Sullivan nomination likely to be ok'd

Pro abortion stance worries some lawmakers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-abortion lawmakers are concerned about the views of President Bush's choice to head the Department of Health and Human Services but concede they have little hope of blocking the nomination. Instead, they are pinning their hopes on assurances by Bush transition officials that other top-level HHS jobs will go to anti-abortion activists.

"I'm assured all will be well in the end, but it's growing curiously and curiously by the day," said Sen. Gordon Humphrey, R-N.H., a strong opponent of abortion who is still waiting to meet face-to-face with HHS Secretary-designate Louis Sullivan.

Humphrey said he is concerned that some senators who have met with Sullivan in advance of his confirmation hearing next week report that the nominee personally supports the Supreme Court decision that legalized abortion — a view different from that of Bush, who says he wants the decision reversed.

Humphrey said he was not comforted by Sullivan's pledge that as a member of the Bush Cabinet he would back the abortion policies of the president, but that he sees little likelihood the nomination will be blocked.

"Let's put it plainly: Dr. Sullivan is the only black nominee to the Cabinet. It would be an embarrassment to the president, an embarrassment to the Republican Party, if the nomination encountered any trouble and we don't want that," Humphrey said.

"We want to make the best of the situation and that's what we've been striving to do by encouraging the White House to surround Sullivan with people experienced in government and who would actively support the president on abortion," he said.

The Washington Post, Washington Times and New York Times reported in today's editions that Bush, in a bid to placate anti-abortion groups, would name Constance Horner as undersecretary of HHS. Horner, director of the Office of Personnel Management under President Reagan, is considered acceptable by anti-abortion lawmakers.

Sullivan declined to comment on the developments Tuesday.

Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, a conservative who has worked with Humphrey to extract the White House promise that top-level HHS jobs would go to anti-abortion activists, downplayed the controversy. He said he interprets Sullivan's support of the Supreme Court's 1973 Roe vs. Wade decision to be simply a pledge to support current law.

Bhakta case...

132nd jurors find bonding firm owes partial repayment

By DONNY BROWN
SDN Managing Editor

A 132nd District Court jury Tuesday found that a contract between Bharat N. Bhakta and Mercury Bonding of Snyder and Sweetwater was "breached" by the bonding firm and, as a result, awarded a partial return of monies to Bhakta.

In April of 1985, Bhakta, charged with murder in connection with the choking death of his wife, paid Mercury $6,000 in cash in exchange for the company posting a $40,000 bond in his behalf.

The local jury, following two days of testimony, ordered that $3,750 of this amount be returned to Bhakta. The $6,000 amount originally paid by him represented 15 percent of the bond amount set by the court.

Testimony indicated that in late July of 1985, the bonding company revoked Bhakta's bond, prompting his re-arrest and his incarceration until he went to trial in August.

Bhakta, 34, was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter on Aug. 23, 1985 and sentenced to 18 years in prison.

The reasons cited for the bond's revocation was Bhakta leaving the U.S. to visit his native country of India prior to his jury trial.

Mercury officials claim they informed Bhakta that his leaving Scurry County would be grounds for them to revoke his bond.

Testimony showed, however, that these instructions were never shown to Bhakta "in writing" and his attorney, Pat Simek of Lubbock, argued that his client never understood this prohibition.

Testimony also indicated that, despite his visit to India, Bhakta did appear at all court hearings he was specifically ordered to attend.

This appearance at all court hearings was another stipulation of his being bonded by Mercury.

He returned from India in time to appear at a July 23 hearing in 132nd District Court. Mercury officials first heard of his being out of country in early July and, when they learned of his return, revoked his bond.

The local representative for Mercury, Jesse Browning, testified Monday that although Bhakta was known to be in India, the court never ordered forfeiture of the $40,000 bond pledged by his company.

Mercury was represented during the two-day trial by Jim Clark of Snyder.

The six-man, six-woman jury returned its verdict at 4:15 p.m. after beginning deliberations following the noon lunch break Tuesday.

Bhakta was charged following the April 25, 1985 choking death of his 25-year-old wife, Kumud.

District Judge Gene Dulaney presided at this week's case.

Freezing rainfall likely by morning

From Local, Wire Reports

Freezing rain is in the Scurry County forecast for early Thursday morning while West Texans to the north have a forecast for snow.

The National Weather Service says the rest of the state will continue to have wet, but unseasonably warm weather.

Forecasts are calling for mostly cloudy skies over the state through Wednesday night with a chance of scattered showers and thunderstorms statewide. There is a chance of rain mixed with snow over the Panhandle, changing to all snow during the night.

For the Snyder area, Thursday is expected to be mostly cloudy with a 20 percent chance of freezing rain, changing to rain showers later in the morning.

The high reading Thursday here should be in the lower 40s with winds out of the northeast from 10 to 15 mph.

On Thursday, the snow should continue in the Panhandle, changing back to a snow-rain mix over the South Plains and to rain across the Permian Basin and Concho Valley.

All sections of West Texas are expected to be much colder Wednesday night and Thursday.

The Panhandle region can expect snow accumulations of 1 to 3 inches.

Showers and thunderstorms were reported over portions of North Texas and West Texas and in parts of Southeast Texas early Wednesday.

Light rain fell in the San Antonio area and a dense fog advisory was in effect for the Permian Basin.

The extended forecast for West Texas calls for considerable cloudiness in the northern regions. Elsewhere, it is expected to be partly cloudy with a slight chance of showers Friday and Saturday.

Temperatures should become warmer Saturday, then cooler on Sunday.

For the Snyder area, highs into the weekend are expected to be in the 50s on Friday, the 60s on Saturday and back into the 50s on Sunday.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 50s and 60s, ranging from the 30s and 40s over the Panhandle and Trans Pecos to the 70s in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Extremes ranged from 28 at Marfa in the Davis Mountains of Southwest Texas to 71 at both Brownsville and McAllen.

Other early morning temperatures around the state included 36 at Amarillo, 58 at Wichita Falls, 63 at Waco, 66 at Austin and San Antonio, 65 at Houston, 69 at Corpus Christi, 54 at San Angelo, 52 at Lubbock, 55 at Midland and 36 at El Paso.

Livestock competition to open with pig show

The first judging event for the Scurry County Junior Livestock Show will begin at 5 p.m. Wednesday in the county coliseum annex.

An estimated 200 hogs will be viewed Wednesday by Kenneth Dudenseng, ag instructor at Sweetwater High School.

Weigh-ins and classifications for the annual show began Tuesday afternoon.

On Thursday, the lamb show will begin at 6 p.m. and, on Friday, the steer show at 7 p.m.

Judging competitions will be followed Saturday at noon with the steak lunch for prospective buyers and the annual premium sale.

Public invited as well to writer's appearance

Approximately 100 seats will be available at both a morning and an afternoon appearance of "Hank the Cowdog" author John R. Erickson here Feb. 1 and these are now on sale to the general public on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Erickson will make two presentations to elementary students that day, appearances offered free to the students and sponsored by the Council for Educational Excellence, the academic booster club for the local school system.

