

Reese exceeds 100% of AFAF goal

Reese 1982 Air Force Assistance Fund campaign efforts are starting to show results. According to the base campaign project officer 1st Lt. Gary Halbert Reese hit a 142 percent of its total base goal for this year's effort Monday.

Four base units have exceeded the 150 percent mark according to the project officer citing the 1958th Communications Squadron at 300 percent, the 64th Student Squadron at 180 percent, the 64th Air Base Group at 160 percent and the maintenance complex with 150 percent.

"Everyone has worked hard and obviously done a very good job," said Lieutenant Halbert. The base project officer was jubilant as he explained that the 142 percent of the 1982 goal set all time base records. He indicated that last year's effort turned in record breaking amounts of money and that contributions already in totalled even more than last year's campaign netted altogether.

The 1958th remains at the top of the heap with over 300 percent of their goal reaching equalling $1,170 turned in.

The 64th Student Squadron pretty much remained the same with a 180 percent of their goal totalling in excess of $6,000.

The AGB continued steady at 160 percent of their goal, having contributed right at $2,400.

New to the over the 150 percent group is the base maintenance complex under the direction of 1st Lt. John Neubauer. Maintenance members have thus far given about $5,190 to the 1982 base AFAF campaign. Their contributions amount to almost a perfect 150 percent of their goal.

Air Force wide, AFAF campaign officials at Randolph AFB, Texas reported that two weeks into the 1982 effort $2.9 million had been raised.

This total amount represents roughly 80 percent of the Air Force's total 1982 goal turned-in in only the first two weeks of the 1982 campaign.

Reese funds have gone a long way in helping the Air Force reach their goal truly sharing the campaign theme "A commitment to caring."

General Iosue to speak to UPT grads

In graduation ceremonies set for 10 this morning Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 82-04 will complete a year's intense training.

During ceremonies to be held at the base theater, 48 class members of 82-04 will accept their graduation certificates and coveted aviators wings as they join the ranks of veteran pilots.

Class 82-04 is the second UPT class to accept their wings this year.

Before formal graduation ceremonies begin however, guest speaker Lt. Gen. Andrew P. Iosue will address the class.

Nearly 30 years a veteran of the flying training mission of Reese, General Iosue is now the deputy chief of staff, manpower and personnel, Headquarters U.S. Air Force, Washington, D.C.

The general entered military service with the Navy three months before Japan surrendered ending World War II. His tenure with the Navy covered only 14 months.

Concurrent with his graduation from the University of Massachusetts in 1951 he was commissioned as a second lieutenant through the AFROTC program.

In 1954 General Iosue completed basic and primary pilot training here earning his aviators wings. The Deputy Chief of Staff, manpower and personnel, Air Force Headquarters has spent tours in the Pacific theater, Europe and the U.S.

Just prior to his current assignment General Iosue was the commander of the training center most Air Force personnel must go through—the Military Training Center, Lackland AFB, Texas.

The three star's decorations include the Legion of Merit, the Air Medal with two oak leaf clusters, the Air Force Commendation Medal, the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award ribbon, the American Campaign Medal, the World War II Victory Medal and many others.

Following the graduation, new pilots, their guests and instructor pilots will be attending a luncheon at the officers' club. After lunch the 64th Student Squadron will sponsor the Parents Red Carpet tour to the runway supervisory unit, the simulator building, the 64th Student Squadron, static T-37 and 38, and the tour concludes at the 54th FTS.

Later this evening, there will be a dinner dance in honor of the graduating pilots.

Increased productivity, strive for it

by Col. John D. Herbert
Deputy Commander for Maintenance

Productivity Plan-Individual Involvement! By now, all of you have heard something about the 1982 Reese Productivity Plan. This plan's objective is to increase Reese production levels and was developed in concert with DoD and U.S. government productivity plans. The greatest mistake we can make is to assume that these "plans" will provide us with rules, regulations and guidelines which, when implemented will allow American production to return to its previous international high. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Our productivity loss was not intentional. It occurred slowly and insidiously over the course of many years. Consequently, we can't count on any quick fix. Each worker must realize that we are talking about him or her, and that success in our plan will be the accumulation of many "small" improvements in our individual productivity.

