North 'directed' document change

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oliver North's former secretary, Fawn Hall, says he directed her to alter documents outlining his deep involvement with the Nicaraguan Contra rebels during a period in which U.S. aid to them was against the law.

In testimony Wednesday, Ms. Hall also acknowledged that North joked about going to jail in 1985 when she typed false letters to Congress denying that North was involved with the Contras. North now is charged with lying to Congress.

"Col. North made jokes and there were jokes made about" going to jail, Hall testified. "He is one to jest often. ... He had a great sense of humor."

Gramm to tackle disparity in Medicare reimbursement

LEVELLAND, Texas (AP) — Sen. Phil Gramm pledged to work to whittle the disparity in Medicare reimbursement between urban and rural hospitals, calling rural health care U.S. medicine's No. 1 problem.

"We're going to have to reduce and hopefully eliminate the differential in payment between what we pay providers in urban areas and what we pay them for health care in a rural setting," Gramm said Wednesday on a tour of a hospital here.

Nine rural hospitals closed last year in Texas, and another two have shut down this year. Hospital officials say the reduced reimbursement for Medicare treatment given to rural facilities relative to urban hospitals makes it tough to survive.

Both urban and rural taxpayers can benefit from improved rural health care, said the senator.

"Providing primary health care where people live in the rural areas is actually cheaper," he said.

Gramm praised the urban-rural cooperation demonstrated at Methodist Hospital of Levelland. Six months ago, Hockley County purchased the struggling facility and leased it to Lubbock Methodist.

No new candidates...

Deadline now past for city, ISD posts

The deadline passed Wednesday with no new candidates surfacing for either two expiring positions on the Snyder school board or the three seats, to include the position of mayor, on the city council.

For Snyder ISD, the two at-large seats now held by Ken Branam and Luann Burleson are expiring and, at the city, terms are expiring for Mayor Troy Williamson and council members Paul Zeck and John Johnson.

Four of the five incumbents are seeking new terms with only Johnson indicating he would not be a candidate again.

On the school board, both Branam and Burleson are completing their second year as trustees after being first elected in a special ballot held in April of 1987. At that time, the board reorganized to implement single member districts.

Branam, 40, is pastor of First Baptist Church here and Burleson, 38, is a housewife.

The two other school board candidates, in order of filing, are:

—Sam Robertson, 47, owner-operator of Sam Robertson Insurance and a former high school band director here.

—Mark Zeck, 35, vice president of Y-Z Industries.

For the school board's two at-large posts, the two candidates receiving the greatest number of votes will be declared the winners this coming May 6. School trustees serve three-year terms.

In the city council race for mayor, incumbent Williamson seeks his second two-year term and will face challenger Alfred Kohl.

Williamson, 51, is the owner of Williamson Auto Supply and has served on the council since 1983, three years as a councilman.

Kohl, 60, is now employed with Price Brothers Construction and retired in 1984 after 30 years employment with the city, the last 13 of those as director of operations for three departments, fire, street and sanitation.

For the two at-large council seats, candidates, in order of filing, are:

—Paul Zeck, 38, president of Y-Z Industries here and a council member since April of 1987.

—Mike Thornton, 40, director of adult and continuing education at Western Texas College.

—Jim Tully, 59, a former director of student financial aid at WTC now employed as a PR staffer with Wal-Mart.

—Rodger Potts, 34, a lineman with Midwest Electric and a member of the volunteer fire department.

The two at-large candidates gaining the most votes will be elected. For these positions, there is no possibility of a runoff.

For the city races, a drawing for place on the ballot will be held at 5 p.m. Monday.

In both the city and school races, absentee voting will start April 17 and end May 2.

Persons must be registered to vote by April 6 in order to vote in the May 6 ballot.

Ira, Hermleigh signup ends

The filing period ended Wednesday for seats on both the Ira and Hermleigh Independent School Districts with contested races developing at Hermleigh. Both have scheduled board elections on May 6.

At Hermleigh, the three year terms of Jesse Rios and Ronnie Price expire this year. Each is seeking re-election. They will be challenged by Donald R. McHaney and Rex Reynolds. Since each position at Hermleigh is "at large," the top two candidates capturing the most votes will be declared the winners.

At Ira, Place 6 and Place 7 expire this year and incumbents Keith Clements, Place 6, and Wylie Oliver, Place 7, are both seeking re-election. Neither will be opposed.

Clements was appointed last fall to fill the then unexpired term of Carl Smith, who resigned. Since that term expires this year, Clements is running for a full three-year term for Place 6.

Absentee voting begins April 17 and will conclude on May 2. Absentee voters in both communities may cast their ballots at the superintendent's office of each school.

Hermleigh voters will cast their ballots at the school on May 6 and Ira voters will go to the Ira Community Center. John W. Jordan is the election judge at Hermleigh and Clarence Payne serves as election judge for Ira.

