First 1966 Wheat Crop Brought In Thursday

Election Saturday To Determine Two Races

Voters in the Democratic Party Second Primary will go to the polls Saturday to choose the party's candidates for one state and one local race in the general elections.

In the only state - wide race, the candidate for Attorney General will be selected. The candidates are Crawford Martin and Franklin Speers. In the first primary election, the two ran very close. Both have carried on vigorous campaigns for the post.

Ken Andrews of Graham and Charles Finnell of Holliday will be seeking the party nomination for State Representative, from this district. Both candidates have toured the district extensively during the campaign.

Voters in Newcastle will cast their ballots at the City Hall with the polls being open from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m.

All persons are urged to bring their poll receipts. Those who did not pay the poll tax must bring their receipt in order to vote.

First wheat of the 1966 season was brought to Olney Feed and Elevator last morning by R H Kunkel, who farms northeast of Megargel.

Kunkel said he cut the wheat late Wednesday afternoon from two-and-a-half acres. The 50 Bushels he brought in was Super Early Triumph that was planted in late October.

A native of the Megargel area, having the first wheat of the year is nothing new for Kunkel. This is the third time he has won the prize for the first lead in Olney. He won honors in 1959 and in 1962. He farms 270 acres of wheat and expects the crop to average between 18 and 20 bushels to the acre.

A check of elevators showed that the wheat harvest is off to a slow start as late as noon Wednesday. Only a small portion of the area wheat is ripe enough or dry enough to cut.

Most fields have spots that are still green. This is thought to have been caused by the heavy late rains that fell the last of April and first parts of May. The rains caused the wheat to sucker and start new growths.

Averages are down from the past on the wheat that has been brought in with between 9 and 18 bushel average being reported. However, one grain man said that the averages will increase as some of the later wheat is excellent.

The harvest is expected to go at full steam by late this week or early next week.

Final 4-H Horse Club Playday Winners Told

The final Young County 4 - H Horse Club points playday for the year was held Saturday, reports L. M. McCarroll, County Agent. This event, conducted in the Charlie Hipp Rodeo Arena at Graham, had 4 - H members and their horses competing.

Sonny and Randy tied for High Performance. A flip of the coin determined Randy winner of the Champion Rosette and Sonny the Reserve Rosette. Charlie Hipp made the presentations.

County Agent's Corner

By
L. M. McCARROLL

Wheat harvest for the Young County area is well under way. Generally speaking, the early wheat, such as the triumphs, did not respond as well to the late rains. As a result, yields are below the later maturing wheats this year.

N. W. Regier of Eliasville, is credited with having delivered the first load of wheat to the Graham Mill and Elevator. Clarence Taylor local manager, reports the Regier wheat tested 60 with 14.26% of moisture. The price is much more encouraging than the opening market last year. $1.60 as compared with $1.28 per bushel.

If you are growing more than one variety of wheat oats or barley on your farm, I am most anxious to know the difference in yields. The same is true if you have put out different ratios and amounts of fertilizers on these small grains. Where it will not be possible to harvest these fields separately, a sample should be collected from each variety or from each area where a different amount of fertilizer was applied. A suggested way to collect a sample is 16 feet of drill row space.

Better yet, take two 8 ft. samples in different parts of the field or area and combine two for a sample. Tag each bundle as to variety, fertilizer rate, etc. Place each sample separately in a paper bag, to prevent shattering. I will deliver these samples to the Agriculture Experiment Station at Chillicothe to be thrashed and yields determined.

It will be very simple to then tell how many dollars better one variety is as compared to another on your farm. Likewise we can figure the return received for each dollar spent on your fertilizers where a check or unfertilized spot is available, or in determining yield differences for different amounts of fertilizers.

If additional information is needed please visit, call or write the County Agents office. All Young County demonstrations and experiments will be placed in a booklet form and made available to the public at the end of the year.

WHEAT HARVEST — Combines, like the one above, will begin dotting the fields around Olney in the next week to ten days. Shown cutting this year's wheat crop is W. R.

Wages of Olney. The grain, according to reports, is still green in spots, but should ripen rapidly.

We have a few copies of these result books of last years available. If you would care for one.

If you sprayed your pecans during the designated time, with any one of the recommended insecticides, you can look for a greater yield at harvest time. There are other factors that also influence the production including insect and disease control, moisture, variety and fertilizers.

