SENATOR JACK HIGHTOWER NAMED TO TWO COMMITTEES

Lieutenant Governor Preston Smith has named Senator Jack Hightower of Vernon to serve on the Texas Legislative Council's committee to study the feasibility of establishing and operating an academy of science in crime prevention and detection. The study was requested by resolution (H.S.-R. 37) adopted during the regular session of the 60th Legislature.

Under terms of the resolution, the Texas Legislative Council is requested to study the desirability and practicality of establishing and maintaining at state expense an academy dedicated to the training of law enforcement officials at all levels of government. The resolution also asks that the Council examine the possibilities of operating such an academy in conjunction with one or more of the state supported institutions of higher learning in Texas. The Texas Department of Public Safety and Coordinating Bd., Texas College and University System, are authorized to cooperate with the Council during the course of the study.

Lieutenant Governor Smith also announced that Senator Hightower has been appointed to serve on Council's subcommittee participating in a study of the fire record credit and debit system of the state. The Council, research arm of the Legislature, was requested to cooperate with the State Board of Insurance, the agency to which the study was directly assigned. The Texas Research League will also work on the project under terms of the resolution (S. R. 754) requesting the study.

The study committee will give guidance and direction to the Council's full-time, professional staff assigned to the project and coordinate Council activities with those of the Board of Insurance and the Texas Research League. Emphasis, in accordance with the resolution request, will be placed on determining "if the (fire record credit and debit) system should be continued in force, should be modified, or should be terminated". Hightower, an attorney, has been a member of the Texas Senate since 1965, and also served in the House of Representatives of the 53rd Legislature. He is a member of the Senate standing committee on Insurance, chairman of the Senate Contingent Expense and

Science Perfects Age-Old Life-Saver

When severe illness or blockage of any sort makes it impossible to discharge waste body fluids normally, it becomes a matter of life or death to use mechanical means to effect the discharge. The process is called "catheterization," because the instrument used is a hollow tube called a "catheter." There is, surprisingly, clear evidence that catheters were used as early as 3,000 B.C., despite meager knowledge of the anatomy of the human body. At that time, the Egyptians made catheters from tubular reeds, from wood, and from such metals as gold and iron.

Ben Franklin Interested

Early Greeks, Romans, and Chinese also designed and used similar instruments made from metal. Bronze catheters were found in the ruins of Pompeii. Indications are that the Arabs used the first flexible catheter — about 1,000 A.D., according to scientists of the Kendall Company, one of the nation's largest makers of consumer and hospital health goods.

The amazing Benjamin Franklin, whose abilities and interests knew almost no bounds, was much interested in catheters. He invented his own variety of flexible instrument for catheterization for his brother John, who was afflicted with kidney stones. Franklin, like his brother, later was similarly afflicted, and died at the age of 84 from the same medical problem.

It was not until 1929 that the instruments which became the immediate forerunners of today's sophisticated catheters were perfected. Then, Dr. Frederick E. B. Foley developed the "Foley Catheter." It was first exhibited in production quantities at the American Medical Association in 1935.

All catheters before that time, and especially those made in ancient times, were exceedingly painful and highly dangerous to use. Infections were spread within the body, and often even introduced into the body by the crude early catheters.

In the early 1960's, the Kendall Company dedicated much of its research facilities and personnel, on a continuing basis, to the improvement of the Foley catheter. Their scientists have now made available to doctors and hospitals a catheter which is a modern marvel.

First Automatic Catheter

Latest Kendall catheters include a self-inflating balloon as an integral part of the shaft. After the tube has passed through the urethra and into the bladder, the balloon is inflated automatically within the bladder to hold the catheter in position for constant, painless drainage. The Kendall catheter was the first commercially available, automatic, controlled-inflation retention catheter.

As in so many other areas, science has made greater progress with this life-saving instrument in the past 30 years than in the preceding 5,600 years.

Game and Fish Committees, and a member of seven other Senate Standing committees.

In announcing Hightower's appointment to the Council's study committee, Lieutenant Governor Smith commented on the senator's ability, interest and knowledge of the areas to be studied.

Lt. Governor Smith is chairman of the Texas Legislative Council, which is comprised of five senators, appointed by him, and ten representatives, appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives. The Speaker is vice chairman of the Council.

NON-CROP WEED CONTROL CUTS ANNUAL WEED TAX

Any way you look at it, weeds cost money. Figures show weeds cost each grower in the United States an average of $500 annually by decreasing yields, lowering crop quality, and causing extra cultivations, excessive wear on machinery and added expense for seed cleaning.

While farmers are turning more and more to herbicides to beat the weed bite in croplands, many do not stop to think about the price they pay for weeds in non-crop areas.

Weeds in field borders, along roadways or near storage areas may look harmless enough, but they can be the source of all kinds of expensive problems. The seeds they produce can move right out to infest cropland. The weeds, themselves, provide cover for destructive insects and rodents. And, tinder-dry summer or fall weeds are a dangerous fire hazard anywhere around the farm.

Over the years, a common practice has been to handle these problems by mowing along roadsides and fence rows, or even hand work in hard-to-get-at areas. However, with labor at a premium, this is a time consuming and expensive practice.

