Wallace Resigns CJC Post To Accept Bee County Job

Dr. Norman E. Wallace, president of Cisco Junior College for some 11 years, has resigned that post to accept the presidency of Bee County College at Beeville, according to an announcement by Dick Woolley, president of the board of regents.

The board accepted the resignation with regrets at a special meeting Monday night, Mr. Woolley said. The faculty of Cisco Junior College was advised of the action by Dr. Wallace at a meeting Monday morning. "Dr. Wallace has done an outstanding job for Cisco Junior College and for Cisco," Mr. Woolley said. "He will leave with the very best wishes of us all. Our reluctance to lose him is made easier by the knowledge that the new position means a considerable advancement for him as an educator and in remuneration."

Mr. Woolley said the board named a search committee, including Board Vice President Brad Kimbrough, Secretary Lloyd McGrew and Mr. Woolley, to seek a replacement. Dr. Wallace will work with the committee. Guidelines for the selection of a replacement were discussed Monday night and will be completed soon.

Initially, the state's other 45 junior colleges will be advised of the vacancy in Cisco, Mr. Woolley said.

Growth of Cisco Junior College during the 11 years that Dr. Wallace has been here is reflected by comparative figures that show enrollment increasing from 781 in 1974 to 1,650 in August, 1983, Mr. Woolley said. During the same period, operating funds have gone up 325 per cent to an annual total of 2,362,172.

During the period, the physical plant (campus buildings and fixtures) have gone up in value from $2,623,000 to $4,460,175. The school's endowment fund has increased 45 percent - from $397,761 to $573,952.

Dr. Wallace said that he would remain on the job here until June 1 or until a replacement is found if one has not been hired by that date.

"The decision to leave Cisco has not been an easy one," Dr. Wallace said. "Our work and life in this community has been rewarding beyond expression, and we decided to make the change only because of the opportunity of new horizons."

(Editor's Note: See inside page for a story regarding Dr. Wallace that was released by Bee County College.)

One-Act Play Contest Is Set For Thursday

A cast of nine students will appear in a one-act play as Cisco High School's entry in the UIL district contest at 2:45 p.m. Thursday at McMurry College auditorium in Abilene. The group will go there Wednesday for a dress rehearsal.

The group, directed by Mary Lewis, will present "A Company of Wayward Saints."

Appearing in the cast are Karen Fisher, John Gonzales, Steve Abbott, Ronnie Scheuren, Dusty Petree, Rusty Hughes, Angie Bradford, Sabrenia Justice and Farris Pittman.

NHS Holds 'Pride In Our School' Contest

Winner of the National Honor Society's first annual "Pride In Our School" contest was announced Tuesday at Cisco High School. The winner was the combined vocational agriculture classes Ag. Coop., Ag. II, and Ag. IV, taught by Mr. Grant Robinson. The winners conspired (from mostly donated materials) two picnic tables for the patio of the school. Judges Steve Thomas and Eris Ritchie stated they felt that while there were some very deserving projects, this project would create the most pride in the school.

could enter the contest. A plaque was awarded to the winner.

Endorsed by literally millions of funseekers in its stellar 48-year history, "The Biggest Big Top on Earth" brings its huge herd of elephants, its outstanding group of prize equines, its unequalled collection of wild and exotic animals and its roster of circus stars from 17 nations to Cisco for performances at 4:30 and 8:00 p.m., one day only on Wednesday, March 28, sponsored by the Cisco Jaycees.

Carson and Barnes 5-Ring Circus combines old-time circus tradition with flashy, modernistic ideas and costly trappings to present a super-duper entertainment spectacular. It is the last of the big shows with a wild animal zoo, featuring such rare species as rhinoceros, hippopotamus and twin baby giraffes.

Patricia White, "the beauty with the beasts" is the show's premier animal trainer. She presents her collection of male and female African lions and Bengal tigers, as well as working with the show's 25 elephants, 100 horses and ponies and her recently-trained group of Royal Peruvian llamas.

HALL OF REMARKS

BY HERREL HALLMARK

IF YOU HAVE found a Bible, please call 442-4237. The lady at this number reported that she placed her Bible on the hood of her car and forgot it when she left her home to go to church Sunday. Along the way, it was lost.

However, we are glad for Dr. Wallace that he has accepted a position with the Bee County College in Beeville, Texas, since it will be an advancement in his career.

That still does not help soften the loss of such a fine man to this community. I was a student at CJC in the fall of 1974 when Dr. Wallace was in his first year at the presidency.

I remember seeing Dr. Wallace for the first time and I remember his friendliness towards the students and his willingness to talk and listen to those attending classes there. I believe a lot of the students really respected him for his concern and willingness to help them in different situations.

I am sure CJC will find a worthy replacement for the president position, but Dr. Wallace's shoes will not be easy to fill, not only at the college but also with his involvement in civic and church affairs.

I join all of Cisco in saying thank you Dr. Wallace for your contributions to our city.

MEMBERS OF Cisco's Chamber of Commerce are working hard on the betterment of the city of Cisco, by looking at the possibility of trying to get some more business to come to the Cisco area.

Let's all offer our help in doing our part for the betterment of Cisco, and then actually be available when called upon. Cisco is our home and we should be proud of it.

Eastland County Livestock Show 'Bigger Than Ever'

The Eastland County Livestock Show was bigger than ever this year with so many animals that the judging lasted until nearly midnight on Thursday and Friday nights.

