Cisco Independent School District kept the gate from Friday's Homecoming Game between the Cisco Lobos and Eastland Mavericks and it amounted to over $7,000. It was estimated that over 3,000 fans witnessed the hard-fought game. It was standing room only as fans filled both stands to capacity. As usual, the Cisco High School Lobo Marching Band won the halftime program. Heard several comments from fans about the visiting band not playing to the home crowd. Our congratulations to Lela Beckett, the new Homecoming Queen.

The Cisco Volunteer Fire Department reports that for this fiscal year, they have answered 106 fire calls in town, and 61 rural, for a total of 168 calls as of October 1.

Last weekend Brandi Johnson, 11-year old daughter of David and Elaine Johnson of Cisco, attended the Gatlin Brothers Southwest Senior Golf Class in Abilene with her friend, Brandi Porter, and Brandi's grandparents, Lonnie and Dixie Crosby. While there Brandi Johnson was the lucky winner of a set of Wilson professional junior golf clubs. Congratulations, Brandi!

Correction

The story concerning the hospital district's proposed tax rate which appeared in Sunday's edition of The Cisco Press contained an error. The fourth paragraph should have read:

"The 1990 tax rate of $.50 per $100 can best be explained like this: For every $100 of property value, established by the Eastland County Appraisal District, the taxpayer would pay fifty cents. The appraisal district said that the average value of property in the Cisco Hospital District, based on appraisal figures if $18,347. The amount of tax on that amount is $91.74."

The story Sunday stated the tax would be $19.74. We apologize for this error and any confusion it caused.

4-H And Cake Brightens Day For Commissioners

Eastland County Commissioners met again in the Courthouse basement Tuesday, since the elevator was out of order. Three men from Esco Elevator Co. were said to be working on the machinery, with hopes of getting the elevator back in operation soon.

The Commissioners had another more pleasant distraction, however. Janet Thomas, Extension Agent (Home Economics) brought in a Bavarian Coffee Cake which she had baked.

Mrs. Thomas said the recipe for this cake was used by Melissa Bailey in a Prize-winning cake for a 4-H Bake Show several years ago.

Janet Thomas and Scott Hodges, Extension Agent (4-H) thanked the Commissioners for their continued support for 4-H Clubs in Eastland County.

"Eastland County now has nine active 4-H Clubs," Mrs. Thomas said. She and Scott Hodges invited members of the County Court to an Awards Banquet for County 4-H members.

Janet Thomas said that the current thrust of 4-H was "Friends Helping Friends," with emphasis on getting kids involved in 4-H who really need some help.

On other matters, the Commissioners approved a contract between the County and the Rising Star Rural Volunteer Fire Department. Under this Contract Precinct 3 will transfer $12,000 to the Department for emergency and fire-fighting equipment.

Other business included the review of County road maps prepared by Jedco Designs Co. of Clyde. John Davis brought copies of the maps for consideration, and the Commissioners approved the purchase of 50 small copies of the maps and 20 large ones, 35 by 60 in. There will also be five maps with roads only shown.

The commissioners decided to delay the final payment to Jedco, however—until the court is satisfied that all roads are identified and numbered correctly, and the maps are approved by the West Central Texas Council of Governments.

District received over $7,000 from gate receipts for the Homecoming game, according to Supt. Ray Saunderson's office. Some 3,000 fans filled the stands on both sides of the field and circled the end zones. It was the largest crowd to attend a football game in Cisco in several years.

The Cisco Junior Varsity will host Bangs JV at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. The seventh and eighth grade teams will play the junior high teams from Bangs at 5 p.m.

cussion on another matter - the best way to reimburse county officials for business expenses.

Kenneth D. Parker, CPA, told the commissioners that the IRS now wants all employees to report to employers their expenses and be reimbursed on a per-mile or actual expense basis.

"Unless you comply with the law the county stands to be reprimanded," he said. Judge Scott Bailey remarked that the County was not a profit-making group, but Parker replied that employees of a county were to be treated like other employees - same rules and regulations.

At least two of the Commissioners stated they would rather take an expense allowance in their wages and pay taxes on it rather than keep daily logs and have to "get involved" with the IRS in figuring deductions.

On another item, Billy Bacon, Commissioner of Pct. 4, reported that 16 prisoners were in the county jail, with 2 of those for TDC and two on "blue" warrants.

"I've been raked over the coals by saying at each meeting that the jail is clean," Bacon added. "People say I ought to take as good care of the County roads as I do the jail."

"I wish they knew how much we are saving the County by keeping the jail in (state) compliance," Bacon said. "It's the sheriff who does the work - I just do the inspecting."

L. T. Owen, Commissioner of Pct. 3, added, "Yes, and I'm going to brag on that Sheriff. He's done a good job with that jail."

"Yes, and if he hadn't, we'd be building a new one out on I-20 somewhere," Bacon replied.

THIS RUSSIAN ACROBATIC PLANE landed at the Cisco Airport recently after experiencing fuel flow problems. Owner Clint McHenry of Pompano Beach, Fla., had loaned the plane to Russian pilots for an air show at Sherman and he picked the plane up there and was enroute to another show at El Paso when he stopped here to refuel. There are only two of the SU26 planes remaining in the United States. One recently crashed in St. Louis, killing the pilot. Shown in the photo is Herman Eaker of Cisco, who refueled the plane.

