Ask Us

Q. — Would you report again the days that Snyder school students will have to be in class on Saturday?

A. — The makeup days for bad weather are now set April 15 and May 20.

In Brief

Strike over

HOUSTON (AP) — Striking flight attendants today ended their walkout against Continental Airlines, saying their protests had accomplished the union's goals.

The Union of Flight Attendants said its executive board ended the strike at 9 a.m. Union officials were notifying attendants to report for their work assignments. The strike, over working conditions and pay, began Monday.

"This strike accomplished the objectives we set out to achieve," Carla Winkler, union president, said in a prepared statement.

"We have been able to bring to the public's attention the disparate treatment between the wages and working conditions of Continental flight attendants and flight attendants at other carriers in the industry."

Bank robbed

DALLAS (AP) — As bank robberies go, it wasn't much.

If he had a weapon, the robber of a downtown Dallas bank never showed it. He left the robbery note behind, got only "a few measly dollars" and his getaway car was probably a city bus.

Authorities said a man entered the First City Bank in downtown Dallas Thursday morning, handed a teller a note and when the teller shoved a few crumpled $1 bills and $5 bills at him, he demanded "10s and 20s, too."

"If you're going to rob a bank, you might as well go for the big bucks," said M.K. Ratcliffe, spokesman for the North Texas Regional Clearinghouse Association, which offers rewards to help catch bank robbers.

"But he settled for a few measly dollars," Ratcliffe said.

Space shuttle

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A jumbo jet carrying the space shuttle Discovery continued its cross-country journey home Friday after a refueling and overnight stop in Texas.

The Boeing 747 transport took off from Kelly Air Force Base at 8:52 a.m. CST on its way to the Kennedy Space Center at Cape Canaveral, Fla., said Kelly spokesman 2nd Lt. Dave Ebner.

The transport left Edwards Air Force Base in California at 1:01 CST Thursday and landed at Kelly at 4:20 p.m. CST, was refueled and spent the night before departing this morning.

Weather

Snyder Temperatures: High Thursday, 82 degrees; low, 41 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. Friday, 48 degrees; no precipitation; total precipitation for 1989 to date, 2.53 inches.

Snyder Area Forecast: Tonight, fair. Low in mid 50s. South wind 5 to 15 mph. Saturday, mostly sunny and warm. High in mid 80s. South wind 15 to 20 mph and gusty. Lake wind advisories may be required.

Cisneros to speak...

Chamber says 600 expected here Saturday

Some 600 tickets are expected to be sold for Saturday's Snyder Chamber of Commerce banquet, set to begin at 7 p.m. in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Speaker for this year's event is Henry Cisneros, mayor of San Antonio.

The program will include also the annual award presentations to honor outstanding service to specific areas of Scurry County.

Decorations for the event will feature many versions of rainbows and the emphasis will be "development, diversification and involvement" as the 1989 chamber theme.

Banquet-goers will be served a meal of ribeye steak, au gratin potatoes, vegetables, salad, hot rolls and pecan pie for dessert.

The steaks will be cooked by a crew of 12 chamber volunteers.

Serving as master of ceremonies for the banquet will be Mel Gilbert.

Also on the program are brief remarks by both the current chamber president, Herbie Figueredo, and the immediate past president, David Kattes.

Dinner music will be provided by Ann Gregory and both the invocation and the benediction will be offered by Tom Holcomb, minister of Eastside Church of Christ.

Chamber Manager Bill Moss will announce this year's award winners. The award presentations, in order, will include:

—The Vestal Award, honoring service to the city. It will be presented by Mayor Troy Williamson.

—The Educational Excellence Award, presented by the Council for Educational Excellence and recognizing outstanding service to the teaching profession. It will be presented by Steve Smith, outgoing president of the council.

—The Winston Award, honoring service to agriculture. It will be presented by last year's winner, Harold (Pete) Hester.

—The Paul Sizemore Award, naming the year's outstanding Goldcoat member. It will be presented by last year's winner, See BANQUET, page 8

Home damaged by blaze

Fourteen firefighters in three trucks battled a house fire for 3½ hours Thursday afternoon 12 miles south of Snyder off FM 1611.

Owned by Ray Sorrells, the house had fire damage to a bedroom, part of the kitchen and the attic and heavy smoke damage throughout the structure, a fire department spokesman said.

