Local Methodists Begin New Year

J. P. Cole was returned to the YL circuit. Rev. Melvin Walker to Sudan. Rev. Baker to Amherst. Rev. McBrayer to Earth. Rev. Vaughn to Muleshoe. Rev. L. W. Baker is the new pastor at Buda and Rev. G. D. Roberts at Maple. Rev. W. C. Hinds continues as District Superintendent of the Plainview district. Some of the former pastors at Muleshoe were appointed as follows: Rev. Turentine remains at Malador. Rev. Huckabee at Brownfield. Rev. Wallace was sent to Rotan. Rev. Short remains at Colorado City. A highlight at the conference was the breaking of dirt at McMurry College for two new buildings. This year—1946—is to be a special time of evangelism throughout the Methodist church. Those attending from Muleshoe were D. P. Bates, Mrs. H. C. Holt, Rev. and Mrs. W. B. Vaughn

Lt. Jones Is Given Release

Participation in the bloody battles of Kwajalein, Saipan, Tinian, and Iwo Jima was enough to satisfy thoroughly the curiosity of First Lt. Forrest W. Jones, United States Marine Corps Reserve, of Muleshoe, may have had about what war is like. The lieutenant, now home on terminal leave awaiting separation from the service January 1, said he is plenty glad to be home, glad to be away from his wife's carnage, and plenty lucky to be here. With the famous Fourth Marine Division he took part in the beach assaults on these islands and came through without injury.

Lt. Jones, former vocational agriculture teacher in Muleshoe High school, is reunited with his wife, Mrs. Hattie Ray Jones, and their little son, Forrest W., Jr. During his entire service of three years he had not been back to Muleshoe. Lt. Jones trained at Quantico Marine Base and upon graduation with the officer candidate class received his commission as a second lieutenant March 10, 1943. His first assignment was with the Fleet Marine Force, New River, S. C.

He went with his unit to Camp Pendleton, Oceanside, Calif., and showed off from there January 13, 1944 for Kwajalein atoll. He was a member of the Third Battalion, 23rd Marine Regiment, 4th Division. His outfit hit the beaches at Roi and Namur. After these islands were secured, they returned to a rest area on the island of Maui. In June, they struck in the third assault wave on Saipan, familiarly known to the Marines as "The Bucket of Blood." The beaches at Roi and Namur after these islands were secured, they returned to a rest area on the island of Maui for another rest. Lt. Jones, who is a big man, weighing over 200, found that he

Bailey Lags In War Fund Drive

Only 53 per cent of Bailey county's quota in the drive on behalf of the National War Fund has been raised, said Tye Young, chairman, today. Mr. Young urged that all who intend to contribute to the fund in the last drive of this war, turn their contribution in within the next few days. Time has been extended to December 1, he said in order to allow this county sufficient time to raise the quota.

L. C. Carter Gets Navy Discharge

L. C. Carter, Coxswain V-6, USNR, has received his honorable discharge from the Navy, at the Personnel Separation Center, San Pedro, Calif. L. C. had served in the Navy thirty-two months and 22 days. He received the Point System, Purple Heart, Victory Medal, Philippine Liberation with two stars, Asiatic-Pacific ribbon with six stars and the American Theater ribbon. Carter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Carter, who formerly lived in the Maple community. Everyone is glad to welcome L. C. back.

Pvt. James Bowen Stationed In Manila

MANILA—Private James M. Bowen of Muleshoe, Texas, is now a directory clerk in the postal unit of the Replacement Depot. Near Manila. Pvt. Bowen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bowen of Muleshoe. Inducted in March of this year he received infantry training at Camp Hood, Texas, before coming to the Philippines in October. A graduate of the Alton High School, Pvt. Bowen was employed by the Western Drug Store at Muleshoe before his induction.

GARAGE IS BURNED

The garage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin St. Clair was destroyed by fire Monday night. Origin of the blaze was not determined. The garage had lost 40 pounds. But there was another bloody experience in store. After a rest the unit took part in the assault on Iwo Jima. "The Nightmare," he calls it. By this time he had taken part in 4 amphibious landings in 13 months with his division, the Fourth Marines having established a record not equaled by any other in any branch of the U.S. Armed Forces, in number of assault landings. Of 39 officers in his Battalion who left the west coast, only 2, he said, returned. He considers himself very fortunate indeed to have been one who did return, and without a wound. He was overseas 22 months, and every one of them was long. Lt. Jones said he will likely remain the faculty of the Muleshoe high school after a time.

Flying Fortress Is Sought Here

A plan to get a B-17 Flying Fortress stationed in Muleshoe for instructional purposes was initiated at the luncheon Tuesday of the Muleshoe Lions Club. It would be used in connection with ground school classes in the schools. Don Ashel of the Muleshoe Flying Field attended and explained the need for the craft. It was pointed out that used Forts may be purchased from the government at a very reasonable figure. Lion Boss Tye Young appointed Pat Bobo, Bits Holt and Jim Cox in a committee to attend to the matter and to contact other organizations for their cooperation. Guests included Ashel, Rev. W. Vaughn, Methodist pastor, and Varrant Officer Cecil Spence.