Tickets for the remaining seats will be priced at $3 and may be reserved by calling the high school at either 573-0132 or 573-0133.

The West Texas author will also be at the Scurry County Library for an afternoon reception and book autographing session open to the public.

In Worsham Auditorium, he will appear at 9:30 a.m. and at 1:30 p.m. The appearance at the library will be at 4 p.m.

During the two shows at the high school, Erickson will present music and stories. Accompanying him will be his guitarist, "Trev" Trevis.

Elementary youth in grades K-3 will attend the morning show and those in grades 4-6 the afternoon appearance.

A native of Hereford, Erickson started his own publishing company, Maverick Books, after 15 years of unsuccessfully trying to interest New York publishers.

The SDN Column

The feller on Deep Creek says, "A cheapskate is one who promises her the moon and stars and takes her to a planetarium."

Mark Musselman, an installment loan officer at Olney Savings in Snyder, is surrounded by women.

In the Snyder office, Mark is the only male employee and often his cheerful disposition gets fully tested.

The Snyder office is in new facilities, and Mark can tell you that some bugs still need to be worked out. A case in point is the lock on the men's room door.

One afternoon, the female employees heard a knock coming from the direction of the men's room. At first it was a faint knock that grew louder, and then it seemed to be a clear case of panic.

Musselman was locked inside and couldn't get out. The gals in the office decided a little fun or "get even" was in order. He had been working on signature cards, so they passed several under the door so he could continue his productivity.

After more than 45 minutes, Musselman was finally set free, but the female laughter continued for several days. Mark's dilemma even was reported in the firm's newsletter which is distributed company-wide. Company policy is to not use photographs, but they made an exception in this case.

Office laughs remind us of the story about the office manager whose normal good nature was being severely strained. He noticed that productivity was being hampered by tardiness of his people returning from the lunch hour. He asked for employee input to solve the problem. He posted a sign by the time clock asking, "What should we do to insure that every person is back at their desk when the bell rings?"

Many suggestions were offered, but the most innovative was this: "Let the last man in ring the bell."

In Brief

Finance report

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush's choice for defense secretary, former Sen. John Tower, earned more than $650,000 in consulting and director fees last year and more than $50,000 for speaking engagements, according to his financial disclosure report.

Confirmation hearings for Tower begin today before the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Jailbreak

STEPHENVILLE, Texas (AP) — There was a jailbreak at the new $2.5 million Erath County Jail, but Sheriff David Coffee and his deputies weren't upset.

They were just relieved to get out.

It seems that Coffee and some of his deputies got accidentally locked inside a hallway between cells at the jail Monday and had to stage a breakout to get free.

Gang rape

SAN DIEGO, Texas (AP) — An ambulance took the victim of an alleged kidnapping and gang rape away from the Duval County Courthouse this morning as the second day of prosecution testimony was about to begin.

The woman "has fallen ill so we're going to take other witnesses out of order until the last witness (the woman) can return," District Judge Gilberto Hinojosa told jurors this morning.

With grief, unsolved crimes are part of Bundy legacy

SEATTLE (AP) — After enduring more than a decade of Ted Bundy's smug silence and denials, relatives of his acknowledged victims found a chilling relief in his 11th-hour admission of a life of rape and murder.

"The only thing I can say is thank God, it's finally over," said

Vivian Rancourt of LaConner, whose 18-year-old daughter, Susan, disappeared April 17, 1974. In the days before his execution Tuesday, Bundy confessed to her slaying.

But an investigator who heard some of Bundy's confessions said there were crimes the serial killer wouldn't talk about and secrets he took with him to Florida's electric chair.

The 42-year-old Bundy, who was convicted of murdering three people in Florida, admitted killing 23 other women after a decade of denial, but he left a legacy of frustration for those who suspect he killed many more.

No one knows the enormity of Bundy's crimes. FBI officials said years ago he might be implicated in 36 slayings throughout the West. But Bundy's confessions included deaths to which he had not previously been linked, such as two in Idaho, and he did not give specifics on at least 10 others in which he was a suspect.

"I don't think we have even scratched the surface with Bundy," Sheriff Pete Hayward of Salt Lake County, Utah, said after the execution. "Somewhere there is someone Bundy has told the whole story to."

Bundy confessed to eight Utah killings, but because he identified only two victims there, authorities said many cases may never be solved.

Investigators said Bundy would not answer when asked about his connection to two Utah deaths in which he is a suspect, including the October 1974 strangulation and beating death of Laura Anne Aime, 17, of Salem, Utah.

But there was no doubt Tuesday in the mind of her mother that Bundy killed her child.

"He needed to die very badly," Shirlene Aime said, but she conceded the last minutes of waiting for his execution were "horrible."

"It made me feel guilty," she said. "Despite all the things he did to my daughter and all the other girls, I started to think, 'How low am I, waiting for a man to die?'"

Her long-sought relief at Bundy's death was slow to come, she said.

"I still have this empty feeling. I'm sick to my stomach. It's an uptight, horrible feeling. But it is a relief to know he's gone, and he won't do it again."

Bundy was executed for the 1978 rape and murder of 12-year-old Kimberly Leach of Lake City, Fla. He also was convicted of killing two women in 1978 at a Florida State University sorority house. His gush of confessions in the four days before his electrocution did not include those deaths.

Robert Keppel, an investigator for the Washington state attorney general, said the law student dropout from Tacoma was unwilling in interviews to talk about some cases that gave him "painful memories," and balked at confessing to deaths before 1973.

"That seemed to be where he drew the line," said Keppel, who spent about two hours during the weekend extracting confessions from a shaken, tearful Bundy.

Majority Votes to Disconnect Solicitations Made by Phone

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest your columns about telephone solicitation, and agree it is sometimes a nuisance. But I am chairman of the fund-raising committee for a local symphony orchestra, and we could never survive without telephone solicitations. We write letters first, but most people ignore letters, so we resort to telephoning — and we do not give up until we have made five telephone calls.

I do not like to call people, and I can understand their irritation if they are interrupted in lovemaking or some other pleasantry. However, lovemaking can be resumed later — a dead symphony orchestra is not easily revived, so I continue to call.

Abby, any advice that can free me from having to call people to beg for money is welcome.

LARS B. LOFGREN, M.D.,
TALENT, ORE.

DEAR DR. LOFGREN: Believe me to understand your problem, but I still maintain that the telephone is in the home for the convenience of the person who pays for it.

Read on, please:

DEAR ABBY: The problems created by aggressive telephone solicitation can be more than merely disturbing.

Not long ago, my wife, who is undergoing chemotherapy treatments for cancer, received a phone call from a local cemetery, telling her that she had "won" a cemetery lot worth $500!

She replied, "Thank you, but I am not ready to die yet!" She was visibly upset and wondered aloud if perhaps the American Cancer Society might have given them her name. Of course they had not, but it is apparent that some controls over telephoning people to solicit business are desperately needed.

