

Sellers Visit Reese

About 70 South Plains business men Tuesday learned more about needs and operations of the Air Force in a visit to Reese during observance of the first annual Vendors' Day.

They learned how the base, one of the busiest in the Air Force, has daily need of materials, contracts and services with the local market, how the important vendors are assisting the base in carrying out its mission of training pilots.

Arriving by private automobile and a bus chartered by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, the vendors were told by Capt. Joseph V. Sullivan, Reese procurement officer, that Vendors' Day has been started as an annual event to bring mutual benefits to the base and to the business men.

Col. L. C. Hess, wing commander, welcomed the visitors, explaining the base mission and operations.

"We have an extensive operation," he said, "one which needs the backing of many business men."

"We have daily need of supplies and services which you and other business men can provide. We have a student load of about 400 young officers and must train them to be proficient pilots. In fact, Reese Air Force Base is more busy than the Midway airport in Chicago when it comes to landings and takeoffs."

The visitors were shown a motion picture which explained and showed how the Air Force operates in its procurement program. They visited display booths set up by the base, General Services Administration, Small Business Association and the Reese finance office.

They heard C. Ray Martin of the Small Business Association explain and stress that mutual advantages come to the Air Force and business man through the procurement program.

Visitors toured areas of the base to see how products purchased locally are used, stopping at a maintenance hangar, base supply, and the base procurement office. They talked with Reese officials who answered a variety of questions.

Tight Personnel Budget Brings On Tight 'Pro Pay' Policy, Program

(AFNS) — A tight USAF personnel budget is posing a tight proficiency pay policy for airmen in the program now and for those scheduled to be taken into the program later.

USAF headquarters has canceled plans to bring Reservists and Air National Guardsmen serving on active duty into the proficiency pay program.

The restrictions also apply to the active career force with eligibles scheduled for a spring entry into the pro pay program

WORKERS NEEDED

Additional workers are needed at Reese to make bandages for cancer victims of the nation, Mrs. John Slaughter, in charge of the project, said Thursday. Bandages are made and rolled from 10 a.m. until noon and from 1 to 3 p.m. each Wednesday at Mathis Service Club.

Base Scouts Enter Contests

Boy Scout activities are in high gear this weekend at Reese. Reese Scout Troop 548 is participating in the South Plains Council Camporee at Johnson's Ranch east of Lubbock. Reese is playing host to 19 Air Explorer Scouts and their leaders in a weekend encampment.

About 30 Reese Boy Scouts will participate under direction of SSgt. George W. Williams, scoutmaster, and other leaders. The troop has increased its membership from 19 to 44 this year and numerous committees of civilians, officers and NCO's have become active.

The committees are helping at weekly troop meetings and in judging for merit badges. Because of increased activity, the troop is expected to score heavily in contests this weekend.

The Air Explorers are from Pampa and will arrive late this afternoon. They will spend the night and Saturday morning will see a movie and tour the base. Saturday afternoon they will attend the Engineering Show at Texas Tech and Sunday morning are to attend Chapel services. The visit here is being supervised by 1st Lt. Maurice Wachtel.

Interest High In 2nd Annual Golf Tourney

About 150 professional and amateur golfers were scheduled to tee off this morning in the second annual Reese Pro-Am golf tournament on the base course.

The exact number of entries could not be determined prior to the tourney's opening, but professionals from numerous courses throughout the South Plains and eastern New Mexico indicated they would be on hand.

Also entering were several amateurs from Lubbock, Levelland and other communities, while many golfers assigned to Reese also indicated they would join in the day's activities.

In the Pro-Am competition, professionals and amateurs were paired against others and combined team scores govern winners. Individual scores also will count toward awards.

Cash awards were set up for professionals, while amateurs at the top played for merchandise prizes and trophies.

Ken McGuire, tournament director, said more interest was apparent this year than during the first annual event held in 1961 which drew upward of 100 entries.

The tournament will conclude with a barbecue for all entrants in the course clubhouse.

