

HALL OF REMARKS

BY HERREL HALLMARK

WE ARE thankful for the rain received in this area early in the week and we are more thankful that the really nasty weather passed us by this time.

Our area received a very nice rain Sunday night and most of the day Monday. There were a few thunderstorms in the area Sunday but no really bad weather was reported in this area.

To the south of us, Brownwood was reported to have received some very severe weather, especially around Lake Brownwood.

A CALENDAR of Events will be published in future editions of The Cisco Press thanks to Randy Speegle, Chamber of Commerce manager, who is willing to put in the hours to work up the calendar.

More may be found on this elsewhere in this edition.

OUR APOLOGIES to all those persons who had stories which needed to be printed in last Sunday's edition of The Cisco Press. They were set at our office, they were pasted down on the pages, burned onto plates and ready to be printed.

The only problem is they were placed on the printing press with the wrong pages. Two of Cisco's newspaper pages ended up in Eastland's newspaper while two Eastland pages ended up in the Press.

I was very upset when I found out about the mix-up, but since the papers were already distributed there was nothing I could do about the problem. Again, I apologize for the mix-up and hope it will never happen again.

WE RECEIVED a report here Tuesday that four Cisco teachers were going to meet at a local restaurant that day at noon for lunch. They were reported to meet annually for lunch.

It was said they represent over 100 years of teaching in public schools in Cisco. They were Mrs. Strawn, Mrs. Ziehr, Mrs. Leveridge and Mrs. Turner.

Pages Printed In Wrong Paper

OOPS!..... For those who thought that there were "out-of-town" pages in the Press in Sunday edition: You are right.

Two pages of Press newspaper were inadvertently printed in another paper and two pages from that paper wound up in the Press.

We apologize for any inconvenience and confusion. The correct pages are in this edition.

Civic League Will Not Meet

This Thursday

Billy Rains Is Appointed Chief Of Cisco Police Dept.

Billy E. Rains, sergeant and acting chief, was named Monday as chief of the Cisco Police Department to fill the vacancy caused by the recent resignation of Randy Whittle. The appointment was effective immediately.

The appointment of Mr. Rains to head the seven-man Cisco Police Department was announced by City Manager Mike Moore. Mr. Rains, 28, is a native of Cisco and has been in police work for some three years.

Chief Rains, son of Mr. and Mrs. Odell Rains of Cisco, attended the Cisco Public Schools and is a graduate of Cisco Junior College with a degree in law enforcement.

He lives with his wife Beverly and their two children, Billy Jr., 9, and Lacey Michelle, 18 months, at 310 East 14th Street. They are members of the Church of the Nazarene.

Chief Rains spent three years in the U.S. Army's First Cavalry Division at Fort Hood. He worked as a patrolman for police departments in Ranger and Rising Star before joining the local department. He has been a member of the Cisco Volunteer Fire Department since 1975.

A sergeant will be designated by Chief Rains in the near future. He said that Officer Jackie Hobbs would continue to be in charge of detective work for the department.

"Billy Rains was appointed Chief of Police after serious consideration," the city manager said. "He has our complete confidence, and we believe that he is entirely capable of providing the kind of leadership our people expect for the police department."

"Chief Rains has demonstrated that he can work with people - that he cares about our community."

Mr. Moore said that the new chief would be encouraged to take advantage of all opportunities to study modern police methods such as are offered by the Council of Government Police Academy in Abilene.

Thomas LeFlore Pleads Guilty In Garcia Case

Thomas LeFlore, 41-year-old Ciscoan, entered a plea of guilty to capital murder charges filed against him in the 1981 death of Debra Garcia, in an appearance in 91st District Court Monday.

Judge Jim Wright of the court accepted the plea and will pass sentence. A trial date of June 26 was announced for LeFlore by the 91st court last week.

District Attorney Emory Walton said the guilty plea was a surprise as preparations were underway for the trial.

Observers believed the fact that LeFlore's younger brother, Charles, also charged in the shooting death of the Cisco convenience store clerk, pled guilty might have been an influencing factor in the latest development. Charles LeFlore was assessed a 65-year sentence.

Rain Measures Up To 2 Inches

Rain measuring from one to two inches fell over most of Eastland County Sunday night and Monday, according to reports from various areas. Up to three inches of rain fell last week in this region.

Flood and storm damages, were reported in Brownwood and in the Abilene region. Some light hail was reported in Eastland and in the Rising Star area but there were no reports of extensive damage.

Another distribution of cheese in five pound cartons, is announced by the Cisco Chapter of AARP for Thursday, June 9th.

President Walter Knowlden said that the distribution will begin at 9:00 a.m. at the Senior Citizens Center for Cisco, and the Senior Citizens Center in Rising Star. Mrs. Brown will be in charge in Rising Star.

