Baptist Churches Plan Joint Event

The congregations of the First Baptist, Calvary Baptist and East Cisco Baptist Churches will hold a joint worship service at 7 p.m. Sunday at the East Cisco Baptist Church.

The Rev. Armo Bentley,

pastor at East Cisco, will be the speaker for the service. An ice cream social will follow the service, and those attending were asked to bring a freezer of ice cream or a cake. The public was invited to attend.

Truck Rig Turns Over On I-20

A large truck and trailer was damaged extensively and the driver suffered cuts and bruises when the big rig overturned in the median of I-20 in the Cisco city limits last Friday night. The driver, Preston C. Madill, 35, of West Caldwell, N.J., was trapped in the cab of the truck for nearly an hour.

DPS Trooper Steve Foster, who directed an investigation of the incident, said the driver told him that a car pulled off the shoulder on the highway in front of his east-bound truck and he swerved to miss the car, overturning the truck in the median.

The truck had a load of 51,000 pounds of shelled corn, and it was spilled over the area. The corn was in 50-pound bags and some 10,000 pounds was spilled from the bags.

Trooper Foster, Patterson Ambulance Technicians Mitch Nicholous and Phillip Crow of Cisco, Cisco Policeman and others worked for about an hour before they were able to pull Madill out of his overturned truck cab through a window. Madill was taken to E.L.

Graham Memorial Hospital in Cisco and was released at 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

Robert Mangum of Mangum Service Center, Eastland, brought a wrecker rig and a crew of six men to the scene. They picked up virtually all of the spilled corn and placed it in two trailers. The mishap occurred at 12:30 a.m. in the area near the Colony Restaurant and the Pitt Grill, and it was not until around 7:15 a.m. Saturday that the overturned truck was righted.

Trooper Foster closed I-20 to traffic briefly while the Mangum crew righted the truck and trailer and attached tow equipment. The truck rig and the two trailers of corn were taken to Mangum's center in Eastland. Some seven hours were needed to clear the wreckage from the highway.

Nationwide Magazine and Book Distributors, Inc., of Irving, Texas, are the owners of the truck rig. They had the corn cargo picked up Saturday afternoon, and the damaged truck tractor and trailer were picked up Monday afternoon.

County Commissioners Approve Road Repair

Public and private roads drew the most interest at the Eastland County Commissioners meeting Monday in the Commissioners' Courtroom.

A request from Inez Harrell Bourdeau was made to the commissioners for the permission to post signs along the private road to her home between Ranger and Morton Valley.

Bourdeau stated that oil company trucks and equipment often block the access to her home located in Precinct 2.

Commissioners approved the request but suggested

Armo Bentley Moving To Rising Star

The Rev. Armo Bentley, pastor of the East Cisco Baptist Church for some five years, has accepted a call to become pastor of the First Baptist Church in Rising Star and will assume his duties there July 1, according to an announcement this week.

Rev. Bentley, currently on vacation, will make his final pulpit appearance here Sunday, June 26. His resignation from the local church was turned in early this month.

A native of Callahan County, Rev. Bentley finished high school at Putnam. He spent several years working in the oil industry at Odessa before entering the ministry. He held pastorates at May, Winters, and Bell Plain in Brownwood before coming to Cisco.

Rev. and Mrs. Bentley are the parents of four children.

Al Anderson, chairman of the board of deacons at East Cisco Baptist Church, reported that a pulpit committee has been named to recommend a replacement pastor. The committee includes Mr. Anderson, Bud Clack, Marshall Ivey, Gary Stennett and Drew Dan Jackson with Dean Toler and Bill Hill as alternates.

Two Grid Coaches Hired To Complete Staff For Loboes

The football coaching staff for the high school was completed Monday night as the board of trustees of the Cisco Independent School District approved the employment of two more coaches, Supt. James Couch announced Tuesday.

The board approved hiring Doyle Walker of Hale Center and Galen Kaemingk of Grants, New Mexico, and they will join Head Coach Jim Parchaman and Coaches Russell McCleskey and Richard Land to form the five-man staff. McCleskey and Land had been hired previously.

The board also hired two second grade teachers and accepted the resignation of Mrs. Beverly Moore who had been a second grade teacher here for several years. Hired were Mrs. Olin (Betty) Odum, who had previously been a member of the staff, and Mrs. Doyle Walker of Hale Center. The Moores have moved to Comanche.

The board also approved the applications of eight young men for Maner Scholarships at the University of Texas in Austin. They are: Oscar Lopez, Kenneth Hawari, Andy Hawari, Kelly Simmons, Steve Ward, and Glen Deitiker, all of Cisco, and Kenneth Watson of Eastland who is a Cisco Junior College graduate.

The board approved plans for use of City Park as the site for the proposed Gene Abbott Memorial. Plans call for exercise stations to be built along a jogging and hiking trail in the park, which is owned by the school system and leased to the city.

Construction of new rest rooms at Chesley Field was approved and bids on the project will be advertised soon, Mr. Couch said. Plans call for rest rooms to be built along the east end of the football field to serve both stands.

The board voted to underwrite half of the cost of building a concrete play area at Intermediate School for the use of students during bad weather. The P-TO has underwritten the other half of the cost. Bids on the project will be sought soon.