Feeding a lawn throughout the summer is of vital importance for a healthy well kept lawn. A complete fertilizer is recommended in the early spring, followed with straight Nitrogen every 8 weeks. Three pounds of ammonium Nitrate (33.5%N) or 5 pounds of ammonium Sulfate (21 % N) for every 1000 feet of lawn should be sufficient. Water thoroughly. Mow properly and most of the weed problems will be taken care of. B-203 Home Lawns has some valuable information concerning all phases of Lawn care. The tomato fruit worm, the corn ear worm or the cotton boll worm is one in the same destructive insects, depending on where found.

The home gardener is concerned with tomatoes and corn only. And the the damage of the larvae (worm). The adult is a moth and does not feed. Leaflet No. 367 "The Tomato Fruit Worm - How to Control It" and Leaflet No. 411 "The Corn Earworm in Sweet Corn - How to Control It" should be obtained from the county agents office, for complete instructions.

Any school system is fortunate to have a teacher that is dedicated to the students welfare. It seems all too often most teachers are too busy to any longer give extra time and attention to individual problems. Ed Harvill, Graham High School chemistry teacher, gives freely of his time to help a boy or girl. He is a dedicated church member and community worker.

Harvill is also a well qualified horse judge. He devoted about 5 hours of his time Saturday in judging the Young County 4 - H Horse Club Halter classes and performance events - - OUR THANKS TO ED, FOR A JOB WELL DONE!

Seven Young County 4 - H Club members and the agents attended District 3 4 - H Leadership Lab this week at Lake Brownwood. Delegates were Shirley Kunkel and Randy Clertihew from Olney, Susan Clover of Jean, Connie Wilkinson of Newcastle, Ricky Shepard and Larry Joyce of Graham. Sharon McCarroll attended and assisted with the Recreation Workshop.

4 - H members interested in the 4 - H Lamp Contest should remember July 1 as the date for this event. Contact the Texas Electric Service Company in Graham or Community Public Service Company in Olney or the County Agents office for complete information.

Twenty Five Young County 4 - H members and leaders and the agents will attend State 4-H Roundup at College Station. These teams and individuals are to be congratulated for having won district and the right to represent District 3 at State.

Farmers Home Loans Made To 23,000

The current war on the Nation's rural poverty is receiving strong support from Farmers Home Administration economic opportunity loans that are increasing earning of more than 23,000 low-income rural families and members of 350 cooperatives, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman reported today.

Close to $44.5 million advanced by this USDA agency since the program got underway in January 1965 is being used by low-income farmers to improve farming operations, develop small businesses and finance cooperatives, and by rural nonfarm families to develop small businesses.

Secretary Freeman pointed out that a 1965 progress survey showed that during the program's first year:

1. The average gross income of rural families using Economic Opportunity Loans to finance nonagricultural enterprises went from $3,100 to $5,900.

2. Loans to farm families for agricultural purposes helped them boost their average gross income from $2,500 to $3,400.

3. Cooperatives, most of which were formed to buy farm equipment, showed they had earned an average annual income of $1,120.

4. Benefit to the average cooperative member was about $300.

5. The average borrower in 1965 paid almost 8 percent more on his loan than was due.

Seventy percent of borrowers receiving Economic Opportunity Loans during 1965 were 40 or more years of age.

Nearly 60 per cent had less than $1,500 available for meeting family living expenses.

Loans for financing farming operations were used mainly to purchase needed livestock and to improve or buy land, while loans to finance small business enterprises were used for purchasing machinery or equipment for the enterprises.

The rural loan programs are included in the U. S. Office of Economic Opportunity's general responsibility for the War on Poverty. The programs are carried out locally through the 1,600 Farmers Home Administration offices.

Families who "need a little help", who want to make a little more money farming, start a little business or do a better job with the one they now have who have been unable to get that small amount of credit vitally necessary to give them a boost they have long been looking for may now be able to get some help, which was recently made available through the Economic Opportunity act of 1964 according to Chester L. Sinclair, County Supervisor for the Young, Jack and Stephens County unit.

The government now makes small loans to people in rural towns and farm areas who have little or no income, who can't get a loan any where else and who will be able to earn more through the loan and repay their debt to the government. These loans are called Opportunity Loans.

