Cheerleaders Named For Next Year

Although the current school year is now coming to a close, the student body is already making plans and looking forward to the next school year with high anticipation.

One of the first things the students took care of was the naming of cheerleaders. Cheerleaders play a very important part at sporting events, for a noisy, cheering group of fans help to get the old "juices flowing" for members of a team and good cheerleaders can cause this to happen.

It would appear that the selection for cheerleaders is a group that will get the job done in cheering on Valley athletes.

They are Leslie Pigg, Laura Fuston, Jana Smith, Lisa Herrington, Lana Fuston and Jendy Turner. The first three girls named will be seniors in the upcoming season.

Miss Herrington will be a junior and the latter two will be sophomores. Mrs. Betty Green and Mrs. Betty Tiffin are co-sponsors of the cheerleaders and Principal Jerry Maupin will work with the sponsors and girls in the coming year.

The next meeting will be June 5 in the home of Mrs. Estelle Davidson. The program will be entitled "Be Thou My Vision." This will be the call to prayer and self-denial program.

Mrs. Davidson served refreshments to six members.

Community - Wide Get-Together Planned At Community Center

The Rev. and Mrs. Sidney Parsley and family are moving to Lorenzo. Bro. Sid has been pastor of the Quitaque - Flomot First United Methodist Churches for the past five years. He has done so very much for this community that everyone feels he is "theirs."

Everytime anyone needed help in any way, he was there to help. He has gone with the Emergency Medical Technicians many, many times, and has visited everyone in the hospitals from all the churches in the community. He was always there when one went to the hospital for surgery, whether it was someone from his own church or just someone needing a friend.

When other churches were without a pastor, he was "pastor" to everyone.

The community is going to miss him and his family very much.

A get-together is planned at the Community Center in Quitaque for Saturday, June 3, at 7 o'clock in the evening. Everyone is invited.

A gift has been selected at Roye's in Quitaque, and the other stores will be glad to help you with a selection.

News From Boy Scout Troop 272

Boy Scout Troop 272 of Turkey has been busy since its organization a few months ago. A fishing trip was one of the first outings with the Scoutmasters and a few guests also in attendance.

Next, came a district camporee at Lake Mackenzie along with many other troops from the area. The boys really did a fine job and won several ribbons. The Scoutmasters received many compliments on the boys and the neatness of their camp.

Their next project was the float they entered in the Bob Wills Day parade. The boys worked hard all week on their float and should be complimented on its authenticity.

The Troop had as its money raising project a raffle for a minicar. The winner was a little boy from Amarillo who was thrilled about being the winner. The proceeds went for the purchase of tents and other much-needed equipment for the Troop. They also have a long-range project of purchasing a house and renovating it to use as a permanent Scout Hut for Turkey and to promote Scouting for future Troops.

The boys are working now on their tenderfoot badges and will be having an awards ceremony when all have achieved this goal. Troop 272 wants to take this space to thank everyone for the support of the raffle and all other donations. Help us to keep Scouting in Turkey.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Turner, Teresa and Stephen met his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Turner of Wheeler, and his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Davie Turner and daughter of Pampa, at Lake Meredith over the weekend for a reunion and outing.

Mr. and Mrs. Birt Lane and daughter, Patti, of Plainview were Mother's Day visitors with his parents Sunday afternoon. All attended church services together Sunday night and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hutton joined the family for their evening meal following church services.

Ricky Fuston and Tommy Cruse were ordained as elders Sunday at the Church of Christ morning services in Turkey.

Sometimes the editors are amazed at talent that is uncovered right under our noses, practically, and the one pictured is one of the cases that has just come to light. Now just about everyone knows what an ambidextrous person is—one who has the ability to use both hands with equal dexterity. But — what the heck do you call a person that also uses a foot along with his hands? The photo proves there is such a man. Can you identify him? The Tribune will give the first two callers who correctly identify him a year's subscription to this newspaper. (This offer does not apply to the person who snapped the photo or their family.)

What Think Ye?

When we stop to think that God has forgiven us our sins, not once but many times, that He loves us despite our unworthiness, how is it possible that we can keep unkindness, hatred, and resentment in our hearts?

Doing an injury puts you below your enemy; revenging one makes you even with him; FORGIVING one sets you above him.

The Christian will find it cheaper to pardon than to resent. Forgiveness saves the expense of anger, the cost of hatred, and the wasted mind.

Forgive and forget. When you bury a mad dog, don't leave his tail above the ground. Let us be sure that when we bury the hatchet that we have not left the handle sticking out.

He who will not forgive burns the bridge over which he himself must pass in order to get to the forgiveness of God.

The other side: "Confession of Wrong."

A man should never be ashamed to confess he was wrong, which is but saying in other words, that he is wiser today than he was yesterday.

Confession of sin puts the soul under the blessing of God.

I find that it is not so difficult, after all, to admit wrong. I have had so much practice in my lifetime. Many times I have confessed my weakness to the church, over and over I have, in abjection, had to confess and apologize to my friends and to those whom I had made my enemies by what I

JOHN TOWER

Foreign Policy in Dissaray

WASHINGTON—America's foreign policy has become a laughing stock.

We have no one to blame but those who conduct it. Because of the Administration's inexperienced and inept leadership, our ability to defend America is being compromised, and if this course is continued, it could lead to disaster.

Such a critical assessment by all 38 of my Republican colleagues in the U.S. Senate was not made lightly.

Consistent with a bipartisan spirit that has characterized American foreign policy since World War II, engaging in needless partisan carping or succumbing to the temptation to politicize difficulties confronting any Administration is not in the interest of world peace or stability.

