Project Pride Brings Christmas To Life at Higginbotham's

Project Pride Presents "A Real Family Christmas!" With Decorations in Higginbotham's Windows

You will see Santa Claus waiting to greet everyone as they enter Higginbotham's front door. And, look at the items in that same window. There's one whole area for the men/middle part for the women/and left side for the kids. Something for the whole family. The sleigh has so many packages piled up — some may fall off as the reindeer fly high above. I'm sure they will be back to pick up other items in the window. The Nativity scene is beautiful and inspiring. I'm certain Mary and Joseph would want us to stop and remember that this is the most important birthday in the Christian world. We are certainly blessed in so many ways, even to being able to provide this scene for you. Close by observe a tree covered with little white angels.

In the south window, be sure to see the hunters' blinds. Go inside to see the little deer who is hiding inside one. The hunters already have a fire going and a bench to sit on (if the teddy bears will move over). Rudolph stands back a little, but would love to join them.

There's our mystery lady shopping in the Gift Shop. She is usually seen selecting her Christmas gifts late, but she always finds just the right present for each one on her list. While in the Gift Shop, take a look at the old fashioned Christmas tree in the antique window.

Project Pride volunteers are dedicated to bringing you these decorated Christmas scenes each year for your enjoyment. Remember, the lighted windows at night make the best viewing, especially if you stroll down the sidewalk.

Christmas trees have been decorated and all of the lights have been hung, we think you will agree that they did a wonderful job. Some snacks will be provided but everyone is still invited to bring a snack to be shared by all during the band's break.

Cross Plains Community Christmas Celebration — December 13th & 14th

For as long as I can remember, the small church I attended while growing up always presented a Christmas musical, drama, or canata every year like clock work. I can still remember some of the great John W. Peterson classics like "Night of Miracles" or "Joy to the World". Those are fond memories for me, but a few years ago, I started reflecting on the real value of it all (possibly an affect of turning 50!), and whether or not these concerts provided any long-lasting or eternal value to the surrounding community. I know those special Christmas events provided an immediate blessing to both participant and attendee, but I still couldn't help but wonder what it would be like to give something back in a tangible way during the Christmas season. Then, the idea of a Community Christmas Celebration began to materialize...an event that would raise support for a local cause and a mission activity outside of the community...something that would give to others for many years to come.

Last year, due to YOUR generosity and support, we raised over $4000 for the Cross Plains Cancer Fund and "Mission Colombia" (taking the Gospel to the deaf people of Columbia). This year, we are hoping to help the Senior Center of Cross Plains, an organization that serves so many of our seniors, and an upcoming (2014) foreign missions project involving our very own citizens! The Community Christmas Choir has prepared the Christmas Worship Musical, "Joy of Every Longing Heart" by Travis Cottrell. The choir is comprised of singers from across our community of varying denominations focused on the common Gospel thread...Jesus 'Christ!

We will also have the Community Christmas Band made up of both current and former CP High School students, and led by Mr. Matt Sowell.

Admission to the Christmas Celebration is FREE, but a love offering will be received to allow each of us to give to others in response to all we have been blessed with during this special season of giving and thankfulness. Please mark your calendars, and plan to attend this great Celebration on either Friday, December 13th, or Saturday, December 14th. The concert will take place in the main Worship Center of First Baptist Cross Plains (301 Main St.), and will begin at 6:30 p.m. both evenings. Come celebrate the "Reason for the Season" with us!

SANTA at the BANK

Enjoy the season of giving with Santa at the Bank this Christmas. There will be a Christmas tree in the bank after Thanksgiving with ornaments telling the gender and ages of children throughout the Cross Plains area. You may stop by the bank and choose an ornament with a child's information, then return your gifts to the bank by Monday, December 16, 2013. The gifts will be picked up by the parents as soon as possible with the help of the American Legion. A reasonable amount to spend on the gift is $25-$30. If you wish to give money, we will buy the gift for you. Some gift ideas include: cosmetics, hair accessories, perfume, sweaters, hats, gloves and purses for older girls and video games, sports related items, sweaters, and hats for the older boys. Younger girls might enjoy dolls, sweaters, jewelry, purses, backpacks or stuffed animals, while the younger boys might enjoy legos, trucks, cars, action figures, ect.