Irving Men Held In Burglary Case

Two Irving men have been arrested and most of some $20,000 worth of implements and tools they allegedly took in a Rising Star burglary on May 28th has been recovered, Sheriff Johnny Morren reported Monday.

The two men arrested and charged in the burglary case were Jimmie Lee Sloan, 26, and Richard A. Cotton, 22, and Sloan has been released from the Eastland County jail after making a $5,000 bond, the sheriff said. Cotton had not made a $10,000 bond set in his case in Eastland justice of the peace court.

Sheriff Morren said the men are charged with breaking into Bramlett's, Inc., Rising Star John Deere dealer, and taking three garden tractors, several soil tillers, several edgers and assorted tools with a total value of around $20,000. The implements were taken to Dallas and sold.

With the help of Dallas area police, Sheriff Morren

Public Confused By Suppressed Evidence

By Viola Payne Feature Writer

The young law student was visibly worried. He was working as an intern in a practicing attorney's office before receiving his degree, and had learned a number of things not found in books.

"I am really concerned about the attitude of the public," he said. "Few people seem to have faith in the criminal justice system anymore."

He went into details about problems called to his attention:

People object to the complications of legal language, which is almost a linguistic system of its own. There appears to be a lack of communication between lawyers, law enforcement officers and the public.

There are objections to the dismissal of cases on technicalities, and the lenient attitude of some judges.

There is disgust about the part big money can play in hiring clever lawyers and arranging bail.

Citizens often scratch their heads in amazement when they learn that certain evidence "cannot be entered into a trial" because it is ruled that the evidence was taken "without proper rendering or verification of the defendants rights".

They ask what rights the victim had!

Whether he is right or wrong, the student was at least concerned. And he believed that what citizens dislike most of all are national regulations rising from the Miranda Vs. Arizona case in 1966.

The Miranda rules, sometimes referred to as the "Mischief of Miranda", consists of complicated regulations regarding the "rights" of arrested citizens during questioning by law enforcement officials.

Until 1966 the highest courts of a number of states, as well as a federal court, had ruled that there was no constitutional requirements that criminal suspects be warned of their self-incrimination privilege prior to questioning by law enforcement officers.

When the Miranda Vs. Arizona case reached the Supreme Court, this was changed by the declaration that the constitutional privilege mandated the issuance of the warning during all custodial aspects.

This was mandated in the Supreme Court by a narrow margin - five to four votes. Justice Clark, in his dissenting opinion on Miranda, stated that the case represented "one full sweep changing (of) the traditional rules of custodial interrogation which this court has for so long recognized as a justifiable and proper tool in balancing individual rights against the rights of society."

Justice Harlan also dissented on Miranda, and made the following prediction:

"There can be little doubt that the court's new code would markedly decrease the number of confessions. To warn the suspect that he may remain silent and remind him that his confession may be used in court are (Continued Inside)

The Garden Editor

Ted Brice

Late last fall "The Garden Editor" wrote an article entitled "What Is Nitron." In this article I showed how seed germinated in a matter of hours in "Nitron". Also, I showed how Nitron benefitted roses and was so recognized by many rose growers. This year The American Rose Society had their National Show and meeting in San Antonio, Texas and had Mr. Frank Finger, the president of Nitron speak before the member. The response from Mr. Finger's talk as well as my article from my readers about Nitron was very gratifying.

There are some additional update on Nitron that your Garden Editor has experienced since the first article that you should be aware of. When you are rooting cuttings if you would dip the cutting in Nitron before dipping the cutting in a rooting hormone you will be greatly surprised as to how soon the cutting will develop roots. I have tried this method of rooting Chrysanthemums this year and have found roots developed in seventy-two hours. After dipping the cutting in the rooting hormone I placed the cutting in the planting medium and three days later found that roots had developed.

As you know a Northfork Island Pine is very hard to grow in this area. The problem with the Northfork Island Pine lies with the alkalinity and the chemicals in the water. If we could water our Northfork Island pines with only rain water they would do much better and be easier to grow. I have found that by adding Nitron to the tap water that it would naturalize the alkalinity and the chemicals thus making it much easier to grow a Northfork Island Pine. In fact I have experienced about nine inches of growth on my Northfork Island Pine since adding Nitron to the watering program. Also Nitron has been found to be very beneficial to growing Iris. In talking to many Iris growers who have used Nitron they report better blooms and a much healthier plant when they use Nitron.

I also found that plants that had the benefit of Nitron survived the cold weather of last winter much better than the ones that did not have Nitron applied. The Garden Editor will keep you advised on the new uses of Nitron. If you would like more information about Nitron write "The Garden Editor" care of this newspaper.

TFU Selected As State Coordinator

The Texas Farmers Union has recently been selected to serve as the State Coordinator for the National Endowment for Soil & Water Conservation Awards Program, states Mike Moeller, TFU President. The Endowment was formed in 1982 by a private sector coalition of individuals, corporations and associations committed to the conservation of the nation's soil and water resources. National Farmers Union is both a founding member and is represented on the Board of Directors of the Endowment.