Having acted with restraint up to now, however, we are compelled to articulate growing national concern over the current state of that policy and what we view as a mounting threat to American national security.

To do less would be a dereliction of duty. Republicans are deeply troubled by the changing trends in the military balance and the growing Soviet military threat to the United States posed by these threats.

Recent national surveys show a deepening concern by the American people over Soviet power and behavior and rising skepticism about the future adequacy of U.S. defenses to deal with this growing threat.

Republicans share this concern and believe it is time to speak out.

The Administration appears to view Soviet intentions as it would like to see them. However, decisions affecting the security of the free world cannot be based on wishful thinking, but must be influenced by the hard realities of Soviet behavior.

As Soviet military power continues its unprecedented growth, America's military strength is being degraded by Presidential decisions to cancel unilaterally major weapons systems without seeking reciprocity from the Soviet Union.

In 15 short months of incoherence, inconsistency and ineptitude, our foreign policy and national security objectives are confused and we are being challenged around the globe by Soviet arrogance.

The policy of human rights advocacy is in the best American tradition; but pragmatism in our international relationships is the keystone of an effective foreign policy. This administration has failed to grasp the significant difference.

Although we believe that a rough strategic balance still exists between the United States and the Soviet Union, we are deeply disturbed that the Soviet strategic buildup has continued far beyond those levels necessary for defensive purposes.

Those who advocate unilateral steps on our part toward disarmament, however honestly motivated, proceed from premises based on perceptions of the Soviets that we believe are dangerously naive and unrealistic.

We believe the time has come for the U.S. to measure the Soviet Union by its actions and not by its words.

KIKER'S KORNER

by Earnest Kiker
Briscoe County
Extension Agent

Now is the time for homeowners to start inspecting their trees for bagworms.

Bagworms feed on the foliage of many trees, especially the evergreen varieties. Several trees in the Briscoe County area were badly damaged by these pests last year. Small bagworms hatch in late spring or early summer from old bags left on the tree during the winter. Young worms spin silken sacs and attach small bits of leaves or twigs to the outside. The bagworm carries this sac wherever it goes. Later in the year, full grown larva attach to the tree and pupate within the bag. After some time male bagworm moths emerge and mate with females which remain inside the bag. The female then lays eggs inside the bag to start the cycle over again.

Application of insecticides should be made when small worms are first observed. Chemical controls are not effective on the older and larger bagworms. A few insecticides are available locally for use on bagworms. The homeowner should read the label to insure proper application rates and to be certain that the tree being treated will not be damaged by the insecticide.

For further information concerning bagworm control, contact me at my office in the basement of the Briscoe County Courthouse.

A training workshop for certification of commercial and noncommercial agricultural applicators of pesticides has been scheduled for May 24 at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center, 6500 Amarillo Boulevard West, Amarillo, Texas.

The educational workshop, though not a part of the official certification process, is being conducted by the Extension Service to train commercial and noncommercial applicators in categories of farm storage pest control and seed treatment.

The first session of the workshop will include general subject matter applicable to all categories of commercial and noncommercial

AUTHORS' AUTOGRAPH PARTY HELD IN MEMPHIS

(Courtesy of Memphis Democrat) It seemed high time to recognize the several budding authors in this immediate area. So, wishing to show off the new Memphis Public Library as well as recognize the writers, Mike Branigan and Virginia Browder hosted an autograph party at the library on Thursday afternoon, May 4.

Present with their books on display were Garnett Houston Verser, the sister of Lowell Houston, a former Memphis resident; Esta McElrath, also of Memphis, and Augusta Owens Smith, formerly of Turkey, Texas who now makes her home in Florida. Unable to attend the social function was Pauline Gilmore of Turkey. Nor was Elsie Bass Gutherie present.

Augusta Owens Smith grew up on a ranch, rode as a cowboy helping her father, Solon Owens. So she writes what she best knows about, ranching and cowboys. Augusta's book, "Solon Love Owens: Texas Cowboy," is her father's story as a hard-riding cowboy, working as 'stray man' for his dad on the neighboring Matador Mill Iron, She Bar, and JA ranches. If you want to know about the life of a working cowboy of an early day, her story tells it like it is. Her book sells for $6.30 with tax and you will wish you had given her more money as it is worth more.

Because of an unfortunate accident recently, Pauline Gilmore of Turkey was not able to be present with her book which is just off the Nortex Press. Pauline is a native of Turkey. She knows Tur-

Sign-Up Deadline Extended For Farmers

It was announced about mid-day on Monday, May 15, that the deadline for filing an intention to participate in the 1978 Farm Programs had been extended through May 31.

At the same time it was announced that the final certification date for wheat and other small grains also was extended through May 31.

The extension of time was brought about by the legislative changes that the President signed into law just this week.

Most of the producers in Briscoe County have already enrolled their farms in the 1978 programs and these people need not come back to the County ASCS office and make changes unless:

(1) They did not sign up for additional set-aside on any crop and you now want to do so.

(2) They did not sign up for the additional 40% provision on wheat and you now want to do so.

THANKS, FOLKS!
I would like to thank the people of this community and also our friends from above the Caprock for your support and patronage. When I undertook the job of Gin Manager, I was a little apprehensive of all the work, mistakes and headaches that lay ahead. Sure enough, all these problems were there, but with the help and understanding of you, our customers and some real fine gin employees, the 1977 ginning season turned out to be a good one for me and the Paymaster Gin of Quitaque. Thank you.
Terry Sperry
