NMMI RIOT LAID TO RESENTMENT

LAMATH DIVERSION LAUDED

BRESNO, Calif. (AP)—Proposed diversion of six million acre feet of Colorado River water to Southern California has been lauded by a Texas water specialist as the plan in sight which would solve shortages in four West states.

Peter C. Duisberg of El Paso discussed his views at the annual Western Cotton Production Conference.

The Colorado Basin states will receive $1,212,000 acre-feet of water, he said. "Water will even be provided to Baja California, in which case Mexico will provide additional water to lower Rio Grande area in California."

Under the plan, he noted, water would be offered to Southern California in exchange for its surplus water and thus remove much of the opposition in California to a project supplying Colorado River water to 226,000 acres in central Arizona.

Mills To Attend Santa Fe Meets

Later today he will attend a meeting of the executive committee of the New Mexico Education Association there.

Along with Calloway Taulbee, school principal, and Coach Reese Smith and Verlon Davis, Mills will attend a meeting of the AA Conference schools Friday to discuss possible changes in the football playoff. Any changes decided on at the meeting will not go into effect until the 1957-58 season, he said.

Saturday Mills will meet with the state committee of the Future Teachers of America, and later the same day he will meet again with the NMEA. He will return to Artesia Monday.

Public Soon To Be Able To Visit Old Fort Union Monument

SANTA FE (AP)—It won't be many more weeks before the public can get in to see old Ft. Union, the historic frontier post near Las Vegas that recently was made a national monument.

Contractor Floyd Haake of Santa Fe has practically completed building the eight mile access road which branches north off U. S. 85 about 18 miles northeast of Las Vegas.

Harthon L. Bill of Santa Fe, assistant regional director of the National Park Service, says he believes the two-lane hard-surface drive will be completed "some time this summer."

Right now, Kittredge Wing, who was transferred from his ranger's post at Banderier National Monument to become acting superintendent at Ft. Union, has set up headquarters at Las Vegas.

Bill says no facilities are ready for a permanent headquarters at the ruins, but quarters for Wing will be established there late this spring, so he will be able to supervise the first sightseers.

The access road is costing the state $212,626. There will be a

Demo Candidates Waste No Time Starting Campaign

SANTA FE, (AP)—Democratic candidates in New Mexico have wasted no time in starting the political season moving with two of Gov. John F. Simms' primary opponents unleashing blasts against him.

It was a different story in the Republican camp, however. The GOP nominees—all unopposed—were apparently sitting back to enjoy what looks like is going to be a mushrooming Demo battle.

A flare-up in Rio Arriba County among Democrats was among the latest developments in the young political season.

On another front, the Associated Press learned there has been some talk by Democratic leaders of putting a Clovis grain-feed dealer, Austin Brooks, in as state chairman in event Tom Brown of Artesia steps down when the central committee next meets. Brown has been in ill health. Brooks is described as a good friend of Simms.

Both Corporation Commissioner Ingram B. Pickett and Robert F. Stephens, a Santa Fe public relations man and lobbyist, teed off on Simms. Both are opposing him for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Pickett again charged that Stephens was a "Simms stooge," put into the contest to divert anti-Simms votes that might otherwise go to Pickett. Both Simms and Stephens were quick to deny this charge.

At the same time, Stephens said Pickett should have stayed on the Corporation Commission job for which he was elected and blasted Simms, saying the governor, if nominated, would lead the Democrats to defeat in the general election.

Simms had no comment to either Stephens or Pickett but said he thought the candidates should restrict themselves to telling voters of their own attributes and lay off personalities.

The Rio Arriba Democrats found appeared to be between a group of "old guard" elements and County Chairman Emilio Naranjo.

Church Women Open Carlsbad Annual Meeting

CARLSBAD (AP)—The 12th annual convention of the United Council of Church Women opened here today. The meetings were to be attended by some 80 delegates from all over New Mexico.

Miss Louella Madden, assistant professor of the school of business and economics at Eastern New Mexico University at Portales, will preside over the sessions.

The principal speaker will be Mrs. David Baker of New York, editor of Church Women.

Also scheduled to speak is Rev. Robert Sandman of Texas, interstate director of migrant work.

The local branch of the council will be host to the convention.

Water Outlook On Rio Grande Watershed Bad

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)—A decline in the water supply outlook for the Rio Grande watershed in February was reported today by the Soil Conservation Service and the Colorado A&M experiment station.

They collaborate in a month-by-month survey of Colorado watersheds during the winter. "Snow cover along the Continental Divide west of San Luis Valley is still 120 per cent of normal," the report said, "but normal or less snowpack was measured over a large section of the upper Rio Grande at lower elevations."

U. S., Britain Feel Out U. N. Call On Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, Britain and France may ask the United Nations Security Council in the next few days to take urgent action to prevent war in the Middle East.

This would test Russia's attitude toward the Arab states. The Soviet Union would have to decide whether to veto a warning which would cover the Arabs as well as Israel.