Bank director suit action is finalized

LUBBOCK—A civil suit seeking $2.5 million from former officers and directors of the defunct First National Bank of Snyder has been settled in federal district court.

Federal District Judge Sam Cummings on March 15 approved the settlement and approved judgment of dismissal in the case filed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation against former officers and directors of the bank which was closed by federal regulators on May 4, 1984. The lawsuit was filed three years later.

The out-of-court settlement included an agreement with North River Insurance Company, the bank's carrier of officer and director liability insurance coverage.

The suit had named as defendants former officers—Phil Guerry and Larry Lane. Also named as defendants were former directors Sam Spikes, Buster Anderson, Malvin Donelson, Milton Ham, Morris Light, Billy McCormick, Roy McQueen and E. D. Walton.

Agriculture honor set for 15th presentation

The 15th presentation will be given on Saturday of the local award which points to achievement in agriculture, the Winston Award.

The recognition plaque has been presented every year since 1974 at the annual chamber of commerce banquet. It is named in honor of Scurry County land owner Harrie Winston.

Winston passed away on Jan. 19, 1974 — only some two weeks prior to the annual spring banquet for that year. On Jan. 27, chamber officials announced the first annual Harrie Winston Memorial Award.

He and his brother, Wade, were one of the early benefactors for Scurry County facilities, donating the land for Winston Field airport which was formally dedicated here on Sept. 27, 1953.

During his life, he was an active chamber supporter, serving as its second president. Overall, his work with the chamber dated over a half century.

On Feb. 2, 1974, the first memorial award was presented to Snyder High School FFA sponsor and ag teacher Billy Bob McMullan. He repeated as a winner at his retirement in 1986.

Criteria for the honor includes persons engaged in agriculture — farming or ranching — who demonstrate leadership and progressiveness.

Since 1974, those who have

Pointeau aid meet tonight

There will be a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at The Shack for all friends and other individuals interested in assisting the Jack Pointeau family, now facing an order of departure from the U.S. by the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

A legal fund to raise some $3,000 to retain an attorney has been begun here. A legal challenge to the INS order in U.S. District Court is viewed as a means of delaying the deportation order from two to three years.

4 schedule services on Maundy Thursday

As Easter Sunday approaches, several Snyder churches have scheduled Maundy Thursday services tonight.

In addition, the week-long observance of Holy Week will end on Good Friday with a morning Tenebrae service sponsored by the Scurry County Ministerial Alliance.

On Maundy Thursday, both Colonial Hill Baptist Church and First Presbyterian Church will offer communion at services beginning at 7 p.m.

Also at 7 p.m., Grace Lutheran Church will have a service to be followed by a potluck dinner.

At 7:30 p.m., First Christian Church will offer communion to its members also.

On Friday, the ministerial alliance-sponsored rites will shift to the early morning hours as a Tenebrae service of candles and readings is held at the First Methodist Church.

It will begin at 7 a.m. with speakers to be members of the alliance. A breakfast meal will be provided by members of First United Methodist and a good will offering will be asked.

The SDN Column

The feller on Deep Creek says, "You know your wife is serious when she changes her name to plaintiff."

No doubt the best job in the Bush administration is Secretary of Treasury.

There's nothing to do. Congress has already spent all the money.

A reporter is said to have asked former Texas senator John Tower if he had any hard feelings about being rejected by his former colleagues as Secretary of Defense.

"Nunn."

The President of the California Bar Association is leading a serious crusade to stop the spread of lawyer jokes. He suggests that lawyers leave the room if someone starts to rib his honorable profession.

Our guess is that a lot of lawyers will have to leave a lot of rooms. The crusader against attorney jokes says he is most frustrated by the fact that so many of the jokes originate with lawyers who are said to tell jokes to their clients in an effort to put them at ease.

The Wall Street Journal reports that one newspaper in California has a regular Lawyer Jokes column, and the most frequent contributors are lawyers. Some lawyers do, however, write letters of protest to the editor.

The bar association president says he doesn't understand why jabs aren't aimed at other professions—such as doctors.

There's an old story about the doctor and lawyer who went bird hunting. They found the bird lease was infested with rattlesnakes.

The doctor put on boots, leggings and all kinds of protective gear while the lawyer urged the doc to hurry up.

Aren't you worried about the rattlesnakes? the doctor asked.

"Heck no," explained the lawyer. "Haven't you heard about professional courtesy?"

Q. — Why isn't fishing allowed in the Western Texas College lake?

A. — Trustees at the college voted to ban fishing at the golf course lake four or five years ago. The two activities—fishing and golfing—just didn't "mix," primarily because of the danger to fishermen of being hit by golf balls.

In Brief

Safe landing

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) — An American Airlines jet experienced an undetermined problem leaving Houston Hobby Airport today, but landed safely at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport an hour later.