Paul Hahn, trick and comic golfer, is scheduled to present an exhibition at 6 p.m. near the clubhouse. His act includes finesse and unusual shots perfected during more than 500,000 miles of touring into 37 countries. All interested persons are being invited to witness the exhibition.

Chaplains Planning Special Services For Easter Week

Special Easter services have been planned for the Reese Chapel, with the important Maundy Thursday service as a highlight.

Palm Sunday will be observed by both Protestants and Catholic this Sunday and palms will be given to all families attending. Chaplain Jerry L. Rice will discuss "Beatnik Christian" in the 11 a.m. Protestant service.

Young Dependent To Get Certificate For Science Work

Don Heskett, 16, son of CWO and Mrs. Donald J. Heskett, is looking forward to Armed Forces Day, May 12, when he will receive the Air Force Aerospace Power certificate.

Since before the appearance of the first sputnik, young Heskett has been working with minute rockets. Numerous times he has fired the small affairs from his backyard in the government housing area, working with his buddy, Bill Schubert.

Thursday night of last week, he started about 9 p.m. to construct a display for the regional Science Fair in Lubbock. He completed work about 3 a.m.

The display on research in development of small high altitude rocket sound won first place in the aerospace power division and second place in the larger physics division. It earned Don the Aerospace Power Certificate, which will be presented Armed Forces Day.

Heskett also is an alternate for an all-expense trip to the World's Fair in Seattle, Wash., by virtue of his Science Fair rating.

Commander Sends Passover Greeting

Lt. Gen. James E. Briggs, Air Training Command commander, has sent Passover greetings to all bases in the command.

"On the occasion of the coming observance of Passover, I extend greetings to members of the Jewish faith serving with this command," he said.

"The significance of this Festival of Freedom which has been observed for more than 3,000 years has renewed meaning for us today.

"May its lessons in human dignity and freedom of spirit serve as an inspiration to greater effort in our struggle to maintain the peace and insure the blessings of liberty for those who seek it."

The Maundy Thursday service at 8 p.m. will include communion and a monologue by Chaplain Rice, "A Man Named Simon." All Protestant families are urged to attend.

Protestants also plan a Good Friday service at 1:15 p.m., with Chaplain James D. Taylor speaking on "The Seven Last Words."

A 6:30 a.m. Easter Sunrise service will be held in front of Mathis Service Club, with doughnuts and coffee served following the service. Chaplain Taylor will be in charge of the 11 a.m. Easter Service in the Chapel.

The Catholic Maundy Thursday service will be at 7 p.m. in the Chapel and the Good Friday service is at 12 noon.

Catholics also will observe Paschal Vigil at 11:15 p.m., Saturday, April 21, when the Paschal Candle and baptismal water will be blessed. Lessons also are to be read.

High Mass at midnight will follow, with the choir providing Easter music.

Reese Jewish personnel will observe the Passover from sunset, April 18, to sunset, April 26. Sedar reservation and home hospitality may be secured by calling Rabbi Alex Kline, auxiliary chaplain, at PO 2-1746.

Air Force Highlights

'TREE' MOVED

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Project Money Tree becomes the responsibility of major air commands June 30. USAF headquarters has directed it for 18 months. Commands will emphasize deeds.

DRIVE NEARING

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — More USAF personnel are expected to take part in the 1962 Freedom Bond Drive which gets underway in May. Automatic purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds through payroll deductions is expected to top the $101 million realized in 1961.

VISIT GUARD

Two state governors and senior military officials of 13 states whose National Guard units are on active duty in Europe visited the units early in April on invitation of the Air Force. The group totaled 28 persons.

Reese Gives Freely

Showing what the drive chairman termed "excellent participation," more than 95 per cent of Reese personnel contributed to the recent National Health Agencies and Federal Service Joint Crusade, Maj. Thomas O. Batey, project officer, reported this week.

Key workers in every unit received sealed envelopes containing donations and these were turned in, unopened, to Lubbock drive chairmen.

"We do not know exactly how much money was contributed by Reese people to assist these worthy organizations because we do not know how much money any envelope contained," the major said. "However percentage of participation was extremely high and we are proud of the way the base has cooperated again with the civilian community in efforts to aid the needy and to expand assistance abroad."