Diplomatic sources said the United States and Britain have proposed to France that a special U. N. meeting be called and that the French have indicated that they would go along.

The United States and Britain are said to have in mind a broad resolution telling both the Arabs and the Israelis to take measures to avert hostilities. Such a resolution would at least imply that if either side started a new Palestine war, it would come under U. N. sanctions.

Firefighters From Bliss Rush To Lincoln Fire

FORT BLISS, Tex. (Special)—Two hundred Fort Bliss firefighting troops assisted Mesalero Indian "Red Hats," ranchers, rangers and other civilians in subduing the forest fire which started in the Lincoln National Forest near Mayhill, N.M., Tuesday.

After the assistance of Fort Bliss had been asked, the Blisstroops with supporting personnel forming a self-sustaining unit were alerted and on their way to the New Mexico mountains in four hours. They reached Mayhill area at 1 a. m. Wednesday, and went to camp until daylight.

The firefighters went into the lines at 7 a. m. Wednesday, relieving the Mesaleros and other civilian fighters. Snow during the night had slowed the fire and aided the fighters. By mid-morning forestry officials pronounced the blaze under control.

Mace Jackson Takes Measures To Save Tree

The weather report yesterday predicted the temperature would drop below freezing in Artesia last night.

Mace Jackson was worried. His daughter, Mrs. Mary Dowell, who lives at 612 S. Fourth, had an apricot tree in full bloom. The fruit was almost sure to be killed by the freeze unless something was done about it.

So Jackson went to work to save the fruit on his daughter's apricot tree. First he stretched a tarpaulin over the top of the tree, but the canvas was too small to protect very much of it.

It occurred to Jackson that, when a lot of moisture is in the air, like when it is raining, fruit doesn't freeze. So to simulate these conditions he turned the water on and directed a hose so that the water sprayed over the tree. Then he went away and left the water running—just for a little while.

Only one thing went wrong. He forgot to turn the water off before going to bed last night.

This morning he was greeted by the sight in the accompanying picture—the apricot tree had become an icicle tree.

It will be interesting to see if Jackson's efforts saves the apricots.

JAILBREAK IN GALLUP IS STOPPED

GALLUP (AP)—Two city policemen brought a prisoner into the city jail in an opportunistic moment last night, just in time to stop an attempted jailbreak.

Officials said four sailors and one soldier—all 17 years old and being held in the jail for being absent without leave—turned on all their water outlets in the single cell in which they were held. When the floor was flooded, they asked Jaier Ramijo Mirbel to bring mops and a bucket.

When the jailer opened the cell door, they grabbed him and pulled him into the cell, officials said.

At that moment, Patrolmen Ken Johnson and Eloise Vigil walked in with a prisoner. They saw what was happening and went to Mirbel's aid in time to prevent a break.

Ass. Dist. Atty. Lotario Ortega said he was considering whether to file jailbreak attempt charges or turn the five men over to military authorities.

CADET SAYS ADMINISTRATION ENDED SCHOOL HONOR SYSTEM

ROSWELL, (AP)—New Mexico Military Institute cadets said today Tuesday night's riot at NMMI stemmed from months-long resentment of what they termed the "end to the honor system" at the school.

But Lt. Gen. Hobart Gay, superintendent of NMMI, and his commandant of cadets, Brig. Gen. John P. Willey—principal target of the cadets' resentment—denied there have been any changes in the operation of the institute.

One cadet officer, an unofficial spokesman for the cadet corps, said, "When Gen. Willey became commandant of the cadets, the honor system went out the window. His attitude is that a cadet's word is no good."

The cadet officer, a senior member of the cadet corps, would not be quoted by name because, he said, of fear of reprisal. He said he spoke for a group of other cadet officers, who wished to get their story out, but who were afraid to do so publicly.

Some 450 cadets of the school's total enrollment of 512 staged the Tuesday night demonstration, throwing fireballs from windows, setting fire to grass on the quadrangle and stoning a fire department truck sent to extinguish the blaze. One institute source said the firemen turned hoses on the cadets after the stoning.

The young institute cadet officer said that NMMI has operated on the West Point honor system since it opened its doors.

"Everyone of us eventually hope to receive commissions in the United States Army. If the word of a cadet isn't any bond, how can they assume that we'll make honest officers?"

He said that the privileges for senior class cadets had been cut almost in half in the last month or so, including some aspects of the honor system whereby an up-coming man receives a "pass" to receive commissions in the United States Army. If the word of a cadet isn't any bond, how can they assume that we'll make honest officers?"

The 1950 pact promises that the Big Three will act against any aggression by either the Arabs or Israel.

Eden also turned aside Laborite demands that Britain ship Israeli arms to match those Communist Czechoslovakia is supplying Egypt. He said Israel should find the three-power 1950 declaration "indefinitely more valuable than an agreement to be allowed to buy a certain number more tanks and airplanes, and indefinitely better in the cause of peace than an arms race."

Sources in Washington said the three Western allies may soon ask the U. N. Security Council to take urgent action to prevent war in the Middle East. Should a Russian veto block the move, the Big Three would feel free to act outside the U. N.

