THRILLING LINES.

[A lady being asked "what made her such an enthusiast on the subject of temperance?" replied:]

"Go feel what I have felt,
Go hear what I have borne—
Sink 'neath a blow a father dealt,
And the cold world's frowny frown,
They suffer on from year to year,
They sole relief the searching tear.

"Go kneel as I have knelt,
I pray, beseech, and cry
Strike, the besotted heart to smite,
The downward course to stay;
Be dashed with bitter curse and wail,
Your prayers burst forth as from a veil.

"Go keep as I have kept,
O'er a loved father's fate,
See every promise blessing swept
Youth's sweetness turned to gall,
Life's fading flowers strewn all the way,
That brought me up to woman's day.

"Go see what I have seen;
Byhold the agonizing bow,
With quivering teeth lips bathed in blood,
And cold and livid brow,
Go catch his withering glance and see
There mirrored, his soul's misery.

"Go to the mother's side,
And her crushed bosom cheer;
Thine own deep anguish hide—
Wipe from her cheek the bitter tear,
Mark her worn frame and wither'd brow,
The grey that streaks her dark hair now.

"With fading frame and trembling lip,
And trace the ruin back to him,
Whose pledged faith, in early youth,
Promised eternal love and truth,
But who, forsworn, hath yielded up
That promise to the cursed cup.

"And led her down thro' lone and light,
And all that made her promise bright,
And chain'd her there, 'mid want and strife,
That lowly thing, a drunken's wife,
And stamp'd on childhood's brow a mark,
That withering light the drunkard's mark.

"Go hear, and feel, and see and know,
All that my soul hath felt and known,
Then look upon the wine cup's glow,
See if its beauty can atone,
Think if its flavor you will try,
When all proclaim, " 'Tis the devil's drink."
Tell me I save the soul!
Hail it a noble deed!
I leathe—ah!—my very soul
With strong disgust is stirred,
Whenever I see, of hear, or tell,
Of the dark beverage of hell!"

THE GERMAN EXODUS.

The increase of emigration to America since the recent extension of the rule of Prussia over that nation has been remarkable. This increase is caused by the fact that those Germans born under the rule of Austria refuse to serve in the Prussian landwehr, or militia, from which that army is recruited. They prefer rather to emigrate. This idea is borne out by the fact that nearly all the emigrants for the past six months have been young men, very few women coming with them. For the six months ending July 1st, 21,478 emigrants have reached Columbus, seeking homes in the fertile West, against 12,908 for the same time in 1866, showing an increase of 8,560. The arrivals for the six months of this year were as follows: January, 1,447; February, 1,209; March, 1,975; April, 36,96; May, 3,624; June, 9,437.

The majority of these emigrants are from Prussia and Hanover. All of them, even the Prussians, do not like their Government. "I do not remember," says Mr. Campen, the agent at Columbus, Ohio, "that in any former year so many people have arrived from Germany who were possessed of means and designed making permanent settlement. The United States has reason to congratulate herself at the increase of inhabitants by the emigration of such a superior class of people. I would not be surprised if the emigration next year was even greater than this."

The working classes in England make more money than all others combined. The number of laboring people is not down at 11,016,515, and their annual income is estimated in the aggregate at $2,090,000,000 in gold. This is at least $30,000,000 more than the total incomes of the richer classes, who are so much more liberally represented in Parliament and the Government.

The temperature of the Kentucky Mammoth Cave is 59 degrees, and one step will bring the traveler into a temperature of 85 or 90 degrees. Several instances of visitors having been lost in this cave are recorded. It is more than five miles long in a direct line, and by traversing at right angles, one may easily walk twenty miles and not have seen the whole.

AN INDEPENDENT AMERICAN WOMAN IN PARIS.

[Paris Correspondence (July 8) of the New York Herald.]

The curiosity of the cosmopolitan visitors to the exhibition has been considerably excited during the past few days by the appearance there of a female dressed in an extraordinary costume, which very few of them recognize as sporting the very shorthair of skirts, a mere apology for a skirt, about the same length (or rather brevity) of the one worn by the Corfy girls in the Belle aux Bois, ending considerably above the knees, and black cloth "contourant." "Dr." Mary Walker clothes her way through the crowd, eliciting the laughter and merriment of her fellow-Parisians, many of whom could well spare her some of their skirts, bedraggled in the mud and dust.

