

Public School Teachers Need Support Of Parents

by Wanda Hallmark
Morale among local teachers is low and one reason is the new state regulations, according to a recent interview at Cisco Jr., Sr. High School. "Just the interpretation of the new rules is hard enough," responded one teacher.

Other teachers said the paperwork is time consuming and reported that around 30 hrs. a week is needed to fill out the required lesson plans for their classroom teaching.

But, when asked if they still enjoyed teaching, everyone responded with "yes" or "I love it." "It's not as easy to teach students now as it was 10 years ago," one teacher commented. "The pressure on teachers now makes teaching harder," said another. "The competency test we are required to take is like a slap in the face. We go to college and have to pass a teacher's exam and then they tell us we are required to take this test," exclaimed one teacher. Another stated, "People other than teachers can pass this test. Several smart people could be instructors, but only a certain type really care for students and will work extra hours to help them." "If feel like the test is totally useless," said another.

One of the new rules is that a student must make a grade higher than 69 to pass a course or to be able to participate in extra curricular activities for the next six weeks. When asked if students are learning more because of this rule, the answers were divided. One said students are not learning any more, but, they are not learning any less. One felt like in time students will learn more. Only one teacher agreed with the new rules, and that teacher said only 75 per cent of the rules will be helpful. "The limiting of students to a classroom would be great but they won't stick to that,"

said one. "There is too much pressure on students. The passing grade of 70 is all right for smart kids, they can do it, but other students can't," explained another. "The rules are not for individuals. They are for a large mass of people. Curriculum in schools are geared for college, but not all students will go to college," defended one teacher.

Extra curricular activities are an important part of Cisco schools. With these activities students learn to be competitive and learn to handle their emotions. Most students who participate in activities don't have trouble with grades, according to the teachers. But some students have a hard time academically, and it's not fair when they are penalized for a full six weeks, even if they bring their grades up before the six weeks is over. With the new ruling, there is no margin for error.

When asked if there was too much emphasis put on extra-curricular activities every teacher said, "No." "Maybe in the larger cities, but not in Cisco," said one. "Sports and other activities help to keep students out of trouble," another stated. All the teachers feel that parents need to take more of an interest in their children.

"An example is Open House. Usually only about 10 parents show up for Open House at the High School," complained one teacher. "Parents have got to care about their children and encourage them to do their best even if it's not an 'A', but encourage them to just do their best," said another.

"Parents and concerned citizens should write the state legislators and express their opinions. These new rules came about because of the lack of involvement," said one teacher. "Parents need to have a say in school and they don't have it now. They need to become involved," was the reply of one teacher. "The best approach is to write the legislators and thank them for their support of education and then tell them what it is you want in the public school system," summed up one teacher, then added, "Use the positive approach."

HALL OF REMARKS

BY HERBET HALLMARK

DURING THE past few weeks of extremely cold weather, did you ever think about the possibility of waking up one cold morning and turning on your gas stove and nothing happening?

Lone Star Gas man Jack Tollett said he spent a couple of nights last week at the company's gas plant, hand-feeding gas into the lines so Cisco would have a steady flow and not run out of gas.

So, our hats are off to Mr. Tollett for helping us to keep warm in our homes. The next time you see him why not say, "Thank You for keeping us warm."?

IF YOU lost a small black and gray puppy last week, one was found in the downtown area on Wednesday. To claim it call 442-2757.

Even if you did not loose a puppy, but would like to have one, we have a puppy which is about nine-weeks old. It is one of a litter of 10 puppies which were born the weekend after Thanksgiving. Two puppies died during the cold weather and the other eight were given away.

But, one of the puppies was returned, since the people who took it had no where to keep it. It is now being given away, again.

A male puppy, it is black and part Boxer and part Pit-Bull with some Australian Shepherd thrown in.

IF YOU LIKE German food, you might like to make a note of the St. Joseph's 15th Annual German Sausage Festival set for February 17, at St. Joseph's Hall in Slaton.

Offered is "all you can eat" of homemade German sausage, German potato salad, homemade bread, and cake, for $5.00 for adults and $3.00 for children under 10.

German sausage is also offered by the pound at $2.75 on Saturday, Feb. 16th at St. Joseph's Hall. Auctions, entertainment and drawing for several prizes will also be held.

Cisco took a 24-22 advantage at intermission after a 12-12 tie with about five minutes left in the half, after both teams started the game sluggish.

The Lady Wranglers, now 15-5 overall and 5-0 in the conference, led all of the second half and had a 10-point advantage with about five minutes left in the game.

But the Vikings, now 14-10 and 4-1, battled back and trimmed the lead to two-points, 56-54, with about 1:30 left in the game before Laurie Mosley made a layup and the Lady Wranglers held on to the four-point advantage to win.

News From The Center

By Mae Green

The residents enjoyed looking at the snow but was happy to see the sunshine even though it was for a little while.

The monthly birthday party was hosted by the Pleasant Hill Homemakers Club. Birthday honorees were Brady Leveridge and Donnie Nichos. BoBo was present to wish the residents a happy birthday and gave each a balloon.