Crowds packed the Moylan Exhibition Arena and the animal barns throughout the show.

Judges, who in past years had moved away from choosing very fat animals in favor of long, tall, and lean market animals, seemed to be moving more to the middle of the road and seeking more finish and muscle development, but on tall and long animals rather than compact ones.

The show is important and fun to the young people of the county and helps them to have goals, develop into responsible adults, and gives them recognition for their work, but a lot of adults put in some very long hours to make it a success.

People like Ruth Guy and Grover Hallmark, along with the show superintendents, extension agents, and other adult leaders got the job done in fine fashion.

But the young people are learning from their example and there was a hard working crew ready at the finish to shovel sand and push a broom to clean up the facilities.

Then the people of the county who had been so generous to provide prize money, ribbons, and trophies, came through again at the market animal special auction.

Good prices were received by the students on their animals, and a list of the selling prices on the top animals and the names of all the buyers are scheduled for future copy in this newspaper.

Show results are listed in this issue.

2nd Annual Lobo Relays Set Here

The second annual Lobo Relays will be held Saturday, March 24, at the Cisco High School track with some 500 students from area schools participating, according to an announcement by John Parchman, athletic director.

The program calls for preliminaries in track and field events to begin at 9:30 a.m. Finals in all events will begin at 2 p.m., Mr. Parchman said.

Invitations have been accepted from eight area schools. Both boys and girls will participate in the meet. Cisco High School will have teams in all events. Ron Mouser is coach of the girls team, while Rusty McLeskey is the boys coach.

'The Belle Show' Set Friday At 7

On Friday, March 23, the Cisco Junior College Wrangler Belles will stage "The Belle Show", a take-off of the once popular "Gong Show". The show, open to the public, promises to be pure entertainment for the entire family. There will be singing, dancing and comedy.

The show begins at 7 p.m. in the Harrell Fine Arts Auditorium. Admission is $1.00 at the door (50 cents for CJC students with I.D.).

Dr. Wallace Unanimously Selected By Bee County

Dr. Norman E. Wallace, was unanimously selected by the Bee County College Board of Trustees last Thursday, March 15, to succeed BCC's first chief executive, Dr. Grady C. Hogue, who retires Aug. 31.

Wallace, as did his predecessor, will arrive in Beeville with presidential experience gained at the west-central Texas community college in Cisco. He has been the college president there since 1974 and before that was dean of technical-vocational education at Amarillo College for four years. Wallace has also been a college and university professor as well as a junior high school principal.

Wallace, 51, earned undergraduate and master's degrees from Sam Houston State University in industrial education and educational administration, and a doctoral degree from Texas A&M University in guidance, counseling and industrial education.

Wallace, present at the board meeting, announced that BCC will also create a new position to be filled by BCC graduate and Beeville native Dr. Leonardo de la Garza, currently academic vice president at Austin Community College.

Wallace said de la Garza "will supervise the occupational and academic instructional divisions as an executive vice president."

Wallace, who will arrive in Beeville in June to work with Hogue until his retirement, also said BCC's executive vice president Roy M. Benton will continue his responsibilities for overseeing college operations, maintenance, finances, general day to day plant management, and will additionally be assigned personnel matters and auxiliary services.

De la Garza's responsibilities will encompass BCC's total instructional and instructional support operations. This will include supervision and coordination of all instruction in the academic and occupational divisions, and areas of related support such as the library and center for independent study.

These responsibilities are presently shared by Benton, Roger C. Schustereit, Dr. Neal M. McBryde and Dr. H. William Streitman. McBryde, Schustereit and Streitman will continue in their assignments as occupational dean, dean of student services and academic dean, respectively.

In announcing Wallace's appointment, BCC Board Chairman Peter S. Marecek said, "All of us on the board agree that choosing a new college president is one of the toughest assignments we have ever had."

"We had the honor of picking the best of the best," he added, "and we had applications from superbly qualified candidates." The board had interviewed six finalists and had screened 34 applications.

"It came down to the fact that we were faced with outstanding applicants and we made the choice based entirely upon who had the most qualifications and experience, and that candidate was Dr. Wallace," Marecek added.

BCC's newly-appointed chief executive also stressed that "the college is in excellent condition, both financially and academically, and at this point I can see no sweeping changes necessary at Bee County College."

Wallace pointed out that "I have known Dr. Hogue for years, I'm well-acquainted with the fine reputation he and the board have built for Bee County College, and I am looking forward to the personal working liaison we will establish before he retires late in the summer."

"It will be an opportunity for me to carefully examine programs, resources and management, and it offers an ideal time to really get to know the people of Beeville and the employees of Bee County College," Wallace added.

Hogue, echoing the board's endorsement of his successor, said: "Dr. Wallace is an outstanding choice. I've known him for years, and his name in Texas education has long been associated with effective supervision and sound fiscal management."

"Dr. Wallace's proven leadership," Hogue emphasized, "couple with Dr. de la Garza's reputation and experience in instructional planning and supervision, will strongly and positively influence the continued growth and development of Bee County College."

"In my opinion," Hogue stressed, "both of the new BCC administrators are absolutely the finest and most qualified leaders in Texas community colleges today."

Wallace added that "I also feel very positive about the congeniality of the trustees at the college, and I'm appreciative that the board agreed to hire Dr. de la Garza to help absorb and delegate the managerial responsibilities."