The major gave praise to the key workers who made sure that everyone on the base had an opportunity to contribute. He said each worker did his part and received cooperation of both military men and civilians.

The Federal Services Joint Crusade gave financial assistance to CARE, the Korean Foundation and Radio-Free-Europe. Upward of 20 health agencies received financial aid from the Joint Crusade, which had endorsement of President Kennedy and other government officials.

Project Officer Named For Show

Captain R. M. Opdycke has been named Project Officer at Reese for the 1962 ATC Talent Contest.

He has urged that all enlisted personnel aid Reese in making the show this year "tops of all" for the base. Group and squadron commanders are supporting the Mathis Service Club by sending them all available talent.

Urgently needed are vocal groups, either popular or barber-shop style; vocalists, popular, semiclassical or classical; musical instrument groups, any type or style strictly instrumental; solo dancers, any style; solo instrumentalist, any style; solo western or country style, instrumentalists, singers or combinations thereof; western or country groups, non-comic featuring vocal, instrumental or combination; novelty comic acts, male groups; specialty acts, any type of entertainment not specified in other categories; and master of ceremonies.

Practice sessions are at 7 p.m. each Monday and Wednesday at the club. Club personnel have stated that special practice sessions will be arranged, if needed, by entries.

The Talent Show will be at 7 p.m. Monday, April 23, in the base theater.

The standard overseas tour for Viet Nam with dependents is now 24 months.

AIR FORCE WATCHES

WASHINGTON — The Air Force is watching results of an Army move to realign the eight National Guard and Reserve divisions to create eight separate brigades and some non-divisional units from the divisions. The plan is to improve strength.

CONTRACTS MADE

The Air Force has awarded contracts totaling $47,089,563 to seven companies. Work on three of the contracts will be performed in labor surplus areas. Firms are in San Diego, Calif.; Denver, Colo.; Culver City, Calif.; Teterboro, N. J.; Rockville, Md.; Wilmington, Mass.; and Downey, Calif.

PROGRESS STUDIED

WICHITA, KAN. — Production progress of the B-52 global missile launcher is being studied by the USAF during the quarterly B-52 Weapon System Phasing Group Conference here.

From The COMMANDER'S DESK

By Col. L. C. Hess, Wing Commander

Last Tuesday a group of important people visited Reese and departed with a better understanding of our mission and extent of operations. These people were local merchants and businessmen, attending the first annual Vendor's Day.

The purpose of Vendor's Day is to show representatives of local firms various aspects of doing business with the Air Force. During the program which lasted from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. and included a tour of the base, our visitors learned how extensively we rely upon them to provide us with the needed supplies in many areas. In addition, they learned the fundamentals of selling to the Air Force and of the items which are needed most from them at Reese.

Vendor's Day, I believe, was another effective illustration of how a base and the local community are dependent upon each other. This relationship is a partnership — and a very important one — toward furthering the mission of the Air Force. This is why we at Reese may well look with pride upon the fine spirit of cooperation and friendship we enjoy with our neighboring communities.

That Word 'Moral' Good One

The word "moral" is a perfectly good adjective with a variety of meanings that all boil down to an implication of conformity with generally accepted standards of goodness or rightness in conduct or character. Yet some people at Reese and elsewhere bristle when they read or hear the word. They seem to think that someone is trying to push a specific mode of religious thinking over on them when the word is used. Even the very respectable Air Force Regulation 50-31, "Moral Leadership", comes in for an occasional broadside because of the word "moral" in the title.

In all sound leadership, a basis of morality must be taken for granted. Every Reese officer and airman is expected to conform to accepted standards of conduct. Air Force commanders are responsible for the moral atmosphere of their units and their bases.

The subject for the April-June 1962 "Moral Leadership" program is "Moral Obligations in Family Life." In subsequent weeks, some of these responsibilities will be reviewed by the Roundup. The objective will be to emphasize those factors that make for happy family life as lived in the military environment.

In the Age of Anxiety — as the 20th Century has been called — young men and women, husbands and wives, must have defenses against pressures that can adversely affect family life. The family is the very foundation upon which all society is built. When the family fails — the nation falls.