ANGRY IN MANSFIELD, OHIO

DEAR ANGRY: My stand on telephone solicitation for any reason, which includes consumer researchers who want only to ask busy homemakers what kind of soap or cleanser they use, met with some angry responses from professional researchers. For example:

DEAR ABBY: You said, "Market

researchers should find another way to gather information. Some people sleep at odd hours; others may be ill and don't want to be disturbed."

Abby, that response was the most uniformed response I have ever read in my adult life. Maybe it's time you considered stepping down to let a more rational, knowledgeable person give advice to the public.

Dr. George Gallup Sr. years ago reported that the most genuine responses are recorded in an anonymous telephone interview.

National companies need to know what consumers really think. Their survival depends on quality information. Our client list of manufacturers, retailers, banks and dentists are most interested in gathering information so they can better fulfill consumer needs. To say that market researchers should find a better way to gather information reflects your total ignorance of what telephone research really does.

I, too, grew up in Iowa, and it is obvious that you have lost the common-sense perspective associated with Midwesterners.

By the way, we get many more positive comments than negative ones from people our company has interviewed. It is with much sadness that I read your poorly thought-out column.

PROFESSIONAL RESEARCHER,
CHARLESTON, S.C.

DEAR RESEARCHER: Sorry. I stand by my original opinion: Telephoning the general public either to sell something or to gather information for whatever purpose is an invasion of their privacy and should be abolished. Furthermore, my mail is running 100-to-1 in favor of my view. So, sue me.

"How to Write Letters for All Occasions" provides sample letters of congratulations, thank-yous, condolences, resumes and business letters — even how to write a love letter! It tells you how to properly address clergymen, government officials, dignitaries, widows and others. To order, send your name and address, plus check or money order for $2.89 ($3.39 in Canada) to: Abby's Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

You may place greater emphasis in the year ahead on acquiring knowledge pertaining to self-improvement. Worthwhile outlets will be found to utilize what you learn.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) At the last minute today, you might make a switch in your plans that could be less effective for you than your original ideas. Be emphatic, not impulsive. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you to understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Someone you've been depending upon to be of assistance to you in a current involvement might suddenly withdraw the offer owing to circumstances over which this person has no control.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Where your career is concerned today it's best not to use an intermediary to relay information for you to others, especially if what you have to say is important.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you are having work or service performed for you today, be very explicit regarding what you want done. Don't give the assignee too much liberty to alter your instructions.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) There is a possibility that everything might not go as smoothly as anticipated today. Be prepared for the unexpected and ready to move with shifting circumstances.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Someone you are presently involved with will lose respect for you if you renege on your promises or commitments. Don't agree to anything to which you know you can't comply.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Even though an associate may do something you dislike today, don't take it upon yourself to embarrass this person through criticism in front of others. Have your say in private.

VRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Outside pressures and the urgency to get things done quickly might lead you to take some chances in a business situation that you normally wouldn't. Be careful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In order to be successful and effective today, you must be consistent. If you worked out a good game plan, don't deviate from it when you meet a little resistance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) When it comes to keeping secrets today, it might not be your strong suit. It's not that you'll be a gossip, it's just that you could be too loose with your words.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Before accepting a business suggestion offered by a friend today, quiz this person thoroughly to be sure that it is feasible from personal experience.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your possibilities for fulfilling your material objectives look encouraging today. However, there is a chance you might do something which does not serve your best interests and will lessen your gains.

Malden is nervous about traveling

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Actor Karl Malden says he's more nervous about traveling since filming a television drama about a cruise ship hijacked by terrorists.

"You think twice before you say you want to travel. And I think that's terrible," he said Tuesday. "In this business I'm in you travel an awful lot."

The 72-year-old Malden, who flew to Australia to film the TV movie "The Hijacking of the Achille Lauro," has been acting more than 50 years.

The movie about the 1985 hijacking of an Italian cruise ship is to be broadcast Feb. 13 on NBC.

Malden is in Nashville to teach two weeks of acting classes at Vanderbilt University.

Ten suffragists were arrested in 1917 when they picketed the White House.

There's no excuse

By James Jacoby

"Damn!" exclaimed South. "I knew I should have bid a slam." So he won the ace of spades, played a heart to dummy's ace and ruffed a heart. Then he played the club ace and ruffed a club. Next he ruffed another heart with the seven of diamonds. Surprise! West overruffed with the nine of diamonds and returned a diamond. Now the 12 tricks that South thought were in the bag dwindled to 10.

Declarer's responsibility is to ensure making his contract if possible. Here unlucky distribution could always have wrecked his chances. What if the second heart was overruffed, or even the second club when that suit was first ruffed in dummy? But once declarer scored one ruff with a low trump in his hand and another with a low trump in dummy, he had no excuse for going set. All of dummy's remaining hearts can be ruffed with the A-K-J of diamonds, and declarer's third and fourth clubs with dummy's Q-10 of diamonds. Then the last club can be ruffed with dummy's diamond eight. Of course the defenders will eventually come in with their trump nine, but declarer will still have 11 tricks and his contract.

James Jacoby's books "Jacoby on Bridge" and "Jacoby on Card Games" (written with his father, the late Oswald Jacoby) are now available at bookstores. Both are published by Pharus Books.

Request is spoken in verse

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — When lawyers asked a second time for permission to file a not-so-brief legal brief that would break the state court's 50-page limit, the attorney on the opposite side responded in terse verse.

As Deputy state Attorney General Asher Rubin told the 1st District Court of Appeals:

"Now plaintiffs come in once again. They claim that it's outrageous, that lawyers of their stature should be cuffed to 50 pages.

"We urge the court to rule once more that 50 is the limit, for otherwise their brief will be too long to even skim it."

"The issues can be analyzed in pages less than 50, if plaintiffs could with thought and words endeavor to be thrifty."

Rubin said Tuesday. "I couldn't resist."

He said he's taking a more serious approach to the merits of the case, a lawsuit by low-income patients seeking to require that the state reimburse counties for their care.

DENNIS THE MENACE

DR. GOTT

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Cystitis has been plaguing me for about a year. Is there any new therapy available?

DEAR READER: Cystitis (bladder infection) has a variety of causes. In general, the disease appears in two forms.

Acute cystitis begins suddenly with painful, frequent urination. The urine often contains blood. Acute cystitis almost always affects women, is usually related to sexual intercourse and is caused by bacterial infection. The diagnosis is established by a urine culture, a test in which a sterile urine sample is obtained. The bacteria in the urine are identified and tested against an array of antibiotics. In this manner, the most effective antibiotic is chosen.

Treatment is almost always successful. To prevent re-infection, women can carry out two simple procedures.

First, women should wipe themselves from the front after urinating, from the back after defecating. This technique will stop intestinal bacteria from entering the bladder opening and causing cystitis.

