TDC considering final building bid at prison complex

Bids are now being studied to construct the 39,000 sq. ft. industrial building at the site of the Texas Department of Corrections Daniel Unit.

The cost estimates were opened Feb. 2 and the apparent low bid of five submitted was from Rose and Sons of Abilene. They bid $1,338,400. Initial projections for the building placed it at $1.4 million.

Consultants for the work will be

HCB Contractors of Dallas, which is also overseeing construction of the prison.

David Ritter of HCB said Friday that TDC staffers are now studying the bids and that he expects a contract to be let within the next two weeks.

A construction time of 165 days is scheduled, a period would see the building completed around Aug. 1, past the projected opening for the prison on June 27.

Ritter said the late completion would not adversely affect the overall prison opening.

The facility will be a pre-fab metal type building and will be used for the local prison's industrial activity, upholstery and furniture manufacturing. Inmate labor will be used for the work.

The cost of the industrial building will be in addition to estimates for prison construction. See TDC, page 9

Oil, gas producers...

Bush proposes tax incentives

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush is asking Congress to enact a package of tax incentives aimed at stimulating the struggling oil and gas industry and easing the country's growing dependence on oil imports.

"Sufficient energy supplies at reasonable prices are vital to the economic well-being of this country and to the preservation of our national security," Bush said in remarks accompanying his 1990 budget.

He called Thursday for full decontrol of natural gas, a re-examination of off-shore oil drilling projects in several environmentally sensitive areas, and four separate tax incentives.

Texans praise Bush

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas congressmen say they support President Bush's ambitious agenda but aren't sure he will have enough money to make good on all his promises.

"If he can pass these new domestic programs, reduce the national debt, balance the budget and no new taxes, he'll be a miracle president," said Rep. Jake Pickle, an Austin Democrat.

"It was an excellent Democratic Party speech,"

Pickle said of Bush's first speech to Congress Thursday night. "He sounded like a good Democrat."

Pickle praised the Republican president's proposals but "like a lot of us Democrats, he didn't tell us where he was going to get the money."

While Bush decreed there would be $80 billion in new revenue, Pickle, a senior member on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said he doesn't know where it's coming from.

"He can't declare he'll have all this money to spend and find it in the cupboard," Pickle said.

Rep. Charlie Stenholm, a Stamford Democrat, said he's not convinced Bush "didn't spend that $80 billion twice."

Stenholm called Bush's proposals "a bipartisan challenge" and said the president "set the stage for a true bipartisan effort to solve some of these problems."

"It was a very impressive blueprint. He detailed the terms See BUSH, page 9

Career ladder has one final wrinkle before final okay

A decision to allow the transfer of career ladder status for new teachers employed by Snyder ISD beginning next school year was finalized by school board members Thursday, but with one new "twist."

To retain either Level II or Level III status—designations which involve $1,500 and $3,000 pay supplements respectively—the new teacher must have appraisal ratings from their old school which match local requirements for career ladder selection.

The additional requirement was suggested Thursday by members of a district career ladder committee comprised of both teachers and administrators. Teacher Linda Cozart represented the committee

Thursday.

She said the change was suggested since Snyder ISD's requirements for career ladder selection are more stringent than state guidelines.

Because of this, she noted, a teacher could theoretically transfer here with Level III status and, in reality, have a rating identical to an already employed teacher denied Level III.

Board members noted the fairness of the request and moved unanimously to add it to their already proposed policy for both Level II and Level III selection.

Selection for both career ladder levels is based in part upon "appraisal" ratings receiving by teachers during classroom

Teacher's rites pending Friday

Snyder High School English teacher Brenda Cox, 40, died suddenly Friday morning at Cogdell Memorial Hospital after collapsing at SHS during the morning.

She was taken to Cogdell by Snyder EMS around 8:15 a.m. Initial reports to the ambulance service indicated she might be suffering from diabetic shock.

She died at Cogdell ER around 10:22 a.m. Cause of death was not officially determined at noon Friday.

She was a native of Scurry County, born here on May 21, 1948, and attended public schools until her graduation in 1966.

Following graduation, she attended Sul Ross State University in Alpine.

She was employed by Snyder ISD for the fall of 1973 and has had continued service except for a one-year leave in 1985-86, teaching 12th grade English.

During her life, she was actively involved in the family ranching business begun by her father, Bert T. Sellars. He survives her.

She was preceded in death by her mother, Mrs. Neva Jo Sellars, who died March 15, 1983.

Other survivors include her husband, Alvis Cox; her son, Bert Otto of Snyder; and her grandmother, Dora Sellars of Snyder.

Funeral services were pending Friday morning with Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home.

Administrator pacts renewed

Contracts were either extended or renewed Thursday for Snyder ISD administrators during the regular February meeting of trustees.

The board approved one-year contract extensions for principals Ray Courtney, Charles Anderson, Geri Parker, Dr. Tom Alvis, Wayne Kennedy, L.D. Monroe, Jim Erwin, Bob Travis and assistant principals Lee Presswood and Ned Underwood. This group now has a two-year contract effective through June 30, 1991. In addition, the contract for Margaret Presswood, assistant principal at the junior high, was renewed for another two years.

One year contracts were renewed also for Bobbie Box, the district's testing coordinator; Janice Brown, curriculum specialist; Keith Gentry, transportation director; and Lawton Taylor, maintenance director.

Other agenda items included approving a refund of taxes involving some $1,022 due to a double assessment during last tax year for the C&S Company of Snyder, owners of property adjacent to College Ave.

It was noted the firm was inadvertently assessed for its property as well as an adjacent property.

The board approved also a budget adjustment allowing the purchase of four overhead projectors. The adjustment was a "net transfer" of some $620 with See BUDGET, page 9

Building year's total lags back 54 percent

Snyder's building year, with four months reported, continues to significantly lag behind its predecessor.

With January building permits counted, the current total is 54 percent below last year at this time. The city's building year begins in October concurrent with the city's fiscal year.

To date, the value of new property to be built in Snyder totals $283,049. Last year at this time, the total was $623,000.

The month of January included permits totaling just over $53,000. The exact figure is $53,435.

The largest single category involved mobile home move-ins with three permits issued. The value for these totaled $15,500.

A re-roofing job for Northside Baptist Church brought a $15,000 total; the category of carports and accessories accounted for $11,300; and "signs" accounted for another $7,500 of the month's total.

Mobile home permits were issued to Tim Rowe, 2109 Peyton; Russell Jones, 404 North Ave. T; and C.W. Overhulser Jr., 2401 24th St.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "In some sports today, it's not whether you win or lose, but how you test for drugs."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors... Stephen Henry, in the Levelland News-Press, told about two women talking about a third woman who was not present. She had just had a baby.

"Was her husband there when the baby was delivered?" asked one of the women.

"Darling," drawled the second as she unsheathed her claws, "the chances are excellent that he wasn't there when the baby was conceived."

That reminded us of a couple of women we overheard in the grocery store a couple of months ago. Again they were speaking of an absent third party whose ears were certainly burning.

"Well," grunted the woman, "all I have to say is this—if catness was an Olympic event, she'd be a gold medal winner."

Just to prove who pays the bulk of the federal tax bill, a recent item in the Wall Street Journal is interesting.

In 1986, there were 35,875 people in the U.S. whose income exceeded $1 million.

A study by the Tax Foundation revealed that if these people had been taxed at 100 percent, the revenue collected would have run the government for only 12 days.

Q. — Is there any word yet if Snyder school children will have to makeup the two school days lost Monday and Tuesday?

A. — No. School officials were asked by the Texas Education Agency to put the request in writing and no reply to a letter sent to TEA had been received as of early Friday.

In Brief

Infant found

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Child welfare authorities are now caring for a newborn infant who was found with its mother living with sheep and dogs in a run-down, abandoned house.

State social workers said Thursday they found farm animals inside the boarded up home on the city's west side, and a strong stench of urine permeated the dwelling.

"There were animals in the house, sheep and dogs," said prosecutor Richard Garcia, who represents the Texas Department of Human Services in child welfare cases. "The baby had a severe case of diaper rash. The mother was dirty and lice infested."