Remember not everyone can get a loan. You must be able to use the loan money to raise your income. The loan must be repaid.

Anyone interested in an opportunity loan is encouraged to contact the County Supervisor of the Farmer Home Administration in Graham, Breckenridge or Jacksboro, for more information. We will try to work out a plan so they can use an opportunity loan to make more money. We will also explain other government credit services that prospective applicants may be able to use. You may not qualify for an opportunity loan, but you may be able to qualify for some other type loan.

Cattle Should Be Grub Checked

Beef cattle producers often fail to notice the hidden damage inflicted by cattle grubs, according to county agent, L. M. McCarroll.

The agent says, that these losses began when heflies attach their eggs to cattle and continue through the period when the grubs appear as lumps in the back.

The agent goes on to explain that grub losses can be reduced with timely application of any one of several recommended systemic insecticides. These insecticides are called systemics because they are distributed inside the body of the animal and carried to the site where the grubs occur.

McCarroll reports that only one application is necessary, and that timing is all important. He says, that early application of systemic insecticides are considerably safer and more effective than later ones. He believes that greatest efficiency may be obtained when the application of recommended insecticides are made between May 1 and September 1 or as soon as possible after heel fly activity ceases.

For further information concerning cattle grub control and the use of recommended systemic insecticides, please visit or call the County Agents office.

Roach Selected For Education Program

Michael N. Roach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Roach of Olney, has been selected as one of 40 students to serve in the Institute of International Education summer program in South Viet Nam.

Roach is a graduate student and teaching fellow at North Texas State University in Denton. He was chosen from among 100 recommended students who went to Washington, D. C. for interviews.

Roach will join the over 800 Americans in South Viet Nam, who work under the auspices of the United States Agency for International Development. The Agency sponsors a self-help type program to raise the standard of living in underdeveloped countries.

AID sponsors such programs as sanitation, refugee assistance, communication and road building. Roach believes he will be working with farm and ranch type materials.

Viet Nam has no native cattle, Roach said, and the AID is attempting to introduce breeds that can survive in the country's climate. With the introduction of cattle, the fish and rice diet of the Vietnamese people can be supplemented with meat.

During the monsoon season, the fields are too wet to cultivate, and it is during those months that AID personnel will work with the farmers.

Roach is a teaching fellow in the NTSU psychology in college teaching of art.

He is a graduate of Olney High School and received a BS and MED from North Texas. He taught high school for two years in Richardson.

Roach will leave for Viet Nam on June 12 and will return to the United States in September.

Bagworm Check Urged By Agent

A close check for Bagworm infestations should be made on all cedar-like plants, according to L. M. McCarroll.

Larvae feed on foliage after hatching in late spring or early summer. Young worm spins a Silken sac and attaches bits of leaves as it feeds. The worm carries the bag wherever it goes. The full-grown worm has a bag 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 inches long.

The wingless female crawls out and dies after laying eggs inside the bag.

Insecticides should be applied early while worms are small. Chemical controls are ineffective when worms are full grown.

Clown To Be Featured In Annual Rodeo Parade

Flossie the Clown has made plans to appear in the Olney Rodeo Parade. Flossie, with her funny face and gay red and white polkadot outfit, will delight the children and amuse the adults as the parade rolls down Main Street.

Flossie is actually Bille Jo Croker of Wichita Falls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Russell of Olney. Mrs. Croker was a member of Clowns, Inc., in Corpus Christi and has done clown work for several charity events.

"In a parade," she says, "I try to establish contact with the children along the sidelines." She plans to start at the front of the parade and slowly work toward the rear in order to cover the entire parade area.

Mrs. Croker loves to clown with the bands, and plans to do some of that in the Olney parade.

"Clowns, Inc.," she said, "is an organization of clowns. Both men and women are members, and the organization has chapters in every state. Many clowns do their work on a professional basis."

To become a member of Clowns, Inc., one must first design a face and pick a name, Mrs.

Croker explained. Both the name and the face must be passed on by the local Board of Directors of Clowns, Inc.

Then, she added, the work really begins. The would-be clown must work out a routine. The routine and the clown and his technique must be passed on by three members of Clowns, Inc., before membership is granted.