Second, women should empty their bladders after sexual relations. This will prevent residual bladder-urine from becoming infected and will wash out the urethra (bladder opening).

Acute cystitis, although common, is readily treated and prevented.

On the other hand, chronic cystitis is more of a problem. This debilitating disease has an unknown cause and is associated with urinary frequency and abdominal pain. As many as 90,000 women may suffer from chronic interstitial cystitis. However, experts estimate that the actual number of undiagnosed cases may be five times this number. Treatment with antibiotics is inappropriate. However, many cases respond to periodic distension of the bladder (with water through a tube) under anesthesia. Women with chronic cystitis should be under the care of urologists, specialists in diseases of the urinary tract.

If you have had repeated symptoms of cystitis for a year, you need to know whether this is due to a series of attacks of acute cystitis or whether you have chronic cystitis. A urologist can help you.

For more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Bladder and Urinary Tract Infections." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm five weeks pregnant. I've been taking 500 milligrams of caffeine daily to boost my energy. As soon as I found out I was expecting, I stopped but am wondering if it will have any effect on the baby.

DEAR READER: To my knowledge, the caffeine you took should have no effect on the baby. Alcohol and nicotine are far more damaging to a developing fetus.

However, caffeine is a drug and you should tell your obstetrician you were using it.

Stallone set for 'Rocky 5'

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP) — Sylvester Stallone, well-rested from his 1985 triumph over a Russian hulk in "Rocky IV," will write, direct and star in "Rocky V," MGM announced.

The latest chapter in the heroic fisticuffs saga of Rocky Balboa is scheduled to begin filming this fall for release in the summer of 1990, the studio said Tuesday.

Stallone announced Monday he had signed a five-picture deal with Carolco Pictures.

Cisneros won't seek another term

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Calling it a matter of honor, Mayor Henry Cisneros has vowed to remain out of the mayor's race that would have pitted him against a good friend who is a former mayor as well as many political and financial supporters.

After voters approved a Cisneros-led campaign to increase the sales tax one-half cent for construction of a $174 million domed stadium, Cisneros indicated he might reconsider an earlier decision not to seek a fourth term.

But on Tuesday, Cisneros issued a statement reaffirming his September vow not to run again.

"The issue I confront in considering whether or not to seek re-election is not a political calculation nor is it about personal decisions nor is it a matter of my hopes for San Antonio," Cisneros said in the statement.

"It is not about whether I would win nor is it about whether I see work that I want to complete. It is about my word. It is a matter of honor."

Former mayor Lila Cockrell announced her candidacy after Cisneros — considered one of the leading Hispanic politicians and among the country's top mayors — said last fall he would not seek a fourth term.

A race between Cisneros and Mrs. Cockrell threatened to divide the business and political communities loyal to both.

"Certainly the part that I least desired was the role that I think I would have had to run against a good friend, but I would have felt a responsibility to remain in the race," Mrs. Cockrell said Tuesday.

"I've already pledged that I will continue the major thrust that he would leave possibly unfinished. We agreed on all major issues and I feel that a lot of the groundwork for the current economic development and growth of our city was laid when I was mayor," said Mrs. Cockrell, who held the post from 1975 to 1981.

Ret. Brig. Gen. Robert McDermott, a close friend of both Cisneros and Mrs. Cockrell, said he talked to Cisneros last fall before deciding to become an honorary chairman of Mrs. Cockrell's campaign.

McDermott, chairman and chief executive officer of United Services Automobile Association, said it's time Cisneros stepped out of the mayor's job, which pays less than $5,000 per year.

"I think it would be good for Henry to take a couple of years off, a kind of sabbatical to financially get his house in order and to take care of his children," McDermott said.

Cisneros' marital difficulties could have become an issue in the race. In October, about a month after he said he would not seek re-election, published reports linked him romantically to former fund-raiser Linda Medlar.

Cisneros cited personal reasons when he first said he wouldn't seek a fourth term.

Officials question officer, others

AUSTIN (AP) — Authorities have questioned an Austin police officer and a former officer about their possible involvement in the 1982 slaying of a topless dancer who was sexually assaulted, strangled and shot in the head, the Austin American-Statesman reported today.

The newspaper quoted sources as saying that the former officer is viewed by investigators as a suspect in the murder, while the police officer still in the police department is thought of as a prospective witness.

Ruth Elizabeth Bettis, 19, was an aspiring concert pianist who told friends she wanted to use the money she earned as a topless dancer at Sugar's, a restaurant and bar, to pay for her music studies. She was last seen Nov. 24, 1982, when she finished working at the bar.

Her body was found the next day near a low water crossing in a rural area outside Austin. She was nude from the waist down and an autopsy revealed she had been sexually assaulted, strangled and shot once over the right eye with a small-caliber gun. A toxicology test showed that she had used cocaine the night of her death.

Sources said the investigation into the murder of Ms. Bettis had stalled until investigators with the federal Drug Enforcement Administration were told that the two men, both in the Austin Police Department when the slaying occurred, were at the club where the woman worked and may have left with her the night she was killed, the sources said.

Sources also noted that the two men had never voluntarily told anyone that they were at the club that night despite the lengthy investigation into the slaying.

The new information was convincing enough to compel investigators to take the unprecedented step of calling a police officer and former police officer in for questioning and to view one of them as a suspect, sources said.

Miller scores well on test

George G. Miller, M.D., son of Frank and Carol Miller of Snyder, has recently received notification from the American Board of Internal Medicine that he scored in the 80th percentile on the board examination given in September of 1988.

The examination is three days in duration and covers questions regarding all medical specialties. Over 9,000 applicants sat for the exam and only 56 percent of these individuals received a passing score.

Dr. Miller is currently practicing in Beaumont, where he is fulfilling an obligation with the National Health Service. He serves as medical director of the Sisters of Charity Health Care Clinic and retains an appointment to the faculty of the Department of Internal Medicine at the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston (UTMB). Upon completion of his service in Beaumont, Dr. Miller plans to pursue subspecialty training in cardiology, the academic location has yet to be determined.

He is presently interviewing at various locations throughout the country, including University of Pennsylvania, Harvard University, Georgetown University, UCLA, and Baylor University.

He is a 1976 graduate of Snyder High School and a 1980 cum laude graduate of Texas A&M University. His medical degree was obtained from the University of Texas Medical School at Houston, and internship and training completed at the University of Florida in 1987.

Snyder Tigers rally for win over Sweetwater club, 52-45

SWEETWATER -- Coach Larry Scott's Tigers moved into a two-way tie for third place in the District 4-4A basketball standings with a come-from-behind, 52-45 victory over Sweetwater here Tuesday night.

The win improved the Tigers to 4-3 in district play left them and tied with Pecos for third place. Pecos, which lost to eighth-ranked Andrews 89-65 on Tuesday, will host Snyder this Friday night.

Snyder opened a 7-0 lead on the Mustangs, only to see momentum go the other way. Sweetwater countered with the next eight points, taking an 8-7 lead.