Port update

HOUSTON (AP) — Surprised Harris County prosecutors have learned that David Port, whose 75-year sentence for murdering a letter carrier was reversed, tried to become a security guard.

Burns International in Dallas turned him down, evidently after calling Houston to confirm he is the man convicted of killing letter carrier Debra Sue Schatz.

"I think the security guard company recognized his name, and that was the end of it," prosecutor Tim Taft said.

Port, 21, has not officially applied for a security guard's license with the Texas Board of Private Investigators and Security Agencies, a computer check showed Thursday.

Sears move

DALLAS (AP) — With Sears, Roebuck & Co. officials considering whether to relocate their retail division outside the Chicago area, speculation has centered on a list of alternatives, including Dallas.

Real estate agents and economic development officials have been scrambling to lure Sears operations to Dallas.

"We continue to say we have a preference for staying in the Chicago area, but we are keeping our options open," Sears spokeswoman Kathy Guca told The Dallas Morning News. "Because this is a sensitive issue and involves thousands of our employees, we are not commenting on any of the specifics."

Snyder Temperatures: High Thursday, 46 degrees; low, 11 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. Friday, 27 degrees; no precipitation; total precipitation for 1989 to date, 76 of an inch.

West Texas: Fair Friday night. Partly cloudy and a little cooler north Saturday, but mostly sunny and continued mild south. Lows Friday night in the 30s, except mid to upper 20s Panhandle and mountains. Highs Saturday mid 40s to mid 50s north and mid 60s to lower 70s south.

Apartheid, prejudice blasted

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican today attacked South Africa's apartheid system as "the most marked and systematic form" of racism in the world and urged efforts to stamp out all forms of prejudice.

In a major document on racism that took the unusual step of mentioning countries by name, the Vatican also said "much still needs to be done" to wipe out racial prejudice in the United States, although it cited the country as one of the most racially mixed societies in the world.

Examining the history and causes of prejudice, the 45-page document warned of possible new forms of racism, saying modern science could be exploited by "apprentice sorcerers" seeking to produce human beings selected by race.

The document, entitled "The Church and Racism: Towards A More Fraternal Society," was written by the Vatican's Justice and Peace Commission at the request of Pope John Paul II.

It said the Roman Catholic Church "wants first and foremost to change racist attitudes, including those within her own communities" and noted that throughout history church leaders themselves have not been blameless.

The document said harboring racist thoughts and attitudes "is a sin against the specific message of Christ."

"Racism still exists and continually reappears in different forms. ... It is a wound in humanity's side that mysteriously remains open."

French Cardinal Roger Etchegaray, head of the commission that prepared the document, last year toured South Africa, where a white minority government has administered for some 40 years a system of racial segregation known as apartheid.

In South Africa, apartheid establishes a racially segregated society in which the 26 million blacks have no vote in national affairs. The 5 million whites control the economy and maintain separate districts, schools and health services.

John Paul has said conditions are not ripe for a papal visit to South Africa, although his plane was forced to land there last year because of bad weather during a trip to other southern African na-

Pilot found dead after plane lands in area

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — The co-pilot of an Evergreen International DC-9 carrying military supplies, including explosives, safely landed the plane after discovering the pilot had collapsed in the cargo area.

The pilot, Dean Clinton Moss, 38, of Vancouver, Wash., was pronounced dead at Lubbock General Hospital at 4:30 a.m. Thursday, about an hour after the plane touched ground, authorities said.

Philip Bartash, the plane's first officer, landed the craft at Lubbock International Airport after finding Moss unconscious in the craft's cargo area, said Ray Wall, air safety investigator with the National Transportation Safety Board.

tion. The document called apartheid "institutionalized racism ... justified by an ideology of the superiority of persons from European stock over those of African or Indian origin or 'colored' which is, by some, supported by an erroneous interpretation of the Bible."

"Today apartheid is the most marked and systematic form" of racism, the document said. "Change is absolutely necessary and urgent."

The document warned of the effects that apartheid is having on South African blacks.

"The prolongation of a state of repression, of which the majority of the population is victim, is less and less tolerated. Such a situation carries with it the seed of racist reflexes on the part of the oppressed, which would be as unacceptable as those of which they are victim today."

But the document stressed that one country shouldn't be singled out for condemnation. "It would be hypocritical to point a finger at only one country: rejection based on race exists on every continent."

The document called anti-Semitism "the most tragic form that racist ideology has assumed in our century," referring to the Nazi extermination of millions of Jews during World War II.

"As if some had nothing to learn from the crimes of the past, certain organizations, with branches in many countries, keep alive the anti-Semite racist myth, with the support of networks of publications," it said.

The document praised the role of the Catholic church in contributing to the passage of civil rights legislation in the United States, but added:

"Despite on-going efforts, much still remains to be done to eliminate completely racial prejudice and behavior even in what can be considered one of the most interracial nations of the world."

Husband's Addiction Leaves His Wife a Television Widow

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1989 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: This is for the lucky lady in Fort Worth with the perfect marriage. I hope you get on your knees at least a dozen times a day and thank the good Lord for your good fortune. I turned green with envy just reading your letter.

My husband has a very unusual-looking mistress. She's 40 inches wide and 36 inches tall, and her name is TV.

He looks at her picture at least six hours a day. He starts looking at 6 o'clock in the evening and doesn't stop until midnight! That's Monday through Friday.

On Saturday, he joins her at 4 p.m. and stays until 1 a.m. on Sunday morning. On Sunday, he stares at her picture from 12 noon until 12 midnight.

This man is only in his early 40s. I am 36. Everyone tells me how crazy I am. I can't seem to get this man out of my system. Maybe I'll get some suggestions from your column.

NO NAME

proper to ask "who else" is coming. And since it bugs you, you are under no obligation to disclose your guest list.

Because it's rude to point out a person's rudeness, you could respond lightheartedly, "Pope John Paul and Mother Teresa are trying to clear their calendars" — or something equally preposterous.

DEAR ABBY: If you can stand one more letter about how little attention some doctors pay to their patients, please consider this:

Some years ago, my sister's mother-in-law wasn't feeling well, so she went to her doctor. After he examined her, he said, "Well, the first thing you need to do is have all your teeth taken out," so she took her teeth out — both upper and lower plates — and laid them on his desk.

TRUE STORY FROM FRANKFORT, KY.

***

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend and I each have our own car. They are about the same in value, equally safe, and both in good condition — so that is not an issue. My question: When we go out on a date, who drives? Maybe I should tell you that I have driven coast to coast and am as good a driver as he is.

SHERRI

DEAR SHERRI: If you're using his car, he drives. If you're using your car, you drive. If you'd rather have him drive your car, offer him the option because some men may feel a tad less than masculine if they're not in the driver's seat.

***

DEAR NO NAME: Your husband's "mistress" is very easy to turn on, and she's not very selective — she's there for anyone who hasn't anything better to do. (By the way, she entertains women, too.) But she's not your problem — your husband is.

Does he turn to her because he's bored? What are his options? Have you discussed it with him? Don't you have any friends? What are your interests? How about his? Get some communication going and perhaps instead of looking, he (and you) should both be listening — to a marriage counselor.

***

DEAR ABBY: Each time we invite a certain couple to our home for a party, they make a point of getting in touch with me or my wife to find out who else is coming.

Is it proper for them to inquire, and should we simply tell them, as we have in the past, and try not to let it bug us?

Airline changes base, beefs up major hub

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Braniff Inc. is beginning an aggressive $40 million expansion program that includes moving corporate headquarters from Dallas to Orlando and the strengthening of its primary hub in Kansas City.

The plan, coupled with orders for $2 billion worth of new planes, means the once-bankrupt airline will hire 1,400 additional workers during the coming year, a nearly 30 percent increase, Braniff Chairman William G. McGee said Thursday.

Besides new corporate offices, the airline will build a $10 million maintenance facility here and increase its Orlando work force from 720 to 1,165.

In Kansas City, Braniff will build another $10 million maintenance operation, reopen a reservations center, expand the number of airport gates and increase daily flight departures to 105 by mid-summer McGee said at an Orlando news conference.