Authorities reported no injuries.

"All we know is it had a problem coming out of Houston Hobby," said Al Becker, American Airlines spokesman. "We don't understand the nature of it yet. We are doing an investigation."

Becker said Flight 508 left Hobby at 7:48 a.m. and had an "abnormal" experience after it took off. But he said the landing at DFW was uneventful and the plane was able to pull up to the gate.

DR. GOTT

PETER GOTT, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is there such a thing as excessively low cholesterol and triglyceride serum levels?

DEAR READER: Yes, but I must qualify my answer.

When reading the currently published material on blood fats, one might conclude that the lower the cholesterol and triglycerides, the better. Experts are now recommending that adults attempt to reduce serum cholesterol and triglycerides to below 200 milligrams/deciliter and 150 milligrams/deciliter, respectively. These figures are probably unrealistic for the average American.

Appropriate levels of blood fats are age-related, as we grow older, the permissible levels increase. In children, cholesterol/triglyceride values of 175 milligrams/50 milligrams would be normal; in an adult, that would be low. Most labs put the low normal-limit of cholesterol for adults at about 150 milligrams, the triglycerides at about 50 milligrams.

However, no one is really sure about normal, low levels in healthy people. Cholesterol and triglyceride levels probably reflect more than mere dietary/genetic factors. In fact, cholesterol itself may be a marker for disease. Excessively low levels are often seen in ill or malnourished patients, and cancer usually causes a fall in blood cholesterol. Therefore, when I see a patient with unusually low blood fats, I'm suspicious that an undiagnosed disease is present.

For more information, I'm sending you a copy of my Health Report "Understanding Cholesterol." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 16-year-old daughter was killed in a car crash.

Three weeks later I found I was pregnant. Our baby was born with mosaic Turner's syndrome, a major heart defect and pyloric stenosis. She had two operations at 5 months, and seems OK now. I'm now getting conflicting advice from my doctors as to her prognosis and what precautions, if any, I should take. Can you help?

DEAR READER: Turner's syndrome (gonadal dysgenesis) is a congenital abnormality caused by the complete or partial absence of one of the two X chromosomes in the female. Men are genetically XY, women normally are XX. If one of the X chromosomes is missing, the child will be born with an incomplete set. This causes a characteristic appearance: short stature, webbing of the neck, droopy eyelids, a wide chest, narrowing of the aorta, absence of ovaries and poor sexual development; kidney abnormalities and intestinal bleeding can occur. Such individuals are not retarded. They can function normally but can never bear children.

A mosaic is a variant in which other chromosomal defects cause additional abnormalities, such as heart or intestinal malfunctions (of which pyloric stenosis is one form).

I cannot give you advice about your baby's health or prognosis because mosaic chromosomal defects cause particular problems in individual children. She should be under the care of a pediatrician who is familiar with afflictions caused by sex chromosome aberrations. Ask for a referral to the pediatric department in a teaching hospital.

The Massachusetts legislature authorized the incorporation in 1870 of Wellesley Female Seminary, which later became Wellesley College.

Funding criteria reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress will not agree to build the super collider unless the Department of Energy secures cost-sharing commitments from foreign contributors, says the influential chairman of a House appropriations committee debating funding for the $4.6 billion atom smasher.

Rep. Tom Bevill, chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee on energy and water development, said Congress will insist on knowing how much foreign countries are committed to spending on the collider before authorizing construction.

"They are going to have to put their name on the line," said Bevill, D-Ala. "We like to talk in specific terms and Congress likes to hear specific figures. I don't like to be vague about it."

But Energy Secretary James D. Watkins said foreign countries are waiting for Congress to signal its commitment to building the high-energy physics project in Texas before they chip in.

Watkins complained it's a "chicken and egg situation this year" and testified Wednesday that everyone "is looking for the next person to make the next commitment."

Bevill countered there won't be much incentive for other countries to participate once the United States takes on the funding.

When Congress agreed to spend $100 million on the super collider last year, "that's getting pretty serious, that's pretty committed," Bevill told Watkins, noting the department always underestimates the final costs of its major projects.

Bevill vowed not to put the super collider "on the credit card" and not to sacrifice all other important energy research to pay for it.

The mood of the country and the mood of Congress "is not too keen on undertaking on a project of this size," Bevill said, if Congress has to foot the whole bill.

Asking Congress to approve the project without knowing exactly how much is coming from non-federal sources is "asking for trouble," Bevill said.

Bevill said Congress agrees with the concept of the super collider and the need for building a scientific instrument with the potential for putting the country at the forefront in high-energy physics, but he must have "a good solid case" for construction when he takes the appropriations bill to his colleagues.

"I'd like to be able to say this country has agreed to do this, and that country has agreed to do that. I think we would have a good case and I think Congress would accept it," Bevill said.

