

INDEPENDENCE DAY

Potts Heads Good Roads Association

AUSTIN July 3 — The next two or three years will be the most momentous ones in the history of the road-building industry, R. J. Potts of Harlingen, newly-elected president of the Texas Good Roads Association, said today in an interview.

"The world is going to be on wheels to a greater degree than ever before," Potts declared, pointing out that a stupendous amount of preparation must be done for increased travel, in view of the fact that wartime traffic made great demands and necessitated exceptional wear upon the road system of the nation.

Road planners and builders face these two major problems, Potts stated:

1. Traffic must be handled expeditiously in congested areas by means of multilane highways that are expensive to build and maintain; and

2. Facilities must be provided so that farmers can take their children to school and their produce to market; so that people in rural areas can comfortably remain there in the interest of continued agricultural productivity.

The two goals must be reached, Potts added, without rendering the Texas Highway Department incapable of expanding and maintaining the State and Federal primary road system.

Lady Suggests Out Door Singing at Park
Mrs. Morgan (Bit) Copeland, an almost all life resident of Brownfield, has made a suggestion that rather appeals to the Herald management. Her suggestion is that on Sunday night, one or all as leaders think best, after church dismissal, that the members of all the churches gather at Coleman Park for an old time song fest.

We have a lot of good song leaders here, and songs could be selected that all know by heart. What do you think? And are you willing that our song leaders and churchmen get together for the opening program.

Here's one of the advantages of the song fest: You probably know about all the regular attending members of your own church, but Brownfield has grown so fast, how many in the other churches do you know? They might be fine guys if you knew them.

Many Acres Planted To Peas
Following destruction of cotton by late winds and some hail in spots, many farmers are planting to peas. Lee Hulse of the Lahey community has 100 acres, looking good and stated many neighbors damaged by hail are planting peas.

This plant does well in this county, and heretofore has been as profitable as cotton.

MRS. OSCAR JONES LOSSES SISTER
Mrs. Oscar Jones, county treasurer, left Tuesday morning for Pampa to attend the funeral of her sister, Mrs. T. H. Chaffin, who died there last Sunday night following a years illness. Funeral and burial was at Pampa Wednesday. She is survived by husband and four children.
Mrs. John A. Dumas of this city and Mrs. J. O. Green of Lubbock, sisters, also attended.

New Chevrolet Truck On Display Saturday

We are not just exactly in the market for a new truck, but we wanted to see the one in display at the Teague-Bailey Chevrolet Co., Saturday afternoon. Oh, we would buy one, if we could get it on credit and trade it off in a cash deal. By the way, Buddie Teague stated with a sly grin on his face that if he had them he COULD sell several.

Well sir, this big red dual wheel truck is a sturdy looking piece of machinery, and looks like it would really get over the roads fast enough and with a good load. One of the salesmen admitted that it got in the display room under its own power—but it had no bed on it.

And it is called the truck that breathes, takes fresh air in and exhales used air, and the driver has 25 per cent better vision from the cab.

Amarillo July 3—Ralph W. Ater, special representative, Public Relations Department, Santa Fe Railway, Chicago, has been appointed special representative with headquarters at Amarillo, Texas, succeeding L. J. Cassell who has been promoted to a like position in Galveston, Tex., according to announcement made today by Lee Lyles, assistant to president, Santa Fe Railway at Chicago. The appointment is effective July 1.

Peeping Tom Caught Here Monday

Responding to a call from some of the Weldon Apartments, late Monday night, the city police picked up a grown man loitering in a nearby alley and are investigating him in connection with the charge of widow peeping.

Two different women complained of being awakened by the prowler, but identification would be hard to make.

Tuesday by Rev. H. L. Thurston, pastor, assisted by Rev. A. A. Brian, pastor of the Baptist church. Interment followed in the Terry County Memorial cemetery, directed by the Farley Funeral home.

Survivors are Misses Mattie and Ludie Morgan, well known teachers in the Brownfield schools for the past three years and one sister, Mrs. Hemmens of Florida. Her husband died here about a year ago.

Large Crowd Witness Indian Dances

With Ideal weather conditions, a large crowd of people attended the Indian dances last Friday evening at Coleman Park, staged by Boy Scout Troop No. 74 led by LeJune Lincoln.

An arena was artfully arranged in a natural setting of cedar and shrubbery, with the audience seated on a large mott of sheetop high grass. A typical wood fire set by a scout rubbing two sticks together, with occasional flashes of spot lights from the City's new fire truck, furnished light to silhouette the forms in varied costumes as they staged their several dances. A number of people who have seen real Indians dance declared it excellent.

Preceding the performance short talks by Mayor Jordan and Virgil Crawford, Mike Harris, a boy scout briefly described the meaning of each dance.

Seventy five dollars was contributed by the audience to enable this Troop to spend a week at the exclusive scout encampment near Weed, N. M. which is near the Mescalara Indian Reservation in New Mexico. This and one other are the only Texas troops permitted to this camp. A special permit from the Secretary of Interior, allows this troop a day and night camp within the Reservation, where they will not only witness the Indian ceremonies, but will give this performance to them. They may also meet in person the son of the famous Geronimo.

The scouts plan to leave here July 2.

Work On Cemetery Road Begun

Contractors with men and equipment came in Monday to begin work paving the road from Highway west of town to the Cemeteries north.

