Farmers Are Protected By New Seed Law

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 13.—The new Texas Seed Law, passed by the 47th Legislature, will help eliminate one of the hazards of farming—that is, questionable seed, according to J. E. McDonald, State Commissioner of Agriculture. The law requires that all seed offered for sale for planting or sowing purposes must be tagged, giving commonly accepted name, germination percentage, mechanical purity and other information. Thus, farmers will be able to buy seed for planting purposes without taking risks as to its actual value.

Because other states had more stringent laws governing the sale and shipment of seed, it was necessary that a uniform law be drawn in order to protect Texas farmers from the practice, by local as well as out of state firms and individuals, of "dumping" inferior quality seed into the trade channels of Texas. The new Act, designed by agricultural leaders and Texas Seed Council, was passed by the legislature as emergency legislation. The vote was 129 to 3 in the House and without dissenting vote in the Senate.

"The use of good seed is a vitally important factor in any farm production program," states a pamphlet on the new law issued by McDonald and Linden Jones, chief of the Seed Laboratory Division. "If the farmer will plant seed of known quality, more uniform stands will be obtained, resulting in a substantially increased income for our farm families."

Nothing is in the Act to prevent one farmer from selling another farmer seed grown on his farm when such seed is not advertised in the public press of the vendor's county, and shipped by common carrier.

The farmer leaves on commission or sells planting seed to a merchant, processor or seed dealer in his home county, the seller is required to have the seed tested and tagged before it is offered or exposed for sale. Anyone shipping seed to other states must comply with the seed laws of the state into which such shipments are made. "The Texas State Department of Agriculture will be glad to furnish shippers with information as to the various laws of other states, and will make free examination of such seed to find if any noxious weeds are present in their shipments," McDonald said.

Dairymen Advised To Save Steps

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 14.—There's a lot of work in the dairy business and unnecessary steps make a tired dairyman show no outstanding results to his efforts.

Therefore, says G. G. Gibson, assistant dairyman of the A. & M. College Extension Service, dairymen should not delay in looking up improvements which will save steps. They should check whether fences are located for convenient handling of cattle; gates placed where they should be; and whether barns are arranged so cows can be turned in and out easily. They should also decide whether the feed room is conveniently located and whether the floor for mixing feed is satisfactory.

Gibson suggests that the check should extend to determining whether a properly balanced grain mixture which is well suited to available roughage is being fed. "See that each cow is being fed according to production," he says. "With the present demand for additional dairy products it is good business to feed heavier on concentrates than under normal conditions."

Birdie of a Different Color
A Missouri sportsman, C. C. Simpson, scored a "birdie" in a game of golf recently that surprised both Mr. Simpson and the birdie. The golfer hit a high one that collided in mid-air with an unfortunate blackbird. The bird tumbled to the ground, dead.

Large Crowd At Sunday's Singing

A crowd estimated at five hundred persons was present at the annual Bailey County Singing Convention held Sunday at Circleback.

New officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: S. E. Morris, president; Cecil Davis, vice president; and Mrs. Sam Simms, secretary.

All seats in the school building where the convention was held, were filled, and many stood up throughout the day to enjoy the singing. The Pickens Quartet of Lubbock were among entertainers present. A Clovis quartet also was present to render many entertaining numbers. Singers from many communities in Bailey and adjoining counties attended and participated in the singing. A basket dinner was held at noon.

Soldier Is Home On Furlough

Lester Hammonds, who enlisted in the U. S. Army 13 months ago, arrived in Muleshoe last weekend on a 30-day furlough, for a visit with his mother, Mrs. J. C. Hammonds, and other homefolks.

Recently, Lester has been stationed at Fort Ord, Wash. He has had several transfers since enlisting, and for awhile was at a training camp in California. This is not his first visit home since entering the service, as he spent several days here last summer.

Lester says he likes army life. His appearance shows that army life is agreeing with him, as he is practically a "heavyweight" now. He says it must be those "spuds" the army feeds 'em three times a day.

LITTLEFIELD APPROVES $275,000 BOND ISSUE

Littlefield voters Tuesday approved by a vote of 260 for to 222 against a proposal to issue $275,000 revenue bonds at interest not to exceed 3 1/2 percent for construction of a municipal power and light plant.

Voters also favored by a vote of 258 to 220 a provision allowing transfer of any municipal plant funds to a general municipal fund, W. G. Street, city secretary, said tonight after votes had been tabulated.

Next step will be selection of an engineer and start of plans for the plant, it was said.

One large automobile company has made production changes in its new models that will result in savings of 80 percent in nickel and 50 percent in aluminum over the amounts previously used.

U. S. WINGS FOR PACIFIC DEFENSE

American fighting planes today form the Allies' first line of defense from Australia to the Netherlands East Indies and to Singapore and Malaya. When war broke out, only Australia in this part of the world had a small aircraft industry of its own. This has since been expanded and now turns out hundreds of bombers and trainer-reconnaissance planes. There is also a new accessory industry in the East Indies and the region is dotted with new assembly plants and repair shops. But even today, local industries can supply only a small part of the area's defense needs, and although not all the U. S. built planes so far delivered are of the latest types, it will depend on them and on the men who fly them—Australians, Dutchmen, British, Indians and Japanese—whether or not an Axis drive through South Pacific and South Asiatic zones could be successful.