"Dr." Walker was present at the Fourth of July banquet at the Grand Hotel, where she was wrapped up in a "Libby" in the American flag. She evidently wanted to make a speech, but would not be heard. She wears a medical coat, her by the American Congress for brave womanly cases, and a medal bestowed upon a brave and wounded soldier on the field and in the hospital during the war, and four months' imprisonment in the Libby prison. This medal has procured the "doctor's" admission into the medical circles here, and given her, I am informed, great facilities for observation.

But "woman's rights" are by no means unknown in France. Cases of ladies receiving diplomas as "doctors" of arts and letters are of annual occurrence, and Louis Bonheur's case has ribbon of the Legion of Honor.

Another female who carries "biocomerion" is even a greater sensation than "Dr." Walker has attracted no little attention at the Grand Hotel during the past week. She is very pretty, and dresses in the height of the fashion, but it is "man" fashion—with the jacket little hat and the nearest fitting coat, with a rose always in one of the button-holes, light feet, showing a fair development of chest, and tight pantaloons, with patent leather boots. This young female, whose dress and presence have horrified some of the more rigid of her sex at the hotel, is an English girl and the companion of a noted London lawyer, rather distinguished for his eccentricities, of which this is one.

A REMARKABLE CUPPER RACE.—The San Francisco Times says: "This city is the terminus of one of the most remarkable nautical events on record. Two first class ships—the Governor Morton and Prima Donna—sail together from the port of New York on the 14th, and February. They were towed outside Sandy Hook side by side, so near to each other that conversation was maintained by the two commanders. Last evening were captured by the friends of these ships, on their respective favorite resting this port first. The young vessels crossed the equator in the Atlantic on the same day, although not in the same longitude. They entered the straits of L' Maire the same day, and came out of them on the same day. They crossed the equator in the Pacific on the same day. Both ships arrived at this port on the same day, within three hours of each other, after a race of sixteen thousand miles. These facts demonstrate the accuracy that has been attained in the science of navigation, and also prove the reflexions which may be placed upon the wind and current charts prepared under the direction of Mr. Maury."

ORIGIN OF THE PHRASE "BOTTLED UP."
—The Springfield Republican has the following:
"Bottled up" did not originate with Gen. Butler, notwithstanding his claim to the phrase. He used it before General Grant did, but it is of old military use to describe just the predicament Butler put himself in at Bermuda Hundred. Carlyle, in his history of Frederick the Great, speaks of the Austrian army as one time as "bottled in Prague," and in another place he says: "Lehwald got bottled up in Strasburg." In fact General Grant made no pretensions to originality in the use of the phrase, and if he had thought it worth while to give credit for it, the credit was by no means due to Butler.

TRIAL OF THE AMERICAN BOMBMAN FREDERICK INCH.—A dispatch from London July 25th says: By orders of the British War Office, a trial of American breech lock Rodman guns was held to-day in the presence of a number of naval and military officers and experts. It was proved by tests in which the gun was subjected that no iron or steel armor yet invented is capable of resisting its projectile.

There is nothing of exciting interest in our dispatches to-day. The Indians are still warlike on the plains, and the Indian Commission has been organized to carry out the new plan. The Surratt jury seems to be hung, instead of bringing in a verdict to hang the criminal. The Stanton-President embroglio has taken shape, and appears in a couple of sharp notes which passed between them. Gen. Sheridan has done two good acts, by removing the rebel Judge Daugherty, and the rebel Chief of Police, of New Orleans, which ought to have been done long ago. No returns from Tennessee yet.

JEFF DAVIS IN CANADA.—The traitor, Davis, does not have it quite all his own way in Canada—a simple word now and then, dropped in the midst of his most enthusiastic receptions, brings up a thousand ghosts and makes the old traitor tremble to think some avenging arm is always in reach of him. He attends a performance at the Royal Theatre, in Montreal, and amidst a storm of applause, while stepping into his carriage, the single word "Andersonville," written on a slip of paper, was sufficient to fill him and his companions with the utmost consternation.

In speaking on this point, the Chicago Republican says:

Even a residence in Canada does not afford complete immunity from the visitings of remorse. If the people of Canada choose to make their country a sort of Botany Bay for played out leaders of the slaveholders' rebellion, as they made it a place for the organization of rebel raiding and robbing parties during the war, we can have no sort of objection, but when they attempt to make their sympathy practical, they will probably find that the "Dominion of Canada" is in more danger than the United States.

THE CAMPAIGN IN TENNESSEE.