"Dr. de la Garza has distinguished himself at Austin Community College, and he has a wealth of experience gained when he was associate director in charge of community college programs for the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System," Wallace explained.

Wallace said, "Dr. Hogue had advised the board and all candidates that some BCC administrators had too many areas of responsibility and we needed to restructure administrative staff duties. Clearly, Dr. de la Garza has one of the most esteemed reputations in Texas in those areas of responsibility he will assume at BCC."

De la Garza graduated from A.C. Jones High School in Beeville in 1966, was an honor graduate at BCC in 1970, and an honor graduate of St. Edward's University in 1971. He was awarded a doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Texas in higher educational administration in 1977. He also was awarded a fellowship for study and certification in management of higher education at Harvard University which was completed in 1982.

Wallace has been a University of Houston assistant professor, an associate professor in the college of education for Mississippi State University, and has been both associate dean and dean of technical-vocational education at Amarillo College.

Wallace has also served on the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education and with the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, the chief accreditation agency for colleges in the South and Southwest.

He has been a lay leader, youth superintendent and a Sunday school teacher, and has been on the boards of the American Heart Association and the Cisco Industrial Foundation.

De la Garza, also prominent in educational and community circles, has served as chairman of the board of equalization for the city of Austin and the Austin Independent School District. He is also a member of the Seton Medical Center Advisory Council and has memberships in six state and national educational associations. De la Garza is a member of the South Austin Rotary Club.

BCC's new chief administrative officer has also been active in curriculum development and audio-visual tutorial instruction, and has authored several magazine publications in those fields.

Wallace and his wife, Helen, are the parents of two sons, Kyle, 24, and Kory, 20. De la Garza's wife is the former Virginia Loya of Beeville. They and their two sons, Adrian, 17 and Carlos, 15, will make their home here again this summer after living in Austin the past 14 years. De la Garza is the son of Joe and Irene de la Garza of Beeville.

WORD of GOD

To Stand Against The Devil:

Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might.

Put on the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil.

For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places.

Ranger Fashion Show For Cancer Drive

People throughout the United States are joining the fight against cancer, and this has helped to save lives. Nearly three million living Americans saved from cancer are proof of progress in research and education. The immediate goal of saving lives will be accomplished largely through education of the public to the dangers of cancer and the possibilities of cure, through helping the medical profession to have access to the latest advances in diagnosis and treatment of cancer, and through direct service to the cancer patient and his or her family said Ann Justice president of Eastland County Unit.

The Eastland County Unit of the American Cancer Society invites you to join the fight against cancer on Sunday March 25, 1984. The Smart Shop of Ranger, owners Shirley Gentry and Kelly Gentry, will sponsor a Fashion Show at 3:00 p.m. at the New Gholston Hotel 215 Main St in Ranger, Texas. The Theme will be "Suddenly It's Spring" benefiting the American Cancer Society.

Also the "Jammie Dee Dancers" will be featured. Tickets are 3.00 and will be available at the door. Refreshments will be served.

Our work is vitally important, and I am convinced that the American Cancer Society is worthy of your support. Please make an investment in this wonderful benefit by attending this Fashion Show, and helping Shirley & Kelly sponsor this event. "Our goal is to 'Wipe Out Cancer in your lifetime,'" said Mrs. Justice.

By Alva Nelms

Q: I have been looking at handmade quilts and thinking about buying one, but I don't know how to tell which is more valuable. Is there a way?

A: There are several criteria for determining the value of a quilt.

- 1) Is it totally handmade? That is, has it been set together by hand and quilted by hand?
- 2) Are the stitches small and uniformly made, and are the pieces joined carefully so that the pattern corners are exact and smooth?
- 3) How pleasing are the overall color combinations? There are two types of quilts: yardage quilts that are made from material bought specifically for that purpose, and scrap bag quilts that are made with any number of small pieces of different material. A scrap quilt that has good overall design, if all other things are equal, is more valuable than a yardage quilt.
- 4) Are the prints used in the quilt of similar style? Mixing large polka dots with a tiny cottage print, for example, is not ideal.

5) Are the pieces small or large? The smaller the pieces the more difficult, and therefore, the more valuable.

6) Are the materials used in the quilt a woven fabric, either 100 percent cotton or a cotton-polyester blend? Manmade fibers are not best in a quilt.

7) How much distance is there between the rows of quilting? The closer the quilting, the better the quilt.

These seven guidelines are fairly comprehensive rules for choosing a quilt that will maintain its value. Of course, your taste is the final criterion for selecting anything, so trust your judgement!

Wind Erosion Damages Texas Cropland & Range

Wind erosion has damaged more than a million acres of Texas cropland and rangeland the past few months, and it is still early in the "blow season." Conditions undoubtedly will become worse this spring.

"Current cropping systems in many areas just do not provide the needed protection to prevent soil erosion by wind," says Dr. B.L. Harris, soils specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Wind erosion is a problem primarily in western, central and southwestern sections of Texas and does its worst damage to croplands, Harris says.

"The most serious lasting damage from erosion is the separation and removal of silt, clay and organic matter from the surface, leaving on-ly infertile and blowing sand, Harris explains. "The blowing sand piles up in dunes, causing loss of productive land, covering fences, equipment and buildings, and damaging crops."

To control wind erosion, a combination of practices is most effective, with conservation tillage systems offering good potential for many erosion-prone soils, says the specialist.

