[Washington Corr. N. Y. Herald] The announcement that the order ransferring the beadquarters of the army to St. Louis has been issued, to take effect on the lat of June, is incorrect, as Gen. Hospitulity to Our Visitors.

We have already spoken of the necessity of unity of sentiment and concert of action in the citizens of San Antonio, as all important to the future prosperity of the city. We now speak of that hospitality, that cordiality, with which our people should welcome and assist all who come among us on business or pleasure, and especially those who contemplate making their homes among us. In all our intercourse with strangers, nothing should occur to to disgust them with our peo ple, or to drive them away from our city. Everybody who comes to San Autonio is already aware of the healthfulness of its climate. When they get here, they are also delight. ed with the beauty of the situation and scenery. But it would be a pity, and a misfortune, if, after associating with our people, they should feel inclined to describe the city by the use of Bisbop Heber's celebrated lines:

During the THE Emperor of Russia has addressed conversation at the dinner table, Toombs criticised Lamar severely for the tone of his enlogy, and said that it was not sustained by the Southern people. He finally said to Lamar: "I have come up here to take Gov. Core promised to bring Texas sec. you home," intimating that he was crazy. Lamar, who had borne Toombs' braggadocio in silence, felt insulted by this, and replied, loud enough to be heard by all present. "Any man who does not agree with the sentiments of my remarks in the House is a coward and a poltroon, and unworthy of the respect of a decent Southern man." Toombs cried out, in a rage: "I will see you again, sir," which seemed to torbode an appeal to the code; but the next day he took the cars for home, and has not been heard from since.

A Blonted Aristocrat Selling

[From the Des Moines Register.] He is the son of a titled gentleman of England. The utwost care was taken of his early education, years in foreign travel, like others of his class, and then returned to England to enjoy life. The round of dissipation at London, on the turf and in the gambling hell, speedily made him short of funds, and when, a few years since, his father died, he encambered his estate for money to pay his debts, and left England. The estate he cannot alienate, but the proceeds go for a number of years to his creditors. He has a small annual allowance of money, and from this, with such occupation | marking Colton Bales than any Tag in as he is able to get, he manages to to eke out an existence. His education fully fits him for teaching, but he has no taste for that employ ment, and, besides, he has some bibulous habits that wouldn't appear well in a schoolroom. About three years must elapse before the income from his estate will have amounted to enough to pay his debts, and meantime is selling beer in a Des Moines saloon.

KILLED BY A MAD BULL.

Shortly after six o'clock Monday, as Captain Jesse Ludlam, of Bridge hampton, L. I., was returning home from a neighbor's, and had arrived within a short distance of his residence, he perceived an animal tearing down the road at a furious pace: The apporching object proved to be a mad bull. It was impossible to avoid the infuriated creature, and before he could conceive a plan to them to settle among us, and to the escape, the furious animal was upon him. The horse in trying to escape overturned the carriage, and, becoming entangled in the harness. they are charged exorbitant rents, was at the mercy of the unfuriated beast, who rushed upon and gored him in a terrible manner. Mr. Lud lam could not extricate himself, and was next attacked by the bull, who first trampled upon him and then, with a single thrust of his horns, pierced him to the heart, causing instant death. - N. LARGE trains loaded with cotton are seen on our streets nearly every day going West to Mexico. When the G. H. & S. A. railroad reaches here, San Antonio will be on the dividing line between the eastern and western cotton markets.

THE indications of rain continue to encourage our citizens, and the daily failures of the rain to fall continue to disappoint them. The weather is extremely warm during the day, and so cool as to require cover at night. During the day the atmosphere is close and sultry, but in the evening a strong breeze springs up.

PANCOAST & SON are constantly receiving a good assortment of cloths, cassi-meres and chevoits for custom trade. The New Braunfels cassimere for sale.

THE delightfully cool breeze yesterday evening tempted our ladies out in large numbers from the sequestered chambers in which they had shaded themselves during the hours of the sun's greatest power. San Antonio abounds in beautiful women, and a cool evening is a public benefit, in that it allows the coarser sex a chance to see the light of their counte

Dog KILLING is common throughout Texas, but has not commenced here yet. Troops of great, ugly canines lie on our sidewalks, and will not get out of the way of passers-by, to the great annoyance of strangers and the alarm of women and children. Some day one of them will bite an alderman or a policeman; or some of their families, and then prove to be rabid, and then what a cry of mad dog we shall

BUILDING is going forward in almost all parts of the city. And the buildings constructed in San Antonio will stand for ages. They are not made out of sappy lumber that will soon decay, nor ont of mean bricks that will soon cramble. They are made out of hard stone, soft stone and adobe, either of which will endure forever almost. There is not so much sound of the hammer and saw as in other places, but there is the continual clink of the pick and the stone chisel, and substantial structures continually vise to view.

NOTWITHSTANDING the dullness of this season of the year, San Antonio shows signs of setivity and progress. Trains of wagone continually arrive and depart with goods, and money seems tolerably plenty. The money in use here is nearly all specie. Far Western Texas and Northern Mexico send in their loads of coin and return with their loads of goods. We have no need of "inflation" out here. We have long since "resumed specie payment." And the trade of this city with the West and Mexico will be greatly increased when the railroad reaches here. We have now more and larger wholesale houses than Houston has.

Seven Millions of Pores.

All day and all night the exhausted particles of every human aystem are passing off through even millions of quarter inch hose that being about the length inch hose that being about the longth of the aweatducts connected with the pores. If there are obstructed, sikness ensues; If they were scaled up, the consequence would be death. It is one of the provinces of Hostetters Stomach Bitters to keep the superficial compepipes of on, as well as those larger exerctory organs, the bowels. The stomach and the skin sympathize, and it is through the stomach that the Bitters act upon the cuticle, keeping it moist, clastic and unfavered. The famous vegetable invigorant is a marvellous medicine; no other preparation known contains such a variety of curativ and preservative elements, or acts, at the same time, in such a variety of beneficial ways. In dyspepsia it strongthens the stomach, improves the appetite, and controls the liver; in fever and ague, it breaks up the fite; in cases of physical it breaks up the fits; in cases of physical prestration it is literally a vital specific.