They were delayed a few days awaiting removal of the Eelectic highline out of the right of way. This is a much needed project and it is hoped will be completed in record time.

Postal Rates Remain Same For Next Year

James Harley Dallas, postmaster, Monday received advices from the Post Office Department that the three cent letter rate and all postage and fees would remain the same, and was requested to give wide publicity.

Not that it makes any difference to the silent public, but few people knew the old rates expired by law June 30th and none expected a reduction.

The local post office is feeling the pinch of congressional economy in cutting time allowed for mail delivery of substitutes and is causing delay in delivery of parcel post packages and may have to curtail city delivery.

Mrs. A. A. Sawyer's brother, Gaines Speegle, was buried in Tulsa Monday. He had been ill some time with a heart ailment.

The Arizona Chemical Plant operating 12 miles east of town are installing duplicate machinery and equipment in detail, to their present set up, thus doubling the capacity of the plant, according to T. I. Woods, their genial young manager, who with his family reside at 620 East Broadway.

The plant by means of wells pump steam into the strata of what natives thought to be yep or alkali beds, underlying a yet undefined area, into the main five story high building and by process of heating and freezing, extract a sodium phosphate in powder form, used in manufacture of paper and other uses.

The plant, with a capacity now of 90 tons daily, but averaging 75, is highly mechanized, running almost automatically, using at present about 35 men. This of course to be increased when new additions are finished in about 60 days.

This company is a subsidiary of one of the largest Chemical companies in the nation and have perhaps the most extensive research laboratory in the nation. While there are several other known chemicals and minerals in these deposits, it is not now deemed sufficient in quantity to justify exploiting.

Girl In Bathing Suit Spends Night in Jail

A barefooted girl, without any shoes, and scarcely anything else on, spent last Friday night in a dry cell in the local jail. City police had a lively chase through town to apprehend her, a male companion, with another woman in a speeding car.

They were charged with drunkenness in the city court, released and went their way. They were not residents of this city.

Local Man Loses Arm In Accident

J. T. Hadaway, a foreman with the Harden-Cook construction company suffered severe injuries Friday afternoon when a 2200 pound steel cabinet, being placed in the basement-vault of the First National Bank fell over pinning him against a concrete wall. He was rushed to the local hospital with a crushed shoulder and arm. Physicians found it necessary to amputate his arm near the shoulder. He has a family and has resided here sometime.

Price Billingsley, one of the most noted evangelists of the Church of Christ in west Texas, is here this week in the interest of publications and other literature issued from the press of the Firm Foundation at Austin. This minister is author of several tracts and leaflets himself.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Benson and son Bill and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Benson, of Santa Rosa, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest La Mastus of Hopland, Calif., are guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Benson. Mr. and Mrs. George Brown and son, of Frederick, Okla., will arrive Friday for the Benson family reunion.

Is The Zoning Code Satisfactory?

BY GWN

Last August the City Council passed an ordinance dividing the City into 12 zones, prescribing kind of buildings, uses, sizes, etc. For sometime before its passage, the proposition was widely advertised in local papers. Several "open hearings" were announced, but few attended. The public, being a typical public, paid it no mind. We seldom know or care what is brewing until it happens. Well, its happening now. They are becoming torrid zones. Much criticism and friction is being heard. Several lawsuits are in the making, growing out of rigid restrictions. Many of these complaints are not without merit. Hence a move is on to repeal, or modify the zoning law.

All the east part of town, is limited to a "one family dwelling". No duplexes or apartments. Just what use, need, good, health benefit, of such a limit is yet to be explained. Garage and servants quarters are permitted. "Provided such quarters are not to be rented to any one, other than the family of the servant."

It is claimed the code is hindering building and keeping people out of town. For instance: one owner on East Main had two small dwellings of ancient vintage and desired to move them to the outer edge of town, remodel and rent them. On the vacated lot erect a house of 2 or 3 apartments. But this ordinance said "Nay." This is a one family street. The owner would have spent thousands of dollars on local labor and materials and added several thousand to the tax value of the city, school and county and furnished living quarters for 2 or 3 home hunting families.

Another, with a large seven room dwelling, only he and wife left to occupy desired to rearrange interior, add indoor fixtures cut an outside door and presto a nice apartment, which any one of a hundred small families would have been glad to have moved in. This Ordinance said Nay.

There are many other similar instances.

With an acute housing shortage still existing, we are beseeched through the radio and press by veterans and other patriotic organizations to move over, make room for some returning and homeless GI wife and baby. But this ordinance says "no."

Among the various reasons assigned by national authorities for the housing breakdown is local restrictive codes.

We hear no criticism of reasonable restrictions, protecting the public from needless fire hazards, unsanitary or obnoxious offensive uses, or occupancy, even to unsightly structures, but to hinder the towns growth with hundreds of homeless knocking at our gates, presents a problem, that should not longer go unnoticed.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Anthony, sr., have returned from visiting their daughter, Mrs. W. G. Terry and Mr. Terry in Jackson, Miss. Their daughter, Elizabeth Jo is spending the summer in Jackson and will attend Bell Haven College in Jackson this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Donley and son, Bobby, Evelyn Beardon of Oklahoma City and Sue Sauer of Spokane Washington and Tommy Hord visited the Carlsbad Caverns Sunday.

