

REPORT . . .

From Washington

By Armed Forces Press Service

The President has approved the selection of 152 Marine Corps captains for promotion to major, and 226 first lieutenants for promotion to captain.

1st Lt. Roy L. Gabrielson, USAF, of the 5th Rescue Squadron, Selfridge AFB, Mich., recently received the Sikorsky Helicopter Corporation's "Winged S" award for rescuing five stranded fishermen from an ice floe in Lake St. Clair, Mich., early in March.

Wearing of the Navy's new-style uniform is authorized after July 1, 1952. The present uniform will be authorized for wear for two years beyond that date or until July 1, 1954.

The Army and Navy Journal is publishing, in installments, the promotion list standings of all the 22,678 Regular Army officers, as of January 1, 1950.

The Camp Hood, Tex., Information and Education Center is conducting weekly classes in citizenship and democracy for foreign-born war brides. Educational films, Armed Forces Talks, and literature issued by the Bureau of Immigration are used as instruction material.

A recent directive of the Naval Bureau of Aeronautics prescribes that all Naval aircraft must carry distinct identifying markings in letters at least a foot high.

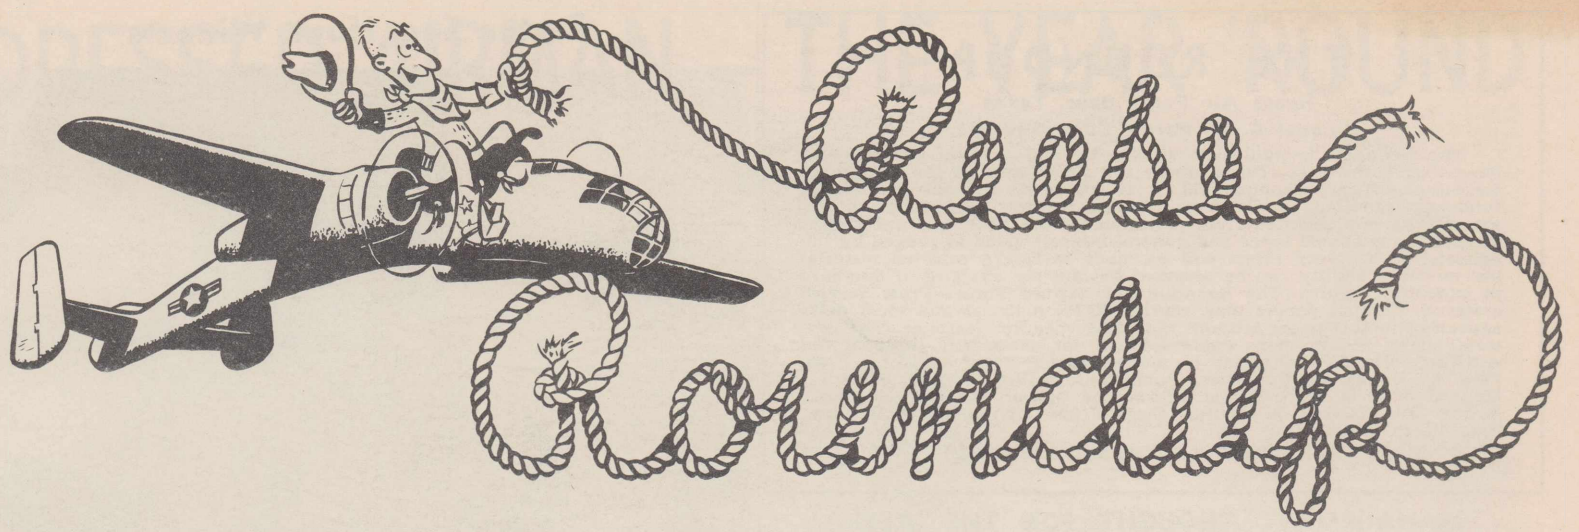

The Army Reorganization Bill, now under consideration by the House Armed Services Committee, has been amended to prohibit the abolition or consolidation of any Army branches without Congressional action.

A total of about 702,000 Defense Department military and civilian personnel are purchasing U.S. Savings bonds at a monthly cost of about $16 million.

