Texas Historical Assn. plans 5-year dynamic program

A dynamic five-year program of historical Recordation, Appreciation, Marking, Preservation and Surveys was put into action by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee in its summer quarterly meeting.

'RAMPS,' as the plan is called, is designed to bring about an awareness of the unique history of Texas by visitors and by Texans themselves through state and local efforts.

"The 21-point program has grown out of the tremendous county approval of response to the new Historical Preservation Laws passed by the last Legislature and Gov. John Connally's plans to make tourism one of the great industries of Texas," said Committee President John Ben Shepperd, Odessa.

Workshops in 31 Texas centers will be set for members of County Historical Survey Committees, Commissioners Courts, City Councils and Chambers of Commerce, and tourist officials to put the RAMPS program into action.

A major goal of the RAMPS program is the erection of 5,000 Official Texas Historical Markers and Texas Historical Building Medallions within the next five years. These markers will cover Texas history from the archeological finds, old Spanish and French explorer routes and Indian Culture, thru the days of the Texas Ranger the cattle drives and the railroad movement, and famous Texans.

Included are markers giving the name, founding and history of each town and stream in the state with special emphasis on those with unusual names. Ghost or oddly named and promotional towns that never materialized will be marked.

Public meeting on water problem held Friday night

At the request of several of our citizens and business men, the City Council voted to call a public meeting at the high school auditorium last Friday night to discuss the Lake Clean-up project. Prior to this meeting the Council had voted to use a Bulldozer for three days if it seemed profitable.

These citizens wanted the Council to discuss taking donations to further the work. Some 60 to 70 were present and all voted for taking up donations. $1,216 was donated at this meeting. A committee of six persons was chosen: A. B. Larimore, Harrell Myers, N. D. Graham, Mrs. Horace Blanton, Mrs. Ruby Myers and Mrs. Orell Reynolds, to contact everyone for donations. At present total donations amount to $3,152.35.

A motion was made from the floor to add 50c to each water bill each month and put in a special account for future water expenses. Every one present voted for this motion. The Council voted for and approved the motion. The raise will be added to your August billing.

The Council wishes to thank each of you for your interest in our problem; your generous donations and cooperation. Without you very little could have been accomplished. If by chance you weren't contacted for a donation and wish to give one, see one on the committee or leave it at the Bank. A special thanks to the committee and a big thanks to all.

City Council.

Bus to serve Gra- ham, Newcastle and Bryson

Continental Trailways will alter its Dallas to Seymour routes to include Graham, Bryson and Newcastle, which was to become effective Wednesday, it has been announced.

Continental vice president Gene Brown told Guy Meecham, Graham chamber president, of the new service. A group of about 30 citizens of Graham, Newcastle and Jacksboro, along with Continental officials, sought approval for the change last week before the Texas Railroad Commission.

Graham and Newcastle has been without bus service for two months, since Farmers Bus Line of Breckenridge closed. Bryson has not had bus service for sometime.

H. B. Pope, Wichita Falls office manager of the lines, said the west bound bus would leave Dallas at 7:30 a. m., arriving in Fort Worth at 8:20; Jacksboro at 9:40; Bryson at 10:05; Graham at 10:23; Newcastle at 10:42; Olney at 10:57; Megargel at 11:13; and Seymour at 11:40.

The east bound bus will leave Seymour at 3:15 p. m., arriving in Megargel at 3:42; Olney at 3:57; Newcastle at 4:13; Graham at 4:30; Bryson at 4:50; Jacksboro at 5:05; Fort Worth at 6:55 and Dallas at 7:20.

All the stops are scheduled for only 1 or 2 minutes duration except at Jacksboro where there will be a 10 minute rest stop.

W. L. Conger of Dallas and Ralph Gill of Fort Worth, were visitors to the archives at Fort Belknap, Saturday, July 25. They did research at the archives, visited the cemeteries, and other parts of Young County. They are doing the biographies of "Young County's First Five Sheriff's."

More work being done on City Lake

For many years the question has been raised about cleaning out the east end of the city lake or a portion of it, that has filled in over the years.

This past week the City took action and are doing something about it while they can. They have employed Howard Daniels with his Bulldozing equipment and he has been moving dirt 24 hours a day. If given enough time, (we have been looking for it to rain every day) they will make room for another year's supply of water—and when we have these years of low rain fall—we won't have to worry about water.

We think this project is one of the most wise and finest things the City has done in a long time—and we commend them highly.

Jehovah delegates back from assembly

Local delegates from the Graham congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses returned home this week from Austin where they were in attendance with some 13,371 others at the group's "Fruitage of the Spirit" assembly.

According to Mr. Short presiding minister of the group, the entire program at Austin was designed to assist the Witnesses in their Bible education and Christian quality growth.

The Jehovah regular meeting schedule will be resumed at the local Kingdom Hall this week.

A Service Of The Thor Research Center For Better Farm Living

"Do you have any plans available for a plain, sturdy stool I can make in my own shop?" queries an Indiana reader. "My wife wants a stool that can be carried around the house for use in reaching upper shelves of cabinets and closets."

We have sent this reader our plan for a serviceable stool—a plan that is available without charge to other readers if you'll write to the Thor Research Center. The type of stool we have designed not only can serve as a step to reach upper shelves, but also can be used by little tykes as a television-viewing seat.