Purchase of a washer and dryer for the athletic department was approved.

Lions To Install Officers

Officers to serve during the year beginning July 1 will be installed by the Cisco Lions Club in ceremonies at a family night supper at 7 p.m. Friday, June 17, at the Cisco Country Club, according to an announcement here.

President Ivan Webb, who will preside at the affair, said the club will provide meat, bread and drinks and that member families were being asked to bring a covered dish - vegetables, salads or desserts. The program is expected to include entertainment.

Officers to be installed for 1983-84 were elected last month as follows: C.B. (Runt) Dill, president; Bobby Smith, Robert Dudley and Bob Conner, vice presidents; Jasper Cook, secretary and treasurer; Marcus Ray, lion tamer; Phil Schaefer, taitwister; Jerry McBeth, assistant taitwister; Wyley Peebles, song leader; Bob Conner, assistant song leader; Ken Hammes, Bruce Sellstrom, Walter Knowliden and Earl Ray, directors.

All club members were urged to attend with their families.

Chamness

Family Holds

June Reunion

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Chamness was a very lively place over the past weekend as all ten of their children and all 17 grandchildren were at home to attend and participate in the wedding ceremony of their daughter, Becky and Ernest Thompson on Saturday, June 11, at 2:00 p.m. at I-20 Church of Christ.

Those from out of town attending were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cary (daughter Debbie), Dana, Jeff and Timmy of Arlington, Mr. and Mrs. Robin Ray Chamness, Blake, Sean and Larisa of Austin, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Williams (daughter Gayle), Justin and Johanna of Trent, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Rockwell (daughter Janis), Jon and Casey of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Chamness, Curtis, Alissa, Archie II and Stephanie of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. David Glenn (daughter Mary), Zachary, Joshua and Andy of Midland, Randall Chamness of Abilene, as well as Kelly and Frances Chamness of the home.

Sunday morning the family attended usual services at Church of Christ at I-20 and Avenue N where son-in-law Wayne Cary had been invited to preach. All enjoyed the beautiful weekend of food, fun and fellowship together. With all the various vacations and school children involved, it's difficult for all the family to get together at once. This was a special occasion for all.

Cottonwood

School Reunion

Former students, parents, teachers, and friends of the former Cottonwood common district # 18 School will be having a reunion on Saturday, June 18 at the Corral Room of the Laguna Hotel in Cisco. Those attending will begin gathering after 10:00 a.m., and will bring a covered dish for the noon meal.

Many are expected to attend from distant places as well as those from this area. An informal program is scheduled following the fellowship meal.

Wayne Pryor Fund Started

Approximately 200 youngsters were on hand for the five-day clinic.

The camp was conducted by Southwest Camps of Cisco, with Mr. Eris Ritchie as camp director. The baton twirlers were taught by a four member staff of twirling instructors and experts from Florida, Texas, Kentucky, and Tennessee, headed up by Ken Sasser of the International Twirling Teachers Institute in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. The drum majors were given their instructional program by James Edwards of Lubbock, Texas, a band director and former drum major at Texas Tech University. The flag corps and rifle students were taught by a staff directed by Sue Brumfield of Longview.

In addition to the Front Line Camp, Hardin-Simmons University and Southwest Camps also are hosting two sessions of cheerleader camps - June 13-17 and June 20-24, and one session of drill team camp - June 27 - July 1.

Energy Project Continues

Refinements Planned At Tarleton

Dr. Edward L. Fulton, Professor of Agriculture at Tarleton State University, Stephenville, is optimistic about his alternate energy project...and an Eastland Countian helped in the process.

Dr. Fulton is continuing research on an anaerobic digestion process in which bacteria eat volatile solids and produce methane gas. This experiment is being conducted on the Tarleton State University farm, and funded by the Energy and Mineral Resources of Texas A&M. Fulton's work is the only such project currently funded by this University.

During a recent visit by the Press, Dr. Fulton conducted a tour of the laboratory, another room with experimental two-phase digestors which resemble large white tanks, and an earlier single-phase underground digester.

"The system works," said youthful appearing Fulton, glancing toward his graduate research assistant, Marvin Payne of Cisco. "It's not a daydream. It hangs on pure economics."

Payne nodded, and reached for a printout sheet from the computer in the lab. This machine is programmed to keep records of the processes in the acid phase (342 gal. tank) and gas-phase (720 gal.) digestors used in the current experiment.

Dr. Fulton remarked that he felt quite at home on the Tarleton University farm, since he had been associated with the work there for several years.

Fulton became interested in alternate, renewable energy sources about ten years ago, and was one of the first to work on projects of this kind. His actual research began around 1977.

It was found that various waste products, such as plant stalks, cattle manure or city sewage would produce practical quantities of methane - which is natural gas. Dr. Fulton and these first projects have been written about in the Wall Street Journal, The Progressive Farmer, and other publications.

The underground farm model digester was set up during this early experimentation. This working model is ten ft. deep, 14 ft. wide, and 30 ft. long.

On June 1, 1982 Dr. Fulton began a special stage of his experimentation, on which he calls the "two phase". At this time Marvin Payne was hired to work with him on the project.

Fulton had a theory that he could increase the production of methane gas by using two separate digester tanks rather than one. This would deal with different types of bacteria that operate phases of the digestion process. A laboratory was set up in an environmentally controlled chamber and equipped for chemical testing and recording.