Dental Dialogue
by Cone C. Rice, D.D.S.
Professional Cleaning Best

Q. I brush my teeth three times a day; why do I need a professional cleaning?
A. A prophylaxis (cleaning) can remove stains and the hard, crusty deposit known as calculus that you can't remove with regular brushing. If calculus is left on the teeth, it causes the gums to become inflamed, and can eventually lead to gum disease. A prophylaxis creates a smooth, clean surface on the teeth, making your mouth feel fresher and your smile more attractive, and making it easier for you to floss and brush more effectively at home. It allows the dentist to make a thorough visual examination of your teeth, and alert you to any problems you may have. Since stains and calculus form at different rates in different people, ask your dentist how often your teeth need professional cleaning.

This column is presented in the interest of better dental health. If you have any dental questions you would like answered, please contact the office of Dr. Cone C. Rice 963 East Main Str. Eastland, Texas Phone: 817-629-3843

Majestic Theatre Bans Smoking, NC17 Films

The Eastland Fine Arts Association, which operates the Majestic Theatre, voted at the Thursday evening board meeting to ban smoking at public events in the Majestic. It will solve some problems and prevent some damage to the Theatre, says Manager Ed Alcorn.

Alcorn reported that the Theatre had 2607 customers in August, 1010 in September, and 1634 so far in October. The crowd usually slumps in September, it was reported.

Some improvements were added to the Theatre. They included a new sound system, 4 folding tables and some stacking chairs, and the re-wiring of the marquee on the front of the building. The old wiring was dangerous and shorting out. The directors also gave Alcorn the option of giving rainchecks to customers who come a distance to see a movie, when the movie has been cancelled. The Association is working toward gaining possession of the Rawson Building next to the Theatre by November 15. Efforts are also being made to secure a grant to help with its renovations, but are yet to bear fruit.

Members discussed how the portable dressing room building might be improved and used. They also voted to add Robert Steed to the board.

Discipline problems were discussed, and arraignments were made for a police officer to visit occasionally to discourage problems. The board also gave Alcorn a vote of confidence in handling problems which may arise, and he plans to be more visible in the Theatre.

Members also voted to not show any NC17 films. These films were formerly X rated and have been described as "trash not worth seeing."

Rescue Line
For Women
Ruth Stewart, M.Ed.

Q. I have heard of Erikson's stages of life and the crises that occur. Please explain the ones for adolescence and young adults. I would like to help my teenagers through this time in their lives.

A. Erikson showed that identity is formed through identification with others who have meaning to us. With a smoothly functioning identity we can take ourselves for granted. Erikson says we are most aware of our identity when we are about to make its acquaintance.

The Moratorium Phase is generally known as an identity crisis. New possibilities are considered. Once these decisions are made the questioning and dilemmas fade and peace of mind returns. Erikson depicts the life cycle with the search for identity in the adolescent years. As adolescents they make their own personal choices, not being so dependent upon parents for all decisions made concerning them. Separation and individuation starts to occur in the adolescent years.

Identity must be resolved before the next phase of intimacy versus isolation is addressed. Womanhood (or manhood) arrives when attractiveness and experience have succeeded in selecting what is admitted into the inner space for keeps. SOURCE: Finding Herself by Ruthellen Josselson

The Texas Association of Bass Clubs (TABC) has announced its "Championship tournament trail." The dates of the six qualifying tournaments leading up to the championship are: Sunday, Jan. 20, 1991 - Lake Falcon; Sunday, Feb. 10, 1991 - Choke Canyon; Sunday March 3, 1991 - Toledo Bend; Sunday, April 7, 1991 - Sam Rayburn; Sunday, May 5, 1991 - Possum Kingdom; Sunday, August 4, 1991 - Richland Chambers.

The Classic Championship is September 28 & 29, 1991, and the lake will be announced at a later date.

These events will be a $100.00 per two person team with an 80% payback (less cost of polygraph). 10% will go to the classic and 10% to TABC. The top 20 finishes of each qualifying tournament qualifies for the classic. And the top prizes in the classic will be 1st a fully rigged 18'4" Champion boat with a 150 HP mercury motor plus cash. Second place will be a $3,000.00 hunting trip compliments of Chet and Pam Holt of Vintage Printing. Other TABC sponsors include Skeeter performance fishing boats and storm lures. More details will follow and as I receive them I will let you know.

TABC was formed in 1971 to protect and improve fishing in Texas. Dues for 1 year are $10.00 and should be mailed to TABC, P. O. Box 632728 Nacogdoches, TX 75963-2728. New members receive a patch, decal and TABC newspaper.

Anglers Choice Tournaments Inc. will be holding a Super Team Tournament October 20 and 21 at Toledo Bend. This event will be hosted by Shirley Hall Frontier Parks. For more information you may phone 817-326-5821.

The ECBC will be holding its 2nd Mini Classic October 20 & 21. The chosen lakes are Proctor Saturday and Hubbard Sunday. This event features the top 16 Anglers from last year.

Fall offers anglers perhaps the best fishing of the year. Those old mass backs are feeling cooking water temps and have an increased appetite. Pockets and creeks become the quickest areas to locate lunkers. Look for the break line's were you have 2 foot or more drop. Big jigs big spinners, big lizards, get the ideal? For the haugs big baits do work the best this time of year. But for sheer numbers a number 5 single white leaf spinner bait or a purple and white tailed worm can't be beat. Remember pockets especially with defined creek channels can and will pay off this fall.