Christmas is a time for giving and kindness so please help us make Christmas brighter for the children of our community this year. If you know of any children in need please call Pat Stephens with your information. (Home 725-6819 School 725-6123). Also Dollar General has a box in the front of their store for donations to the Santa at the Bank tree. Thank you all so much for helping the children of our community.

Give your kids the gift of a Good Night Sleep this Holiday Season

StatePoint—When your children have trouble sleeping at night it can be just as tiring for you as for your little ones. And no matter what the source of the issue is, a full night's sleep is important for everybody's physical and mental health.

But during the busy holiday season, unpredictable sleeping schedules and big family gatherings can contribute to poor sleep. Take steps to help children rest better at night this season by trying these sleep tips to make bedtime easier for the whole family:

Stay Active
Don't be afraid to tire children out! When they aren't attending school or their regular activities, they aren't expending as much energy. During the winter break, take long walks or simply visit the park each day for a game of tag, catch or a bike ride.

Keep your kids mentally active, as well. Instead of zoning out in front of the television, encourage them to read, write or paint. A full day of activity means your children will be ready for some shut-eye by bedtime.

Mindful Eating
Everyone knows that caffeine before bedtime is a no-no. While your children are probably not coffee drinkers, don't forget that soda and chocolate contain caffeine too. While it can be tricky to mind one's eating habits during the holidays, try to avoid feeding kids sugary or spicy foods before bedtime, as both can have a tossing and turning effect.

Brighten Up
For many kids, settling into bedtime after the excitement of the holidays can be difficult. Instead of opting for a standard nightlight, try a soft and cuddly option that may make sleeping fun and comforting, even in an unfamiliar place. Conveniently, you can now help remedy your children's sleep issues while traveling during the holidays with a Glow Pet, a loveable and portable light up pet pillow.

"Every child has a favorite bedtime toy, but what's wonderful about Glow Pets is they are so much more than just another stuffed animal," advises Laurie Schacht, Toy Insider Mom. "Glow Pets triple function as nightlight, pillow and friend making it the perfect addition to a child's bedroom, particularly for those kids who have trouble sleeping."

For more information, visit www.GlowPets.com.

Rituals
A schedule helps the body know when to be alert and when to be sleepy. Over the holidays, don't let kids deviate too much from their regular routine.

Nighttime rituals, such as bedtime reading, can help create a sleepy mood at night. Anxieties may make sleep a troublesome prospect for some kids, so another great bedtime ritual is simply spending time talking with your kids each night. This gives them the opportunity to open up and discuss what's bothering them.

With a few tricks, you can make bedtime more fun for kids.

SHERIFF'S CORNER

By Sheriff Terry Joy

A special "thank you" to law enforcement, emergency, wrecker, fire department, and Tx Dot personnel. For the past few days, these dedicated men and women have worked non-stop to help citizens in need due to icy roads and highways.

The hours from early Friday morning until mid-morning on Tuesday have been an unbelievable experience for the first responders. Dispatch telephones rang non-stop to report accidents and citizens in need as a result of the poor road conditions. Dispatchers get a "big" thank you for their dedication to the safety and care of the citizens. Freezing rain and icy roads did not keep them from reporting to work to answer the calls and direct the rescue teams. Thanks dispatchers!

The Baird Marshal's Office, Clyde and Cross Plains Police Departments have been a great help to the Sheriff's Department and the Department of Public Safety. Due to a shortage of personnel, DPS Sgt. Pierce offered his assistance to Callahan County. Thank you Sgt. Pierce, DPS Officers and all other departments for all you do for the citizens of Callahan County.

Wrecks during this time exceeded 75, this does not include those cars in the ditch, or those cars unable to climb a hill. All dispatch calls have been answered and citizens needs have been met. Personnel have been busy, hurried and pushed to unexpected limits. During this 24/7 activity, they have stayed calm and responded to needs of the people in difficult situations.

Citizens should be extremely proud and thankful for the first responders in Callahan County. They are the best and have proved to be ready for challenges and opportunities to serve.

Hope everyone stayed in and stayed warm and safe during the Arctic Blast. The ice and snow are still here, but the sun is shining and everyone is looking forward to things thawing out.

During the ice storm, many events were rescheduled.

Texas Water Development Board approves standards for prioritizing water projects

Austin (December 6, 2013) — Last month, when Texas voters approved an amendment to the state constitution creating a $2 billion fund for water projects, the first question on many stakeholders' minds was "How will these projects be prioritized?"