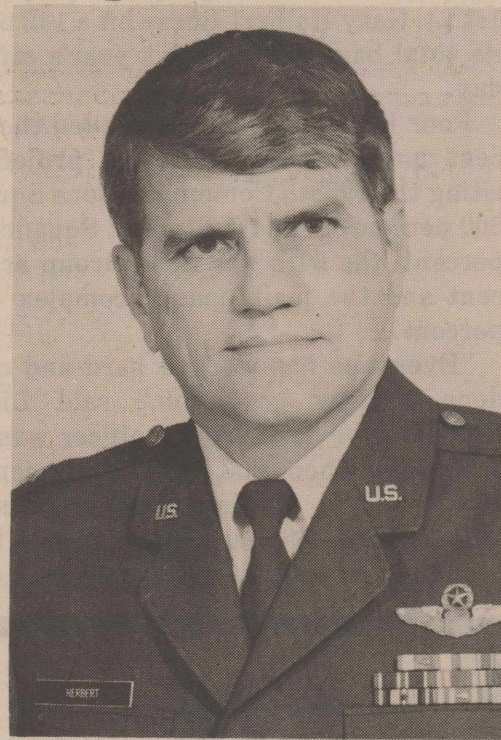

Recognizing the difficulty of this task, I have two suggestions:

The first is for each worker to insure that they put in a full day's labor for a full day's pay. This article was precipitated by the high number of Reese AFB people I have seen report to work a "few minutes late", eat their "breakfast at work," take frequent, lengthy coffee breaks and lunch hours, and then stop work early to be sure to "get off" work on time. Simply reducing these undesirable acts should increase Reese productivity a noticeable amount. Since we are now the highest paid military and federal force in US history, it seems to me we should also be the most productive.

My second suggestion is to look for more efficient and effective ways to do your daily duties. Don't pin your hopes on some exotic or extremely innovative change that results in huge increases in productivity. Recently, in maintenance, we made a few small changes to our T-38 inspection procedures. To our surprise the initial manpower savings resulted in a work multiplier releasing moer specialist man-hours than we originally envisioned. As a result, our T-38 aircraft fleet now enjoys its most favorable in-commission rate in several years.

So, let's all get on the band wagon! Put in a full day's work for a full day's wages. Look for things to do, and look for better ways to do them. Americans are supposed to be the best educated and healthiest people in the world—if that's true, why shouldn't they be the most productive? Let's show them that Reese AFB people are!

First AF Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff dies

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—The first Air Force general to become Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Nathan F. Twining, 84, died Monday at Wilford Hall Medical Center, Lackland AFB, Texas. The cause of death was listed as cardiopulmonary arrest.

Memorial services were conducted at 1:00 p.m. EST yesterday at Fort Myer, VA. Immediately following the memorial service, the general was buried at Arlington National Cemetery with full military honors.

General Twining's military career spanned more than 44 years—from 1916 as an infantry corporal on the Mexican border to 1960 as the first Air Force Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

He graduated from the U.S. Military Academy in 1919; Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga. in 1920; Air Corps Tactical school, Maxwell Field, Ala. in 1936; and Command and General Staff school in 1937.

General Twining served with the Oregon National Guard from 1916-17; and was commissioned a second lieutenant of infantry in 1918. Following a tour of observation of battlefronts in Belgium, France and Italy in 1919 and his graduation from Infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga., he was assigned to the 19th Infantry at Fort Benning where he was appointed aide to Brig. Gen. B.A. Poore.

General Twining entered Primary Flying school, Brooks Field, Texas, in 1923 and graduated from Advanced Flying school at Kelly Field, Texas, in 1924. After receiving his wings, he returned to Brooks Field as an instructor. Transferring to air service in November 1926, he served as flying instructor at March Field, Calif.

Other assignments were: the 18th Pursuit Group, Schofield Barracks, Hawaii; the Third Attach Group, 90th Attack Squadron and 60th Service Squadron at Fort Crockett, Texas; and the Central Zone, Chicago, Ill.; after returning to Fort Crockett in June 1934 as Adjutant of the Third Attach Group, he went to Barksdale Field, La., as assistant operations officer, Third Wing.

After an assignment as Air Corps technical supervisor, San Antonio Air Depot at Duncan Field, Texas, General Twining was named assistant chief of the inspection division in the office of the Chief of the Air Corps, Washington, D.C., in 1940 and later served as chief of the technical inspection section of that office. He was transferred to the operations division in December 1941, was named assistant executive, Office of the Chief of Staff, Air Corps Headquarters in February 1942. In May of that year he was designated director of war organization and movements.

In July 1942, General Twining was assigned as Chief of Staff of the U.S. Army Forces, South Pacific, becoming commanding general of the 13th Air Force in 1943. Shortly after, his B-17 was shot down with 15 people aboard, in the sea off the New Heribides Island in the South Pacific, with the others, he spent six days on a life raft.

He was designated commander, aircraft, Solomon Islands and placed in tactical control of all Army, Navy, Marine and Allied Air Forces in the South Pacific in July 1943.

