HALL OF REMARKS

BY HERBELL HALLMARK

WHAT A BLESSED sight is how we felt about the rains this weekend which fell in the Cisco area. My family left Cisco early Saturday morning and traveled to Lubbock where we visited with Allen and Donna Morris and their daughter, Vanessa. Allen is my wife's brother.

The thunderstorms woke us up about 5 a.m. Saturday and as we got ready to leave, the rain continued to fall. When we left our house around 7 a.m., it was still raining and water was running along Conrad Hilton Avenue.

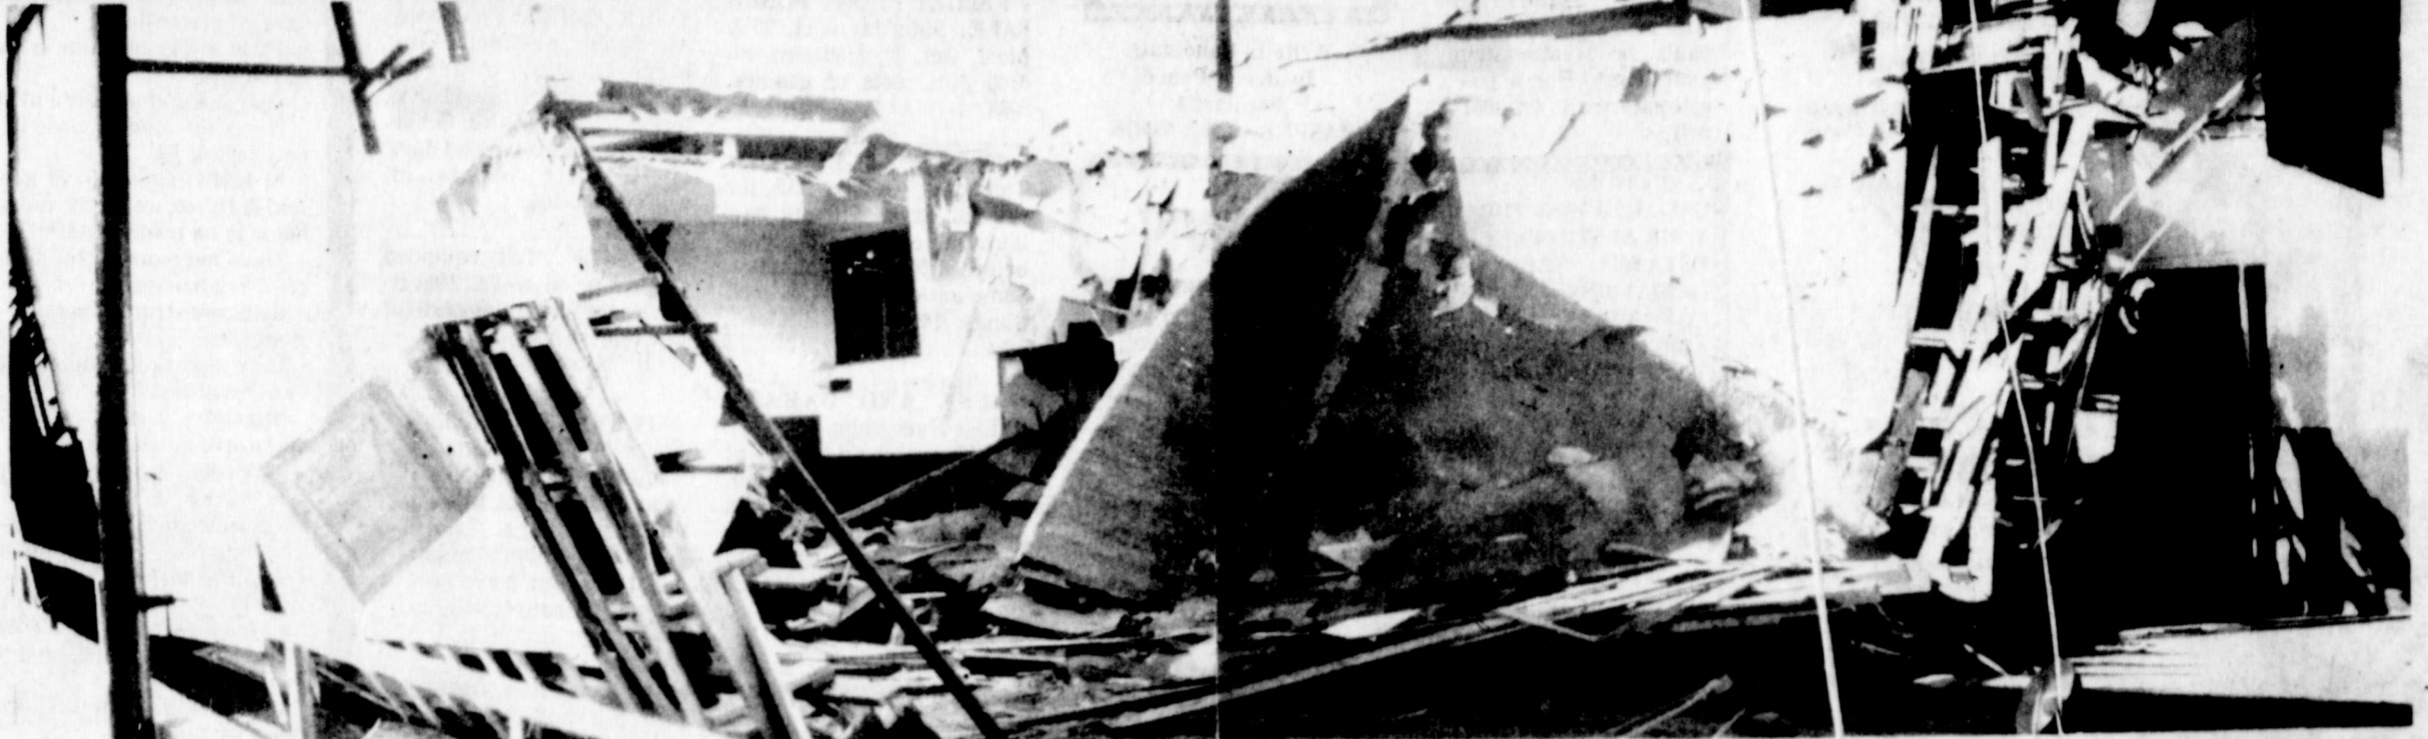

Weather reports said the rain should be out of the Cisco area by that time, but it continued to rain as we traveled westward until it stopped between Putnam and Baird. All along the road to Lubbock there was water standing in puddles and running along creeks and rivers.