The House of Commons divided along party lines to give Eden's government a 312-252 vote of confidence. The ballot came after the Prime Minister, in a freewheeling speech, also accused Egypt of trying to disrupt Britain's relations with Jordan through inflammatory radio broadcasts.

The Jordan government took a more conciliatory tone. It urged Britain to reconsider her decision to recall 15 other senior officers holding executive commands in the legion. British circles interpreted this to mean Jordan was not eager to rush into a military alliance with Egypt.

Eden told Commons that if Egypt wants friendly relations with the West, she can have them, "but not at any price."

Meanwhile, the conference of leaders of Egypt, Syria and Saudi Arabia went in its third day in Cairo. The discussion centered on an annual aid to Jordan.

The three leaders—Saudi Arabia's King Saud, Egypt's Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and Syria's President Shukri Kuwalty—were reported studying the possibility of offering Jordan funds to replace the subsidy Britain now pays Jordan to maintain the Arab Legion.

Lake Arthur Youth Is Hurt In Car Accident

JIMMY PETERS, 19, of Rt. 1, Lake Arthur, suffered minor injuries when the car he was driving ran into a ravine after blowing a tire two miles north of Lakewood at about midnight last night.

Peters told state police that his right front tire blew out and he was coasting to a stop on the shoulder of the road when the gully showed up in front of him and the car ran off into the ditch, which was about 10 feet deep.

The front of the car was smashed and Peters hit his face against the steering wheel. He hitched a ride to Artesia and was treated and released at the Artesia General Hospital.

Britain Firm With U. S. On Mid-East Plan

LONDON (AP)—Britain's government stood firm today on a Middle East policy planned to the Western Big Three pledge to block any change in Israeli-Arab boundaries by force.

Closing a turbulent House of Commons debate last night, Prime Minister Eden declared his government and the United States are working closely together to keep peace in Palestine.

He ominously warned that Britain, the United States and France had undertaken an obligation in their 1950 pledge that is "more serious than perhaps many British people realize."

The 1950 pact promises that the Big Three will act against any aggression by either the Arabs or Israel.

Eden also turned aside Laborite demands that Britain ship Israeli arms to match those Communist Czechoslovakia is supplying Egypt. Band Convention Opens HS Clinic

SANTA FE (AP)—The 22nd annual convention of the American Band Masters Assn. was in full swing here Thursday with rehearsals and clinics in progress.

A high school music clinic for New Mexico students is being held in conjunction with the four-day convention. The state all-state band is participating in the musical activities.

A round of social events for the visitors from all over the United States was highlighted today by a coffee at which the state's first lady, Mrs. John F. Simms, was hostess.

Deeds from the University of New Mexico, Eastern New Mexico University, New Mexico A&M, and Texas Tech of Lubbock were here for the convention. The U. S. Air Force Band was to present three concerts Friday and Saturday of this week.

IF YOU DON'T RECOGNIZE it as first glance, this is an apricot tree in full bloom. As you can see, every effort has been made to protect the tree from last night's freeze—perhaps too many efforts. This is the sight that greeted Mrs. Mary Dowell in the back yard of her home at 612 S. Fourth this morning. The big question—will there be apricots? (Advocate Photo)

Tickets Go On Sale For Baseball Season Which Opens In City Soon

With basketball out of the way and the warm winds of March blowing through the ball park, the attention of High School athletes has turned to the baseball diamond.

With the inauguration of a new season ticket program for the first time here this year, coaches and school officials are looking forward to a big season in baseball.

Bulldog players began workouts Monday at the Municipal ball park and tickets go on sale by Pep Club members here today. The first scheduled game will be with New Mexico Military at Roswell March 20. The first home game also will be with NMMI March 23.

But it is not entirely a rosy view from the Bulldog's ball diamond. Faced with the loss of some of his best players from last season, Coach Jack Barron is working the boys out hard in an effort to shape up the best possible combination.

The coach is building around five returning lettermen and has a total of date of 18 potential players trying out. Last season lettermen are Bill Mayes, Ray Brummett, Bob Cerny, Max Ratliff and Kim Foulkes.

The big bottleneck is in the catching department, Coach Barron says.

At the present time it looks like Bill Mayes is the best bet to step behind the plate. Mayes, a utility man last year, hit .313 and fielded .862.

Cerny, who is slated to pitch, may have to double behind the plate. If so, Max Ratliff, who played shortstop last season, will move to the mound while Cerny is catching.

Cerny batted .257 last season and fielded .825. Ratliff hit .200 and fielded .750. Of the other two lettermen, Ray Brummett, who played second base, hit .176 and fielded .816, and Foulkes, who played in the outfield, batted .222 and fielded .697.

One of the big bright spots among the sophomores is Dewayne Sewell, who the coach says is looking good in the infield. It is expected that Sewell may move into short when Ratliff goes to the mound.

Another hopeful is Jerry Russell, a promising young southpaw, who the coach says has a good arm but is still a little wild with his pitches.