On December 5th, the Texas Water Development Board (TWDB) approved the uniform standards the regional water planning groups developed in accordance with House Bill 4 from the last legislative session. These standards were developed and adopted by the regional water planning group committee, submitted to the TWDB before their due date of Dec. 1st, and will be used to prioritize water projects at the regional level. The standards can still be changed if necessary. TWDB considers them a living document that can adapt to changing circumstances and information.

"The voters approved historic Proposition 6 on Nov. 5. These standards represent the first major milestone following that approval and comprise a critical step in allowing us to implement the State Water Implementation Fund for Texas (SWIFT)," said TWDB Chairman Carlos Rubinstein. "I applaud the hard work and dedication of the planning groups."

Representatives from Texas' 16 regional planning groups began meeting in mid-September to develop the standards, which consist of a scoring system that considers feasibility, viability, sustainability and cost effectiveness.

The next step requires TWDB to establish a scoring system that includes the regional water planning groups' priorities. This system will then be used to prioritize those water projects applying for funding through the State Water Implementation Fund for Texas (SWIFT) - the fund approved through November's election.

Final criteria will be determined through rulemaking, which will begin early next year and will be complete in early 2015. The rulemaking process will provide multiple opportunities for stakeholder and public involvement.

The TWDB is the state agency charged with collecting and disseminating water-related data, assisting with regional planning and preparing the State Water Plan for the development of the state's water resources. The TWDB administers cost-effective financial programs for the construction of water supply, wastewater treatment, flood control, and agricultural water conservation projects.

Gifted / Talented Program

Dear K-6 Parents,
 Cross Plains Elementary is now accepting nominations for the Gifted/Talented Program at school.

This program is designed to meet the needs of students who exhibit intellectual or specific subject aptitude skills above those normally exhibited by peers of the same age group.

If you know of such a child, who is advanced beyond his peers, please come by the Elementary
 Office and nominate that child.
 It can be your child or another child you know. Parents will be notified if their child is nominated and must give written permission for their child to participate in the identification process.

Any community member or parent may come by the Elementary Office and pick up a Parent Handbook for Gifted Education. This handbook describes the program and the identification process.

We are proud of all of our children at Cross Plains Elementary and want to meet their needs.

Sincerely,
 Leslie Lawrence
 Elementary Principal

US Highway 283 to be resurfaced from Albany to Callahan County line

AUSTIN — In an ongoing effort to improve safety and relieve congestion, the Texas Transportation Commission recently approved $4 million for a project to resurface 16 miles of US-283 from the Albany city was awarded the project. A start date for the project has not been set.

"In a state as vast as Texas, it's imperative to not only have re-rural and urban citizens, but also to be diligent in designing and maintaining them with safety in mind," said Commissioner Fred Underwood, Texas Transportation Commission. "Keeping everyone safe on the road is our first priority. We must do everything we can to get the driving public safely to their destinations and home to their families at the end of the day."

Tiger Beetle

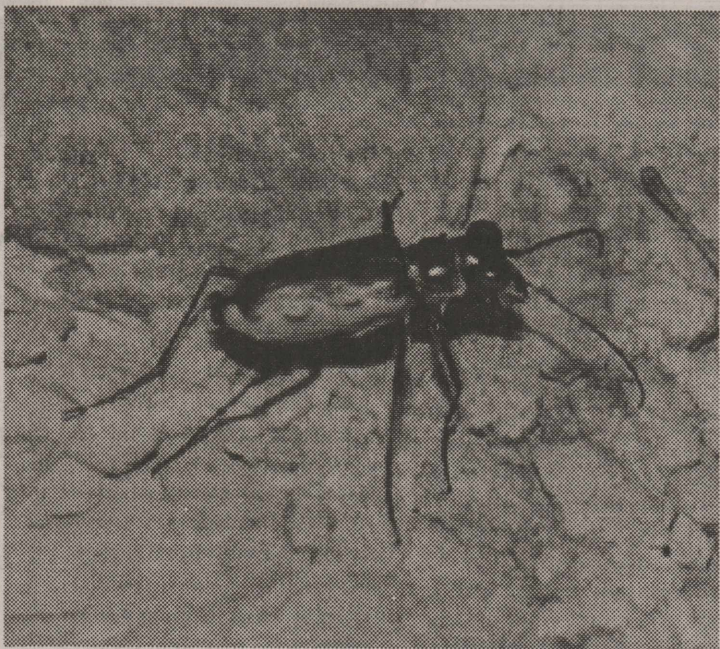

The term "hiding in plain sight" is a term that is used to describe things that should stand out from other things where it is, but often goes overlooked. There is actually a beetle that is found in west Texas that fits this description perfectly, and that insect is the Tiger Beetle.