The hosts eventually led by as many as 11 points in the third quarter, but Snyder went strong to its inside game to rally and tie the game at 37-37 heading into the final period.

"We finally came to life," said Coach Scott. "We played good defense, got some steals and started taking the ball inside and getting a high percentage shot each time."

Sweetwater suffered through foul problems at the post position, which helped fuel the Tiger comeback.

Snyder went in front to stay midway through the fourth period, and led by six or seven points the rest of the game.

Hayward Clay scored 12 of his 17 points in the second half and Jeff Franklin bagged 14 of his 18 at the same time. Snyder, which scored 30 second-half points, limited the Mustangs to only 16.

Tracy Braziel added 10 for the Tigers, who were without DeWayne Clinkinbeard. Clinkinbeard, responding slowly to treatment after he suffered an ankle injury earlier in the season, was to see a physician Wednesday.

With an edge inside nonetheless, Snyder out-rebounded the hosts 42 to 30. Clay reached double-doubles in that regard, pulling down 17 rebounds to go with his 17 points.

Chris Taylor scored 16 as the only Sweetwater player in double figures. Tim Taylor popped for nine and Louis Rose added eight while the Mustangs fell to 9-14 overall and 3-4 in district play.

Snyder improved to 11-9 for the season.

Earlier Tuesday, Edward Rios and Carlton Sanders scored 11 points each for Snyder junior varsity, which defeated Sweetwater underclassmen 46-37. Sweetwater got 10 points each from Willie Norman and Robbie Smith.

Snyder teams play in Pecos at 6 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Friday.

SHS girls push 7th-ranked Sweetwater 'Stangs to limit

Sweetwater's Nikki Heath scored a breakaway layup and a free throw with less than a minute on the clock to propel the highly-touted Mustang ladies to a 51-48 victory over Snyder here Tuesday.

For Snyder's Lady Tigers, it was a case of having the seventh-ranked Mustangs corralled, but not being able to shut the gate.

Some late turnovers hurt the Tigers, who had a three-point lead with about three minutes to play in the District 4-4A ballgame.

"I think late in the game after we came from behind, we were trying to force it. When you have the ball and the lead, that's something you don't want to do. But I think the girls played a great game," said Snyder Lady Tigers coach Ken Housden.

There wasn't much question whether the Lady Tigers played well or not. They pushed the Mustangs to the limit, and almost pulled out a victory. Trailing by nine points midway through the third quarter, Snyder rallied. The Lady Tigers outscored the visitors nine to two until the buzzer, to trail just 39-37 heading into the final period. Melody Pickering led the late charge with four points.

Snyder eventually took a brief lead when Evette Housden put up a 3-point shot with about five and a half minutes to play, 42-41.

Fouls sent Pickering to the bench to stay with 5:20 to go but neither team was able to help themselves from the free throw line. The two teams missed the front end of five bonus situations (Snyder two; Sweetwater three) from the six-minute mark until Anne Osborn connected for Snyder with 3:27 to play. Osborn's charity shots put the Tigers in front 46-43, after Pam McNary and Dessie Ware had scored a bucket for each team.

A missed free throw shot by Heath gave Snyder the ball with (see SHS GIRLS, page 7)

Gaylord bid to get Rangers is rejected by the AL owners

CHICAGO (AP) - American League owners have rejected Edward L. Gaylord's attempt to purchase majority interest in the Texas Rangers, the team's owner, Eddie Chiles, said.

Gaylord owns about one-third of the Rangers' stock and wants to buy an additional 58 percent. Baseball owners reportedly have opposed Gaylord's bid because they do not want another team owned by a broadcasting company.

"I have been informed by the Major League Baseball ownership committee this afternoon that they have reached a recommendation that the transaction between myself and Mr. Gaylord not be approved in accordance with the guidelines for the transfer of controlling interest that were adopted by baseball in 1988," Chiles said Tuesday.

A number of other investors, including former Rangers executive Larry Schmittou, have expressed interest in buying the franchise. A son of President Bush also has expressed interest.

Jerry Reinsdorf, president of the Chicago White Sox and chairman of baseball's ownership committee, said after the meeting that a decision had been made but refused to say what it was.

"The committee plans to advise all members of both leagues and the Gaylord interests promptly about the details of the recommendation and agreed that it would be inappropriate to comment on the recommendation when all parties concerned have not been advised," Reinsdorf said in a statement.

The change in ownership needed 11 votes in the AL and seven votes in the National League.

Gaylord is president of Oklahoma Publishing Co., the parent company for Gaylord Broadcasting Co., which owns Fort Worth's KTVT-TV.

KTVT broadcasts Rangers games.

Hershiser named top athlete

NEW YORK (AP) - Pitcher Orel Hershiser, continuing his award-winning ways, says being named The Associated Press Male Athlete of the Year "caps a year of fantastic awards."

The Los Angeles Dodgers' right-hander received nearly twice as many votes as his World Series rival, Jose Canseco of the Oakland Athletics, and became the first non-Olympian to win the honor in an Olympic year since Denny McLain in 1968.

"It is a tremendous honor to be recognized with an award which covers all sports," Hershiser said.

After last season's heroics, Hershiser was a unanimous choice as the National League Cy Young winner, was named Most Valuable Player in the NL playoffs and MVP of the Dodgers' World Series victory.

Schottenheimer takes over for Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - Marty Schottenheimer doesn't talk like the coach of a football team that has won only eight games in two years.

"I'm not interested in rebuilding programs," Schottenheimer said Tuesday when he was introduced as head coach of the Kansas City Chiefs. "My principal reason for selecting this opportunity was I believe we can win, and win very quickly. Our goal for 1989 is to become the champions of the National Football League."

Schottenheimer resigned as Cleveland Browns' coach at the end of the season in a dispute with owner Art Modell. He signed a four-year contract for undisclosed terms with the Chiefs, a powerhouse in the 1960s who have had six head coaches and only one playoff appearance since 1971.

"I come to Kansas City with great expectations," Schottenheimer said. "As I look back on the history of this franchise, while I know the past several years there has been some low times, I prefer to look back to the great tradition of Kansas City Chiefs football. There were a number of factors that entered into my decision, the least of which was not, certainly, the opportunity to once again approach with this current football team the great tradition that is the past of the Kansas City Chiefs."

Schottenheimer, 45, took the Browns to the playoffs in each of his four full seasons as coach and his 32-15 regular season record the past three years was best in the AFC, trailing only the Chicago Bears and San Francisco 49ers among all NFL teams. The Browns lost to the Denver Broncos in the 1986 and 1987 AFC championship games.

three minutes left but the Tigers turned it over and LaDawn Puckett knotted the score at 46-46 on a 3-point goal. It became 48-48 after Heath and Snyder's Holly Fuller swapped baskets. A missed 3-pointer from Puckett was rebounded by Snyder. The Lady Tigers worked the clock, but Heath managed to steal the ball and raced for a go-ahead layup with 43 seconds left.