Local Firms Under Writing Safety Ads

Beginning with our issue of the 20th, the Brownfield State Bank led off with a nice display ad, material of which is furnished by the National Highway Safety program. Last week the Portland Motor Co., sponsored one, and other are to follow.

This is something that the leaders of the nation are becoming more and more interested about. When statistics glare into our faces the bare fact that more people are killed each week on our nation's highways than were killed at Texas City by the explosions, it is time to stop and think. No doubt there are as many injured or maimed for life.

We stand aghast at such a calamity as the Texas City disaster; we shudder at the deadly fires we have in our big city hotels, and other holocausts, such as the new present floods in the middle north. But when just one or two are killed, and a few injured in a car wreck, we pass the whole matter up as just part of the news of the day. But they are killed just as dead as if they had been in Texas City.

We are now entering into a long weekend holiday. Let's so act and drive on the Fourth so we and others will be alive on the Fifth.

Wants To Know What Happened To Flies

After a few years sojourn in California, Darrel Jackson has returned to again make Brownfield his home. Hadn't had a great deal of time to chew the fat with Darrell, but he did stop us on the street one day last week and posed the question: "What has become of the flies?"

That question might have been a stunner, if we had kept on in the even tenor of our way as we did when Darrell lived here before. But something had to be done and was, or we would have had such epidemics of typhoid and related illnesses that we would have had to treble our hospital capacity, and draft every other woman for a nurse.

In the first place the feeding operations here were not run at full capacity of the pens as it started, but a few thousand at once so pens can be changed and cleaned out regularly. Dope that destroys the flies, maggots and eggs are then used. Not many years ago, flies got so bad in town that they fairly covered the walls of business house fronts. It was a disgusting sight. They were caught by the bushel out at the feeding pens.

Also, the city got busy. The alleys were not just cleaned occasionally or weekly, but daily, and every place where a fly might breed and raise was sprayed with DDT as well as other disinfectants. We just cleaned up the old town and killed off the fly population.

Of course there are a few flies here yet; perhaps always will be, more in the rural areas where there are barns and farm animals, but even on the farms these pests are being controlled much better than formerly.

Best Yet Cafe Under New Management

Coyt Scott, has bought the Best Yet Cafe on west main and is now open for business. His brother, Wayne is the owner and manager of the Grill on the west side.

The Best Yet cafe has been closed for the past week in order to cleanup and redecorate it.

E. A. BOWMAN IN LOCAL HOSPITAL

E. A. Bowman, senior member of the Bowman Motor Co., and former groceryman of this city, underwent a major operation for a stomach ailment at the Treadaway-Daniell hospital Monday.

His condition was reported favorable.

Mrs. Ben Baggett spent the week end in Lovington as guest of the Joe Prices on their ranch.

So far as we can gather at the time this article is typed, little effort will be made to get a general closing of stores here next Friday, July 4th. However, we suspect that most of them will voluntarily close part or all day. Perhaps there will not be a general exodus from town.

However, we expect a fair bunch or rodeo minded to go to Stamford and other places where rodeos are being held. Perhaps some will visit with friends in the neighboring town or counties, but we look for no great amount of long trips, as the stores will be open again on Saturday.

There is no program here for the day that we know of. And this reminds us that the day now generally called the Fourth of July was at one time more generally called Independence Day. General usage will often change names as well as custom.

In the north, we are told, the Fourth is generally the noisy day with fireworks, etc. But in the south, Christmas—the birthday of the Peace Loving Christ, is the one generally celebrated with all kinds of explosives, noises and pranks.

Herald To Be Closed For Three Days

In order for the force to have a little weekend holiday, the Herald will be closed the last three days of this week. For that reason we are publishing a day early, so those with communications will have to get them in early, and this also applies to advertisers.

This also will permit the Herald to get out on the routes, Thursday, as they would not be delivered Friday, and subscribers on routes could not get them till Saturday afternoon.

There will be periods around midday Thursday when some one will be in the office to take renewals and new subscriptions, and perhaps all day Saturday. No rush order job work will be taken, as the workmen will be away.

Yoakum To Vote On Courthouse, Hospital

The property taxing voters of Yoakum county will go to the polls, Saturday, July 12, to vote on two propositions, a total bond issue of $450,000. Of this $260,000 is to be used for a new courthouse at Plains, and a county hospital to cost $190,000 is to be built in Denver City.

While we have talked to very few about the matter, it is believed that both issues will carry, as with this arrangement, both Yoakum towns will get the benefit of the bond issue.

We might add here that Yoakum county is fairly rolling in oil wealth, and in the long run oil will pay most of the issues. Besides, old Yoakum has a good farm area on the east side and as good ranching lands as you will find anywhere in the western part of the county.

The South Plains Sacred Harp Singing Convention will meet Saturday and Sunday, July 5th-6th at the Baptist Church, College Avenue and 27th st. Singers from the entire South Plains area will be there. Everybody welcome. Dr. A. L. Stringer, chairman.