The following Texas deer hunting outlook was furnished by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Dept.

Spring and late summer rains have provided deer with plenty of cover and food. Biologists across the state say there should be good hunting, but it may be tough to find deer during the first two weeks because of the lush vegetation.

"We have not completed our deer census yet, but most of the range in Texas is in good condition. We've had better than average rainfall this year," said Mike Reagan, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department assistant deer program leader. "Antler growth should be average to better than average in some areas; and deer numbers are still high enough that there will be plenty of deer to hunt."

Spring and summer rains have put much of Texas' land in better condition than it's been in years, but hunting will be a little harder because of it, Reagan said. "Deer movements should be reduced because of good range conditions, so hunters might see fewer deer. But these conditions should help them go into winter in good shape."

Last year's whitetail harvest was 477,000, second only to the 505,000 whitetails taken in 1987. The 221,000 antlerless deer harvested was the highest on record. The antlerless harvest has seen a new record each year since 1984.

The archery season for deer is Oct. 1-31. The general whitetail season is Nov. 3-Jan. 6 for most of Texas while the South Texas season is Nov. 10-Jan. 13. Mule deer season in the Panhandle is Nov. 17 - Dec. 2 and in the Trans-Pecos it's Nov. 24-Dec. 9. A special early antlerless-only firearm season for Angelina, eastern Houston, Nacogdoches (south of State Highway 7), Polk, Trinity and Walker counties is Oct. 20-28. This season is not in effect on National Forests. A special antlerless-only firearm season for whitetails in South Texas is Jan. 19-Feb. 3.

For exact deer hunting regulations in each county, hunters should obtain the department's 1990-91 Texas Hunting Guide.

The following is a wrap up of deer hunting prospects by ecological region:

EDWARDS PLATEAU
Hunters in this area shouldn't see much change from last year.

Max Traweek, TPWD district leader from Kerrville, said there will be more than enough deer as usual in the Edwards Plateau, except some western counties, particularly Val Verde County, Gillespie, Llano and Mason counties have a high density of deer, as well as Kerr County in the central part of the Edwards Plateau.

"Antlers look real good for the Hill Country because of the better range conditions," he said. "We had a period of dryness in June that affected the fawn crops in some counties. There are too many deer in most counties for the habitat. Some of our fringe counties are pretty good as far as balancing the deer population and habitat."

SOUTH TEXAS
A serious drought that has plagued this area for several years has abated somewhat this year and whitetailed deer are in better condition than they've been in a long time across most of South Texas.

"The northern part of South Texas probably is the best this country has looked in a long time. It's absolutely fantastic," said Rick Taylor, TPWD wildlife biologist from Uvalde.

Deer numbers appear to be up somewhat resulting from a good fawn crop with 50 percent survival.

"Antler development looks real good. I've seen lots of good bucks throughout. Overall, it looks excellent," Taylor said. "It ought to be good, but it all depends on the weather. If they get out of rootin' around, the hunters are going to find some real nice bucks."

The southern and eastern part of South Texas and along the coast, including Kleberg, Brooks, Kenedy, Jim Hogg, Cameron, Willacy, Hidalgo and Starr counties, still are suffering from dry conditions, said Randy Fugate, wildlife technician from Falfurrias.

The overall density will be about the same as last year's one deer to 25-35 acres, but fawn survival was lower toward the coast and higher toward the west.

"A lot of it (lower survival) is because of the dry times we've had," Fugate said. "We had rain early in the spring and a lot of the country was overgrazed. When the fawns dropped, they were in open country with no place to hide."

Squirrel populations have rebounded from depressed population levels and hunters should enjoy good hunting in many areas containing hardwood bottomlands, said Kirby Brown, TPWD public lands enhancement program director. A new 7,044-acre tract in Panola County, added to the Type II program this year, should offer excellent squirrel and waterfowl hunting, as well as having a high deer population and a moderate number of feral hogs.

Prospective hunters may gain access to 745,000 acres under the Type II program through the purchase of a $35 annual Type II permit. Persons interested in gaining access to Type II lands for non-hunting use must purchase a $10 Limited Use permit. Individuals under 13 years old are not required to own Type II permit and may accompany a permitted parent or legal guardian.

Permits can be obtained at TPWD law enforcement offices across the state or they can request a form to be mailed by calling Austin headquarters at 1-800-792-1112. To be eligible to apply for drawings for restricted Type II hunts for mule deer, permits need to be purchased before Nov. 1.

Till next cast good fishing and safe boating.

One last minute tournament Oct. 27, Lake Granbury, TABC Region III Open Cash Payback, Headquarters - Best Western Motel.

Pumpkin Crop Says 'Happy Halloween'

Legend has it that jack-o-lanterns lead late night travelers into swamps and marshy ponds where, confused and frightened, the hapless souls fall in and drown. Great ghosts! It's nice to know that pumpkins beam a cheerier message today. Piled in heaps at farmers markets, roadside stands and supermarkets, they welcome the arrival of autumn and its first celebration, Halloween.

The biggest crop of Texas pumpkins comes from the High Plains, which has the warm days, cool nights and low humidity necessary to grow a quality product.

