retreated into a shell of silence, a trying circumstance for him. Two years ago he thought it was a "phony war" but now he knows differently. Rep Ham Fish is still carrying the torch and the public greets him with customary indifference. Senator Burton K.

Scientists Striving For Synthetics

Intensive and extensive research goes on steadily at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio. Laboratory experts seek substitutes or synthetic materials to replace those essential to airplane manufacture, which might be cut off during war time. Detailed description of their work cannot be given, but some facts have been announced which suggests not only progress made but amazing possibilities.

For example, certain types of synthetic fabrics have been tested and approved as substitute for parachute silk and for use in corded tires. Cotton materials have been developed which serve as well as linen webbing in parachute harness.

chute harness. A synthetic fabric is almost ready to take the place of the present wing surface covering.

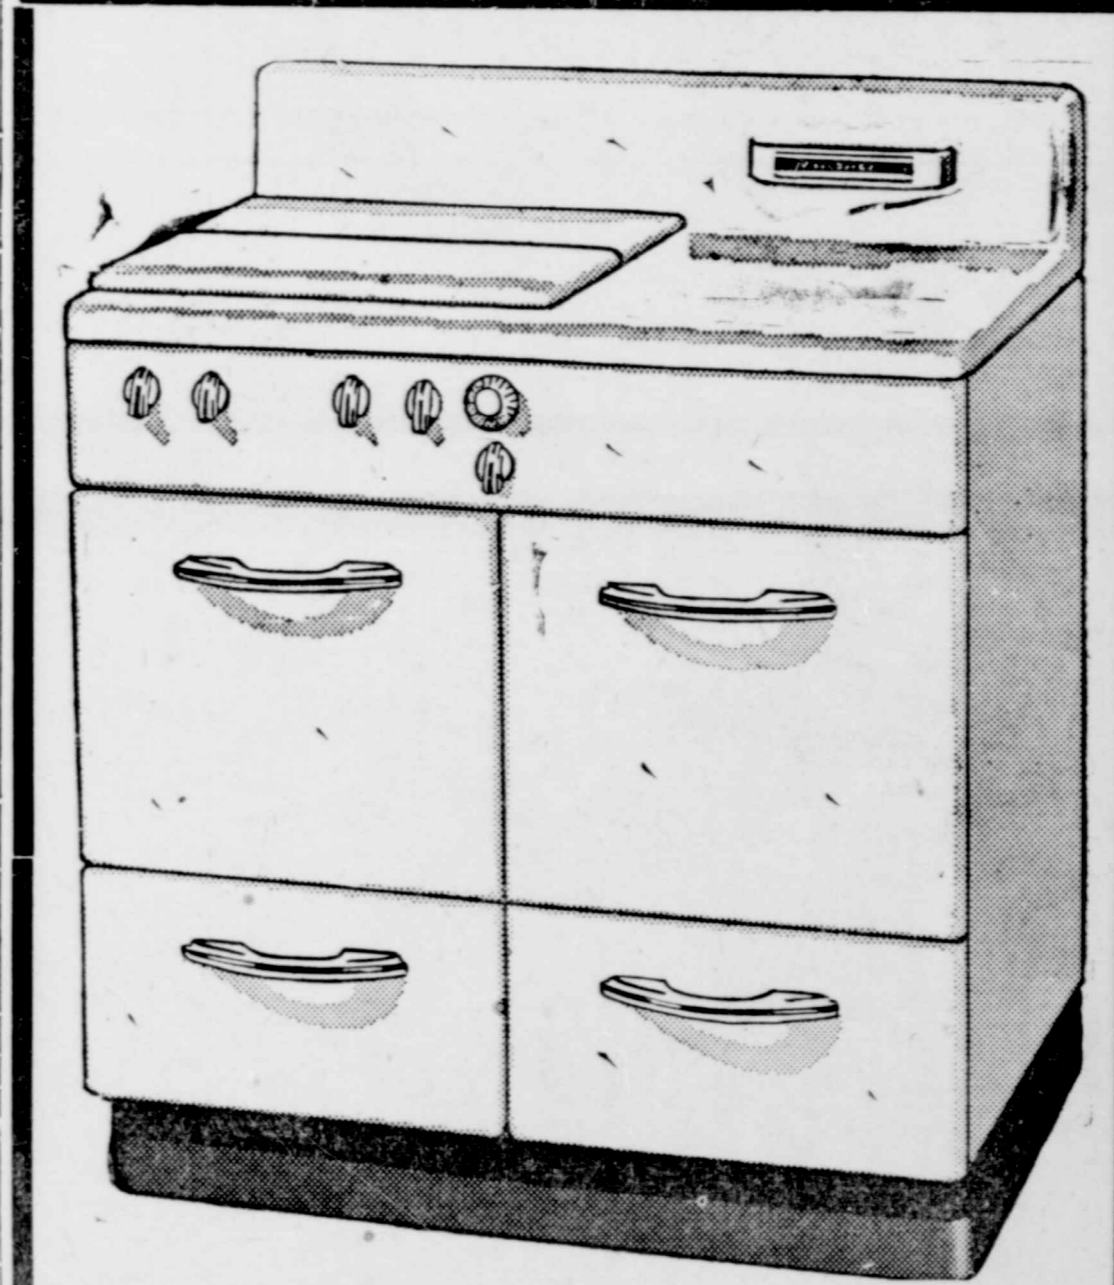

The layman whose daily life and work are far removed from chemical research begins to believe that the laboratory experts can work any magic they choose. He wonders a little whether any of the raw materials on which industries and civilizations have been built and for which wars have been fought are really vital. They were at hand and easy to use, and man has done a great thing with them—as well as evil things—but already they have been proved not irreplaceable. The essential "raw materials" and "natural resources" of the future may be far different from those we are now familiar with. Amarillo Times.

SONG WOES AND WINS HUSBAND

Genevieve Haney, of Dallas, knits sweaters for British Relief Society. Recently she wrote a song entitled: "I'm Sittin' and Knittin'" for Britain. John Rumbold, Royal Air Force cadet, training in Texas was impressed by the song, sought an introduction to the authoress and, after a brief courtship they were married. John was given a 24-hour leave from his training base for the honeymoon.

FIRST AIRPLANE RIDE AT 95

Mrs. Mary Zinn of Big Spring took her first airplane ride on her 95th birthday and enjoyed it. "I took my first ox-cart ride when I was 16, from Pettus county Mo., to Cass county, Texas. Today I had my first airplane ride", said Mrs. Zinn.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

Non Curbing Curbs