The number of employees in Kansas City will climb from 1,475 to 2,000 in the next five months, he said.

The airline is moving its corporate base from Love Field in Dallas because Orlando is "one of the most dynamic growth areas of the country," he said.

Braniff began flying again in 1984 after going into bankruptcy proceedings in 1982 with a debt of almost $1 billion. A Philadelphia-based investor group acquired the company in mid-1988, beefed up its Kansas City hub and expanded its operations.

It has also announced plans to add 22 new aircraft to its fleet of 53.

The chairman called Braniff a "niche carrier" that is "fast becoming a major carrier" that expects to turn a profit in 1989.

Braniff serves 31 destinations from Kansas City and 16 from Orlando. The airline began operating in Central Florida a year ago with the acquisition of Florida Express. It currently has more than 4,000 employees.

McGee estimated the annual economic impact of the expansion program at $250 million in Kansas City and $50 million in Orlando.

The headquarters move is to begin in May and involve about 125 professional and clerical workers now in Dallas.

Some 450 Braniff employees will remain in Dallas, mainly in financial and administrative jobs, company officials said.

Among the factors in favor of Orlando was what McGee called a strong business environment.

"We have had a change of philosophy of the company in terms of utilization of our resources," he said. "This is the place to be."

Orlando Mayor Bill Frederick called Orlando International Airport "an immense economic engine" and said Braniff's decision "is one of the most important events to take place" in the city's history.

Suspect found tools to kill inside stores

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Those who met him say Yu Kikumura entered the United States with an easygoing manner, clean-cut looks and a ready smile, a world away from anyone's image of an international terrorist.

As he traveled the country in a strange, month-long odyssey, staying in campgrounds and inns and shopping at K marts, the quiet, 36-year-old Japanese visitor left few clues that he might have been something other than an ordinary tourist.

"Looking back now I can see a few strange things, like he said he was a tourist but I never saw a camera," recalled Chris Brande, a Manhattan accountant who rented half his apartment to Kikumura.

"He giggled and smiled and stuff, and joked about getting a parking ticket," Brande said Thursday in an interview with The Associated Press. "Once he left, I never thought I would have heard of him again."

Brande didn't until last April 12, when police and FBI agents showed up at his apartment to question him about Kikumura, who had been arrested earlier in the day on the New Jersey Turnpike with three powerful homemade bombs in his car.

Kikumura, now long-haired and wearing a beard down to his chest, was sentenced Tuesday to 30 years in prison on explosives and weapons charges, as well as carrying false documents. Prosecutors said he was planning to bomb a Navy recruiting center in New York as part of a Libyan-sponsored campaign of terrorism.

The Japanese Foreign Ministry identifies Kikumura as a member of the notorious Japanese Red Army terrorist group. U.S. prosecutors say he received terrorist training in Lebanon's Bekka Valley. Kikumura and his lawyers deny the allegations.

During his short stay in the United States, Kikumura traveled with a wad of cash on a 7,000-mile trek to buy parts for the bombs he would build. His travels apparently were financed in part by money drawn from a Swiss bank account.

Investigators used receipts found in Kikumura's car to piece together his movements in the month before his arrest. His travels took him to roadside motels through America's heartland, across its colonial byways and into the Bible Belt.

The documents show he spent time in Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Missouri, Tennessee, Kentucky, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. Along the way, he bought such items as gas cans, a diet scale, flash bulbs, electrical wire and tape, glue and fire extinguishers.

"The materials he bought to make the bombs are most always used for legitimate purposes," said Assistant U.S. Attorney John P. Lacey, who helped prosecute the case against Kikumura. "And when he traveled around to buy the different materials, it decreased the risk of somebody piecing together what he was doing."

Kikumura's favorite store was K mart, authorities said.

"Turn Mr. Kikumura loose near a K mart and a sporting goods store and in a matter of hours, literally, he can make what was found in his car today," said U.S. Attorney Samuel A. Alito Jr.

Authorities say Kikumura arrived at New York's Kennedy International Airport last March 8 after using a stolen and altered passport to travel through Italy, France and Switzerland.

Within a week, he had purchased a used Mazda 626 from a car dealer in the Bronx and set out on his tour, staying mostly at smaller inns and bed-and-breakfast houses in out-of-the-way towns.

He didn't make his first known bomb-parts purchase until March 30, when he stopped in an art supply store in Nashville, Tenn., to buy two cans of aluminum powder.

The next day he went to a K mart in Lexington, Ky., and in two visits bought gas cans, a diet scale, coffee-maker accessories, glue, contact cement, electrical wire and electrical tape.

4 arrested in computer-chip smuggling incident have not yet been charged

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Four men who were arrested last month on suspicion of trying to illegally export sophisticated computer chips into Mexico are free to go, officials say.

One of the men had his name on a list of pilot recruits discovered on a plane flown by CIA-employed arms deliverer Eugene Hasenfus after the plane was shot down over Nicaragua in 1986.

That man, Rick Block, 40, of San Antonio, crashed a DC-3 Jan. 18 at Laredo International Airport as he tried to take off for Torreon, Mexico, authorities said.

The airplane was loaded with 300 satellite signal descramblers and other electronic equipment such as antennae. U.S. Customs spokesman Charles Conroy said Thursday. The satellite descramblers were equipped with microchips that can be converted for military use, he said.

"They're useful for military purposes in tracking missiles and that type of thing," Conroy said. "There's a big market for these things in South and Central America, and for that reason you have people who try to export them illegally."

"They might be transhipped three or four times before they get to a nation that's an enemy of the United States."

Although anyone exporting the chips must obtain State Department approval, and Block and his co-pilot hadn't obtained such permission, the men remain uncharged, Conroy said.

"They're free to go anywhere they want to," he said. "Right now, there's nothing against them."

Block was taken to Methodist Hospital in San Antonio for unspecified injuries and was discharged in late January. His co-pilot, Juan Manuel Cutino Morales of Mazatlan, Mexico, remains at Saint Luke's Hospital in San Antonio with extensive burns. No one else was in the plane.

Nine days after the DC-3 crashed on the runway in Laredo, two Mexican men were arrested in Big Bend National Park after Border Patrol agents discovered 150 satellite descramblers worth $200,000 in their two pickup trucks, Conroy said. The two men, identified as Jose de Jesus Vanegas-Sanchez, 31, of Nuevo Leon, Mexico; and Jose Antonio de Jesus Rodriguez de la Fuente, 49, of Monterrey, Mexico, were held in Brewster County Jail under $150,000 bail each until Tuesday, when they were released.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Tom Beery in Midland said he had to drop the charges of exporting goods on the munitions list because he would not have been able to prove the men knew they were exporting illegal items. Officials kept the descramblers and pickups that were seized.

The men could have said they simply thought they were exporting satellite descramblers, which Beery described as "the rural answer to cable TV."

The descramblers, when hooked to a satellite antenna system, are used to unscramble HBO and other pay-TV broadcasts.

One unusual aspect of the arrests was that the men said they had been instructed by a Monterrey businessman to buy the descramblers in San Antonio and drive them to Monterrey. But the route the men took — through Big Bend National Park instead of straight through Laredo — added about 500 miles to what normally is a 310-mile trip.

Beery said the men didn't give a reason for the detour. A Border Patrol official said the men tried to cross into Mexico along one of the most isolated stretches of the Rio Grande.

Vanegas-Sanchez and Rodriguez de la Fuente intended to hitch their pickup trucks to draft animals to pull them across the Rio Grande at a shallow crossing eight miles upstream from Boquillas, said Hugh Rushton, chief of the Border Patrol's Marfa sector.

"I believe they got down there on the border and found out there was some Mexican military performing maneuvers on the other side, so they turned back," he said.

The men were arrested about 3:30 a.m. Jan. 27 on U.S. 385 as they headed north toward Marathon, Rushton said.

Neither Rushton nor Conroy said they knew the identity of the Monterrey businessman or of the dealer who sold the descramblers to the Mexican men.