We have had several residents in the hospital, but we are glad that they are getting better and returning home. We are glad to have Beth Bailey back working in our beauty shop, keeping the ladies looking prettier and the men looking handsome.

Pastors visiting the center were Bennie Hagan from Corinth Baptist, Cecil Deadman from East Cisco, Joe Philpott from Mitchell Baptist, and Buddy Sipe from First Baptist Church.

A Navy Within Our Navy..(8th In A Series) Service To Country In Peace And War

The vessels of the United States Navy represent a powerful force in the defense of our country. Named for noted people and places, these ships have, in time of peace and in time of war, provided essential service to the Navy and to the United States. Of the 595 ships commissioned in today's Navy, 10 are named for famous Texas cities, events or people. One of these is the USS El Paso!

The city of El Paso, for which the ship is named, is an important and influential bilingual center, and an integral part of the state's makeup. The USS El Paso (LKA11) also plays an integral role in the balanced, mobile and modern 20 knot amphibious force of the United States North Atlantic Fleet.

The El Paso, an amphibious cargo ship, is designed to transport and land combat equipment and materials, with attendant personnel, in amphibious assault. Besides their wartime achievements, ships like the El Paso have accomplished significant peacetime missions, as visual symbols of "power for peace," statesmanship in times and places of crisis, by bringing medical care, food and supplies to disaster victims, by rescuing seafarers in peril on stormy oceans, and as goodwill emissaries to other nations.

The current El Paso was commissioned in January 1970, and is the second ship to be so named. The first was a patrol frigate, PF-41, commissioned in 1943, which saw service in the Pacific during World War II, and which received three battle stars for service during that war.

The current El Paso has also earned numerous awards during her career. She has won two Battle Efficiency "E" awards in 1971 and 1978. In 1978 she won every departmental award for which she competed, including damage control, amphibious assault, communications, engineering, gunnery systems, supply and operations.

The El Paso also won the Arleigh Burke trophy for ships showing the greatest improvement in battle efficiency, the NEY award for food preparation, and the Golden Anchor award, which honors ships for excellence in career motivation and retention programs.

The awards she has received, and her record of participation in exercises since 1970, show that the El Paso, with her crew of 24 officers and 310 well-trained enlisted men, is ready for whatever duties her country calls her for.

This year, the USS El Paso has participated in exercises in the Western and Northern Atlantic, after which she made visits to Trondheim and Rotterdam. Prior to that, El Paso completed operations in the Ionian and Mediterranean Seas.

Former Ciscoans' Music To Be Feature

The music of two people who lived in Cisco and another composer from Rotan will be featured in the "Parade of American Music" program of the Cisco Music Study Club.

It will be held Wed., Feb. 13 at 10:00 a.m. in the Women's Clubhouse on West 7th St. Mrs. Lynn Williams and Lydia Krauskopf will perform various numbers written by J.B.F. Wright.

We appreciate everything that you do to make the residents happier and contented as possible.

The residents are always glad to have a visit, a card or a phone call from their friends. It is always nice to know that someone is thinking of you.

County Roads And Damaging Traffic

For a long time Eastland County Commissioners and a number of citizens - particularly those in rural areas - have been aware of increased traffic on county roads.

Some of the heavy traffic has been caused by increased oil exploration in the county, and a lesser amount by large modern farm equipment being moved from one tract of land to another.

Eastland County Commissioners are attempting to deal with the problem of damaging traffic, but realize that it is not an easy matter to solve. The isolation of many of the roads and the difficulty in enforcing load limits calls for some really creative thinking on their part.

Texas statutes do provide a mechanism whereby counties may protect their roads, bridges, and culverts from damage from overweight oil field and other equipment. If limits below those allowed on state highways generally are required, the Commissioners Court must adopt these limits and post appropriate signs.

Violations of these signs are punishable by fine or imprisonment. Only certain officers are authorized to enforce these limits, however - the Department of Public Safety, County Sheriff, or Deputy Sheriffs.

Oil field service equipment is apparently subject to the same limits as other vehicles under these laws. Damages to county roads and bridges may be recovered through civil suits. If the violator can be caught, that is.

On Jan. 14 Eastland County Commissioners voted to restrict or prohibit damaging travel on rural roads in the county. On Jan. 28 a further reference to this problem was on the agenda. The latest discussion ranged over the kind of signs to erect, load limits, and enforcement. All Commissioners agreed that the problems on these unpaved roads were a lot worse in wet weather.

The weight of vehicles operated upon the public highways of the state are of course regulated by the state. Generally a vehicle operated on public highways shall not have a greater weight than 20,000 lbs. on any one axle, 34,000 lbs. on a tandem axle, or a total weight of more than 80,000 lbs.

These loads obviously exceed the capacity of many county roads and bridges. The state has given the Commissioner's Court the authority to limit the maximum weights to be transported, moved over and upon any county road, bridge, or culvert.

Pictured is a road in the Pleasant Hill Community (Pct. 4) after the recent snow. It is described as being in "typical" condition.

Once weight limits are established and proper signs erected, it becomes unlawful for anyone to operate vehicles exceeding the maximum weight.