A survey of leading credit retailers indicates the restrictions on instalment terms that went into effect Sept. 1 have had almost no effect, net, in discouraging demand for household goods. About the only noticeable change is that more people are buying for cash. Although there was a big dip in sales right after the regulations took effect, this was attributed to confusion over what the restrictions meant. Indications are the Federal Reserve Board may "tighten the screws" in order to produce the desired effect of reducing demand for articles using materials needed for defense goods. Meanwhile, as expected, the customers "beat the luxury tax" rush the last two days of September sent department store sales soaring again. For the week ending October 4 they were 34 per cent ahead of the previous year.

Washington
Bill Knudsen made the biggest news here, with figures on proportion of total U. S. manufacturing facilities that "might eventually" be needed for defense work alone. It might reach 65 per cent, he said, and for the year beginning next June would be around 53 per cent. Indications of how far the pendulum has yet to swing, from peacetime to armaments production, are seen in the fact that, as of now, the country is devoting only 15 to 20 per cent of its productive facilities to defense work. Fitting into this picture, also, was his request to machine tool makers to institute a seven day work week and in-

Planes In Peace
The airplane is destined to become an even more powerful force for shaping the peace of the future than it is winning the present war, according to C. V. Whitney, board chairman of Pan American Airways. He predicts that the nations of the world will continue to use their enlarged craft production lines and vast material supplies for building airplanes for peaceful missions after the war.

In addition Whitney says, the end of the defense program will turn loose possibly 100,000 fully-trained pilots and co-pilots and several hundred thousand skilled mechanics. The domestic airplane industry now employs only about 2,000 pilots. The aviation pioneer said he wouldn't be surprised if, within a year, there will be planes that will take 50 people non-stop from New York to London in seven hours.

WELBORNS TAKE IN TEXAS-OKLAHOMA GAME

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Welborn of this city took in the football thriller at Dallas Saturday between Texas University and Oklahoma University, in which the Longhorns appeared to be entirely too much for the Sooners.

Fact of the matter is, the Welborns stated they had business in Dallas, but we fear it was mostly football. They also visited relatives at Alvarado and in Fort Worth.

Lubbock Fair Directors Well Pleased

Lubbock, Oct. 13—Last Saturday night rung down the curtain on the 28th annual Pannhandle South Plains Fair, pronounced by officials as by far the best Exposition in the more than a quarter of a century of The Show Window of the Plains.