Modern growers are turning to herbicides to beat the weed problem on non-crop land. Their experience has shown that now...when planting is finished and application equipment is still geared up...is the best time to go after these troublemakers with an effective weed control agent. One herbicide that is particularly effective at this time of year is Pramitol. This weed-killer comes in liquid or pellet form for application by hand, spreader or sprayer. It can be used effectively in both high and low rainfall areas. A single application will kill weeds and grasses that are up and growing, and will get future weeds as they germinate through the season. Control usually lasts for many months.

Using an effective herbicide now to clean out weeds along fence rows and roadways, and around farm buildings and storage areas is the best way to help cut down the annual bill run up by weeds.

Randy, and Mrs. Louis Cannon and Monte were visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Monk Saturday. Mrs. Pope and Mrs. Cannon are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Monk and are from Tulia.

Herb Martin is in the Methodist Hospital at Lubbock where he is having skin grafted to his injured leg. Mr. Martin received the leg injury about two weeks before Christmas when his leg was caught in a cotton stripper. The accident occurred on his farm.

The Flomot Home Demonstration Club convened at the school cafeteria Thursday of last week. Mrs. Leo Reed showed film to the group.

QUITAQUE, TEXAS

Mrs. Ronald Nease — nee Miss Pam Curtis

San Jacinto Methodist Church in Amarillo was the setting Saturday evening, January 20 for the marriage of Miss Pamela Curtis and Ronald Nease. Dr. Woodrow Adcock, pastor, officiated at the 6 o'clock ceremony.

The church organist presented organ music and accompanied the soloist as he sang "Always" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is the daughter of E. W. Curtis of Amarillo and the late Geneva Curtis. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nease of Cache, Okla.

The altar was decorated with a basket of mums and gladioli.

Her father escorted the bride to the altar. She wore a floor length white satin gown detailed with Alencon lace appliques. It featured a portrait neckline with fitted bodice and the silhouette skirt, with a burst of pleats from the center back creating a beautiful chapel train. She wore a bouffant veil of illusion gathered in tiers from a small crown of seed pearls and rhinestones.

The bride's bouquet was a cascade of white stock centered with a white orchid.

Miss Jan Turner of Amarillo was maid of honor. Nancy Bonds of Tullia was the only other attendant. They wore green brocade floor length gowns with empire waistline, and their veils of green were attached to a bow. They carried bouquets of yellow mums. Dana Ramsey, small cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a short green dress styled like the honor attendants and her hair featured a matching bow. She wore a wristlet of yellow and white pom-pom mums.

Janet Gales, cousin of the bride, was candlelighter and her attire was identical to that of the flower girl.

Best man was Joseph McPhee and groomsman was John Wagner. He also acted as usher, along with Pete Reinard.

Mrs. Curtis wore a white knit suit with pink accessories and Mrs. Nease wore a navy blue suit with matching accessories. Their corsages were cymbidium orchids.

A reception followed the ceremony held in the fellowship hall of the church. An arrangement of yellow mums and gladioli centered the serving table which featured a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with yellow roses and green leaves and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Silver and crystal appointments were used to serve the cake and yellow punch. Mrs. Lejeune Turner of Dumas, and Mrs. Glenn Ramsey of Quitaque served.

The bride chose a blue knit suit with white accessories for going-away.

The bride graduated from Quitaque High School and is attending Amarillo College. The groom graduated from high school at Cache, Okla. and is stationed at Amarillo Air Force Base.

After a short honeymoon trip to Red River, N. M., the couple is at home in Amarillo where they have an apartment. He is still in training at Amarillo Air Force Base and she will continue her studies at Amarillo College.

There were approximately 55 registered guests in attendance.

Among those attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ramsey and family, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Ramsey and children, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Ramsey and family, Jill Johnson, all of Quitaque; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ramsey and children, Silverton; Mr. and Mrs. Durwood Lewis, Mrs. Corky Davis, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Lejeune Turner and Mr. and Mrs. Butch Turner, Dumas.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Johnson spent a recent weekend with their parents, Mrs. Nort Johnson, and Mr. and Mrs. Gabe Wright, in Wellington.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Johnston visited his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnston and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Johnston, in Erick, Okla. Wednesday of last week. They also visited her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jefferson of Texola, at the hospital in Shamrock. Mrs.

Jefferson underwent surgery there the day before. The Wallace Johnstons returned to Lefors and spent the night with his mother, Mrs. Mary Johnston.

Mrs. Ralph Hill of Silverton spent Friday night and Saturday with her aunt, Mrs. Josie Johnston and David.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Cobb and Laura of Amarillo spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Cobb and Janice.

The first meeting in 1968 of the Cotton Commodity Committee of the High Plains Research Foundation was held at Halfway on January 16. Chairman, Donald Johnson conducted the meeting which was a discussion of the various research projects to be undertaken by the Foundation staff of scientists in the 1968 crop year.

Dr. Tom Longnecker, Director and Soil Scientist of the Foundation, along with staff members Dennis Mooney, Jim Valliant, and Loyd Langford, reviewed the program already planned. Included in these projects was a three-phase program on fertilizer on cotton, an expanded cotton variety performance test, more work on water usage for practical efficiency, different planting designs, a micro-climate study, and a stepped-up program on weed-control.

Several new projects were discussed and will be considered further. One of these which will be carried out is a study on controlling blow-out problems on young cotton by planting wheat on the cotton land and then killing the wheat along with a herbicide at cotton planting time, leaving the wheat stubble for wind protection. W. L. Edelman, Friona; Jack Little, Muleshoe; Ray Joe Riley, Sunnyside; Aubrey Lockett, Vernon;