Portales Rams Here Friday For Football Game

The Portales, N. M. high school Rams will play the Muleshoe Yellowjackets Friday afternoon on the local gridiron. The Rams are said to have a strong team this year, although they have dropped two games—both to strong contenders for the New Mexico schoolboy championship. Roswell and Tucuman beat the Rams by identical scores—20 to 0. Some indication of the Portales eleven's strength, however, may be gained from their 18-6 win over the Amarillo Yarnigans. Last Friday those same Yarnigans whipped the Lubbock Cowhounds 26 to 0, and the Cowhounds have been proving plenty troublesome this season in this section.

A play-by-play description of the Muleshoe-Oilton game is on page five.

Following their 46 to 0 defeat last Friday at the hands of Oilton, the Jackets are said to be in fine fettle for Friday's game. Tuffy Kennedy, letterman end, who was forced to leave the Oilton game early because of an ankle injury, will be ready to go in the Portales contest.

The Yellowjackets have been drilling hard the past week on blocking and tackling, departments in which they were woefully weak against Oilton.

An improved group of Yellowjackets will take the field against Portales and a much better game than the lop-sided Oilton fray is anticipated.

BROADCAST OF LUTHERAN HOUR BEGINS SUNDAY

Quarter ending March 31, 1940	$2,458.34
Quarter ending June 30, 1940	2,325.39
Quarter ending Sept. 30, 1940	2,297.67
Total for first nine months of 1940	$7,081.40
Quarter ending March 31, 1941	$2,684.16
Quarter ending June 30, 1941	2,756.94
Quarter ending Sept. 30, 1941	2,494.40
Total for first nine months 1941	$7,935.50

The receipts for quarter ending Dec. 31, 1940, were $3,804.95, making a total of $10,886.35 postal receipts for 1940. Prospects now are for larger receipts for the last three months of this year which will give the Muleshoe post office the largest receipts in its history.

Plans Going Forward For Red Cross Drive

Plans for the 1941 American Red Cross roll call were completed Monday afternoon, when committee members and Local Chairman R. N. Huckabee met with Miss Estelle Penry, national representative.

Tye Young was named roll call chairman and committees for each community over the county are to be selected this week. Organization of all committees are to be perfected so that the opening day, November 11, will see the Bailey county membership quota filled.

Membership in the local chapter last year was 194, but due to increased demands for work among the armed forces, the quota has been set at 500 for Bailey county this year.

Arrangements were made for all community chairmen to attend a luncheon here on Friday, November 7, at which time speakers will outline plans for the membership drive.

Mrs. H. E. Schuster of Muleshoe was named chairman of the Bailey county chapter, Junior Red Cross, and her assistants will be named this week. W. C. Cox, superintendent of the Muleshoe schools was named publicity speaker and to serve with the roll call committee. This committee, in addition to the chairman, Tye Young, is composed of Sam Fox, Horace Taylor, Ray C. Moore, A. J. Gardner, Ray Griffiths and Howard Carlyle.

Funds received during the roll call period will be used to enable the American Red Cross and its chapters to carry on its expanded service to the Army, Navy and Marine Corps, and to widen its national defense program for civilian population.

You are asked to be prepared to respond promptly when committee members call during the week of November 11. Give all assistance possible so that the Red Cross may do a better job for service men.

Issuance Of New Drivers' Licenses Is Delayed

AUSTIN, Oct. 14.—Issuance of long-awaited new drivers' licenses in Texas, scheduled to begin October 1, has been delayed a week or ten days, State Police Director Homer Garrison has announced.

Garrison said paper stock for the printing of applications and other supplies, ordered more than two months ago, have just now been received. "Several days will be required for printing and distributing the applications," he said. "We're going to get started as soon as humanly possible."

Due to be renewed by Dec. 31 are all old licenses numbered from 1 to 450,000. Licenses bearing numbers above 450,000 will be renewable at later periods.

Applications for renewal will be available from Highway Patrol offices, drivers' license examiners, sheriff and police departments, banks and other public places, or by writing direct to the Department of Public Safety in Austin.

Applications must be executed on a typewriter or printed in ink and mailed to the department in Austin along with a 20 cent money order or cashier's check. Stamps or personal checks will not be accepted. The new licenses, good for two years, will be mailed to applicants from Austin.

Persons renewing licenses will not have to take an examination unless they have had bad records for traffic violations or collisions.

THIS BUSINESS OF Living

BY SUSAN THAYER

There are no more heel plates down at the shoemakers and the cleaner is taking his hangers back after he delivers dresses. Paper clips are scarce and milk bottle covers which in some cities have been made of aluminum foil, are now being made of paper.

With little things like these, our defense effort comes home, and you and I and millions of other women begin to feel the pinch of emergency production.