While in Lubbock Saturday night, a Lubbock television station said rain was located south of Abilene and moving in an east-northeast direction. After returning to Cisco, we learned it came another good rain in the city on Saturday night from that front heard about in Lubbock.

We returned to Cisco Sunday night. Along the road back, we decided to make a little detour and go up the hill to Fluvanna. If you have never gone to Fluvanna, make plans to take a little detour on your next trip out west between Snyder and Post.

It does not take long and it

DAMAGE TO GYM—Cisco's Intermediate School gym received extensive damage this weekend when the roof collapsed, sending debris and roofing material onto the gym floor. The collapsing structure knocked a hole in the floor of the gym damaging some water pipes. Repairs were made to the water lines on Sunday. From the outside of the gym, nothing can be seen wrong with the building, but the inside is a shambles.

Intermediate School Gym Roof Collapses Here

Virtually all of the roof of the Intermediate School gymnasium collapsed and fell to the floor during a windstorm that struck the Cisco area around 1 a.m. Sunday. High winds had also swept through the region around 9 p.m. and rain fell during the night.

Trustees of the Cisco Independent School District held an emergency meeting Monday night to discuss the gym problem but held up making decisions until insurance adjusters could visit the site Tuesday. The school system carried insurance in the amount of $440,000 on the Intermediate School building, including the gym area.

Engineer Jim Carlson of Fort Worth was hired by the school system to inspect the Intermediate School building, and he spent considerable time there Monday. He told Supt. James Couch that the remainder of the building was entirely safe and classes were meeting on schedule.

Principal Bob Lindsey of Intermediate School said that Physical Education classes were meeting outside and would continue to do so as long as weather permits. The junior high band was being transported by bus to the high school hall for practice. Music classes were using vacant rooms in the building but a permanent solution will be worked out soon for them, Mr. Lindsey said.

The engineer told Supt. Couch that in his opinion the roof collapse was caused by the storm conditions and high winds. The gym area was built in 1909 but had been considered structurally sound. There is no danger of the gym walls falling, the engineer said.

Mr. Couch said the school board was leaning toward a plan to tear down the old walls and rebuild a gym in the same area. Their decision, he added, will be determined after an insurance settlement has been reached.

Grades 3-5-6, including some 280 students, use the Intermediate School building. All of the students take physical education courses and most of them all enrolled in music classes. They rest rooms in the gym area were not damaged and will continue to be used, officials said.

The ceiling collapse was noticed Sunday morning by Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Schaefer, both members of the faculty of the Cisco Public Schools, when they drove passed the building. They notified officials.

Mr. Couch said the maintenance workers put up barriers to keep people away from the collapsed area and locked the doors between the gym and the remainder of the school building.

The school system was near completion plans for erecting a new primary school building on a two-block area purchased a few months ago. A Fort Worth architect has been engaged to prepare plans and specifications for construction contract bidding soon.

Workday Set At Girl Scout House

A workday has been set for Saturday, October 20, 1984, at the Girl Scout House on West 15th in Cisco. The house was damaged in a fire last year but it can be repaired and used again in the future by Girl Scouts and Brownies.

The Girl Scout house is not eligible for the Christmas in May project sponsored each year by the Cisco Chamber of Commerce.

The west end of the building received the most extensive damage during the fire. The east end has been cleaned and can be used at the present time.

A noon meal on Saturday will be furnished for workers and will consist of homemade stew and homemade cake. Workers needed are plumbers, electricians, carpenters and general laborers.

Church Plans Gospel Meeting October 21-25

The Church of Christ at 1-20 and Avenue N would like to invite all to a Gospel Meeting, October 21-October 25.

The guest speaker will be Art Smith of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. Mr. Smith is a graduate of the Bear Valley School of Biblical Studies, Denver, Colorado and has been preaching God's Word for nineteen years.

He has preached and taught special classes for churches in eighteen states, two Canadian Provinces, and in Lisbon, Portugal. He currently serves as minister for the Oakcrest Church of Christ in Oklahoma City.

A unique feature of this gospel effort will be a 7:00 a.m. service with Mr. Smith speaking on the subject, "In Time of Trouble" from the book of Job. In view of the times in which we live, this will be an encouraging study.

Everyone is also invited to attend the services each night at 7:30 p.m. to be encouraged from God's Word.

FEMC Plans Film Sunday

At 7:00 p.m. Service Here

A film will be shown Sunday night, October 21, at First Evangelical Methodist Church in Cisco during the 7:00 p.m. service. Entitled "Let Their Eyes Be Opened", the film deals with the religion of Humanism and the results of the teaching of Humanism.

Paul Kurtz, editor of the Humanist Magazine, is interviewed in the film.

Pastor John Clinton stated the public is invited to attend the service and view the film.

Loboes Will Host Winters Friday At 7:30 p.m. Here

Jr. High and Jr. Varsity Teams Go There Thurs.

Cisco High School's Lobo Varsity will host the Winters' Blizzards at Chesley Field Friday night for a District 11-AA battle. Kick-off will be at 7:30 p.m. Junior High and Junior Varsity teams will travel to Winters Thursday night to play their games. The 7th grade game will begin at 5:00 p.m., followed by the 8th and J.V.

Season record for Cisco's 7th grade team is 4-0, while the 8th grade record is 2-1. The J.V. has yet to win a game this year, since their record is 0-6.

In the varsity game this week, Cisco is 2-1 in District play and 3-3 for the season. Winters is 1-2 in District and 1-4-1 for the season.

The Blizzards run an offense similar to Cisco's: the I. They throw the ball "quite a bit" according to Cisco Head Coach John Parchman. They are a fairly young team with several freshmen starters, including a freshman quarterback.

Coach Parchman said Winters has a big fullback who weighs about 240 pounds and he runs with the ball a lot. When he is not running with the ball, he blocks for whoever else is running.

Lobo Eric Zarate is suffering from a hyper-extended elbow this week and probably will not play Friday night. He should be back for next week's game.

Following Eastland's defeat last week of Coleman, the Mavericks and Baird Bears are tied for first place in District 11-AA, since neither team has been defeated in a district game. Baird will play Coleman this week and Eastland will play Albany.

Cisco and Coleman are tied for third place, since both teams have one loss in

'No-Bake' Sale

Set Friday

There will be a "No-Bake" Sale Friday, October 19, at Thrift-Mart from 9:00 a.m. till 5:00 p.m. The sale will be for the "Parents For Teens".