The following January 1944 he assumed command of the 15th Air Force in Italy and was given the additional duties of commander of the Mediterranean Allied Strategic Air Forces. He assumed command of the 20th Air Force in that theater in July 1943.

After an assignment to continental Air Force Headquarters at Bolling Field, Washington, D.C., General Twining assumed command of the Air Material Command, Wright Field, Ohio, until October 1947; he was then named commanding general of the Alaskan Department and was designated commander-in-chief of the Alaskan Command at Fort Richardson until July 1950.

Returning to Washington in July 1950, he was made acting Deputy Chief of Staff for personnel at Air Force Headquarters; appointed Vice Chief of Staff of the Air Force in October 1950. General Twining became Chief of Staff of the Air Force in 1953; in 1957 he was sworn in as Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, a position which he held until 1960.

What are you really worth $$$$

The results of a recent poll "What Are You Worth?" showed no unexpected results. Most of those polled were willing to give up a finger for a half a million. But from there the price escalated rapidly.

What about giving up a hand? "No Way" was the common reaction. There were a lot of turn downs at this point. The few who would consider sacrificing an arm or a leg for recompense wanted millions.

There were no sellers of eyes. Nobody would give up their head for any amount.

People are funny, though. When you look around at the many who failed to use eye protection or ear protection when it's obvious that there is a possible danger. Grinding, drilling, chipping, chemicals, can cause the loss of an eye with no compensation. You wouldn't walk under a heavy object which is held by only a single cable. Why no—if the cable gave way our head might get mashed.

The frequency which people do these things can cause you to question their reasoning.

Dear Sir,
 This note brings a "thanks" and "praise" for one of your young men. He stopped and took time to change a tire on a senior citizen couple's car Thursday morning, 3-18-82. For all his time and work, he would take no pay. His belief in God to help those in need makes him a very special person. May God bless and keep him through all the days of his life. As well as all our young peo-

AN AUTOVON CALLER wanted to know why he was pre-empted during his recent call to Air Training Command Headquarters. When my representatives spoke with the NCO, they determined that he had been called during the peak AUTOVON use period, 1-2 p.m.

Reese only has 17 AUTOVON circuits and normally the base operator will intervene letting both parties know that the line is needed. In his case, the circuit was probably broken at the Randolph AFB, Texas end.

The normal AUTOVON call is placed in the routine category. Routine is the lowest priority, falling beneath priority and immediate calls—in that order.

AUTOVON system users can help optimize system use by spreading out their AUTOVON calls through the entire duty day but especially by limiting the number and length of calls placed during the peak period.

A CALLER EXPRESSED his sincere thanks to Sgt. Audry Jimenez for providing excellent customer service when helping him fill out with a TDY voucher. I would like to thank him for taking the time to let her know that her work is appreciated. I'd also like to add my thanks to Sergeant Jimenez for being a true professional.

Accounting and Finance is a demanding work center, but with the caliber of people assigned like Sergeant Jimenez, the quality of service will be no less than excellent.

A CALLER WANTED to know why the on-base movies are not listed in the ROUNDUP and if there is a special number to call in order to find out when and what movies are playing on base.

Base movies cannot be advertised in the Avalanche Journal, however, base movies are usually advertised in the ROUNDUP under the "Film Fare" column. Also, movie schedules are printed and distributed through the base. Most public assembly areas have distribution of coming attractions. Effective immediately, the movie schedule will be a specific item included in MWR's Scope Line.

Tips for controlling summer cooling expenses offered to all

by Sam Lanham
Reese Energy Conservation
Manager

We are rapidly approaching the time of the year when many organizations as well as households will be trying to beat the heat by turning on their air conditioners.

Refrigerated air conditioning consumes the largest portion of the electrical energy that we use during the spring and summer months. Therefore, it makes good sense to use electricity more efficiently, saving wherever you can, and assisting in the conservation of our natural resources. For example, you can help your air conditioner do its job more efficiently by following these suggestions:

•Whenever possible, run the fan without using the cooling portion of your unit.

•Place the thermostat on the highest comfortable setting. For each degree you raise the air conditioner thermostat, you can save at least five percent on the cost of operation.

•Check the filter periodically, cleaning or replacing it as necessary. A dirty filter makes the air conditioner work harder to do the same job.

•Keep windows and outside doors closed.

•Keep out solar heat by closing blinds and drapes over windows exposed to direct sunlight.

•Just as insulation saves on your heating bill by keeping warmth in, good insulation pays summer dividends by keeping heat out.

Remember, CONSERVATION is an INDIVIDUAL responsibility. No one else can do your part.