The telephone company, usually so accommodating with new supplies, is putting old instruments to use, and there are no more new refrigerators down at the electric store. But for once in our lives instead of being exasperated and complaining about these inconveniences, they actually give us a sense of satisfaction! We know these shortages of everyday commodities mean one thing: the resources and man power in which this country abounds are now being devoted to defense production. Instead of building refrigerators and vacuum cleaners they are turning out machine guns; instead of automobiles they're building tanks and planes, and instead of the thousand and one little gadgets industry has invented to make our every day living easier, we're producing the myriad things required by a modern mechanized army.

So far the shortages brought about by the gigantic defense effort this country has undertaken haven't deprived us of anything very important. But when we begin to produce 3,000 airplanes a month instead of 1,854 as we did in August this year... and 7,500 army trucks a week instead of 5,000, we'll have to get along without a lot of things we're used to and think are necessities.

But there will always be a bright side to this kind of inconvenience. In the first place it gives us a vital part in the defense effort. If our job is house-keeping and we have little time for volunteer work, by accepting shortages and substitutes caused by defense gracefully and cheerfully, we'll be doing important service for our country.

And after the world has found peace once more and our industry can go back to normal production, think of the wonderful new things we'll have! New and less expensive air conditioning... new kinds of lighting... streamlined cooking utensils... smart new types of furniture, as well as dozens of little things to make our homes more beautiful as well as more convenient. Free industry never stands still. It experiments and improves and learns all of the time.

So, let's make certain that American industry stays free. Then, when the day comes that it can really turn loose on peace time commodities, it will more than make up for lost time and we'll be able to buy plenty of the things we must do without now— as well as a great many new things of which we haven't even dreamed.

A minister preached a sermon on the duty of wives.

"There is, alas, a woman in this congregation who is often guilty of disobedience to her husband. To make an example of her, I will fling my book at her head."

He lifted up his book and instantly every married woman ducked.

A young hillbilly from an isolated ranch bought an ice cream cone, walked outside to eat it, then carried the cone carefully back to the soda fountain. Handing it to the clerk, he said: "Much obliged for the use of the vase."

Texas Library Is Still Growing

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 14—Already first in the South, the University of Texas Library bolstered its position by the acquisition last year of near 35,000 volumes, to give it a total of 673,888 volumes. Librarian Donald Coney has announced.

Not all its holdings are books, however. In addition, the library contains 2,595,014 original manuscript documents, 51,247 photostatic copies of manuscripts, 365,254 transcriptions of manuscripts and 5,773 translations of manuscript documents. It also has 3,067 maps, 6,781 pieces of music, 2,285 pictures, 100 sound recordings, and 446 rolls of microfilm reproductions of rare books and manuscripts, he said.

Among the library's special collections are a law library of 48,000 volumes; internationally-known rare books collections of 27,500 volumes; an unequalled Texas collection of 27,000 volumes; a widely recognized Latin-American collection of 42,000 volumes, and a newspaper collection of 17,500 bound volumes.

Rain Stops All Farm Activities

Rain, starting about dark Tuesday evening, stopped all farm activities again for an indefinite period. Beginning with an old-time electrical storm, light hail preceded the down-pour, which measured .50 of an inch.

Early Wednesday morning, rain set in again, and continued intermittently throughout the day, with the wind from the north and northwest carrying a reminder that winter is near.

Quite a number of farmers were preparing to start cotton picking this week, but the present spell of weather has wrecked all such plans. What damage, if any, to crops is not known, but cotton farmers say it is damaging to open cotton due to coloring.

The magician walked down to the footlights and asked a young lady to step upon the stage.

"Now, as the climax to my act, ladies and gentlemen," he said, "I am going to saw this young lady in two right before your eyes."

The crowd cheered and stamped its feet.

"As is customary before doing this trick," he continued, "I'd like first to make sure that you all want to see—"

"A thundering 'Sure.'"

"And that there are no objections to my performing—"

"A 'No' rocked the house."

"The girl's sorority sisters—do they object?"

"Not at all, to be sure."

"How about you," he asked, turning to the girl: "do you mind being sawed in two?"

The girl shook her head.

So he sawed the young lady in two.

We all thought it was funny as heck at the time, but the police made quite a fuss about it.

An artist was painting in the country. A farmer came and watched him.

"Ah," said the artist, "perhaps you too are a lover of the beauties of nature. Have you seen the golden fingers of dawn spreading across the eastern sky; the red-stained, sulphurous islets, floating in the lake of fire in the west, the ragged clouds at midnight, blotting out the shuddering moon?"

"No," said the farmer matter-of-factly, "not lately. I've been on the wagon for over a year."

THERE'LL COME A DAY
Next March 1, a good many Americans will have a rude awakening. They will learn, for the first time, that war and defense are an incredibly costly business. For, on that date, the highest income taxes ever levied in this country will be due and payable. Everyone knows that the new tax bill is severe—but it is probable that relatively few know just how much of their income it will take.

Under the old law, a single person with $3,000 net income paid the Federal government $84 in direct taxes—under the new law he must pay $197. Under the old law a married person with no dependents and a $10,000 income, paid $528—under the new law he must pay $1,305. And the new tax bill reaches down into income levels which were never touched before. For instance, under the old law a married person earning $2,000 a year was not taxed at all. Under the new law, he must pay $37.