It is estimated that 14 million pounds will be harvested this season in Floyd County, the state's biggest pumpkin producer. An additional 10 million pounds are expected in nearby Bailey County. About 80 percent of the total is sold for jack-o-lanterns, the rest for pies and other pumpkin dishes.

The best jack-o-lanterns weigh between 15 and 20 pounds, have bright orange, blemish-free rinds and well defined ribbing. To carve one, cut off the top stem section and scoop out seeds, pulp and meat with a spoon. Outline the jack-o-lantern's face on the shell and carve with a sharp knife.

The leftover fresh pumpkin meat can be steamed or boiled to make pumpkin puree, which can be converted to pie filling or a vegetable dish. Pumpkin puree freezes well. Pumpkin is an excellent source of vitamin A and potassium. It also contains fair quantities of calcium, phosphorus and iron. With only a gram of sodium and a trace of fat, it's a fine choice for side dish or dessert.

Radon Action Week Set For October 14-20

The week of Oct. 14 is national Radon Action Week — a time to recognize what the Texas Department of Health's Bureau of Radiation Control is doing about radon.

This winter, the Bureau of Radiation Control will distribute about 4,000 to 6,000 radon detectors to random households across the state to study radon concentrations in Texas homes.

The Bureau of Radiation Control received a grant from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to conduct a state-wide radon survey, train staff members, develop a data management system, provide public information, and respond to radon problems. The survey will be coordinated with the EPA.

"We want to encourage participation in the survey by all Texans who are selected at random to be in it," said Gary L. Smith, Ph.D., coordinator of the Texas survey.

"We do not think radon is much of a problem in Texas," explained Smith. "To date, however, a general survey of indoor radon concentrations has not been conducted in the state. So, we think the survey is important."

Concentrations of radon above federal limits have been found in homes throughout the United States.

Smith said the Texas survey results will define the extent of the indoor radon situation in Texas and pinpoint any areas that need attention.

Radon is an odorless, colorless radioactive gas that occurs naturally by being released from certain rocks and soils. Outdoors, radon poses no problem. Radon can accumulate to dangerous levels, however, if trapped inside an enclosed space, such as a home.

An increased risk of developing lung cancer is a potential health effective associated with exposure to elevated levels of radon over long periods of time.

The Value Of Sports

by Joseph Walker
"Sports," my junior high school gym teacher used to say, "are a metaphor for life." And I believed him - even though I wasn't exactly sure what a "metaphor" was. I figured it meant that life is meant for sports and sports are meant for life. Or something like that.

But now I think I know what he was trying to say (including the probability that he intended "simile" when he said "metaphor"). And to tell you the truth, I sort of wish he was more right about this than he was when he said "deep knee bends are good for you" and "wind sprints can be fun."

I mean, if the real world was like the sporting world, we'd have:

- An easier time telling the good guys from the bad guys because they'd be wearing different colored shirts;
- Carefully chalked lines so we would know when we are stepping out of bounds;
- Cheerleaders for everyone and everything ("two, four six, eight, what do we refrigerate? Leftovers! Leftovers! Gooooo, hash!");
- Ordered families where everyone knows the plays and can practice what they're supposed to do in every situation;
- A clear set of rules that everyone had to follow, even the teenagers;

- Trading cards featuring, among other things, "Accounting All-Stars" and "The 1990 Laundry Folding All-Rookie Team";

- And referees who could throw a flag, turn on one of those little units on their belts and announce to an international audience: "We have an offside penalty on Iraq. That'll move them all the way back into their own territory. And Saddam Hussein has been ejected from the game for unnecessary roughness."

Wouldn't it be great? I'd even settle for a good scoreboard, just so I could see if I'm winning or losing, and how much time I have left.

But real life isn't like that, is it? We sort of have to take it as it comes, and we often have to figure out the rules as we go along. Still, there are a few things we can learn from sports that can help us as we play this game of life. Following are just five.

1. Team victories are infinitely more satisfying than personal triumphs. When golf pros win a tournament, they smile, throw a few golf balls into the gallery, pick up the check and then start worrying about the next stop on the tour. The same is true for tennis players and bowlers. But when a team wins a championship, the team, its fans and entire cities, states and countries get crazy. I mean, when was the last time you saw Steffi Graf douse herself with champagne after a big win?

2. Superstars are fun to watch, but supporting players usually are the difference between winning and losing. Joe Montana may get all the press, but where's he going to be if his offensive line doesn't do its job? And even though Michael Jordan is probably the best basketball player in the history of low level earth orbiting, that hasn't been enough for the Chicago Bulls to win a championship. Ditto Wayne Gretzky and the Los Angeles Kings. Talent is important, but a great team will beat a great individual nine times out of 10.

3. Sometimes cheaters do win, but usually it catches up to them. And then where are they? Technically, Ben Johnson beat Carl Lewis in the 100-meter dash at the 1988 Summer Olympics. But instead of being gloriously remembered, that moment will forever be attached to Johnson's subsequent disqualification for steroid use. And if you think people will forget about a disgrace like that after a while, just ask "Shoelless" Joe Jackson and the rest of the Chicago "Black Sox." If any of them are still alive.

4. Over the long haul it's consistency that counts. Sports pages are crowded with the names of athletes who are capable of one incredible game, or even a terrific season or two. But the truly great ones are those who are able to come through game after game, season after season. Flash is fun, but it passes so quickly. Better to hitch your wagon to a star than a comet.