Moeller said, "The Texas Farmers Union feels honored to have the opportunity to coordinate such a worthwhile program. We hope to increase public awareness to the contributions made on the farms and ranches to conserve our precious soil and water resources. Also, we want to give special recognition to individual farmers and ranchers who have made outstanding conservation improvements in their own operations."

The basic eligibility requirements are: nominees must be individual producers, partnerships, or family farm or ranch corporations, must derive a substantial portion of their produced outside of Texas. That's all it took. The Legislature pounced on the gasohol tax exemption and drafted a bill to give the exemption only to gasohol blended with alcohol made from Texas agricultural products.

"On the surface, that looked good," Hightower explained after the session, "but there was one fatal flaw in it. A number of Texas farmers are ready to begin building sizable gasohol plants as soon as their financing goes through," Hightower said. "That financing hinges on the existence of a Texas market for the alcohol they produce. Nearly all the gasohol being sold here presently is blended from out-of-state alcohol, and every hundreds of millions of dollars a year into our economy."

That's when Hightower came up with the compromise he hopes will maintain a gasohol market in the state until more Texas fuel alcohol producers can begin production, many probably within two years.

The compromise will limit to $11 million a year the state's revenue loss due to the exemption. Gasohol blended with alcohol made from Texas feedstocks will qualify ground. And I'm talking about a potentially huge industry that would pump hundreds of millions of dollars a year into our economy."

"I couldn't care less about the financial fortunes of out-of-state fuel alcohol producers," Hightower said, "but shutting down the already-established gasohol market here would have killed any hope of getting a Texas fuel alcohol industry off the

for the full current nickel-a-gallon exemption off the top. The remainder of the $11 million will be prorated on a per-gallon basis to all gasohol blended with alcohol made from out-of-state feedstocks.

"At the current level of gasohol sales in Texas," Hightower said, "that $11 million exemption will prorate out to the out-of-state gasohol at about two cents a gallon. That's not a lot, but coupled with the nickel-a-gallon federal tax exemption,

I'm optimistic that it's enough that some gasohol will continue to be sold in Texas until our producers can go on line and move into the market.

GUARDIAN'S RESPONSIBILITIES

All of us need help from time to time. But some people such as youngsters not of legal age, or others because of impaired mental or physical function, may need help all the time. When the situation arises that extensive help and management is required the court may appoint a guardian.

The person who is appointed guardian is charged with the responsibility to account for and conserve any assets.

Assets must be ascertained and in most cases they must be appraised to determine their value. If the guardian determines that any part of the assets should be disposed of to meet expenses, or to facilitate management, court approval is needed.

If these responsibilities have fallen on your shoulders you can count on me to help if you need something appraised or sold. And remember, when it comes to buying or selling AUCTION'S BEST

1983 Fandangle Begins June 16

For 45 years the people of Albany, Texas have been reliving the settling of the western frontier with the production of the Fort Griffin Fandangle. Performances this year are scheduled for June 16-18 and 23-25.

Tickets for the two-hour outdoor extravaganza went on sale to the general public June 1, and range in price from $3.00 to $7.00. Tickets can be reserved by calling 915-762-2525 or 762-3642. Written ticket orders can be sent to Fandangle, P.O. Box 185, Albany, Texas 76430.

This year's show will be told through newspaper accounts of frontier publications about colorful events that happened in the area. The production will also salute the centennials of the building of the Shackelford County Courthouse and the founding of The First National Bank of Albany.

Visitors are urged to come early and enjoy several other activities planned during Fandangle.

Barbecue will be served on the courthouse square from 5:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. nightly. Adult meals will be $5.00 plus tax, and children, $3.00. Joe Allen's Barbecue of Abilene is the caterer.

The Old Jail Foundation, an art museum located in Shackelford County's first permanent jail building, will be displaying a collection of paintings, drawings and photographs of the 100-year-old Shackelford County Courthouse. The museum is located one block east of the courthouse, and admission is free.

The First National Bank will be host to two western art exhibits in celebration of its centennial, including 15 pieces from the Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma City. Visitors must make arrangements to enter the bank after regular closing hours.

The Albany Art Association will hold an art show at the Pioneer Store located across the street from the courthouse.

The Matthews Memorial Presbyterian Church will be open to the public, and concerts will be given on the hand made pipe organ from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. daily.

Tours of the Jacobs House and Ledbetter Picket House will be conducted, and downtown store windows will be decorated with memorabilia from the 1880 period.

The Fandangle performances begin at 8:45 p.m. at the Prairie Theater northwest of the city limits. A callopie concert precedes the show.

The Fandangle is entirely produced with local Albany talent with citizens from all walks of life singing, dancing and acting out the stories of their ancestor's lives.