The San Antonio Express-News has reported the descramblers found in the plane piloted by Block and Cutino came from Jett Sales Co., an electronics distributor in Laredo, via purchases from U.S. manufacturers.

Jett Sales is owned by Wolf Hoffman, a naturalized American of German ancestry who was born and reared in Mexico City but now lives in Laredo, the Express-News reported.

The newspaper said Hoffman also owns Laredo Air, an airline specializing in flights to Monterrey, as well as American Air Freight.

After the Jan. 18 crash of the plane piloted by Block, Laredo control tower operators said the World War II-vintage plane was owned by Laredo-based American Air Freight. But later in the evening, the company's general manager, Chuck Taylor, denied the plane belonged to American Air Freight and said it was registered in Mexico and owned by a Mexican.

American author Oliver Wendell Holmes was born in 1809 in Cambridge, Mass.

Recognizing the danger

By James Jacoby

South was wise to restrain himself after his partner had opened the bidding. North's spades were not going to be helpful to him, and the play for game would be poor unless North was willing and able to raise three hearts to four. North had no problem with that decision — he passed, and now it was up to South to make his part-score contract. West led the king of diamonds and switched to the king of clubs. Note that East did not start a high-low signal with the 10 of diamonds, since there was no point in encouraging the play of two more rounds of diamonds when he could not ruff the third round. Declarer won dummy's ace of clubs and cashed two high spades, on which he threw a club and a small diamond. What next?

The only danger is a 5-0 trump break with a possible trump promotion that would result in the loss of three trump tricks to go with the two diamond losers. And so, instead of trying to guess which black suit to lead, declarer should get off dummy by playing a diamond to his jack. Whatever the return from West, declarer can ruff and play ace and jack of hearts. Eventually he will be able to pick up West's small trumps and make his contract.

Bush affirms support for super collider

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush has asked Congress to spend $206 million to begin construction of the super collider, saying it will produce discoveries that could touch every American. In his budget released Thursday, Bush said the super collider is critical to strengthening the nation's position as a world leader in science and technology.

"The SSC holds the potential for new breakthroughs in science, technology and education. It will produce discoveries, innovations and spin-offs that could touch profoundly every American," the budget said.

Bush estimated the total cost of building the SSC at $5.9 billion, and is seeking actual spending of $206 million, although he recommends the program be allowed to spend up to $250 million in fiscal year 1990 if the additional money is available.

"The SSC will provide the capability for the U.S. to remain the world's leader in the field of high energy physics well into the next century," the budget said.

The SSC will be a "one-of-a-kind experimental facility that will ensure continued progress in advancing our knowledge of matter and energy at its most fundamental level," the budget said.

Bush predicted the SSC will attract an international community of scientists who travel to the United States for "state-of-the-art research" and as a valuable training ground for students from more than 100 university-based research teams from around the country.

Bush wants one-third of the project to be funded by non-federal sources, including Texas and foreign countries that would benefit from the research.

State voters have approved the issuance of $1 billion in bonds for the project.

According to the budget, when construction could actually begin would depend on details of the non-federal cost-sharing commitments to the project obtained in 1990.

The SSC would be the world's most powerful atom smasher, producing particle collisions with total energies approaching 40 trillion electron volts, an energy 20 times greater than the highest energies available in the world today.

The Department of Energy has selected a site near Waxahachie in Ellis County for the super collider, an underground 53-mile racetrack shaped accelerator. Its construction is expected to create thousands of jobs in North Central Texas.

Loses to NMMI Broncos, 107-94...

WTC stumbles, can't recover

ROSWELL, N.M. — Western Texas College's Westerners slipped coming off the bus here Thursday and fell to a hot New Mexico Military Institute squad 107-94.

"We've had some sickness but you hate to keep making excuses. To New Mexico Military's credit they played well. They shot it lights-out from outside," said Coach Tony Mauldin, whose squad dropped to 12-15 overall and 3-10 in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference.

NMMI's Broncos took advantage when Western shot 36 percent from the field in the first half and hit just 5 of 12 free throws.

"We got down by 18-19 at halftime (58-39) and I guess we got back within about eight in the second half but we could never catch up," said Mauldin.

Western's shooting improved to almost 62 percent in the second half - 21 of 34 - but it wasn't enough. The Westerners also bagged 12 of 15 second-half free throws.

NMMI, now 8-17 for the season and 3-8 in the WJCAC, hit 30 of 35 free shots for the game.

Western was led by Bobby Spear, who scored 20 of his team-high 23 points in the second half. Jerry Joyce popped for 19 points and had 8 assists while Bernard Williams scored 17 points.

Vladimir McCrary, who did not work out Wednesday because of illness, added 16 points and led on the boards with 9 rebounds.

"We just got too far down is basically what it amounted to," said Mauldin. "I think we lost some of our intensity with the illnesses and things. They came out playing and we weren't."

Sickness has slapped much of the Western Texas College student body, including the women's team, which hasn't held a formal workout in three days. The Lady Dusters were idle Thursday night.

In Borger, Frank Phillips men were forced to forfeit Thursday's game with Odessa, apparently

Tiger clubs battle Monahans tonight

Apathy could be a problem for Snyder High School teams as they clash with some struggling Monahans clubs in District 4-4A basketball tonight.

Coach Ken Housden's Lady Tigers close out the 1988-89 season in Monahans at 7:30 p.m. The long trip and the Lady Lobos record, 1-20, aren't the types of things that add excitement to the clash.

"Hopefully, we'll respond well," said Coach Housden, whose girls are 11-14 for the season. "It's a long trip but we'd like to go out on a winning note."

The Lady Tigers are 5-8 in district play and have won their last two ballgames. Monahans is in the 4-4A cellar with an 0-13 mark.

are $2 for adults and $1 for students at either site.

A key boy's game in District 4-4A tonight pits league leader Big Spring, at 18-10 and 11-0, at Andrews. The Mustangs, ranked eighth in the state, are 25-3 overall and 10-1 in district play. In other boy's games this evening, Sweetwater is at Fort Stockton and Lake View visits Pecos.

The 4-4A girl's standings will likely end in a draw this evening with Sweetwater and Big Spring sharing top honors. Sweetwater is 23-5 overall and 12-1 in district play. Big Spring, 24-3, is also 12-1 in the 4-4A. Sweetwater hosts Fort Stockton while Big Spring entertains Andrews. Pecos is at San Angelo to play Lake View in the other girl's game.

Friday's Games: Monahans at Snyder, Big Spring at Andrews, Sweetwater at Fort Stockton, Lake View at Pecos.

Team	Dist.	Season
Big Spring*	12 1	24 3
Sweetwater*	12 1	23 5
Pecos	8 5	16 8
Andrews	8 5	14 13
Snyder	5 8	11 14
Lake View	5 8	7 15
Fort Stockton	2 11	6 20
Monahans	0 13	1 20

* clinched playoff spot
Friday's Games: Snyder at Monahans, Andrews at Big Spring, Fort Stockton at Sweetwater, Pecos at Lake View.

Snyder's boys, who open a three-game home stand with tonight's ballgame in Scurry County Coliseum, face a similar situation. The Tigers are 14-10 overall and are in third place in the district, but at 7-4, won't be making the playoffs. Mathematically still alive, the Tigers must win their remaining three games and either Big Spring or eighth-ranked Andrews must lose their remaining three - a prospect which isn't likely, at best.

Add to it that Monahans comes in at 6-20, and Coach Larry Scott may have trouble getting his Tigers prepared.

Monahans is 2-9 in district play. The Lobos do feature some good talent, including Carlton Clark, who boasts a 24.7-per game scoring average and leads the district in rebounding with 13.9 boards an outing.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. Junior varsity ballgames start at 6 p.m., both here and in Monahans. Locally, Snyder freshman boys will entertain Monahans at 6 p.m. in the high school gym.

Berry paces Rockets win

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - Former Trail Blazer Walter Berry, whose short-lived career in Portland was marked by discontent and fighting with management, came back to haunt his former teammates Thursday night.

Berry scored eight of his 15 points during a 14-7 run in the fourth quarter, and Otis Thorpe made made a three-point play with 51 seconds left to lead the Houston Rockets to a 113-110 victory over Portland.