Any authorized officer who has reason to believe that the gross weight or axle load of a motor vehicle is unlawful may weigh the same with a portable or stationary scales furnished by the Department of Public Safety. Or the officer may require that the vehicle be driven to the nearest available scales for the purpose of weighing.

It appears that stricter enforcement on load limits lies ahead for Eastland County. Undoubtedly the roads will also have to be improved, in order to keep pace with the industrial traffic.

Also, we could cut all government salaries 10% and they would still be overpaid.

All our congressmen need to do is take the responsibility that they were elected for and if they don't, we need to elect someone to take their places who will.

Head-On

Ray Boyd

The responsibility for the balancing of the budget belongs upon the shoulders of our national congress.

They are making a lot of fuss about the best way they could go about it.

Most of us here at home think it would be a simple thing to do. We would do what any businessman would do when the out go is more than the income, he would cut the out go.

We need to let our congressmen know that we expect them to stop spending what they don't have.

We have to stop the unbalanced budget situation and reduce the huge deficit in order to stop more than a billion and a half dollars in interest each year.

Sunday, the day our newspaper had its Open House, I had the opportunity to talk to Congressman Stenholm and asked him is a 5% cut in government spending would be a good method to balance the budget. He agreed and said it would take about four years.

We could cut each and every government program 10% and it wouldn't be critical for any of them.

4-H'ers Work For Goals

Demonstrations and illustrated talks are two of the most effective methods of presenting information. People learn faster and remember longer if they see as well as hear - one reason that demonstrations and talks are a vital part of the 4-H program. The greatest value of demonstrations and illustrated talks, however, is to the 4-H member who plan, prepare and present them.

Presently we have several 4-H'ers working toward the goal of presenting demonstrations. Below are the 4-H'ers planning on presenting talks this Year:

- 1) Cathy Thomas - Jr. - Eastland 4-H
- 2) Toby Long and partner - Sr. Rising Star 4-H
- 3) LaDawn Little and Ginger Cantwell - Jr. - Ranger 4-H
- 4) Albany & Kyle Sargent - Jr. - Eastland 4-H

- 5) Natalie Stevens & Tracy Maynard - Jr. - Eastland 4-H
- 6) Stephanie Long and partner - Sr. - Rising Star 4-H
- 7) Amy McDonald and Jonna Veal - Sr. - Ranger 4-H
- 8) Shannon Caraway and Shane Burgess - Sr. - Gorman 4-H

9) Ranger will also have two Share the Fun Acts - Jr. and Sr.

4-H'ers profit from these presentations by gaining poise, confidence, knowledge and self-assurance, they grow each time a person makes a presentation. They have opportunities to:

- work on something they are interested in
- gain knowledge and skills
- learn to plan and organize thoughts
- use visual examples
- develop good judgment, speech and actions before an audience

- listen to others opinions
- teach and show others improved methods
- compete at County, District and State for further opportunities

These 4-H'ers will be striving for excellence, Sr. to win district so they can advance to state during the summer. We wish all these 4-H'ers luck as they prepare for competition.

 BRINGS YOU THESE IMPORTANT TIPS...
YOU AUTO KNOW

Would you jump head-first off a three-story building? Of course not! But you'd get the same force slamming into a windshield while driving at 30 MPH. Wear your seat belt!

Air filters should be changed every 30,000 miles, more often with severe driving conditions such as dirt roads.

Smooth turning is not only more comfortable, it saves gas. Hard turning diverts excess energy to the power steering pump.

A weak coil spring may be responsible for steering difficulties, but it may take an expert to find it.

Do-it-yourself safety lights for emergencies: old coffee cans banded with strips of bright reflector tape. Store a few in your trunk.

Senior Citizens Nutrition Menu

For the next two or three weeks we are going to give attention that Americans are healthier than ever before.

With all the seemingly bad news about America's Health it is important to keep the issue in its proper perspective.

The American council on science and health states "Newspapers, television, and practically every other news medium are full of reports about the prevalence of cancer, heart disease, stroke and the like."

These disease says the council are often linked to the modern American lifestyle. Contemporary diseases are caused by contemporary problems - poor diet, pollutants, additives, etc.

However, the ACSH says, "A person living today has a dramatically better life expectancy and is much healthier than ever before." Let's continue this next week, but so that you will be getting a well-balanced diet during the week, why not call 442-1557 and make a reservation for a nutritive luncheon.

Programs during the week were presented by the Senior Citizens band and choir. Dinner music by Lois Holder, Mildred Johnston, A.E. McNeeley and Billie Wood.

Menus for the coming week:

Monday- Swiss steak, squash, potatoes, salad with cheddar cheese, cobbler, bread, butter and milk.

Wednesday- Cheese meatloaf, corn, blackeyed peas, tossed salad with carrots, tapoca pudding, bread, butter and milk.

Thursday- (Make-up day due to bad weather.) Ham, glazed yams, steamed carrots, cake, bread, butter and milk.

Friday- Beef stew, tossed salad, apple sauce, cornbread, butter and milk.

with Bural Chambers Cisco Funeral Home

WHAT IS THE VALUE OF A FULL-SERVICE FUNERAL?