5. Real champions learn lessons from losing so they can win when it counts. Everyone loses once in a while. Baseball's most prolific hitters this year were successful less than 40 percent of the time. But the best athletes are able to take losing in stride rather, they analyze the loss and figure out ways to avoid making the same mistakes without accepting it as a way of life. They refuse to whine or to make up excuses; again.

Does any of that have bearing on the real world? I think it does. Putting the lessons in every day terms, we could say that teamwork is critical to the success of any organization, including the most important organization on earth: the family. And we could add that none of us individually, no matter how gifted, can accomplish as much as all of us pulling together. And let's don't forget that integrity is a value to be cherished, as are dependability and resiliency.

See? There are lots of things, metaphorically and otherwise, that we can learn from sports.

And, believe it or not, from junior high school gym teachers.

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as a result of breast cancer. Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate. The cost is only $60.00 + $4.50 S&H. A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

1990 LEADERSHIP RETREAT FOR JUNIOR 4-HERS

The 1990 Leadership Retreat for Junior 4-Hers, ages 11-13, will be November 16-18 at the Texas 4-H Center.

Registration is limited to the first 180 4-Hers and is due by November 9. Call the Extension Service office to secure complete information and registration forms.

4-H Presents Awards At Banquet

More than seventy 4-H Club members and a few adults were honored at the Eastland County 4-H Awards Banquet Saturday evening at the Eastland High School cafeteria.

After a barbeque supper with quite a selection of vegetables, salads and desserts, the crowd was addressed by Clay Cowdrey, a Tarleton State University junior who is one of a very few winners of the President's Silver Tray Award. A native of Post, he is residing in Stephenville while attending TSU.

If you think you can, you can, said Cowdrey, who encouraged the 4-Hers to learn about the world, set goals, and then accomplish those goals. He pointed out that 4-H is large cities as well as rural areas. He had a beef project at Post while a boy in Detroit he met rode a unicycle at pro basketball games as a project. Set many small goals and then climb a ladder of goals a rung at a time, he suggested.

Cowdrey told how he didn't achieve his goal until after his third try, and as a result of that achievement, he got to go to Pleasantville, N.Y., and meet with the top people at the Reader's Digest. The difference in ordinary and extraordinary is the extra effort you put into it, he said.

Keep after your goals, meet people, and keep the right attitudes, Cowdrey admonished. And remember, our touch on the lives of others is what is most important, he concluded.

Record book awards and certificates went to more than seventy, and the judging teams, method demonstrations, recreation team, and those with 100 percent attendance records were recognized.

Tommy Seay of Olden was seventh in state in mail in air rifle competition and others received patches.

Horse team members David Williams and Holly Greenwood went to State, and Williams placed seventh. Team members received plaques.

This year, the Friend of 4-H Award went to the Eastland County Extension Homemakers. They helped with the show, the concessions, and raised money for three camp scholarships.

Holly Greenwood won the Secretary Guide Award with Jennifer Jarrell placing second. For the Scrapbook Award, Olden placed first, Rising Star second, and the Roughriders third.

Ricky Agnew was named Outstanding 4-H Jr. Leader, and Fred and Nanette Keith were the Outstanding Adult Leaders.

The Danforth Leadership Awards went to Joanna Wallace and Tommy Thompson. And the Gold Star Awards were presented to Cathy Thomas and Jennifer Jarrell. Both also received a $100.00 bond as part of the Gold Star Award.

Natalie Stevens and Diane Butler received 4-H Alumni Awards.

The Outstanding 4-Her Awards went to Jeremy and Jessica Keith of Olden, Hannah Nicks of Cisco, Stephen and Kimberly Reich of Nimrod, Joanna Wallace and Niki Cozart of Ranger, Cathy Thomas and Barbie Butler of Eastland, Brian Bailey, Holly Butler and Kristie Collins of Rising Star, and Tessie and Rocky Ingram and Holly Greenwood of the Horse Club.

Every kindness has shown us your care, and has helped to make our sorrow easier to bear.

Our prayer is that God will bless each of you.

I am so thankful that Glenn and I were in Amarillo to be with Jamie and his family on Friday and when death came at 4:20 a.m. on Saturday morning Sept. 29, I was privileged to help him with his lunch on Friday before he slipped into a coma during the late afternoon.

He fought a long seven year battle with the cancer, knowing severe pain so much of the time, but never complaining. He felt every day of life was so precious and he wanted to make the best of it. He knew that our Heavenly Father was in control, and at the appointed time he would go home to be with Him.

We have lost a wonderful brother and friend, and we miss him so much, but we know that some day we will be with him again in our heavenly home.

I heard about the wonderful singing at the Kokomo Baptist Church on Sunday night, Sept. 30 when members of the New Hope Baptist Church and First Baptist church in Gorman came for the singing. I'm sorry that we had to miss it.

There was some beautiful special music at the Kokomo Baptist Church on Sunday morning Oct. 7 when visitors, Joyce Gilbert of Houston, Glenda Miles of Abilene and Gary and Donna Gatlin of Amarillo joined the choir for the special music.

Other visitors were Lesley Gatlin of Amarillo, Dale, Kathy and Scott Collum of Huckabay, Scotty, Caye and Zack Mauney of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Clement of Dalhart, Don and Dusty Farlow of Brownwood and Ashley Laminack of Gorman.