Since it had been determined that chicken manure would produce the highest concentrate of methane, this became the product used in the current research.

In Jan. 1983 work on the experiment was speeded by the addition of a computer in the laboratory. It was programmed by Payne to record the concentration and distribution of volatile fatty acids produced by acid forming bacteria.

The process which Fulton and his assistant have observed and recorded could increase the methane gas production from waste materials as much as 300% above what has been done. The gas, which burns with a clear blue flame from the digester jets, has many uses.

Dr. Fulton has received inquiries from the U.S. and some foreign countries about the methane project. Currently he is assisting a group at Lubbock which has a 300,000 laying hen operation. The company plans to set up the single-phase underground equipment, which will supply energy needs for the large farm.

Payne will not be involved in this work; he plans to be a Chemistry Instructor at Cisco Junior College this fall.

Other large-scale uses for the methane, says Fulton, could be the generation of electricity by power companies.

"And for family-type use," Fulton says, "A dairy operation or 20 to 40 thousand chickens would supply enough material for a single-phase 4,000 cubic ft. digester producing 7 to 8 thousand cubic ft. of gas a day."

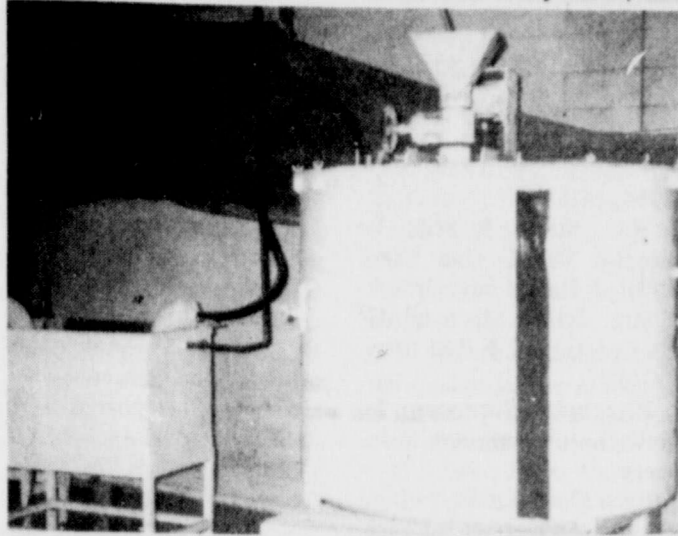

Loading and checking the digester would take about 45 minutes each day. The waste from this operation can be used or sold as fertilizer. And it is almost odor-free.

"We have made a lot of progress. But this thing is not a utopia. After all - you can't burn methane in cars or tractors."

"But it can provide a usable and renewable form of energy."

"One of our major problems," Dr. Fulton adds, "is informing the public what is available."

Dr. Fulton's plans for the future include further refinements and study of data on his two-phase enhancement project.

Crime Expanded FBI Jurisdiction To Assist Police

KANSAS CITY--Fifty years ago this month, a tragic crime took place in Kansas City, Missouri, which jolted public perception of criminal activity and gave impetus to expanding jurisdiction of the modern FBI. On June 17, 1933, four law enforcement officers were murdered and two were wounded while escorting an escaped convict back to prison. The crime shocked a nation of people who had not felt threatened by crime, and demonstrated that police powers were too weak to be effective against gangsters.

During the previous decade, including much of the Roaring Twenties, many Americans did not regard crime and gansterism as particularly serious matters. Some even admired the early 1930's gangsters for their bold exploits. These attitudes eventually changed, and one of the reasons was the following incident:

On June 16, 1933, Bureau Agents Frank Smith and Joe Lackey, with Otto Reed, an Oklahoma police chief, arrested an escaped convict named Frank Nash in Hot Springs, Arkansas. They drove Nash to Fort Smith, Arkansas, where they boarded a train for Kansas City, Missouri.

Nash's criminal associates quickly plotted to release him. Word was sent to Kansas City that the train carrying Nash would arrive at the Union Railway Station at 7:15 a.m. on June 17. A Kansas City hoodlum named Vernon Miller was designated to free Nash. Miller obtained the services of two of the era's most dangerous gunmen, Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd and Adam Richetti.

When the train arrived at the scheduled time, Nash and his escort were met by four more persons—Bureau Agents Reed Vetterli and Ray Caffrey and two Kansas City detectives, W.J. Grooms and Frank Heranson. As the party was settling into a Bureau car, Miller, Floyd, and Richetti rushed forward, carrying machine guns. One shouted: "Up! Up!" None of the officers had time to reach their weapons before an order came to "Let 'em have it."

The ensuing gunfire was devastating. Grooms, Heranson, Reed, and Agent Caffrey were killed instantly. Two other Bureau men were wounded; only one (Smith) was unharmed. Nash also died in the fusillade. The crime became known as the "Kansas City Massacre."

The massacre triggered an uproar in political, public, and law enforcement circles. As the search for the killers got underway, there were widespread demands for improvements in law enforcement powers. Congress responded, passing several major crime bills, which became law when President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed them in May and June of 1934.