Exhibits in all departments were pronounced by department heads and by the record crowds that visited exhibit buildings as outclassing in quality anything shown here in recent years. Officials frankly said that some departments had in the past had perhaps more exhibitors in number, but never has the quality been better, they said. C. C. Johnson, Superintendent of the Agricultural Department, announced that more people had been in the agriculture building than in any of the seven years he has been working with the department. Other departments heads announced similar public reception.

Attracting particular attention was the pattern or model livestock exhibit by Texas Tech College, which showed a cross section of the college stock as individuals along with methods of preparation and exhibition of show stock.

The Fair was pronounced by officials as a financial success, and all premiums will be paid in proportion to net receipts. Final figures have not been announced.

THE SUBMARINE ANIMAL OF PAST AGES

Austin, Texas, Oct. 13—Latest addition to the "zoo" of prehistoric fossilized animals displayed in the Texas Memorial Museum, on the University of Texas campus, is a 175,000,000-year-old fore runner of the crocodile.

The reptile—known as a phytosaur—was discovered by a University-WPA geological field crew in Howard county. Its body measures 15 feet in length, the skull alone being four feet long.

The phytosaur lived in the swamps of West Texas during the period when dinosaurs were beginning to inhabit the area. Dr. E. M. Sellards, Museum director, explained.

In seeking its prey, the strange creature would submerge in the water, leaving only its eyes and nose above the surface, and would advance in a manner not unlike a submarine of today, Dr. Sellards pointed out.

Fight Fire With Up-To-Date Ordinances

A national drive is now under way to promote the adoption of a standard, up to date fire prevention ordinance in all the cities and towns of this country.

The importance of this has been explained in a joint announcement by W. E. Mallalieu, and C. W. Schoelzel of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, which prepared the ordinance and C. W. Schoelzel of the National Association of Insurance Agents. It is imperative that every one redouble his efforts to prevent fires in order to conserve lives and our material resources, the announcement says. President Roosevelt emphasized that it is imperative to impress up all the individual responsibility for protecting human life and safeguarding homes, industries, and public buildings against the grave menace.

Many of the local associations of insurance agents, as well as other groups interested in community welfare, have begun the work for adoption of the fire prevention ordinance and will continue until their efforts have been successful.

It is inconceivable that these activities will fail to make people realize that an extraordinary effort is necessary in all communities to reduce fire waste which, during the first eight months of this year, was greater than for the comparable period last year.

No community big, or little, can have an excuse for failure to do everything possible to fight fire. The suggested fire prevention ordinance is a potent weapon, and no time should be wasted in adopting it. Fight fire for your own safety—and for the safety of your country.

Mrs. Clovis Kendrick and Mrs. W. E. Latham were in Lubbock Monday.

Rigorous Training Given Highway Patrolmen

It takes more than a uniform, a badge and a pistol to make a Texas Highway Patrolman.

At 6 A. M. each weekday a bugle sounds in the big dormitory at Camp Mabry and 93 student Patrolmen roll out. By 7 o'clock they've dressed, had roll call and 15 minutes of calisthenics, and are ready for breakfast.

From 8 o'clock until noon they are drilled in a host of subjects presented through lectures and classroom demonstrations by instructors who are nearly all members of the Department of Public Safety. The studies range from history and geography to traffic control, psychology, criminal identification and investigation, criminal law and procedure, court demeanor, investigation of simulated crime scenes, and even a mock trial.

Certificate of Title To Car Must Be Secured Now

Under the provisions of House Bill No. 205 passed by the Forty-Seventh Legislature it will be necessary for every owner of a motor vehicle purchased new since January 1, 1936, to have in his possession by January 1, 1942 a Certificate of Title for the car he owns, is the information given out this week by J. Virgil Burnett, Tax Assessor-Collector.

Section 63, paragraph B, of the Certificate of Title Act specifically provides that the State Highway Department of any Tax Assessor-Collector shall not after the first of January 1942 register or renew the registration of any motor vehicles unless and until the owner thereof shall make application for and be granted an official certificate of title for such vehicle that a certificate of title for such vehicle has been previously issued to such owner by the State Highway Department. This however, shall not apply to automobiles which were purchased new prior to January 1, 1936. Under the provisions of Section 63, it will not be possible for a person to file an application for title and register his vehicle at the same time, as this section provides that the owner shall make application for and be granted a certificate of title, and the filing of an application for certificate of title does not mean that a title will be issued. The exemption under Section 63 regarding automobiles purchased new prior to January 1, 1936 pertains only to registration and operation of these vehicles and any automobile sold or encumbered in this State after October 1, 1939 must be titled regardless of the date it was originally purchased.