A rough surface--the ridges and depressions formed by tillage--goes a long way in battling wind erosion, notes Harris. Roughness, at an optimum height of 2 to 5 inches, reduces wind surface velocity and traps sand particles.

"Cloddiness," the relative abundance of firm and stable aggregates of soil material resistant to erosion, also serves as a barrier to wind erosion. More than half of the soil surface should be protected by large clods.

"Both cloddiness and surface roughness can be affected by the type of tillage equipment used," Harris says. "Equipment which inverts the soil covers surface residue. Disk-type plows cover more residue and destroy soil clods more than sweep-type plows. Disks also create greater compaction pans than sweep plows."

"Vegetative cover is the best and most effective technique to control wind erosion," contends Harris. "The protection afforded by cover, either living or dead, depends on the size and quantity of residue. For example, wheat stubble is more effective than sorghum or corn stubble."

Erosion increases as field length increases, so the length should be reduced along the prevailing wind direction with barriers or windbreaks, or by planting perpendicular to the prevailing wind. A windbreak will protect an area equal to 10 times the height of the barrier, the specialist points out.

Research is being conducted on the use of terbars to reduce wind erosion. Terbars are small terrace barriers planted with perennial plant--such as lovegrass, kleingrass and Alamo switchgrass--on the top ridge. This technique has proven to be very effective in reducing erosion and maintaining yields, and its use is expected to expand.

"Other factors affecting erosion include wind speed and soil moisture," Harris says. "Erosion increases rapidly as winds exceed 20 mph, and erosion decreases as soil moisture increases. Therefore, irrigation practices and benching or leveling land on slopes can provide effective temporary controls of wind erosion."

Information is available from several agencies to assist farmers and ranchers in dealing with wind erosion problems. Among these agencies are the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas Agricultural Research Service. SCS is the agency with primary responsibility for providing information and technical assistance for erosion control.

Bass Club Report

The fish are biting folks. Reports are good from most area lakes. Leon has been producing some 6 lb. to 7 lb. fish the last 2 weeks. Chuck Burgess of Ranger, landed a 7 lb. even black bass. Chuck's fish fell prey to a perch colored crank bait, running the bait off the creek banks. Reports from Eastland Lake are good, some real fine bass are being taken on minnows, and a few dandy's around 7 lbs. were taken on a white beetle spin.

Some scattered crappie in 2 lb. range have been caught also. Cisco has been turning out large numbers of fish, and its just a matter of days until the size will increase. Ringland Lake is showing why small shallow lakes start early, already the channel cats are spawning in shallow water.

Lake Leon will soon be in full swing. As you may remember last year produced some 8 lb. fish and on 9 lb. fish. Projected growth rate is to hold potential of a 10 lb. plus bass. There will be of the Florida strain, which do have a much faster growth rate. Water temperatures are warming very rapidly and should be drawing fish up for spawn.

Its that time of year when high winds can catch you in a flash. Exercise caution when setting out, wear those life-vests, and have a rain suit handy.

Local anglers made an excellent showing on Lake Brownwood Bass Club Invitational. Nine of our members were entered.

Al Seterfite finished 6th, Butch Willingham placed 9th, and Will Johnson, Tommy Rose, Bobby Maynard, and Terry Wilson all finished in the top 50. These places were of 194 entrants. J.L. Stracner of Abilene was the winner with 3 fish weighing 14 lbs. Mr. Stacner won $1,000. most of the top 20 winners were fishing in the creek areas of Lake Brownwood.

Whether fishing for sport or a mess for the table, keep what you can use and release the rest. You will thank yourself next time out.

Alfords Honored On 50th

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Alford of Lake Leon are honoring their parents on their 50th Wedding Anniversary with a reception Sunday, April 1, from 2 until 5 p.m. in the Texas Electric Reddy Room at 113 East Commerce, Eastland.

They were married on April 1, 1934, in Ranger. Children who will be hosting the reception are Mr.

and Mrs. Loyd Jones of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Moreland of Garland, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Norris of Azle, Shirley Lynch of Eastland, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alford Jr of Baton Rouge, La. They have 21 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

All friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend.

OIL BOOM HOUSING
—1201 S. Seaman
Eastland, Texas

Office building and residential construction of the 1919 Eastland County Oil Boom helped mold to a great extent, the appearance of Eastland even now into the 1980s.

This is true in still-being-used public buildings as well as individual homes which were built during that period. They built well.

Prime examples of the type of residential construction from that period can be seen on South Seaman St. in Eastland.

Two of the three oil company officials' homes are still in place. The front of the one at 1201 has been kept true to its original design.

The S. Seaman area has long been a residential area for Eastland. Some 320 acres were originally patented from the State of Texas April 11, 1859 to Jackson Rust, who later sold land to J.B. Ammerman, J.S. Daugherty and C.U. Connellee, Eastland early developers.

The area was incorporated for school purposes Sept. 28, 1882, and incorporated into a city on June 8, 1897. The raw land on the west side of S. Seaman, before it turns South as Highway 6, changed ownership several times before 1919 when Prairie Pipe Line Co. began buying land to be used for company official housing which was built that year.

It wasn't until March, 1922, that the city got around to a paving program, and for $19,630.92 the city paved Seaman St. from Conner St. to Burkett St., the oak grove area. Prairie Pipe Line paid $408 each for each of its 100-foot lots as its assessment.