The preservation of sound family life is not something automatic. It cannot be legislated. It must be worked at day by day, year by year, by all persons involved. When the moral responsibilities assumed by husbands and wives entering into the marriage contract are realized, understood, and carried out, our individual families are well on their way to happiness.

PRESENTATION—Mrs. James Taylor, left, presents a King James version of the Bible to Mrs. Joseph Bloomer, outgoing president of the Protestant Women of the Chapel. New officers were installed at the salad luncheon. Mmes. James Allen and William Stewart were hostesses at the meeting which included vocal selections by Mrs. Loran Tangren, accompanied by Mrs. Bertrand Welch.

Parson-to-Person

When Lied About,
Man Should Pray
For His Offender

By Chaplain James D. Taylor

It was a lie. Not only was it a lie, but he knew it was a lie when he told it. He told this lie to a sizable number of people. He told it in such a manner that many of these people believed it to be true. Then believing it to be true, these people told it around among their friends, who also believed it.

When I know a lie is being told and circulated, I usually pay little attention to it simply because it is a lie. But this particular lie interested me vitally. The reason for my unusual interest in this particular lie was that it was told about me. That makes a difference. To have a lie told about you may be thought of as a real calamity.

But as a matter of fact, none of this is of prime importance. No, to have a lie told about you is not of prime importance. To have people believe the lie is also not of prime importance. When a lie is told about you, the thing of prime importance is not what was told, not who told it, not who believed it. The thing of prime importance to you is how you behave under the circumstance.

Usually the first thing we think about is to tell a lie about the one who told it on us. But we should pray for him and not do anything that would make people say it must be so. Jesus said, "Love your enemies, do good to those who spitefully use you."

Personnel Invited To See Boat Races

Reese families have been invited to witness boat races at 2 p.m. Sunday on the upper lake of Buffalo Lakes. Entries from the base also have been asked in professional, semi-professional and amateur classes.

The Lubbock Boat Club is sponsoring the races and is awarding prizes, cash to professionals and trophies to winners in other classes.

BOOKS DONATED
More than 500 books donated by Reese families to be used in Mexico schools have been delivered to the "Project Good Neighbor" by Den 4, Cub Scout Pack 548. Frank Gonzales, Lubbock coordinator, accepted the volumes in the "Books for Mexico" current campaign. The Cub Scouts collected the books as a community project.

SUPER BOMBER—This artist's drawing shows how the B-70 Valkyrie bomber, slated for flight testing later this year, will look on take-off. It will be capable of flying at 2,000 mph, using six jet engines. Its predecessor, the B-52 Superfortress, has eight jet engines suspended from the wings. The Valkyrie represents a departure from this design by housing its engines together underneath the fuselage. Flight tests on the first prototype will be conducted at Palmdale, Calif.

Chief Sees Energy Weapon With Lightning Bolt Speed

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Maneuverable spacecraft and beam-directed energy weapons at lightning bolt speed (186,000 miles per second) might be the breakthroughs of the future that will make our present 15,000 mph intercontinental missiles and their nuclear warheads about as appropriate as the bow and arrow. Such a possibility does not come from the pen of a science fiction writer but from Gen. Curtis E. LeMay who commented on the subject of weapons.

Said the chief of staff: "Our national security in the future may depend on armaments far different from any we know today. And, believe me, they won't be ultimate weapons either.

"Perhaps they will be weapons that enable us to neutralize Earth-based ICBMs.

"Perhaps they will be weapons that strike with the speed of light. That kind of speed makes the 15,000 mph ICBM a relatively slow-moving target.

"If a new generation of space weapons can neutralize an aggressor's ICBMs, then the world will enter a new era in warfare, or in prevention of warfare."

Citing an example to his audience at Assumption College in Worcester, Mass., the general continued: "Beam-directed energy weapons may be used in space. And the energy directed by these weapons could travel across space essentially with the speed of light. This would be an invaluable characteristic for the interception of ICBM warheads and their decoys."