Section 63, paragraph C, of the Certificate of Title Act provides that the owner of a motor vehicle registered in this State shall not after January 1, 1942 operate or permit the operation upon any highways without first obtaining a Certificate of Title thereof from the Department, nor shall any person operate any such motor vehicle upon the public highways knowing or having reason to believe that the owner has failed to obtain a certificate of title therefor. This does not apply to vehicles prior to January 1, 1936. Applications can be made at the office of the Tax Assessor-Collector in Brownfield.

CLAUDE MERRITT LOSES STEPFATHER

Mrs. Claude Merritt of the Tokio section was in Tuesday and reported that she and husband attended the funeral of his stepfather, J. S. Hodges of McAdoo Thursday.

Mr. Hodges died Wednesday. He was operated on in April, but his disease was so deep seated that he never recovered.

O. E. Wilcox, Lubbock, who looks after the installation and repairs on time clocks installed by Western Union, was a visitor here this week. He, with Henry Breneman, local operator called on those who had clocks, or contemplating installing one. Mr. Wilcox is now travelling agent of W. U.

Mrs. Bertha Stahler had as her guests her mother, Mrs. F. M. Wilkins of Jacksboro.

Terry County A. C. A. News

For the information of Terry county farmers who are interested in loans, we quote the following regulations which govern the loans.

Eligible Producer
An eligible producer shall be any person, partnership, association, or corporation producing grain sorghums as landowner, landlord, or tenant upon whose farm the 1941 acreage classified as soil-depleting acreage allotment or permitted acreage for the farm.

Eligible Grain Sorghums
Grain sorghums of any class grading No. 4 or better, which were produced in 1941, the beneficial interest to which is and always has been in the eligible producer, will be eligible for loan except that grain sorghums weevily or smutty or which contain in excess of 13 per cent moisture if stored on farms or 14 per cent if stored in approved county warehouses, shall not be eligible for a loan.

Eligible Storage
Eligible storage shall include

county warehouses and farm storage in designated counties meeting the following requirements:

(1) Country warehouses—Warehouses located at country points which have met the requirements of Commodity Credit Corporation and have executed in uniform grain storage agreement including "grain sorghums" in the definition of "eligible grain".

(2) Farm Storage. Commodity Credit Corporation instructions concerning grain sorghum loans, require that farm storage shall consist of farm bins and granaries which are of such substantial and permanent construction as to afford safe storage of the grain sorghums for a period of 2 years, and to permit effective fumigation of insects and afford protection against rodents, other animals thieves, and weather, as determined by the state and county agricultural conservation committees. Grain sorghums stored on the farm as collateral for a loan must not contain in excess of 13 per cent moisture and must have been threshed and stored in the granary at least thirty (30) days prior to inspection, measurement, sampling, and sealing.

Amount of Loans— Loan values on grain sorghums shall be based on the numerical grade, irrespective of subclass, except mixed grain sorghums in accordance with the following schedule.

Grain sorghums stored on Farms
No. 1 Grain sorghums 40c per bu.
No. 2 Grain sorghums 38c per bu.
No. 3 Grain sorghums 35c per bu.
No. 4 Grain sorghums 30c per bu.

Grain sorghums stored in country warehouses
No. 1 33c per bu.
No. 2 31c per bu.
No. 3 28c per bu.
No. 4 22c per bu.

The above loan values are subject to a discount of 2c per bu., for mixed grain sorghums.

Maturity and Interest Rate
Grain sorghums loans will be available until Jan. 31, 1942 and will mature on demand for June 30, 1942, and bear interest at three per cent (3) per annum.

Insurance— The amount of such insurance shall not be less than the face value of the note plus interest to maturity, for a period ending not earlier than August 31, 1942.

Fees for Operating Expense
Each applicant for a loan secured by farm stored grain sorghums will pay a total fee of one cent (1c) per bushel for each bushel placed under loan, but in no case shall such total fee be less than $3.00.

Each applicant for a loan se-

Baptist Church News

Next Sunday is known among Texas Baptist churches as Laymans Day and wherever possible some farmer, business or professional man will bring the address at the 11 o'clock hour.

The pastors want more cooperation in the affairs of the church from the men of the churches and what opportunity the men possess to make their influence felt for good.