Juanita Moreman and son, Donald Ben spent the week end in Borger. Donald remained for a several weeks visit. He will later go on to Oklahoma City for a visit with relatives.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

SMALL PAPER ASSOCIATION

Our president and others, including the former First Lady, had a ringing speech making rally before the Association for Advancement of Colored Races Sunday, at the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D. C. Mrs. F. D. R. has always been a rather good rabble rouser and a bit inclined to advocate social equality. While the president don't go that far, he nevertheless strongly advocates equal opportunity of the races, which is all very well. And in his speech he frequently referred to the "backward sections"—of course meaning the south. It must be admitted by any friend of the south that justice has only recently been made a farce in at least two of our southern states, of which we feel ashamed. On the other hand, it will have to be admitted by all, that the "cultured north" is having more and more race trouble, even though they have but infinitesimal percentage of the colored race among them. If the matter was based on percentage, perhaps it would be shown that there are no more clashes between the races in the south than in the north. One of the great troubles is that the big news associations, such as the AP and UP, together with the big slick mags, have always played up race troubles in the south, and suppressed them north of the Mason-Dixon line. If we know anything, this method is teaching hatred of southern white people. Had the president ever thought of that?

We sometimes wonder of our western farmers, cultivating from 160 acres to "all out-doors" are a great real ahead of what we west Texas people term "shirt-tail patch" farmers of east Texas and the old south, are too much ahead of them in the final analysis? Back there they cultivate what they can safely harvest with their own family force, so that very little of the crop valuation goes into wages for cultivation or harvest. And, working a small acreage, they fertilize heavily and realize from one to one and one-half bales per acre for cotton and from 40 to 60 bushels of corn per acre, as well as a heavy hay crop. Out here we import thousands of Mexican and negro migratory labor, and a huge part of the farm income goes to labor. Of course the farmers back there don't drive 300 miles on a week end fishing expedition. The eastern farmers don't have to go that far, if he goes at all. Nor do they take off half across Texas to attend a rodeo. Well, says one, us western farmers have the most fun. OK, you win.

All this wild and woolley weather out here caused deep and land farmers to have many a rousing headache this spring. But perhaps the old saying that a bad start means a good finish. We sincerely hope so. One farmer we asked about how much of his crop blew out, remarked with a sly grin that he lost very little stuff, as his field was too d--n weedy to blow. Maybe he has something there, which leads us to ask if this is what the farm experts mean when they advocate "cover crops"? Could be.

We also met up with a farmer on the streets this week that didn't seem to give a hang, or had never heard of the old saw about "only the newcomer or fool predicts the weather out here." He said it was going to rain Monday, and it came mighty nigh doing it. We later repeated his prediction to three other farmers, when one remarked: "I'll bet that was Lee Fulton." Since when has Lee Fulton been a farmer—at least a dirt farmer.

We have heard so much about the Taft-Hartley labor law pro and con of late, that we are attempted to get us a glass of cold water some of these days and get under the air conditioner and read that doggone law. Some folk, and they appear to be sincere, either on radio or news comment seem to think it is a good start toward a labor law, but with present faults to be corrected. Some others have termed it "the slave labor law," and others intimate that it fringes upon the freedom of press and radio, all except the capitalistic press, whatever that is. Frankly, we are here to inform the general public that it takes something besides hay to publish a weekly newspaper these days, and we have never even thought we would ever be classified as a capitalist. Anyway, we may read that labor bill some of these days.

And old Tarheel (N. C.) editor has offered some very valuable advice to the powers that be in Washington about saturating Europe with our dollars, while they loll around and study how to start another war. He hints that we are making real parasites out of the European nations and just as long as we furnish everything for free, they will not work. Why not follow the advice of the North Carolinian and send over some seed and fertilizer and put them to work making their own honest living?

Over-Fatigue Invites Polio in Summer Months

Strenuous exercise or games causing extreme fatigue should be avoided during the hot summer months as another precaution against polio, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, through its local chapter, stresses among six simple health rules that should be observed in combating the disease.

Tests on laboratory animals carried out in experiments financed by March of Dimes funds, showed that where animals were strenuously exercised, twice as many of them exposed to the virus developed more severe forms of infantile paralysis than did those which had rested quietly in their cages. The studies indicate, the National Foundation points out, the wisdom of avoiding extreme fatigue is a worthwhile precaution in the polio danger months—June through September.

Babson Discusses Inventions

WASHINGTON, D. C. July 4—A redheaded young man has just been telling me of his experiences with the bureaucrats in Washington. He is a natural inventor and is now working on an engine which uses air for fuel instead of gasoline or diesel oil.

My Redheaded Friend

As this young man is not a college graduate and knows little about the techniques of modern physics, he is looked down upon as a crank by the "higher-ups" in leading educational institutions. I am not up on atomic physics, but I do believe that someday the principle, for which this redhead is sacrificing his life, will be recognized.

However, my immediate appeal is that college professors and Washington bureaucrats give more courteous attention to all who come to them with an idea. Many of the revolutionary inventions have come from men like Edison, Ford and Marconi, who never saw the inside of a college, and perhaps not a high school. The poor treatment that ordinary inventors get today at Washington or at our big universities is not only cruel but short sighted—and almost treasonable.

Hope Of Europe

At the present time Communism is gradually working westward, and unless stopped, will take over the whole of Europe. Yet, Washington thinks that only money is needed to stop Communism. This idea is wrong. Brains and Faith, rather than money, are most needed by Europe and England today. Our policy of sending money, brass hats and politicians to feed the starving is well-meaning, but it will not save Europe from Communism.

The great need of Europe is to rebuild her universities, churches and scientific schools and to give scholarships to boys and girls who have brains, initiative and a desire to help their people. The short-sighted policy of just saving the lives of the starving without doing anything for those who are not starving but who have education and ability is a great mistake.