Our readers have already heard of the bloody scenes that occurred in Tennessee just prior to the election. We take the following version from the Chicago Tribune:

NASHVILLE, July 23.—A serious riot occurred at Rogersville, Hawkins county, Tenn., on the 23d. Etheridge was severely denouncing the Radicals, when one of them cried out, "That's a lie." Etheridge turned to the man who had spoken and said: "You are a d—d lying son of a b—h." Instantly a shot was fired which was followed by numerous shots from the Radicals and Confederates. One man was killed and ten or twelve wounded, two mortally.

Etheridge left the stand when the firing commenced, and drew his revolver, but did not fire.

The gentleman who brings the particulars says that when the train on which he came left, the affair did not seem to be over, as he heard frequent discharges of arms in the town.

Another version of the affair is that Maynard proposed a division of time, when Etheridge refused, and that after Maynard had spoken and the crowd was returning to the village, the Etheridge men waited for them and fired upon them from the rear. The Radicals returned the fire. One colored Radical was killed and a white rebel named Ray. There have been no State troops in Hawkins county.

THE ETHERIDGE AND MAYNARD FIGHT.—One of the incidents of the Tennessee contest, the collision between the Union champion, Maynard, and the rebel, Etheridge, is thus related:

Etheridge and Maynard had a sharp fight at Granville. As Etheridge entered the hotel, Maynard spoke to him: Etheridge stopped and asked, "Did you speak to me?" Maynard replied that he did, when Etheridge said, "I don't speak to a damned rascal." "I do," retorted Maynard. Etheridge then struck him with an umbrella, when Maynard fell on him, and would have thrashed him severely had not Etheridge's friends come to his relief.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF NAVAL CLAIMS.—The commissioner of pensions has not yet organized a desk for the adjudication of naval claims arising under the sixth section of the act of March 2, 1867. This far but few claims under that section have been presented; but the commissioner is engaged in preparing for their adjudication, and his instructions will be issued at an early day.

THE HERALD TO NORTHERN PEOPLE.

It seems that now and then some unsuspecting Northern man happens to hear of the Herald newspaper, of this city, and sends it a letter inquiring about the state of affairs in this State. In Friday morning's issue of that paper, appears a letter dated "Tocumpech, Michigan, July 19th, 1867." After the editor of the Herald has expatiated upon the natural advantages of our State, he comes down to the main point inquired after, "the safety of Northern men in Texas." He treats the idea of Union men being molested as simply ridiculous, and says: "We have taken pains to post ourselves on this head, and especially as to the facts connected with the extravagant reports of persecuted and murdered 'Union men,' so industriously circulated abroad, and we have no hesitancy in pronouncing them a string of wilful exaggerations or unmitigated falsehoods. We have been unable, during the past year, to learn of a single instance anywhere in the State, where a man has been molested simply on account of Union sentiments." Now, what is the use of lying; is it because you've got so much in the habit of it and can't help yourself, or is it because you desire to make fair weather in the North for your treacherable sheet. If you had the good of Texas at heart, you would come out honestly and tell the truth about our affairs. You know well that hundreds of murders have been committed during the reign of Throckmorton, and not one conviction had; and you also know that there are counties in this State, where a Union man or a Northern man (unless he was of the style of the Herald man), would be in danger of his life. Near Helena, a few weeks since, a quiet, inoffensive Northern man, a man who even does not know the use of firearms, was visited at his home by some Confederate ruffians, who leveled their pistols on him, and brutally beat him with their quirts, giving as a reason that he was "a d—d Yankee." A week or two since, the life of an officer of the United States was threatened in the town of Gonzales, while there in the discharge of his duty.

We could name innumerable instances of outrages upon Union men and freedmen, all committed by rebels; and because we had a rebel governor, rebel judges, and rebel sheriffs, to execute the law, and rebel newspapers to cover up, excuse and misrepresent the crimes of their patrons. Why not tell the truth and say that in those portions of the State, as for instance this county, where the loyal element is predominant, and where the military is on hand to quell disturbances, Union men are perfectly safe, both as to expressing their sentiments and as to their property. This would be honest and truthful. It might be added that we hope to revolutionize matters, and make law and order the rule and not the exception, all over this State. And we earnestly invite Northern men among us to help us build up a good state of society, and tear down the ruffianism which has so long ruled to the great detriment of our State.

We can say to Northern people, come to Texas—you will find out the notoriously rebel spots without much trouble, while in many places the prejudices of the people are breaking away before their interest, and they desire Northern neighbors. And in the radical Union sections your advent will be hailed with joy. We've been counting noses in Texas, and our hopes are much elated that we shall be able to elect loyal men to fill our State offices and represent us in Congress. And we earnestly hope to put down treason and rebellion forever.