In the upper income brackets, very substantial increases have also gone into effect. A married man, for example, without dependents and earning $25,000 a year, paid $3,843 under the old law. Next year he must pay $6,864—an increase of more than 50 percent.

In the highest income brackets, the increases are proportionately much less—and for a sound reason. That reason is that people with incomes of great size have long been taxed to the very hilt. An example, Under the old law, a married person with an income of $100,000 a year had to pay the Federal Treasury close to three-quarters of it—$717,000. Under the new law, he will pay something over $732,000.

The heaviest burden of the new law, however, falls on corporations, rather than on individuals. The regular corporation income tax rates have been upped, and in addition, very large increases in corporation excess profits taxes have been enacted. A corporation with a net income of $25,000 a year or more must pay a regular tax of 24 percent. On excess profits of $50,000 it must pay 45 percent in addition, where the old rate was 35 percent. When excess profits pass $500,000, it must pay 60 percent. Furthermore, the new law contains a provision which makes the burden on corporations considerably higher than the percentage figures indicate.

Under the old law, the excess profits tax came out first, and excess profits were levied on what was left. The new law provides that the excess profits tax be applied to what is left. Since the excess profits rates are much

YOUR NAME?

By CHARLES DIDWAY
WALKER
Walker is one of the commonest English occupational names. In origin and meaning it is closely related to Fuller; both were cloth-workers. A "walker" was one who tramped (walked) upon the cloth, while a "fuller" thickened and cleaned the cloth.

In some cases, Walker is derived from foresters assigned by the King to patrol certain areas given to their care.
John Brisbane Walker was an American editor and publisher. Robert James Walker an American statesman.

LEWIS

Equally popular among king and commoner, Lewis is an ancient personal name and surname. It is Lewis in English, and Louis in French. In England, Lewis was often adopted as a surname in place of the Welsh Llewellyn. Many Jews took the name as an Anglicized form of Levi and Levinsky. The interpretation of Lewis is "famous victor." Meriwether Lewis was an American explorer of the Northwest. Charleston Thomas Lewis was an American lawyer and author.

The American Way

The Tullia Herald quotes a Swisher county agriculturist on the crop condition as of October 2, but with apparent skepticism:
A Swisher county farmer said the other day that the feed crop was so thick in one certain field that a rabbit couldn't run across the rows, but had to run half a mile down the field to get to the end of the row to cross to another.

Having as much rain as we have had, we are inclined to almost believe this story.
"Everybody," a London News magazine under the very able management of the Right Honorable William J. Brittain, makes a copious contribution to American ill-will (the usual English policy) in the following stanza, the American "Shylocks":
Our prophecy of three weeks ago is now in the process of being fulfilled:

"Of course America just can not afford to let us lose. Then why are we cringing about help which is our due about help which as in 1916 takes the place of actual fighting.
"Everyone must realize that what is being sent over under lease-land to fight a war which is America's may never be paid back, and lease-land may have to go on for years after the war."

The Cloris (New Mexico) News-Journal reports on the I. Q. of a native Texan. But, remember, there is always a smart-aleck in every crowd:

The young man walked into the Curry County clerk's office obviously embarrassed. He desired a marriage license posthaste.
"Are you over 21?" inquired the clerk.

The young man answered in the affirmative.
"Let me see your draft card," asked the clerk.

"My what?"
"Your draft card," said the clerk, informing him that any male over 21 should have a draft card.
"Oh, We don't have 'em over in Texas," was the annihilating reply.
The clerk's answer was not recorded.

Southern Wildlife

Pollution
Now, on the conservation front let's take a quick look at the State of Mississippi. That state has permitted some of the most destructive streams pollution that possibly could be dumped into state waters for a long time. Mills and factories dumped their waste and fish floated belly-up down the streams. We understand that the State Game and Fish Department was finally able to get some results. Good work. We just can't have this commercial utilization of our natural resources when it acts in a destructive fashion. We've few enough left as it is.

Fat Fish
From Jim Turnbull, Oklahoma ranger, comes a foolproof plan for fattening fish in small lakes. At least it has been tried and proven at a Grady county lake, he says. It works, you sounds, logical—and with all these farming, sportsmen groups, etc., building small lakes and ponds for fish... The farmer who owned the lake in question placed electric lights over the water to attract bugs, and as a result, the fish have grown much faster than they otherwise would have grown.
Glisten, Glisten, Little Fish!
Going back a few years, we find that one Roman pure-food law prohibited the sale of any fish that had lost its glisten.