Widows or other dependents of Army personnel who retired for physical disability prior to October 1, 1949, and died after that date, are not entitled to increased compensation due under the Career Compensation Act but unpaid at the time of death, the Army Judge Advocate General has ruled.

Legislation to make the Marine Corps Commandant a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and to require rotation of the JCS chairmanship among the services in peacetime, has been introduced by Representative Carl Vinson, (Ga.). Chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

Capt. Thomas B. Williamson, USN, Naval Aide to Secretary of Defense Johnson, has been transferred to new duty as Chief of Staff and Aide to the Naval Air Commander in the Pacific. Capt. Kenneth Craig, present head of the aviation department of the Naval Academy, will be the new Naval Aide to Secretary Johnson.

Insurance Conscious Airmen

The 3500th Training Squadron (Mil.) has been awarded the title of the "Most Insurance Conscious Squadron of Reese AFB" with more than $468,000 worth of insurance coverage. Although the squadron has a total of only 49 airmen, their percentage, 95.2%, is higher than any other squadron on the base.

Lackland Sergeant Gets Lion Share Of Prizes In ATRC Photo Contest

Announcement was made recently by Training Command Headquarters that Sgt. Andrew Clark of Lackland AFB was a four time winner in the recent ATRC Photo Contest that just ended. The contest judges, members of the St. Louis Press Photographers Association, voted Clark's work as the best in three of the five categories as well as the best overall photograph for the grand prize.

The contest, conducted in accordance with rules laid down by USAF Headquarters and Hq. ATRC, had 111 entries, with 90 in black-and-white and twenty-one in color, from the seventeen Training Command stations.

Sergeant Clark's "MAMA-SOHN" was adjudged the best of the show as well as winning first place in Category 3.

Sgt. Floyd F. Perkins of Randolph AFB took first place in Category 1 with "Last Hand." This category covered the Air Force On and Off-Duty.

In the landscapes and architecture class Sergeant Clark's "Fishermans Beach" took first place. He took first and second place in Category 3 with his Grand-Prize-winning "Mamasohn" and "Fresh Fish."

Vets Warned VA Benefits Soon to End

Washington (AFPS)—Most of the World War II veterans who wish to begin a course of education and training under the provisions of the Veterans Readjustment Act must do so before July 25, 1951, the Veterans Administration announces.

Under the present V.A. regulation, the majority of veterans are barred from starting after that date. There are exceptions, however, for those discharged after July 25, 1947, and for those who enlisted or reenlisted.

Veterans who have started courses or who are receiving training may continue after July 25, 1951, even if they have interrupted their work for a summer vacation, or through reasons beyond their control. But if a veteran completes or stops his training after the 1951 date he may not start another course.

Assignment Changes Announced For Top Government Officials

President Truman recently announced a change in assignment for several government executives including Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray and Secretary of the Air Force W. Stuart Smyington.

Secretary Gray will become a special assistant to the President, for the purpose of conducting a study of the disparity between U. S. exports and imports.

Secretary Symington has been nominated as Chairman of the National Security Resources board, subject to Congressional confirmation.

Budget Director Frank Pace, Jr., is to replace Mr. Gray as Secretary of the Army. Frederick J. Lawton, Assistant Budget Director, will replace Mr. Pace. Mr. Elmer B. Staats will replace Mr. Lawton. Mr. Staats is Executive Assistant to the Budget Director.

The appointment of Thomas K. Finletter as Mr. Symington's successor was announced later.

Since he has already announced his resignation as Secretary of the Army to accept the presidency of the University of North Carolina at the opening of the next semester, Mr. Gray's export-import study will last only a few months.

Chilean President To Visit Lubbock, Will Land At Reese

President Gabriel Gonzales Videla of the Republic of Chile, is scheduled to land at Reese AFB on 30 April when he arrives in Lubbock to tour plants of the oil industry located in this region.

He will arrive here on President Truman's private plane, the "Independence" with Congressman George Mahon, of Lubbock, and dignitaries of the state department.

