Railroad Commission candidate visits Newcastle

State Rep. Paul B. Haring, 28-year old Goliad attorney who is a self styled underdog candidate for Railroad Commissioner was a visitor in Newcastle Wednesday evening of last week.

Haring said he would wage a blistering, if low budget campaign, and sharply criticized present commission practices in his announcement statement.

The emphasis of his campaign will be on the importance of the Railroad Commission to the people and economy of Texas," Haring said, "to let the people know the truth about the government in Austin and type of men who are running it."

Haring has been in general law practice at Goliad for the past year.

A couple of weeks ago we mentioned a few people who had killed a deer. We also stated that it had been reported that Clinton Reeves had killed a coon, but that it had not been verified as a fact. We can now verify that story. he killed one. Guess who got it, we did He is now in our refrigerator resting peacefully on his back with all four legs sticking straight up—and believe me, the old lady is raising such a fuss about it, that me or the coon has got to go, and the way the weather is acting up I'm afraid its going to be the poor old coon.

Rev. Jerden Davis, pastor of Newcastle Methodist Church, gave the invocation; welcome by Ted Clark of Graham; and response by D.

New guide lines on age proof for Social Security

Effective November 22, 1965, the social security administration is establishing new guide lines for age proof for entitlement to social security monthly benefits.

The claimant for benefits has, in the past, been required to present proof of age readily available, with certain exceptions of discrepant dates.

The new guide lines require that the BEST PROOF of age available be presented. The very best proof of age would be a church or public record made before the person's 5th birthday. Next best evidence of age is any other record established before the person's 11th birthday.

If the person cannot present proof of age which was recorded before his 11th birthday. The order of priority would be as close to age 11 as possible.

Areas to be considered for age proof would be public, school, or church records. Also census records, insurance policies, hospital birth records, physician's or midwife's birth records, Bible records, delayed birth certificates, marriage records and military records. Generally a person will be required to show that earlier records do not exist, by contact with the custodian of the records, before later documents can be used.

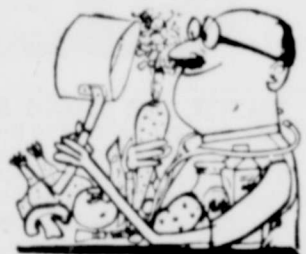

Small Grain Demonstration Plot

The Small Grain Variety Demonstration plot was seeded on the Woodrow Taack farm November 12th. Through the cooperation of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Newcastle FFA, and Young County Crops Sub Committee.

One hundred feed plots consisting of a grain drills width were planted to 12 wheat varieties, 13 oat varieties, 1 rye variety, and 4 barley varieties. Seeded rates were as follows: Woodrow Taack Farm in cooperation with the above mentioned agencies; Wheat, 3 pecks per Rye, 3 pecks per acre; Oats, 2 bushels per acre; Barley 1 per acre. One hundred pounds 16-48 0 was put down with the seed. Moisture conditions were adequate for 12 varieties of wheat, 13 varieties of oats, 1 of rye, and 4 varieties of barley.

Gene Lowe, Chairman of the Crop Sub Committee for the past two years had furnished the equipment and has been responsible for putting in the plot. The Newcastle FFA Chapter will be responsible for erecting signs designating each variety. They will also assist with other phases of demonstration work including harvesting next spring. The public is invited to visit the plot at any or all times to compare these varieties as to growth, diseases, insect resistance, and other factors that might benefit the small grain grower. Samples will be taken from each variety at harvest time, thrashed at the Chillicothe Experiment Station for yields to be determined.

Doctor in the Kitchen

by W. W. Bauer, M.D. Consultant, National Dairy Council

THE KITCHEN IS A HEALTH CENTER

Doctor in the kitchen? What's a doctor doing in the kitchen?

Kitchens are for homemakers — cooks; not doctors! Well, now, let's just see.

Kitchens are certainly for cooking and otherwise preparing food, aren't they? Well then, isn't food a basic essential for living, along with water and air? And isn't the right food, properly selected, important and indeed essential, for good health, vigor and fitness? I've always thought so.

So maybe a doctor in the kitchen might be of some use in helping the homemaker with her important job of feeding her family correctly, economically, and happily, and with the least wear and tear on herself. Not by telling her how to run her house. She knows about that. But in keeping her up to the minute in the fast-moving world of nutritional research.