The new laws increased significantly the Bureau's jurisdiction and powers. It became a Federal offense to assault or kill a Federal officer; to flee across a state line to avoid prosecution or giving testimony; to transport stolen property valued over $5,000 across a state line; to use interstate communications in the commission of a crime; and to rob a federally insured bank. The kidnap law was modified to create greater Federal jurisdiction in abductions. Bureau Agents could now carry weapons at all times, not just with special authority. Also, they were given the power of arrest. Previously, Bureau

Agents had to rely on U.S. Marshals or local police to make arrests.

This young Federal investigative agency, which would be renamed the Federal Bureau of Investigation on July 1, 1935, then had the jurisdiction and authority to combat gangster crime.

Computerized Ranching Session Set

SAN ANGELO--Computerized ranching may be closer to reality than we want to believe. Like it or not, industry leaders speculate it's just over the horizon.

To assist ranchers with their computer needs, a computer workshop has been scheduled as a concurrent session during the International Ranchers Roundup (IRR) August 1-5 at the Convention Center in this West Texas ranching center.

The computer workshop will feature a talk on What Computers Can and Cannot Do for You, and panel discussions featuring ranchers and computer experts covering What Ranchers Need from a Computer, Using Computers for Herd Records, Using Computers for Accounting/Financial Records, and Using Computers for Making Ranch Decisions.

Computer specialists who will work very closely with demonstrations after each talk are Lawrence Lipke, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Bryan; Sandi Hubbard, U/NO Ari Systems, Rockport; Alan Baquet, Choice Computer Corp., Dallas; Ray Sammons, Ag Computer Service, Amarillo; and Richard Young, Hi Plains Systems, Amarillo.

Three ranchers--Jody Bellah, Lueders; George Gannon, Waelder; and Ralph Mayer, Del Rio--will relate their experiences with computerized ranching.

IRR participants can also attend talks in any of the six other concurrent sessions including beef cattle, sheep and goats, grazing management, wildlife, ranch family business management, and marketing.

Four ranch tours are also available to IRR participants who want to see innovative management in beef cattle, sheep and goats, grazing systems and wildlife operations. The wildlife tour is a two-day visit of ranches managed specifically for wildlife in the scenic Texas Hill Country with an overnight stop in Kerrville. All tours conclude the conference on August 5. Ranchers, however, must register for the ranch tours before July 1 in order to make them.

Although pre-registration for the conference is encouraged, late registrations at the door will be accepted. Only the first 750 registered participants will be admitted.

SOVIET-BACKED SWAPO TERRORISTS GRAB STRATEGIC MINERALS
The Soviets, operating through a "puppet" terrorist group known as SWAPO (South West Africa People's Organization), are trying to seize power in South West Africa/Namibia.

Namibia (South West Africa) is a country generally unknown to Americans despite the important U.S. national defense interests involved there.

Namibia is the gateway to ultimate Soviet control of the strategic minerals in southern Africa. Chrome, vanadium, the platinum group and about thirty other minerals are vital to the U.S. industrial base. Without access to these strategic minerals, U.S. electronic, computer, aircraft and defense industries will be hopelessly crippled.

Operating from military bases in the southern part of Soviet-controlled Angola with the help of 30,000 Cuban soldiers, SWAPO, armed with Soviet military equipment, is conducting a terrorist campaign across the border against the black civilian population of northern Namibia.

Not only does Namibia have the largest uranium mine in the world, and vast resources of copper, diamonds, lead, tungsten, tin, zinc and oil, but its western coast deep-water port can harbor Soviet nuclear submarines in a position to bisect the oil and mineral lifeline from the Persian Gulf to the U.S. and NATO countries of western Europe. More than 28,000 ships a year follow this sea route around the Cape of Good Hope.

If the Soviets and their SWAPO proxies can drag Namibia behind the "iron curtain", the U.S. loses another ally in the mineral "resource war" and Russia makes a huge gain in its campaign to deprive the U.S. of the strategic minerals in southern Africa.

The Soviet-dominated United Nations General Assembly provides SWAPO with about $100 million a year. And the U.N. supplies $1 million to other Soviet-sponsored terrorist groups such as the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO), the Cuban guerrillas in Angola, the Caribbean, and elsewhere in Africa.

The U.S. Congress annually appropriates over $1 billion of hard-earned U.S. taxpayers dollars to the United Nations - 1/4 of the total U.N. budget.

Few Americans are aware that to the extent they allow the United Nations to use American taxpayer contributions to finance pro-Soviet terrorists, they are helping finance their own destruction. Is it not time for U.S. taxpayers to ask their representatives in Congress to stop this flow of U.S. tax dollars through the U.N. to SWAPO, PLO, Cuban guerrillas and other Soviet-backed terrorist groups?

Write U.S. Congressman Henry Hyde, House Foreign Affairs Committee, 2104 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515, and enclose this message. p-49

Rebecca Chamness And Ernest Thompson Are Married June 11

Rebecca Jo Chamness and Ernest D. Thompson exchanged marriage vows at 2:00 p.m. Saturday at I-20 Church of Christ, Cisco.