Padding is a serious offense

by SA Richard D. Sterett
AFOSI Det 1117

Anyone who has been in the Air Force for more than an hour and a half realizes that regulations often lend themselves to circumvention. The difference between bending the rules and breaking the law is often very small, but the consequences are very different. Sometimes you have to bend a regulation to get your job done—but breaking the law is illegal in spirit and execution.

Nowhere is this more true than in the preparation of travel vouchers. When Uncle Sam sends you on a trip to do your job and arranges to reimburse you for expenses incurred, he, quite reasonably, expects you to be honest about filling out your voucher.

Since no one follows you around while you are TDY, only you know exactly what expenses you had on the trip.

Unfortunately some people look on this as an opportunity to make some extra money—illegally. If you cheat—if you ask for, and get, more money than you are authorized because of the false data you put on the voucher—you have submitted a fraudulent voucher.

When you are caught, the few extra bucks you made could cost you big bucks, time in jail and maybe even your career. And don't plead ignorance! The Air Force has specialists trained to answer every question you can come up with concerning what expenditures are legitimate and what are not.

Don't play games with the spirit of the regulation either. If you are not authorized to rent a car at your TDY destination but are authorized to spend money on taxi fare, you can't rent a car and list the cost as taxi fare. If the one-way taxi fare from the airport to your destination is $10, don't list it as $24.95 just because you are allowed up to $25. That is fraud and people who commit fraud are crooks and crooks get treated like crooks. Claim only what you actually spend.

At Reese, 15 people were investigated for travel voucher fraud during 1981. Many of them were subjected to the humiliating experience of being punished for stealing from their employer. They have lost the trust of their superiors, the respect of their peers and subordinates and, in some cases, their careers have been destroyed. For the most part, these people were well respected members of their units who somehow rationalized that robbing Uncle Sam isn't stealing. WRONG!

The President has directed that investigation and punishment of people who commit fraud against the government be a major priority for every government agency. The Air Force and AFOSI have taken his order very seriously. This office will be reviewing travel records to check out such items as unlisted leave time while on TDY, missed meals, taxi fares, etc. Don't get caught by an etc.

If you believe that Uncle Sam is getting ripped-off by people he trusts, whether through false travel claims or any other dishonest action, there are people who will listen to your complaint. You may call the Air Force Fraud, Waste and Abuse Hotline at Autovon 227-1061, report your suspicions, and you don't even have to give your name if you want to stay unknown. If you cannot call the Fraud, Waste and Abuse Hotline, you may call SA Richard D. Sterett at ext. 3414. We will fully investigate the charge.

CHAMPUS program amended

Changes to the Defense Authorization Act that took effect yesterday will be resulting in lower out-of-pocket costs for those who use CHAMPUS. The changes are expected to boost participation by physicians and other health-care providers in the military health program.

CHAMPUS is a cost-sharing program for health care received in civilian facilities by military dependents, retirees and their dependents. After yearly deductibles are paid by beneficiaries, CHAMPUS will pay either 80 percent (for dependents of active duty members) or 75 percent (for retirees and their dependents) of an allowable charge. The "allowable charge" is the maximum that CHAMPUS will pay for a specific medical service.

"The legislation simplifies the procedure for determining allowable charges and permits an update every six months instead of annually," explained Theodore Wood, CHAMPUS director. "This means CHAMPUS payments will be more accurately approximated to the current fees charged by physicians and other noninstitutional health-care providers."

Under the new procedure, CHAMPUS profiles the fees for specific medical procedures charged the year before by health-care providers who billed CHAMPUS. Profiles of professional fees for both in and out-patient services are established for each state. The allowable charge is then set at a level that would cover the fees charged by eight of ten health-care providers.

According to Wood, "The changes in CHAMPUS reimbursement will allow an extra $8 million in benefit payments around the first year. We'll be relieving beneficiaries of some of their medical costs and hopefully attracting more health-care providers into the CHAMPUS program."

Robert Gregorio, Reese

"With the changes to the program, it is hopeful that civilian physicians in the local community not presently accepting consignment of CHAMPUS would do so in the future," concluded Gregorio.

JAGs key in on preventive law, help members with more than wills

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—The base legal office does much more than prepare wills and notarize automobile titles.

Lawyers there can advise Air Force members on most legal matters affecting their day-to-day lives: rental agreements, taxes, property transactions, personal rights and others.

The key is prevention and that's the foundation for the Preventive Law Program. The adage "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" applies to law as well as to medicine, according to Capt. Caryn A. Smith, assistant chief, Preventive Law and Legal Aid Group of the Judge Advocate General's Office.