The Oil Boom ended and in 1935 Sinclair Prairie Pipe Line Co. sold the property at 1201 S. Seaman St. to W.I. Clark, who has been an employee of the company.

That same year Mr. Clark executed a note to Frank Crowell (Lumber Co.) for $250. to do "painting, papering, floor refinishing, etc." A year later (1936) Mr. and Mrs. Clark were divorced and Mrs. Clark married William H. Taylor, and she gave Mr. Clark a quit claim deed to the property.

In 1941 Mr. Clark sold 1201 to the late Bess Mae Owen (first wife of the late Attorney W.D.R. Owen). At his death in August, 1961, it passed to his widow, Venner H. Owen.

The present owner/occupant bought the property in 1961 from Mrs. Owen and moved in Labor Day weekend. A son, now in college, and a daughter in high school, first knew 1201 as home.

Retired 91st District Judge and Longtime Attorney Earl Conner Jr. presently owns and resides in the house at 1109 S. Seaman.

The third Prairie Oil and Gas Co. house was originally built on a lot between these two. It was sold and moved to Morton Valley in the early 1950s.

The three houses were built with the same basic design, except that the O'Brien and Conner houses have mirror opposite plans. All are two-story structures.

The front of the 1201 location remains of the original period style. Four large brick columns support a porch enclosed with bannisters on three sides on the front (east) side. A staircase landing is at the entry, into the living room-dining room, which has a large fireplace. There are two other brick chimneys used originally for heating and cooking. The kitchen separates the dining room and at that time, a screened-in back porch across the west side of the house. A pantry adjoined the kitchen to the north and also opened into one of the two bedrooms which were separated by a hall and a bath.

Virtually all the materials for the houses were shipped here from the northeast.

Upstairs three bedrooms and a bath adjoin the central top landing hall on three sides and a walkway around the top of the stairs connects the two east bedrooms.

In the rear is a double garage with living quarters above, consisting of a sitting room, kitchen, bedroom, hall closets and bath.

The front porch of the main house opens to the East and to the South onto a driveway which was part of extensive, original cement drives and walks, which originally connected the three houses on all sides.

Each lot is covered with upwards of 20 post oak trees, as well as other trees as possible in the grove and present owners have maintained this approach, adding other trees and shrubs, planter boxes and a loose-laid brick patio to permit continued drainage.

Original interior walls were beaver board with wood strips. Beaded ceilings used on the porches is still exposed.

Originally built as single-family residences, the one at 1201 remained so until after 1945 when the first Mrs. Owen died. Mr. Owen bought the house next door to the south. A partition was installed in the living room at 1201 which provided a separate entrance for the upstairs, where a bedroom was converted to a kitchen — thus creating a three-family residence: one upstairs, one downstairs and one in the garage apartment.

In September of 1962, after having lived in the lower floor without any improvements, the O'Briens began to refurbish, retaining the upper floor and garage apartment as rental units.

The kitchen was remodeled with new cabinets; the pantry was turned into a closet and a half bath for a bedroom; the original screened-in back porch was sealed in with windows to make a large combination kitchen, breakfast room, TV area. Downstairs interior walls were sheetrocked. Wiring and plumbing were improved and carpeting was installed over the old oak floors as well as central air conditioning and heating installed.

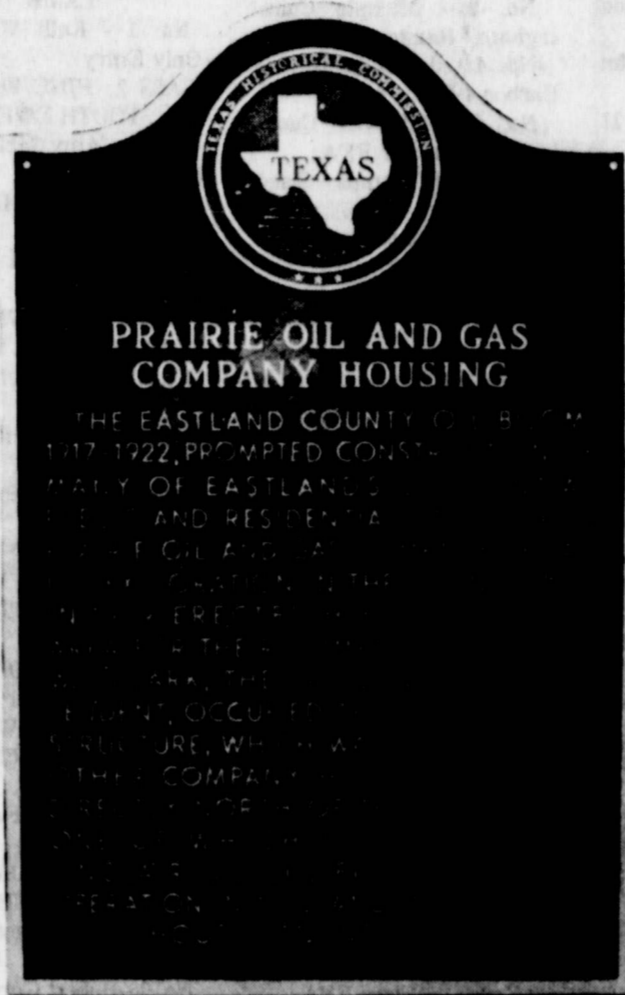

In 1970 the upstairs was restored at which time vast amounts of previously unused space under the eaves was found and turned into additional closet and storage space. The wall was removed putting the stairway back into the living room. The walls and ceilings were redone; walls paneled; the ceilings textured; the woodwork antiqued to match; and the floors covered. The complete upstairs was used for bedrooms including the room around the stairs. The west downstairs bedroom was made into a den with an extra wide entry from the porch area and the east nursery bedroom was turned into a guest room.