Since the beginning of time, man has publicly viewed and buried his dead with dignity and ceremony. Although rituals differ, the funeral service meets the needs of the survivors, the living, as well as providing for the deceased. What are some of these needs and how does a full-service funeral fulfill them?

Realization: First, it declares that death has occurred and it offers testimonial to a life well-lived. Denial of a death is common. The very fact of a funeral and the viewing of the body (or casket) facilitates the realization of that death.

Emotional expression: The full-service funeral is of deep psychological significance to the living. Sorrow-shared is sorrow-diminished. The full-service and the facing-of-facts is the first step toward emotional adjustment after bereavement.

For more information about the full-service funeral, stop by or phone us.

While a student at Abilene Christian he was drum major for the Big Purple band for three years, Sophomore Favorite, Student Association treasurer, president of Frater Socialis men's social club, a member of the golf team for four years and was listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

From 1967-74 Gwynneth and his wife, Joyce (a 1960 graduate of ACU), were missionaries in Austria, supported by the Mary Ellen and Harvester Church of Christ in Pampa. Upon returning to the States the Curtises settled in Portland, Oregon where Gwynneth was the controller for an export management company. An offer to serve as Administrative Assistant to the president of Lubbock Christian College brought the family back to Texas. Their move to Abilene in 1976 was prompted by an opportunity to serve as general manager for a Piper Aircraft dealership. Later Gwynneth assisted in the establishment and operation of a computer company prior to joining the staff at ACU.

Gwynneth is a deacon at the Hillcrest Church of Christ. The Curtises have four children: Kellie, Trellis, Cory and Ryan.

The Cisco Girl Scout Association held a meeting on January 28, 1985, in the Community Room of the First National Bank.

A discussion was held about finishing the work on the Scout House. A suggestion to accept bids on completing the roof so that workdays can be scheduled was discussed as well as the use of teenagers to clean out the debris.

In other matters, Sarah Hounshell reported that the cookies sales are doing good. The first meeting of the Junior and Cadet Girl Scouts will be held Saturday, March 16, 1985. Sharon Vann has volunteered to be a leader for a Cadet troop.

East Cisco Baptist Plans Lay Renewal

The membership of East Cisco Baptist Church, 506 E. 11th in Cisco, has scheduled a Lay Renewal Weekend March 15, 16, and 17. The weekend will be under the leadership of Mr. Harvey Tipton of San Antonio, Texas. Bro. Tipton is a Lay Minister who serves as an Associate Pastor at the North East Baptist Church in San Antonio.

A team of lay people including several youth will work with the local church during the Lay Renewal Weekend. "There will be between 30 and 45 total team members," said Bro. Cecil Deadman, pastor of the local congregation.

Bro. Tipton was in Cisco during the past week to meet with members of the church who will be leading in preparation for the special event. Local Chairman for the weekend is M.C. Ivie.

Other committee chairmen include: Harvey Hull, Gail Hogan, Wanda Toler, Peggy Phillips, Dean Toler, Bill Hill, Glenda Cox, LaNelle Anderson, Bruce and Ginger Stovall, and Leanne Agnew.

According to Bro. Deadman these people and the members of the congregation who serve with them as committee members will be the key to a successful Lay Renewal effort.

"A Lay Renewal Weekend

is basically designed to allow Christian Laymen to share their cares and concerns with one another. The weekend is well prepared for, bathed in prayer and committed to the will of God," said Bro. Deadman. "It is a time of Spiritual Renewal and Refreshing," he continued.

WORD OF GOD

She openeth her mouth with wisdom; and in her tongue is the law of kindness.

She looketh well to the ways of her household, and eateth not the bread of idleness.

Her children arise up, and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her.

Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou excellest them all.

Favor is deceitful, and beauty is vain; but a woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised.

Eastland County Industrial Council In Austin Friday Working On Development

Eastland County's united effort to "stop giggling" about the GM plant and start working to make it happen moved into high gear this week.

A group from the County Economic Development Council was in Austin Friday working with the Texas Economical Development Board, making sure that Eastland County's name is firmly in the pot for consideration by GM in its work with the state officials.

In Austin where Carl Conger and Delton Ake, both of Eastland, Ron Butler of Ranger, Monty Montgomery and Tom Clark of Gorman and Dick Woolley of Cisco.

The County Council is made up of these plus Tom Brashier of Ranger, Joe Bennett of Gorman, Brad Kimbrough of Cisco, Don Landers of Rising Star and Kenn Norris of Carbon.

Working hand in hand with the state agency the local county group is updating material and making plans to "put the best foot forward" in the effort to encourage GM or whoever to this area.

A public workshop is being planned for Lone Cedar Country Club for March 12 for a public updating and input workshop so that all citizens may be a part of the program. It'll be a round table discussion and a keynote speaker is being lined up.

Conger spoke to the Eastland Rotary and Lions Club this week briefing them on the work underway.

A current Newsweek article details the frantic wooing of GM across the country.