All parents of school age teenagers are urged to stop by and support the group. Parents may call Pauline Scheuren at 442-1431 for more information.

district play. Coleman is the only district team to defeat Cisco so far this year.

For Cisco to stay in the district race, Coach Parchman said, "We have got to win them all (the remaining district games). We are playing them one at a time. The players are responding well and getting better each week."

CJC Wranglers Will Play Kilgore Here

The Wranglers of Cisco Junior College will play the Rangers of Kilgore Junior College in a football game at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Chesley Field in Cisco.

The Cisco team lost a 24-to-22 contest to Henderson County JC in a game played in the rain last Saturday night in Athens. Henderson scored their 24 points, including 17 in the first quarter, before Cisco could get started.

In the second quarter, the Wranglers got on the scoreboard when QB Frazier hit Brian Taylor with a 30-yard pass.

In the third period, CJC Back Jason Potter broke loose and ran 51 yards to the 11 on the first play. Fullback Henry Canady then scored and the kick was good to put the score at 24-14.

With 9:52 left in the game, Potter scored on a two-yard line buck and Frazier's run for two-point conversion was good. The Wranglers saw other scoring efforts fall short and lost by two points.

Heavy rain during the final period made running and passing particularly difficult.

Two Cisco defensive backs, Walter Green and Kelvis Mangrum, both sophomores, suffered disabling injuries. Mangrum had a broken bone in a hand while Green suffered rib injuries. Both were alternate starters and will be out for several weeks.

This week's starting Wrangler lineup is expected to be about the same as the past few weeks.

Kilgore and Cisco both have 4-2 records for the season. Both lost to Henderson JC, and Kilgore also lost to Tyler. Kilgore defeated Ranger JC 30-to-20 in a early season game.

Golden Exes Reunion In Carbon

Class of 1934 Honored
 Willard O'Brien, Maxine Hampton Spears, Virgie Hastings
 Gregg, Loraine McMillan, Norris Shirley.

"Hello, there!" "Well, if it isn't —, or is it?" "How long has it been?" These remarks are typical of those heard at the Golden Exes Reunion at the Carbon School Lunchroom Saturday, October 13. Registration and visitation began at 9:30. At 12:00 a delicious and attractive lunch was served by the Senior Class of 1985, assisted by their parents and class sponsor. Invocation was given by Charlie Garrett, class of 1930.

The president of the group died earlier this year, and the secretary was unable to attend. T.G. Jackson, a past president of the group, presided. He introduced Kenn Norris, Superintendent of Carbon ISD, who brought an interesting and informative message. He spoke of the heritage the students of Carbon School have as a result of the efforts of their ancestors who worked toward better schools for the community. He also told of the recent school legislation and its effect on our school.

During the business meeting it was decided not to have the 1985 Reunion, as the all-school homecoming which is held every five years will be held in July, 1985. New officers elected were: President, Marvin Guy; Vice-President, Collin Campbell; Secretary, Mrs. Marvin Guy.

This year's honored class was the class of 1934, and the prize for having traveled the greatest distance was awarded to Maxine Hampton Spears, who lives with her husband, Bill, in Louisville, Kentucky. Mrs. Crickett Walker received recognition for being the earliest graduate of C.H.S. present.

Though the crowd was smaller than last year, Exes came from New Mexico, California, Missouri, Kentucky and Texas. It was interesting to note that ten former teachers in the Carbon school were there, seven of whom were graduates of C.H.S. There were also two former teachers who had taught in rural schools nearby. As the crowd left—one by one or two by two—it was evident that there is still a "tie that binds."

Mr. Norris stated that the new regulations had both good and bad points, and several points were yet to be explained. He said that "as a rule" they would hurt the smaller schools and would require them to spend more while they were being given less money. "This will force the Carbon School District to raise taxes," he said.

A business meeting was held, officers were elected, and each ex present was asked to say something about himself or herself.

Loboes Defeat Albany 20-To-9 In District Battle

The Loboes of Cisco High School held the Albany Lions to only one touchdown and one field goal Friday night to spoil the hosting Lions homecoming. Cisco scored three touchdowns to defeat Albany 20-to-9, in a District 11-AA battle.

Albany managed to get a field goal on their first drive of the game, but from then on they were unable to develop a scoring drive until their next to last possession of the game. They were trailing by the score of 20-to-3 at the time.

Cisco is now 2-1 in district play and 3-3 for the season. Albany is 1-2 in district and 2-3-1 for the season.

In the first half of the game, Cisco managed 145 yards of total offense while Albany had 137. But, in the second half, Cisco rolled up 192 total yards, all on the ground, and Albany managed only 85 yards, with only 7 on the ground.

Albany took the opening kick-off and started a drive from their own 34-yard line. On the first play, a pass from quarterback Jimmy Walsworth to Chris Beard which fell incomplete, Cisco's Dusty Deitiker almost made an interception. Albany then decided to stick to their running game for a while utilizing Paul Ivy to pick up yardage.

Others who ran during the drive were Beard and Rodney Browning. Jimmy Cooper also received a pass from QB Walsworth for a ten-yard gain. With the ball resting on Cisco's 11-yard line on fourth down, Albany elected to put three points on the board with a 21-yard field goal by Garner Koch. With 6:52 left in the first quarter, the score was 3-to-0 in favor of Albany.

On Cisco's second possession of the ball, the Loboes started on their own 34-yard line and six plays later the ball was resting on Albany's 25. Johnny Ramirez, Steve Abbott, Patrick Qualls and Josh Potter moved the ball during the drive. Two Cisco passes fell incomplete before quarterback Wade Shackelford hit Qualls for a 17-yard gain. On the very next play, QB Shackelford again picked Qualls for a pass, this time for an eight-yard touchdown. The extra point kick by Johnny Seaborn was not good making the score 6-to-3 with 10:26 left in the second quarter.

After the ensuing kick-off, Cisco's Qualls picked off an Albany pass during the Lions drive and returned it 37 yards for another Cisco touchdown. Electing to go for two extra points, Potter took the handoff from Shackelford and carried it into the end zone. With 8:23 left in the second quarter, Cisco took a 14-to-3 lead.

Neither team was able to score any more in the second quarter, or in the third quarter, but Cisco put together another scoring drive on its first possession of the fourth quarter.

Beginning at its own 42-yard line, Cisco took 11 plays to move the ball to Albany's four-yard line. Ramirez, Potter, Abbott, Danny Kearney and QB Shackelford carried the ball during the drive. Potter then carried the ball into the end zone from 4 yards out to end Cisco's scoring with 5:57 left in the game. Cisco had a 20-to-3 lead.