Snyder missed on a would-be tying bucket, then Heath was fouled and scored one free throw with 15 ticks on the clock. A final shot from Snyder missed the mark.

"The girls gave a real good effort, all of them," said Housden, whose Tigers fell to 9-12 for the season and 3-6 in district play.

"I'm proud of the way they played. It's just tough to come that close and lose."

Osborn scored 14 points and Pickering 12 for the Tigers. Evette Housden popped for 10 and led on the boards with seven rebounds. Fuller added eight points.

Sweetwater, now 20-4 and 9-0 in the 4-4A, got 20 points from Heath. Puckett scored nine and McNary added eight.

Earlier in the evening, Snyder defeated the Mustangs 52-29 in junior varsity action. Robbie Braziel and Liz Greathouse led Snyder with 14 points each. Icy Jennings bagged 12 for Sweetwater.

Next action for Snyder teams will be Friday, when they entertain Pecos in the high school gym.

Bradshaw picked for Hall of Fame

CANTON, Ohio (AP) - Terry Bradshaw said he was certain that somewhere, Art Rooney, the late owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers, was smiling.

"Art Rooney is in heaven looking down, saying, 'My boys! My boys! I told you you'd make it,'" Bradshaw said Tuesday after he and a Steelers teammate, Mel Blount, were named to the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Blount and Bradshaw, mainstays of the Steelers teams that won an unprecedented four Super Bowl championships in the 1970s, were joined by two other members of teams that were dominant - offensive tackle Art Shell of the Oakland Raiders and defensive back Willie Wood of the Green Bay Packers.

"You've got representatives of the best teams of the '60s and '70s," Bradshaw said. "It speaks well for what athletes are taught. Athletes are told to win and they are judged on how many games they win. It's not personal accomplishments or statistics that matter most. America loves winners."

Bradshaw and Blount each gained entry in their first year of eligibility. It was Shell's second try and Wood's 13th.

Blount, a graduate of Southern University, led the NFL in interceptions in 1975 with 11 and had 57 for his career, seventh all-time, for 911 yards. He also recovered 13 fumbles, returning two for touchdowns. The 6-foot-3, 205-pound third-round draft pick played in six conference title games, four Super Bowls and five Pro Bowls.

Bradshaw, a 6-foot-3, 210-pounder from Louisiana Tech, was the first player chosen in the 1970 NFL draft. He completed 2,025 of 3,901 passes for 27,989 yards and 212 touchdowns and ran for 32 scores. Bradshaw, MVP of the 1979 and 1980 Super Bowls, holds Super Bowl records with 932 yards passing and nine touchdown passes.

He played in six AFC chamampionship games and four Super Bowls, in addition to two Pro Bowls.

Wood spent 12 seasons as a defensive back with the Packers, who won five NFL titles and the first two Super Bowls, in 1967 and 1968. He also played in seven Pro Bowls. During his career, he had 48 interceptions for 699 yards, returning two for touchdowns.

Shell played offensive tackle for the Raiders from 1968-1982, participating in eight AFL or AFC title games and two Super Bowls.

Shell, 42, an assistant coach with the Los Angeles Raiders, spent all of his 15 pro seasons with the Raiders after being picked in the third round out of Maryland-Eastern Shore. He played in eight Pro Bowls and started 23 postseason games, including eight AFL-AFC championships and the 1977 and 1981 Super Bowls.

Shell, Wood, Blount and Bradshaw will be enshrined Aug. 5.

Lendl defeats John McEnroe

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) - Ivan Lendl destroyed John McEnroe's title dream with a straight-set victory today in the quarterfinals of the $2.4 million Australian Open tennis championship.

"I played very well, but he played better," McEnroe said.

Lendl crashed a remarkable 40 passing shots past the American to win 7-6 (7-0), 6-2, 7-6 (7-2) and earn a meeting in the semifinals with 11th-seeded Thomas Muster of Austria.

Muster gained the semis for the first time in a Grand Slam event when two-time champion Stefan Edberg of Sweden was forced to default, with a mysterious and painful back injury. Edberg suffered the injury during his fourth-round victory over Australian Pat Cash and said it would keep him out of action for at least two weeks.

Election of the first woman Episcopal bishop approved

BOSTON (AP) — The election of the first woman bishop of the Episcopal Church has been approved over some adamant objections, but church officials say they don't expect the misgivings to develop into a schism.

Tuesday's mail brought the 60th ballot required to give the Rev. Barbara C. Harris approval from a majority of the 118 Episcopal bishops around the nation, said the Rev. James Solheim, spokesman for the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts.

Those votes ratified the Sept. 24 election of Harris by the Boston diocese. The selection of Harris, a former public relations executive who is black and was once divorced, sent tremors through world Anglicanism.

When she is consecrated Feb. 11 in Boston, Harris will become the first woman bishop elected by a 2.5 million-member church that believes its leaders to be direct successors of Christ's apostles.

"This is the first time in the history of our church that the full breadth of ministry is coming into focus," Bishop David Johnson said in a statement Tuesday.

Presiding Bishop Edmond Browning, who heads the church, said the consecration would be "momentous" and "a time of great celebration."

Supporters of Harris have said she is qualified for the job and her election will broaden the church's outreach.

The Rev. James Lewis, director of social ministry for the Diocese of North Carolina, has said opposition to her election reflected a tradition of the church hierarchy being "a white gentleman's club."

But critics have said the 58-year-old Harris is too liberal in her political views, or unqualified because of her lack of a degree from a college or seminary. Some have been concerned by her divorce, while church conservatives have opposed her election simply because she is a woman.

Bartender returns bag with nearly $10,000 in it

DALLAS (AP) — Bartenders sometimes hear some wild stories, but this time it was the barkeep who raised eyebrows for retrieving a night deposit bag from his restaurant's parking lot.

Co-workers at Tia's Tex-Mex and an armored truck company that dropped the bag think it's amazing that Bryan Crelly would return $10,000 in cash.

But Crelly didn't think he was doing anything out of the ordinary.

"It was a real surprise," Crelly told the Associated Press. "I was sort of in shock for a while."

The 25-year-old Crelly of suburban Farmers Branch showed up for work about 11:30 a.m. Monday only to learn he wasn't needed. When he walked out to his car, he saw a locked, zippered deposit bag lying in the parking lot.

A bank deposit slip on the outside of the bag bore the name of another Dallas restaurant and the content amount: $9,856.42.

"I knew exactly what it was," said Crelly, who has worked at Tia's for 3½ years and is responsible for closing the restaurant and gathering the night's receipts for deposit.

He said the armored truck courier the restaurant recently began using apparently dropped the bag when it was making a pickup at Tia's.

"I think he just opened up the door and threw in one and the other fell out," said Crelly.

He took the bag back in to his manager, Joe Loyd, who called the courier service and the other restaurant.

"A lot of people here at work are saying (that) I'm a 'good guy,'" Crelly told the Dallas Morning News. "Sort of sarcastically — like I should have kept it."