Wayne Cary, brother-in-law of the bride, officiated for the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Chamness of Cisco and Mrs. Maggie Thompson of Lake Cisco are parents of the couple.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of organza and chantilly lace with cascading ruffle lace skirt and attached chapel train. The bodice and cuffs were adorned with hand sewn seed 'pearls' and iridescent beads over lace. It featured a victorian neckline with long sleeves of illusion trimmed with lace cuffs. The bride wore a hat of beaded embroidery with attached illusion blusher, forming a large bow in the back and trailing for a veil. She carried a circular bridal bouquet of orchids and sonia colored roses atop a small pearl backed Bible used by sisters and brothers of the bride in previous family weddings.

Music for the ceremony was provided by an acapella quartet consisting of Mary McGrew, Carla Hitt, Greg Swindle and Larry Adams, all of Cisco.

Church decorations included arched candelabra entwined with foliage flanked by seven branched candelabra. Peach colored bows marked the pews. Two floral arrangements also decorated the altar.

Delia Lopez of Cisco was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Frances Chamness, sister of the bride and Sandra Nichols of Cisco. Alissa Chamness of Midland, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Best man was Kenneth Thompson of Abilene, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Steve Pitts and Tommy Jiminez of Cisco. Jon Rockwell of Lubbock and Blake Hardy of Austin, nephews of the bride, were candlelighters and Adam Boland of San Antonio, nephew of the groom, was the ring bearer. Guests were seated by Randy Chamness of Abilene and Kelly Chamness of Cisco, brothers of the bride.

The bride's attendants wore formal gowns of peach colored taffeta skirts with white tuxedo trim waists and collars. Each carried a nosegay of sonia colored roses and baby's breath.

The groom wore a tuxedo of silver grey with sash and tails. His attendants wore tuxedos of silver grey with sashes.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Best Western Banquet Building. Members of the houseparty were Diane Boland of San Antonio and Deana Hooks of Cisco, sisters of the groom, Debbie Cary of Arlington, Gayle Williams of Trent, Janis Rockwell of Lubbock, Mary Glenn of Midland, sisters of the bride, Lucia Chamness of Austin and Rhonda Chamness of Midland, sisters-in-law of the bride. Rice bags were distributed by Rebecca Boland of San Antonio, niece of the groom.

Following a trip to the Gulf Coast, the couple will reside at 1306 Bullard, Cisco. The bride is attending Cisco Junior College and is employed by Chamness Realtors. The groom is employed by Harrison Construction Co. of Albany.

On Friday night, June 10, a rehearsal dinner was hosted for the wedding party and family members by the groom's family at the Colony Restaurant in Cisco.

On May 17th the bride was honored with a bridal shower at the fellowship hall of the I-20 and Avenue N Church of Christ in Cisco. Hostesses were Debra Sublett, Idella Taylor, Irene Hunt, Twila Lee, Betty Pippen, Edith McMillan, Margaret Wilson, Jerry Stephenson, Ruthie Keyes, Gayla Hunt, Janie Gwinn and Montie Booth.

WORD of GOD

Prophecy Fulfilled

And beginning at Moses and all the prophets, he expounded unto them in all the Scriptures the things concerning himself.

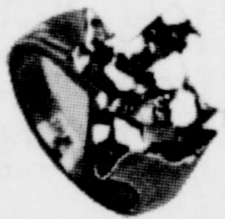

And he said unto them, These are the words which I spake unto you, while I was yet with you, that all things must be fulfilled, which were written in the law of Moses, and in the prophets, and in the psalms, concerning me.

Make Playtime A Safetime

1. Always fly kites and model airplanes on days when there is no rain. Always use wood, paper and dry string in your kite ... not wire or metal.
2. Always fly kites and model airplanes away from electric power lines and TV, CB and radio antennas. Avoid busy streets and highways while flying your kite.
3. Only climb trees that are far away from wires ... never climb utility poles, substation fences or transmission towers. Always keep away from fallen wires.
4. Build tree houses only in trees that have no wires running through or near them.
5. Use a safe target for accuracy games ... never shoot or throw anything at wires, insulators or transformers. Call WTU if anything gets snagged in a power line ... don't try to remove it by pulling or poking it or climbing the power pole.
6. Be careful when you dig ... some electric lines are buried.

TP&WD Offers New Whitewater Booklet

AUSTIN--The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has a new, free booklet on whitewater canoeing called "Floating Texas Waterways."

The booklet gives information on maps, public access, planning, water and streamflow information,

The Show, which will also present 50 four-year, $8,000 scholarships to FFA members during their state convention in July, is the largest donor of agricultural scholarships in the United States. During the coming school year, the Show will have 499 students on scholarships in Texas colleges and universities, at a commitment of more than $2.2 million through the annual program alone.

The winners, carefully selected from hundreds of applicants, are the best in the state from the standpoints of academics and leadership. The only requirements made of the students are that they major in some form of agriculture at a college or university within the confines of the state.

The monies used to fund the scholarship programs are derived directly from proceeds generated by spectators at the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, a civic, charitable organization whose efforts, actions and revenues are used directly to benefit youth and support education.

In presenting the scholarships, Show President E. Norwin Gerhart noted that the efforts, hard work and dedication of the Show volunteers are geared toward this direction.

"The presentation of these scholarships and our continuing commitment to these young people and their education is the heart of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo," said Gerhart. "The Show is proud of its part in meeting the challenges of the future by assisting these students who are our future agricultural leaders."