The cost-of-living has increased in the United States about 56 per cent since 1940. Congress and the bureaucrats here in Washington have tried many legislative laws to keep down the cost-of-living. They experimented with fixing prices, which was a failure; then with subsidizing production, which was a blunder. They experimented with raising and lowering tariffs, which is pure politics. The chief interest amongst the Washington people seems to be to get more appropriations and more jobs, whether or not these quack remedies will do any good.

Following World War I, we had the same cost-of-living difficulties that we have today. The conclusion then was that (aside from everyone working a little harder and a little longer) the solution to high living costs rested with humble inventors of new machines, new processes and new discoveries. The same is true today. Too many research laboratories are working on new products to tempt our housewives, rather than on reducing the cost of existing products. The reduction of the cost-of-living is primarily a matter of more inventive geniuses and more industry. Thinking more and working more is the answer.

What About Wages?

No wise economist should decry increased wages per se. Good wages are necessary to create purchasing power which is an important factor in employment. On the other hand, labor unions have done very little to bring about high wages. Not only have many labor unions increased the cost of living, but they have retarded inventions and new processes which are essential in re-

Why Leave Terry To Buy Wheat Land?

Got to talking with Roy Wingard down at the swimming pool Sunday afternoon, and the conversation drifted to some one who had sold land here and bought "wheat land" in another county farther north.

Says Roy: "Wonder why he ever sold wheat land here to buy it elsewhere?" He had us stumped. So he added:

"It is sorter like the old timers were by paved roads when I come to Terry county about 20 years ago. They said the sand would cover them up. Now they know better, and no one would want to go back to old dirt roads."

ducing living costs. The inventors of the country are mostly responsible for the good wages being paid today.

Often I am asked: "What are the fundamentals of prosperity?" and I reply:—"Three, namely, Natural Resources, Euthusiastic Inventors, and Sane Religion." This is not contrary to the established economic theory that prosperity is based on "Land, Labor and Capital." My answer simply specifies that Land of itself is of no use unless it has good soil, forests, or minerals; that Labor is of no use unless it has brains and inventive powers; and that Capital is directly the result of honesty, thrift and credit,—the products of religion.

Spring—Summer—Fall

with the ALL-CROP HARVESTER
"SUCCESSOR TO THE BINDER"

Risking your whole year's work and investment in a single crop is no longer necessary.

The All-Crop Harvester handles a wide variety of crops that mature at intervals from spring till snow flit. You have money coming in during three seasons instead of one.

Early clovers and grasses open the harvest season in late spring and early summer... followed by summer-ripening grains... then fall seed crops, sorghums and soybeans.

This one home-owned machine harvests them all.

The All-Crop Harvester's wide, rubber-faced bar cylinder with its finger-tip speed control gives you a choice of over 100 crops. Crops that not only diversify your income but improve the fertility and productivity of your entire farm.

Many legume and grass seeds qualify for the 1947 conservation payments of $3.50 per acre. Market prices per bushel are also excellent for most seeds.

Minister Finds Well Rooted Shinnery

Rev. J. N. Hester, local Methodist minister called us out to the curb across the street from the Herald office to see what both of us decided was the king root or Terry, a size of tree considered.

The street department has recently been doing considerable grading on Sixth street across the draw and seemed to leave a small shinnery oak high and lonesome on a sand hill. Thursday night the 19th the heavy rains washed all the sand away from this scrub oak the size of your wrist, exposing the root system.

There was some of the roots going down, so he only brought in the horizontal ones. One measured 30 feet in length and ranged in size from about 1 1/2 ins., near the stump to the size of a crochet needle, where it was finally broken off.

He had another one 20 feet long, and almost the same size all the way, but this nature loving minister was not sure it be-

Soil Conservation District News

Heavy rains on June 19th caused considerable water erosion or washing on cultivated land in several communities of Terry county. On contacting several farmers in these washed out areas some remarked there was still too much straight row farming. With wind and water erosion combined, in one weeks time, much damage has been done to Terry county farm land. Still, man's handwriting on the land is very plain to read.

This column has often referred to Class IV land, and by request of several farmers within the CYT District, Class IV land is described as follows:

First, all land should be considered from a good land use standpoint; that is, farm land which is, best suited to certain crops only; however, Class IV land should not be farmed and is best suited to grass, but in some cases can be cultivated primarily to erosion resisting crops with very intensive practices, if given unusual care. Class IV land is shallow, fine textured, permeable soil. It should be retired from cultivation. It is usually found on the east side of our shallow playa lakes in this county. It blows easily, holds very little rainfall, and is subject to drought.

F. T. Brooks, Route 3, used the SCS Experiment Station cover crop drill this past week to prepare a cover on 100 acres of his land, which is to be retired from cultivation by eventually drilling in a grass mixture after the top soil has been tied down with crop residue.

Considerable interest has developed among farmers who have harvested their wheat crop, which is the better land use in handling wheat stubble. Apparently, one farmer, Tom J. Cornett, who farms east of town, has given this problem some serious thought. Mr. Cornett secured the services of Mr. Arol Thomas, Route 4, Tahoka, Texas, a contractor, who brought in an 8 foot pull type grubber, powered by a HD14 track type tractor and with this type of plow, which plows under neath the wheat stubble 16 inches deep, and still leaves all the crop residue on top. Practically no disturbance of the old stubble is made. Apparently, the cover will help to retain moisture, prevent wind erosion, and should definitely drink up any rainfall and store it down to the clay sub-soil so at planting time, early this coming September, there should be approximately 24 inches of sub-soil moisture to plant on. For several years in the heavy wheat belt upon the North Panhandle the wheat farmers have long recognized that if there is not 24 inches of sub-soil moisture, they will not drill wheat seed in the ground.