Kenny Parish, a transfer from Eunice, is hitting good. Parish plays infield or outfield positions.

Orvan Webb, a Junior, is also a promising hitter this season. Jimmie Campanella, another Junior who didn't letter last season, is looking good for the shortstop position and the outfield.

Dewayne Hodges is the only other Junior going out for baseball at this time.

Other Sophomore players are Rusty Clack, Jimmy Madrid, who will pitch; Fred Crawford, field; Walker Lewis, infield; Bill Gray, infield; and Abel Tarin.

Gay Gwynne will be manager.

As part of a move by the athletic department to have all sports pay their way, the season ticket program is being tried here for the first time in baseball. Ticket sales will be conducted by the High School Pep Club and the three girls who sell the most tickets will become candidates for "Miss Baseball." The winner will be chosen from among the three by the team.

Season tickets, which go on sale today, will sell for $2 a ticket and $3 for a husband-wife combination ticket.

Six home games have been definitely scheduled. They will all be night games.

The schedule, as it stands today, is as follows:

March 20—New Mexico Military, here.

March 23—New Mexico Military, here.

March 29—Lovington, here.

April 6—Portales, a double header, here.

April 13—Hobbs, here.

April 17—Carlsbad, here.

April 20—Roswell, here.

April 24—Hobbs, here.

April 27—Clovis, a double header, here.

May 4—Roswell, here.

Games away from home at Lovington and Carlsbad have not been definitely scheduled as yet.

Last season the Bulldogs hit .286 and fielded .836 for team averages.

The Dogs won five and lost seven last season.

FBI Nabs Man Suspected In Robbery Of Bank

NEW YORK (AP)—The FBI arrested a patient in a Bronx hospital Wednesday night and accused him of being the daring gunman who staged the $188,000 robbery last Friday of a suburban Westchester County bank.

Federal agents said they recovered $100,000 of the loot from the trunk of a car belonging to the prisoner, 33-year-old Arthur L. Paisner, a Bronx racehorse trainer.

Paisner—who, with a still-sought companion allegedly kidnapped a woman teller of the County Trust Co.'s drive-in branch at Port Chester—was to be arraigned Thursday before a U. S. commissioner. He was held under guard at the hospital Wednesday night.

Paisner was hospitalized since Monday after undergoing minor surgery. He was arrested in bed.

Neither the nature of his ailment nor the name of the hospital were disclosed.

Two men abducted the teller, Mrs. Mary F. Kostolos, 52, as she drove up to her home. They drove around all night in her car and quizzed her on bank operation and personnel.

Before the bank opened, they forced Mrs. Kostolos to open the bank with her key. Then one man took over inside. The FBI says it was Paisner.

The other man disappeared. The FBI said they were seeking him and the missing $88,000 in cash.

No shots were fired during the holdup.

The FBI said evidence found in an automobile stolen from a New Haven Railroad parking lot at Larchmont, N. Y., also in Westchester County, led agents to Pais-ner.

After getting inside the bank, the gunman bound and blindfolded

Mrs. Kostolos and put her in a closet.

When teller Ernest Marino arrived, he too was trussed up. J. Purdy Ungemack, the assistant treasurer, arrived a few minutes later, and was forced to open the vault and carry money-loaded containers to Mrs. Kostolos' car parked at the curb. The car was found minutes later in a parking lot.

Pork Standout Bargain Item

By The Associated Press

There's a bountiful list of bargains in pork, beef and poultry this week in the nation's food stores and supermarkets.

Pork is the standout item. Center cut pork chops and roast of pork will be featured at specials this weekend in the supermarkets from coast to coast.

Pork prices at wholesale are off about a quarter of a cent a pound from the week before.

Beef prices are about the same as last week at wholesale, but you will find plenty of marked-down "specials" this weekend at the retail counter. Featured prominently at special prices are sirloin steaks, rib roast and top and bottom round oven roasts.

Roasting and frying chickens, turkeys and roast ducking lead the parade of bargain specials in the poultry department.

Lamb prices are up a quarter to a half a cent a pound at wholesale, but specialists say there will be little if any overall change in the retail price for at least another week.

Green vegetables from Southwest offer new variety for dinner menus this week. Increasingly abundant, and therefore moderately priced, are broccoli from California, Arizona and Texas, new cabbage from Texas and Florida, and spinach from Texas. All are listed as "good buys" by U. S. Department of Agriculture specialists.

"Good" buys in fresh fruits include oranges, grapefruit, tangerines and apples.

You're likely to find egg prices noticeably lower by the time the Easter bunny gets around. Egg production is nearing its seasonal peak.

Inside WASHINGTON MARCH OF EVENTS

of Natural Gas Bill Congressional GOP, Demo
Legislative Program Leaders Liked by Rejection

Special to Central Press Association

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower's veto of the natural gas bill will have far-reaching implications on his legislative program for 1956. In rejecting the measure to free gas producers of federal price controls, Mr. Eisenhower incurred the wrath of Democratic and Republican leaders in Congress.