The species of Tiger Beetle (Cicindela lemniscata) that is found in this area can be observed from western Texas westward to the Pacific coast of California southward throughout Baja California. Taxonomically speaking, it comes from a large and diverse group of insects that can be seen worldwide, with the majority of the 2,000+ species living in the areas of the Far East and the tropical areas of South America.

Tiger Beetles are, as the name implies, beetles, and beetles are insects, and like other members of this group, they have three body parts: the head, the thorax, and the abdomen. Each one of these body parts has a specific purpose, with the head being the area where the eyes and feeding appendages are, the thorax is where the legs and wings are attached, and the abdomen is where the majority of the internal organs are housed. Also like others in the insect group, the skeletal structure is on the outside of their body. This structure is known as the exoskeleton. They have six legs, as well as two pairs of wings and two antennae.

This particular species of beetle is quite attractive and eye-catching as the exoskeleton can be various shades of metallic blue, green, or red. It is also known for its large, bulbous eyes that are almost disproportionate to the rest of this quarter-inch long insect. Its legs are long and spindly, and as such, its body is well off of the ground as it runs. The mandibles, or outer jaws, are also quite large and distinctive, as is the pair of long, thin antennae on the front of the head.

While allowing the animal to stand out against the habitat that it normally prefers, which is usually the sandy loam areas surrounding permanent bodies of water, particularly creeks, draws, and rivers, this brilliant color pattern actually aids in its protection as it gives the animal a cryptic appearance that allows them to go unnoticed until it moves.

Tiger Beetles are highly predatory, utilizing its ridiculous speed to overrun and its strong mandibles to overpower smaller insect prey. Some species have been clocked at just over five miles per hour, and in human terms, that is not too terribly fast. However, when the size and speed ratio is calculated to an equivalent amount for humans, it means that a man would be able to run at a video game like speed of over four hundred miles per hour! It is no wonder that this species is able to capture even the "fastest" of smaller insects.

Even while in the larval stage this species is a ruthless predator. Tiger Beetle larvae live in shallow borrows in the sandy soil with their heads positioned near the opening of the burrow.

As unsuspecting insects walk by, the larval stage of this beetle will jump out from the burrow and grab its prey with its jagged mandibles and begin to feed on the victim.

The Tiger Beetle is active during the day, and many can be observed along the shorelines of local rivers and creeks during the spring, summer and fall. Once it perceives the slightest bit of danger, it will run in short bursts of speed to another spot, quickly blending in despite its bright coloration. Perhaps it disappears so quickly because the eye of the potential predator is still attempting to focus on the insect with the unreal burst of speed that just disappeared from plain sight.

Job Corps education and training centers in Texas are accepting students Programs provide diplomas, credentials and skills training in more than 100 occupations

The U.S. Department of Labor's Job Corps program is accepting applications throughout the autumn and winter months. The program provides free education and training for eligible young people, ages 16 to 24, to help them start a career, earn a high school diploma or equivalent credential and find and keep a good job.

"Job Corps offers our nation's youth the opportunity to learn and expand their skills and begin rewarding careers," said Grace Kilbane, the national director for the Office of Job Corps. "We urge eligible youth to enroll and prepare for today's competitive employment environment." Job Corps, managed by the department's Employment and Training Administration, provides students with hands-on training in more than 100 career fields, such as construction, business and finance, health care and information technology. The program, which has 125 centers nationwide, provides eligible, low-income students with room and board, counseling and mentoring services, living allowances and basic medical care. Students also can participate in on-the-job training through work-based learning opportunities.

The Job Corps centers in Texas are David L. Carrasco Job Corps Center in El Paso at 915-594-0022 or <http://davidcarrasco.jobcorps.gov>, Gary Job Corps Center in San Marcos at 512-396-6652 or <http://gary.jobcorps.gov>, Laredo Job Corps Center in Laredo at 956-727-5147 or <http://laredo.jobcorps.gov> and North Texas Job Corps Center in McKinney at 972-542-2623 or <http://northtexas.jobcorps.gov>.