Registration Deadline Nears For Roundup

San Angelo—July 1 is the tour registration deadline for four ranch tours that conclude the 3rd Annual Invitational Ranchers Roundup (IRR). The IRR is August 1-5 at the San Angelo Convention Center in this West Texas ranching hub.

Ranchers who participate in the tours will see top-flight beef cattle, sheep and goat, grazing management, and wildlife operations. Air-conditioned, full comfort tour buses will be utilized, but due to seating limitations, only the first 100 persons who register before July 1 can participate in each tour.

Complete details concerning ranch tours, concurrent sessions, and registration forms for the IRR can be obtained from county agricultural Extension agents or by writing IRR, P.O. Drawer 1849, Uvalde, Texas 78801. A detailed handbook describing each ranching operation visited on each tour will be provided in registration packets.

Three of the tours—beef, range, sheep and goats—leave the Convention Center at 7:30 a.m. on August 5 and return late that afternoon after visiting specialized ranching operations in the San Angelo area. The wildlife tour departs at 3 p.m. on August 4, makes an overnight stop in Kerrville, and returns to San Angelo the following evening.

Rancher practices for herd improvement utilizing performance testing records, palpation, heat synchronization, A.I., and embryo transfer will be seen during the beef cattle tour. Extensive cattle grazing and the Savory Grazing Method in relation to cattle handling, performance, breeding, supplemental feeding, and innovative marketing for improving profit potential will also be explored.

Area sheep and goat producers will explain their total ranch program including procedures for selection and breeding, supplemental feeding and minerals, lamb creep feeding and grazing programs. Animal husbandry and health programs will be discussed as well as animal handling under the Savory Grazing Method. Superb pen and shed facilities for lambing and early weaning will be visited along with combination grazing with cattle and range practices to improve sheep and goat production.

Participants on the range tour will see short duration, cell grazing and the Savory Method. Holistic ranch management, grazing decisions, double stocking rate, and costs of establishment and returns will provide an on-the-ground view of accomplishments and problems that can occur. Range improvement methods including root plowing, seeding, spraying, chaining and prescribed burning will be seen along the tour route. The development of necessary facilities including electric fencing and specially designed cell centers to facilitate animal movement and handling are featured.

Wildlife tour participants will travel through the heart of the scenic Edwards Plateau deer country visiting native and exotic wildlife management areas. Dinner is provided at Whiskey Canyon Ranch near Kerrville followed by a visit of hunting and fishing lodges. After an overnight stay in Kerrville, the tour proceeds to Gillespie County to see other progressive Hill Country ranches where white-tail deer is aggressively marketed. Another stop is scheduled at the Kerr Wildlife Management Area where the different range management practices needed to produce good livestock and wildlife can be observed. Another management perspective on white-tail deer versus exotic game utilization can be obtained before buses depart for San Angelo.

Battle Mesquite With Herbicides

COLLEGE STATION—Aerial application of liquid herbicides can be effective in battling mesquite and associated brush species in late spring and early summer.

"Most ranchers want to apply herbicides during a year they can expect good control," says Dr. Tommy Welch, range brush and weed control specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Thus it's necessary to take a look at weather conditions beginning last fall. Mesquite growth appears to be closely related to climatic conditions which precede the spraying date. Herbicides used to control mesquite and associated brush are growth-regulating chemicals that must be translocated from the leaves to the stems and roots to be most effective. And translocation of the herbicide is strongly influenced by growing conditions when the herbicide is applied," explains Welch.

Texas Agricultural Experiment Station studies have shown that aerial spraying of herbicides gives average mesquite control when monthly rainfall is average or slightly above average for at least three months before treatment. Highest plant kills occurred when monthly rainfall exceeded the average for six months prior to spraying, while poorest results occurred following conditions when only two or fewer months exceeded the long-term average prior to spraying.

"Since rainfall has varied widely over Texas during the past several months, each rancher must evaluate his conditions," notes Welch. "Also, ranchers need to watch the foliage development of mesquite. Mesquite plants with a large quantity of leaves are ripe for spraying once the leaves are fully extended and dark green in color.

Soil temperature is also a key to good mesquite control. Best mesquite kill is usually obtained when the soil temperature at the 18-inch depth at spraying time is 75 degrees F. or above.

Usually soils on upland range sites and soils with a higher sand content warm up faster than bottomland and clay soils. So root kill of mesquite is usually higher on upland sites. Frequent rains during the spray season can reduce root kills because mesquite plants will continue to add new leaf growth. Delaying spraying for 10 to 21 days after a significant rainfall to allow new growth to mature will increase root kill.

Before spraying mesquite, ranchers should also check for foliage damage caused by insects, disease, frost or hail, advises Welch. If a significant number of mes-quite plants have been defoliated, root kill is usually reduced. Allow foliage produced after damage to mature before applying herbicides.

Three registered and effective herbicides for mesquite control on Texas rangeland by aerial broadcast spray are 2,4,5-T; a 1 to 1 mixture of picloram (Grazon PC) and 2,4,5-T; and a 1 to 1 mixture of dicamba (Banvel) and 2,4,5-T. The picloram-2,4,5-T and dicamba-2,4,5-T mixtures must be tank mixed because commercial formulations are no longer available. Use these herbicides at 1/2 to 1 pound acid equivalent per acre. Read and follow directions on the herbicide container before applying any herbicide, cautions the specialist.