City Planner Begins Work

O. H. Koch, of Koch & Fowler, city planners, Dallas, will be in Muleshoe November 28 and 29 to begin studies and investigations looking toward setting up the city plan for Muleshoe. The Dallas firm recently was employed by the city commission to do this work. Mr. Koch writes Mayor R. L. Brown that he will appreciate the suggestions and ideas of any and all Muleshoe residents. Accordingly, Mayor Brown has asked this paper to invite the people to submit their ideas in writing at his office in order that Mr. Koch may have the benefit of such suggestions. All will be welcomed, the Mayor said.

Lt. Ira Thomas Given Discharge

Second Lieutenant Clarence I. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Thomas of Muleshoe, was honorably released from active duty with the Army Air Forces and returned to civilian life at the AAF Separation Base, Lincoln, Nebraska, J. E. Mallory, post commander, announced. Second Lt. Thomas entered the service at Lubbock Army Air Field, Feb. 23, 1943, and served with the Army Air Forces as a pilot.

Rudolph Johnson Fought On Ie Shima

Rudolph Johnson, seaman first class, of Muleshoe, Texas, went ashore at tiny Ie Shima where the famed Ernie Pyle met his death, to carry on the work of a Fleet unit bearing the legend of "GroPac." While the fighting still raged 200 yards from the beaches, Navy records of the operation have disclosed. "GroPac" became a highly respected term in the Navy because of its performances at Ie Shima and other bitterly contested islands in the Pacific. The term is short for the Group, Pacific, which served as a part of the Service Force, Pacific Fleet. The job of "GroPac," after landings had been effected, was to unload the huge quantities of supplies from the LSM's, LCT's and barges, supplies without which the island beachheads and advances could not have been sustained. Group, Pacific also included a small boat repair component which worked 24 hours a day to put wrecked and damaged craft back in shape.

Pvt. James Broyles Visits With Family

Pvt. James C. Broyles, who has been spending his 2-day furlough at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Broyles, of Muleshoe, returned to headquarters at Houston, Texas, on Monday of last week. He is with Co. B, 766th M. P. Bn. of Houston.

BACK ON THE JOB

Buck Wood is back on the job at the Western Drug after a long time in the United States Navy. Everyone is glad to see Buck return and get back into his old place. D. W. Winn was in Bangs, Texas, the first of the week to be at the bedside of an old friend who was critically ill. He was accompanied by two brothers of Lubbock on the trip.

Rev. Blaine Is Baptist Pastor

Rev. A. W. Blaine, Mineral Wells, has accepted the call to the pastorate of the First Baptist Church of Muleshoe, and will take up his duties on the local field the first Sunday in December. Rev. Blaine, who is 37, has just completed a four-year period of service as a major in the Army Chaplain Corps, serving two years overseas. He was serving as Palo Pinto County Baptist Missionary at the time he was called by the church here. Rev. and Mrs. Blaine have two children, a boy 3, and a young baby. He was educated at Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, and at Southwestern Baptist Seminary, Fort Worth.

The new pastor preached for the congregation here Sunday, November 11 and the church voted to call him. He succeeds Dr. W. R. Hornburg, resigned, in order to return to Weatherford for Mrs. Hornburg's health. On the pulpits committee of the church were Arthur Crow, Byron Groffiths, Burl Black, Henry Schuster, Mrs. W. T. Howell, Miss Elizabeth Bailey and Hoyt Morgan.

Charles Julian Is Here On Leave From The Navy

Charles D. "Chock" Julian, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Julian of Muleshoe is here on a thirty-day leave from the Navy. He served as a guard aboard a transport while overseas. He has been in the Navy for one and one-half years. After his leave he will report to 1 Paso but does not expect his discharge as yet. The oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Julian, is here visiting. He brought his wife to Muleshoe.

Three Districts Meet E Quotas In Bond Drive

Baileyboro and Stegall communities this week joined Progress in making their E Bond quotas in the Victory Loan Drive, bringing to three the number of Bailey County districts so reporting. Meanwhile, the county of Bailey as a whole lagged badly. First of the week the county was in 14th place among counties of the State. By the end of the week had dropped back to 174th in the county standings. This information was released by E. R. Hart and Jesse Osborn, co-chairmen in the county for the Victory Loan Drive. The two urged other districts to report promptly, when a campaign has been conducted. It is their ambition to have all districts meet their E Bond quotas by December 7.

Music Lovers Club Met At Dennis Home

The Music Lovers Club met Monday, November 19, in the home of Carolyn Dennis. Jackie Lawler, the president, called the meeting to order. Thirty minutes were read and approved by the secretary, Carolyn Dennis. The treasurer's report for 1944 was read by Melba Dearing. The club voted to have class pins if they can be obtained. Anita Mary Butler, our music teacher, Waneen Beller, Elada Benson, Melba Dearing, Verna Ray Snyder, Billie Margaret Collins, Charline Black, Joy Snyder, Joann Chitwood, Rufus Aylesworth, a new member, Marlene Thomas, and our hostess and co-hostess, Carolyn Dennis and Jackie Lawler. The next meeting will be in the home of Waneen Beller, Monday, December 17. The meeting was adjourned. —Reporter