Another farmer in the Foster Community, Roy Golden, has a contractor from Snyder, Texas, deep breaking all of his wheat stubble to an approximate depth of 20 inches, thus mixing fairly well clay and leaving a light stubble cover on top of the broken ground. This plow is a 5-disc plow, 34 inches, with a 5 1/2 inch concave and powered with a large Caterpillar tractor. Mr. Golden has evidence of a good wheat yield this year as compared to shallow preparation. From this increased yield of last year's preparation, this farmer is having all of his wheat acreage plowed deep. No crop will be grown this summer, and seeding of wheat back on the same land will start early this fall.

Most wheat fields just recently combined, reveals from a county-wide survey this past week that most farmers are going to summer fallow their land (stubble mulch and let the land stay idle) and drill wheat back early this fall. This method is the general practice in the older heavy wheat belt on the North Plains.

B. Y. Howze, who farms in the Union school community, put the finishing touches on his very extensive irrigator sprinkler system, so if you pass this farm some dry, hot, clear day, and see water spraying up into the air, don't just say that it is a mirage, but stop, look and listen to a very progressive farmer explain the merits of the sprinkler system. If you have your bathing suit along, he might give his permission for you to take a swim in one of those large tanks which impound the water supply for the underground water mains, from which water is pumped into a portable pipe line laid on top of the ground.

Under the activities of the CYT District program only 3 1/2 miles of terraces were completed for the whole year; for 1946 38 1/2 miles of terraces were built; and from January 1 to June 1, 1947 a total of 90.74 miles were built, and still there is six months more to go. Lots of farmers have had contour guide lines run on approximately 36,000 acres since January 1st, so if you combine contoured acres and terraced acres you will have nearly 85,000 acres in Terry county which have changed from "straight row" farming to crooked rows, thus cutting down on wind erosion, holding water where it falls largely preventing much water erosion and increasing crop yields from 10 to 35 per cent from the previous yearly average.

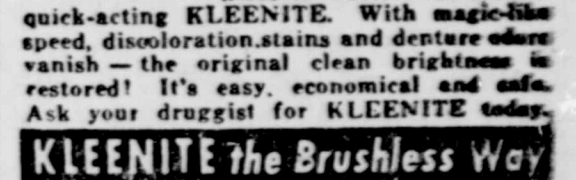

The problem of trying to control wind and water erosion has been for years an individual farmer attempt. Now, from all indications, group or community action should be taken. Several farmers in one group could plan a program, say for three or five years, to solve these serious problems. Along this line of thought recently W. W. Campbell, President National Bank of Eastern Arkansas, said, "Soil Conservation Districts facilitate the job of protecting and improving our productive land. They serve as a medium through which we can all work to do our part of this job."

Mr. Hugh G. Porterfield, Project Supervisor for the Sub-Experiment Station here, has available a cover crop drill, which can be had for the asking. This drill can be used to put a good close drill cover crop on critical sand blow areas. A cover crop ties down the blow sand, and later in the fall or next spring grass mixtures can be drilled in with a grass drill, and by so doing, such blow areas could be made to produce. This was the method used in the "dust bowl" days to establish grass around Dalhart, Texas.

Billion Paid In Insurance Benefits

Payments to American families by their Life Insurance companies in the first four months exceeded one billion dollars, up nearly $50,000,000 from payments in the corresponding period of last year, the Institute of Life Insurance reports. The four months payments of $1,022,249,000 are at an annual rate $500,000,000 greater than in pre-war 1941.

Death benefits payments were only 1 per cent greater than last year, but payments to living policyholders were 8 per cent greater, accounting for $42,000,000 of the gain. Payments of matured endowments, payments of policy cash surrender values and dividends to policy holders showed the greatest increases.

Off To Another Editorial Battle

My good old friend, W. J. Hale, who retired from the editorial field of this section of the country for a while has returned to the fold and has taken over his old paper, the Yoakum County Review at Plains. Hale is a good newspaperman inspite of the fact that he is a red hot Republican. We never heard of him saying any thing politically good about a Democrat. It is true he always supports Pappy O'Daniel, but we no longer think of O'Daniel as a Democrat. We think of him as a renegade carpetbagger, who poses as a Democrat simply because a Republican has no chance of being elected in Texas. But anyway we are glad to see Bro. Hale back on the job and glad to get to pick a quarrel out of him occasionally.—Anton News.

The opening gun has been fired by Bro. Richard; this week we expect a reply in kind from Bro. Hale—and so far into the night.

ONE STEP
can be FATAL!

12,200 pedestrians were killed by automobiles last year—1,340 more than the year before. Two out of every three violated traffic laws or committed unsafe acts which contributed to their deaths.

And believe it or not—many of these fatal accidents actually happened less than six feet from the curb—only a step or two from safety!

