Uncle DAN from WHISKEY CREEK

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Me and my old lady went to church Sunday morning and our preacher was in real good form. He told the congregation if we had many more hot nights he was coming up to the church and sleep. He said he knew he could sleep in the church at night on account of some of his congregation could even do it on Sunday mornings.

He also reported that chaos was at the bottom of all our troubles around the world. I don't like to argue with my preacher but he is dead wrong about that one. Chaos come to the top a long time ago.

And speaking of the church, my old lady is in a state of shock from losing her Circle's dues money. She says she knows the Lord will believe her and forgive her, but the members of the club never will—either believe it or forgive it. She allows as how she aims to replace the money if she has to sell one of my cows to do it. I don't know how me and my cows got mixed up in this thing but it just goes to show you, Mister Editor, how a feller has to pay for his old lady's mistakes. If they was willing to take my cow money, I'm going to ask for membership in the Circle. That'll hold 'em!

D W, Young was by for a spell the other day and he is mighty disturbed over the way them Congressmen covered up the Bobby Baker case. Natural, he blames it on the Democrats. But I think, Mr. Editor, its getting harder all the time fer politicians to cover up their dirt. The newspapers uses too many shovels on 'em. They was a old saying that a architect covers up his mistakes with ivy, the doctor covers his with a cement slab and a feller's wife covers hers with mayonnaise but them politicians was having less luck all the time in the covering business.

D. W. was also of the opinion that some of them young fellers in the Congress was talking too loud fer their age. He allowed as how they got what they was calling a "Young Turk" group in the Congress that was telling the people it was a "Youth versus Age" movement to git better legislation fer the country. D. W. said he could recollect onct when Senator Tom Connally told 'em it wasn't nothing but "Good Judgement versus Nonsense."

Farthermore, said D. W., he didn't aim to go rabbit hunting on a topic he didn't know nothing about, but he was of the opinion one of the great troubles in Washington is they ain't got a dirt farmer in the whole bunch. He said the U. S. Commissioner of Agriculture claimed to be a farmer but he doubted if he would qualify fer Judge in a Hog Show. D. W. was down in the dumps, Mister Editor.

Yours truly,
UNCLE DAN

Throckmorton again picked to win District 8-B

The Throckmorton Greyhounds will again win District 8-B and Region II championships, according to the sports writers. Matador, which is once again in Region II, could have something to say about it.

Class B should get more sports coverage this year than in the past. The new Harris rating system of Dallas has sold most of Texas newspapers on the importance of Class B football. Last year's State Champ was Matador, according to Harris. The first ratings should be out about September 1st and we will pass this information on to you.

A few of the schools you should see will be Throckmorton, Matador, St. Jo, Masonic Home, Meridian, Barber's Hill, Lockett, Wilson, Bronte, Robert Lee and Price.

Also this year the press service will select an All-State football team for Class B. This will be the first time in several years that Class B has been given any recognition on the State level.

Don't be surprised if Throckmorton or Matador are not first and second in the first Harris poll.

The Harris correspondent will vote like this in the first Harris poll:

1. Matador
2. Throckmorton
3. Sundown
4. St. Jo
5. Whiteright
6. Bangs
7. Meridian
8. Kerens
9. Chillicothe
10. Carlisle (Price) and Robert Lee (tie.)

You just have to go along with Sundown, Whiteright, Bangs, Kerens, Chillicothe, they'll come down from Class A with good records.

Bobcats start workout Monday

The Newcastle Bobcat football team will start Fall football workouts Monday, August 17th. Equipment will be checked out at 5 p. m., Monday afternoon, and the first workout will be at 7 p. m. Monday.

All boys interested in playing should be at the high school Friday, August 14, for physical examination. The time on Friday to report is 6 p. m.

Between 16 and 20 boys are expected to report for duty. Several regulars are back from last year's team.

Starters that will be back are: Ends, Jack Clayton and Terry Creel; Tackles, John Taack and Alton Beckham; Guard, Harold Whiteley; Center, Jim Mitchell; Backs, John Tomlinson, Donnie Hulse. Others that will be back are Mike Mitchell, Wayne Fields, Wayne Hankins, Jack Hoffman. Freshmen to report are: Don Casteel, Preston Pitts, Carlos Isham, Jackie Rhodes, Claud Kinser, Emmitt Reynolds, Johnny Beckham.