In 1977 the west back porch area, was opened and enlarged to enclose a 12 by 20 foot step-down office/sunroom and family-dining area.

Some of the furnishings are original including a large oak buffet, hutch, and large dining table, seating eight to ten in the formal dining area. Two large original tapestry paintings of the period decorate the fireplace and stairway. Decor is traditional. An original bedroom suite furnishes one upstairs bedroom.

The office area houses an antique roll-top desk which was used by an editor of the Ranger Times during the Oil Boom era, and has un-repaired bullet holes in it. An operating ceiling fan from the Cisco Press printing shop of the same era is used here.

The lighted, privacy-fence enclosed, landscaped backyard of today is not that far removed from when only "mesquite shinnery" separated it from the Connellee Race Track, and tennis courts just to the west.

The Tankersley House

The house which stood at 1111 S. Seaman was not easy to move out of Eastland. But when J.C. Tankersley bought it from Earl Conner in the early 1950's he called in the Honea movers from Cisco. They managed to dislodge the large, solid structure.

As they traveled out of Eastland an assistant named Voy Kimbrough was almost electrocuted when the top of the house hit some electric lines. He managed to get loose without falling from the top.

The house was carried seven miles north of Eastland to Morton Valley, then north of the store up a dirt road two more miles. There it still stands, a landmark for the community.

J.C. Tankersley and his family lived in the house about four years, then decided to move away. So the house sat vacant for awhile, and was rented periodically.

In the 1960's Tankersley decided to sell the house. His father and mother, C.H. and Ada Tankersley were so impressed by the beautiful old home that they decided to buy it for themselves. So they disposed of the house they were living in and purchased this home from their son.

Mrs. Tankersley has lived in the residence since, although her husband died several years ago. C.H. Tankersley completed some remodeling projects before his death, mostly dealing with the exterior of the building.

The windows have been replaced, there are storm doors on the house, and steel siding painted white. The big back porch has been glassed in.

The basic structure and character of the place has remained the same, with three upstairs bedrooms, a large living and dining room, and the various porches.

Mrs. Tankersley states that she and her children and grandchildren have enjoyed the house very much, and use it for family gatherings and special occasions such as weddings.

"Every now and then some of the family will mention how much it means, especially since it was a home their father and I lived in. This place gives a person a comfortable, relaxed feeling. Even visitors have remarked on how much they love the old place, and feel at home here."

Mrs. Tankersley has used some antique pieces in furnishing the place, and plans to do more restoration of the inside of the house in the future.

The Conner House

1109 S. Seaman St. Prairie Oil and Gas Co. evolved into Sinclair Oil and Gas Co. and as the Boom played out, the company sold the three houses on S. Seaman St. to Walter Clark in 1935. He sold the one at 1109 (Judge Earl Conner Jr. home) to Tom Lott, an Eastland oilman; the one in the center to Curtis and Margaret Hurtig; and lived in the one at 1201 until he sold it to the Owens.

The Hurtig family entertained a great deal and had built a brick barbecue pit which stands on the alley on that lot to this day.

In 1934 the young Earl Conner Jr., son of a distinguished Eastland attorney, Earl Sr., married Edna Day, daughter of Frank Day who as a young man hit Eastland at 19 at the height of the oil boom — "and made a million, lost it and made another one."

"Times were tough," the then new district attorney Earl, Jr. remembers of 1938 but he and Edna scraped together $1,800 to buy 1109 from Walter Clark (who had taken it back). (Mrs. Conner first taught at South Ward, across Seaman St., in 1926 — for $52 a month.)

The Hurtigs and the Conners shared a common driveway and a double garage.

Curtis Hertig died and his widow Margaret married Joe Weaver (Virginia Russell's father). After he died she moved to Fort Worth where she later died and Earl Jr. negotiated with Don Russell (the executor of her estate) to buy the property in the middle.

Judge Conner sold the house on the middle lot to the Tankersley boys who had Housemover Jake Honea of Cisco move it to Morton Valley where it stands today. Mr. Conner got W.D.R. Owen's permission to cut down an oak tree on his property at 1201 to get the house moved off the lot.

Judge Conner acquired the lot, a cellar, another garage and exclusive use of his driveway.

In a way Judge Conner actually helped build S. Seaman St. Between his Junior and Senior year at Eastland High School, he was foreman for the paving of the street from downtown to S. Conner St., in 1922. He worked for Guy Sherrill and David Carter Construction Co., before making a trip to Yellowstone Park and coming back to finish high school here.

He recalls that the Connellee Race Track and the Oil Boom Tennis Courts were behind the Seaman St. property.

The Prairie Co. had houses in other parts of town — one being the old Davenport home.

Prairie headquartered in the building at Plummer and S. Seaman St., now the First Baptist Church Educational Building. The county bought that building for $14,000 and housed government offices there including the old Triple A (later A.S.C.S.), County Agent, Soil Conservation Service, etc., until moving most of them to the new courthouse. W.D.R. Owen helped arrange for the church to acquire the property from the county.