Albany took its very next possession at the Lions 21-yard line and moved downfield on passes from Walsworth to Cooper, Jeff Balliew and Browning. Six plays later, Walsworth hit Balliew for an 11-yard touchdown play. Ivy failed to gain the two extra points, leaving the score 20-to-9 with 4:04 left in the game.

Leading rusher for Cisco was Josh Potter with 26 carries for 134 yards. He was followed by Johnny Ramirez with 16 carries for 79 yards, Wade Shackelford with 4 carries for 14 yards, Steve Abbott with 3 carries for 5 yards, and Danny Kearney with 2 carries for 10 yards.

WORD OF GOD

Jesus Heals A Leper:

And, behold, there came a leper and worshipped him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean.

And Jesus put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will; be thou clean. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed.

And Jesus saith unto him, See thou tell no man; but go thy way, show thyself to the priest, and offer the gift that Moses commanded, for a testimony unto them. Matthew 8:2-4

The Nose Knows.

An aromatic chemical is added to natural gas to give it a distinct odor. One that's easy to detect. It's this distinct odor and knowing what to do when you detect it that keeps gas safe.

If you're outdoors and smell gas, you should call your local Lone Star Gas office.

If you're indoors and detect faint whiffs, check to see if a pilot light has gone out or a burner valve has been left partially open. These are corrective steps you can take yourself.

If your equipment is working properly and you still smell gas, please follow these precautions:

1. Don't switch anything electrical on or off. Don't strike a match or do anything that could cause a spark.
2. Have everyone leave immediately, leaving door open to help ventilate.
3. Go to a nearby phone and call Lone Star.

Help us keep natural gas one of the safest energies available. Use your nose. Then use your head... and follow the proper precautions.

(Just a reminder: Before you do any digging, call your local Lone Star Gas office so they can inform you on pipe locations.)

Bulk Food Guidelines Protect Consumers

COLLEGE STATION - Scooping your own corn meal or rice from barrels at the supermarket may be a nostalgic reminder of the old country store. But like most things, even buying bulk food is more complicated than it was in grandma's day.

Today you may have to struggle with a long-handled scooping device or plastic dispensing mechanism to get at your favorite bulk food. The apparatus is there for a good reason - to protect your health and safety.

The growing popularity of selling everything from trail mix to dried fruit, coffee beans and popcorn in bulk led food retailers to seek guidance from the Food and Drug Administration for applying sanitation law in their operations, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service food and nutrition specialist Marilyn Haggard.

"The objective in providing guidelines for bulk food sales is to control potential health problems such as the spread of communicable disease, outbreaks of food-borne illness and unintentional contamination of food," she says.

The FDA completed guidelines for handling bulk food in supermarkets earlier this year, and the effects are being seen in the grocery stores now, adds Haggard. The rules require bulk food to be dispensed from containers with close-fitting individual covers. Containers must be easily removable from the display unit for servicing, unless they can be cleaned in place without contaminating the food, explains the specialist.

The FDA ordinance also states that manual contact with the food by customers must be avoided either by mechanical dispensing devices such as gravity fed units, manual dispensers like tongs and scoops, or wrapping and sacking products, advises Haggard.

Also, just because you buy food from bulk dispensers doesn't mean you give up your right to product information, she says. The container should show either a counter card of manufacturer's label stating the name of the product and its ingredients in order of predominance.

To reduce the possibility of contamination, the rules suggest that retailers limit the depth of a bulk-food container to 18 inches and locate any containers with the opening at the top at least 30 inches from the floor, Haggard says. But retailers are not required to use these measurement standards as long as they avoid contamination of the food.

The FDA guidelines call for voluntary compliance by retailers and exempt wrapped candies, nuts in their shell and other protected items, she adds. So consumers will need to judge for themselves whether the bulk food operation seems sanitary, she says.

He stresses that the person listing the place and type of ugliness will not be identified, but that the list will be presented to the City Council.

The building to house Rusty Country Meats is nearing completion near the Rust Processing Plant on Hwy. 80 mid-way between Eastland and Cisco. Plans are to open the new store on Monday, Oct. 22. The new store will feature home grown and butchered beef and pork, and other items such as milk, eggs, cheese, lunch meats and bread. Owners and operators will be Randy and JoAnn Rust, who will have some assistance from Elmer and Dorece Rust.

The Kiwanis Installation Banquet will be held Thursday, Oct. 18 at 7:30 p.m. at the Colony Restaurant on I-20 Access Rd. Guest speaker will be Edgar M. Jackson, Assistant to the President at Hardin-Simmons University. Also speaking will be Kiwanis Lt. Governor Bill Baxter, who is with WTU in Abilene. Jackson has held various positions at the University, including assistant Professor of Speech Communication, Chief Admissions Office, and Dean of Continuing Education. Members Linton Batteas and Roy Dennis reported to the City Council on the activities of the alternate water supply committee. Tests have been run on water found in two wells south of Cisco. The test showed the water is drinkable and would require little treatment for use, but it is not yet known how much water is available through these wells.

RANGER

By popular demand, Ranger Junior College will repeat its evening course in "Oilfield Electrical Applications". Registration will be Thursday, Oct. 25, 7 p.m. in the Weldin Building. Classes will meet on Tuesday and Thursday nights for six weeks, and tuition will be $50. Instructors will be C.Y. Brown and Owen Rose, who will bring a combination of more than 80 years experience to the classroom. Although the course is directed to oilfield workers, it is open to any interested person. For more information call Leonard Marusak or David Drake at 647-3234.

Ben Lancaster, Ranger Manager with the Texas Electric Service Company, stated that higher bills over the long term will be the result of the PUC's order to reduce Texas Electric Company's rates. Further stating opposition to the action of the PUC, Lancaster said that Tesco "was fully justified in filing for the request, and we presented a good case before the Commission. The final order is totally unrealistic." He added that the Company will file within 15 days for a rehearing.

GORMAN

After several meetings, the Desdemona and Gorman Masonic Lodges felt it would be in the best interests of both to join together, and with the permission of the Grand Lodge of Texas Desdemona will return their Charter and their members will become members of the Gorman Lodge No. 716. Roy, Parker, W.M. and all officers and members welcome the Desdemona members. The Gorman Lodge meets the second Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m.

There will be a meeting on Thursday, October 25 at the American Legion Hall. All veterans are urged to become members and participate, says Post Commander Gene Hicks. The unit plans to become more active and reinstate various activities. The Service Officer for this area is Mutt Carroll.