The Energy Department is proposing $1.8 billion toward the cost come from non-federal sources, including $1 billion from the state of Texas.

But even Texas is not willing to begin spending its share if Congress is not committed to construction, and wants a refund clause in case the federal government backs out.

Energy Department officials have testified potential foreign contributors are waiting for Congress to authorize construction before they commit funds.

Strike effect downplayed

HOUSTON (AP) — Continental Airlines officials sought to dispel any doubts among Easter travelers that a flight attendants' strike may disrupt operations, but union leaders contend the airline is hiding delays and cancellations.

Officials at the sister carrier of strike-plagued Eastern Airlines said only 180 of the more than 6,000 Continental flight attendants are striking, while the Union of Flight Attendants claims between 1,200 and 1,300 have walked off the job.

"We believe that the traveling public during this busy holiday season has a right to know the truth," Continental's chief operating officer, Lewis Jordan, said at a Wednesday news conference.

The airline also claimed that the flight attendants' walkout was called at the request of the Eastern Airlines Machinists, who went on strike over contract disputes March 4.

Jordan, maintaining that the strike which began Monday morning is not disturbing service, said the carrier had an average 27 daily cancellations out of 1,400 total flights system-wide from March 1-19 and an average of 12 cancellations daily Monday and Tuesday.

Philip Hobbs, a spokesman for the flight attendants union, however, challenged Jordan's statistics, saying the walkout has caused numerous cancellations and delays.

Hospital partnership re-evaluates profit-sharing with doctors

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A partnership of 140 doctors who collect profits for referring patients to the partnership's two El Paso hospitals is re-evaluating the profit-sharing plan in light of a Texas Medical Association statement on ethics.

El Paso Healthcare System's arrangement allows doctors to profit directly by referring patients to Sun Towers Hospital, Vista Hills Medical Center, three MedPlus clinics and two medical laboratories. All seven facilities are owned by the partnership.

The profit-sharing plan has come under attack because doctors could get more money for ordering unnecessary tests at the medical labs. The plan, in effect, discourages doctors from referring non-insured patients to Sun Towers and Vista Hills.

The Texas Medical Association last week added one sentence to its guidelines on doctors' ownership of hospitals and clinics, stating that profit-sharing "should be based on capital investment" and not on referral of patients. The amplification is a restatement of the American Medical Association's position on the ethics of referral fees and kickbacks.

The ethics statement was a clarification and did not represent a change in the Texas association's position, spokeswoman Lisa Stark Walsh said Tuesday.

At a meeting with the doctor-partners last week, El Paso Healthcare System's president, Russell Schneider, discussed altering the profit-sharing plan in light of the Texas Medical Association's statement.

"He said we're going to revise it to conform with the TMA," said

Lorenzo Monsivais, business manager for his brother, Dr. Jose Monsivais. "If it's unethical, I know there's a whole bunch of (doctors) who are going to pull out."

Donald "Rocky" Wilcox, chief counsel for the Texas Medical Association, said he has discussed the need for changes in the profit-distribution system with an attorney for Columbia Hospital Corp. of Fort Worth, of which El Paso Healthcare System is a subsidiary.

Limited communications

By James Jacoby

Despite the double heart-stopper, three no-trump would have been rough going because of the tricky communication between South's hand and dummy's high cards. Declarer would make nine tricks by dropping the spade queen, but would likely fail by taking a first-round spade finesse. So four spades was not a bad contract.

Declarer won dummy's king of clubs and finessed to his spade jack. When a club came back, declarer won dummy's ace, cashed A-K of diamonds shedding a club and led the heart jack from dummy. East now made a fine play, against all textbook advice, when he failed to cover. So West won the king of hearts. Later declarer had to lose the 10 of spades and another heart trick, so the result was down one.

South misplayed the hand by two tricks. The spade queen will be with East 50 percent of the time, but the chances that the heart honors will be split or will both be in the East hand are 75 percent. It's then better for declarer to give up the trump finesse and maintain the timing and communication to take two heart plays. So win the king of clubs and play a heart to the 10. West wins and continues clubs. Play A-K of diamonds, discard a club, and play a heart to the nine. That wins. Now cash A-K of spades, dropping the queen, and give up a spade to the 10-spot, making one overtrick.

Scones make special snack

By NANCY BYAL
Better Homes and Gardens
Food Editor

I have fond memories of first tasting scones sitting in a British garden having a Devonshire cream tea, a traditional English tea where scones or biscuits are served with raspberry jam and clotted cream and, of course, tea. Made like biscuits, scones are sweeter, richer, and even more tender and flaky than biscuits. Try these delectable little breads for breakfast, brunch, or with a salad.