The first thing Illinois Gov. James Thompson did when he heard about General Motors' new Saturn Corp. was to sing a long-pending mandatory seat-belt law - a pet GM cause - that he had taken no position on before. The very next day he called GM chairman Roger Smith to set up an appointment - and the day after that he flew through a blinding snowstorm to Detroit, zipped out to the General Motors Technical Center and, for the benefit of photographers, shoehorned his 6-foot-5 frame into a tiny Saturn proto-type car. Said he determined Thompson: "I wanted to be the first in the door."

That he was - and the door has been revolving ever since. In the wake of GM's announcement on Saturn four weeks ago, at least five governors and scores of other politicians and industrial-development experts have invaded the company's headquarters in an effort to lure Saturn to their state, county, city or, in one case, city ward. "There is literally no way in the world to know how many states, mayors, governors and development directors have contacted the company," said a hurried Stan Hall, the GM spokesman assigned to Saturn. "There are 15 entrances into this (headquarters) building for one thing, and there are so many conduits into the company that we can't keep up with all the contacts that have been made."

Small wonder. Saturn, GM's "clean sheet" effort to create not only a state-of-the-art small car of the future but a brand-new high-technology company as well, will spend about $3.5 billion to build its new facility, which will employ some 6,000 workers. But there is much more to Saturn than that; in an attempt to keep transportation, labor and inventory costs to an absolute minimum, Saturn will establish many of its key stamping, engine and other component plants within easy distance of the main assembly facility. That would bring the total number of jobs to 20,000 - enough to turn any politician's head.

As a result, they are pulling out all the stops in an effort to snag Saturn. Chicago Mayor Harold Washington called on both God and Mammon - in the persons of the Roman Catholic archbishop, Cardinal Joseph Bernardin, and John Swearingin, the chairman of the Continental Illinois Corp. - to head that city's effort to bring Saturn there. Not to be outdone, the mayor's city-council nemesis, Edward (Fast Eddie) Vrdolyak, lived up to his nickname by getting to the GM building ahead of Washington to make a personal pitch to locate the plant in Vrdolyak's own 10th ward. Donald Avenson, speaker of the Iowa House, said his state would pay half of Saturn's first-year payroll if GM would locate there. Gov. John Ashcroft pledged that Missouri would make GM "an offer it can't refuse" - a package including up to $30 million worth of sewers, roads and other public facilities and another $30 million for site development and job training. And one wag suggested on a Cleveland radio show that a sure-fire way to win the prize was to threaten to elect GM chairman Smith mayor of Cleveland if he didn't locate Saturn in Ohio.

As might be expected, one of the biggest pitches came from Texas, which has one big advantage: it's the home of Electronic Data Systems Corp., the computer firm bought by GM last year and destined to play a key role in Saturn's development. Smith took the unusual step of flying to Texas himself to talk about EDS's involvement; he also dined with Texas Gov. Mark White and returned to Detroit with an inch-thick sales pitch making Texas's case for Saturn.

Quick Fix: In reaching GM's decision - expected within 90 days - Saturn spokesman Hall said "the bottom line for us is that we are looking for a site where we can produce a small car inexpensively and do it on a long-term basis. We're more interested in that than in some quick fix a state can offer." Noting that no one site can offer everything Saturn wants, Hall summed up: "It's going to be like balancing a checkbook, where you take some out and put some in."

Tragedy interrupted that process last week for the burial of Joseph J. Sanchez, the highly regarded 54-year-old founding president of Saturn, who died after two heart attacks. But the suitors were quickly back in the line since no politician who values his job would risk not making a pitch - a fact Carol Ecton, mayor of Winchester, Ky., learned the hard way. When some of the locals started a campaign for Saturn, Ecton advised caution. "All I said was that if Saturn locates here we'd have to have a complete new water system, a complete new sewer system and three new schools," he said ruefully. "My question was whether the people of Winchester would want to pay for it." Hearing of Ecton's lack of zeal, no fewer than five candidates quickly announced plans to oppose him in the town's May primary.

Board Approves Work Program

The Cisco Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors approved the program of work for 1985 at its monthly meeting February 6th. The committee named will be meeting in the near future to determine goals for the year.

The program of work has three main headings with each of the Vice-Presidents overseeing the efforts of one of the areas. Shirley Hargrave, 1st Vice-President will be responsible for community development programs. The committees names include: The Fourth of July, The Christmas in May Project, Civic Planning, Special Projects, and Gene Abbott Memorial.

Joe Cooper will be in charge of Trade Development and the emphasis will be on the following: Tourist and Convention, Retail Trade, Business and Industrial, Agriculture, and the Hilton Project. Ivan Webb, the 3rd Vice-President will be in charge of Internal Affairs and Finances and the committees needed are: Membership, Budget, Quarterly Breakfast, and the Annual Membership Banquet.

Bill Austin, Jr., President, reported that some of the programs are now in progress. The Banquet Committee has made plans for the annual project and it will be held on February 28th at the CJC Agricultural Building. The Christmas in May project has begun preliminary work. It is a community wide effort that benefits the elderly and handicapped with repair to their homes. It helps those who cannot otherwise afford the repairs. Applications are now being accepted at the Chamber of Commerce office. Austin also reported that committee chairmen will be named for the other areas of work and will be meeting in the near future.