Dinner Honors Football Players

Members of the Muleshoe high school Yellow Jackets football squad were guests at a dinner served last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tye Young. Piece de resistance on the menu was venison, supplied by Irvin St. Clair. The Jackets ended their 1945 football campaign last Friday afternoon by winning an impressive victory over Morton high, 7 to 0. About the middle of the second quarter, Muleshoe took the ball on their 30 and on a sustained drive by Arlo Farrell, Fuston McCarty, and Wiley Moore, placed the ball on the Morton 3, from where Bill St. Clair plunged over for the winning touchdown. Moore added the extra point. Good defensive play was turned in by the entire Jackets line, including Poss Lowry, Billy Bickel, Don Bryant, Jess Winn, Jim Bickel, Jack Baker, Glen Tibbets and Talmadge McKillip. tressed a long pass to Wiley Moore, Bill St. Clair in the third quarter tossed a long pass to Wiley Moore, who went over the goal line standing up, but the play was called back by the referee, who ruled that when St. Clair dropped the ball, in picking it up his knee touched the ground. Few substitutions were made in the game. St. Clair replaced Farrell who in turn replaced Jack Young. This closed out the most successful season that Muleshoe has enjoyed in several years. Counting an intra-squad game which the Yellow Jackets won 23 to 0, and a game with the all-stars which the high school won 7 to 0, including wins over Olton and Morton, Muleshoe won 4 games and lost 4, for a 500 average which is a fairly good win percentage.

Cecil Spence Is Home From War

Warrant Officer Cecil Spence, Signal Corps, U. S. Army, is home from Muleshoe on inactive duty, and will be discharged in February. He has been in the service more than 5 years. Spence entered the service Sept. 4, 1940. He went overseas in February, 1944, landing in Southern Italy. His unit, the 582nd Signal Aircraft Warning Battalion, attached to the air force, went through Italy. He then went into southern France shortly after D-Day. They advanced through France and into Germany where they were when peace came. Spence flew to England and made his trip home on the Queen Mary, sailing November 4. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Spence. His wife, Mrs. Marie Spence, has been here during the time he was in the Army. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Spence.

17 Above Weather In Bailey County

Cooler weather set folks of this section shivering first of this week. Monday morning a low of 17 degrees was recorded, and the low of Tuesday morning was 22 degrees. Rainfall to date, says R. J. Klump, weather recorder here, is exactly 11 inches. Normal average rainfall for ten years has been 16 inches. No rain has fallen in November.

Elliott Erecting New Building

Ground was broken this week for a business building for Howard Elliott, owner of the City Cleaners. Work will proceed on the foundation and on the building as rapidity as materials are received. The building is going up on the corner opposite the Muleshoe State Bank, and will have openings on Main Street and on the south also. It is to be built of brick and tile. 25x140 feet in dimensions. A light face brick will be used on the east and south walls, Elliott said. City Cleaners will occupy the west one-half of the building and the front room, 70x25 will be rented to some other business. Mr. and Mrs. Olen Jennings had as guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lucas of Enochs.

J. D. Sullivan Gets Honorable Army Discharge

Pfc. J. D. Sullivan recently received his honorable discharge from the Army and is back on the farm south of Muleshoe with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Sullivan. He had served 42 months, 36 of them overseas in the European theatre. Pfc. Sullivan took part in the invasion of France and helped to establish the Normandy beachhead. With the 1st, 3rd and 9th Armies he pursued the Germans across France into Germany, stopping at the Elbe river when the Yanks joined up with the Russians.

To the People of this Community

It would be pleasant to report that the Victory Loan is simply a valiant way to a great home front war program. The government is asking you in this last drive to buy extra bonds because billions of dollars in war bills are unpaid, billions of extra dollars must be spent to bring your uniformed men and women home, billions of extra dollars will be needed for care of the wounded, liquidation of war contracts and maintenance of occupation forces. Besides serving as guardians of the peace in enemy lands, Victory Bonds hold off the threat of inflation at home. For your own good, the Victory Loan should be your best performance of all the war loans. THE EDITOR

Hybrid Onion Seed Developed

GOLLEGE STATION—After ten years of work, scientists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture have announced the production of hybrid onion seed on a commercial scale.

The increased yields obtained by use of hybrid corn has focused the attention of seed breeders everywhere on new uses for the hybrid principle, and announcements of new hybrids may be expected soon.

Hybrid onion seed, however, came as a surprise, J. P. Rosborough, horticulturist of Texas A. & M. College Extension Service, said the nearness of the male and female parts made the job seem almost impossible. The discovery of a sterile male onion was what allowed hybridization with a male fertile onion on a field scale, he said.

The first hybrid onion is known as California Hybrid Red No. 1, and is adapted to parts of California, Utah, and Nevada. The new variety has yielded from 400 to 700 100-pound bags per acre and is general in producing at the rate of 50 percent above other varieties for these areas.

With the discovery of the male sterile onion, Rosborough said, the field is now open for the breeding of hybrid strains of various varieties for different regions, seasons and conditions.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hicks of Spur, Texas, have recently purchased the Goucher farm and are moving here this week to make their home.