"We've looked into the phenomena associated with this kind of weapon; we have evidenced from scientific papers they have published that the Soviets also are interested; and Khrushchev himself has boasted publicly about 'fantastic weapons!'"

"Suppose the Soviets were first to develop advanced weapons of this sort and to employ them aboard maneuvering spacecraft?"

"If they could neutralize our ICBMs with such a system they could change the balance of decisive power in their favor.

"If they could neutralize satellites and spacecraft with such a weapon, they could prevent us from developing an equal defense against their ICBMs.

"And they could prevent us from going into space for peaceful purposes."

General LeMay was not speaking in the so-called "gee-whiz" futuristic vein. Rather, he was recapping military forces as only part of national power, as in Clausewitz, and recapping military aviation problems and growth.

He pointed out that U. S. space efforts so far seem to experience the same growing pains as aviation has experienced.

But he noted one big difference: the speed of space developments and the lack of time to make leisurely decisions over the years as done in the past.

Quoting Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest's 'fustest with the mostest' principle, he said: "the desired way to apply those principles is by strategic anticipation and development. For if we are not the first with the most capability, we are very likely to be too late with too little."

Housing Proposal Falls By Wayside

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—The new Defense Department plan to establish a "revolving fund" from forfeited quarters allowances so the military could eventually finance its own family housing without running to Congress each year was raised before the House Armed Service Committee one day in late March and razed the next.

Chairman Carl Vinson deleted this latest wrinkle in family housing from the Military Construction Authorization bill on grounds it is a back-door method to avoid annual Congressional scrutiny.

Diamond Vet Coaching Team

If the manager can impart his interest and enthusiasm to his players, then the Reese baseball team this year will be most certainly unbeatable.

Manager TSgt. Heyward C. Moore of the base transportation division, has more than 30 years of baseball behind him. He formerly owned a part of a professional team, the San Antonio "Missions," he worked to try to revive professional baseball in Lubbock shortly after he came to Reese in April, 1961.

The sergeant, who says, "I'd walk 12 miles to see a good baseball game," started playing ball when he was 10 years old. He's never stopped his interest and has become a player and umpire. Sgt. Moore has done some scouting for the Kansas City Athletics, also.

He played ball for the Army while stationed in the Hawaiian Islands in 1937 and semi-pro ball in Easley, N.C., in 1940-44. From

'44 to '46 there was a short lull in his baseball career brought on by World War II.

In late 1946, Sgt. Moore was reassigned to Donaldson AFB. Here, his baseball life was resumed as he spent two years with the Donaldson team. In 1948 he was at Lackland AFB.

Throughout his diamond career the sergeant was at first base and catching.

In 1953 he went to Germany and shifted from player to coach. His ability seemed to pay-off as his team won the USAF German District championship and was runner-up for the USAF intra-service title.

Since returning from overseas, Moore has spent his baseball life in coaching, scouting and playing. Shortly after arrival at Reese he umpired in the district American Legion state tournament at Lamesa and for the girls' district softball tournament.

The Reese team he will direct already has 23 candidates signed-up representing all groups and with backgrounds of semi-pro, professional and college play. Competition for every position seem assured.

Reese is enter in the Lubbock City Basball League which starts May 14 and ends July 21. Each member of the league will play two games a week, abiding by National Baseball Congress rules. Highlight of the season will be an all-star game July 4.

With the season's activity, Reese will be ready for Air Training Command competition when it comes.

BUZZER TESTED

A buzzer type warning signal operating off conventional power lines is presently undergoing tests to determine its value to replace the old air raid warden's wailing warning signal. Pentagon officials say the NEAR warning system may be applied to both home and military installations.

Volleyballers In ATC Meet

The Reese volleyball team continued competition toward an Air Training Command championship this week, boasting the most valuable player in competition.

At Perrin AFB last weekend Reese finished second in District A base level competition, losing to Perrin in the finals. Aviation Cadet Ahmad Fard of Iran, playing with Reese, was named most valuable player. He also was most valuable in the district and ATC squadron level play.