GUARDIAN'S RESPONSIBILITIES

All of us need help from time to time. But some people such as youngsters not of legal age, or others because of impaired mental or physical function, may need help all the time.

When the situation arises that extensive help and management is required the court may appoint a guardian.

The person who is appointed guardian is charged with the responsibility to account for and conserve any assets.

Assets must be ascertained and in most cases they must be appraised to determine their value. If the guardian determines that any part of the assets should be disposed of to meet expenses, or to facilitate management, court approval is needed.

If these responsibilities have fallen on your shoulders you can count on me to help if you need something appraised or sold. And remember, when it comes to buying or selling AUCTION'S BEST

Texas & The Legislature

Senator Bob Glasgow

The close of the 68th Session of the Texas Legislature seems more like a refrain from the 67th Legislature with much business having been done while leaving a few very important loose ends.

While the Legislature was able to pass such controversial legislation as the Sunset bills continuing the Public Utility Commission and the Railroad Commission, as well as a tougher DWI law, the House and the Senate failed to agree on different versions of the measure continuing the existence of the Texas Employment Commission.

Also left undone was the passage of a bill giving the Animal Health Commission the authority to control brucellosis. This is a matter that requires immediate attention as the Federal Government has levied a quarantine on Texas, and many states are also following suit individually.

The third matter left is the concern over the need for a teacher payraise. With the revenue situation during the session, there was no money left for teacher payraises as well as needed funds for rehabilitation of highways, prisons and certain other areas of state responsibility.

There is a substantial likelihood the Legislature will be back in special session sometime during the summer to consider the TEC and brucellosis legislation. It is also likely that we will, somewhat somberly, consider the need for a tax increase for such things as a teacher payraise, rehabilitation of highways and funding for law enforcement and prisons.

I am interested in your thoughts and comments on these very critical subjects.

On a more positive note, the Legislature did pass several important pieces of legislation. A bill continuing the Public Utility Commission provided public counsel for residential ratepayers and eliminated the automatic fuel pass-through charge. Also, the bill provided closer scrutiny of subsidiary dealings between utilities.

A comprehensive DWI bill was passed by the Legislature which closed loopholes in the law and increased penalties for drunken drivers. Although I had a problem with one provision of the bill that took the determination of guilt of the element of intoxication away from the jury and made a machine's determination absolute, I supported voting for the bill.

Another major piece of legislation passed was a measure providing for a voluntary assignment of wages to pay child support.

The measure is voluntary and should increase the collection of child support in Texas (Texas ranks 49th out of 50 states in child support collection). Also, a constitutional provision will be going to the voters to allow involuntary assignment of wages for child support if the person is delinquent on two or more payments. This will become law only if passed by the voters.

I will be summing up several of the other important pieces of legislation in future columns. I would appreciate hearing from you concerning your feelings about the possible topics in the upcoming special session. My address is: Senator Bob Glasgow, P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711.

HOW WOULD you like to save somebody from a bear? That's what Martha Smelcer did in Alaska the other day.

Martha is the daughter of Carl and Nell Hargrove of 606 West 5th Street, and she and her husband Clarence operate an electrical repair service for the North Slope country of Alaska out of their shop in Fairbanks. They own an island in the Goodpasture River, south of Fairbanks, and spend weekends in a cabin there.

They were at the cabin and Clarence was out front talking to a friend when they heard a noise and saw a black bear between them and the cabin. And Clarence had left his gun inside. The bear didn't run when Clarence shouted and waved his arms. Instead, the bear came toward Clarence who called to his wife as he ran to their boat tied up nearby.

Mrs. Smelcer got a rifle and shot the bear, and the big fellow fell after another step or two. The bear's skin will soon be a handsome rug on the cabin floor.

Martha and Clarence Smelcer were high school classmates in Fairbanks while her dad was in Army intelligence there for a number of years. They have two children. She was in Cisco to visit her parents last Thanksgiving.

The Hargroves have lived here since he retired from military duty. She is the daughter of Mrs. Roy Fenley and the late Mr. Fenley. The Hargroves visit Alaska often. She was there last December and January, and he went in January. They've been driving the highways there a good many years.

THERE WAS A gathering of the McCracken Clan out at the home of Mrs. JPM last Saturday night. Steve and Kee (McC) Hudson of Highland Park, N.J., were in town to visit relatives and friends in Cisco and his folks in San Antonio, and Vance McCracken and wife and two children and Chuck and Sharon (McC) LaMontagne and two children of Abilene were over for dinner at Mrs. JPM's home.

Steve Hudson is a professor at Rutgers University, and Kee works for the big Johnson and Johnson Company in New Jersey.

CISCO GOLFERS brought home some bacon last weekend from Pioneer where they played in the annual Lakewood Country Club tournament. Bennie Nichols and Ralph Glenn came in 2nd in the championship flight, which was won by DeBusk and DeBusk of that club.

Bob Bennie and David Callarman won the first flight in the par-total-scramble event. Carrel Smith and B.J. Perry tied for 3rd in the fourth flight. Tracy Owens and Kevin Winnett were in the second flight and had a good time.