Sturdy stool popular with housewives and children. Free plans available.

Only materials needed are 31 inches of 1x10 finished pine, or the same length and width of 3/4-inch plywood, 26 inches of 1x4 fir, eight flathead screws, and glue. The pine or plywood will be used to make the top of the stool and the legs, while the fir will be used for cross-supports for top and legs.

You'll hasten the shaping, assembly, and finishing of the stool if you use portable electric tools—circular-blade and jig saws, drill, and sander. Cut the wood to length and taper the sides of the legs with the circular saw. Then use the jig saw to cut insert grooves for the cross-supports in the top of the legs and to shape the bottoms of the legs, ends of the cross-supports, and corners of the stool top. Sand all pieces smoothly with the power sander, then glue the cross-supports into the slots in the legs.

Pre-drill countersink holes into the cross-supports and legs, set the eight screws, and you're ready for finishing with paint or stain. You also can cover the top with floor covering or, if you plan the stool as a child's seat, you might cover the top with padding and upholstery.

(This stool plan is available, without charge, by writing Thor Research Center, Marengo, Ill., and asking for Project No. S191.)

FLYING HIGH—Detroit, Mich.—Eric Olsen's broad grin from his lofty helicopter perch symbolizes the over-the-top mark in General Motors Corp.'s 1964 Operation Security Savings Bond drive which saw 77,000 new names added to GM's Payroll Savings Plan. Nationwide, more than 337,000—nearly 75 percent—of the company's employees now are buying Savings Bonds through payroll deductions, setting a new peacetime record.

Young Eric spotted the Navy "Sea Bat" submarine hunter-killer helicopter and promptly climbed aboard after it had been flown in for the bond drive at the Detroit Diesel Engine Division where his dad, Bob Olsen, superintendent of manufacturing, buys bonds for both himself and Eric.

In the company-wide campaign, conducted in 144 plants and offices across the United States, 107 units attained or exceeded their Savings Bond goals. Sixteen units, including six in the Chevrolet Division, exceeded 90 per cent in the sign-up of employees in the Payroll Savings Plan. The Buick Motors Division set a new record by adding 5,369 new bond buyers, 81 per cent of them through the Payroll Savings

Gran Blane unit of the Fisher Body Division topped 93 per cent in the bond sign-up campaign. Spearheading the drive was GM President John F. Gordon, appointed by Treasury Secretary Dillon as chairman for the automotive industry on the U. S. Industrial Payroll Savings Committee. This committee, headed by Frank R. Milliken, President of the Kennecott Copper Corp., consists of 23 of the nation's business and industrial leaders. It has assumed responsibility for organizing industry-wide campaigns to sign up an additional one million new Savings Bond buyers.

IT'S IN THE GASOLINE!

NEW HIGH-ENERGY ENCO EXTRA GASOLINE BOOSTS POWER THREE WAYS:

1 Cleaning Power! Dirt can clog even a new carburetor in a few months of normal operation—causing hard starting and rough idling. Your very first tankful of New Enco Extra will start to clear away these deposits—in new engines or old—to improve power and mileage.

2 Firing Power! Spark plug and cylinder deposits can cause misfiring, pre-ignition and hot spots. New Enco Extra neutralizes these harmful deposits—to help your engine fire smoothly, to help preserve the power of new cars and restore lost power to many older cars.

3 Octane Power! New Enco Extra has the high octane that most cars now need for full smooth performance without knocking. You'll get all these extras with New Power-formula Enco Extra gasoline—it puts a tiger in your tank! Happy Motoring!

Prepared by American Foundation for Animal Health
An alarming increase in rabies among farm animals has been reported by authorities. There has been a 400 per cent increase in swine, a 300 per cent increase in sheep, and a one-third increase among cattle. The disease has spread to wild animals, and that has made it more difficult to control. Rabid wild animals bite the livestock, spread the disease, and the cycle continues.

Rabies is spread to farm livestock by the bites of wild animals, or by other rabid livestock.

What symptoms of rabies should a farmer watch for?

In cattle, rabies symptoms may include loss of appetite, a sudden stop in milk flow, restlessness and aggressiveness. The sick animal may bellow loudly, paw the ground, or butt violently. Among sheep the signs are much the same as in cattle. Hogs become very excitable, and may attack other animals... even their own pigs.

If the farmer even suspects that livestock have been bitten by a rabid animal he should have a veterinarian make a checkup as promptly as possible. If rabies vaccination is done soon enough after the animal has been bitten, it may be saved. If any unusual bite wounds appear in livestock, the veterinarian should check, also, because this is the way in which rabies is transmitted.

The farmer and his family should be careful about dealing with livestock showing aggressiveness or other such rabies symptoms. These animals may transmit rabies, by their bites.

Farm children should be warned, also, that any wild animal which appears "tame" may be rabid. Summing up... rabies in farm livestock is increasing sharply; the wise owner will watch for signs of it, and take prompt action if such signs appear.

Figuring all the expenses, ranging from maintenance and repairs to insurance and parking, the bureau of public roads reports that it costs the average owner of an average car $1.43 per gallon of gas to drive.