Berry also took a charging foul from Jerome Kersey with seven seconds left in the game to blunt Portland's chance to tie.

"I think I was out for awhile for the spill and I'm a little dizzy, but I'll be OK," Berry said. "I was glad I had a chance to contribute to our win."

"Berry is really going to help us," Houston coach Don Chaney said. "He demands double coverage and if you don't do that, then he can score on anybody."

Berry, playing for his fourth team in three seasons, was picked up on waivers Feb. 2 after being released by New Jersey. He was Portland's No. 1 draft choice in 1986.

because of a flu epidemic.

In other men's WJCAC games Thursday, Midland popped New Mexico Junior College 116-92 and Howard defeated Clarendon 81-71. In the only women's game, Howard drilled Clarendon 82-66.

Tonight, Howard teams are scheduled to play Frank Phillips in Borger.

Western Texas returns to action Monday to entertain South Plains College in a 6-and-8 p.m. doubleheader at Scurry County Coliseum. All basketball fans attending the game will be admitted free if they are wearing WTC colors (blue or green).

Despite a lackluster record, Henning is Charger choice

SAN DIEGO (AP) - Dan Henning, whose NFL resume shows nearly twice as many losses as victories, says the San Diego Chargers didn't pick a loser in hiring him as head coach.

"Obviously, the people that made the decision were able to get by that," Henning said Thursday after being announced as San Diego's new head coach.

"I have one goal left as a coach in this profession, and that's to win a Super Bowl as a head football coach. This is where I intend to do it."

Henning, who was signed to a five-year contract, compiled a 22-44-1 record at Atlanta from 1983 to 1986 in his only previous pro head-coaching experience.

His hiring as the eighth head coach in the Chargers' 29-year history ended a seven-week search for a successor to Al Saunders, fired after San Diego finished 6-10 last season.

"I know it's taken a lot longer than expected, but the right choice has been made," Chargers owner Alex Spanos said. "Dan Henning is our guy and he will be the man to take us all the way."

Henning, a backup Chargers quarterback in 1966, said his interviews with Spanos left no doubt about the San Diego organization's commitment to winning.

"Mr. Spanos has let me know in no uncertain terms that he wants to win the Super Bowl and that he's in this to compete, not participate," Henning said.

Henning, an NFL coach for 14 years, comes to San Diego from Washington, where he worked with quarterbacks and receivers: the past two seasons.

He was an assistant with the Redskins when they went to the Super Bowl following the 1982 and 1987 seasons. Chargers director of football operations Steve Ort-mayer said that was a key factor in his hiring.

"You can't overestimate the value, in my mind, of having been to the Super Bowl," Ort-mayer said. "This guy has climbed the mountain twice. He's been there, and he knows what it takes. That's a big advantage over the other candidates that we had."

Ortmayer also said he and Henning got along well. That was important to Ortmayer because of his well-known rift with Saunders, fired more for being publicly critical of personnel decisions than anything else.

When Henning was asked how he would turn around the Chargers' fortunes when he couldn't do it in Atlanta, he said the situations are different.

Mavericks 94, Utah Jazz 87

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - Mark Aguirre pitched in 32 points, including 16 in the second quarter, as Dallas beat the Utah Jazz 94-87 Thursday night.

Aguirre's performance came despite his getting into early foul trouble, picking up two fouls in the first 3½ minutes, sitting out much of the first period.

Derek Harper added 15 points for Dallas, 12 in the third quarter. Karl Malone scored 30 points for Utah. John Stockton had 17 and Thurl Bailey 15 for the Jazz.

Measles outbreak now in Odessa

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — Cases of red measles have surfaced in Odessa while Lubbock health officials say the city is undergoing a "second wave" of the viral disease.

Toby Cross, administrator for the Ector County Health Department, reported eight confirmed cases of measles at Crockett Junior High School in West Odessa.

"Our plans are to initiate a massive immunization clinic at Crockett Junior High at 9 a.m. (Friday)," Cross said.

Chuck Hornung, spokesman for Ector County Independent School District, estimated that about 800 students would be vaccinated and immunizations would be available for faculty and employees requesting them. The district has about 26,000 students.

"We are taking one extra precaution," Hornung said. "We are hosting a regional educational secretaries meeting Saturday. It was scheduled to be held at Crockett. Now it's been moved to the old magnet school. We don't want to take any chances."

Ector County Dr. C. S. Patterson told the Odessa American the cases in the city 120 miles south of Lubbock are the first he's seen in the county in 15 years.

A Texas Tech University dorm resident and students at five elementary schools are the newest cases in Lubbock, said

Vickie Shadden, coordinator of health services for the Lubbock Independent School District.

Lubbock Public Health Director Anthony Way said the number of cases that surface in the second wave is undeterminable. "We could see only one or two, or we could see hundreds," Way told the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

Only one of the newest cases is considered part of the second wave, Way said, because of the timing of the onset of symptoms.

To date, the city has confirmed 129 cases of red measles.

Immunizations will be conducted Friday in Lubbock at Hardwick, McWhorter, Wheelock, Mahon and Stewart elementary schools, Mrs. Shadden said.

The new immunizations will bring the total number of newly inoculated school children to 2,500, with cases reported in 15 schools. The school district has an estimated 31,000 students.

Way said the Texas Department of Health had been notified of the city's new cases and would continue supplying vaccine.

About 5,200 Texas Tech students have been immunized, Way said.

"We've vaccinated a much smaller percentage of the LISD students, so that's where we expect the biggest number of second wave cases to be," Way said.

Thornburg: only fraction of S&L losses recoverable

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush promises to "relentlessly pursue" crooked managers of failed savings and loans, but his attorney general does not expect to recover more than a tiny fraction of the billions of dollars in federally insured deposits they embezzled or lost.

"We'd be fooling ourselves to think that any substantial portion of these assets is going to be recovered," Attorney General Dick Thornburgh told the Senate Banking Committee on Thursday.

"In many cases," he said, "the assets have been dissipated through laundering schemes or taken out of the country and are beyond the reach of federal authorities."

Bush's $90 billion rescue package to take control of the remaining insolvent S&Ls and pay off their depositors would require at least $40 billion from taxpayers over the next 10 years.

While acknowledging that taxpayers ultimately will bear a burden, many lawmakers say they first want federal prosecutors to recover as much as possible through forfeitures and fines from what Sen. Barbara Mikulski, D-Md., called the "go-go boys who perpetrated this outrageous fraud."

Republican Sen. Phil Gramm of Texas, where the biggest portion of the fraudulent S&L lending cases have occurred, agreed with Thornburgh that "you might not get blood out of a turnip, but you can get some satisfaction."

"The plain truth is that the real crooks have long left the S&L business," Gramm said. "But we want you to find your meanest and toughest prosecutors and go after these people."

Rep. Paul K. Kanjorski, D-Pa., on Thursday asked the General Accounting Office to review Bush's plan and whether the $50 billion in higher insurance premiums that it would impose on S&Ls and banks will drive more of them into insolvency.

Thornburgh blamed fraud, embezzlement and other insider abuses for 25 percent to 30 percent of the S&L failures.

Bush budget now in Congress' hand

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic-controlled Congress began adjusting to life under a new Republican administration today after receiving President Bush's call for no new taxes, increases in scattered domestic programs and an offer to "work day and night" to tackle the deficit.

"The people didn't send us here to bicker," the new president said Thursday night in a nationally televised speech before a joint session of the House and Senate. "It's time to govern."

Initial Democratic reaction to the new president and his $1.16 trillion budget was cordial but wary. Republicans cheered when he renewed his campaign call for a cut in capital gains taxes. Most Democrats sat silently in their seats.

Fights also are likely over Bush's proposed $5 billion cut in the Medicare insurance program for the elderly, and his renewed commitment to the Star Wars missile defense program.

Democrats promised cooperation — and left it at that.

"That does not mean obedience. It does mean our honest help and our very best advice," said Speaker Jim Wright of Texas, who presides over a House with a 261-175 Democratic majority.