What's Back of My Gas Burners?

A thousand years ago, the Chinese used natural gas fuel for evaporating salt brine. They transported the gas in bamboo tubes. Thus, in those days, the gas business was simple. Now, however, it has become complicated and technical, utilizing many scientific devices and processes.

Since natural gas service so vitally affects your daily life, we believe you would enjoy knowing more about it. Therefore we plan to publish a series of four advertisements which will attempt to explain how natural gas is brought from its deep-underground reservoir to the burners of your gas appliances. Due to space limitations, the story must be brief and oversimplified. The drawing of the left will help you follow the gas on its travels.

Most of our gas comes from Hutchinson, Moore, Carson and Potter Counties in the Panhandle Gas Field, one of the largest in the world. We purchase some gas in Ector County for use in the southern portion of our system. In the Panhandle Field gas wells are generally drilled by the "rotary" methods, so named because of the rotating motion of the drill bit. A modern rotary drilling outfit costs from $100,000 to $200,000.

The hard steel drill bit is the cutting tool which drills down through successive strata of shale and rock. Screwed to the top of the bit is a string of hollow, round drill pipe which in turn is screwed into the bottom of a hollow, square pipe known as a "Kelly." The Kelly works through a square hole in the rotary turntable. Thus, when the engines spin the turntable, the Kelly, the drill pipe and the bit also spin, and the bit cuts its way downward. Heavy pumps force drilling mud down through the hollow Kelly and drill pipe, through perforations in the bit, then outside the pipe and back to the surface, carrying with it the cuttings from the bit. As the bit moves downward, additional joints of drill pipe are added below the Kelly.

When the gas producing horizon is reached, a string of steel pipe, known as casing, is inserted in the hole from the surface of the ground to the top of the producing horizon. After running the casing, cement is run thru the casing and forced out around the bottom in order to prevent the gas from escaping around the outside of the pipe. Then the well is drilled into the gas-producing horizon.

A steel derrick, capable of supporting weights of 200 tons or more, is used to support the drill pipe during drilling and the casing when casing is being installed. When the well is completed, the derrick is removed. In its place is installed a "Christmas Tree," an odd-looking assembly of valves and fittings necessary in producing, testing and maintaining the well.

Letters From Service Men

(The following is part of a letter received from V. V. Jernigan, PHM 3-c, by his family here.)

Sangley Point, P. I. Nov. 1, 1945.

Dearest Loved Ones:

Well here is starting a new month and I just have to tell you about my new work. I am, and have been for some time, flying patients from here to Samar, P. I., which is about 2 1/2 hours by plane.

The guys that I work with in flights are the best bunch of guys I have ever had the privilege of working with, and, boy, you should see the Philippines from the air. The little rice fields look like a checkerboard and everything looks like a dream. This morning, for instance, the clouds were all down below us, as we were flying around 12,000 feet to stay out of the air waves. Then we did a few leanovers to look at the sea and the ships looked like rowboats.

I am enclosing a copy of an article that was put in the Esquire Magazine about a Marine that I worked with and gave blood for one of the transfusions. This is an actual occurrence at the Hosp 107 where I spent some 8 months duty, and is a true story.

Written By Sidney Carol
Once you see the terrible things that gunfire and battle can do to a man you begin to wonder just how much punishment the human body can take and still survive. I want to tell you the story of a man named James Anderson Summers, a sergeant in the First

Marine Division. This story is a kind of clinical history.

Summers is 28. He is tall, thin, and has blond hair. Before the war he worked for Dyers Feed and Gro. Co. in Jackson, Miss. He enlisted in the Marines on Oct. 1 before the Fourth of July, 1940. He was sent overseas on July 18, 1942, and fought through the Guadalcanal campaign, and was slightly wounded there. Then he went through the Cape Gloucester campaign without a scratch.

On the 15th day of September, 1944, Summers landed on the southern beach of Peleliu. It was the job of his outfit to take the one beach and then moved inland, and then down to the south tip of the island. They landed, they established their beachhead, and then they started down the tip.

But reinforcements were needed further north on the island, at Bloody Nose Ridge, and Summers and his men were sent up there.

On the afternoon of his seventh day under fire a mortar shell landed uncomfortably close to Summers. He blooped down the way two ahead of him, not more than six feet in front of him he saw a ditch. He started to get up to head for the ditch, and just as he was getting ready to crawl forward a second mortar shell landed right next to him. The blast knocked him right into the ditch and when he came to his senses there was something like slow fire in his belly. "I tried to get up," he said "but my whole right side just wouldn't move. I didn't really feel any pain, just numbness."

What had happened was a piece of shrapnel had penetrated his back, just below the spine. Summers pulled his right arm around and looked at his watch. It was exactly 6:15. He lay there in the ditch alone for perhaps 15 minutes in a pool of blood until he saw two marines moving up close by. He called to them and they came to him. They dragged him about fifty yards to where a couple of corporals were working. The corporals gave the wounded sergeant a shot of morphine, then carried him to a first aid station which was located in a dugout. Down in the dugout they turned the lights on Summers, gave him his first shot of plasma and dressed the gaping wound in his back. They put him in an ambulance, then drove him to a medical station which was on the beach. Summers lay there all night.