COUNTRY SCONES

½ cup dried currants
2 cups all-purpose flour
3 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
5 tablespoons margarine or butter
One 8-ounce carton dairy sour cream
1 egg yolk
1 slightly beaten egg white
1 teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon

In small mixing bowl pour hot water over currants to cover; let stand 5 minutes. Drain well; set aside. In large mixing bowl combine flour, 3 tablespoons sugar, baking powder, salt and soda. Cut in margarine until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in currants. In a small bowl blend sour cream and egg yolk. Add all at once to crumb mixture, stir-

Make eating plans for summer travel

NEW YORK (AP) — European Plan (EP), American Plan (AP) and Modified American Plan (MAP) are the standard names for meal plans offered by hotels and resorts. They also are among the most misunderstood terms in travel, says the Travel & Leisure Information Center. Simply put, EP means no meals are included in the room rate. AP means all meals are included. MAP means you get two meals daily. Many resorts with MAP plans allow you to select either lunch or dinner as your second meal.

Rozelle stuns NFL meeting by announcing retirement

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP) — When Pete Rozelle strode to the podium, all but a half-dozen of the 50 or so people in the meeting room thought he was doing no more than opening a routine business session.

A few seconds later, when the commissioner with the second-longest tenure of any chief executive in sports history announced his resignation, there was stunned silence.

"It was as if they didn't believe it," said Wellington Mara of the New York Giants, the NFL's senior owner and one of the few who knew.

A few hours later, most still didn't, not even Al Davis of the Los Angeles Raiders, Rozelle's longtime adversary who embraced the commissioner as he left the meeting room after his resignation.

"I feel emotionally drained," Davis said.

The tear-laden announcement

Wednesday by the 63-year-old Rozelle that he was stepping down three years before his term expires ended a 29-year tenure in which the league expended from 12 teams to 28 and less than $1 million a year in television revenue to a $440 million TV extravaganza about to go international. Only Clarence Campbell, who ran the National Hockey League from 1946-78, was in charge longer.

"We've got the greatest sports league of all time and that makes him the greatest commissioner of all time," said Dan Rooney, president of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Rozelle said he was in good health "except for the 20 pounds I've added since I've quit smoking a year ago," and said he was quitting primarily for family reasons and will move from the New York suburb of Rye to the San Diego area.

Rozelle said he made the decision last October to make the announcement now. But those close to him said it probably gained impetus by the death of his stepson - the son of wife Carrie - two days before last January's Super Bowl.

"I want to enjoy free time - stress free-time - with Carrie," he said.

Elected in 1960 as a compromise candidate at age 33, Rozelle emerged from a background in public relations and as general manager of the Los Angeles Rams to build the first league that shared revenue as a matter of course.

Mara and Lamar Hunt, presidents of the NFC and AFC respectively, will head a five-man search team that will seek a successor. The other members are expected to be named today.

"What we really need," said Rooney, "is another Pete Rozelle."

Western opens spring rodeo effort in Odessa

ODESSA — Ty Roberson, a freshman from Pleasanton, led the way as Western Texas College opened the "second-season" of intercollegiate rodeo here Wednesday.

Roberson clocked a 6.4 to take over second place in the steer wrestling, then joined Ainsworth, Neb. freshman Terry Graff to post a night's best of 8.1 in the team roping.

The Odessa College Rodeo, the first of six Southwest Region rodeos this spring, is being held at 8 p.m. nightly in Ector County Coliseum. Performances continue tonight and Friday with finals set for Saturday.

Western did not have any of its designated team members to compete Wednesday. Only designated team members - six men or three women - can tally team points. Others may enter and earn individual points, however.

In other WTC results from Wednesday, Graff was 16.2 in the steer wrestling and 21.8 with a broken barrier in the calf roping. Also, Brian Davis bucked off in the bareback.

Team members are Ray Brown, Clyde Himes, Jim Blain Kenney, Russell Merchant, Keny Taton and Michael Gaffney, and Lorre Moser, Melanie Graf and Krista Jeffries.

WTC's men are currently in third place in their division after four fall rodeos. The women are sixth. The entire rodeo season is made up of 10 rodeos but only the best seven team performances are tallied for the season's total.

At the end of the season, the top two men's and women's teams advance to the national finals in Bozeman, Mont.

'Batter up' for Tigers tonight at 7 in Pecos

PECOS — Snyder High School opens its 1989 District 4-4A baseball season here today, clashing with rival Pecos at 7 p.m.

The game had originally been scheduled for Tuesday, but snow forced the postponement of all 4-4A opening ballgames. In the only makeup played thus far, fourth-ranked Andrews ripped Big Spring 10-0 on Wednesday.

This afternoon, at 4 p.m., Fort Stockton plays Lake View in San Angelo. A makeup game between Sweetwater and Monahans has been scheduled for March 30.