The Rising Star Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture has set Oct. 20 as the day for another concentrated cleanup effort in the town. The town is planning to hold a number of events which will draw the attendance of the public.

People n Things: Dallas Cowboy Due Eastland Saturday

THE BEST PART of a vacation is always getting back home, which we did late Saturday. It took two days to drive leisurely from Santa Fe, New Mexico, to Cisco. Spent Friday night at Littlefield in a city-owned travel trailer park where you have full hookups compliments of the city. Needless to say, all 20 or so spaces in the park were full by dark.

Spent four nights at Santa Fe and enjoyed sight-seeing in that area. One day, we drove to Taos. Another day, we drove to the top of the Santa Fe area ski mountain. There was snow but not enough for skiing. More was expected a day or so after we left.

The aspen trees and other shrubs were in full fall colors and this was a sight to behold.

A BALLOON festival at Albuquerque, which we attended, was marred by one mishap. A balloon was flying low and was unable to avoid hitting an electric power line. The gondola fell some 35 feet to the ground. The balloon sailed away and was found several hours later some 200 miles away.

There were two men in the gondola. One, an Englishman from London, had a broken arm. The other, the pilot, had a number of broken bones.

As far as we know, this was the only mishap for the 530 hot air balloons that went up daily during the 10-day festival.

Services For J.C. Paschall Held October 8

Memorial services for James C. Paschall, 63, of Los Angeles, California, were held October 8, 1984, in Los Angeles. The Reverend Harlan Waite, a minister of the United Methodist Church, officiated.

Mr. Paschall died suddenly on September 22, while on vacation in Australia.

Mr. Paschall was born November 30, 1920, in Cisco, Texas. He was the only child of the late Mr. and Mrs. Crigler Paschall of Cisco.

He graduated from Cisco Schools, was active in the Boy Scouts, attaining the Eagle Scout Award, and attended John Tarleton College, the class of 1938. Enlisting in the Army Air Corps in June of 1942, he was commissioned a 2nd Lieutenant in October, 1943. He served in the European Theater in the Ninth Air Force and received the following decorations: The Distinguished Flying Cross, The Air Medal with ten Oak Leaf clusters, and the Purple Heart. At the time of his death, he was a Lt. Colonel, United States Air Force, Retired.

After World War II, Mr. Paschall entered Texas A&M University, graduating in 1951. He started work for Lockheed Aircraft Corporation and retired from that company as a Supervisor in 1979 after working 27 years.

He is survived by his wife, Karla Paschall, of Los Angeles, California.

Danny Claborn... Mr. Carl Moates is back home up on 4th Street after undergoing surgery at E.L. Graham last week... A vacation highlight for the Ed Poseys this past summer was a trip to the World's Fair at New Orleans.

THE TELEPHONE was ringing while Mrs. Fay Stephenson, who lives at her ranch home north of town, was in the back yard the other day. She hurried to answer and slipped and fell and suffered a broken arm. Doctors operated last Friday at Eastland Memorial Hospital and removed a bone chip from an elbow.

Mrs. Stephenson, a registered nurse, is reported to be doing nicely by friends who visited her at the hospital on Sunday.

THE REV. BILL HAYS, missionary to the Torreón area of Mexico, was a visitor in Cisco last weekend and spoke Sunday morning at First Baptist Church and Sunday night at Mitchell Baptist Church. He and wife Judy are friends of 25 or so area folks who have been making annual trips to the Torreón area to work in mission projects.

Rev. Hays and wife, who are on home furlough for a year at Sisbee in East Texas, came last Saturday. They were honored at a covered dish supper Saturday night at the Bruce Stovall home in West Cisco. Some 35 people gathered and enjoyed the event.

Mr. Gerald Winnett, in whose home the Hayses spent the weekend, reports that the local group headed by Winnett and Stovall is making plans for another mission trip to Torreón. They'll go right after Christmas as they usually do.

The Torreón mission post needs a boat motor for use in serving small congregations up and down the river there. If you have a 35 hp or so boat motor with a long shaft and would like to donate it to the Mexican Mission Post at Torreón, contact Gerald Winnett. Same will be delivered there with your compliments.

During his year's furlough, Rev. Hays is on the staff of three Baptist associations that work in East Texas and he appears frequently as a guest preacher throughout the state. Next August, his furlough will end and he will return to Torreón for three more years. His wife and two children will accompany him there again.

POEM

"Halloween"
By Vera Wheat
Won't be long till our town will have little goblins all around.
Also there will be the fire like eyes, of coal black cats, popping up from every where.

Pumpkins will find a way to many windows, with their bright lights, glowing with smiling faces to delight the girls, and boys. With their faces up close, their pumpkin teeth showing!
There will be witches, riding high, in the moon light while the girls, and boys look on with a bit of fright!
Jack Frost may also be right behind. With his magic brush, painting the window panes. Yet, he may be too late for the goblins to find. For the Halloween family doesn't tarry long. By day light, they will all be gone.

Let all of us, wish a Happy Safe Halloween for each, and every girl and boy that will appear in the scene. When our town greets all the goblins pumpkins, witches, cats, because again it's Halloween!

Bazaar
The First Christian Church will hold a Bazaar to be held November 2nd and 3rd from 7:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Breakfast and lunch will be served.
Come see our handicrafts, Christmas decorations, ceramics, baby quilts, baked goods, and "white elephant" room of bargains. Come and join us.

New Texas Law Requires Buckling Up Kids For Their Safety

Seventy-eight children ages 4 and under died in auto accidents in Texas in 1983. Another 6,603 were injured, many seriously.

Although these figures led the nation, the Texas Medical Association says there could be a substantial decrease in these categories beginning Oct. 31, 1984, when a new state law takes effect.

As of that day, a driver must buckle up a child passenger under age 4 with a safety seat or seat belt or face a fine of $25 to $50. The fine will be dismissed if the person acquires a child safety seat within 10 days of the offense and provides proof to the court.

Statistics show that nine of every 10 children involved in auto accidents could have been spared death or injury had restraints been used. TMA supported the new law, which was passed during the Texas Legislature's special session in June.

The law does not apply to a person transporting a child in a vehicle in which all seating positions equipped with child safety seats or safety belts are occupied. Also exempt are bus or cab drivers and others hired to transport passengers.

The law, which applies to cars and light trucks, requires that a child under 2 must be buckled into a safety seat that meets federal standards set by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. Children over 2 but under 4 must be restrained by a safety seat or seat belt. Failure by a driver to use the child passenger safety seat could not be admitted into evidence during a civil trial, according to the law.