Almost 250 cast and crew members, along with a herd of Longhorns, buffalo and many horses and wagons are needed to make the Fandangle a reality.

Several large sets, including the recreation of a western town, are used in the production.

Grandchildren: guarantors of immortality?

Having a grandchild live with you causes considerable thought and not just about the child.

Mandi, who will be five in August, puts my own childhood in a perspective I glimpsed but dimly until she came to stay "indefinitely."

Now, I believe I understand a little more of the grandparental tolerance that greeted my early efforts to enter the adult world.

No, I was not regarded as the acme of perfection; certainly, there were few grounds for such regard.

My grandfather's chill factor must have been a problem as I recall his mania for closed doors. Surely it was only in the winter months that he inquired so often, "Were you born in a barn?" I never found the answer to this as I was positive that he knew exactly where I had been born.

That question was the most irritation I remember from him.

What I do remember, sometimes in slide-presentation fashion, sometimes in one-shot flashbacks, but always with pleasure, are the many times he reeled off reams of poetry to me.

Sir Walter Scott was one of his favorites, and I would not have been greatly surprised to find "the stage at eve" drinking his fill from the same Colorado River where our "Moo-Cow" drank her fill.

It was years before I had a clear notion of where "danced the moon on Monan's rill," and Ivanhoe and all those knights could have been charging up and down the same river bottom I walked!

Gran'dad did not neglect to introduce me to Shakespeare, probably because I was a willing, if none too comprehending, listener. At some time he compared one of his weightier friends with Falstaff. As I viewed Falstaff and his way of life with severe disapproval, I was not that cordial to the inoffensive old gentleman who always brought me peppermints. Oh, yes, I ate his peppermints! He probably didn't notice my restraint, but what if he did? What if his feelings were hurt? All those peppermints...oh, me! Gran'dad contributed a good deal to my study of geography and anatomy. His stack of National Geographics was my resource material.

The magazines were in a staggering pile back of his big oak rocker. He rocked, smoked and dozed. Gran'dad also pronounced words I spelled out for him. Thanks to the rocking, dozing—maybe his hearing and my spelling?—some of my pronunciations to this day are more exotic than accurate.

Besides giving me a background in world geography, those magazines put me forever beyond the influence of the pornographic. When you've cut your teeth on National Geographic, what attraction can there be on the pages of an "adult" magazine?

My visits with grandparents were only visits, but until I was ten we lived close enough that those visits were frequent. When we moved to Moran, transportation became a problem, but I managed to solve it most of the time so my summers were spent with grandparents. I still miss them.

When Mandi is as old as I am now—even older—I hope she can recall her time with us as happily as I think of my own pleasure with my grandparents.

Reincarnation is a topic of fascination for me; always has been. When Mandi's actions trigger vivid memories of people she never knew, I can't help wondering about things like reincarnation, genetic memories, cloning...and immortality.

Regular Session Ends On Unfinished Note

AUSTIN—The regular session ended on an unfinished note and a filibuster last week, leaving the strong possibility of a special session for any or all of at least three issues.

A tax hike for public education and teacher salaries, survival of the state's employment commission, and passage of a statewide water plan are three issues that were left unresolved as time ran out for legislators.

Also up in the air are the political futures of a handful of key players this session. Perhaps more than a couple will dramatically surge or ebb via the dynamics of the anticipated special session.

A few of the key players. MARK WHITE, Governor of Texas. White burst out of the chute with a multi-faceted program to raise taxes for teacher salaries, late in the session but full of fervor. Despite his energetic lobbying of individual House members, the proposed tax hike never got off the ground in the House Ways & Means Committee. The Governor, who had campaigned on a much-videotaped theme of "no new taxes," audaciously abandoned that theme in favor of a promised pay raise for teachers. White was forced off his no-tax stance when Comptroller Bob Bullock lowered his estimate of available revenues four times during the session, trimming off almost $3 billion from the amount the Legislature could legally budget.

White's alternate threats to veto the budget and call a special session to raise taxes put him out on a limb that could easily be sawed off if he reneges, or even pushes ahead and fails.

Success with the tax issue would dramatically underscore his political strength, but even then, White will have to answer for his change of stance on the next campaign trail.

BOB BULLOCK, Comptroller of Texas. The feisty, crafty state tax collector has already announced he will challenge White for the '86 gubernatorial nomination. During the session, he goaded White repeatedly for lack of leadership, even while he revised the estimated revenues right out from under him.

Bullock, who was once described by a reporter as "the junkyard dog of Texas politics," has a strong following among his party's supporters and several statewide officials. If White falters, Bullock is the strongest to succeed him. But if White succeeds in raising the status of public education, Bullock may find his own office subject to a strong '86 challenge.