In the morning he was placed aboard one of those amphibious mach 1 enses called am?B machines called "ducks," driven out across the fringing water, and hoisted aboard a hospital ship. By the time he got aboard his loss of blood was tremendous. He was given two more shots of plasma and one transfusion.

An examination of the prone flesh that was Sergeant James Anderson Summers disclosed that a piece of shrapnel had sheared through one of his kidneys, through his bladder, and through his bowel. The bones of his pelvis were injured and his right leg was paralyzed.

By all the laws of average and the book, a man has no sort of chance of standing up under that sort of thing. But Navy doctors have no time to consider averages. They gave him two operations on the hospital ship. The first was an attempt to stop a hemorrhage in his abdomen. A short while after he came out of the anesthetic from that one, Summers felt a pain in the right side of his chest. He reached over and felt a hard lump there under the skin. He called a doctor and whispered: "I feel something here." The area he pointed to was abscessed. They operated then and took out a shrapnel. It was a piece of dirty, jagged steel, 2 inches long. It is many miles from Fleet Hosp. 107 in Noumea, New Caledonia. By the time the hospital ship arrived at Noumea, Summers was one of the patients who was expected to die.

When a hospital ship unloads its human cargo at a fleet hospital, the sight is one you will never forget. The stretchers come off one by one and each one is a separate case of pain and misery. Many of the cases are already beyond hope. It is a strange irony that allows a man to survive the battle, to cling to life on a hospital ship, and then to die on a bed on terra firma a long way from the battle. Summers seemed to be one of those ironic cases. The doctors at the hospital took him off the ship and read his papers and saw on the stretcher a long, lank boy who had lost a terrible amount of blood and whose insides were torn to pieces. He needed several operations. Could he survive even the first of them? The look of him and the prognosis of his charts didn't deter the doctors in Fleet Hospital 107. They picked up where the doctors on the hospital ship had left off. He was still a living thing, even though the life spark was about as low as it could go.

His first need was blood, for when he was taken off the ship he had about one-fifth of the normal amount of it in his veins. He was given a quart and a half of blood immediately upon admission to 107. The very next day he was operated on, a second operation on the bowel. In the next five days they gave him another fourteen pints of blood and there is no telling how much plasma, before he could undergo his next operation—before he was well enough to have his kidney removed.

It must be remembered that at each stage of the attempts to save Sergeant Summers there was never any knowing whether he would survive the night. Three doctors did the surgical work on him and stayed up nights at his bedside. There was Dr. M. G. O'Brien, a urologist from Scranton, Penn. There was Dr. J. Rogers, a surgeon formerly of San Francisco and Dr. J. C. Mabry, from Houston, Texas. O'Brien says "He was the sickest man I have ever seen."

With each successive job, each stitching of the thin web that still held Summers among the living, was a challenge to the men trying to save his life. The odds continued to pile up against them, for in midst of their frantic endeavors the weakened and ebbing Summers had recurrent malaria, and then hookworm. There were hundreds of patients in the hospital at that time, but Captain R. R. Gosser, the commanding officer of the base, found time to visit Summers every day, for the case of Summers was a thing that happens to a hospital every once in a while—a challenge to the whole staff. And there was another thing that stimulated the nurses and doctors to fantastic efforts in his behalf. Summers, long, lank and bloodless, by all odds an utterly hopeless case and a tremendous will to live. In his spurts of consciousness he told them in his soft Mississippi drawl that he had no intention at all of dying.

For six weeks they kept four nurses specially assigned to Summers day and night. All told, he had 25 blood transfusions. Most remarkable of all, perhaps, is the fact that they gave him 6,000,000 units of penicillin. In all he had 344 injections of the precious stuff, a score which is a record in the Pacific.

After the removal of his kidney, O'Brien operated on his bladder. After the bladder operation, Rogers and Mabry performed the second operation on his abdomen. It was at that stage of the game, a few weeks after the operation, that I saw Sgt. Summers in his bed in the hospital at Noumea. That was in the early part of January, 1945, 4 months after the invasion of Peleliu.

He was thin, he was weak, but he was well. The paralysis in his leg had disappeared. His diet included everything from pickles to beans. The danger was all over and Sergeant Summers, when I saw him, was on the road to complete recovery. He was to be sent back to the States where he would undergo one more operation, possibly two. His convalescence would take from six to nine months. At the end of that time he would be as fit as the day he enlisted in the Marines.

Some say the Sergeant can tell the neighbors back in Jackson that he came as close to cashing in as a man can come. But he can also say that he was one of those who owe their lives to the skill, the patience, the perseverance of our medical men, and to their dogged, unreasonable to take "no" for an answer.

PUBLIC FORUM

Dr. S. E. Goucher has permitted publication of a letter written from a civilian detention camp in Shanghai by Rev. Oswald Goulter, Missionary to China, to his wife in the States about the time the Japs decided to accept peace terms. Mrs. Goulter and their three daughters had come to U.S. about a week before Pearl Harbor. They live in Beverly Hills, California. Mrs. Goulter is a sister of Dr. Goucher. The Goulters both were missionaries of the Christian Church, and had been in China about 18 years before the war broke. Mrs. Goulter has been on a lecture tour of the country in the last few months. They had been working in Hopei province, which is about 600 miles up the Yangtze from Shanghai. The interesting letter follows:

Footing Civil Assembly Center, Shanghai, China, August 18, 1945.