Mrs. Bill Joiner underwent cataract surgery in Abilene on Thursday, and returned home on Friday. We are glad she is doing fine.

Mrs. Roy Buchanan and Mrs. Ima Boles of Clyde visited on Wednesday with Mrs. Albert Hendricks and Mrs. Mamie Little. Other visitors with Mrs. Hendricks were Ruth Bryant and Hope Joiner.

Glenda Miles of Abilene spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Jordan and attended some of the Homecoming activities at Gorman on Saturday and the football game Saturday night.

Neal and Joyce Gilbert of Houston, Bob and Kathy Rodgers of Brownwood and John and LaTonne Rodgers of Carbon visited with their mother, Mrs. Berneice Rodgers during the weekend and attended the Homecoming activities at Gorman.

Rick and Pat Fuller of Dallas, Wesley and Kevin Fuller of Abilene and Christi Eaton of Ovalo were visiting with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Fuller and attended the Homecoming Activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nachtigall, Taylor and Trevis of Morgan Mill spent Friday night with Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Fields and Lindell.

Vernon and Deon Fields returned last week from a vacation trip to the Yosemite National Park and other points of interest in California and Las Vegas, Nev.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hallmark and Mrs. Earl Braddock and Ashton of San Angelo visited during the weekend with Mrs. Dora Garrett and Mrs. Commie Hallmark in Eastland. They also attended the reception for Jim and Maudie Bennett, celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary at the Women's Club in Eastland on Saturday afternoon.

Among others attending the reception for Mr. and Mrs. Bennett were Mrs. Dora Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Little, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Jordan and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Eaves visited last weekend in Ennis with Mr. and Mrs. Randy Lewis and Christopher.

Kelly Buchanan Leaves For Saudi Arabia

Kelly Buchanan of the U.S. Army left Ford Hood, Texas on Sunday, October 7 by plane for Operation Desert Shield, Saudi Arabia.

Kelly is the son of Roy and Sylvia Buchanan of Clyde and has a brother, Yancy, and is the grandson of Mrs. Albert Hendricks of Kokomo and Mrs. Joe Buchanan of Tuscola.

Gary, Donna and Lesley Gatlin of Amarillo spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Browning and Gary, and attended the homecoming activities at Gorman.

'Darkman' To Begin At Majestic Friday

"Darkman," starring Liam Neeson and Frances McDormand, will begin at the Majestic Theatre in Eastland on Friday, Oct. 19 and show through Monday, Oct. 22.

Showtime will be 7:30 each evening, with tickets $3.00 at the box office. This picture, a suspense-thriller, is rated R.

"I love the drama of this role," says Irish-born actor Liam Neeson about his character in "Darkman." "It's extremely theatrical and moves through the entire range of emotions from timid romance to rage and despair.

"It's also interesting to take a character who changes so completely - who becomes physically and emotionally another being in the course of two hours."

In "Darkman" Neeson portrays Dr. Peyton Westlake, a brilliant scientist whose successful life is changed forever when a vicious attack turns him into the scarred and revenge-bent Darkman.

For his role as the disfigured Darkman, Neeson often endured five or more hours of makeup. "I really liked the challenge," he says.

Neeson who was born in Northern Ireland, attended a University for a year but left to pursue a career on the stage. He made his debut at the Lyric Player's Theatre in Belfast, then joined the Abbey Theatre in Dublin. His work there was widely acclaimed.

Since then Neeson has gained critical raves for his roles in British television and films on both sides of the Atlantic.

The romantic interest in "Darkman" (Attorney Julie Hastings) is played by blonde, attractive Frances McDormand.

"I think Julie is a vital link between Darkman and the audience," McDormand says. "It's through her that we see what's vulnerable and accessible about Darkman. Julie is part of what makes him sympathetic, instead of simply a monster."

This movie was produced and released by Universal Pictures.

that nobody else could ever quit for him but if ever he quit drinking it would be when Joe himself decided it was time.

He gave me his usual disarming grin and said I was even smarter than he had thought.

So, there we were at a service station years later and he told me that one day after County Vocational School had closed he sat thinking about going to town and getting drunk but thinking on what I had said he decided drunkenness was foolish and HE was ready to quit. And he did.

Maybe the point I want to make is that if they have already heard it all before, you might just do as well by telling them you were leaving it up to them because you would be foolish to rehash all that old stuff now. All your prodding does in many cases is cause the alcoholic to become defensive and either make lame excuses or to become defiant and drink just to prove that NOBODY CAN MAKE ANYBODY STOP, it is in the final analysis still strictly their choice. They just need to better understand that.

Gordon S. Clark

No One Answer

By Gordon Clark

John L. Lee has left Baird. He used to write this paper and sign himself "The Sober Alcoholic".

John was a bit put out that AA's didn't seem to care for, indeed seemed antagonistic because he found sobriety on his own. He had gone the hard road alone much as the pioneers in the field. He had never heard that alcoholism was a medical problem even though his father and brother had died of it. Nor did he early or realize that he had a serious problem.

