FARMERS HOME ADMINISTRATION HELPS MANY FAMILIES IN BRISCOE AND SWISHER COUNTIES

A total of $5,000,400.00 in loan funds has been used in Swisher and Briscoe Counties to support family farms since July of 1964, Donald Cruce, local supervisor for the rural credit agency said today.

Approximately $1,413,946.00 was advanced in 1967.

Currently 141 farmers in Swisher and Briscoe Counties are using the supervised credit services of the Farmers Home Administration.

The supply of Farmers Home Administration credit, which supplements the credit supplied by other banks and other private credit sources is one of the measures recommended by President Johnson to provide family farmers an opportunity to earn parity of income.

"These loans have enabled farmers to stay in business who would otherwise have had to give up and go to the city. They have helped young farmers get established. They have enabled farmers to keep going after suffering several severe set backs from hail storms, abnormal freezes, and general drought conditions."

Farmers Home Administration loans can be used to buy land, refinance debts, acquire livestock and equipment, pay fertilizer and fuel bills and pay other expenses connected with acquiring, improving, and operating farms.

The incomes of farmers using Farmers Home Administration credit in Briscoe and Swisher Counties in 1967 totaled approximately $2,348,000.00.

Typical of the progress made with the aid of the supervised credit program is the record of the Wayne Hamilton family of Briscoe County. Through the assistance of Farmers Home Administration, Wayne Hamilton has expanded his farming operations from 237 acres of crop land to 346 acres, 16 brood sows, and 69 mother cows. This was made possible through long term financing, modern equipment, hard work, and utilization of good farming practices.

Loans are made only to families who are unable to obtain adequate credit from other sources. The program is tailored to individual family needs and loans are accompanied by technical assistance in farm and money management.

Deadline Near For Auto Inspection

AUSTIN — The Texas Department of Public Safety reminded motorists today that less than two weeks remain for obtaining the 1968 inspection sticker with more than two million cars still in need of being inspected.

"Lines are already beginning to form," a DPS spokesman said, and they will get longer as the final date approaches. Many drivers may find it difficult to obtain necessary repairs if they continue putting off the inspection until the last minute."

The DPS pointed out that only about 3,500,000 vehicles have been inspected for the 1968 sticker thru March 31, and that estimates indicate more than six million vehicles will be registered during 1968.

SECOND TRAIN DERAILMENT OCCURS SOUTHWEST OF TOWN

By Eddie Owens

The second train wreck within the last month occurred southwest of Quitaque about 10:30 p. m. last Monday night, April 1.

The wreck resulted in ten cars being derailed, two of which went over the side of the cliff and rolling to the bottom of the canyon. Three other cars went off the embankment but stopped on the side of the hill.

The train was headed north, and was hauling fertilizer, cotton, and some type of oil to mix with the fertilizer.

The derailment occurred about a quarter mile north from the only railroad tunnel in Texas still in use. Foremen said that the wreck probably occurred due to a boulder on the track, a loose crosstie, or loose soil.

The three cars that stopped on the side of the hill were completely off the track. The fertilizer had to be removed before the cars could be placed back on the track.

Crewmen had two cars back on the track late Tuesday afternoon and they were not damaged. The two cars that rolled to the bottom of the canyon were junked.

No one was injured.

GRANDPA

(Dedicated to the precious memory of my grandpa Carter by Paulita McCracken Young)

The ol' cultivator seat is now empty,
And has been, for quite some time now;
Progress replaced his old horses and mules,
His Ford tractor replaced his old plow.

The bench on the front porch is silent,
Where for years he conversed with his friends,
And watched for his neighbors to slowly drive by,
Or watched for some of his kin.
His chair at the long table is empty
Over sixty-six years at its head;
Where with preachers and neighbors and kindred,
And five generations he broke bread.

His pew at the church house is vacant
Mary comrades have gone on before,
It's emptiness proclaims his faith and belief,
In a promise of life evermore!

His big hat was his trademark.
Emptiness too, is its fate:
He was never, ever without it,
In silent repose, now it waits.

That little town surely will miss him,
It was here that he tread his last mile,
I'm thankful tho' when reminded,
"We had Grandpa a long, long while."

I can still hear his soft answer,
"I reckon—"

As we pled him with questions galore,
The tilt of his head and that slow little smile,
We'll have these with us no more

Over eighty years was his lifespan,
The flower has been plucked by the stem,
As little Katy Francis so ably expressed it,
"But I wasn't through talking with him."

CROPS PROFIT NOTEBOOK
Soybeans On Move In South

By: T. R. Cox, Chief Agronomist
Cyanamid Agricultural Research Center,
Princeton, N. J.