In other matters, the Chamber of Commerce Directors approved a Manager's Job Description and approved the minutes of the previous meeting and the financial report for the month. Discussion topics included the Annual Banquet, Christmas in May, and the Lake Park.

Dick Woolley reported on a trip made to Austin with other representatives of Eastland County to promote Industrial Development for the area. The rumors of the new Saturn Project of General Motors locating in Eastland County prompted area businessmen to form a group to work together in the future. The group is in the formative stages, but it is hoped that by combining efforts for major projects all the county towns will benefit.

Ivan Webb reported on the progress of a Memorial to Gene Abbott. The project is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce but the Noon Lions Club has volunteered their efforts to make the Memorial a reality. The memorial will be at the City Park. Gene Abbott served the Chamber of Commerce for many years as manager and also as an officer and director, while employed by Lone Star Gas Co. He tirelessly served Cisco and its citizens.

The Chamber of Commerce will hold its next Board of Directors meeting on March 5th at 11:00 a.m., in the Chamber office in Cisco.

In Memorium ..

A memorial gift to the Conrad Hilton Memorial Park and Community Center has been made by the First National Bank in memory of Frank Barrett.

Attention all cooks! A "Roaring Ranger Cook Book" is being compiled, and will be published in time for Roaring Ranger Days. You can help make this a very special regional book by sharing a favorite recipe. Each recipe that is published will bear the name of the person submitting it. Please call 647-1373 or 647-3883 for further information. And please write your recipe on a 6x9 sheet of tablet paper.

The Ranger Volunteer Fire Department needs more room and a new location. These Volunteers not only fight fires in Ranger - they fight them anywhere in the area they are called to go. Prospects for a new location are being worked on, and funds are badly needed for this project. Donation containers are being placed at local stores, and anyone wishing to contribute further may contact any one of the Volunteers. Don't let our Volunteers down - they put their time and lives on the line.

RISING STAR

The Home Economics Career Investigation Class is marketing and selling some really special cakes and cookies. The baking project for the period ending Feb. 15 is to produce and market "Giant Texas Chocolate Chip Cookies" and a chocolate on white cake. The public may order these delectable treats by calling 643-3362 or 643-1920, or the cookies may be purchased at Rising Star stores for $4.25. Students will personalize orders upon request. All profits from sales will go to the F.H.A.

Loose dogs are reported to be a problem in Rising Star these days, particularly around the Elementary and Jr. High Schools. Dog owners are reminded that there is a city ordinance to dogs running loose, and its sets a penalty for failure to comply. Although there are no facilities in Rising Star to house stray animals, a temporary solution to that drawback is being sought.

The Livestock Show and Community Fair Sat. 16 brought out a lot of entries this year. The auction from the food entries will be used to purchase animals at the Eastland County Livestock Show and sale. Entries in the arts, crafts and hobbies have been particularly numerous. Over 80 head of market animals, plus beef and dairy heifers, breeding sheep and rabbits were entered in the Livestock Show. An added attraction this year was the newest class - horse showmanship at halter.

Cans have been placed in several Rising Star businesses to collect money to pay for the lighted star erected on top of the water tower several months ago. This is a beautiful landmark for the town - something all can enjoy. All interested persons are invited to help keep this star shining.

SATELLITE TELEVISION

THINGS TO CONSIDER WHEN PURCHASING A SATELLITE ANTENNA

- I. THE DEALERSHIP: Regardless of equipment purchased, service is a factor. Due to advanced technology and electronic sophistication the dealership you choose must be able to provide service technicians that have been properly educated to provide service after the sale.
- II. ANTENNA SIZE: Quality Reception depends on antenna size and design. Antennas should be warranted by the dealership for 2° satellite spacing this means that most antennas under 9' may soon be obsolete.
- III. EXTENDED SERVICE WARRANTY: Established satellite dealership can now offer extended warranty service policies that protect the consumer from additional expense due to equipment failure.

40 Years Later

by Margaret DeFord

Late in February, the Division was relieved in the Cassino sector. Other than a few days in January, this was the first rest for the T-Patchers since November 15. Replacements and refitting were sorely needed. At Piedmonte and Maddaloni, the Division engaged in an extensive program to weld together another fighting team. Terrain near Forino provided excellent ground for mountain training, while Qualiano's dust-covered turf added another realistic phase. It was a fast-moving "Texas" Division that reentered the line in May.

May Offensive

The night of May 11 marked the beginning of a full-scale Allied offensive in Italy, designed to tear down the last barriers before Rome. For the opening phase, an attack against the strong Gustav Line covering Cassino, all Allied artillery that could be spared was used. The four battalions of the 36th were sent into the Minturno sector to support the 8th Division while dummy pieces were set up in the rear area to Qualiano to mislead the enemy. At 2300 a heavy barrage signalled the opening of the attack; a surprise was complete and initial advances were scored. Hard fighting ensued for several days, but by the 17th, the left side of the enemy's defense line had been reached and the success of the attack assured. With its mission completed on this front, Division Artillery returned to Qualiano to await shipment to Anzio where the second phase soon was to get underway.