Between intersection accidents accounted for more than one-third of all pedestrian fatalities last year. These victims carelessly rushed out from behind parked cars, or simply jaywalked themselves into traffic—and death. Others even ignored the safety of lights and traffic officers at intersections to save a few seconds—and lost their lives.

Never take safety for granted. Cross at intersections within the crosswalks. Wait for the light or the policeman's whistle. Be alert for the inconsiderate driver making a right turn, or the reckless one beating a light. On open highways, allow for the speed of approaching cars. Walk to the left, facing traffic.

Whenever you cross, look both ways. One step can be fatal!

SHORT STORY
Dream of Youth
By JOHN ROWLEY

THEY were sitting on a bench in the park, the man and the woman, and the sun, shining through the pattern of leaves and branches above them, formed a network of light and shadows almost like some gossamer fairy lace.

The women was about thirty three or four, blonde with dimples, and a wide, good humored mouth. The man, who was about the same age, dark with good features and graying hair, leaned towards her.

"Do you remember, Jean, the first time we kissed?" he asked tenderly.

The girl laughed a little and there was a faint haze back of her eyes. "How could I forget," she said. "We were so young . . . and shy! I didn't know what I would say if you asked me . . . and I was on pins and needles for fear you wouldn't. They were good days, George. Happy days."

George reached over and patted her hand. "They were," he said.

3-Minute Fiction

"They were wonderful days and I was so much in love with you. . . It spoiled my appetite! To me you were the most beautiful thing ever come down to earth." He laughed, his voice deep and resonant. "And you're still pretty nice!" They were silent for a moment, each thinking the thoughts that these memories brought up. Finally the man laughed again. "Do you remember our last high school dance?"

The man, lost in thought, gazed out over the green expanse of the

Davy Crockett's Rifle Believed Found

Has "Betsy", Davy Crockett's famous Long Rifle, lost in the heroic defense of the Alamo, been found at last?

A complete description and photographs of an authentic Alamo rifle now restored to perfect working order is detailed in an article entitled "What You Don't Know About The Long Rifle" in the July issue of buildings rising out of a sea of billowy green, but he wasn't seeing any of that. Instead he was seeing a tall, old fashioned building in a small town a long way from the city.

There was a blare of music coming from the building . . . dance music, a number popular at the time. He saw couples getting out of cars and some arriving on foot. Inside the huge floor of what was the gymnasium swelled and heaved with couples packed close together.

He remembered the laughter and the music and something came into his throat and he wanted to cry. The woman sensed it too and she put a slender, graceful hand on his arm.

"Do you remember that dance . . . our graduation dance? I can see you now. You had on a light blue evening gown that came all the way to the floor and you wore a corsage of some kind of white flowers. The light in your hair made it look all gold and you were the most beautiful creature in the world."

She laughed, entering into the spirit of the thing. "And Mr. Weeks, the assistant principal, asked me to dance and I let him have one dance . . . after all, he was the assistant principal."

"AND after the dance," he went on. "The rest of the crowd went down to eat, but you and I went to the little lunch counter around the corner and had some coffee and afterwards we walked home. It was exactly three blocks away . . . I think I can remember every step . . . every depression in the sidewalk. And when we got to your house we stood on the steps a long time, not saying anything, just looking at the night . . . and everything was golden around us."

He paused for a moment, staring straight ahead. "And then you said you had to go in . . . and you kissed me. . . ." He laughed again and turned to look at the woman beside him. "I floated home on a cloud that night!"

She smiled and they sat there, silent, for a time, contemplating the memories they had conjured up out of the past.

At last they got up and the man looked at the woman beside him and smiled.

"Well, goodbye, Jean," he said. "It was wonderful seeing you again, but I'll have to be running along now. I'm supposed to meet my wife in front of the Metropolitan in about 10 minutes."

She looked at her watch and gasped. "Me, too," she exclaimed. "Why, it's almost five o'clock and I haven't finished my shopping yet. I'm afraid my husband's supper will be late tonight. Goodbye!"

They hurried off across the park . . . in opposite directions!

The historic Texan weapon is one of the few known examples made by Jacob Dickert, famous Pennsylvania Long Rifle maker whose name, misspelled as Deekard, Dechard, Deschert, Dickart and even LeCharr, is celebrated in many historical novels. According to the article, long rifles made by Dickert, not only blazed from the Alamo, but at King's Mountain, at Cincinnes, and Kaskaskia and accompanied Lewis and Clark into the Louisiana Territory.

The present owner of Dickert's "Alamo rifle" is Colonel Walter Finney Siegmund, executive of Olin Industries, Inc., parents of Winchester and Western Cart-ridge Company, who relates its story from the time it was first picked up by a Mexican peon after the fall of the Alamo. Undetected by Santa Anna's men, the peon made off with the rifle and later disposed of it to Colonel Frank W. Johnson, famous leader of the Texan revolutionary forces. Johnson subsequently presented the rifle to William Carr Lane, first mayor of St. Louis and later governor of New Mexico.

Lane passed the rifle on to William L. Ewing who was also a St. Louis mayor. Ewing next gave the rifle to the superintendent of his estate, who bequeathed it to his nephew, Colonel Siegmund, a collector of historical firearms, who restored it to its original condition.

There is a possibility, the Sports Afeld article relates, that Colonel Siegmund's Alamo rifle may be Davy Crockett's "Betsy," but admits there is no positive proof. The rifle has an overall length of 60 inches, a barrel of 45 inches, and a bore of .55 caliber.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Neely and daughter, of Sayre, Oklahoma, left Monday after a week visit here with their son and daughter in law, Mr. and Mrs. Cotton Neely.