Senate Republican Leader Bob Dole termed the president's budget blueprint "not the final answer, it's the starting point." He added, "Congress can swat it away, or it can grasp the president's hand in the true spirit of cooperation."

The Bush budget envisions a deficit of $91.1 billion, beneath the $100 billion mandated in the federal anti-deficit law. But Bush's deficit figure is predicated on rosy economic assumptions carried over from the Reagan administration — assumptions of continued strong growth that many economists question.

The president's speech was not a State of the Union address in the literal sense. But it served as one, from the pageantry of a House chamber filled with lawmakers, the diplomatic corps, Supreme Court justices and hundreds of guests, to the breadth of his remarks.

"We Americans have only begun our mission of goodness and greatness," he concluded.

Bush said he would "proceed with caution" in his dealings with the Soviet Union, but said, "We will not miss any opportunity for peace." He vowed to work for the elimination of chemical weapons and said he would "stand firm" for democracy in Nicaragua and elsewhere in Central America.

The new president called for trimming $2.6 billion from President Reagan's final Pentagon budget, adding a few programs for education, aid to the homeless and the environment, all areas that fit in his campaign promise of a "kinder, gentler nation."

However, his overall education budget would fail to keep up with inflation, and his child-care credit is limited to only the poorest of families — those making $10,000 a year or less.

He urged enactment of measures to revitalize inner cities, declared a fiercer war on drugs and took a page from Jesse Jackson's campaign text when he said to kids living in the inner cities: "Keep hope alive."

Bush's Pentagon spending plan calls for an increase next year that would allow spending to rise with inflation but no higher. "After that increases above inflation will be required," he said.

In their immediate post-mortems on Thursday night, Republicans and Democrats alike predicted that Bush's spending blueprint would pave the way for negotiations with Congress.

"The Bush budget is a tough one giving first priority to deficit reduction," Rep. Bill Frenzel of Minnesota, senior Republican on the House Budget Committee said. "It will be subject to lots of negotiation, but it is an important step toward a deficit solution."

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas., who joined Wright in delivering the official Democratic response, said his party will work with the president. "That doesn't mean we won't disagree. There'll be some sharp, principled disagreements among Democrats and Republicans over one of the greatest challenges America has ever faced," he said.

When it came to the budget, Bush did not claim to have the final solution.

He said he and his team "are ready to work with the Congress, to form a special leadership group, to negotiate in good faith, to work day and night — if that's what it takes."

There were discouraging words for the president from Democrats who vowed to fight any cuts in Medicare, and Rep. Dan Rostenkowski said he would use his chairmanship of the House Ways and Means Committee to contest cuts in the capital gains tax.

Not all Republican were entirely pleased, either.

"It's not immediately apparent how all those initiative are going to be paid for, even with the defense freeze. Maybe that will become apparent tomorrow," said Sen. Gordon Humphrey, R-N.H.

One Democrat, Sen. Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, chided Bush for straying too far from conservative doctrine.

"It's a much kinder, gentler budget. His speech could have been delivered by any Democrat," he said. "His problem will be getting it through his party. Ours will go along with 70 or 80 percent of it."

Bush said his predecessor had wrought improvements in eight years. "I don't propose to reverse direction," he said. "We are headed the right way." Nonetheless, he proposed a string of initiatives that indicated shifts from some of the positions of the Reagan administration.

Among his proposals: —Increased spending of $2.2 billion over Reagan's budget for basic research.

—Enactment of urban enterprise zone legislation to revitalize inner cities.

—An increase of almost $1 billion for the war on drugs, coupled with this threat to the drug pushers: "If you are caught and convicted, you will do time." He repeated his campaign call for the death penalty for "the worst kingpins."

—Environmental initiatives including funding for a clean coal technology agreement with Canada, an improved Clean Air Act with specific deadlines for reducing acid rain and new acquisitions under the land and water conservation fund. He also called for indefinite postponement of two oil lease sales off the California Coast and a third in Florida.

In a bow to anti-abortionists, Bush proposed a tax deduction of up to $3,000 for parents who adopt a child.

He also called on Congress to enact his savings and loan industry rescue plan within 45 days.

And he called for a host of changes in budgeting, including several that have been rejected before, including a constitutional amendment to balance the budget, a law permitting the president to veto individual items in appropriations bills. He recommended other steps to strengthen his hand in budget negotiations with Congress, as well.

Bush also said he favors statehood for Puerto Rico, but called on Congress to establish a referendum to allow the people of the commonwealth to decide.

Corpus Christi obscenity conviction could help determine standards

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A Corpus Christi video store manager's conviction for promoting obscene material will help prosecutors in determining what constitutes the "community standard" in obscenity cases, an official said.

"I think it's another step toward finding out what is allowed and isn't allowed in Corpus Christi," Nueces County Attorney Carlos Valdez said.

Juan Garcia, 55, was convicted Wednesday on two counts of promotion of obscenity, a Class-A misdemeanor, and was formally sentenced Thursday to six months' probation and was fined $500.

Garcia's conviction marks the first time county prosecutors have prevailed in an obscenity case involving videotapes.

Judge James Klager's County Court-at-Law No. 4 sentenced Garcia and said that the probation terms for each count will run concurrently.

As a condition of probation, Garcia must report to the probation department once a month and must perform 100 hours of community service by picking up trash with a beach crew, Klager said.

The jury had recommended a $2,000 fine on each count, but suspended $1,700 on the first count and $1,800 on the second count — meaning Garcia would pay a total of $500.

Obituaries

CARL L. WOOD

Carl L. Wood

Services for Carl L. Wood, 78, of Route 3, Snyder will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday at East Side Church of Christ with Tom Holcomb officiating, assisted by Roy Rosson. Burial will follow at Dunn Cemetery under the direction of Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home.

He was dead on arrival at 11:35 a.m. Thursday at Cogdell Memorial Hospital. He was born Nov. 24, 1910 in Searcy, Ark. He was a retired employee of the City of Snyder and had lived in Scurry County since 1920. He was married to Essie Belle Rinehart in March of 1929 in Snyder. She survives.

He is also survived by two sons, Daryl Wood of Big Spring and Billy Rinehart of Arlington; one foster son, Wallace Rinehart of Lanthan, Md.; 12 grandchildren; 16 great-grandchildren; and one brother, Otho Wood of McFarland, Ca.

He was preceded in death by a daughter, Evelyn Meador, in 1987.

Maggie Fenton

Services for Maggie Evelyn Blakely Fenton, 68, of Route 2, Snyder, will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the First Baptist Church with the Rev. E. K. Shephard of Brownfield officiating. Burial will follow in Snyder Cemetery under the direction of Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home.

Mrs. Fenton died at 9:45 a.m. Thursday at her home following a lengthy illness. She was born on June 9, 1920 in Snyder and was a long time member of the First Baptist Church. She was married to William Myron Fenton on July 28, 1939 in Snyder. He survives.

Mrs. Fenton saw her father purchase the first Farmall tractor to be used in Scurry County. She was a homemaker and her husband's partner in a furniture store business and ranching.

Other survivors include one daughter, Brenda Ann Conaster of Oklahoma City, Okla.; two sons, Dr. Ronnie Myron Fenton of San Angelo and John Sherman Fenton of Desoto; six grandchildren, Kim Michelle Nichols of Copperas Cove, Shawna Lee Conaster and Duann Lacie Bacon of Fredricksburg, Boyd Sherman Fenton and Truman Haymaker Fenton, both of San Angelo, and Virginia Nicole Fenton of Desoto; one great-grandchild, Ryan Nichols; four sisters, Iris Lynn Stewart of New Braunfels, Norene Alfred of Yuma, Ariz., Shirley Payne of Lubbock, and Islasu Minor of Snyder; and one brother, Monte Blakely of Snyder.

Lorraine Cartwright

Services for Lorraine Cartwright, 73, of Austin, former Snyder resident, will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at Faith Baptist Church with the Rev. L. W. "Buck" Hatfield, pastor, officiating. She died Thursday.

She had lived in Snyder for 32 years before moving to Austin in 1982.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Bud Cartwright, and a grandson, Glen DeLisle.