Upon arrival at the Beachhead, two battalions, the 131st and 155th were immediately sent to the 1st Special Service Force attacking on the right flank of the beachhead. The 132nd and 133rd prepared to lay down their fires for the 3rd Division whose objective was Cisterna.

The Beachhead breakout was launched at 0730, May 22, with only slight progress reported the first day. Continued strong pressure on the Germans during the second day forced the fall of Cisterna. Beyond Cisterna, Cori, too, was taken. The enemy ring of steel which had enclosed the Allied forces was broken. The 36th, in reserve during the first days of the offensive, was committed May 27 before Velletri. Division artillery units then returned to their respective combat teams.

When Fifth Army attacks in the south met with assured success, the 36th promptly switched to the beachhead at Anzio. There, where a bitter stalemate had lasted from mid-January, preparations were underway for a powerful attack to break out and link up with the forces moving up from the south.

The Division sailed from Pozzuoli near Naples beginning on the 18 of May. Its first bivouac was in a wooded area east of Nettuno. Though traffic and army routine with in the confining perimeter seemed normal, troops and headquarters were both living mole-like, underground. Enemy artillery was light and had been for the preceding two weeks. If notorious "Anzio Annie," the big German railroad gun, dropped in during this time it was not reported. The "Texas" Division followed up through Cisterna and entered the line at the approach to Rome astride the road to Velletri.

Velletri

The last barrier to an Allied entry of Rome loomed ahead a line pinned on Velletri and Valmontone.

The City of Velletri lay white and lovely, nestled in the Alban Hills. Velletri faces to the south; it is an ancient town, and Nero once sent his favorite mistress inbefore the town for several days, harassed by snipers and machine guns around them and eighty-eights from the German batteries above Velletri. Early on May 31, two regiments of the 36th silently pulled back from their frontal assault, had circled around to the right side roads and had climbed the two-thousand-foot height behind Velletri before the Germans were aware of it.

It was a gamble. If the Germans could close their lines again, these men might have been lost. If not, they had turned the key in the lock of the great door barring them from the Roman plains and the capital.

At 2255, under the pale light of a new moon, the 2nd Battalion left off and by -130 had crossed the Velletri-Valmontone highway. On their right, men heard the steady exchange of machine gun fire where the 141st was keeping the enemy engaged. Just as the first streaks of gray dawn broke through, the head of the column made its way up the slopes of the objective. There had been no opposition, not a shot fired.

It wasn't until 0800 that the enemy was awakened to what had occurred, and even then, he underestimated the strength of the infiltrating force. The 143rd, combing behind, secured the east end of the Atremisio ridge.

The 142nd, continuing on, hurriedly pushed to complete the hold on the entire hill. German counterattacks were fierce but without avail. The 141st, in the flatland, were on to attack Velletri.

Velletri fell the following day. Hundreds of prisoners were rounded up. German dead lay among the ruins and loss of material to the enemy was extreme. The German line before Rome now folded but there was further fighting over the Alban Hills and around Lake Albano. On Mt. Cavo, last resistance was offered by a group holed-up in a walled castle. The gateway to Rome was open.

STATE CAPITAL

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Attorney General Jim Mattox last week urged a Senate panel to increase funding for his agency, and the next day news broke that Mattox had urged a probe of the district attorney who will prosecute his felony bribery indictment in two weeks.

Mattox is scheduled for trial Feb. 11 on a charge of commercial bribery stemming from a 1982 incident in which he allegedly threatened to put a Houston law firm out of the bond business unless they ceased attempting to question his sister in an unrelated legal matter.

He had asked the Senate Finance Committee last Wednesday to give him funds to recover outstanding court judgments owed the state, and told them: "If you take Jim Mattox, my personality, my political hangups out of it (your decision) and look at this and give it some money, I'll go out there and collect some of that dough." Abilene Sen. Grant Jones asked why he hadn't already been collecting the money.

The next day, House Speaker Gib Lewis confirmed he had received a letter from Dave Richards, Mattox's executive assistant, urging a probe of District Attorney Ronnie Earle's office.

Lewis said he was hesitant about starting an investigation just two weeks before the trial. "It was a spooky deal," Lewis said.

Speaker Lewis did not reveal the name of the individual who had complained to Mattox's office about the alleged misuse of state funds by Earle's office.

Taking A Risk

Most legislators are taking a hands off attitude on the affair, following Lewis' example, letting justice take its course in what promises to be an historical courtroom battle between Mattox and the Travis County DA.

Given the impact this case may have on the course of Texas politics, it's surprising that the controversy has waited until two weeks pre-trial to erupt again. A spokesman for the DA said they had been waiting for someone to create a diversion prior to the trial, and Lewis, himself, said the Mattox request "smelled a little bit of politics."

But Mattox's assistant Richards said he felt compelled to send the probe request to the House, and although the move might be misinterpreted by some, it was "taking a risk."