"I knew I could not have lived with that," he said. "It wouldn't have been right."

Crelly said the other restaurant and the courier service congratulated him. He declined to identify the institutions.

"They said some thing about a cash reward, but I won't know how much until Wednesday," Crelly said of the armored truck company. The restaurant representative told Crelly's boss he would write a letter to Tia's corporate office lauding Crelly's efforts.

"I think it's incredible," Loyd told the newspaper of Crelly's actions. "I'm very proud of him. His honesty speaks for itself with what he did today. A lot of people would not have turned the money in."

The bartender said it didn't occur to him to keep the money.

"It was too late by the time I thought about it," he said. "When I got home, it hit me. I thought, 'Geez, that was $10,000.'"

Crelly said he took some ribbing from co-workers, but knows he did the right thing.

"I'm feeling like a hero," Crelly told the AP. "There's been a bunch of calls this morning — mostly newspapers and stuff asking about it, but some are from people telling me what a nice thing it was to do."

Workers rescue trapped puppy louder.

As a last resort, the crew turned on a pump, putting a blast of water through the hose. A second blast was called for, then a third. Then there was a cheer.

Huebner had his hands in the pipe and suddenly they were full of wet, shivering puppy.

Someone produced a towel, and Baby Bear was wrapped briefly in the arms of Krystina, Adolph and Krystal.

"I think he'll make it," Huebner told the children. "We're going to take him to the hospital for a while, and then we'll bring him back to you. We'll warm him up and put him on some fluids. He's a little hypothermic."

"Give the dog a bath," somebody called out. "That's me you're smelling," Huebner responded.

Public Works crews assured apartment manager Betsy Lowe they would fill the holes and repair the broken sewer lines. She said she would take care of the landscaping.

Baby Bear was later reported warmed up and walking around at Nottingham Animal Clinic.

Five faulty MX missiles found

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force removed the 10-warhead payload from five MX missiles late last year, several months after an accident in which a missile came loose and fell in its underground silo, a published report says.

The service is still trying to decide how to repair the five missiles, which account for 10 percent of the nation's MX force, The Washington Post reported today.

Despite taking the warheads off five missiles, the service still claimed last month that the MX had reached "full operational capability" on Dec. 30.

The decision to remove the warheads followed an incident last June in Wyoming. According to the newspaper, one of the missiles became "unglued" from its underground launch canister.

The missile fell six inches to a foot and had to undergo extensive repairs, the Post said, quoting unnamed Air Force officials.

An Air Force investigating panel concluded that the missile was one of a batch of five which had production problems, the Post said.

Air Force officials responded to the report by ordering removal of the 10-warhead package atop each of the five suspect missiles, according to the newspaper.

The Air Force has been authorized to build 50 of the missiles and deploy them in underground silos in Wyoming and Nebraska. The weapon will join the Minuteman as the core of the nation's land-based nuclear missile deterrent force.

FBI: Bundy killed 50 or more persons

STARKE, Fla. (AP) — Hours before his execution, Ted Bundy coolly traced his origins as a serial killer, describing how boyhood glimpses of violent pornography became "an addiction" that grew until fantasy exploded into reality.

The 42-year-old law school dropout, whose bizarre mixture of intelligence, charm and homicidal bloodlust was the subject of five books and a TV movie, also warned before his execution Tuesday that there were others like himself.

"There are loose in the towns and their communities people like me today whose dangerous impulses are being fueled day in, day out, by violence in the media ... particularly sexual violence," Bundy said in a videotaped interview Monday.

Bundy, who after a decade of denial confessed to murdering at least 23 young women since the mid-1970s, said he deserved his punishment. His execution in the electric chair at Florida State Prison elicited cheers from more than 100 people who stood in a field across from the penitentiary.

"I don't want to die, I'm not going to kid you. ... (but) I deserve, certainly, the most extreme punishment society has. I think society deserves to be protected from me and from others like me," Bundy said in the interview with James Dobson, a religious broadcaster and psychologist.

He said between sobs he hoped the interview would spur society to protect itself from the widespread influence of pornography, TV violence, and X-rated movies.

Although he said he felt remorse for the sex-related murders, which authorities believe could total 50 or more nationwide, Bundy said, "There is no way in the world that killing me is going to restore those beautiful children to their parents."

"I don't want to die, I'm not going to kid you. ... (but) I deserve, certainly, the most extreme punishment society has. I think society deserves to be protected from me and from others like me," Bundy said in the interview with James Dobson, a religious broadcaster and psychologist.

He said between sobs he hoped the interview would spur society to protect itself from the widespread influence of pornography, TV violence, and X-rated movies.

Although he said he felt remorse for the sex-related murders, which authorities believe could total 50 or more nationwide, Bundy said, "There is no way in the world that killing me is going to restore those beautiful children to their parents."

Detectives in Washington, Idaho, Colorado and Utah have said in the past week that Bundy has confessed to 23 killings there but that he did not provide names for all of the victims. But an FBI agent gave a higher number in a story published today.

The Miami Herald reported that FBI agent Bill Hagmeier told Florida prosecutor Jerry Blair that Bundy's confessions closed the books on 13 killings in Washington, Utah and Colorado; provided information that may never be confirmed on 14 more cases in Washington, Utah, Idaho, California, Vermont and Pennsylvania, and touched on at least 20 more slayings in various states dating back to 1969.

Added to the three Florida killings of which Bundy was convicted, this would put the number of victims to Bundy to at least 50, all girls or young women.

Hagmeier, a specialist on serial killers who interviewed Bundy last weekend, could not immediately be reached for comment today. He checked out of his Starke motel this morning to return to his Virginia headquarters.

But Blair confirmed today that Hagmeier had given him those rough figures.

Including the Florida killings, Blair said, "there were 30, based on Bundy's statements, that he appeared to be clearly linked ... and perhaps up to another 20 where he was a suspect or a probable, I think, is the terminology he used."

"I don't know that it's far off from the figures everybody has bandied about anyway," Blair said today. "Those are the figures I've heard for many years. I don't think we'll ever know exactly how many."

Handcuffed and sitting at a table across from Dobson, Bundy alternately sobbed and smiled during the 29-minute interview. He was dressed in the peach-colored, short-sleeved shirt worn by Death Row inmates.

He appeared to ponder each question carefully, sometimes pausing at length before answering articulately.

Dobson, who has a daily radio program heard on 1,200 radio stations, asked about the rape and murder of 12-year-old Kimberly Leach, for which Bundy was executed.

"What did you feel after that?" Dobson asked.

Bundy held his hands to his face, closed his eyes and thought for a long time before responding: "I can't talk about that right now ... It's too painful ... I can't begin to understand the pain that the parents of these children (felt).

"I don't ask them to forgive me. I'm not asking for it. That kind of forgiveness is of God."

He emphasized he didn't blame pornography for his actions and took full responsibility. But he said hard-core pornography, fueled by alcohol, "guided and shaped" what he did.