Snyder Coach Albert Lewis, whose squad is 8-4 for the season, is expected to start Lee Fletcher on the hill tonight against Pecos. Fletcher is a returning letterman with a 4-2 record this season. A tentative lineup has Jason West leading off the order and playing second base, followed by Randy Morris at third base, Fletcher on the mound, Willie Garcia in left field, Tommy Lane in center, Bert Otto at short stop, Bart Morton at first base, Tracy Odum behind the plate and Simon Gutierrez in right field. Toby Goodwin will be the designated hitter for Fletcher.

Lane's .417 bat leads the Tigers. Morris is hitting .415 and Garcia .410.

Snyder plays its first home district game on Tuesday, March 28, when the Tigers entertain Big Spring at 7 p.m.

Training camp limited to just 80 NFL players

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP) — NFL owners, attempting to cut costs and even competition, are limiting all teams to 80 players in training camp.

Under new rules approved Wednesday on a day that all activities were overshadowed by the announcement of Commissioner Pete Rozelle's retirement, the owners also extended the time a player must spend on injured reserve from four weeks to six and set up a six-player developmental squad of rookies and first-year men.

But Rozelle's retirement announcement postponed debate on the long-awaited renewal of instant replay. It will be voted on today, the final day of the meetings and is likely to be approved, if for no other reason than as a going-away present to Rozelle.

"Pete really wants it," said one team official. "I think he'll get it."

That left Wednesday as the day that the same owners who are giving six-figure signing bonuses to unprotected free agents elected to cut costs by trimming rosters.

In the past, there was no limitation on the number of players a team could take to camp. The Denver Broncos, for example, had 140 in camp last year.

"We found out we couldn't find the nuggets we thought we could find," said Patrick Bowlen, the team's owner and member of the finance committee that developed the new plan.

The developmental squad, to be made up of rookies and first-year men who have less than three games experience, is aimed at cutting down on the "stashing" players on injured reserve that had become habitual with many teams.

Washington, for example, kept Mark Rypien on injured reserve before he blossomed last year as a capable quarterback replacement for injured Doug Williams.

The Redskins were one team that voted against the new proposals. But most teams said they could deal with them.

"It might work out to the good," said Bill Walsh.

Origin of fire in railway car is labeled suspect

Firemen responded to two calls Wednesday night and early Thursday, the first at 6:22 p.m. Wednesday to two Santa Fe Railway railroad cars that a department spokesman said was of a "suspicious origin."

The cars, off the Old Post Rd. west of Snyder Iron & Metal in the northern part of town, were being used as living quarters for railroad employees, the spokesman said.

In one, mattresses and storage cabinets above them had fire damage, and in the other, nothing burned but some toilet tissue that had ignited briefly and gone out, he said, adding that burned matches were found at the second scene.

Firefighters returned from the first call at 7:30 p.m. and at 3:30 a.m. Thursday were called to a reported grass fire 12 miles east of Snyder off U.S. 180, where the fire was found to be a controlled burn of insulation off copper wire, the owner of which was not reported.

Sources confirm memo was sent

LONDON (AP) — American military personnel, diplomats and their families have been warned of a possible hijack by Palestinian extremists to hijack a U.S. airliner in Europe on Easter weekend, British and American officials said.

The London tabloid the Daily Express said the possible hijack threat was detailed in a Friday-dated secret memorandum from the U.S. Federal Aviation Administration and that it had been given a copy.

The alert was sent out to American airlines and airports worldwide.

The news agency quoted the spokesman as saying the alert "is very, very urgent. It is coded 'information credible though not confirmed from a reliable source,' but I can't go into details."

In Washington, FAA officials declined comment on the report. But other officials, who demanded anonymity, confirmed that the memo had been issued.

The Daily Express said: "American military personnel and diplomats and their families have been told of the threat, which centers on U.S. airlines."

The British domestic news agency, Press Association, quoted an unidentified FAA spokesman in Washington as say-

Judge lifts injunction; teenager returns home

ZEPHYRHILLS, Fla. (AP) — A 14-year-old girl is back home today after winning an age discrimination battle but says she can't forgive the elderly neighbors who forced her eviction from a mobile home community.

"I'm glad to be home," Staci Elmer said Wednesday after a judge allowed her to return to her parents' home in this rural central Florida town.

"But my family was separated. I don't care if the neighbors got down on their knees and apologized. I don't think I could look them in the eye and forgive them. It hurt that much."

Neighbors waged a court battle for more than a year to enforce a deed restriction on the Elmer's property and other homes in the two-block subdivision. The deed banned children under age 15.

They won an injunction in January, and Staci was kicked out of her family's home Jan. 31 after Pasco Circuit Judge Wayne Cobb threatened to jail her parents for contempt. The teenager went to live with a married brother several miles away, coming home to visit on weekends.

But Cobb ruled Wednesday that the ban was rendered illegal by a federal housing law that took effect March 12.