Closest among these are House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson, both Texans and strong backers of the gas bill. Another is Senate GOP leader William F. Knowland.

Heretofore, Johnson and Rayburn have been willing to go along with many of the administration's legislative proposals. However, Capitol Hill observers say they now are so riled with the President that the picture is changed.

In other words, the "honeymoon"—at least, the period of relative peace between Congress and the White House—is over. From now on, the President is going to have to justify fully everything that he expects to get out of Congress.

● MCCARTHY MISCUE—The veto will have its effect in another quarter. Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (R), Wisconsin, may find himself in trouble in his home state over his vote in favor of the natural gas bill. Even his staunchest supporters were dismayed by the fact that

McCarthy has let himself be linked with influential oil and gas interests, including acceptance of free plane transportation by the Standard Oil company of California.

It was the latter firm which provided the $2,500 campaign contribution offered to Senator Francis Case (R), South Dakota, during the vote on the gas measure.

While McCarthy voted for the bill, almost every prominent Wisconsin Republican was opposing it, including firm McCarthy friends.

The fact that Wisconsin's other GOP senator, Alexander Wiley, for McCarthy has never lost any love, voted against the gas bill and helped the junior senator's standing in the state either.

● REALISM—A striking example of congressional candor emanated recently from the pen of Rep. Craig Hosmer (R), California, obviously man with a sense of humor.

Hosmer noted that election year brings more and more news (?)

cases from members of Congress. "A quick glance at some of the news reveals that the republic is truly on the brink of chaos, disaster, frustration and oblivion," he remarked.

However, don't be too alarmed," he added soothingly. "A similar case at others reveals the nation is truly entertaining a veritable parade of never-ending good things for its citizens. It all depends on who is talking—the "ins" or the "outs."

Hosmer has this word of advice for John Q. Citizen: "Keep your eyes firmly in hand and don't let the politicians snatch it away from you before the Nov. 8 elections."

● TALKING MACHINES—The Postoffice department admits it's getting uncomplimentary comments over its new stamp vending machines that say, by recording: "Thank you for buying stamps."

However, officials explain that the talking part of the machine is its least important feature. They point out that the device will automatically make change for stamp buyers at any time of the day or night.

All this, the officials claim, will actually save the Postoffice money through improved service. Besides, they say, the recording gimmick being installed almost entirely at the manufacturer's expense for promotional purposes.

Same Over Entire State

THERE APPARENTLY is going to be considerable effort made by the New Mexico Tax Commission to do considerable more than has been done up to now in an attempt to equalize tax assessments in the state.

Such a program was carried out once but the job was never fully completed and it doesn't take long to change what was done when the politicians decide to get busy.

Most of us, we believe, will agree that equal valued property should be assessed at the same value. Most of us agree that land on the farm in cultivating and producing should be about the same over the state and in the various counties of the state.

Yet we are told this is not true. We have counties in the state with land that is about the same in so far as value and production are concerned as land in other counties yet there is considerable spread between the values placed on this land on the assessor's books.

In our own county our assessments have been in line for years and there is an honest and a sincere effort not only to keep them equalized but to get all property on the assessment rolls.

But we have some counties in the state where the average value on the assessor's books and on the tax rolls for the farm land is about $160 an acre while in other counties farm land which may produce more and which is just as valuable, if not more valuable, is on the rolls, so we are told, at $15 per acre.

We even have some farm land in our state in some of our counties on the rolls at $5 per acre.

We appreciate fully that the value of property varies and we also know that land which produces should be worth more than land that lies idle or is not capable of producing.

But we do know we need more assessment in the state because we need more taxes. It is also true that if the assessments were equalized and were practically the same in all counties of the state we would have far more tax money for the county and for the state.

Sometimes we hear the argument that the state gets most of the ad valorem taxes so it doesn't matter. That, of course, is not true. The state gets less than a fourth. The rest goes to the county.

We hope the day and time comes when we can equalize assessments.

Nixon Could Be More Valuable To Party Off Election Ticket

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon probably never had any doubt about what he wanted to do—just keep on being vice president another four years—until President Eisenhower asked him to think it over.

Why should he have to think it over? He is a politician, and he'd be on a golden political road if he was on Eisenhower's ticket and it won again this year.

In 1960 he would be a major contender for the Republican presidential nomination. And if Eisenhower should die between next November's election and 1960 Nixon would be president.

The Republican party would then be almost certain to run him for president four years from now. What's his alternative, since he is both a politician and ambitious?

If Nixon stepped aside and the Republicans won this year, Eisenhower could give him a high government job, perhaps in the Cabinet.

But from a political view Nixon would then have less claim on the Republican nomination for president in 1960 than if he had served another four years as vice president.

"The only thing I have asked him to do," Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday, "is to chart out his own course and tell me what he would like to do. I have never gone beyond that."

Eisenhower himself has declined to say whether he wants Nixon again although this by itself can't be taken as evidence Eisenhower doesn't want him. But while Nixon has strong Republican support he also reportedly has some strong opposition within the party.

President Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday the United States believes the U.N. "should take urgent and early action" regarding the tense Middle East. He said the U.S. position very should agree to abide by that "both sides in the controlled United Nations' advice and armistice terms, and avoid initiating incidents so we could get peace started."

The U.N. recently censured Israel for making a raid into Syrian territory. But the United States and Britain apparently feel the Arabs should also be told to take measures for peace.

Since last year Russia has been following a predominantly pro-Arab policy. Among other things, it has sponsored the sale of arms to Egypt and Syria.

Safety Director Asks 'Effective' State Program

SANTA FE (AP)—Traffic Safety Commission Director Jess Holmes has warned that unless an effective safety program begins soon, adverse publicity is going to hurt New Mexico's tourist business.

"Many national organizations have been exceedingly kind to our state by withholding information about our highway hazards but they won't wait forever for the state in the nation to meet its responsibilities," Holmes said.

Explaining what he meant by an "effective" safety program, Holmes said he didn't particularly mean the State Police, which he said has had a safety campaign going since the first of the year.

He said such organizations as the motel, restaurant and service station operators' association could assist in the safety program by cautioning out-of-state patrons about highway hazards.

He also called on the liquor industry to begin to police its own people more strictly "lest some state agency begin the policing action for them."

Bright Future Seen For Cattle

DENVER (AP)—A bright long range view of cattle industry is revealed in a study of government estimates of cattle on hand Jan. 1. Don C. Collins, president of the American National Cattlemen's Assn., said Wednesday.

"Only time and many other factors will tell how optimistic we can be that beef supply and demand are beginning to balance again, but there are positive indications that the peak of numbers has been reached," Collins said.

He said the analysis indicated the breeding potential of the national beef herd is on the downgrade for the first time since 1948, when the current population cycle began its climb.

Noting the combined number of beef cows and yearling heifers this year has dropped 122,000 head, he said: "This is indeed a small reduction—but contrast this with the average annual increase in beef she-stuff of 2,135,000 head over the previous five years."

The Kit Carson, Colo., rancher said total population of all dairy cows and heifers and all beef cows and heifers declined 606,000 in 1955.

Collins said the study revealed an annual calf drop is showing signs of reaching its peak cycle. The average annual increase was 1,631,000 between 1950 and 1955. The increase between 1954 and 1955 was only 400,000.

Stephens Says He's No Stooge

SANTA FE (AP)—Robert F. Stephens, the surprise candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, has denied emphatically that he is either a "Simms stooge" or a tool of pro-Mechem Democrats.

He said he is a serious "poor man" candidate for the nomination.

"I think by television appearance ought to convince anybody that I'm not in this as a candidate who will help the Simms cause," he said. "As the campaign progresses, I'm going to take each item of Simms' performance and show the voters what a phony deal it is."

Stephens said Simms, "personal political philosophy appears to be that of unlightened Republicanism of the Mark Hanna-McKinley era; he has departed from the basic principles of the Democratic party as the party of the people. If Simms is the Democratic nominee he is going to lead the party to defeat."

As for Pickett, who says Stephens' entry will hurt Pickett's chances by dividing the anti-Simms vote, Stephens said:

"The Democratic party nominated Pickett for the Corporation Commission and the people elected him to the Corporation Commission. He has four more years to serve, and I believe that as a good soldier and member of the Democratic party he should stay right there and not abandon his post."

"I don't have a crystal ball and I have not figured out the votes yet, but I'm confident I will be the solid choice of the majority of the Democrats who are opposed to the renomination of Mr. Simms."

Asked what kind of support he has, Stephens said he has some money pledged to him and he is trying to get more. "I hope to be supported within reasonable limits financially by the people in the Democratic party who are bitterly opposed to John Simms," he said.

Asked whether he meant Victor Salazar, an anti-Simms Democrat of Albuquerque, Stephens said: "You can emphatically say I have received no financial support, and have asked none, from Victor Salazar."

perclassman was on his honor to return to barracks at a specified time.

"Now we have to sign in like prisoners," the cadet said. "The upperclassmen—particularly the cadet officers—told both Gen. Gay and Gen. Willey that if there were any abuses of the honor system the cadet corps would clean its own laundry. But that didn't make any difference.

"It used to be an honor to be a cadet officer or non-commissioned officer—and it had certain privileges that went with the rank. Not any more. Today it just means you're a target for abuse from the commandant's office."

The spokesman said that Tuesday night's riot stemmed partially from a feeling of loss of honor among the cadet corps as well as some irritation over the resignation of a Santa Fe cadet, J. E. Maldonado, after he was charged with undue hazing.

"That cadet was never given a chance to speak in his own defense at a so-called hearing held by the commandant's office."

"And the tactical officer (a faculty member) who was assigned to speak in his behalf also kept quiet."

While the cadet officer admitted that here had been some abuse of privileges from time to time on the part of individual cadets, he said that on the whole the corps had functioned well under the honor system.