She is survived by five daughters, Barbara LeLisle and Janice Crowder, both of Austin; Shirley Rodriguez of Denver, Colo.; Linda Sterling of Pasco, Wash.; Joyce Farnworth of Abilene; nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Memorial contributions may be made to Faith Baptist Church.

In 1533, Atahualpa, the last Incan king of Peru, was murdered on the orders of Spanish conqueror Francisco Pizarro.

Judge's impeachment petition filed

DALLAS (AP) — A petition has been filed for impeachment of a Dallas judge who said he gave a convicted killer a lighter sentence in part because the victims were homosexuals.

The petition for impeachment of District Judge Jack Hampton was filed Thursday with District Judge Ron Chapman, who also serves as the state's presiding judge of the First Administrative Judicial Region.

"Completing this action today represents a bold and courageous step on the part of these participants — many of whom earn their living by practicing law in Judge Hampton's courtroom," said William Waybourn, president of the Dallas Gay Alliance, which coordinated the filing of the petition.

Two weeks after sentencing Richard Bednarski to 30 years in prison for the slaying of two Dallas men, Hampton told the Dallas Times Herald he gave Bednarski a lighter sentence because the victims were "queers."

"I put prostitutes and gays at about the same level," the judge told the newspaper. "If these boys had picked up two prostitutes and taken them to the woods and killed them, I'd consider that a similar case."

Meanwhile, in Austin a coalition of civil rights groups announced they will stage a rally today to demand that the State Commission on Judicial Conduct remove Hampton.

The demonstration was scheduled to take place in front of the Texas Retirement Systems office, where officials say the Judicial Conduct Commission will be hearing Hampton's response to charges alleging misconduct in the incident.

The impeachment petition will not be mailed until Monday in order to give more lawyers opportunity to sign it, Waybourn said.

"Rightful-thinking people everywhere must do everything in their power to prevent of a kinder and gentler nation, tempered it with a great deal of common sense, and put some meat on the skeleton," said Rep. Steve Bartlett, a Dallas Republican.

Bartlett said he liked Bush's child care proposal, merit schools, presidential teacher awards, research and development tax credit, the capital gains differential and employment opportunities for disabled people.

But Rep. Jim Chapman, a Sulphur Springs Democrat, said he was disappointed the president discussed Puerto Rican statehood but not the domestic energy industry, although he did propose tax incentives in his budget.

"I hope that is not a lack of commitment to issues critical to his state and mine. Yet he felt compelled to talk about a referendum of statehood for Puerto Rico," Chapman said.

Chapman said he would have preferred to see more substantive initiatives in education than "handing out government awards."

something like this from every happening again," Waybourn said at a news conference. "We cannot allow any more Judge Hamptons. We must make it as difficult as possible for him to remain in office."

Hampton told the Times Herald he thought voters would forget the remarks by the time he is up for re-election in 1990.

Teacher rating plan approved evaluations.

The appraisal system has five ratings, unsatisfactory, below expectations, satisfactory, exceeds expectation and clearly outstanding.

To qualify for Level II, the teacher must have a rating of "exceeding expectations" for the two years immediately preceding selection.

For placement to Level III, a Level II teacher has two routes.

The faster route would involve three successive years as a Level II teacher. During these three years, their ratings would have to be at least two "clearly outstanding" ratings—the highest given—and one "exceeding expectations."

The other route would involve a minimum of five years as a Level II teacher. In addition, for four successive years they must have received a rating of "exceeding expectations" or above.

Other requirements include specified amounts of "higher education" course work and academic training sessions.

The career ladder policy involves also "maintenance" of either Level II or Level III designations.

For Level II, the teacher would be downgraded back to Level I if they received a "satisfactory" rating for two years in a row.

To maintain Level III status and its $3,000 supplement, a teacher would be required to earn an "exceeds expectation" every year with one stipulation. After being chosen for Level III, the district would allow one rating of satisfactory.

If a second rating of satisfactory was received, the teacher's status would be downgraded back to Level I.

In both cases, if a teacher was downgraded, they then start the process over for selection to the next higher rating.

School budget has adjustment the new equipment to be funded by $310 from a repair budget and $310 from a supplies budget in the same department.

Also, the board approved advertising for a tractor and catcher to be used by the grounds maintenance department.

The meeting began with a one-hour executive session to discuss personnel. No action was taken when the board came back in open session.

All trustees attended the meeting to include Billy Bob McMullan, who presided, and Ann Walton, Ken Branam, Ygnacio (Junior) Benitez, Terry Martin, Luann Burleson and Mike Jordan.

Hampton could not be reached for comment when called by The Associated Press Thursday.

Waybourn said Hampton's continued service on the bench would only serve to "further the ignorance, prejudice and violence that accompanied Richard Bednarski on his trip to Oak Lawn that night, when he murdered Tommy Lee Trimble and John Lloyd Griffin."

According to the state constitution, impeachment proceedings may be started with a petition from 10 lawyers who practice in the court of the targeted judge. The impeachment article stipulates that "Causes of this kind shall have precedence and be tried as soon as practicable."

Hampton apologized for the remarks to a group of Oak Lawn ministers, but Waybourn said it wasn't a direct apology to those his comments addressed.

Bednarski's attorney, Kevin Clancy, sought a new trial for his client Wednesday. Clancy said a juror went to the scene of the shooting on his own during deliberations. Hampton has taken the matter "under advisement," The Dallas Morning News reported.

Oil incentives noted in speech

aimed at finding new oil and gas fields and reclaiming old ones.

He said tax incentives "can give the domestic oil and gas industry the necessary stimulus," particularly to the small producers "who are so vital to our energy security. Historically, independent producers have drilled a majority of America's exploratory wells."

Bush, however, called an oil import fee protectionist and said it amounts to a tax increase on all energy users.

His four tax incentives would encourage exploration of new oil and gas fields and reclamation of old fields, and would be phased out if the price of oil reaches $21 a barrel.

The spot price for West Texas crude, the benchmark oil, closed at $17.40 Thursday.

Charles J. DiBona, president of the American Petroleum Institute, called the tax incentives "a step in the right direction. But they alone cannot stem the serious decline in domestic petroleum production."

Other steps, however, are required, including opening to exploration promising federal lands on shore in Alaska and off shore in California and Florida, he said.

"Therefore, it was gratifying to hear once again the president endorse access to the coastal plain off the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge in Alaska," DiBona said.

The API, however, "would be concerned about unnecessary delays in off-shore leasing" and believes a prompt review of off-shore leasing would show that exploration and production is "environmentally safe and should be permitted to proceed," DiBona said.

While welcomed by another industry official, the measures must still clear a Congress wrestling with a budget deficit and not known for rushing to the industry's defense.

"It's going to take work. You've got a budget deficit that's a black hole, and it's difficult to give tax incentives to J.R. Ewing. That's how it plays in the public mind," said Barney White, a vice president of corporate affairs at Zapata Corp. in Houston, an oil drilling contractor founded by the president.

White said Bush's proposals would "certainly help" the foundering industry, which has been battling low prices for several years.

Wells have been shut down because the costs of production exceed returns, with the number of rigs falling from more than 4,000 in 1981 to less than 1,000 today. Some 150,000 jobs have been lost since 1986 and domestic production fell from 9.1 million barrels a day to little more than 8.1 billion a day.

"This represents an important package aimed at enhancing our ability to find and produce oil here at home," said Sen. Phil Gramm, a Texas Republican. "It's an important first step toward establishing a national energy policy."

Rep. Jack Fields, a Humble Republican, said the Bush proposals "go a long way to bringing back domestic exploration. The domestic energy industry is an industry that takes great risks and there should be some consideration in the tax code for that kind of industry."

Fields said there is growing recognition in Congress of the industry's problems.

Bush's package includes a tax credit on intangible drilling costs, those not directly associated with drilling a well — such as hauling equipment. The measure is expected to reduce revenues to the U.S. Treasury by $200 million in fiscal 1990, $300 million in 1991 and 1992, and $400 million in 1993.