MR. JASPER COOK, judge of the people's court here, will be the speaker for the AARP dinner meeting Thursday night at the Laguna Corral Room. They told him to choose his own topic. Mr. Armo Chambers went back to Houston this week for medical treatment. Glad to hear that he's doing nicely. Saw Dick Sander of Big D at the golf course the other late afternoon. He was here visiting his mother.

THANKS TO MARK Heidenheimer and other Abilene young men, Cisco now has a new Junior Chamber of Commerce chapter. Rick Watts who works at Ensearch is the president of the new chapter. You'll be hearing more about the new Jaycee organization. Mrs. Rosa Lee Broyles hopes they have good luck when her son, Tommy, Abilene CPA, and others get to Alaska this week and go salmon fishing. They were due to be away 10 days or so. Romana's, the Mexican food place near Eastland, will be closed July 11-24 for vacation, according to a sign there, and Maggie Jimenez of the staff told us they weren't going somewhere and spend two weeks eating Mexican food.

PLAY IS PICKING up at the Kiwanis Club golf course at Lake Cisco Park.

Michelle Dempsey, CHS Lobo Band drum major last year, will be a freshman at CJC come fall semester. The Charles Clarks are packing their bags to attend the convention of Lions International in Hawaii soon. They're due to meet the Dr. E.H. Ramseys of San Antonio there for an inter-island boat cruise of a week or so after the convention. The Archie Chamnesses were due to leave this Friday for the Lions convention in Hawaii.

ONE OF THESE days you're liable to hear that Mr. John McGuire has given up boating. If you remember, it was a year or so ago that he suffered a broken leg in a boating mishap at Lake Cisco. And now you're hearing that he almost cut a finger off in an accident out there last Friday afternoon.

John was in their small two-man bass boat and the waves were high and he was trying to slide back so the front end of the boat would come up to keep water from sloshing in. He caught the third finger, left hand, in some steel things and cut a deep gash.

Mrs. JM took him to a doctor who finished taking the finger nail off and used a half dozen stitches to sew up holes in the finger.

OUR SCOUTS report that remodeling work at the Central Masonry Building, which has been going on for a couple of weeks or so, will include re-doing the top floor. It has been rented to folks who will put in a SPA. There'll probably be an announcement inre same and soon. The second floor, you know, will become the offices of Central Masonry and Central Oil and Gas Company. Ivan Webb and Frank Spangler of Kamon House Press were in Houston last weekend to attend a graphic arts conference. Workers hope to finish remodeling the old Red Front Drug building by July 1. Understand they've just about rented all the spaces in the building, which will become Red Front Mini Mall.

NEED SOME FIRE WOOD? Mr. Dizzy Dean of our town is figuring on removing a few trees in an improvement project, and he'd like to give them to anybody who wants them - where is, as is. If you're interested, give Diz a call (442-2282).

SOMEBODY'S keys-four of them on a First National Bank ring-were found in the S&M Supply Co. area and turned it at The Press office. If you've lost yours, you might want to check on these.

Lights From The Christian World

Josephine Cleveland

Paul wrote, "when I would do good, evil is present with me." (Rom. 7:21) He had already said, "I have a desire but how to perform I find not." (Rom. 7:18) Finally, Paul knew that it was hopeless to try to live a Christian life. Friend, have you given up on yourself? Some may say, "Just do your very best." Paul tried to do his best and discovered it was impossible. He depared, "O, wretched man that I am, who will deliver me....?" (Romans 7:4). Paul's best was not good enough to save him. And it will not be enough to give constant victory. The Word does not tell you to do your best. The cross must be your inner life. Self would do its best and take any credit.

Christ in us is our hope of glory. Christ for you is a gladdening fact. Christ with us is even more exciting. But Christ in us is more glorious. Jesus said, "All power is given unto me in heaven and earth." (Matthew 28:18) This is the main fact of your faith. Paul discovered this and was able to say, "I know in whom I believe and am persuaded that he is able to keep me...."

Scranton Ex-Students Homecoming Held June 5

The annual Scranton Homecoming was attended by 180 ex-students and family members of the old Scranton School at the Scranton Community Center on June 5, 1983.

The Homecoming festivities got underway Saturday night with the regular first Saturday of the month musical at the center. Several musicians tried to drown out the sounds of talk and visiting among former residents, students and friends. Official registration began at 9:30 and visitation from 9:30 until 11 a.m. Mary Morgan Edwards, president, called the meeting to order and extended a hearty welcome to all present.

Robert Shrader, a third generation of the Shrader family to graduate from Scranton High School, served as master of ceremonies. He currently lives in Austin. He introduced Johnny Boland, pianist and Roy Speegle, who led congregational singing of hymns, then the guest speaker Lyndal Reese of Odessa and a 1955 graduate who brought a very dry comical address. Mary Edwards made announcements. Claude McBeth gave the devotional and the pot luck luncheon was served at 12 noon.

Ex-students Association President Mary Alice (Morgan) Edwards presided over the business meeting. Minutes of 1982 were read and approved, treasurers report made. The 1984 officers were named as follows: Mildred (Boland) Geist, president; Jean (Bailey) Posey, vice-president; Robert Tonne, secretary-treasurer; Anita (Page) Webb, chairman program committee and Robert Shrader and Johnny Boland program committee.