"This court cannot continue an injunction in violation of the law. The federal act now makes these deed restrictions unlawful and I'm going to dissolve the injunction," Cobb said at the end of a brief hearing.

The federal housing law is controversial in many retirement communities, where some residents say they're entitled to live quietly and without children.

All of the Elmers' neighbors who occupy the 16 other mobile homes in the small subdivision are retirees in their 60s, 70s and 80s.

The long court battle left bitterness on both sides.

"I just feel we've been taken," said Arlene Murray, who lives across the street from Beverly and Thomas Elmer. "We bought here 20 years ago with the idea of peace and quiet. We raised our family. Our grandchildren are raised."

"It isn't that we are against children," she said. "Out of 17 families, it comes down to the fact that 16 don't have any rights — I don't think that's fair."

"I really don't care if they like me or not," said Mrs. Elmer, 45. "There are some gray-haired monsters here."

Mrs. Elmer, who sells real estate, admits she knew about the age restriction before buying the property, but liked the area because it was affordable and convenient to work and school.

Other residents violated deed restrictions governing placement of clotheslines and propane tanks, she said, so she didn't think Staci would be a problem when the family moved in in November 1987.

Neighbors said they weren't sure whether they would continue their fight.

Staci will turn 15 on April 7 and would be allowed to stay then anyway.

North 'directed' document change

Hall described how at North's instructions on Nov. 21, 1986, the day before the attorney general's aides began combing National Security Council files for evidence of the Iran-Contra affair, she altered several classified memos.

The documents described North's recommendations to his superiors on how to help the Contras, including providing aid to Guatemala after military officials there supplied phony end-user certificates for arms shipments to the Contras. The memos also referred to third-country assistance to the Contras and the possibility of seizing an arms shipment headed for Nicaragua.

Former national security adviser Robert McFarlane had raised questions about those memos with North in 1985, shortly before McFarlane signed the letters to Congress containing denials of NSC assistance to the Contras.

Ms. Hall said she made the changes and shredded the originals, adding that "it was the logical thing to do."

Asked if she had any qualms, she said, "There was a moment when I paused, but I worked for Col. North ... four years. I knew his character well, ... knew there was a reason he was doing this."

She said that on Nov. 25, 1986, the day North was fired over the secret diversion of Iran arms sale proceeds to the Contras, two NSC aides came in to seal the office.

As Hall sorted through documents that North's successors would need to do their work, she found minutes of McFarlane's secret meeting the previous May in Tehran on arms sales and freeing U.S. hostages held in Lebanon, she said.

She said she also found computer notes and packages of the documents she had altered four days earlier.

She put the Tehran meeting minutes in one of her boots, put the altered documents in the other and told NSC aide Robert Earl to go through the computer notes.

"It was a very stupid thing that I did that day," she said. North had left the office, but she spoke to him on the telephone and said "you must come back."

She said she slipped the computer messages inside her clothing and then she, North and an attorney, Thomas Greene, left the building. On their way out, she said, one of the NSC staffers "asked if she could search briefcases and purses."

She said she tried to give the material to North or Greene when the trio got to an elevator, but was told to "wait until we get outside."

Once they were out of the building, they got into a car and she gave the documents to North, she said.

PLO tells U. S. uprising will continue

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — The United States has asked the PLO to ease the violence in the Israeli-occupied lands, but the PLO vows the Palestinian uprising will not let up until Israel withdraws from the territories.

U.S. Ambassador Robert H. Pelletreau and Yasser Abed-Rabbo of the Palestine Liberation Organization smiled and chatted amiably for a few minutes over a cup of coffee, then faced each other over green baize-covered tables.

On that note Wednesday began the first formal meeting under the administration of President Bush between Israel's biggest supporter and the principal organization struggling to create a Palestinian state.

Pelletreau said U.S. concerns about terrorism were discussed as well as "practical steps that can be taken in the occupied territories to reduce tensions."

He indicated recent attempts by Palestinian guerrillas to infiltrate Israel for raids — which had been the subject of a number of his informal contacts with PLO officials — were also discussed.

"The PLO is very aware of our very strong view on violence and terrorism," he said.

Abed-Rabbo said he stressed to the Americans that the source of the violence in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip was "the Israeli occupation and the Israeli repressive measures."

Dear Abby

Compulsive Disorder Victims Find Help They Can Count On

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1989 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: You were right to tell Count Dracula that compulsive counting is fairly common. Some people are always counting something — the number of stairs they go up or down, the number of posts in a fence, cars on the highway, light bulbs in a sign, etc. It can be harmless, or carried to the point where a person thinks he's going insane. Doctors call it "Obsessive Compulsive Behavior Disorder" or "OCD."

An estimated one in every 40 men, women and children has some form of OCD. I know, because I am an OCD sufferer. For years I thought I was the only person in the world who couldn't stop counting everything.