Vanished Men

By GEORGE MARSH
CHAPTER I
With a grinding brake the Imperial Express came to a stop at Nottaway, a huddle of log buildings and frame shacks buried in the eternal spruce traversed by the Canadian National. Beyond the clearing a steel bridge spanned the north Nottaway River which flows north to James Bay. The attention of the idlers at the shack of a station was suddenly focused on a russet-haired man with a faded gun, duffel bag and a surveyor's transit, who blocked the platform door of a sleeper. He swung to the ground followed by a wide-shouldered young man with penetrating agate-gray eyes. From the Scotch station agent, who nodded, to two half-breeds who whispered, heads together, as they watched the travelers, the grey eyes missed nothing. The strangers left their dunnage and started for the head of the train. Reaching the starling half-breeds, the larger man stopped.
"Bo-jo! What's the secret, Mac?" he threw at the surprised pair.
Blood leaped to their sullen faces as one said: "Nobody spik to you!"
"But you strain your eyes looking, don't you? You're figuring what my name and age is and where I'm from? Well, I always aim to please. I'm four years old; my name's Marie and I've forgotten where I'm from! That help any?"

The listening group of loungers waited with caught breaths at the scarred face of the taller breed filled with blood. His yellow eyes blazed with the light of recognition. He slouched, big wrists hands on hips, smiling at his discomfort. For an instant his right hand hovered over his coat pocket, then left it as his companion seized his arm.
"You look for trouble here?" he snarled.
"Brother, I thought you were after information," drawled the amused grin. "And I was giving you some. Of course, if you can't use it—Well, s'vior, M'sieu! With a careless wave of his hand the russet-haired young man joined his waiting companion.
"Don't start anything here, Red!" cautioned the dark man. "It's too early. We've got to look around. But you sure got the goat of that Burrows!"
"I meant to! That bird looks like a baby to me. He needs a spanking."
"Good job somebody did on his face with a knife!"

At the head of the train the travelers found a blond individual riding an eighteen-foot Peterboro canoe from a baggage car. His high cheekbones, slits of eyes and crow-black hair marked a strain of Indian blood. Watching the proceeding Blaise had huge almond-shaped eyes.
"All right, Blaise," said the man with the grey eyes, "we'll give you a hand!"

The airdale leaped on the speaker who grasped the dog's hairy jowls. "Hello, Flame, old partner! The bush smell after the train, boy?"
Depositing the canoe on the slant of the railroad fill, the man called Blaise said: "We got to rush that grub off! Dis train not stop for long time!"

Shortly a heap of dunnage and provision bags lay beside the track. The square-built Blaise tossed the canoe to his shoulder and started down a path to the river.
"Well, Red," said Garrett Finlay, "my guess is that those two breeds at the station might know something we came a long way to learn."

"Before we leave this great city of six shacks and a store I'm going to make some talk with those brules and Mr. McLeod."
"They're altogether too keen to know who we are and where we're going. We'll give them a chance to find out, tonight," said Finlay. "Down the line they say no one at Nottaway wants talk. Before we start we'll find out why."
"Chief, we can't go back, you and Blaise and me, until we do find out. We've burned our bridges! It's sink or swim, now!"

The bronzed face of the other half-breed was light, flickered in his deep-set eyes. "Right, Red! We'll get to the bottom of this if it takes all winter and God help somebody when we do!"

After supper the friends separated. Leaving Malone in conversation with the storekeeper, Finlay went to the house of the station agent, McLeod.
"So you're going to the bay on the survey?" observed the Scotchman, glud of the chance for a gossip with someone from the "outside."
"Yes, we're meeting the main party at Rupert House."
"Wintering there, eh?"
"Oh, yes. We won't get out until next fall. By the way, what's all this mystery about here, Mr. McLeod?"
"Well, Red, you're a sideling glance at the steel rims of his spectacles question I'd like to ask you. Why does this fellow with the knife slash on his face pack a gun? What's he afraid of?"

"You're pretty shrewd, Mr. Finlay, you'll have to judge for yourself. I don't know."
After a chat about Lower Ontario, the McLeods' home country, Finlay bade them good-night. As he left the house he saw the taller of the half-breeds who had watched his arrival at Nottaway with such interested. Finlay's curious eyes studied the man who was evidently waiting for him in front of the frame store, which carried on a spruce plank above the door the name "J. Cotter."
Approaching the half-breed, he called: "Fine evening?"
The other grinned, slapping vigorously at his face and neck. "Good night for bug, also!"
Finlay lost no time in getting to the point. "You know the river to the Bay?"
The breed nodded. "You headin' for de Bay on survey?" he asked.
"Yes, we're heading for Rupert. The river runs pretty hard for a hundred miles below here, I hear."
"Plenty strong water on all dese riviere! Two men drown last year!"
Finlay closely watched the flickering eyes as he said: "And four the year before, but that was on the Waswanipi, they tell me!"
"Ah-hah!"
"I see that the Hudson's Bay and Jules Isadore have depots here," observed Finlay, nodding at the storehouses beside the track. "Who is your leader?"
The half-breed gaped in surprise. "You never heard of heem?"
"No."
"Wal, you not see hees place on Nottaway Trail?"
He does a big fur business, I judge, by the size of his depot."
"Ver' beeg business," he agreed. "Ver' beeg! McLeod, he talk wid you about Isadore?"
Finlay laughed inwardly. "No, he says he's new here, doesn't know Isadore."
"Ah!"
As yet the man who had evidenced such curiosity concerning the survey party had not shown his hand. Then Finlay abruptly brought the matter to a head. "You work for Isadore?"
"Yes."
"My name is Finlay. What's yours?"
"Louis Batoche."
"You handle his freight?"
"Yes. New M'sieu! Finlay," returned the other with a grimace, "I ask you question. W'y you go by day way to Rupert and not by easy trail to Moose?"
Finlay laughed. So that was the nigger in the woodpile! He wanted to know why the survey party was taking the Nottaway Trail to Bay. He answered disarmingly. "We're going to make a survey of the Nottaway from L. McLeod to Rupert Bay. O'her's we'd have gone by Moose."
Garry narrowly watched the other of his explanation. The half-breed lifted his brows in seeming surprise as he replied: "Ah-hah! I see!"
The answer appeared to satisfy Batoche's curiosity. He wanted to know why the survey party was taking the Nottaway Trail to Bay. He answered disarmingly. "We're going to make a survey of the Nottaway from L. McLeod to Rupert Bay. O'her's we'd have gone by Moose."