"You can't take a group of boys from 14 years old up to 20 and treat them like you treat recruits in the Army, nor with the same type of discipline."

He said that almost every cadet officer had been absent with permission at the time the riot broke out, with the exception of one cadet colonel. And he said that colonel did everything he could to avert the riot, but that the cadets had taken the bit in their teeth and would not be stopped.

Last night, a brief flurry of renewed activity in the form of exploding fireworks brought a momentary scare and sent cadet officers and tactical officers rushing to the institute. But order was quickly restored before the evening study hall period ended.

Gen. Gay yesterday categorically stated that "no new regulations have been put into effect since I arrived here." Gay assumed the superintendent's job last September.

He stressed that "existing regulations which have previously been overlooked have been enforced."

"We go by the Blue Book," the book of regulations for NMMI, he added.

Gen. Gay wound up his comments by stating, "I am solely responsible for any decisions or actions, or policy enforced at NMMI."

He added that he would not pass the buck to any of his staff officers, faculty or subordinates. When he was asked if an emergency furlough had been denied recently to any cadet seeking it because of illness in the immediate family, Gay called in his secretary to make a direct transcript of his next words.

With the secretary present he then stated: "Our regulations call for approval of emergency furloughs due to sickness in the immediate family only after the family physician has consulted the institute surgeon and upon approval of the institute surgeon."

Gen. Gay was asked again if this regulation had been violated recently in the case of a given cadet. He said in the case of the cadet in question "there was no violation of the regulation."

It was determined by the family physician upon consultation over the phone with Dr. J. Marshall, Roswell, that the illness was not of an emergency nature and the furlough was refused.

Dr. Marshall also confirmed the statement made by Grop that "the regulation permitting emergency furlough to cadets due to serious illness in the immediate family has not been violated or withheld from any cadet since I have been superintendent."

Gen. Willey said that in the case of the Santa Fe cadet "a board of officer on this board."

He said that findings of the board had been without protest from corporal to sergeant. Gen. Willey gave this as the reason for which the cadet's parents withdrew him from the institute.

When Gen. Willey was asked if he thought the regulations in the Blue Book were good regulations, he said, "Yes."

School officials said they were not disturbed about the Tuesday demonstration, but were investigating.

Rapid Action Promised On Bid For Drought Aid

SANTA FE, (AP)—U. S. Rep. John J. Dempsey has told Gov. John F. Simms the Agriculture Department has agreed to give prompt reconsideration to Simms' request that eastern New Mexico counties be included in the emergency feed program for drought disaster areas.

Simms wrote Agriculture Secretary Benson several days ago and expressed concern at reports and several East Side counties were not to be reinstated in the program. Eastern Union County already has been reinstated.

Dempsey wrote Simms that Kenneth L. Scott, director of the Agriculture Department's credit service, had told him that prompt reconsideration would be given to the application of eastern counties for reinstatement in the feed program.

Dempsey asked that the State Drought Committee immediately forward additional information on the current situation, as a basis for reconsideration.

Farm Income Falls Billion In Last Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Total farm income fell nearly one billion dollars last year, the Agriculture Department said Tuesday.

While this was happening, a department report said, the income of the nonfarm segment of the nation's economy was rising above 1954 levels.

The department said the income of the nation's farm population, from all sources, last year totaled a little more than 19 billion dollars. The individual average was $860. This compared with just under 20 billions received in 1954 and an individual average of $913.

The nonfarm population was said to have received total income of 275 billions last year for an individual average of $1,922—more than double the farm average. The previous year the nonfarm total was 258 billions for an individual average of $1,837.

Included in the farm income estimate were net returns of farm operators, farm wages, allowances for home consumption of farm products and rental value of farm dwellings, changes in inventory values of farm products held by farmers, and earnings from nonfarm sources, such as investments, off-farm employment and the like.

A major factor in the decline in farm earnings—a major political issue in this presidential election year—was a further drop of about 10 per cent in farm product costs. The drop in prices was offset to some extent by a 3 per cent increase in the volume of farm production last year.

Agriculture Department economists predicted last fall that farm income would decline further this year. But Secretary of Agriculture Benson has said it would increase if Congress acted promptly to enact a soil bank plan recommended by President Eisenhower.

Under the soil bank the government would make payments totaling up to $1,100,000,000 a year to farmers for voluntarily taking land out of production of surplus crops.

The Senate is nearing the voting stage on a bill that would authorize the soil bank plan—but would also junk the administration's flexible price support system and restore high, rigid farm price propposed by Eisenhower and Benson.

Waste From Bad Tensions Cost Three Billion Dollars Yearly

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone reflections of a Pavement Plato: One way to be happy in this life is to pick your own tensions—and learn to enjoy them.

This is a tense century. Tension has become one of the busiest words in the American vocabulary. The current issue of Newsweek magazine, in a notable article on the subject, estimates that 25 per cent of the nation's industrial force is emotionally upset and frustrated, and puts the annual cost in lost wages, medical bills and damaged machinery at three billion dollars.