To help people obtain child safety seats, numerous groups, including the Texas Medical Association Auxiliary, have programs that loan the seats at no charge. For information on loaner programs in your area, call 1-800-252-8255, a toll-free number operated by the Texas Department of Health.

TMA also supports mandatory use of safety belts for all other ages because of their proven record in reducing deaths and injuries. Tragically, about 98 percent of automobile occupants killed in Texas during 1983 had seat belts available yet failed to use them.

Caution During Halloween

High-spirited children excited about Halloween are rarely cautious during the dark night out.

For this reason, a safe Halloween involves cooperation by parents, motorists, and homeowners to help prevent accidents, according to the Texas Medical Association.

Parents first should make sure their child has a safe costume. Cloth masks or entire head masks are dangerous because they can slip and block a child's vision or breathing. A good option is to paint a mask on the child's face with cosmetics or grease paint.

Avoid loose-fitting costumes, which may catch on fences, bushes, or other obstacles. Make sure the costume is not so long that the child can trip on it. Dark costumes are difficult for motorists to see. If a child insists on one, use reflective tape or liquid "paint" (available at hardware stores) that shines in the dark or reflects light. Put the tape or liquid on jack-o'-lanterns, hats, or bags that the youngster wears or carries.

Homeowners should light their property so youngsters do not trip over stairs or other obstacles. Lawn furniture and garbage cans should be put away, and the garage locked.

Bring pets inside, for bands of noisy children may excite them. Cover any holes in the yard.

Parents also should warn children not to eat the candy or fruit they receive until it is checked at home. If a party is held at home, flameproof or fire-resistant materials should be used for costumes, caps and decorations.

Motorists can do their part by slowing down and driving with extra caution while in residential areas on Halloween.

Following these common-sense suggestions will help ensure that children enjoy a fun-filled yet safe Halloween.

Winter Pastures Need Fertilizer

COLLEGE STATION--Winter pastures which are just germinating from recent rains need adequate amounts of plant nutrients to help "catch up" from a slow start.

"Many forage producers had planted their winter pastures in dry soil without a fertilizer application," points out Dr. Neal Pratt, forage specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "They need a good rain first to get a good stand, and now these pastures should make some growth."

But they need adequate nitrogen, and this is where proper fertilization comes in, says the specialist. Fertilizer applications (topdressings) should be based on soil test recommendations, and there's still time to get soil tested, Pratt adds.

With adequate moisture, winter pastures will make good growth over much of Texas until about Dec. 1, or the first heavy frost of the season, says E.K. Chandler, president of the Texas Forage and Grassland Council.

"Winter pastures got off to a slow start this fall as dry weather extended through September over much of Texas," notes Pratt. "But if warm, moist conditions continue, winter pastures will be able to recover some lost early growth. Of course, fertilizer should be topdressed once pastures become established and can support fertilizer equipment."

Country Living Tour Of Europe

By Adeline Meredith

Willie again met us with our coach and as we drove on down the mountain we were again grateful for him because the driving was difficult; there were sharp, steep curves all the way; he used a motor break coming down.

As we drove back to Interlaken, Sepp again began to tell us interesting things about Switzerland. He said the average income is $1500 a month, the highest in Europe. It is a very wealthy country. It has benefitted from wars rather than suffering from them as other European countries have. Since it has no natural resources it makes machinery and watches. Lower paying jobs, such as waiters, are not held by Swiss, but by people from other countries who come to Switzerland seeking jobs because jobs are hard to find in their home country.

A farmer could not tell you the value of his farmland. Farmland is not bought and sold in Switzerland. A non-farmer could not buy a farm. The house is built by the family and house and land are passed on to the next generation. It is often passed on to the youngest child as the parents wait as long as possible to pass the farm on; therefore, the oldest children have usually already established themselves in other professions.

The price of a house would be double that of a comparable house in the United States. More people live in apartments than in private homes. Rent is very high. A small one-bedroom apartment with a kitchen, fold-down bed, all in one room, would sell for about $45,000. A person can buy a flat subsidized by the government.

The down payment is made and the rest is interest free. The buyer must not sell it, if it is bought with the subsidy, for 10 years or he must pay interest. It cannot even be rented.

Ten percent of the forest is owned by the government. Farmers must get permission to cut a tree and then must plant one to replace it.

As usual, we had a very good dinner in our hotel. We ate clear soup with sliced vegetables, chicken, rice, spinach with mushrooms, mixed vegetable salad and marinated berries with cherry ice.

Friday, July 27, we were on our way by 9:30 to Bern, the capital of Switzerland. Sepp said Switzerland really does not have a capital but, since the seat of federal authorities is in Bern, it is called the capital. Bern is so named because in the 12th century a duke said the city would be named for the first animal which was killed in a hunt. A bear was the first animal killed so the city was named Bern. It is known for its fountains and many beautiful old buildings. There are no modern buildings in Bern.

As we drove along we saw members of the Swiss Army training. Every 18 year old man joins the army and remains a member of the army until he is 55. There is no difference in active and reserve duty. There is no such thing as a professional soldier; the chief in command is the only soldier who is paid full time. Women are only in the medical branch. The youngest men spend six weeks every year in training and this time is reduced as they get older. They are compensated for time lost on jobs. The Swiss army is very well equipped and said to be very efficient. The Swiss have their own weapons industry. Army units are called out for fires and avalanches. Men who are not officers in the army have trouble getting higher jobs in industry.

Switzerland enjoys lower taxes than other European countries. There are income taxes and property taxes, but most taxes are collected locally. Gasoline is $2.40 per gallon and $1.50 of that goes to the government.

We passed through two-mile-long Belchen Tunnel which was the longest tunnel in Europe until four years ago. It goes under the Jura Mountains.

We stopped in Basel, near the German border, for lunch. There we saw a sign "hundebau" above two bowls of water. This was drinking water for dogs. We found this strange because we had not found one drinking fountain for people and here was water placed conveniently for dogs.

We drove through the Black Forest and the Rhine Valley. The forest, named Black Forest because of the appearance of black of the spruce trees, was beautiful, but we didn't think it could compare to the forests in the Alps. German and French are spoken in the area. The newspapers are bi-lingual: the national and international polities are printed in French and the social and home politics is printed in German, so one column may be German and the one right beside it may be French.

I had expected the Autobahn would be a super-highway but was surprised to find it an old-appearing four-lane highway. Then, of course, I remembered it is an old highway, having been built by Hitler. There is no speed limit except for buses, which is 50 mph. Ours had a speed limit of 63 because of extra safety features which it had.