SENIORS

We, the Senior class of 1941-42, would like to introduce to Muleshoe their choice of carnival queen for this year. Doris Gordon was the popular choice of all the Seniors and we are going to support her 100 percent. To our friends, we ask your help in making Doris our carnival queen. Bosh Lowry was selected by the Seniors to serve as court.

JUNIORS

The Junior class met last Tuesday and elected their class queen. Those nominated were Virginia Whittington, who was queen of the school last year, Anallita Young, Lena Belle Smith, and Frances Williams.

Frances Williams led in the race and was elected. Daiton Beridan, a popular young number, was chosen as Frances' escort.

The Junior class is proud of this queen and escort, and we have great hopes of winning the race.

We are asking all our friends to help support us.

SOPHOMORES

The Sophomore class met Oct. 6, 1941, for one of the most important class meetings of the year to elect their choice for queen of the carnival on Oct. 31. Billie Briscoe was elected by an overwhelming majority. We haven't elected our escort yet, but plan to at the next class meeting.

We will appreciate every vote given the Sophomore queen.

FRESHMEN

The Freshman class elected Dot McAdams for the carnival queen. Her escort is Pat Briscoe. We will appreciate your votes.

MULESHOE LOYALTY

Are you loyal to the Muleshoe football team? Think hard, because from what I hear, there are a few of you who haven't thought much of sticking by the boys "when they lose."

Where is that pep, that zip and bang that Muleshoe gives our football team when they win? It's there, but it never shows up when they lose. Are you ashamed of them when they are defeated?

Instead of the yells and cheers to greet them, and cheer them up after a hard battle on the gridiron, must they walk off the field to hear jeers from Muleshoe citizens and be called "yellow?"

Of course, we are not expected to feel as gay about losing as we are when winning, but last Friday showed up a few people for what they called their loyalty to Muleshoe High.

I'm just a M. H. S. student, and I talk to those boys almost as much as their coach (who is really a fine guy). They wouldn't admit it, but they were hurt, deep down, to think that they get no respect whatsoever when they lose, and when they win, hunk-dory on a silver platter with "oh's" and "ah's".

It's not all of you citizens. You that have been guilty know who I'm blaming. Could you blame those boys for considering your false cheers disgusting?

It's not the school. Everyone in Muleshoe High School would give their right arm for any of those boys. It's just a few of the citizens who need a pep talk, not us, and we're asking your cooperation in adding lots more to the name that Muleshoe has for loyalty and sportsmanship.

Olton and Muleshoe played a hard game, and the boys don't deny that they were good players (especially the Hedges) but they do deny being yellow. Just because they lost, must they be branded?

Folks, we have a coach this year, and we have a team, and on top of that, we hope to have more loyalty to the school. It doesn't mean for just us students to be loyal, it includes you, and you and you. It makes them feel good to hear a kind word after a hard game, from you as well as us, even if they do lose, they are still counting on those cheers just the same.

In this year's tournament you've still to see a lot of life and action out of that team. Muleshoe may get whipped, but their spirit's never broken. Just watch them buck in those coming games and see who has the pep. Muleshoe has enough pep to last a thousand years from generation to generation, and not playing ping-pong, either, wise guy!

Enlisted Men Must Register Upon Discharge

Enlisted men who were in the registration age brackets on Oct. 16, 1940, or July 1, 1941, and who have not already registered under the Selective Training and Service Act must register when discharged from the military establishment, draft board officials said today.

Although members of the regular military establishment are relieved from registration as long as they are in service, they must register when they are released from the armed forces.

While the majority of such ex-service men probably are not liable for induction as selectees, the Board pointed out that there are some men who are discharged from the military establishment after one year of training and who, consequently, are liable for induction under the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940, as amended, relieves from liability for peace time training and service under the act only those regulars who have satisfactorily served as an officer or enlisted man for at least three consecutive years in the Regular Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard, or any enlisted man honorably discharged from the Regular Army or the Coast Guard within six months prior to the completion of his regular three-year period of enlistment.

Those one-year ex-service regulars who are liable for further military training may enlist in the National Guard of the states in which they will live or join the Enlisted Reserve Corps.