"I have lived in prison for a long time now, and I've met a lot of men who were motivated to violence just like me. And without exception, every one of them was deeply involved in pornography," he said.

Claiming he was "essentially a normal person" who grew up in a good home, Bundy said:

Board member won't resign post

AUSTIN (AP) — A State Board of Insurance member says he has no plans to resign in light of mismanagement allegations against the agency, despite speculation by Gov. Bill Clements that a board member is likely to step down.

David Thornberry, one of three Insurance Board members and the one Clements appeared to be singling out, says he will stay on unless asked to resign or unless he determines he is "a liability."

"I will have to evaluate whether I'm an asset or not to the agency. Obviously, right now I think I am," he said. "I certainly don't want to stay here for selfish reasons."

Thornberry said the governor's staff told him Clements had not meant to call for anyone's resignation in his statements Tuesday.

Clements had told reporters he expected an Insurance Board member to resign over serious management problems detailed in two recent reports on the troubled agency, which regulates the insurance industry in Texas.

Some abortions may be prohibited

AUSTIN (AP) — A spokeswoman for a woman's rights group said a state proposal to ban abortions based on the sex of the fetus is an attempt by anti-abortionists to rally support around a false issue.

State lawmakers and pro-life forces Tuesday proposed legislation to stop what they said is the growing practice of women having abortions after learning the sex of the fetus.

"Surely, this is the most frivolous use of abortion yet invented," said Bill Price, director of the Texas Coalition for Life.

Price said the women prefer to have a male child and get an abortion if the fetus is a female.

"In other words," said state Sen. J.E. "Buster" Brown, R-Lake Jackson, "abortion on demand has given rise to boys on demand."

Brown and state Rep. L.B. Kubiak, D-Rockdale, said they will introduce legislation that would make it illegal for doctors to perform an abortion based on sex selection.

But Danalynn Reecer, a local spokeswoman for the National Organization for Women, said there is no evidence to indicate so-called sex selection abortions are on the rise.

Counsel says build more prisons

AUSTIN (AP) — Alternatives to incarcerating people can't work properly unless there also are enough prisons, the governor's general counsel told a House subcommittee.

"To have an alternative, you have to have sufficient capacity, so it is a choice for the right reason, not a dumping ground for convicted felons," said Rider Scott, general counsel and director of the criminal justice division in Gov. Bill Clements' office. He spoke Tuesday to a subcommittee studying alternatives to prison construction.

Clements has called for nearly 11,000 new prison beds financed by $343 million in bonds. The expansion is needed along with such alternatives as literacy programs, drug testing, vocational training and increased use of intensive-supervision probation and parole, Scott said.

"A bed in prison these days is harder to get than a ticket to a Michael Jackson concert," Scott said. "We have a system out of control, where defendants who prefer to rob rather than work now choose the penitentiary over probation, and why not? They can serve a two-year sentence in just 90 days."

Scott said that in Texas in 1987, the average sentence for an inmate entering the Texas Department of Corrections was 98.5 months. But he said that because of insufficient capacity, the average length of stay was 19.7 months, placing Texas among the lowest in the nation in that category.

Although incarceration costs money, he added, crime also is expensive. He said studies have estimated the cost per crime to taxpayers at $2,300 and have put the average number of crimes by each freed offender at a minimum of 187 a year.

The cost for each prisoner — including TDC operations, construction costs and the loss to society of, for example, tax payments — would be generously figured at $25,000 a year, he said.

Workers rescue puppy

HOUSTON (AP) — It took city crews and volunteers more than seven hours to rescue a black puppy who fell into an access pipe leading into an apartment sewer system, officials said.

The puppy, Baby Bear, a six-week-old terrier, fell into the sewer Tuesday while playing in a yard with the three children of Jeri Robinson.

Mrs. Robinson and her children, Krystina, 6, Adolph, 5, and Krystal, 3, spent most of the day inside, listening to the roar of machinery and the shouts of people as holes were dug, pipes cut and tools pushed and pulled in the rescue operation.

Rescuers included a crew from the city Public Works Department's Southeast Quadrant Maintenance Branch, Citizens for Animal Protection, Houston Fire Department, city Animal Control Bureau and Spring Branch Volunteer Corps.

George Huebner and Cynthia Shaw of Citizens for Animal Protection spent a long afternoon with their arms and faces thrust into pipes flowing with raw sewage.

"I've been in a sewer before but not having to chew up a whole lawn," said Ms. Shaw, the Harris County Animal Rescue League's 1988 Volunteer of the Year.

The problem was that Baby Bear was a very frightened pup, and all the noise apparently caused him to creep even deeper, about five feet below ground.

Apartment maintenance workers had first tossed him bits of bread and hamburger in an effort to lure him out to where they could reach him. When this failed, they began to dig.

Using a backhoe, crews quickly ripped a huge hole in the lawn, exposing the six-inch, white plastic sewer line. But when the line was cut, and after much poking and careful probing with a towel-wrapped rod, Baby Bear still could not be seen. He had wiggled into another pipe.

Workers then ripped another hole in the yard and more sewer lines were found and cut. Through still another access opening, the Public Works crew began snaking in a long orange hose normally used to flush out blockages. Baby Bear was still not to be seen, but his cries were

Signs of drought remain in nation's winter wheat crop

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government report says there has been little relief for parched winter wheat fields in huge areas of the Great Plains, the middle of the nation's breadbasket.

Winter wheat was planted last fall and will be harvested this summer. Normally, it provides about three-fourths of the U.S. wheat supply. Farmers will sow the remainder this spring.

The Joint Agricultural Weather Facility said Tuesday that insects along with dry weather also continued to damage wheat during the week of Jan. 16-22. The facility is operated by the Agriculture and Commerce departments.

Winter wheat is watched closely this time of year for signs of damage and potential yield losses. It will lead off the 1989 harvest season.

Historically, January is the driest month in the plains states, and winter wheat, usually dormant at midwinter, has been known to improve dramatically as the result of good moisture in February and March.

But drought reduced 1988 production, and there has been a heavy drain on U.S. and world stockpiles. And the possibility of further losses in 1989 cannot be ignored.

"In Kansas, winter wheat continued to show moisture stress," the report said. "Greenbug damage was a continuing problem in the southwest and southcentral areas (of the state)."

The dry conditions were causing winter wheat in Oklahoma to turn yellow, and mild temperatures have allowed greenbugs to multiply.

Rain helped conditions in parts of Texas, but dry soils continued to hurt winter grains in many areas, the report said. Greenbug damage was apparent in many fields, too.

"Snow cover was needed in most of the northern plains," the report said. "Snow cover was adequate in North Dakota and portions of South Dakota. Montana's winter wheat was mostly fair to good, with only light wind damage."

The Oregon winter wheat crop was reported in mostly good condition, and it was said to be in "mostly good to fair" shape in the Corn Belt but lacked protective snow cover.