BILL HOBBY, Lieutenant Governor. The low-key, non-charismatic Hobby already has drawn wide praise for conducting one of the best legislative sessions in Texas history. He is the clear-cut winner of the session.

GIB LEWIS, Speaker of the House. Everybody's friend Lewis got into hot water early when the press disclosed he left several business ventures off his financial disclosure statement. Last week, Lewis pleaded no contest and paid an $800 fine on his own initiative.

House members overlooked Lewis' stumble in order to get on with business, but his image was hurt. What saved Lewis more than anything was his staunch opposition to tax increases proposed by White or anyone else. If taxes are raised in special session, Lewis could be a one-term speaker after his fine becomes an election issue.

STAN SCHLUETER, House Ways & Means chairman. More than any other legislator, Schlueter, D-Killeen, held off attempts to raise taxes by refusing to let any tax bill pass through his committee. His personal polling of the House membership convinced him the tax was unwanted in a regular session.

But Schlueter will run for Speaker when Lewis doesn't, and he has agreed with White to formulate the best tax proposal possible, even though he won't vote for it himself.

His task is to determine if and when the House members truly want to vote for a tax bill, and his bulb could brighten or dim with the timing when—and if—the bill comes out of his committee.

Texas Independents To Hold Convention

The 5,400 member Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association will hold its 37th annual convention at the Fairmont Hotel in Dallas June 5-7.

Senator John Tower, Chairman of the U.S. Armed Services Committee, will be the keynote speaker at the 4 p.m. open session on Sunday, June 5.

Other speakers will include Congressman J.J. (Jake) Pickle, Congressman

Jack Field, DOE-EIA Administrator Erich Evered, and former Congressman and Ambassador Bob Krueger.

There will be a number of policy meetings during the sessions, with reports from the National Energy Policy Committee and the State Policy Issues Committee. Statements on current issues affecting the oil producer, royalty owner and the consumer are expected to come from these meetings.

Water Injection Bill Passes In State Legislation

Several bills out of the state legislature dealt with water pollution and the handling of water injection wells in oil recovery projects. One of these, H.B. 2112, passed recently.

The original of this bill stated basically that before injecting fresh water into a recovery well an applicant must provide written information to the Texas Railroad Commission as to whether other substances were technically or economically feasible for use in the wells.

The bill was amended to state that this regulation will not apply to permits which are granted before Sept. 1, 1983. The amendment also states that if fresh water is currently being injected, and another substance temporarily used, the permit cannot be canceled.

A spokesman for Sun Oil stated that this Corporation opposed the bills, feeling that all "made it too difficult for an operator, by telling him what to use on his property."

"H.B. Bill 2112 is not as objectional as some, however. We can live with the amended version."

Sun Oil is involved in a large waterflood recovery project at the old Ranger Boom Field. This project is reported to be "on schedule". Most of the recovery well applications are assumed to have already cleared the Railroad Commission.

Oil Facts

Texas oil and gas operators paid $2.3 million in regulatory taxes and $11.7 million in well servicing taxes in 1981.

The petroleum industry also paid 21% of the state's franchise tax collections.

Texas' oil and gas dollars paid 67.9% of state costs of aid to dependent children, medical assistance, and teachers' retirement matching.

A 3,500-ft. Eastland County wildcat for either oil or gas is planned by Snow Oil Co. of Fort Worth 11 miles north of

Many Good And Sincere Individuals
...give little thought to the question of values when we should measure them in terms of personal worth in everything he buys, enjoys or does. For example, some folks will buy real estate without any kind of evidence of title disregarding the fact that the principal value of the purchase is in the title, not in the land itself or the improvements thereon. This kind of thinking costs property owners thousands of dollars annually which could be saved and a part of the savings wisely spent for an abstract of title or title insurance.

Open House Is Planned At Eastland Church Saturday

The public is invited to attend an open house at Inspiration Church of God in Eastland Sunday, June 5, between the hours of 2 and 4:30 p.m. Pastor Larry Smith and the congregation have extended a cordial invitation to residents of this area to come visit and inspect the new facilities provided at the Church-Camp site, west of Eastland on Highway 80. Refreshments will be serv-

The new 6,200 square foot building affords worship area seating 184, with overflow capacity for up to 300, as well as offices, Fellowship Hall, classrooms and nursery facilities. The first services were held in the new building on Easter Sunday, and formal dedication services were held Saturday, May 21, in connection with the Church and West Texas District Annual State Camp Meeting.

The camp's tabernacle building will be utilized for youth and recreation facilities as well as providing a worship center for other church groups who use the center. A total of seven weeks of camping are scheduled for the summer; four of which are by the Church of God and three of other church groups. Family reunions are also scheduled throughout the summer.

Assisting with the Open House and the ministry of the church are Randy Montgomery of Middleton, Ohio, and Bob McGuire of Odessa, who are ministerial students at Gulf Coast Bible College in Houston, and on assignment here as associate ministers. The new facilities are the result of a joint effort between the local church and the district organization.