My Dearest Wife:

Although it is a week since we first heard of the Japanese were definitely accepting the conditions for peace offered by the allies, we are still shut up here and cannot see when we will get out. Every hour hopes are raised for getting out. People are desperately impatient then news leaks in that the terms are not accepted, that the agreement has not yet been signed, that the occupying armies are only just starting. Meanwhile we are still shut up; of course it seems intolerable.

Things in Shanghai have been extremely bad because of the collapse of the local currency. It has been fantastic. For example peanut butter we used to buy for from five to twenty-five cents a pound went to fifteen dollars per pound and we were horrified then to three hundreds of dollars per pound in business everything is chaotic.

I hardly know where to start to explain it all. But will first tell a little about camp life. Food has usually been enough in bulk, but quite inadequate in quality so that most people suffered from malnutrition at times. I was very weak a year ago now, could barely crawl up the stairs, but have recovered as a result of the food supplied by the International Red Cross and parcels I had sent in and my own garden stuff.

Have had no fruit for two and one half years even though we saw great loads of it being carried would not let us buy even 1 peach through the street. The Japanese or orange when we were desperately in need of vitamins, and some were actually dying slowly.

As to my plans, it is still difficult to say. I will make a quick trip around the stations to make sure property is being safeguarded. Also to talk things over with our Chinese friends and will then send word to the U. S. M. C. It will be interesting to see what is left of our furniture, cows, etc. I fear very little. I was compelled to sell the piano for half its value but at the time I was accordingly glad to get anything for it. I used that money for buying supplies of sugar and food to bring here.

That was of the very greatest value for me for a year after coming here. Some of the other furniture I left to Mr. Wagnard, Mr. Chiu. Perhaps that still will be available. Most of our good furniture including the dining room suite, dishes, parlor suite, etc. I had to leave the house. When the Japanese leave, they should turn it over to the proper authorities, and one cannot depend on that. They may have sold it or may have looted. In Shanghai, I have already heard that some people are getting their furniture back in good shape in others not so good, and in others it's a total loss.

Chungking soldiers are arriving here now, also American airplanes with increasing frequency. People so wild with enthusiasm when welcoming them. Japanese have a good opportunity to see how they are hated by the Chinese and how the Allies are honored.

I have thought and thought and thought about you till I have only a feeling of despair—can't believe that it can really be that I am going to see you. All the delays that seem to lie ahead now are most aggravating. The information is that boats will not be available for a long time. Already mail is going to England by way of Siberia, perhaps I will be able to come that

Hog Killing Time

Come now hog killing time. Not so much as formerly, because with the widespread use of the quick freezer locker, hog killing is now a year round deal on many Texas farms. But most Texas farm people still wait for winter to butcher hogs for home use.

How To Make Good Biscuits

By Opal S. Moore
Whether you are a young bride or an older bride whose soldier has just returned with a special desire for home baked food, or whether your husband is one of those men who demands biscuits for breakfast, you can find biscuit making very easy the first time you try. Students in the local high school last week. Their success they found, depended on following the recipe surprisingly easy to memorize. Homemaking students learn that modern cooks do not make to become involved in the guesswork of mothers' day, for experts have worked out thousands of recipes that may be had for the collecting and filing.

The standard recipe is eight pounds of salt, two pounds of sugar, and two ounces of saltpeter. Mix, divide into three equal parts, and rub one part of the mix into the every three days. Pack meat into a meat box or barrel after each rubbing. After the third and last treatment, pack the meat into the container skin side down. Leave ham and shoulders in the mix for from two to three days per pound. A day and a half per pound is enough for bacon.

The longer the meat is kept in cure the saltier it becomes. If there is not enough salt that penetrates the pieces to properly cure the meat, it will spoil unless kept in cold storage. With pork as scarce as it is, farm families will do well to have their meat a little saltier than usual rather than take a chance on spoilage. Cane syrup or honey may be substituted for sugar, pound for pound. Sugar is still better than syrup or honey if it is available, and granulated sugar will do just as well as brown.

Make your plans to attend the 5th Annual of the Home Demonstration clubs and the 4-H clubs of Bastion county to be held on Saturday, November 24, 1945, at the Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church in Muleshoe, Texas.

The garments will be on exhibit at 10:30 a. m. and will be modeled in the afternoon.

Baking Powder Biscuits
(Sweet Milk)
2 cups all-purpose flour.
3 teaspoons baking powder.
3 to 4 tablespoons shortening.
1 cup milk.

Measure, mix and sift dry ingredients using standard measuring equipment. Cut fat into dry mixture using two knives, a pastry blender, or rubbing it between the tips of the fingers until of the consistency of coarse meal. This is very important and makes a much more tender biscuit than the old method of melting the fat. Add milk and stir using large strokes until flour is moistened and mixture thickens. For the average experienced cook this takes about sixteen strokes, with a wooden mixing spoon. Too much stirring toughens the gluten. Dump on a lightly floured board and knead until smooth. Over-kneading also makes a tough biscuit with hard crust. Roll, cut, bake at 450 degrees F. 12 to 15 minutes on ungreased tin, with biscuits placed at least an inch apart.