Preaching Mission By Rev. Eastham Planned For Chapel

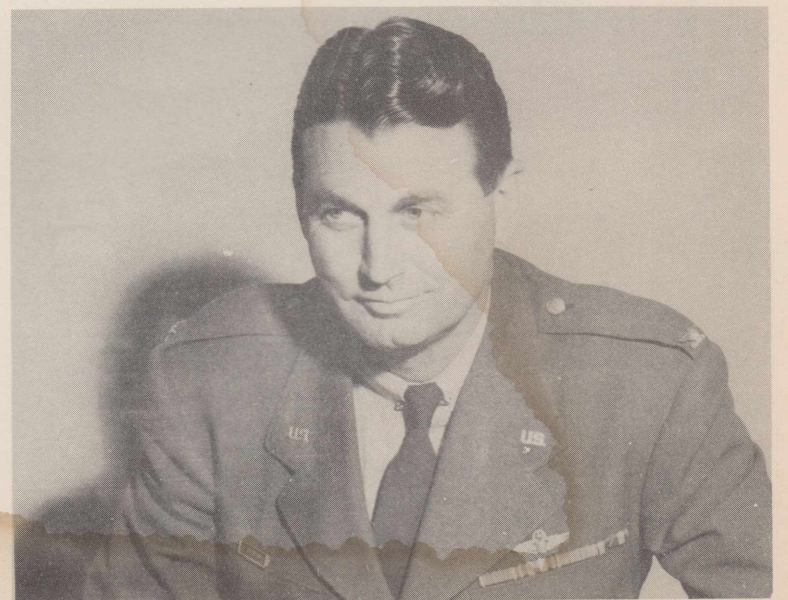

Beginning Monday night, 24th of April, a Preaching Mission will begin at the Reese Air Force Base Chapel. Rev. Fred C. Eastham, pastor of First Baptist church, Springfield, Missouri, will deliver the sermons, each evening at 8:00 p. m. in the Base Chapel, Monday through Friday nights.

The services are open to the general public and all churches are urged to announce this mission to their congregations. The addresses will be of such a nature that the public at large will enjoy them.

Rev. Eastham was pastor of First Baptist church, Wichita Falls, Texas, for eight years. In a recent letter, Rev. Eastham remarked: "Nothing thrills me more than to have the opportunity to speak to men in uniform." In World War I he was a Second Lieutenant in the Infantry.

Rev. Eastham is on military orders to conduct this preaching mission and a plane from Reese Air Force Base will fly to Springfield, Missouri, on Sunday afternoon, 23rd of April to bring him to Lubbock, Texas. The Base will fly Rev. Eastham back to Springfield, Missouri, on Saturday morning, 29th April, at the conclusion of the mission.

MANAGEMENT THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Beware of little problems. There are tremendous trifles.

KADET KORRAL

50-B

Dan'l Boone Takes Back Seat For 50-B

Under the hopeful instruction of Lt. KNIGHT, 50-B set several records at the small arms range this past week. —Fer instance—it only took maybe 50 rounds apiece for the nimrods to discover that accuracy is enhanced by ones eyes being open. Also that the 45 is NOT meant for "1-2-3 DRAW" shootin'. We understand they punched holes in the skeet trap—club house - radar equipment - assorted bottles - clay pigeons—and Lt. KNIGHT'S pride. There is a report (unconfirmed) that after the smoke lifted there was a hole or two in a target—however we reserve judgment.

HEAR YE!

It's about time, I reckon, for a volunteer from class 50-D. What for? To see to it, that each week, this column has an accurate bit of news from each class—that's what for! The entire corps is interested in you new troops and there is little doubt that you're very much interested in yourselves. C'mon around and let's see that you represented 'herein' each week! Room 102, Barracks 827—we're a'waiting. PRODIGIOUS PRODIGIES PROGRESS! (PROBABLY)

It looks as though class 50-C is about ready to solo that B-25. For a week now, the tower operators (both here at Reese and at MUNICIPAL) have been growing grayer by the day. It's discouraging, this trying to decide whether that nitwit on final is gonna' really land 500 years short—or if the boy bouncing down the runway is actually in the process of landing or taking off—or both—or is that man who landed in the last third gonna' require the ministrations of a fire crew.—Which brings up a question—should we maybe stack and burn the B-25's. all at once or should we go on frustrating fire crews—tower operators—instructors—life insurance adjusters and not a few PIPER CUB small jockeys.