The Church of God's Annual Softball Tournament will be held at the Camp the first week in August, according to Darrell Basham of Eastland, secretary of the local church, and official with the district, and instrumental in the construction of the local facility.

Mexico Slides Shown To Lions

Picture slides taken during the vacation trip to Cancun, Mexico, were shown by Dr. E.E. Addy as the program feature at the weekly luncheon of the Cisco Lions Club last Wednesday noon at the Colony Restaurant. Of particular interest were slides made at Chichen Itza, an ancient Mayan city, located some 60 miles of Cancun. Shown were ruins of a civilization dating to the 500-600 centuries with preserved architectural styles that has been much studied by archaeologists.

The slides included scenes of modern hotels, a convention center, white sandy beaches and islands where scuba divers make frequent underwater excursions.

Walter Knowlden, program chairman, introduced Dr. Addy.

It was announced that Friday, June 17, has been tentatively set as the date for the installation of officers for 1983-84. The event will be a covered dish supper at the Cisco Country Club. Details will be announced next week, Secretary Jasper Cook said.

Ciscoan's Niece

Mrs. Roy Williams of Seagraves, who was one of the five persons who died in an airplane accident in Haskell County last Monday afternoon, was a niece of Mr. and Mrs. H.H. (Shorty) Callaway and Mr. and Mrs. Porter Nunley of Cisco.

The crash, which occurred around 5 p.m. in a severe rain and thunderstorm, took the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Moore and baby, all of Seagraves. They were in a Piper Cherokee and had departed from Seagraves some two hours before the crash for a destination not known.

Funeral services for the five victims were held at 3 p.m. Wednesday at the high school auditorium in Seagraves. Burial followed in the Seagraves community.

Mrs. Williams' survivors include her father, H.P. Callaway, of San Angelo. Her husband was a heavy equipment operator in Gaines County.

The Federal Aviation Administration, investigating the crash, express the preliminary belief Wednesday that it was caused by the rain and storm.

About Photo Workshops

Q: I'm what you might term an avid amateur photographer who has collected quite a bit of photographic equipment over the last 10 years. In fact, in tallying the value of my cameras and darkroom equipment, along with all the accessories I own, I was surprised to find the total to be in excess of several thousand dollars. My question is this: what happens if, for some reason, my equipment is damaged beyond use or, worse still, stolen? I have a homeowner's policy which I always believed would cover such a loss, since it covers the other items I own and keep at home. But a co-worker recently mentioned having to get a special photo equipment policy for his own gear, which is considerably less than what I own. Do you know if he's right, or can I get by with just my homeowner's coverage? Obviously, I'm not thrilled at the prospect of paying what would probably amount to a couple hundred dollars a year to insure my cameras on a separate policy. Any help you can give me would be appreciated.

A: Homeowner's coverage varies from company to company... and often from one policy to the next. To be safe, you should check with your insurance agent regarding coverage on your photo equipment. Chances are, he'll recommend a special rider or amendment to your current policy. That's the bad news. The good is that such a special endorsement will probably cost substantially less than you anticipate. You may be able to get by with as little as an extra $20 a year in the way of premiums... a small price to pay for the peace of mind it will bring you.

Q: I'm an average photographer who is interested in learning as much as possible about photography. I should probably enroll in a course at the University here, but with working full time and all, I'm not sure I could do it. Do you know of any photographic sessions, classes, or workshops that cater to intermediate photographers in a concentrated period of time, like a weekend? If so, I'd really appreciate any information you can give me.

— G. L., Menomonee Falls, WI

A: No problem. There are several scheduled for the spring of 1983. Watch next week's column for detailed information on them.

SOVIETS AIM TO CHOKE OFF U.S. STRATEGIC MINERAL SUPPLY.

The Soviets, operating through a "puppet" terrorist group known as SWAPO (South West Africa People's Organization), are trying to seize power in South West Africa/Namibia.

Namibia (South West Africa) is a country generally unknown to Americans despite the important U.S. national defense interests involved there.

Namibia is the gateway to ultimate Soviet control of the strategic minerals in southern Africa. Chrome, vanadium, the platinum group and about thirty other minerals are vital to the U.S. industrial base. Without access to these strategic minerals, U.S. electronic, computer, aircraft and defense industries will be hopelessly crippled.

Operating from military bases in the southern part of Soviet-controlled Angola with the help of 10,000 Cuban soldiers, SWAPO, armed with Soviet military equipment, is conducting a terrorist campaign across the border against the black civilian population of northern Namibia.

Not only does Namibia have the largest uranium mine in the world, and vast resources of copper, diamonds, lead, tungsten, tin, zinc and oil, but its western coast deep-water port can harbor Soviet nuclear submarines in a position to bisect the oil and mineral lifeline from the Persian Gulf to the U.S. and NATO countries of western Europe. More than 28,000 ships a year follow this sea route around the Cape of Good Hope.