The good news is that doctors now realize that OCD is a PHYSICAL illness — and there is medication that can bring it under control.

Three years ago, many of us who were being treated in the Yale Clinic OCD program in New Haven, Conn., formed an organization to educate and offer support to the estimated 5 million OCD sufferers throughout the country. Today, this national non-profit OCD Foundation offers advice, information, newsletters, referrals to treatment centers and "phone pals" to OCD sufferers and their families in all 50 states.

It's not just a compulsion to count; it includes saving things until there is no more space to accommodate the collection, and the uncontrollable habit of pulling one's own hair or eyelashes out. The list goes on and on.

Thank you, Abby, for giving this hidden disorder national exposure so those who have it will not feel so alone and can seek the help they need to control this disorder.

FRAN SYDNEY, NEW HAVEN

DEAR FRAN: Thank you for providing me with this information so I could publicize it. Those who are interested may write to The OCD Foundation, P.O. Box 9573, New Haven, Conn. 06535. This is a non-profit group, so please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (25 cents) envelope.

DEAR ABBY: You missed the boat on the letter from the "Savannah Cop" who appealed to you to help bring back the saying, "The policeman is your friend." Whether or not his police department has a public relations division to give talks in schools is not the issue. First, if the officer is a uniformed patrolman, he probably has no say in department policy or programs. Second, it's not the schools or the department he is appealing to, it's the parents. If parents have already instilled fear of policemen in their children, then giving talks to schools isn't going to help change that.

Many departments do work with schools in this area, but it's not enough, Abby, you should help educate the parents. They cannot use the image of the "cop" to threaten their children, and then turn around and expect the children to be respectful of the uniform and turn to the police when they are lost or need help.

Being a police-officer is one of the most frustrating jobs in the world. Half the time we are the good guys; half the time we are the bad guys. And all the time we are in danger of being shot or attacked in some way — if not by the criminal element, then by the courts, the press or public opinion. It's ironic that most people become police officers to help others, yet seldom get the help or support they need from others to do their jobs well.

Abby, please remind parents that what they teach their children about law enforcement stays with them forever.

ANOTHER COP IN NEW YORK

DEAR COP: Thank you. A rap on the knuckles with a billy club for Abby.

DEAR READERS: Have a heart. A living creature is not a toy, so this Easter, do not give a furred or feathered pet to a child who is too young to care for it properly.

Norwegians go skiing for Easter holiday

OSLO, Norway (AP) — A 250-year-old ban on dancing during Easter may finally become a thing of the past. Authorities acknowledge the law sends few Norwegians to church for solemn prayer — so many are on the slopes.

Every Easter holiday, Norwegians abandon their cities and close their shops, jamming up mountain roads and ski trails. Few actually go to church.

The dancing ban, made law in 1965, stems from strict 1735 decrees by the Lutheran Evangelical state church that limit public entertainment and sports events on religious holidays, said Peter Selaeg of the Ministry of Church and Education.

But he added: "The rules get a little confusing and may be relaxed when the government finishes reviewing them next spring."

Almost everything but church services and skiing is banned on Good Friday and Easter Sunday. Dancing is allowed Saturday until 9 p.m., though municipalities are empowered to override the rules or make them stricter.

Similar blue laws and entertainment bans exist on Good Friday and Easter in Finland, where the Lutheran church also is an arm of the state.

Norway's state-run liquor stores are closed until Tuesday, but restaurants can still serve alcohol over parts of the long weekend. At certain times, it's possible to buy a drink at a discotheque, though customers

Court has ruled on request

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court has told Attorney General Jim Mattox to issue a legal opinion on the Houston Chronicle's request that college transcripts of some Houston school administrators be made public.

The court, in an opinion written by Justice C.L. Ray, came as the newspaper seeks to examine transcripts of administrators who allegedly obtained advanced degrees from non-accredited colleges.

"We anticipate that the attorney general will perform his duties under the Open Records Act either by holding that he has made a previous determination regarding professional school employees' transcripts or by forthwith rendering an open records decision," said the opinion issued Wednesday.

Davis Mountains study halted

By The Associated Press
To the applause of residents in the Davis Mountains, the National Park Service has canceled a study to assess the possibility of making the area a national park or scenic parkway.

About a quarter of Jeff Davis County's population turned out at a meeting in Fort Davis two weeks ago to voice their vehement opposition to the creation of a national park or interference of the federal government of any kind.

U.S. Rep. Ron Coleman, D-Texas, then asked the park service to discontinue the study. Ironically, Coleman had requested the $100,000 study at the behest of four unidentified property owners in the Davis Mountains.

"The study has been discontinued and we're not going to do any more work on it," Doug Faris, chief planner for the service's district office in Santa Fe, N.M., said Wednesday.

The $100,000 Congress allocated for the study was deposited instead in the Interior Department's general management fund.