Soor Milk Biscuits
2 cups all-purpose flour.
3 tablespoons fat.
1-2 teaspoon soda.
1 cup buttermilk (if thick, thin with water).
2 teaspoons baking powder.
1 teaspoon salt.
Mix and bake as for sweet milk biscuits.
For a party variation make cheese biscuits by sprinkling grated cheese on top of the biscuit. To make fruit or nut biscuits add 2-3 cup currants to the mixture before adding milk, or instead use one of the following: raisins, figs, candied cherries, or nuts. Orange biscuits made by moistening a cube of sugar with orange juice and placing on the top of each biscuit and then sprinkling grated orange rind over all before baking, are delicious.

Sidelights From Washington

By Congressman Geo. Mahon

Shall the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard—all our fighting forces be merged under one single unified command by an act of Congress? That question has not reached the showdown stage, but hearings on the subject are now being held by the Congressional Committee.

Last week, following the testimony of General Jimmie Doolittle before the committee in which he accused opponents of the idea of being hypocritical, Secretary of Navy Forrestal wrote a letter of protest to Secretary of War Patterson, bringing out into the open the intense jealousy which exist between certain members of the Army and Navy high command. The Army favors the merger; the Navy high command, generally speaking opposes it. The prevailing thought in Washington is the majority of the people favor the merger.

It is admitted that good arguments can be offered on both sides of the question. Advocates of the idea, however contend that we will gain more by unification of the services than we stand to lose. There is no doubt but that closer cooperation among the services in the future would be in the public interest. The merger should not obliterate the identity of the various branches, and we should not lose wholesome traditions of the fighting forces.

The Prime Minister of Great Britain, Mr. Clement Attlee, successor to Winston Churchill, addressed a joint session of Congress on November 13th. In doing so, he was following in the footsteps of Winston Churchill who just three weeks after Pearl Harbor addressed the Senate, and who in May, 1943, addressed a joint session of the House and Senate.

The procedure was typical of the procedure usually followed at joint sessions of Congress. Perhaps the details would be of interest.

The meeting was held in the House of Representatives because of the greater availability of seats. Members of the House took seats in the rear and central sections, leaving all the front seats for the Senators and official guests. Just prior to the convening of the joint session, the Senators, led by Senator McKellar, president pro tem of the Senate, marched in and took the seats reserved for them. Senator McKellar occupying the platform with Speaker Rayburn.

Then came the diplomatic group led by Lord Halifax, British Ambassador. Next to enter the chamber were members of the President's cabinet. Seven of the ten were present for the occasion. Mr. McKenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, was next to enter. The doorkeeper of the House announced Mr. King to the session and escorted him to a seat, the doorkeeper having gone through the same ceremony for the groups which had previously entered.

The doorkeeper then announced Prime Minister Attlee of Great Britain, and a committee of the House and Senate escorted Mr. Attlee to the speaker's platform. Mr. Attlee shook hands with Speaker Rayburn and Senator McKellar, and having been introduced by Mr. Rayburn in one sentence, began his thirty-minute speech. Then in line with the usual custom, he shook hands again with the Speaker of the Senate and the President of the Senate and was escorted from the chamber, not having sat down during the entire procedure. He was followed in reverse order by the official guests. The Speaker then tapped his gavel and adjourned the joint session.

Mr. Attlee lacked the showmanship and eloquence of Winston Churchill, but his frankness was well received. He made a plea for a better understanding of his Labor Party Government and for international cooperation.

POWER

and more POWER to build a Better Tomorrow

When war industries needed an abundance of electric power we were ready to serve them. Electric power did a big job in helping to win the war.

And now that victory is ours, this same power is being utilized to build a better nation — to rebuild a better world.

In the home, in industry and on the farm, there is an abundance of cheap, dependable electric service to make for better living, better working conditions, new and greater economies.

Yes, there is POWER and more power to help build tomorrow's world.

Matt Kimes Wanted In Connection With Morton Bank Robber

Mat Kimes, the notorious outlaw of the twenties, is now being sought by authorities in connection with the recent robbery of the Morton bank.

Kime was head of a bandit gang which attracted national attention. He has been on six months leave from an Oklahoma prison.

The Morton bank was robbed of $17,692 on September 5. Peace officers of the area, including Sheriff J. C. Buchanan of Bailey county joined in the hunt of the fugitives and an airplane from Muleshoe patrolled an area seeking trace of them. Two men are already in custody.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT THANKSGIVING

But for the untiring efforts of one woman, it is possible that there would be no national celebration of Thanksgiving each year. That woman, the mother of Thanksgiving as we now celebrate it, was Mrs.

Sarah J. Hale. As far back as 1827 Mrs. Hale was urging the annual observance of a uniform day throughout the country for the expression of thanks for the blessings of the year.