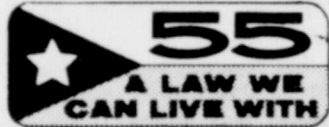

If the Soviets and their SWAPO proxies can break Namibia behind the "iron curtain", the U.S. loses another ally in the mineral "resource war" and Russia makes a huge gain in its campaign to deprive the U.S. of the strategic minerals in southern Africa.

The Soviet-dominated United Nations General Assembly provides SWAPO with about $100 million a year. And the U.S. supplies $ millions to other Soviet-sponsored terrorist groups such as the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO), the Cuban guerrillas in Angola, the Carribbean, and elsewhere in Africa.

The U.S. Congress annually appropriates over $1 billion of hard-earned U.S. taxpayers dollars to the United Nations — 1/4 of the total U.N. budget.

Few Americans are aware that to the extent they allow the United Nations to use American taxpayer contributions to finance pro-Soviet terrorists, they are helping finance their own destruction. Is it not time for U.S. taxpayers to ask their representatives in Congress to stop this flow of U.S. tax dollars through the U.N. to SWAPO, PLO, Cuban guerrillas and other Soviet-backed terrorist groups?

Write U.S. Congressman Henry Hyde, House Foreign Affairs Committee, 2104 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515, and enclose this message. p-48

Women Are Returning To Home Sewing

COLLEGE STATION-- "Both the economy and changing lifestyles are having a great impact on home sewing," says Dr. Ann Vanderpoorten, a clothing specialist.

Home sewing boomed when polyester doubleknits first came on the market in the late 1960's because they were so easy to use, explains Vanderpoorten, a home economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Since fashions at the time tended toward loose fitting, untailored garments with little detail, home sewers could easily produce quality clothing.

Once tailored clothes became fashionable again and people tired of doubleknits, many women realized they didn't have the skills to sew good-looking garments and gave up the activity, says Vanderpoorten. Until recently, only about 20 percent of American women used their sewing machines twice a month or more.

According to Vanderpoorten, economics has created a new interest in home sewing. "When women can make a quality dress for 30 percent of what it would cost in the stores, they are bound to be interested," she suggests.

Even employed women are returning to home sewing, says Vanderpoorten. They want clothes to wear on the job with enough style to last several years rather than just one season. If they can't find the styles they like, or preferred styles in their size, they are now more likely to sew the clothes themselves.

Also, some employed women are turning to sewing for "therapy" or as a hobby, rather than out of economic necessity.

The pattern companies and fabric makers are now trying to make their products more compatible with the employed woman's lifestyle. "They are aiming for the customer who wants to make something simple and fast," she says.

Enormous catalogs of patterns, each with complex instructions and five different views of the finished garment are seen less frequently, since they tend to frighten off potential home sewers.

Instead, many manufacturers are offering a simplified line with a few styles attractively displayed in fabric stores. Each pattern has fewer pattern pieces, one or two views, simpler instructions that allow for a graded fit, and a lower price than regular patterns.

Home sewing has also gotten a boost from the recent interest in crafts. Research shows that 30 percent of sales in fabric stores now go toward crafts and home decorating materials, says the specialist.

"It's difficult to predict whether the interest in home sewing will continue to grow. But with the new fabric blends, streamlined patterns and desire for high quality at a lower price, we may see a sewing 'boom' again."

People 'n Things

DROPPING IN AT the ranch house of Charles and Carlene Spicer, ten miles south of Cisco, last Saturday afternoon we met up with some interesting visitors — Joachim and Sonja Mueller and little son Amadeus of Germany.

The Muellers were touring Texas during their vacation and they met the Spicers through Ray Ferguson of Abilene, a CPA in the Abilene firm of which Mr. Spicer is a senior partner. Mr. Ferguson had met Mr. Mueller in Germany. Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson were at the ranch, too.

The Muellers rented a car for a bit of touring in Texas. About all they knew about Texas was what they'd learned from watching the TV program "Dallas." At the Spicer place, they were equipped with boots and big hats and saddle horses. It was their first time in a saddle and they had a touch of Texas in their walk and talk by the time they left to return to Abilene.

Another visitor at the Spicer ranch was Dr. John Campbell, H-SU professor, who was pretty incognito in blue jeans. His son Russell was along to visit his friend, Charlie Spicer, who is 13. The Spicers have five saddle horses and enjoy visits to their Cisco place often. They're getting set for a trip to Hawaii in the near future.

Mrs. Spicer's dad, Mr. Carlton Holder, has been in and out of the hospital a couple of times lately with health problems. He's on crutches due to a bad hip and fell the other day, breaking a collar bone and this prevents him from getting around on his crutches. So, he's staying pretty close to the Holder house while his broken bone mends.