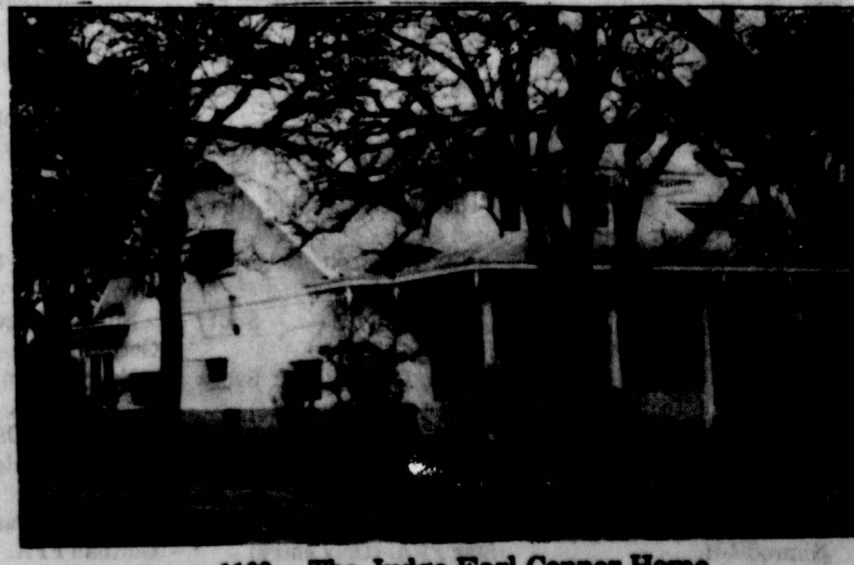

The Conner's sons, Clark and Earl III (Topper), were born and raised in the house at 1109.

So some of the teams that bowl in Eastland will be bowling in the 47th Annual Championship Tournament, the Texas Women's Bowling State Tournament held in Fort Worth.

Seventeen local bowling teams will be competing in the team competition at Forest Park Lanes.

Jay-Way Janitorial of Eastland will go to the State Tournament on May 26-27, and two teams, Greer's

Dept. Store of Eastland and La Mancha Lake Ranch of Eastland, will make the trip

June 2-3. There will also be a state meeting with Sandra Holloway serving as a delegate from Eastland County and Ann Baker as the alternate. Local Womens' Bowling Association President, Myrtle Wetsel also plans to attend the state meeting. The state meeting will be May 18, at the Green Oaks motel of motor inn in Fort Worth. Eastland County will also be represented at a bowling tournament in San Angelo.

Civic Chorale Will Present Spring Concert

The Cross Timbers Civic Center, made up of singers from Stephenville, Dublin, Granbury, Ranger, Lipan and Tarleton State University will present its Second Annual Spring Concert on Saturday, March 31st at 8 p.m.

The Civic Chorale, directed by Dr. Charles Rives, will be singing Howard Hanson's "Song of Democracy" and the "Carmina Burana" by Carl Orff. The Tarleton State Symphonic Band under the direction of Mr. Milton Fox, will accompany the choir.

The concert will be held in the Clyde H. Wells Fine Arts Center, Auditorium on the campus of Tarleton State University. Admission will be $3 for adults and $2 for students.

The Civic Chorale was formed in 1980 by Herbert Teat, then director of choirs at TSU. The group has since performed four annual performances of the "Messiah," establishing a Christmas tradition in the Cross Timbers Region. The choir also presents a patriotic program each summer during the Stephenville Fourth of July "Fun Fair."

In the Spring of 1983, the Chorale initiated a new tradition of an annual Spring Concert. Handel's "Te Deum" was presented on that first concert to honor the retiring conductor Herbert Teat.

Tickets for this performance can be obtained by calling 968-9634, or by purchasing them at the Wells Fine Arts Center in Stephenville or at Ranger Savings in Ranger.

Senior Citizens Are Invited To 'Go For The Gold'

Seniors go for the gold in Arlington, May 18-19, at the third annual Texas Senior Games for Fun and Fitness held during "Older Americans Month" and promoting this year's theme, "Health: Make It Last A Lifetime."

All Texans, age 50 and over, are invited to demonstrate their skills in over 50 events which range from games of intelligence such as bridge and forty-two, to games of strength such as shotput and discus throwing. Over 1,000 Texas senior men and women are expected to attend this rapidly growing statewide event.

In addition to the many competitive events, this year's games will offer four free special events which are open to the general public and include opening ceremonies, a sports medicine and physical fitness clinic, CPR training and a dance party.

The opening ceremonies will include a special presentation by State Representative Charles Fennell, (D-Holliday), chairman of the House Committee on Retirement and Aging, and will also feature many celebrities from the world of sports.

In most of the scheduled events, separate contests will be held for men and women in the following age groups: 50-54, 55-59, 60-64, 65-69, 70-74, and 70-plus. Medals will be awarded to the top three finishers in each age category.

A registration fee of $2 for each event entered is required, with an additional facility use fee of $2.50 for bowling, billiards and tennis.

Other events offered this year include: softball, tournaments, bicycle, races, track and field, walk-a-thon, table tennis, dance contests, horseshoes, washer pitching, racquetball, checkers, golf, 5K and 10K foot races, basketball free throw, and swimming.

The deadline for registration is May 9. Registration applications may be obtained from Area Agencies on Aging, Local Parks and Recreation Departments, or by contacting: Texas Senior Games, P.O. Box 676, Richardson, Texas 75080.