Bub Creel is still a doubtful player. He is a two year letterman that will be greatly missed at the strong guard position; Bub, as you know, had a little "run-in" with a horse this summer.

Because of the added week of workout the Bobcats will have just one workout a day the first week. This year Class B cannot start playing until the second week in September.

Watch for the red marks! Come in and renew now—before its too late.

FURNISHINGS Alone Do Not Make a Home

Landscaping, oriental rugs, family heirlooms, and comfortable furniture are desirable, and help. Electric refrigeration, automatic heat, air conditioning, scientific lighting—all make their contribution. But, are these enough?

Church Inspiration Is Necessary

Living makes a home. The Church offers ideals for living—Sacredness of marriage—Family comradeship—Reserves for days of trouble—Comfort in sorrow—Joy in wholesome living.

Let's get this straight—Furnishings alone do not make a home! Love and loyalty must also be there. Your Church inspires and helps you to make yours an ideal home.

"The congress of unborn children would undoubtedly choose homes where the family lived a joyous and comradely life together."

the cook stays COOL when she cooks ELECTRICALLY!

Why add heat to your kitchen unnecessarily? Switch to flameless electric cooking for a kitchen that stays degrees cooler. Since an electric range cooks without flame, no flow of air is needed through the oven to support combustion. Heat stays inside where it belongs. And flameless electric surface units transfer heat by direct contact with utensil bottoms. Heat goes into the utensils and the food, not into the kitchen air. See your electric range dealer soon and enjoy cooler, cleaner cooking the modern flameless way.

QUESTION: What makes the black stuff ooze up between the tiles of our kitchen floor? We put the tiles down ourselves and I'm wondering if we did something wrong. How can we eliminate the oozing?

ANSWER: There are two probable causes of the oozing between kitchen floor tiles—applying too much paste to the floor and not giving the paste sufficient time to set up. The only way to remedy the situation is to pull up the tile and start over again. Cleaning the tile doesn't get to the base of the problem and prevent continued oozing.

Sandpaper the bottom edge of a door without removing door from hinges.

In relaying the tile, try these suggestions: If a notched trowel leaves too much paste, try using a trowel without notches to spread a thinner layer of paste. Allow the paste to set up and, before laying the tile, test the paste by notching it with your finger. If the paste doesn't stick to your finger, it has set up properly for application of the tile.

QUESTION: The door to our kitchen rubs against the floor when it is fully opened and I'm afraid it will mark the floor if not corrected. Is there any solution without removing the door and planing its edge?

ANSWER: Place a sheet of coarse sandpaper on the floor at the place where the door rubs. Hold the sandpaper with one foot and swing the door back and forth across the sandpaper until there no longer is contact. That way, you'll remove just the right amount of the sticking door—and you won't have to remove the door from its hinges. If the door begins to rub again, the chances are the hinges aren't holding it in position properly, in which case you then will have to remove the door and reset the hinges.

The wheeled chariot made the Sumerian army invincible until the Syrians also adopted the device.

Prepared by American Foundation for Animal Health

American farmers have a special interest in the fact that the world's population is growing at the rate of about 50 million per year. This special interest, of course, lies in the ever-increasing demand there will be for food.

For instance, some authorities estimate that, by the year 2000, world requirements for meats and animal products will be 190 per cent higher than today.

Livestock disease control is going to be one of the notable ways in which we can meet these increased meat production needs. In fact, the current drive to eradicate hog cholera may point the way to drives against other diseases which are costing our farmers such a heavy toll of meat animals. In this cholera eradication effort, farmers and veterinarians are jointly meeting a challenge which may have far-reaching effects.

Thus far, fine progress is being made in the cholera eradication program. But, there is room for improvement in at least one phase of the drive—vaccination.

Here we have fallen behind. At least 75 per cent of the nation's swine herds need to be vaccinated to provide a shield against widespread outbreaks of cholera. However, this year, less than 50 per cent of our hog herds have been vaccinated.

Another important point—proper vaccination isn't just a routine procedure. Pigs need to be examined by a veterinarian, to make sure they are in proper condition to develop immunity. The right type of vaccine also needs to be determined. Then, and only then, is the veterinarian ready to vaccinate.

With the peak season for fall hog cholera outbreaks not far away, swine producers should mark their calendars to have pigs vaccinated in ample time to provide solid immunity against this No. 1 hog killer.

The present cholera eradication drive may well point the way to the future.