Sepp said fewer people in Europe own firearms than in the United States. There is no chance to sue a doctor. Lawyers work for a fixed fee. A criminal gets a fixed sentence: he may get one-third off for good behavior. Gas costs $2.50 to $3.00 per gallon. I tried hard to take notes on all Sepp told us, but I found it hard to write constantly and still see all there was to see.

We stopped a beautiful Lake Titli and ate delicious Black Forest cake and we did some shopping. We spent the night in Aparthotel Hirschen in Schoenwald that night. It was something like time-sharing: people who owned the one-room apartments could use them for one month out of each year and the rest of the year the hotel rented the rooms to travelers. We did some shopping in the interesting town and then had dinner of leek soup, salad, pork steak (or venison stew), lots of fried potatoes and fresh fruit.

After dinner we walked high up a hill to a lovely old cemetery which was filled with flowers - petunias, roses, begonias, succulents and many others.

After a large breakfast on July 28, we were off to a German farm. The farm house which is 365 years old, the oldest in the forest, is being restored for the older people to move into. Their son is taking over the farm and will live in the main farmhouse. They own 122 acres and rent 25 more on which they have 40 Angus, 30 horses and ponies, 5 pigs and 3 goats. They said they did have 10 chickens, but a fox had killed all but one. The government pays them a premium for not producing milk. The horses and ponies are used in their riding stable. Several young people were there to ride that morning even though it was raining.

Mrs. Duffner, the lady who owned the house, served us Kirschwasser which she called "cherry water" but in reality was a liqueur very high in alcohol content. She pointed out two crucifixes in the room which was supposed to keep ghosts away. She said that they watch "Dallas" on TV.

Amendments

By Senator Bob Glasgow

In addition to the presidential, statewide and local elections to be determined by the voters on Tuesday, November 6, 1984, there will be eight proposed constitutional amendments on the ballot as well. Constitutional amendments must first be approved by a two-thirds vote of the members of the Senate and of the House of Representatives. Then the proposals are submitted to the voters. Since the Texas Constitution was adopted in 1876, 419 amendments have been proposed - 263 were adopted.

Amending our Constitution is a very important matter; and in an effort to provide you with information on these 8 proposed constitutional amendments, I have listed each one below, giving the background and the pros and cons of its adoption. I hope you will make every effort to go to the polls and vote on November 6th.

AMENDMENT NO. 1 - THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO PROVIDE STATE BANKS THE SAME RIGHTS AND PRIVILEGES AS NATIONAL BANKS.

The proposed amendment provides state banks with all rights and privileges presently granted to national banks located in Texas. These rights and privileges are authorized despite possible conflict with other provisions, most notably the branch banking prohibition.

BACKGROUND
Since the Civil War, the United States has evolved a dual banking system, composed of both state and national banks. State banks are chartered and regulated by state supervisory authority.

National banks are created under and governed by federal law and subject to the authority of the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency. If a state statutory provision conflicts with a federal provision relating to national banks, the federal law controls; however, national banks are subject to state laws that do not expressly conflict with the laws of the United States. One of the greatest restrictions on national banks resulting from state law is the prohibition of state and national banks from participating in branch banking.

Prior to the early 1900's, national banks were forbidden from branch banking. Conversely, branch banking by state-chartered banks was a widely accepted practice in a number of states during much of the 1800's. The 1927 McFadden Act attempted to provide "competitive equality" by allowing national banks to branch only where state banks were expressly permitted branching powers.

Texas lawmakers have historically opposed the idea of branch banking. State chartered banks were prohibited in Texas during most of the 19th Century, and it was not until 1904 that the constitution was amended to allow the establishment of a state banking system. Since that time, branch banking by any bank located in Texas has been prohibited by the Texas Constitution as well as by statute. The 1950's saw court approval of drive-in teller windows and separate tunnel-connected banking facilities. A 1975 attorney general opinion declared bank holding companies acceptable provided one bank did not attempt to control or direct the others. By 1980, when the use of electronic fund transfer machines was approved by constitutional amendment, 50 percent of all Texas deposits were controlled by 15 institutions.

Although seven other states prohibit branch banking, Texas is the only state to do so by both statute and constitutional amendment. If the proposed amendment is approved, state law will continue to enjoin branch banking in this state unless national banks are given unchecked branching powers by federal law.

ARGUMENTS FOR:

1. The adoption of the proposed amendment will ensure continued parity between state-chartered and nationally chartered banks. It will remove the necessity for frequent state legislation merely to maintain equivalence under future modifications of federal banking law.

2. If federal law is changed to permit branch banking, state chartered banks would be prevented from competing effectively with the great convenience offered by national bank branches until a similar change in state law. The proposed amendment simply ensures equality of state and national banks and the possible survival of state chartered banks if national banks are granted sovereign branching powers.

3. Texas law currently permits a variety of banking practices formerly considered to be against public policy. The acceptance of drive-in teller windows, electronic fund transfer machines, and bank holding companies clearly indicates both judicial and popular support for the loosening of certain long-standing banking prohibitions, and trend-toward greater consumer convenience, and the logical next step in the state's financial development.

AGAINST:

1. The possible introduction of branch banking to Texas, as contained in this amendment, will enable large financial institutions to open branches in unfair competition with smaller, local banks. Unable to compete due to comparatively meager resources, many small banks will be forced to merge with major banking institutions, producing an unhealthy degree of financial concentration and wiping out a tradition of small independent banks.

2. The passage of this amendment and the possible subsequent establishment of branch banks in Texas will serve to deprive rural communities of financial self-determination. As major banking institutions overtake small local banks, many rural communities will find themselves under the financial control of distant corporate banks whose policies are set without regard for the problems and concerns of the local community.

3. The broad wording of the proposed amendment leaves the scope of its powers dangerously undefined. A vague blanket grant of rights may easily produce unforeseen results, the consequences of which may be vastly undesirable.

Adams said the men and women of this graduating class have been given some of the best police training available during their 18-week course at the DPS academy in Austin.

"Due to the variety of law enforcement related situations facing our troopers we provided detailed training in criminal law, civil law, traffic accident investigation and dozens of other related police topics," Adams said.

In addition to the basic law enforcement training, the recruits were instructed in first aid, firearms use, traffic management, defensive survival techniques, drug identification and other law enforcement courses.

Evidence of Identity Required by Social Security Office

Nearly everyone in the Big Country area who applies for a Social Security number remembers to bring evidence of age and citizenship, but many forget to bring evidence of identity. Glyn Hammons, Social Security manager in Abilene said recently.