The Texas Senior Games, created to promote physical fitness and well-being of senior Texans through active participation in competitive games, recreational activities and activities and athletic events, is sponsored by the Texas Department on aging and the Governor's Commission on Physical Fitness. Other supporting organizations include the Texas Recreation and Park Society, American Association of Retired Persons, Texas Amateur Athletic Federation, Texas Association of Area Agencies on Aging, the Dallas Morning News, and many other local organizations throughout the state.

Cisco Music Study Club Meets Wednesday

The Cisco Music Study Club met Wednesday, March 14, with Mrs. J.C. Dyer, president, in charge. Other members attending were Mrs. Harry Donica, Mrs. Ben Krauskopf, Mrs. Garland Shelton, Mrs. Milo Steffen, Mrs. Lynn Williams, and Mrs. Viola Payne. Visitors were Nikki Shimp, Stephanie Mims, Kay Tabor and Gay Tabor.

President Dyer welcomed visitors and members, and stated her appreciation to the young pianists from the Shelton Studio who were bringing the program. Mrs. Krauskopf, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting of the club, and these were approved.

A motion was made and carried for the Club to contribute to the "Christmas In May" program in Cisco. The club again expressed appreciation to Leona Bartholemew, Brownwood pianist who had presented a concert at the First Presbyterian Church to celebrate the club's 60th anniversary.

Mrs. Harry Donica gave a report from the "Texas Tea" held by the City Federation of Clubs, stating that it was delightful. The Federation is planning another meeting in September, 1984.

Four of Mrs. Garland Shelton's piano students then presented some numbers. Nikki Shimp played "Blue Shadows", Stephanie Mims played "The Great Cathedral", Kay Tabor gave "The Chinese Tea Party", with Gay Tabor presenting "Hop Scotch". All enjoyed these numbers very much.

Mrs. Shelton gave a study on "Music in Texas", dealing with early Operas and Symphonies in the state. Members learned that the first Texas Opera was presented by a German Opera Co. in San Antonio in 1856.

She traced the development of this type of music right up to the present time, when Symphony Orchestras are located in almost every area of the state.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mrs. J.C. Dyer passed around pictures of the National Music Club Federation Headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana. The Headquarters is located in a beautiful old mansion, and this is furnished with antiques donated by Music Club members from all across the United States.

An antique sofa was bought and presented to Headquarters by the Texas Federated Music Clubs, of which the Cisco Music Study Club is a part.

The meeting was dismissed by President Dyer, who mentioned that the April meeting will continue with a study of Texas Music. It will also feature some instrumental numbers.

THINGS WERE pretty sticky in Kansas Monday. That's the report that Frank Barrett, boss man at Thornton Feed Mill, got from Bennie Owings, who drives TFM's big truck. Bennie was snowbound. Fortunately, he was in a motel. All roads leading in and out were deep with snow, he reported.

Bennie, who has been the driver of TFM's transport truck for several years, was told to stand by for sunshine. He was en route to Nebraska to pick up a load of alfalfa pellets and meal for the TFM

THE NEW COLD front dropped area thermometers to around 32 degrees Sunday and Monday nights. And we got a trace of rain Sunday along with some blowing dust - a sandstorm - that came in from the northwest. The weather man promises thunderstorms and maybe rain as a new cold front makes it way south. It's due here Thursday.

THE JIM Puryears of our town became grandparents during the spring break, and they were in Fort Worth to hold the hand of their son, the Rev. Pepper Puryear, while his wife was in the hospital. Twin sons were born to the Pepper Puryears.

The boys, both weighing around five pounds, were named Andrew and Austin. Rev. Puryear is pastor of a Baptist church near Fort Worth. He grew up here, and his dad is principal of junior high school.

Andrew and Austin are the first grandchildren for the Jim Puryears. Congratulations!

MRS. ROBERT (Judy) Dudley tells us that she expects to have everything in order and ready to move about May 1st to Colorado where her husband was recently transferred by the J.C. Penney Company... Mr. and Mrs. James Couch and daughter Tracey and son Steve enjoyed a spring break vacation down Port Aransas way... Mrs. Kitty McCracken is back home in Cisco after a bus vacation tour through the deep south. She flew to Florida and joined her sister, Elizabeth, for the bus trip.

CHS PRINCIPAL Mike Turner visited his wife in Clifton during spring break. She has been staying with her parents there for several weeks while recovering from an illness and is doing nicely... Coach John Parchman reports that the visit he and Coach Doyle Walker made to Austin and the University of Texas recently was very interesting and informative. They sat in while UofT football coaches gave their spring training squad instructions and attended workouts, including an inter-squad game, for two days. Coaches from several other schools were there, too.

SPEAKING OF Putnam, Mr. Jack Tollett, service man for Lone Star Gas Company in the Cisco area, was over there recently and found a copy of The Putnam News printed on July 21, 1939. And he loaned it to us to look over.

The News congratulated Lone Star Gas Co. on being 30 years old... The late L.A. Warren was interviewed about a newly completed oil well in the Scranton area... Bids on a Cisco-Ranger highway widening job were opened a story said... The First National Bank of Cisco had a three column ad on the front page to say "this is the bank that service is building"... On the back page, The Man's Store of Cisco advertised straw hats for men for $1, ladies batiste pajamas 79 cents, and men's and boys white suits with two pairs of pants for $6.95.