Soybeans are becoming increasingly popular as a cash crop with southern farmers. Four southern states, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Louisiana, each harvested over 1,000,000 acres of beans last year. One state, Mississippi, jumped past the 2,000,000 mark, almost 1,000,000 acres more than the previous 5 year average. Arkansas was first in the South with about 4,000,000 acres. Missouri was right behind with more than 3,000,000. Average yields per acre as well as acres planted have increased, but here there is much room for improvement. State averages are still in the 22-25 bushel per acre range, while many top growers are producing 50 bushels or more per acre. It is obvious that southern farmers are finding soybeans a profitable crop to grow. It is equally obvious that with the right management tools both yields and profit can be greatly improved.

- College agronomists say that top farmers take the following steps to reach top yields:
- (1) First, they select their most fertile, well-drained soils.
 - (2) They lime and fertilize to build and maintain high soil fertility levels. This means testing soil and adding needed lime and fertilizer. Soybeans grow best on soils with a pH of 6.0 to 6.5 or higher.
 - (3) They plant the right variety at the right time and use certified seed. They also inoculate seed with nitrogen-fixing bacteria just before planting.

Mrs. R. L. Pritchett returned to her home in Lubbock Saturday after a two month stay on her farm with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Kingston.

Henry Pope of Wellington visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Monk Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Burns and sons of Amarillo, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Martin.

fertile soils where fertilization was generous. A 50-bushel bean crop alone contains about 190 pounds nitrogen, 45 pounds P₂O₅ and 60 pounds K₂O, about the same plant food found in 150 bushels of corn grain. The soybean straw, stubble and roots contain additional nutrients: 90-25-60 pounds of N-P₂O₅-K₂O.

Substantial amounts of other essential elements are required. One of the important benefits of adequate liming—to pH 6 or better—is to supply the calcium and magnesium contained in a 50-bushel crop. Many soils need additional manganese for high yielding soys. Molybdenum can be added by seed treatment at very nominal cost.

A relatively small increase in yield would double the soybean profits of most farmers. If producing only at state average levels, 10 bushels more per acre can just about triple the net return. To push up yields balanced fertilization is a most essential factor, combined with other production practices. Talk with your fertilizer dealer or county agent for help on your 1968 program.

Agronomists at American Cyanamid Company say 50 to 80 bushel per acre yields are being achieved where southern farmers are generously fertilizing their most fertile soils.

Clois Shorter, student at Texas Tech, visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Shorter, last weekend. Coy Franks, also a Tech student, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Franks.

On Monday morning Mr. Bedwell, Mr. Setliff and Mr. Joy Hoover of Littlefield returned to Plainview, the four women drove to Clinton, Arkansas by way of Atoka and Antlers, Okla., Mena, Hot Springs, Morrilton and to Clinton, Ark. where they spent two nights with a cousin. While there they visited Mountain View, Ark., the vicinity where Mrs. Morrison's and Ina and Euna's maternal grandfather was killed and buried during the Civil War.

Wednesday morning we traveled on to Harrison, Ark., the vicinity where Mrs. Morrison and Euna lived during their childhood. While at Harrison they enjoyed visiting old friends and home sites. Some of the old homes that were there when they lived there are still standing and have been kept livable—including the home of Otis Wilson, who was married to their oldest sister, who died here in 1933. They also visited their mother's grave at the Crawford Cemetery. She was buried there almost 63 years ago. The cemetery has been well kept down through the years and people in that area are still using it. They visited what is known as the Newton Cemetery, which was the burying place during the Civil War days and earlier. One marker was dated sometime in 1600. The cemetery has been well preserved through the years but is not used for burying anymore. Among the graves they found names of several of their forefathers.

The homeward journey began Friday morning by way of Eureka Springs (very pretty) and the old

Pea Ridge Civil War battle ground. There, we enjoyed the museum and a movie history of the battle that was fought there. From there we came on through Rogers, Bentonville, Sioam Springs to Tulsa, Oklahoma, to Chickasha where we spent Friday night. Saturday, coming on homeward we stopped at Carnegie, Okla., and visited the grave of their maternal grandmother, Ferrell. She will be remembered by some in these parts since she made her home with the Bradshaws at Gasoline at one time. The last stop for the travelers was at Sentinel, Okla. where the visited a cousin for a short time. We arrived back in Quitaque Saturday afternoon about 3:30.

It was very enjoyable and an interesting trip for all the ladies and the weather was perfect for the entire trip.

Mrs. Bedwell and Mrs. Setliff were met in Quitaque by members of their family and returned to their homes at Plainview Sunday evening.

RODEO PLANS SET FOR CLARENDON JUNIOR COLLEGE

The Aggie Club is conducting its fourth annual Clarendon College Rodeo April 12-13th at the Donley County Fair Grounds. Events for boys will include bareback broncs, bulls, tie down calf roping, and ribbon roping. Barrel racing competition will be open to girls, and a queen contest will be held following the Saturday afternoon performance.