The rebels are recovering from the astonishment with which they first read Gen. Longstreet's letter accepting the situation, and they are abusing him bitterly. The Augusta Chronicle says: "We learn from a distinguished Confederate General who has just returned from New Orleans, that the judgment of 'popular indignation' invoked by our esteemed cotemporary upon this rascal Southerner, has already been pronounced upon him by his former friends and associates in that city, such that, so strong and marked is their denunciation of his course, he has been compelled to leave the place and seek shelter in some interior village. Verily, the way of the transgressor is hard."

St. Louis, Aug. 9.—The Indian Commissioners met yesterday, Col. Taylor permanent Chairman, A. S. White, Secretary. Indian matters were discussed generally; Commissioners present, Col. Taylor, Gen. Sarnora, Col. Tappan, Gen. Sherman, Gen. Harney, and Capt. Henderson. The Commission will move westward. Gen. Terry will join them on the plains.

An Omaha dispatch says the Indians drove the miners from South Pass. Mashakee has notified Brigham Young to recall his miners, as the country belongs to the Mashakee tribes.

A large band of Sioux crossed the Black hills yesterday going east. O'Neil's Engineering party struck them, killing one Indian.

Twelve cholera deaths.

An Omaha dispatch says the freight train on the Union Pacific Railroad was thrown from the track by Indians at Plain Creek Station, the engineer, fireman, and a brakeman killed, freight burned, and three or four men at the station killed; the outrage is attributed to the Spotted Tails, whom the Government has been feeding.

The Silver Lake arrived from Fort Benton, was fired into forty miles above Fort Rice and one of the crew wounded.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—10-30 P. M.—Judge Fisher took his seat; the bailiff stated that there was no present prospect of an agreement, some of the jurors are indisposed, on lounges; others arguing matters. Fisher, without adjourning court, said he would go home and not receive the verdict until morning. It is apprehended that the jury will be hung on Fisher's charge, which is characterized in some circles as a stump speech.

Two hundred and fifty workmen have been discharged from the Springfield, Mass., armory.

At last accounts the Chinese were making anxious inquiries regarding the increase of the American squadron in their waters.

The following extract from the Congressional proceedings pending the passage of the Tenure of Office bill, is quoted as applying to the case of Stanton:

Sherman said: "I agree to the report of the Conference Committee with a good deal of reluctance. The Senate had by two deliberate votes denied its purpose not to make the duration of the Cabinet officers fixed by any man, but that they should hold their offices at the pleasure of the President, and that it was the original design in the creation of their offices; but the general purpose of this bill is so very important and it is so salutary a reform that I thought it would be endangered by a dispute on a collateral question. The present Congress by two votes were very tenacious upon the subject, and there seemed to be a probability that the bill would be lost upon a question that was collateral and unimportant. I take it that no question can arise where a Cabinet minister will attempt to hold on to his office after the Chief desires his removal. I can scarcely conceive of such a case. I think no gentleman, no man with any sense of honor, would hold a position as Cabinet officer after his Chief desired his removal, and therefore the slightest intimation on the part of the President would always secure the resignation of Cabinet officers; for this reason I do not wish to jeopardize this bill by an unimportant and collateral question."

The following is the correspondence of the President and Stanton.

WASHINGTON, August 5.—Sir: Public considerations of a high character constrain me to say that your resignation as Secretary of War, will be accepted. Very respectfully, ALEXANDER JOHNSON, President.

Addressed to Hon. F. M. Stanton, Secretary of War. WAR DEPARTMENT, August 5.—Sir: Your note of this date has been received, stating that public considerations of a high character constrains you to say that, my resignation as Secretary of War will be accepted. In reply I have the honor to state that public considerations of a high character, which alone, have induced me to continue at the head of this Department, constrain me not to resign the office of Secretary of War before the next meeting of Congress.

Vary respectfully, Yours, EOWEN M. STANTON.

Addressed to the President. New York, Aug. 7.—Gold firm, 140 to 140½. Government sold half million dollars Monday to relieve pressure. Sterling dull, lower; prime 109½ to 109½. Government Securities closed firm; stocks closed steady after the Board of Excise rose to 71½.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 8.—The following are extracts from Special Order No. 3, section 3: "For denying the supremacy of the laws of Congress, stating he would not obey them when conflicting with the laws of the State of Texas, and openly denouncing the government of the United States in office, and in the presence of Brevet Major Gen. J. J. Reynolds, commanding Sub-District Rio Grande, Edward Daugherty, Judge of Twelfth Judicial District of Texas, is hereby removed from office, and Edward Busse appointed in his stead."