Because his wife wanted to return to Ill., he sold out and moved back and I have not heard from him since. John made it on his own as in fact all must. True some may need or enjoy support but nobody can do it for them. That is the way it was with a former student of mine in Weatherford where I taught a veterans agriculture class. The man gives me credit though it was not what I said but rather that I REFUSED to try to stop him that got under his skin. It happened like this:

Joe was transferred to my class after a fist fight with another teacher. The cause, his drinking of course. So, if he came to class full and boisterous I would send him on some errand which, as a favor to me, he might or not do but class went on undisturbed. Several years after that job ended I had a flat near his place and began asking the filling station man about my old students. Some had died, others were still there. What about Joe? Yes, he was still there. Still drinking I suppose? OH NO! He quit several years ago and—"Speak of the Devil". Joe rolled in a new pickup and looking like an ad for western wear. He embraced me more fervently than do my Arab friends and lifted me off my feet.

After compliments I cautiously asked how come he quit drinking. His reply surprised me because he said it was because of what I had said. I quickly denied ever telling him to quit. Yet, he told me that after quitting he had bought land on both sides of the place his father-in-law had given them and now operated a big enough ranch to constitute that "economic unit" I had tried to teach about. Yes, his wife still made that best jelly I remembered and she would be pleased also to know he had seen the man he credited with his well being. But what did I say?

After Joe had been in my class several months he stood one day in the office doorway with something obviously on his mind. I looked up from my record keeping and asked what.

"Everyone else raises the devil with me about my drinking but not you and I wondered why?" When I asked if he thought me a complete fool he said he certainly did not!

So I asked him if I was

Eastland Outscores Cisco 20-6

by Richard Kurklin

The stadium was overflowing with football fans Friday night in Cisco. It was Cisco's Homecoming, but it was also an important District 8AA High School football game. The winner would still be in the running for the district title, and maybe just as important, could claim Eastland County bragging rights.

Eastland took advantage of a physical but turnover and mistake plagued Cisco team to win the contest 20 to 6. The win kept Eastland in the running with undefeated De Leon and once tied San Saba and Goldthwaite for the District Championship. Eastland has a loss, but chances are slim that a district team will go undefeated this year. Most district teams are so close in strength that winners are usually the teams with fewer turnovers and mistakes. With two losses Cisco is not mathematically out of the race, but seems to have very little chance at gaining a playoff spot.

Even more important than the exciting game was the gentlemanly way the contest was played by the young men on both sides.

Cisco Lobo Terrance Fletcher returned the kickoff to midfield, and Darryl Morrison ran for a first. With Fletcher and Jay Nixon in the backfield, Cisco ran for another first and tried passing before the ball went over and down. Unable to drive, Eastland punted.

After trying to run and pass, Cisco got off a short punt. Eastland Maverick Rojelio Bonilla ran for yardage but Eastland had to punt. Cisco's Nixon got in a run before the quarter changed with the score 0 to 0.

Cisco ran with Morrison getting a first, but Eastland recovered a Lobo fumble. A pass from Brent Sanderson to Bonilla and a run by Danny Nelson almost gained the necessary yardage before the ball went over. Cisco ran for a first but the Eastland defense got tough and Cisco went with another short punt.

Winning the battle for field position, Mav Sanderson passed to Nelson for about 30 yards. Bonilla ran for more and Sanderson ran the final 9 yards to score. Jeff Morren's kick made it Eastland 7, Cisco

0. Morrison and Fletcher ran for two firsts before the ball went over. Eastland's Bonilla threw a halfback pass to Douglas Wortman for a first, but the Lobo defense stiffened and Eastland had to punt as the half ended.

Coming back strong after the half, Eastland's Sanderson passed to Bill Hughes for about 40 yards and a first. Bonilla ran for a first and Franklin Skinner ran for more. Then Sanderson ran the last 2 yards to give the Mavs a 13 point lead. The kick failed.

Cisco came back running, but Skinner and the Eastland defense broke through, and Eastland recovered a fumble. Despite good defensive efforts by Brad Goosen, Ryan Duncan and others, Eastland drove the ball with Sanderson, Bonilla, Skinner and Tim Montgomery running for 2 firsts. Bonilla then ran 2 yards for Eastland's third and final touchdown. Morren kicked the point.

Cisco ran but Sanderson and the Mav defense came through. Kyle Sargent recovered a Cisco fumble. Cisco's defense held and Eastland had to punt. Goosen ran about 20 yards for a Cisco first, but Eastland's Randy Thomas and Sargent broke through forcing Cisco to punt as the quarters changed.

Eastland had a pass to ficeholders.

For information on local absentee voting hours and locations, call your county clerk or county elections administrator. For other election-related information call the secretary of state's toll-free, election hotline, 1-800-252-VOTE (8683).

Extended Absentee Voting Period Opens October 17th

The extended absentee balloting period opens on Wednesday, Oct. 17 for those registered to vote in the Tuesday, Nov. 6 general election, Texas Secretary of State George Bayound said.

During the extended absentee voting period, which runs through Friday, Nov. 2, registered voters can appear at county courthouses and other absentee polling places across Texas to cast ballots for the Nov. 6 election, said Bayound, the state's chief elections officer. The deadline to register to vote in the Nov. 6 election was Oct. 9.

"What this absentee voting period does is provide Texans with additional 17 days to vote, instead of just on election day," Bayound said. "If you are registered to vote, there simply is no excuse to stay away from the polls."

Under a 1987 state law that relaxed absentee voting requirements, registered voters need not give a specific reason for casting in-person, ballots during the extended voting period, Bayound explained.

"If you have made up your mind who you are going to vote for, consider taking advantage of the extended period," Bayound said. "It's real convenient and you can avoid the lines on election day."