For 36 years Mrs. Hale wrote editorials and letters in an effort to create public sentiment in favor of a national celebration. In 1863, her efforts were finally rewarded when President Lincoln issued the first national Thanksgiving Proclamation, setting apart the last Thursday in November as the day to be observed.

In 1789 President George Washington had ordered a day of Thanksgiving for the adoption of the Constitution.

And in 1815, President Madison had set a day to give thanks for peace, but to Mrs. Hale and President Lincoln goes the credit for Thanksgiving day as we have celebrated it for years.

In recent years, President Roosevelt, at the request of business organizations, moved the celebration up one week to permit more time for Christmas shopping.

President Truman has followed the precedent of his predecessor, and has proclaimed Thursday, November 22, as Thanksgiving, instead of November 29.

READING & WRITING
BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKinn

• FOR SHEER entertainment, read "The Happy Time" by Robert Fontaine. It tells the story of an endearing, if sometimes eccentric, family who lived in Ottawa, Canada, some twenty years ago.

The hero and narrator is a little boy, known to his family as Bibi. Bibi is the son of a Scotch-Presbyterian mother and a French-Canadian father. Papa was a violinist in a vaudeville house, and once had a canary with whom he played Beethoven duets. He was a realist and a philosopher, too. Mama, who spoke French with a "Glasgow accent," had a more serious nature. But while the sometimes objected to the more erratic going-on in the family, she accepted them with sweet reasonableness.

Bibi had a unique set of uncles: Uncle Louis who was deathly afraid of butterflies because he had once stuck pins in them in his youth and was convinced they were out for revenge; Uncle Desmond, owner of Ottawa's largest collection of ladies' garters; and Uncle Felix, whose main claim to glory was a large and unique assortment of useless information.

Also, the little boy was blessed with a most romantic grandfather. Grandpa's one hundred and five pounds of energy were mostly expended courting women of fifty—the only age at which he considered them to be perfect. "At forty-five, they are not complete," he explained to Bibi. "At fifty-five they are already wilting." Grandpa also considered it his duty to remedy the deplorable situation in which these women found themselves—what with most men old enough to appreciate them already married, and the rest afflicted with stomach ulcers. He spoke not with cynicism but with compassion, since he himself "had a stomach of iron." Grandpa, it must be understood, however, was not above such tricks as eliminating a huskier rival by setting a bear trap for him.

Our common American expression, "as clumsy as an elephant," has no basis on truth, says Joan Kennedy in "Here Is India." We say this, she comments, because elephants are large, and we are accustomed to thinking of all large things as clumsy. But watch carefully the next elephants you see in a zoo or circus parade, and you will notice they move almost as smoothly as a shadow. In India, where elephants are a fairly common sight, their smooth gait is proverbial. It is customary to say of a beautiful woman that she is "as graceful as an elephant."

To the People of this Community

"For the last time, America, buy extra bonds." "They finished Their Job. Let's Finish Ours."

These and other catch phrases have been dreamed into your mind at work, at play and at home by a mighty barrage of advertising and promotional devices. How well you have responded only you can truly answer. The drive totals, national and local published in today's editions, reveal your record. Your future personal well-being is most affected by how many extra Victory Bonds you have purchased. But is your bond buying job done even if you have gone the limit of your present income and resources? The job of investing new savings wisely is never finished. Thrift is just as vital in peace as in war. Keep buying your government's savings bonds. THE EDITOR

Good Health Is Something To Be Thankful For

AUSTIN—The first Thanksgiving Day in this country was proclaimed for the purpose of expressing thanks, not only for the bountiful harvest which the colonists had received but for the sturdy real and endurance that had permitted them to survive the hardships and exposure, the first rigorous year in America. On the occasion of this Thanksgiving Day the State Health Officer, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, is appealing to every citizen of Texas to give serious thought to the preservation of his own health and that of the community.

"We have much to be thankful for in that our national health level has remained high in spite of the nervous tension, the sacrifices, the deprivations of war," Dr. Cox stated. "Our people have maintained a remarkably high health level and even under existing war conditions, Texas has shown a continued decline in maternal and infant deaths.

"The people of Texas have reason to be thankful for the steadily increasing interest and cooperation being shown in matters pertaining to general sanitation and the control of communicable diseases," Dr. Cox asserted. "Responsibility for the success and advancement of the public health program lies not with the State Health Department primarily but with the people who support and encourage the local community efforts exerted and who apply in their own individual lives the health rules with which they have become acquainted through public health education."

Dr. Cox pointed out that one direct result of public health efforts in this nation has been the lengthening of the normal life span by more than 10 years.

"Certainly this is something to be thankful for and it should lend incentive for further effort to promote and maintain community as well as statewide public health programs."

HANG ON!
Don't let go now —when the battle against rising prices is almost won. Now is the time to hang on to your War Bonds, to keep buying new Bonds, to plan your spending and plan your saving.
Here is why. Prices are high today. Goods are scarce. Competitive buying of scarce commodities bids prices up, makes our dollars lay less.
So, plan your savings now—buy Victory Bonds, add to your bank account regularly—for that big purchase you will want to make in the future, a home of your own, perhaps. Later, in a more abundant time, this institution can supply you with the credit needed to buy what you most want—if you save the down-payment now.