Selectees who are relieved from active duty with the army, the Board emphasized, are transferred to the reserve as provided by law and will be classified by their local boards as being members of the military establishment. Although they are not liable for additional service as selectees after completion of their period of training and relief from active duty, they may be called to active duty as members of the reserve, it was explained.

Texas Farmers Urged To Raise More Peanuts

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 13.—More peanuts for oil in 1942 is one of the first calls to Texas farmers in the defense production campaign, Romeo M. Korth, state AAA committeeman from Eccles, has announced.

Peanut growers are being called upon by the Texas USDA Defense Board to increase the acreage of peanuts in the state from 320,000 to 623,000 or approximately 100 percent. Of the 623,000 acres, 378,000 will be planted to peanuts for oil, the AAA official said. The entire southern region is being asked to increase peanuts for oil by 1,900,000 acres.

One method farmers can employ to reach the goal, Korth explained, is to seed more small grains this fall, thereby releasing acres next spring which would normally be planted to feed crops. Farmers who are able to obtain seed at the proper time, at the specified amount per acre, inoculate and apply phosphate to assure increased production of crops, he cautioned.

In planning for ample feed supplies now, Texas farmers will have the additional acres available for peanuts for oil next summer and at the same time retain the acreage of peanuts normally hogged-off. Since the Department of Agriculture is also asking for an increase in hog production, the acreage hogged-off should be increased as well, Korth said.

By planting winter cover crops, farmers will qualify for minimum erosion resisting and soil conserving crops under the 1942 A-AA program. In counties where erosion resisting and soil conserving acres do not apply, the cover crops can be used as soil-building practices to meet minimum soil-building provisions.

W. S. C. S. MEETS TUESDAY IN CHURCH ANNEX

The Women's Society of Christian Service met at the Methodist church annex Tuesday afternoon. A very inspiring program was given by Mrs. Roy Bayless and Mrs. H. C. Holt. Mrs. Clay Beavers made a short talk on the new study book, "A Christian Imperative," which is to be begun next Tuesday afternoon.

Eighteen members were present. The meeting was adjourned by the president, Mrs. Jess Mitchell, after a short business session.

Mercury Raises Power-Weight Ratio

The new Mercury, lower and even more brilliantly styled than before, has made its formal bow to American motorists. Most striking change in the 1942 line is the broad grille of rustless steel and the widely-flared fenders guarded by heavy bumpers finished in chrome. Added engine output again raises Mercury's high ratio of power per pound achieved by application of aviation principles to automotive design. Among the six body types offered is the Two-Door Sedan shown above. Liqueumatic Drive is available at extra cost.

RED RAIDERS PLAY GENTLEMEN FROM CENTENARY SATURDAY

LUBBOCK, Tex., Oct. 13.—Major football will return to Lubbock Saturday night when the Texas Tech Red Raiders battle the Centenary College Gentlemen in a buzz-saw game at Tech stadium. It will be the undefeated Red Raiders' first appearance on home soil in four weeks.

Victorious over Abilene Christian, 34 to 0; Oklahoma A. & M., 16 to 6, and the Loyola University Lions 14 to 0, the Red Raiders are the consensus choice to smother the Centenary juggernaut. The scattin' and scottin' Red Raiders blasted Centenary last season 26 to 6. In that game the Techsman chalked up 445 against 42 net yards for the Gentlemen from Louisiana.

Offering a quake-proof forward wall and a backfield that is as fast as the "Hut-Sut" song, the sharp-toothed Red Raiders will be going all out for their fourth straight victory against Centenary. The lightning-fast, hard-bitten Raiders proved they have plenty of the old touch-down moxie last Friday when they thoroughly whipped a big Loyola team in Los Angeles.

The Red Raiders will count on speed and zip to befuddle the Gentlemen and they have just that in such agile halfbacks as Rogers Smith, Don Austin, J. R. Callahan and Thayne Amoggett. These four are free-wheeling, far going youngsters who are capable of scoring the gizzards out of the opposition when they grab the ball and start for pay-dirt at the opposite end of the field.

Texas Tech's high voltage backfield has accounted for 64 points in three games this season against six for the opposition.

Rogers Smith, left halfback, leads the Tech scoring parade with two touchdowns, one field goal and four conversions for 19 points.

GEORGE GRAY RESIGNS MORTON COACHING JOB

MORTON, Oct. 14.—Geo. Gray, athletic coach at Morton high school for the last four years, has submitted his resignation, it was announced today.

Gray will leave next week for Chamite Field, Illinois, where he will be a civilian instructor in mathematics in the army flying school there.

His successor at Morton has not yet been named.

Gray turned out an outstanding basketball team last year, when the Indians went to the finals of the district tournament before losing to Lubbock. The cage team lost only four games the entire year and won more than 25.

This year's football team, although it has won only a single game, has done much better than expected. Handicapped by a shortage of capable material, the Indians have nevertheless played fairly close games with four opponents of the strong District 5-A.

BUY NOW!

WHY

New, 1942 SERVEL ELECTROLUX models are now available. But why buy now? Read these answers and decide for yourself—

Q. 1. Why not wait until next summer? Why buy now?
Ans. Will you be able to buy any refrigerator then? No one knows. The defense program demands daily more and more steel, copper, etc.—the very materials required to build a Servel.