He also recommends a tax credit for capital expenditures on all new tertiary enhanced recovery projects — those that use steam, carbon dioxide or chemical injectants to remove oil and gas from fields. The measure is expected to reduce revenues by $50 million or less a year.

Tax incentives are proposed to encourage exploration for independent producers, at an anticipated cost to the government of $100 million a year.

Another element of the plan seeks to change oil and gas depletion rules that discourage the transfer of marginal wells to independent producers and result in the premature abandonment of producing wells. The loss of federal revenues is estimated at $50 million or less annually.

The real story about psoriasis cures

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a victim of psoriasis. Would fish oil help?

DEAR READER: Many home remedies have been touted to cure psoriasis, a common skin disorder marked by well-circumscribed, scaling silver patches. Such remedies include cod-liver oil or vitamin E gel applied to the skin. As far as I know, none of these methods works.

Psoriasis is ordinarily treated more successfully with cortisone cream, various coal-tar shampoos and drugs, such as Methotrexate, some of which are toxic to the body and can cause liver damage.

In the past few years, psoralens and ultraviolet light A, or PUVA, therapy has achieved a sound reputation for success. The patient is given psoralen pills, followed by exposure to measured amounts of UV light. The doses of both the medicine and the light must be carefully individualized to each patient. A major drawback is that skin cancers may appear in susceptible individuals after repeated exposure. Therefore, PUVA therapy should be administered only by a specialist who is familiar with the technique.

For more information I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Eczema and Psoriasis." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What would cause a person with epilepsy to have seizures always around the time of her period? I was told to increase my Tegretol, but otherwise my neurogist has no comment.

DEAR READER: Epilepsy is a disorder of electrical activity in the brain, marked by periodic and random bursts of electricity that cause seizures. In most cases, the cause is unknown.

Some patients with epilepsy experience individual patterns of seizures related to stress, fatigue and variations in body chemistry, such as menstruation. The reasons for this are not understood. If this is your pattern, your neurologist was correct in advising you to modify your dose of Tegretol, an anti-convulsant medicine.

For more information I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Epilepsy: The Falling Sickness." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Please tell me about basal cell carcinoma.

DEAR READER: This is a type of skin cancer that appears as a small, shiny patch and progresses to a larger lesion with crusting, scabbing and bleeding. Basal cell carcinomas rarely metastasize (spread to distant parts of the body) but they can cause trouble by burrowing and invading underlying tissue. They are malignant but not highly so.

Effective treatment always involves surgical excision, with or without X-ray therapy. Anti-cancer creams, such as topical fluorouracil, should never be used in treating basal cell carcinomas because the malignant cells can spread extensively within the skin beneath the creams.

DALLAS (AP) — Defense Secretary-designate John Tower received support from the Texas media and colleagues as his confirmation was delayed while the FBI investigates excessive drinking allegations and other charges.

Newspaper editorials defended Tower, who faces allegations of financial ties with military contractors. The former U.S. senator testified four days before the Senate Armed Services Committee considering his nomination.

Saying the Tower nomination was being held hostage, The Dallas Morning News urged in an editorial Thursday that his nomination be approved soon.

"Senator Nunn has built a reputation as a fair and responsible senator. He knows full well that Mr. Tower has knowledge and ability for the defense secretary's job that few others possess," the editorial said.

"Unless he can find convincing evidence that John Tower has broken the rules of ethics and probity, Senator Nunn and all members of his committee should pocket their stones and quickly approve John Tower's nomination as defense secretary."

In an editorial Thursday, the Corpus Christi Caller-Times said, "No one should doubt John Tower's commitment to the national interest. Nor should anyone suspect Tower of seeking the defense post in order to profit personally. ...

"Nor should anyone doubt that Tower, if he feels he has been so compromised as to be rendered ineffective, will in the national interest ask that his name be withdrawn from consideration. Whatever the truth of the allegations, Tower is a patriot; he will act accordingly."

Timothy G. Greene, a principal of Tower, Eggers & Greene Consultants Inc. said that Tower was a well respected man. "And, as the president says, I'd like to see him treated fairly."

'Lonesome Dove' increases sales

HOUSTON — "Lonesome Dove" is over, but the storm of Western interest spawned by the television miniseries is raging in Houston.

Western wear stores are being flooded with requests for hats like the ones "Gus" and "Captain Call" wore in the movie, for coats like "Jake Spoon's" and for spurs.

And there also is a stampede for copies of the Pulitzer Prize-winning Larry McMurtry novel on which the CBS miniseries was based.

"Can you make me a hat that looks like Cap'n Call's?" more than one urban cowboy has asked Rick Cowen, manager of Stelzig's, a Galleria-area Western wear store.

"They want (Western) hats, spurs and dusters — those long-waisted coats, like the one Jake Spoon wore," Cowen said Wednesday.

As an expert on Western lore, Cowen said "Lonesome Dove" was the real thing, too.

"Course, I been just fascinated with the series,"

Cowen said as he helped customer Joy Wallace try on a hat.

"It's good — real good," Ms. Wallace said. She realized she suddenly "needed" another hat Wednesday after three days under the influence of "Lonesome Dove."

At The Hat Store, salesman Wayne Mills chuckled when asked if he'd heard anybody talking about "Lonesome Dove."

"Just everybody that comes in here," he said.

ple wanting hats shaped like Augustus," Mills said. "It's a hell of a movie, I tell you what."

The Hat Store owner Gary Cohen cited a "real renaissance" in Western wear. At least "eight or nine" people have come into his store demanding hats shaped like those worn by "Lonesome Dove" characters — "primarily like Gus," Cohen said.

"An ongoing sequel would be fantastic," said Doug Haubold, manager of Don's Western Wear.

Melon growers are voting on the issues

by The Associated Press

Watermelons have had their fair share of abuse, including the ignominious humiliation of being tossed off a tall building by talk show host David Letterman, but that would change if a national producers group has its way.

Growers and buyers nationwide are voting this month whether to tax themselves to promote melon research and promotion. Several officials say they have taken keen note of the California Raisin Industry's dancing raisins, who even have their own record albums, and wouldn't mind kicking up their own heels with national advertising.

"Dancing watermelons are very possible," said Buddy Leger, co-chairman of a committee working to pass the national referendum. "We would like to do a better job of promoting and advertising our product. And dancing raisins just tells you what you can do."

Voting opened Monday and will continue through Feb. 21.

Senator among 53 who kept $100,000 plus in speaking fees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Phil Gramm of Texas kept more than $100,000 in honoraria fees for personal use from 1983 through 1987, according to a study by the public advocacy group Common Cause.

Common Cause said Gramm was among 53 senators who earned and kept in excess of $100,000 during the five-year period.

Gramm, a Republican, ranked 47th out of the 53 members in Common Cause's "$100,000 Senate Honoraria Club" by collecting $110,215 in fees for speeches and appearances before special interest groups.

"Honoraria fees have become a special interest annuity for many members of the Senate. That is fundamentally unacceptable," said Fred Wertheimer, president of Common Cause, in Everyone in the country who grows at least five acres of melons and those handlers who buy direct from the melon raisers can cast ballots.

If passed, the referendum would establish a 29-member national board to develop research and marketing programs for watermelons. Activities would be funded by a two-cent per hundred weight assessment on farmers of 5 acres or more and first-handlers.

"It would help the whole industry," said Ervin Willman of San Juan, an official with the Texas-Oklahoma Watermelon Association. "It would put a lot of money into promotion of watermelons on a national basis."

Leger said no one can be certain how many watermelons are sold, partially because the U.S. Department of Agriculture stopped compiling watermelon sales figures in 1980. But he guesses that about $165 million worth of melons are sold annually — at a national average of six cents a pound.

calling on Congress to move quickly to ban honoraria.

"Common Cause supports increases in pay for members of Congress and other top-level government officials. Common Cause has also said that regardless of what happens on the salary issue, the totally discredited honoraria fee system must be ended immediately," Wertheimer said.

Under current law, senators are allowed to keep up to 40 percent of their Senate salary in fees for appearances, speeches and articles, while House members can keep up to 30 percent. Members of Congress may receive fees above the limit if the money is donated to charity.