Evidence of identity is always requested before the Social Security number can be assigned, no matter how young the person is, Hammons said. This rule applies to infants and small children as well as adults.

A person applying for a Social Security number usually needs at least 2 pieces of evidence; one to establish age and citizenship and the other to establish identity.

The best evidence of age and citizenship is a public birth certificate established before a person's 5th birthday which was issued by a U.S. State or local government. A foreign born person needs the appropriate immigration or naturalization records as well.

Some people find it difficult to find evidence of identity for infants or young children, Hammons said. Examples of documents that can be used include vaccination certificates; newspaper birth announcement; day care or nursery school record; adoption record; or doctor, clinic, or hospital record.

Older children can use school records, membership in Boy Scouts or Girl Scouts or other youth organizations, report cards, ID card, or welfare case record.

In fact, any document that gives enough identifying data to establish proper identity can be used.

Parents who apply for a Social Security number for a child must also provide evidence of their own identity in addition to the required evidence for the child.

Only original documents or copies certified by the issuing agency can be used. Photocopied or notarized photocopies are not acceptable.

U.S. citizens applying for a replacement Social Security card to replace a lost card need evidence of their identity, while foreign-born persons need evidence of current U.S. citizenship or lawful alien status as well as evidence of identity.

People reporting name changes need evidence of identity under both the old and new names before a new card can be issued.

Eastland Womans Poem To Be Published

A poem by an Eastland woman, Vida Killion, will be included in a book being published by the American Poetry Association, Santa Cruz, California.

This volume, which will be named "Hearts On Fire", is a collection of various poems about love. Mrs. Killion's poem is called "When The Heart Breaks."

The collection will be off the press in February, 1985, and will feature the work of contemporary American poets interspersed with poetry of great authors from the past.

The book will be placed in college and public libraries throughout the United States, and will also be distributed in many other parts of the world.

Mrs. Killion and her husband, the Rev. O.T. Killion, have pastored a number of Assemblies of God in the southwest. Although semi-retired from the ministry, they are still active in club, church and civic projects.

Vida Killion has written many types of material - skits, plays, articles, stories and poems. Much of this has been used in churches, has won prizes, or been published in magazines.

Simple Guidelines For Family Budgeting

COLLEGE STATION - Family budgeting might be easier if there was some simple guidelines for spending money.

Actually, it's very difficult to tell any family how much they should spend on food, clothing, shelter, transportation and other items, because all families are different, says family finance expert Nancy L. Granovsky.

But financial counselors at some of the non-profit consumer credit counseling services have developed a simple, easy to understand system called the 25 percent budget, says Granovsky, a home economist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

While using this set of budget guidelines may not be helpful to every family, it does provide a benchmark, especially for those who are not budgeting at all and may be experiencing some financial difficulty, she notes.

To make this budget work, you divide your monthly take home pay into four equal parts. Assign 25 percent for housing, 25 percent for food, 25 percent for monthly loan payments and 25 percent for everything else, explains Granovsky.

Allowing 25 percent for housing, including taxes and if possible, utilities, means you won't exceed for food, including groceries, children's lunches, and other meals away from home.

Allow 25 percent for monthly payments on everything you are buying on time, such as a car, furniture, television, appliances, home improvements or credit card charges.

The final 25 percent should cover everything else like savings, insurance, education, recreation, contributions, child care, personal expenses and emergencies.

The percentages in each budget category are flexible, she points out. For example, some families may spend 30-35 percent on housing. This means that each of the other parts on the budget will have to be reduced.

But no matter how you divide up your take-home income, says the economist your expenses will have to add up to 100 percent. If they don't, you'll have a personal case of deficit spending on your hands.

Choosing In-Home Care For Children

COLLEGE STATION - Choosing an in-home caregiver for young children is a serious matter for parents.

Of the children in childcare, about 85-90 percent are cared for in their own homes or in small groups in a caregiver's home, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist Diane T. Welch. The caregivers are often friends, relatives or neighbors, she adds.

Parents often prefer in-home care because it can be less expensive for two or more children, it saves the time and cost of transporting children to a day-care center, and in rural areas, it may be the only kind available, she explains.

When the in-home caregiver is a friend or relative, parents often feel awkward about asking for an interview, notes Welch. However, it's just as important to spend time talking with a friend or relative about child care, she says, since you may find your views on child care are not compatible.

"Make the time to sit down and discuss your views of child care with your friend or relative," Welch suggests. "Don't take anything for granted and tell the person what you expect of the child and what you would like a caregiver to do for and with the child."

Just because the caregiver is a friend or relative, don't avoid the issues of work time, the fee and agreement on how to end the services, she cautions. Getting business matters settled may help preserve a positive relationship between parents and the caregiver.

According to Welch, a family life education specialist with the Extension Service, any potential caregiver, whether a friend, relative or stranger, should be carefully interviewed before hiring. She suggests asking questions such as:

- What kind of TV programs do you think children should watch?
- What activities do you think are good for children?
- What do you do when a child disobeys?
- What do you do when you become angry with a child?
- What are some things you do with children to help them learn?
- What do you know about first aid?
- How do you feel about what children eat and drink?
- What kind of facilities for play, naps and eating do you have available?

Parents should inspect the home for safety and cleanliness as well.

Before hiring an in-home caregiver, prepare a written agreement about what you expect and what the arrangements will be, says the specialist. Both you and the caregiver can refer to the statement later, thus minimizing misunderstandings.

A written agreement might include such things as days and hours the caregiver will work; the amount of payment, when it is due, how it will be paid, payment for additional duties or overtime and Social Security to be ment. Interview more than one person and hire the one you feel most comfortable with, says Welch. "If you don't you will find yourself worrying about how things are going at home."

IN THE INTEREST OF SERVING THIS AREA, JIM CALDWELL BRINGS YOU THESE IMPORTANT MONEY-SAVING ARTICLES:

High-mounted brake lights - near the center of the rear window - have been found to reduce accidents dramatically. They'll be mandatory on new cars after September 1, 1985.

Bias-ply tires generally give the smoothest ride, and cost is low, but they don't last as long as radials.

Transmission fluid and filter should be changed at regular intervals, usually between 15,000 and 20,000 miles. Follow recommendations in your owner's manual, or check color of fluid. Dark transmission fluid is a signal to change the filter.

Carry an old windshield wiper (or any squeeze) in your car. It's handy to defog the inside of the windshield quickly.

It costs less to own and operate a car these days, according to recent statistics. Lower rates on car loans and less expensive gasoline get most of the credit for the change.