"We stress originality and genuine cleverness," Mrs. Croker explained. Members are also taught the do's and don'ts of clowning. They rehearse skits and routines and perform at many professional and charity functions.

Flossie the Clown will appear in the Rodeo Parade in Olney on June 16. She will be joined by a number of floats and bands.

"We have a large number of float entries," said Mrs. A. R. Pearcy, float chairman. "The parade this year should be one of the best ever."

Snow Division of Aero - Commander, the Olney High School FHA, the Methodist Youth Fellowship, the Rotary Club, the Amity Club, the Green Thumb Garden Club, and the Hamilton Hospital Auxiliary have all entered floats or cars.

Don Alexander, sports, news and weather caster at a Wichita Falls television station, will be judge for the floats and decorated cars.

D. R. Criswell and Bob Myers are Rodeo Parade Chairmen.

The Kid's Day Parade, scheduled for June 17, is headed by Mrs. Pearcy and by Myers.

Agent Gives Ideas On Home Building

Planning to build a house? If so, you will want to see a new publication from Texas A&M University, says County Agent L. M. McCarroll.

The new bulletin has plans for 28 smaller homes. They vary in sizes up to 1,400 square feet.

According to the new bulletin, there are several considerations when selecting a house plan. They are:

Space. The plan should provide for the three basic zones of living: work, recreation and sleeping areas.

Traffic Pattern. All traffic lanes should be controlled so that the normal activities in any room are not disturbed by persons passing through that room.

Equipment Space. Plan for today's modern equipment, appliances and utilities.

Flexibility. Select a house plan that is flexible enough to be changed easily to fit the family's changing needs.

Economy. The problem is not to build the cheapest house possible, but to get the most livable house possible.

Outdoor Planning. Select the house plan that will become a unit with the surroundings. Add beauty and utility by means of lawns, service drive, play areas and other landscaping areas.

The new bulletin, MP-761, is now available in McCarroll's Office.

Beauty . . . in our Chapel

Clubhouse Plans Returned To Architect

Clubhouse building committee of the Olney Recreation Center met late last week to examine sketches presented by the architect for the proposed clubhouse at the new facility.
 Roy Strong, president of the organization, said the sketches were modified and sent back to the architect along with some ideas proposed by members of the committee. Strong said the architect stated that additional plans and specifications would be ready for the committee to examine in about two weeks.
 The membership drive to obtain additional members for the center got underway late last week under the direction of Luther May. Charter memberships are still available in the center and persons wishing to obtain a membership should contact May, Bill Burris, Al Myers or Strong.
 The board of directors will meet Tuesday morning at 7 at the No-D-Lay for their regular bi-monthly meeting.

Congratulations To Fort Belknap JUNIOR HISTORIANS

Now that stories have been written, photographs made, and the formal presentation has been accomplished. It is evident that a small group of youthful historians scored when they worked to secure an historical item, LADY BIRD JOHNSON'S GOWN, for the Fort Belknap museum; also when they secured a case for the proper display of the dress and its companion historical memorabilia.

The new acquisition is a boost to the growing collection at the Fort and CONGRATULATIONS are in order and we salute these juniors;

McCarroll said the quota should be received from the District within the next few days as to the number allowed from the County. The agent explained county quotas are determined from County Horse Club enrollments. The County Committee will then meet and determine those eligible to compete at District based on points accumulated during the 4 designated playdays.

County Bond Sales Lag In First Quarter

April Series E and H Savings Bonds sales increased 9% both in Texas and throughout the Nation compared to April 1965, C. E. Penix, Chairman of the Young County Savings Bonds Committee, announced today.

Sales in Young County during the first four months of 1966 totaled $41,874.00 which represents 19% of the 1966 sales goal. April sales in the county were $9,120.00.

Series E and H Bond sales in Texas during the month of April totaled $13,464,565.

"A $10,000 increase in the recent purchase limit for U. S. Savings Bonds will further boost sales in Young county during 1966. Buyers can now double annual purchase of E as the Treasury Department has raised the recent limitation from $10,000 to $20,000 (face amount). H Bonds formerly had a calendar limit of $20,000 and this has been increased to $30,000. These new high limitations were set in view of the increasingly important role that U. S. Savings Bonds are playing in helping contain inflationary pressures and provide sound management of the public debt," chairman Penix said.