New Knowledge

New knowledge is being developed all the time by thousands of nutritional and clinical research workers, and reported in more journals than the homemaker could possibly read. Wouldn't it be helpful to have a stand-by source of such information in your kitchen once a week?

So, may I look in?

Kitchens Also Dangerous

Kitchens, I regret to say, are also places where homemakers get hurt. They deal with sharp knives, jagged cans, hot utensils and liquids, whirling beaters and other electric appliances. Water or grease gets spilled on floors and causes falls. Escaping gas may explode; hot grease may start fires. Broken glassware may cause serious cuts. Perhaps the doctor's advice might be helpful in knowing what to do when such situations develop—or still better to keep them from developing. With your permission, madam?

Many Opinions

Many questions arise in the course of a week's meal planning and preparation. And over the bridge table, or at the laundromat, many opinions about food are expressed, some correct, some not.

There are, for example, homemakers who even wonder whether proteins and carbohydrates should be eaten at the same meal. Let's get the record straight. There is absolutely no reason for such concern. The notion that proteins and carbohydrates should not be eaten at the same meal arose from a dietary fad more than thirty years ago, and still pops up once in a while. Indeed, most foods naturally contain both of these nutrients.

Common Sense Nutrition

In nutrition, there are plenty of questions. Most people don't know the facts. For this reason, I hope you'll join the doctor in the kitchen next week, and for many more weeks to come. We'll talk common-sense nutrition for you and your family.

Good day — and good eating!

Dr DeWitt Reddick, director, Schools of Communication and Journalism, University of Texas, is author of the history of "Texas Oldest Business Institution" in this edition.

Other exclusive features in the Texas Almanac listed by editor Walter B. Moore include:

In fact, The Texas Almanac is one of the most comprehensive publications on facts about Texas, ever published. First freeze of the season

This vicinity received from a cold wave out of the arctic regions a light freeze Monday morning, the first of the season. The mercury dropped down to about 30.

Saturday morning a light frost was evident as well as Monday morning. We haven't had one of those snow white frosts to date. Sunday was another warm day. The low temperature was late in arriving, but it fell far short of being the latest. That honor belongs to 1939 when the first freeze was recorded on December 20.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Burnett of Plainview visited here the first of last week with Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Woollery.

S. G. McClintock of Graham dies

Funeral services for S. G. McClintock, 84-year old public accountant and a resident of Graham for 36 years were held at 2 p. m. Monday in the First Methodist Church of Graham.

Dr. D. L. McCree, pastor, officiated. Burial was in the family mausoleum in Pioneer Cemetery at Graham under direction of Lunn Funeral Home of Olney.

McClintock, a native of Harrieville, Pa., died last Friday night in a Houston hospital where he had gone for treatment of a lengthy illness. He married the former Miss Amy Yolton in 1906. She survives.

Other survivors include a sister in Pennsylvania.

The McClintocks were citizens of Newcastle for several years before moving to Graham. McClintock served as City Secretary during their stay in Newcastle. The many friends will regret to hear of his passing.

D. Cusenbary, Young county's long time county treasurer.

The well received program featured Rev John G. O'Rourke, Catholic Priest of Young and Throckmorton churches, with a most impressive talk on his historic pilgrimage to Rome. He was followed by Dr. Walter Speakman, psychiatrist and historian-genealogist from Wichita Falls, who gave an informative report on frontier medical records, including those in the area of forts Richardson, Belknap and Griffin.

Charles Sherfesse, engineer, geologist, and scholar, gave a paper on his Hyson Hittsen family lineage covering some 2,000 years. He also gave some very interesting facts about excavation expeditions in northern Italy where he had been a participant; also other places of excavation in places often referred to as the cradle of civilization. The three outstanding speakers were some of the finest ever heard at the fort.

Mr. Toni Turk, of Wichita Falls, was moderator for a genealogical workshop where specialists in research were consultants: Rev. O'Rourke, Ireland; Albert Wade Morris, Scotland; Turk, Germany; Dr. Speakman, England; Mrs. Luke Hodges, Colonial America.

About 100 attended the fall meeting of the Fort Belknap Genealogical Association, of which Dr. Kenneth F. Neighbours is president. A tape recording of the program was made for the archive files.