Section fourth.—At the request of His Honor, Mayor Heath, of New Orleans, Thomas E. Adams, Chief of Police of that city, is hereby removed from office, and J. J. Williams appointed in his stead.

By command of Maj. Gen. P. H. SHERIDAN.

FOR 'IGN SUMMARY.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Kossuth declined a seat in the Hungarian Parliament. The French papal candidate is the present Bishop of Orleans. The emperor is expected in England at an early day. Queen Victoria's memoirs of Prince Albert has been published, and produced great sensation here; they are mostly taken up in relating all the circumstances of her first introduction to her future husband, describes his appearance and manners at that time, and repeats her declaration of love.

WHOLESALE MURDERS OF FREEDMEN.

The Bureau agent for Robertson county, Texas, reports during the last three months that thirty bodies of murdered freedmen have been seen floating down the Brazos river. Within nine consecutive days, eight freedmen have been murdered in that county. There is no redress from the civil authorities.

THE KEROSENE GAS LAMP.

An invention by which a common Kerosene Lamp can at once be transformed into a Gas Lamp, of a most brilliant light, entirely safe against explosion; no chimney needed, and is not subject to be blown out by the strongest breeze or current of air; at the same time giving a better light than the combined light of two ordinary Kerosene Lamps, and saving fully one-third of the Kerosene oil by simply applying the gas generator.

The undersigned having procured the patent right for Texas County, will have a supply of the Generators on hand by the 15th of September, and offers to sell them at One Dollar apiece, each. He has also been authorized to sell County Rights and Generators to all counties where said patent has not been introduced.

A MAN SHOT AT PENALOSA'S GAMBLING SHOP.—On Thursday night, about 11 o'clock, the peace of the city was disturbed by a shooting affair, which took place in the bar room and gambling hall opposite the market house, kept by one Penalosa. It seems that a gambler by the name of Reeves, a late arrival, and another gambler named D. Morris alias Dan Moore, had been engaged in playing an innocent game of chance, a dispute arose which resulted in Reeves taking Morris alias Moore, completely by surprise, shooting him twice, one ball passing through the body from side to side, and another through the thighs. A policeman, in the vicinity, rushed to the scene of action and found a room full of confused individuals, from whom he succeeded in getting an answer as to who did the shooting, in about five minutes, but Reeves had fled, and no trace of his whereabouts has yet been discovered. Morris alias Moore lies at this time in a very precarious condition. These gambling house murders excite very little interest among the respectable portion of our people, which, however, makes them none the less heinous and deserving of punishment, and the deeds in which they happen should be closed up as a public nuisance and outrage upon the peace and good morals of the community.

Tax Rose.—Shakespeare has asked if a rose would smell as sweet by any other name; we have two (a white and a red, once the emblem of a civil war in Old England), in a tumbler before us, which we are certain would smell sweet in spite of any other name. The wonder to us is, why every day and is not odorous with the Queen of flowers. We live in hopes that a little more loyalty and civilization will produce more rose bushes.

HELENA RIOTERS IN CUSTODY.—David, sheriff of Karnes county and Portland were brought to one city yesterday under military guard and placed in the guard house to await further disposition. We will give an account of that affair in our next issue.

THE PAS DE DEUX.—We learn that the County Treasury has suffered severely since Mr. Iwonaki's pas de deux made its appearance.

REGISTRATION.—Yesterday registration progressed rather lively, thirty-one persons were registered. One more day remains.

RIOT IN DUBLIN.—A Despatch from Dublin dated the 25th ultimo says: DUBLIN, July 25.—Evening.—While the police were conducting a squad of Fenians through the principal street of Tralee, the bystanders loudly cheered the prisoners, and, increasing in numbers to a mob, finally attacked the escort with stones. No determined attempt, however, was made to rescue the prisoners, and they were safely deposited in the town jail.

KNOW THY DESTINY. MADAME M. F. THORNTON, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrist, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton possesses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are in quest of, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Fry-homograph, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can attest. She will send, when desired, a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair, and stating place of birth, age, occupation and vocation, and enclosing 25 cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by mail. All communications strictly confidential. Address, in confidence, MADAME M. F. THORNTON, P. O. Box 225, Hudson, N. Y.

To Consumptives. THE ADVERTISER, having been restored to health after having been very nearly taken by a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption, is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used, (free of charge), with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a SURE CURE FOR CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, &c.