That's why the program was begun, she says: to assist members with their legal questions before they turn into legal problems.

To do this, the lawyers at the legal office try to do two things: educate Air Force members on their legal rights and responsibilities, and also advise members who are about to get involved in legal matters.

Education is carried out through newspaper articles, commanders calls and seminars.

The second area—advising or counseling members so they can avoid legal problems—is given special emphasis, according to the captain. She said, "The typical legal-assistance client has already signed the contract, entered into the lease or performed some other act with legally binding effect."

"If that person would take the time to consult with the legal office prior to entering into a legal relationship, many problems could be avoided."

She points out that the program can work only if Air Force members use it. Conceding that it may be tempting to seek advice from a friend or roommate, Captain Smith warns that the only place to get the full ounce of prevention is at the base legal office.

Heartworm clinic set for dogs

By Capt. Steven Peterson

Heartworm disease (Dirofilariasis) is a serious and often fatal disease due to infestation of the right heart and associated pulmonary arteries by the worm Dirofilaria immitis. Heartworm disease is prevalent in the Lubbock area and is spread solely by mosquitos. Consequently, outdoor dogs, such as working dogs, and shorter haired breeds are more susceptible; however, even predominantly indoor dogs may be sufficiently exposed during their brief trips outside.

What is extremely important is that this disease is preventable. This is by the daily administration of Diethylcarbamazine (DEC) from about 1 month prior to and for about 2 months after the mosquito season. Here in Lubbock this time frame would be from April until January of the following year. In areas further south and east of Lubbock, such as Lake Ransom and Buffalo Springs, DEC should be given year around. Dogs started on this program must be negative for the disease since administration of DEC to dogs with Dirofilariasis may result in a fatal reaction.

Determination of the heartworm status of dogs is done by a blood test. Ideally, this test should be drawn in the late afternoon or early evening since this decreases the incidence of false negatives. This is because the adult worms release higher numbers of young (microfilaria) into the blood during peak mosquito hours. These young are what the veterinarian tests for. It should be clarified at this time that the microfilaria cannot develop into adults until they spent a period of time in the mosquito prior to again gaining access to a susceptible dog. The best time of the year to draw heartworm samples here in Lubbock is March, April and the first part of May. This is for two reasons: (1) this is the time you will be starting your dog on preventative, (2) if your dog acquired the disease during the last mosquito season sufficient time will have elapsed (6 months) for adult worms to begin producing young. Even dogs on good preventative programs should be tested yearly since occasional breaks in prophylaxis are observed.

Here at Reese the heartworm clinic will be held between 3 and 4 o'clock on Wednesdays and Fridays during April and the first part of May. You may call Veterinary Services (885-3534) to set up an appointment.

Construction pits not slated as base garbage dump sites

Recently an equipment operator, while covering debris in the base construction pits, had sulfuric acid splashed on his clothes and body. Fortunately, the airman was not seriously injured. The incident does however highlight a serious problem at Reese.

Several people continue to use the construction pits as a sanitary landfill, that is, as a disposal area for trash and refuse.

Several years ago these pits were used for trash and refuse disposal and an operator was on hand to control what was placed in the pits and to cover it daily. Now that the base has contracted trash removal, that operation has ended and all trash and refuse is to be placed in the trash receptacles (dumpsters) placed throughout the base.

The pits are still used, primarily by civil engineering personnel, to dispose of large items of debris - chunks of concrete, asphalt, tree limbs, weeds, demolished structures, etc. Permission can be obtained by other base personnel to use the pits to dispose of items too large for the dumpsters such as mattresses, tires and large boxes. Permission will not be given to put anything in the pits which can be blown onto the airfield where it endangers aircraft operation. Permission will not be given to dispose of any item of government property unless the local property disposal office declares the item unsalvageable. In no case will permission be given to place anything in the pits which is hazardous to human health or the environment.

Written permission to use the construction pits can be obtained from the base Environmental Coordinator, 64 CES/DEEV, Capt. Gene Smith.

Youths roll-up high games during Saturday morning league action

The Midget Mess Ups continue to lead the Bantam bowling league while the Fantastics stay in first place for the Junior/Senior bowling league after the end of last weeks' bowling action.

In Bantam bowling, Lisa Garces, once again, held onto her first place position. She captured both high game and high series for the week. Garces rolled a 106 game and ended up with a 209 series for the girl's division.

In the boy's division Anthony Addison took over first place from Timothy Palmer by bowling a 188 game and capturing the high series with 286. Addison will receive a patch from the American Junior Bowling Congress for his 188 game.