Reese gained its high play in the base level district play the hard way again. It dropped its first match to Sheppard AFB, 15-12 and 15-10, then fought its way to the finals through the loser's bracket in the double elimination tournament. In the ATC squadron level tourney, Reese climbed through the loser's bracket to the ATC championship.

Amarillo AFB was defeated, 15-5, 15-5. Lowry AFB was overcome, 15-0, 15-6. Sheppard, met the second time, was just barely upset, 16-14, 15-13, in the best match of competition for all teams.

Perrin AFB, squadron level champion, added the base level title in two tough contests with Reese. In the first match Reese was the winner, 15-4, 15-13, but in the finals it was about-face as Perrin took 15-9 and 15-11 games to wrap up the championship.

This weekend teams of Perrin, Reese and Sheppard are competing for the district in Air Training Command contests at Lackland AFB, with the ATC title at stake.

The 1962 edition of the Veterans Administration Fact Sheet "Federal Benefits for Veterans and Dependents," is now on sale at the Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C.

Little League Practice Set

Activities in the Reese Little League for 1962 will begin April 30 when try-outs are held on the diamond north of the government housing area.

Managers and coaches will look over the boys during practice and on May 10 and 11 will select players for each of the teams to function during the summer. Team practice will start May 14, with the first game scheduled for May 28.

There is still need for additional coaches, umpires, scorekeepers and others to assist with the league, Maj. Joseph B. Burdick, president, stated. Interested persons are asked to call Capt. J. R. Tanner at Extension 635 or TSgt. Allen McElroy, 216.

Tactical Air Command will activate two fighter wings during the next six months at MacDill AFB, Fla.

BOX LUNCH

Astronaut John Glenn's "picnic lunch" for his orbital flight in February consisted of 3,000 calories of beef mixed with vegetables, and six pounds of water. The food was concentrated in two tubes the size of toothpaste containers. The water was stored in two flat bottles fitted with drinking tubes.

Guerilla War? American Faces Option

WASHINGTON (A F N S) — America's guerilla war capability is an important option growing from our nuclear deterrent missiles and bombers, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has indicated in a recent speech.

Rhetorically asking what military policy we should adopt to meet a threat expressed in a Khrushchev speech, Mr. McNamara said: "The first requirement for such a policy is clearly to maintain our nuclear strike power as realistic, effective deterrent against Soviet initiation of major wars."

The Defense Department chief noted, however, that "We can no longer hope to have such a deterrent merely by maintaining a larger stockpile of nuclear weapons. Our weapons must be hardened, dispersed, and mobile so that they can survive an enemy attack, and they must be equipped with the most sophisticated devices necessary to penetrate enemy defenses."

Mr. McNamara was referring to the Khrushchev speech, Jan. 6, 1961, entitled "For New Victories of the World Communist Movement."

He pointed out the soviet leader talked of three kinds of wars in Khrushchev's words, "world wars, local wars, and liberation wars or popular uprisings."

"What Chairman Khrushchev describes as wars of liberation and popular uprisings, I prefer to describe as subversion and convert aggression," Mr. McNamara said, adding, "it feeds on conditions of poverty and unequal opportunity, and it distorts the legitimate aspirations of peoples just beginning to realize the human potential."

Incidentally, the new word to describe these wars coined here in Washington is "counterinsurgency" which replaces "limited" or "sub-limited."

Mr. McNamara pointed out that, while rejecting other forms of war, Chairman Khrushchev said outright that he recognizes "counter-insurgency" wars, that all Marxists will help in such uprisings.

Summer Schedules To Start Monday

Short sleeves and lightweight uniforms will be official clothing on the base next week as the summer schedule goes into effect. The summer schedule also will bring everyone to work a half hour earlier, with starting time at 7:30 a.m., instead of 8 a.m. Work also will end 30 minutes earlier each afternoon.

ECI Adds Courses On Police, Weapons

The Extension Course Institute has announced two additional courses, Law Enforcement and Corrections and Hand, Shoulder and Base Defense Weapons.

The first is a five-volume course of 123 hours and 41 credits, open to officers, 5 or 7 level airmen and civilians assigned to police duty. The latter course is one volume, carrying 39 hours and 13 points. It is open to anyone.