NOTEMS: An incomplete coverage of the inconsequential!

Kelley and Henry—issued verdict of "WALKER or walk!" (Capt. HUMPHRIES went along to make sure they didn't get losted.) —Wind hits 50—troops hit panic switch.—RATTLER nearing day when he will be allowed to eat Cadet chow. (Get in line, pooch!)—Reville and taps are becoming synonomous, current question heard among troops is, "I HAVE been to bed, haven't I?" (or DID YOU GET YOUR SIX AND FORTY FIVE?) Cadets are no longer recognized by their blue epaulettes but by their "black circles." (and we DO mean under their eyes!)—Overheard in the chow line—"Quit squawking!—I've been here since Tuesday!"—While inflation is getting worse, it has been discovered that in San Angelo a dime will still buy some things. —There was a dance in the Cadet Club last Saturday evening—we hear.—50-B troops can be recognized quite easily, these days, they all have at least a dozen maps protruding from each pocket. Swapping addresses and phone numbers has become big business. Seems the wheels are going x-country starting this next weekend.—Cadet parking lot is starting to look like bargain day in Podunk, hardly enough room for the boys to stack their ground bound buggies anymore. Y'know —it's a funny thing that a letter can come all the way from Weehawken, N. J. in three days, a distance of some 3000 miles, and yet it takes maybe two days for that same letter to get fifty yards from the mail room to the various barracks.(?)

WHO'S THE NEW FIRST SERGEANT?

Easter Egg Hunt Winners

Law Degree Given To Reese Officer

Reese Officer, Capt. Edgar P. Farnell, who recently completed a night school course in law at Centenary College in Shreveport, La., returned to RAFB after being admitted to the Louisiana State Bar as a practicing attorney.

AROUND REESE

A get-together (cocktails and dinner) is being planned for early June in Washington, D. C., for all former ninth bomber command officers who served under Major General Sam E. Anderson. If you are interested, send your name, present address, and indicate Group or Headquarters to which you were assigned, to Lt. Col. Sherman R. Beaty, Headquarters USAF, AFOOP-C, The Pentagon, Washington 25, D. C. Complete details and cost per person will be forwarded to each officer who is interested in attending, at a later date.

The walls of Base Headquarters echoes this week with the footsteps of First Lt. Samuel E. Shoup, custodian of the Central Post Fund, as he went about distributing cigars to announce the arrival of a new son born Sunday.

Don't forget today is the "deadline" for enrolling in American History, English, and Algebra classes at the I & E Office, Bldg. 146. School bells will ring on 17 April at 1800 hours.

A minstrel show will be put on at 2000 hours tonight in the Base Theatre by girls from the Friendship High School. Admission will be twenty-five cents.

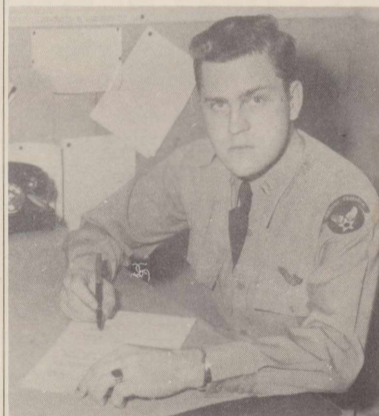

Have you heard the latest one about the crying boy? If you have, listen anyway! The nice old lady noticed a little boy crying on the street and, being touched by his tears, went over to him and said, "Why are you crying, son?" The little one looked up and said, "Mom's gone down to the river to drown our kittens." "How perfectly awful," the lady cried. "It sure is," replied the precocious one, "because she promised to let me do it."

It's Safer to Fly

Vienna (AFPS) — Hazards on the road from Tulin Air Base outside this city are numerous—if signs enroute are to be believed. The signs warn that the route is dangerous because of "narrow winding roads, cluttered with ox carts, cyclists, children." The point is clinched with, "and unpredictable native drivers."