For twenty years the rifle was on exhibit at the Jefferson Memorial in St. Louis, and in 1936 it was shown in Dallas during the Texas Centennial. Today the Jefferson Memorial wants the rifle back as does the St. Louis Soldiers' Memorial. Other requests have come from the Dallas Historical Society and from the Ala-

Fire Delays Tech Football Stadium

LUBBOCK July 3 —Completion of the new stadium at Texas Technological College will be delayed three months as the result of a fire which wrecked most construction in the east stands, officials have been advised by Floyd Oldt, Dallas contractor on charge.

The blaze, late Thursday, burned oil soaked forms for concrete tiers which were to be poured Friday. Heat twisted and cracked concrete and steel columns and ruined materials to be used in other sections. Standing portions have been condemned and must be removed before reconstruction of the wrecked area is started.

Oldt shifted workers to the west stands is said he is hopeful of completing work there and of having two five east stand sections ready by fall. He said difficulty encountered in getting new pre-fabricated steel for the burned area.

The east stand was to be used almost exclusively for students of Texas Tech and gridiron opponents. Whether the new stadium or old Tech field will be used for games in the fall will not be determined for about two weeks, it was said.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Akers and daughter, Judy visited Mrs. Akers mother, Mrs. Corra Edwards in Lubbock Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Burke McCool, of Sulphur Springs were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Anderson last week. Jane Anderson returned home with them for a visit.

John Paul Jones Anniversary

Calling upon the nation to join with the Navy in a tribute to John Paul Jones on July 6, President Truman said: "The daring and courage of John Paul Jones won for him immortality as an American."

The date for the tribute marks the 200th anniversary of the birth of one of the founders of the Navy's earliest traditions of heroism and victory.

Full text of the President's statement:

"The daring and courage of John Paul Jones won for him immortality as an American. To recount his victories is to recall his love of this land of his adoption and his fervent devotion to the principles of freedom.

"Familiarity with the indomitable valour and heroic traditions which have their origin in the life of John Paul Jones should endow the American of today with a moral stamina necessary to meet the future with wisdom and strength.

"We could not choose a more appropriate occasion than the bicentennial of his birth to rededicate our efforts to the furtherance of our democratic ideals and the preservation of a peace so dearly won."

Local observances of the bicentennial will be held throughout the Eighth Naval District.

Some Tall Tales About Texas Are True

While visiting in a neighboring state recently a couple from Andrews met an old friend on the street and after the usual formalities he inquired, "And how far were you from the Texas City disaster?" After a moments hesitation and a rapid calculation of distance the lady replied, "Oh, I just can't be sure, but I expect we were a little farther away than you are here." "Just like everyone else from that d--states," came the retort, "always trying to impress some one with the size of Texas."

The truth of the matter is that the city visited by the local couple was actually 150 miles nearer Texas City than is Andrews, but it seems that we have a reputation in Texas so we might as well live up to it.—Andrews County News.

We were asked questions about the Texas City disaster while in Tennessee recently that led us to suspect the questioner thought we were in 50 miles, not over 100 at least from the doomed city.

While we made no effort to get the highway mileage, we did take a ruler, spread out a map and do some point to point measuring. An air line measure from Brownfield to Texas City is exactly 6 1-2 inches on a ruler and 6 3-4 from Texas City to Middleton, Tennessee, where the questioning was propounded. Less than 50 miles difference.

Yeah, there are a lot of tall stories coming out of Texas, but we do not have to stretch the blanket about the size of the state—it is really large.

Brownfield, Texas and Middleton, Tennessee are each about

Veterans' News

Upwards of 150,000 World War II veterans now are taking correspondence courses under the G. I. Bill, the Veterans Administration announced today.

The courses cover a wide range of subjects, including such specialized studies as gemology, criminology, yacht designing, cinematography, industrial plastics and air conditioning.

VA has contracts with approximately 130 state-approved schools, colleges, universities and other institutions to give veterans mail-order courses at government expense.

Veterans may be enrolled only in those correspondence courses for which contracts have been negotiated, VA said. Subsistence allowance may not be paid.

Information can be secured from the nearest VA office.

Three out of five, or 61 per cent of all World War II Veterans are under 30 years of age, according to a new Veterans Administration tabulation.

Based on the estimated total of 14,361,000 World War II veterans as of June 30, 1947, the under-30 group accounts for 8,785,000 veterans. Of these, 43,000 are under 20 years of age.

VA estimates the average age of all World War II veterans at 29.1 years as of June 30.

Here's the Answer to SHORTER-MORE PROFITABLE Cotton Harvests!

Harvesting cotton in a once-over operation is the short cut to bigger profits. Get this advantage by stripping and delivering cotton, two rows at a time, with a labor-saving John Deere No. 15 Cotton Harvester.

Designed to work with the John Deere "A" and "B" Tractors, the No. 15 is a simple, sturdy, long-lived machine that does a fast, efficient job of saving bolls after the cotton plants have been killed by frost. Many gin operators state that cotton stripped by the John Deere is cleaner than that pulled by the average hand puller.

This year, to make short work of your cotton harvest—use a John Deere Cotton Harvester. See us for complete information the next time you're in town.