The show promises to be the biggest and best ever held. Contestants have entered from a large number of area high schools and colleges over the Panhandle and South Plains regions. Campbell and Cordell, producers from Childress, will provide approximately twenty-one broncs, twenty-one bulls, eighteen, tie-down calves, and fifteen ribbon calves. Mr. Lawrence Overcast will serve as rodeo announcer. The winner of each event will receive a buckle award, as will the three top averaged winners of each event for two performances. The best all-around cowboy will also be awarded a buckle. Contestants are limited to two performances in each event. The all-around cowboy contestants must qualify in both a riding and a roping event.

The evening performance on April 12th will begin at 8:00 p. m. Two performances are slated for April 13th at 2:00 and 8:00 p. m.

Shelia Payne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Payne of Quitaque is a contestant in the Queen Contest. Members of the Aggie Club and some of the Queen contestants will appear Saturday on the Farm Show on KGNC-TV, which begins at 12:30 on Channel 4.

The Clarendon JC Drama Club will present two performances of the play "Jane Eyre", at 7:30 Friday and Saturday nights, April 5 and 6 at the college. Shelia Payne will play the part of the Mystery Woman, Grace Poole, in the play. She invites everyone to come and see the play and visit the college. Proceeds from the play will go to the drama department to buy new props for the new college.

Mrs. Norma Selvidge, drama teacher, is directing the play.

Learning more about what the Bible teaches and then putting forth the effort to live by them is the key to the greatest personal security," Tiffin said. "God's laws were established for man's benefit," he added. "The closer a person comes to guiding his life by them, the greater the benefit and security he will receive."

The free Bible lecture is part of a regular weekly program here in Quitaque to direct the attention of interested persons to the Bible as being the right source for guidance, Tiffin commented. "And since it is God who created men and man's mind, it is only He who can give true guidance that leads to the greatest personal security," he concluded.

MESQUITE SEED
 Many people have asked about the chemical composition of mesquite seed and from a recent release from Texas A & M University, here are their findings:
 The mesquite bean is 41.9 percent crude protein; .53 percent phosphorus; .48 percent potassium and .06 percent calcium. The bean and the pod are 11.0 percent crude protein; .10 percent phosphorus; .66 percent potassium and .08 percent calcium.

The mesquite pod alone has 7.6 percent crude protein, .09 percent phosphorus, .80 percent potassium and .08 percent calcium.

Mesquite beans would make fair livestock feed, but it must be remembered that it takes a lot of beans to make a pound of feed. Also mesquite does not make a bean crop every year and uses large amounts of water. If this water were used to grow grass, up to four times more feed would be available.

CROPS PROFIT NOTEBOOK Fertilize Cotton to Boost Yields, Quality and Profit

By: T. R. Cox, Chief Agronomist
 Cyanamid Agricultural Research Center, Princeton, N. J.

High yields of cotton and high soil fertility go together. Research and experience show that you can't have one without the other. It is easy to see that the grower who continues to make a success of cotton relies heavily on the use of fertilizer to keep yields high and unit costs low, the combination required for a high net return per acre.

Of course it takes much more than fertilizer to be a success in the business of growing cotton. Total management is required, and this means close attention to several key factors:

- (1) Select only your most fertile well-drained soil and prepare the seed bed for deep root penetration.
- (2) Plant good quality seed, treated against seed and soil-borne disease.
- (3) Test your soil and fertilize generously.
- (4) Plant in a warm soil for rapid seed germination.
- (5) Carefully manage irrigation water.
- (6) Knock out competitive grass and weeds.
- (7) Control insects early and throughout the season.
- (8) Defoliate for timely harvest and better quality lint.

So high yields are no accident—they result from plans carefully made to fit the farmer's particular situation. Fertilizer needs vary considerably from area to area. This emphasizes the importance of soil testing and consultation with your local dealer and agronomist in arriving at a program. Deficiencies in the secondary and micronutrients are also observed more frequently as yields per acre increase. Sulfur, boron, or other elements are needed in many cases in addition to N, P and K. Surveys show that more lime must be used on many soils in the South to insure maximum response to fertilizer. A South Carolina study, for instance, showed that liming from pH 5 to 6.5 increased seed cotton yields 289 pounds per acre. In all areas nitrogen is one of the most limiting factors of all in cotton production. Anhydrous ammonia applied prior to planting is probably the most used source of N. It has the advantage of being resistant to loss through leaching, applied deep in the moist root zone, and it is the highest analysis, lowest cost source of N available. Am-

Here a producer pre-plants anhydrous ammonia as he prepares his seedbed. Agronomists for American Cyanamid Co. say if nitrogen is plowed down or chiseled in, you can be sure it is in the moist root zone, especially during drought periods. Ammonia is also excellent for side dressing where total needs have not been applied before or at planting time. Another important benefit from a full fertilization is the increased efficiency in water use by the cotton crop. Research shows that water use efficiency has been increased by 50 percent or better by a balanced fertilizer program. This "drought" insurance from fertilizer is a valuable dividend to consider in stretching the season's water supply from irrigation and rainfall.