Some toll: The waste from this kind of tension would build 250,000 homes costing $12,000 each. Not just one year. Every year.

Frightful as this estimate is, it is no indictment of tension in itself. Tension is as essential to the normal human body as it is to the functioning of a rubber band or a watch spring. Without tension life would be as dull and monotonous as a piece of string.

The basic trouble with our tense times is that we have let our tensions run wild like a bedspring that suddenly bursts its moorings.

There are two kinds of tensions and goes "being, being, being."—the good and the bad. A good tension, such as one we get from playing a game or watching a well-acted drama, is followed by a feeling of both physical and emotional release. The tension relieves itself; we end up relaxed.

A bad tension, such as the kind we build up while pursuing an impossible goal or doing something we know is foolish (like chasing our friend's wife), only tangles our emotions deeper. We tie ourselves inextricably in knots of our own devising.

Therefore we have no one to blame but ourselves for the tension. How many of our tensions are caused because we let our neighbors—or our envy of our neighbors—determine our own ambitions?

Just because Jones went into debt and worried himself into an ulcer buying a big car he couldn't afford, is it really necessary for us to buy a bigger car, go deeper into debt, and wind up with a double ulcer? Where is the reward in that kind of tension?

Our own infantile attitude toward what we think we want in life is also a major source of the wrong kind of tension.

Perhaps all men yearn to grow up and near a million dollars and marry the prettiest girl in town, but the fact remains that all men can't. There aren't that many millions of dollars or that many pretty girls.

But there are plenty of good jobs that pay a man a living wage, and a girl doesn't have to win a beauty contest to make an endurable wife.

As a people we aren't really "success happy." We are actually Frank Kindel, Carlsbad business man, has announced that he is withdrawing from the race for candidate for Eddy County Commissioner, and said he will support the candidacy of E. O. Spurlin, a former commissioner.

"When I offered my resignation some weeks ago as a candidate for county commissioner of Eddy County, I did so in a sincere desire to be of some service to the county in which I have lived long," Kindel said.

"When I made my original announcement for office, no county administrative commission. Since that time, however, Mr. Spurlin, a prominent and well-known Carlsbad business man, has announced for the office. I have served with distinction as county commissioner in the past, and I believe I am in a position to render an effective public service to the county of Eddy County."

more often unhappy because don't know what real success is. A spoiled child gets tense and throws a tantrum because it gets what it thinks it wants and it wants it. Most of our modern tensions reflect the fact that we have remained spoiled children instead of growing up.

True success lies in the ability to discard goals that we achieve or that fail to make us happy. The art of living lies in an intense interest in things that add to our pleasure and enjoyment of life.

If you feel yourself acquiring an ulcer over tensions, the thing to do is to take a long cold shower, then look in the mirror and yourself:

"Is the fun of what I'm doing worth the ulcer I'm getting?"

If it isn't give it up and add to a new tension—and see if you don't feel better.

"When I made my original announcement for office, no county administrative commission. Since that time, however, Mr. Spurlin, a prominent and well-known Carlsbad business man, has announced for the office. I have served with distinction as county commissioner in the past, and I believe I am in a position to render an effective public service to the county of Eddy County."

Happiness Increases Chances For Long Life

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

BE happy and live longer. Not only will happiness and contentment make your life more pleasant, but many doctors feel it actually will help increase your life span.

Unhappiness is thought to contribute to ill health. Emotional health, on the other hand, helps your body combat illness.

Simply by wanting to live you'll enhance your chances for a long life. In fact, an article in a recent issue of "The Catholic Digest," goes so far as to say "The will to live can override all but the final death sentence."

Cheerful Emotions

Termining cheerful emotions the first line of defense against illness, the article "Take It Easy, Live Longer" lists eight ways by which you can live longer and at the same time get more out of life. I think these rules are worth passing on.

1. Don't worry about your health. If you have aches and pains or other symptoms, see your doctor. If he says you're okay, believe him and be grateful.
2. Have fun. Play is one of the best ways of working off aggression. If you win at a game of golf or cards, you'll feel good. If you lose, you can shrug it off with "Oh, well, it's only a game."
3. Enjoy your work, but don't live only for your job. Your work must satisfy you, but not enslave you.
4. Conquer your work. Be decisive, delegate things you can and put things off that you really don't want to do. Don't worry about minor details that will be forgotten in a week.
5. Keep life simple. Quit worrying so much. Others are off than you. And if things really do go bad, quit worrying. There is something you can do about them.
6. Enjoy each moment. Make the most out of life. Develop an attitude of optimism and courage to see through any really rough patch that might lie ahead.

Family Life

7. Make your family life really enjoyable. You should be in which family is an example in which everyone takes an equal and kindly share.
8. Don't blow your top. Blow off steam is almost sure to do something.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

L. S.: Would a nervous stomach be the cause of a tongue?

Answer: So-called nervous stomach is not the cause of a coated tongue.

Coated tongue sometimes comes from constipation, which in many cases no cause can be discovered.