MR. A.C. Holdridge of 1207 W. 13th has joined the ranks of the retired and, he tells us, they're looking forward to some travel trailer vacationing along with some fishing and a lot of resting . . . When they get ready to pave North Front Street, they'll remove the old brick pavement. The brick will be cleaned and stacked, city officials report. They use them in building man holes and the like . . . The Lee Wallaces of Fayetteville, N.C., have notified their parents, Mrs. Forbes Wallace and the Marshall Joneses, that they'll be in Cisco for the July 4th reunion of Lee's CHS Class.

THE CISCO Partnership Golf Tournament was cancelled last weekend due to too few teams entering, officials reported . . . They're putting new steel siding on their house out at the Clifford Smiths, 612 East 22nd, and a new back porch is in the plans. What is more, Clifford is driving a new pickup truck . . . The Ronnie Ledbetters are adding to their house at 301 West 4th. And the rain didn't exactly come at the right time . . . And the Heyser Angus Ranch folks could have had their oat hay in the barn instead of in the field if the rain had waited one more day.

OVER AT CITY Hall, Mr. Billy Rains, the new police chief, is called Brains — since his name is B. Rains . . .

Mrs. Standlee McCracken, who suffered a broken bone in a foot recently, is getting around pretty well these days. They've put a special boot on her injured foot. And Standlee says he's only about 50 per cent in charge of things at their house these days . . . The board of directors of the E.L. Graham Memorial Hospital Auxiliary held a meeting Tuesday afternoon at the hospital.

COACH RANDY Angel and his missus Jan are leaving Cisco High School, our scouts report. He's accepting a job as athletic coach at Santo Public Schools, and Mrs. Angel will teach English there. Mr. RA has been an assistant football coach at CHS for the past year, and Mrs. RA has been the home making teacher.

In preparation for her new work, Mrs. RA is taking some English courses at Tarleton State this summer. They're fine teachers and their leaving will be Cisco's loss and Santo's gain.

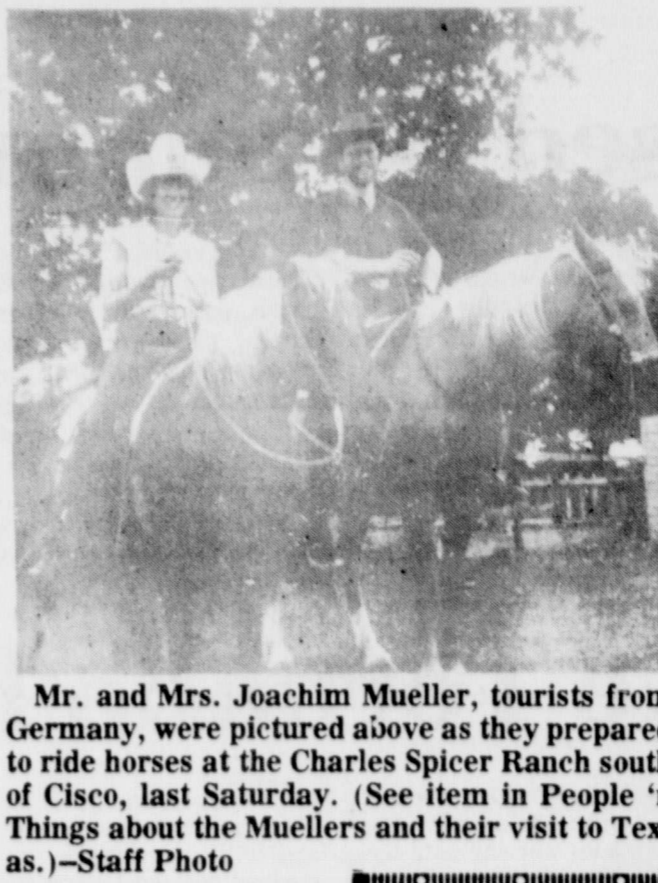

TWO MEMBERS of the Cisco Police Department are new members of the Cisco Masonic Lodge. Officer Ron Hardman took the master's degree in ceremonies a couple of weeks ago, and Officer Lynn Johnson took the entered apprentice (the first) degree last Thursday night . . . There's due to be an announcement any day now regarding the reopening of Jammie's Motel and Restaurant out on I-20 . . . Our scouts report that Mr. Bill Huffman of Houston, an official of Exxon, will retire Sept. 1. He grew up here and is the son of Mrs. H.T. Huffman and the late Mr. Huffman.

AN INSPECTOR from the Texas Department of Water Resources was in Cisco Tuesday to inspect the Lake Cisco Dam. City Manager Mike Moore said he requested the inspection as a routine measure . . . The city's pumps on Battle Creek had not started running Monday afternoon as the rainfall north of town wasn't sufficient for the creek to run.