Standing In Line

Of course, Mattox's future is on the line. If found guilty, he will face pressure to resign, rather than appeal, even if he gets probation. If he doesn't resign, he will surely face primary opposition from his own Democratic Party in '86, a race he probably couldn't win under the cloud of a conviction.

If Mattox is acquitted, he will still carry the indictment in his political baggage, and he will surely draw opponents. Among the Democrats, there is already mention of '84 U.S. Senate candidates Kent Hance and Lloyd Doggett, state Sen. Kent Caperton and Tyler attorney John Hannah. Among Republicans, former AG candidate Bill Meier and state Sen. Buster Brown have surfaced their interest.

Observers note that people are standing in line to run against Mattox next year, despite his record as a highly effective, though controversial, attorney general. But although Mattox raised $750,000 early this year, his war chest will likely be decimated by legal fees.

Tuition, Horseracing
In other events last week, Lt.

Gov. Bill Hobby introduced his plan to avoid cuts in higher education funds by tripling tuition at state colleges and universities by 1987. The plan would still leave the institutions about $133 million short of current spending levels over the next two years.

Speaker Pro Tem Hugo Berlanga, D-Corpus Christi, filed the parimutuel wagering bill but with changes that threaten its passage. Berlanga omitted a statewide referendum clause but gives veto power to voters in counties where racetracks may be located. Governor Mark White earlier this year said he would veto any bill without the statewide referendum clause.

Some minority legislators are considering withdrawing support unless part of the proceeds are dedicated to welfare programs. Berlanga thinks he can persuade them all, including Gov. Mark White, to support his bill which failed to pass by two votes last session.

Stacy Dam Agreement

Stacy Dam and Reservoir, planned for construction on the upper Colorado River, hasn't gotten a lot of publicity, but efforts to stop it almost ruined passage of the Texas Water Plan, the omnibus water legislative plan now undergoing debate.

Last week Central and West Texas water agencies agreed to terms for building Stacy Dam, and may have cleared the way for quick passage of the legislation. West Texas lawmakers, angry at efforts to halt the dam, threatened to bottleneck the legislation unless an agreement was made.

The dam will be built about 50 miles east of San Angelo, where water is a precious commodity.

Oil Price Drop

The decision by OPEC last week to drop oil prices by as much as $1.40 a barrel left state officials without much hope for averting the budget crunch. As the price drops closer to $25/barrel, they remember State Comptroller Bob Bullock's forecast of another budget estimate reduction being forced at that magic number.

Lights From The Christian World

by Josephine Cleveland

Peter, the apostle, shortly before his death wrote a letter to the Christians in Asia Minor. They were being persecuted and he desired that they know that in the middle of their problem Christ works. He told them, "Ye are in heaviness through manifold temptations, that the trial of your faith, being much more precious than gold that periseth, though it be tried with fire, might be found with praise and honor and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ. I Peter 1:6-7.

We want our prayers to be answered quickly whenever we have a problem. The Lord wants to work character into us. We want to change our circumstances. He wants to change us.

Friend, your problems often last longer than you want them to last. Christ is allowing them to continue longer because He desires to perfect you. The Lord knows the beginning from the end. Peter told the people, "Think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you." I Peter 4:12.

You, as Christ's adopted child, have an inheritance in him. Do not forget that He has an inheritance in you.

God has more grace, unmerited favor, toward His children, than evil has to try you. He is faithful and will not let you be tempted above that which you are able to bare but will make a way for you to escape. Christ is faithful. If you desire this favor, then be patient. Good will come.

Dear Lord, we thank you for your grace. It is all sufficient. Help us to continually look to you for guidance in all our circumstances.

Farm Bureau Week Proclaimed Feb. 11-15 By County Judge Scott Bailey

County Judge Scott Bailey has signed a proclamation designating February 11-15 as "Farm Bureau Week" in Eastland County.

The week is part of a statewide observance during which county Farm Bureaus will make a special effort to enroll new members, according to Ernest Reich of Cisco, president of the Eastland County Farm Bureau.

Morris Underwood of Ranger is chairman of the membership committee which is responsible for membership acquisition and maintenance. Other committee members are: Ted Bott. "With more than 300,000 member families on its membership rolls, the Texas Farm Bureau is the largest state Farm Bureau in the nation," the proclamation reads.

"The Farm Bureau is a grass-roots organization, and its foundation is the county Farm Bureau. There are 217 organized county Farm Bureaus in the state, including the Eastland County Farm Bureau," the proclamation states.

Mr. Reich said the local county Farm Bureau has 1,841 member families and is seeking to exceed that figure in 1985.

He said that the Farm Bureau is a general farm organization that seeks to improve income and living conditions of farm and ranch families. It represents the farmer and rancher at the local county courthouse, in Austin, and in the nation's capital, Washington, D.C.

County Judge Scott Bailey signs a proclamation designating the week of Feb. 11-15 as Farm Bureau Week in Eastland County. Observing are, left to right, Jim Kennedy, agency manager; Preston McWhorter, director; Ted Bott, director; Cecil Self, secretary-treasurer; and Ernest Reich, president.