A native of Stonington, Conn., and a veteran of eight years of military service, Captain Farnell entered the service in 1942 as an aviation cadet and took his flying training at Maxwell AFB, Ala., and Moody Field, Ga.

He began his law course in September 1946, going to school at night, and working in the Legal Office at Barksdale AFB during the day. Three and one-half years later he was graduated with a law degree.

CAPT. FARNELL

After completion of the law course he then took the examinations for admittance to the Louisiana Bar on the 13, 14, and 15, of March. On the 22nd of March he was notified of his passing the examinations along with seven other people in the State of Louisiana.

Captain Farnell went to New Orleans on 29 March and was sworn in as a practicing attorney in ceremonies held before the Louisiana Supreme Court. He has been with the 3500th PTW since 1946 and when the wing moved to Lubbock remained behind in Shreveport to finish his law course and handle administrative matters pertaining to the transfer of the base to the Strategic Air Command.

Maj. Joseph G. Stulb, Base Legal Officer, along with Captain Farnell, is also a member of the Louisiana State Bar.

Captain Farnell's family will join him at Reese as soon as practicable.

The Army has issued Regulations authorizing the appointment of civilian clergymen as auxiliary chaplains where commissioned chaplains are not available in continental United States. The duties of auxiliary chaplains will be of a purely religious nature.

"YOUR CHAPEL"

AFTER EASTER

Now that Easter is over, we can let down and coast. That is what the Master's followers thought, after their Lord was laid away, safely in the borrowed tomb. One of the disciples said, "I'm going fishing," and to this another replied, "I'm going too." And, so back to the old routine they went.

We so often copy those early disciples, in our action, after a great event or the anniversary of that event. We celebrate the Holy Days properly, but how do we celebrate the days that are just ordinary, mill-run type of days?

The church, the first Sunday after Easter, is still there, with her doors as open as any other day. Her altar is there, before which prayers are offered. The hymns of hope and faith are sung, as usual, and the sermon still deals in the charity of God, plus the truth of His eternal justice.

But, will we be there, after Easter? That is a question that only each of us can properly answer, in our own way. So much depends on we as individuals, that we sometimes are led to believe that we humans actually direct about all there is in life. We are a bit prone to become somewhat important, in our own thinking, and thus take matters entirely in our own hands, and like the impetuous Peter of old, "Go fishing."

The doors of the church will be open, as usual, next Sunday. The altar, before which prayers are offered, will be there. The hymns of hope and faith will be sung and the sermon will deal in the charity of God, plus th truth of His eternal justice.

It's the Sunday, after Easter.

James M. Becker,
Lt. Col., USAF,
Wing Chaplain.

Chilian President—

Mayor Clarence Whiteside of Lubbock, invited President Gonzalez to visit Lubbock when he learned of the executive's interest in the oil developments of this region. An official acceptance of this invitation was forwarded from the Chilean embassy and the U. S. State Department.

While here one of his main objects will be to tour the Stanolind Oil and Gas Company's multi-million dollar refinery recently completed at Levelland.

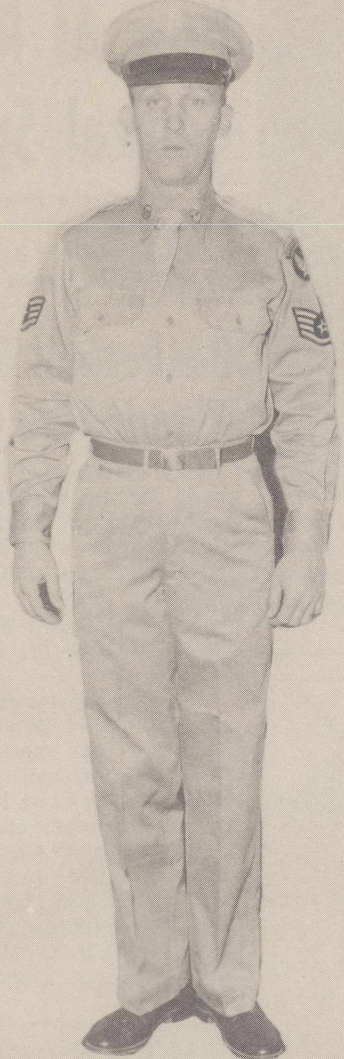

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, wartime Army commander and former Chief of Staff, has been elected an associate member of the French National Academy of Moral and Political Sciences. He was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Gen. John J. Pershing.