This year Texans will elect a U.S. senator, governor, lieutenant governor and scores of other statewide and local of-

Sargent and Bonilla's running to help add two firsts before Eastland fumbled away - pitchout for more than a 35 yard loss. But Eastland got the ball back when Michael Gaeta fell on a Cisco fumble. Bonilla ran, then Eastland punted. Maverick Brian Mancke intercepted a fumbled Cisco pass reception in mid air. With the ball on the 25, Eastland attempted a field goal, which was wide.

Cisco's Hoot Beckett ran for a first and passed to Fletcher for a first. Eastland's defensive rush came through, but Fletcher caught a deflected pass. The ball went over to Eastland, which was forced to punt. Fletcher returned the punt about 70 yards for Cisco's lone score with just 22 seconds on the clock. The extra point pass was incomplete.

Cisco kicked and recovered an onside kick. Hughes made a defensive play for Eastland, and then Sargent intercepted a Cisco pass and returned it 53 yards into the endzone. An official then threw a flag and called the play back. Eastland then let the time expire for a 20 to 6 win.

This Friday Cisco will travel to Bangs, which has speed, and Eastland will play at San Saba, which has a strong passing attack.

Texas Memorial Museum, Located At UTA In Austin

Austin, Texas — It is said there isn't a parent of a 6 or 8 year old in Texas who doesn't know about the Texas Memorial Museum.

Where else can parents and teachers take young students to see the skeleton of a 70 million year old giant lizard, the fossilized wing of a prehistoric flying reptile, American Indian artifacts, and, of course, dinosaur tracks?

Established in 1936 to be prime repository for the state's natural history collections, the Texas Memorial Museum is at the University of Texas at Austin. Four and a half-million items documenting 150 million years of history are nestled into the museum's collections.

The museum is dedicated to the study and interpretation of the natural and social sciences. Included are the fields of geology, paleontology, zoology, botany, ecology, anthropology and history. "We fulfill this role through our research collections and laboratories, exhibits and educational programs," said Lynn Denton, assistant director of the museum.

"Because of its natural and cultural history resources, the museum's collections are used as teaching tools not only for UT Austin students, but for the general public in particular," Denton said. "We make a special effort to reach school-age children. Of the 90,000 visitors we expect this year, we estimate one-third will be children."

"It's great to see and hear the kids get excited about the museum because we're setting up learning patterns that, hopefully, they'll have all their lives," Denton said. "We hope it will make them lifelong learners."

Texas public school students come to the museum from as far away as Sonora and Port Isabel, according to Dorothy Young, education and public relations director for the TMM. "Most teachers use the museum to augment their curriculum," Young said. "Their students study dinosaurs, Texas wildlife or American Indian artifacts in books and then come here and look at the real thing. There's nothing more exciting than seeing things that you've read and talked about."

"Most zoos don't highlight native species but rather concentrate on exotics," Young said. "Consequently, urban children have never seen some of our native species before. Our exhibits expose them to the wide variety of our native mammals, birds and reptiles."

Among the items on exhibit from the collections are Texas fossil vertebrates (ancient amphibians and reptiles and giant Ice Age mammals), displays of gem, minerals and rock, American Civil War firearms, life-size dramas of Texas wildlife, habitat groups of native Texas inland and shore birds, playing cards made by Apaches and an Eskimo suit made of salmon. The Goddess of

Ranger Loses To De Leon

The Ranger Bulldogs traveled to DeLeon last Friday night and were defeated 58-0 by the Bearcats. The Bulldogs had a tough time against the state ranked Bearcats but the young team never gave up the fight. Ranger came close several times but were caught short by the DeLeon defensive team. The running game of the Bearcats was awesome and the Bulldog defense had a job on their hands trying to catch leading rusher Lopez from scoring 7 long TD runs.

The Bearcats scored all their points in the first half. Statistically:
Ranger
3 first downs
32 for 9 rushing yards
3 for 13 passing yards
1 fumble lost
DeLeon
18 first downs
31 for 182 rushing yards

108 passing yards
2 fumbles lost

The Bulldogs were decidedly outnumbered but not outclassed by the Bearcats. After a torturous game, the Bulldogs proudly stood as a team on the field with their coaches while the band played the school song. Ironically, Billy Fox, ex-Bulldog and now a DeLeon coach displayed his alumnus pride by standing with the team during the song.

The Bulldogs travel to Coleman this Friday for a game at 7:30 p.m. The 7th and 8th travel to Coleman on Thursday while the Junior Varsity plays at home Thursday starting at 6:00 p.m.

Show your Pride for the Bulldogs, come to the games Thursday and Friday and BACK THE BULLDOGS!!!!!!

Liberty statue, which originally sat on top of the Capitol, also is at the TMM.

The museum also offers free public lectures on everything from "Fire Ants" to "Russian Photography" and "Indian Rock Art" and has a new special innovative educational exhibit titled "Vanishing Species of Texas," an interactive computer exhibit. "This is an easily operated computer program about endangered species in Texas," said Young. The museum, she explained, uses the Macintosh HyperCard system to provide visitors to the TMM with a wealth of information about species of plants and animals which are disappearing in Texas, and to investigate the reasons for their up of three rounds, with each round consisting of 4 games. Games will have a 25 minute time limit. Standard "42" rules will be followed, with emphasis on fair play and sportsmanship.