Q. 2. Can I get terms to suit my purse, if I wait?
Ans. No one knows. But—right now, a small down payment puts Servel Electrolux in your home—with 18 long months to pay!

Q. 3. How much tax will I have to pay, if I wait?
Ans. No one knows. Excise taxes, such as these, can be increased by Congress as required. And defense authorities say "far heavier taxes yet to come."

Q. 4. Is it patriotic to buy now?
Ans. Buying now may release man-power, machine power, materials, later on, when they are much more badly needed for defense. And protecting the nation's health—your family's health—is a number one requirement for defense.

Q. 5. Is Servel a good investment at a time like this?
Ans. Food prices are going up! We probably haven't seen anything yet. The higher they go, the more Servel Electrolux will save in your home. Remember—it's always summer in your kitchen! At present food prices we can show how an average family may save up to $8.60 per month!

Q. 6. How long can I expect such savings?
Ans. Servel, the Gas refrigerator, is backed by an iron-clad 10-YEAR GUARANTEE on its entire refrigerating system—at no extra cost—still the ONLY one that is. Because there are NO MOVING PARTS in its freezing system. Nothing to wear, to cause costly repairs, to grow inefficient and costly to operate. In West Texas today, there are hundreds of Servel Electrolux refrigerators that have been giving faithful, trouble-free, refrigeration for 10, 12, 14 years—without one cent for service or repairs! Over and over again, they have paid for themselves. Yours can, too. Come in and pick out your 1942 Servel today.

ARGENTINIANS FIGHT WITH THE ALLIES

Argentina, as well as the United States, has volunteers in the fighting lines against Hitler today. These tough-looking soldiers from South America's second largest republic were discovered serving with the Polish army in Scotland by an American judge, William Clark (left) who is on a tour through embattled Britain. Other Argentinian volunteers are in training in Canada, which is rapidly becoming the Allied "Fort Dix" of the Second World War.

Washington Snapshots
by JAMES PRESTON

Soaring prices to be held down. More billions for lease-lend program. Neutrality act revision. Overhauling of priorities system. Congress and the Administration have a couple of things to attend to these days. But a good many of the key New Dealers—yes, they are still around—have, nevertheless managed to eke out a little spare time for planning. This time they're planning about the industrial system and its rearrangement after the war's completion. Careful for control of big industry—like automobiles, steel and the others. "Balanced abundance"—the phrase belongs to Vice President Wallace—is the keynote, and of course nobody is against that. Coated with such titles, many of the planners think industry will continue to take in big doses the regimentation which it has accepted as a necessary evil of a war economy.

Some of the planners envision the extraordinary powers of the Supply Priorities and Allocation Board as a part of our permanent economy when the war emergency is history. Take a look at these powers, which are revolutionizing our industrial set-up. In fact take two looks—once from the viewpoint of the present "unlimited national emergency," and again from the viewpoint of the post-emergency days to come. Acceptance of defense orders is mandatory. Simplification and standardization of industrial products are being requested. Allocation of raw materials for civilian as well as defense industries is planned, so that the government for practical purposes controls inventories of private industry.

Industry, concerned with viewpoint No. 1, has been in the foreground of those asking for centralized defense planning. But as a return for industry's wholehearted cooperation, and back-breaking effort, the planners are scheming to take full advantage of the regimentation made necessary by the emergency and accepted by industry as part of the whole series of sacrifices defense is asking of everyone.

The planned economy boys feel that the critical times have given a rebirth to over-all economic planning that they just can't afford to let go. Not so long ago their schemes were to a large extent discredited by the failure of the staggering spending programs to provide incentive for employment and new enterprise. In a year they have seen more centralization take place than they were able to obtain in eight years of constant effort. And they want to be certain the regimentation is "for keeps."

Some of the planners like to talk of what's happening in Great Britain. But if they're hoping that the British will lead the way to socialization of industry they ought to read what one of London's foremost economic journals has to say. "The Statist," speaking of "The Plague of Planners" says in part: "Once the markets of the world are open again for peaceful trading and men of business can turn their attention to the real task of feeding and clothing the crowded millions of these islands, the shackles which now bind enterprise and the plans which are to bind it in the future will alike be repudiated, because such restrictions will mean the cramping of trade at a time when the nation's recovery will depend upon the utmost trading energy. The days of laissez-faire have gone forever and the world will probably never again see an era of cut-throat competition—but the alternative to laissez-faire is not a rigidly controlled and centrally directed community. The alternative is a community enjoying the maximum of freedom in the conduct of its affairs and enduring only the irreducible minimum of control. Planning is only another name for regimentation, and regimentation means stagnation, and stagnation in turn means death to a nation which must always depend upon a vigorous and adaptable trading system. . . . The only healthy plan which can be devised at this time is a plan to end at the earliest possible moment all those restraints and interferences which the war has created. Fresh plans to increase such interferences and restraints are the last thing needed by a nation facing the most difficult period of reconstruction in its commercial history."