Net Gain?

The above pictured volleyball game between the 3501st Maint. Sq. and the Installations Sq. is one of the many being played each day in the Base Gym. The fourteen teams entered in the tournament will play thirteen games and the top four teams will vie against each other for the base championship.

By Armed Forces Press Service

THE new balk rule in baseball may prove a headache to the pitchers and managers but the fans sure will love it. It is a natural for them because every man in the stands is a fine-print expert on the rules. He goes to a game hoping to spot the unparliamentary before the umpire does, and the balk is his special pet. From the spring training scenes comes word that hardly a game goes by without that familiar bleat that roars from the stands whenever the pitcher makes a suspicious move: "Balk, balk!" And the new rule change will put the fan in the position of being right, in addition to being knowing and articulate. Balks are readily recognized now. Simply watch the pitcher as he draws his hands down prior to delivering the ball. Before releasing it he must cradle the ball for a full second with his hands at rest. If he sweeps into the pitch without a pause, holler "Balk!" Then, thrill of thrills, you will see the umpire step to one side, signal no pitch and dramatically whip his arm through the air to send the runner to the next base. Also, it'll be the signal for you to pound your neighbor on the back, yelling delightedly in his ear, "What did I tell you? I knew that was a balk, he's been doing that for two innings now!"

And while we're on baseball beefs let's take up another—the bonus rule. A bonus player, as you no doubt are aware, can be sent out for only one year. Then he must be retained on the parent club or cut adrift. Naturally an owner will think twice before giving up too quickly on some raw recruit who has cost him anywhere from $50,000 to $100,000. The result has been that most major league clubs are carrying bonus players who are from two to four years away from the big show, granted they will ever prove themselves.

An attempt to abolish the restraints under which the bonus player must operate was defeated by a narrow margin last year. Now the players themselves are taking up the cudgel. Marty Marion, St. Louis Cardinal shortstop, who represents National League players in grievance meetings, declares, "there are so many things wrong with the bonus system that we want it abolished altogether." Marion denies any envious motives on the part of players he represents.

"The players, all of 'em, can't get too much money out of the game to suit us," he says. "But this policy of giving huge sums to kids who may or may not ever be big leaguers, poses threat to our own pay checks. Most club owners have only so much money to spend. Somewhere along the line the owner must curtail and we are the ones most likely to feel the pinch."

Instructor: "There are so many noisy interruptions in here that I can hardly hear myself talking."
 Voice from Rear: "Cheer up, Mac. You aren't missin' much."

Sergeant Baer entered the service from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, where he won sixty out of eighty fights under the auspices of the Willow A.C., an athletic club that sponsors amateur fighters.

In service bouts he scored seventeen knockouts in thirty-seven fights along with one TKO.

He won the Far Eastern Championship in bouts held in January, 1950, in Tokyo, Japan, where he was stationed with the Fifth Air Force. He scored two knockouts and one decision during the tourney. He was also Fifth AF Lightweight Champion in 1949.

Due to get discharged in August of this year, Sergeant Baer is still trying to make up his mind whether to go to college and major in physical education or turn professional.

Meanwhile the other members of the Reese team are holding rigorous training sessions in the Base Gym to get in shape for the coming event.

In the event that Reese boxers should win in the Central Area Tourneys they will then go on to Lackland for the Training Command bouts. ATRC champions will then compete with other Air Force Command boxers for the Air Force Championship and eventually for the Inter-Service titles.

The team under the direction of Sgt. Bill Wright and Cpl. Ernest Cedotal will leave Reese on the 20 of April for the bouts which will begin on the 22nd.