We do not disparage the work of the women but when Christ organized the first church of twelve members for the promotion of his work in the world it was composed of men only which proves the importance He placed upon men in the kingdom of God.

Let the men be present in great numbers next Sunday for this special day for men.

Next Monday is the regular meeting time of the Brotherhood and the regular program is in preparation and this meeting should also be well attended by the men.

The attendance of 374 last Sunday in the Bible study period is not quite up to the mark and should be greatly improved, and the new teachers and officers recently installed will feel this responsibility very keenly and should have our help.

We of this community are greatly blessed by good crops with better prices than formerly and no doubt there are many who were unable to pay what they desired in the building of our church and this is their opportunity for a liberal offering to the building fund to reduce the indebtedness which is at present seventeen thousand dollars.

We do not know what a day may bring and our country may soon be at war and it behooves us to put our church finances in good order.

Visitors are welcome.

NOTICE TO OFFICERS AND TEACHERS

Officers and teachers meeting on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. It is very essential that you be there to help plan the year's program of work. Prospects from the census will be given teachers at this meeting.

Texas Food Goals Will Be Met

The largest percentage increase among the food production goals announced for Texas by the state USDA Defense Board under the 1942 Food For Freedom campaign is 18 per cent in cattle and calves for marketing and farm slaughter. Other goals include 17 per cent increase in hogs; 10 per cent in eggs; 6 per cent in sheep and lambs, and 3 per cent in milk.

The suggested increase in beef is sought for processing rather than enlargement of herds, and would represent 269,093,000 pounds more than was placed on the market in 1941.

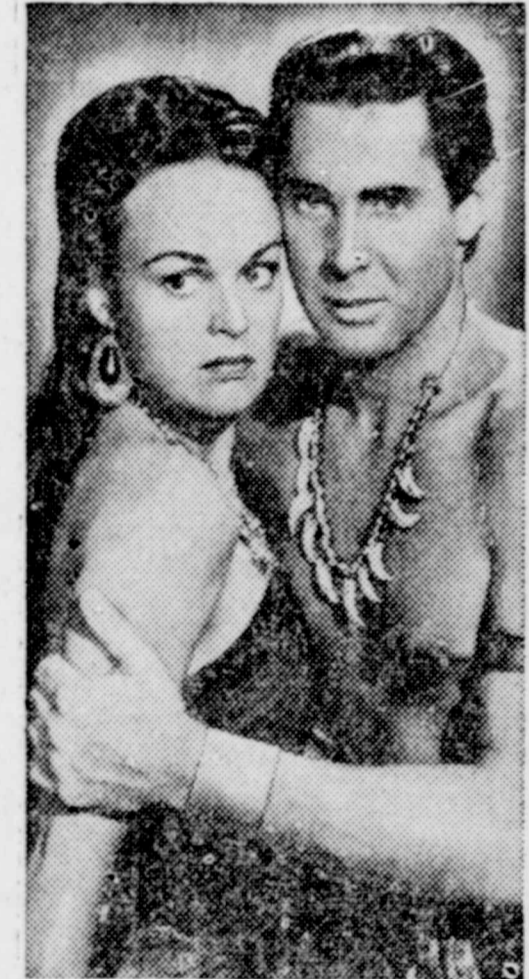

George W. Barnes, animal husbandman of the A and M College Extension service, says there should be no difficulty in reaching the goal if current or better prices for livestock prevail. Ranchmen would cull their cows and sell off irregular breeders, and barren and over-age animals. There are very few herds of any size in Texas, he added, which do not have a selection of these types of animals, and on account of excellent pasturage and surplus feed older cows readily could be put into conditions to go to market at 900 to 1150 pounds of live weight and sold at a profit.

Since the increase requested is a matter of pounds rather than units, the good pastures, trench silos and other home-grown feed reserves have made another contribution to the program. Calves are heavier this fall than for several years and the percentage of herd calf crops is larger. Furthermore, cattlemen will give close attention to management and breeding.

James Patterson, his grandmother, Mrs. J. D. Bailey and Mrs. J. T. Gentry of Tatum, N. M., left Saturday for a few days visit in Oklahoma. The two latter will visit their brother Dudley Wainwright of Chickasha, Okla., it will be the first time the three of them have been together in more than fifteen years.

Mrs. A. J. Stricklin left Wednesday for Redlands Cal., where she will visit her mother and other relatives. She will stop enroute at Glendale Arizona, for a few days stay with her sister Mrs. M. M. Smith. She will be gone about a month.