He said a barbecue pit a few feet west of a carport on the west side of the large brick home apparently started a grass fire that ignited the carport, which in turn developed leaping flames and so much heat that the house caught on fire.

A powerful south-southwest wind fueled the blaze, which the family was trying to keep away from the house with a garden hose when firemen arrived following the 3:17 p.m. call.

THURSDAY FIRE — Snyder Fire Chief Terry Don McDowell was one of 14 firemen who fought a house fire south of town Thursday afternoon, saving most of a home belonging to Ray Sorrells. An adjacent carport was said a total loss. (SDN Staff Photo)

Manager transfer set for gas utility

Wedge Turner, manager for Snyder's Lone Star Gas office since 1979, has accepted another manager's position in Fredericksburg and will be reporting to that office effective April 3.

In that city, Turner will oversee the operations of Lone Star in four other neighboring communities with a total customer number in excess of 5,000.

He has been a manager for the gas company since 1970 after first joining Lone Star in 1960 as a "helper." He now has some 29 years service with the company.

Last summer, he was one of 17 employees from throughout the West Texas Division named as an "Operating Employee of the Year."

A profile and photograph of each of those 17 recipients—chosen from the more than 1,200 staffers serving the region—was featured in the company magazine "Blue Blaze."

Turner is a native of San Angelo, where he first went to work for Lone Star. His first management post was at Hico and he has held similar positions in San Saba and Colorado City.

He noted that a replacement for him is yet to be named and that it may be May before a new office manager is announced.

Turner is a former director for the Snyder Chamber of Commerce and has remained active. See TRANSFER, page 8

Wal-Mart announces grand opening plans

Wal-Mart officials have announced a grand opening date for the newly completed store located at 4515 College Ave.

A ribbon cutting ceremony is now set for April 3, a Monday, at 9 a.m.

Wal-Mart executives are expected to be on hand for the event.

Simultaneously, company officials announced a $1,000 scholarship to be given to a high school senior from the Snyder area each year. This is part of Wal-Mart's awarding more than $1.1 million in scholarships annually throughout its 25-state trade area.

The 51,985 sq. ft. Wal-Mart here will be open Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. and on Sunday from 11 a.m. until 6 p.m.

In all, merchandise will be offered in 36 departments. These will include housewares, recreational supplies, household supplies, family clothing and shoes, electronic and stereo supplies, pet care supplies and health and beauty aids.

The local store will also include a pharmacy, a snack bar and a garden center.

Manager for the new store is L.C. Green II. He joined the company in 1987 as an assistant manager in Odessa. He was See STORE, page 8

Educator due honor Saturday

The newest award added to those presented annually at the Snyder Chamber of Commerce Banquet is one honoring lifetime achievement in the field of teaching for Snyder public schools.

It was first presented last year by its sponsoring organization, the Council for Educational Excellence. The recipient in 1988 was high school instructor Ollie Peek.

The second annual presentation is slated as part of Saturday's annual chamber event, which will feature this year an address by San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros.

The award is to recognize "an educator's career-long commitment to Snyder public schools."

Nominations for the honor are See EDUCATOR, page 8

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The normal reaction to a new idea is to think of reasons why it can't be done."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

Andrews editor James Roberts says the communications gap may not be confined to those of different generations. The spread may be just as wide between those from different parts of the country.

Roberts said he declared over the telephone to a fellow in New York, "It's time to get on with our rat killing!"

"You mean you got rats in your building?" was the astonished question. "I knew it was bad in Texas, but I didn't know you people were fighting off rats."

Roberts tried to explain it was simply an expression used by West Texans trying to get back to work.

"You mean those that haven't been employed have been killing rats?"

The Texan couldn't resist: "Sure, in West Texas we have a government program that takes the unemployed and puts them to work killing rats. They get minimum wage as long as they're after rats rather than loafing."

"It's a problem when you shut down a stripper well, you have to fight off the rats who move in and try to strip the casing off the well. That's why they're called strippers."

"Rats are strippers—they eat the Christmas tree from around the well bore, make nests in the heater-treaters, chew up the gun barrel, give birth in flow lines and undercut the dead man anchors."

"Dead man anchors?"

"Oh, sure. We use old well service hands as anchors for pulling units."

"Pulling units?"

"The rats cause all kinds of economic problems. You yankees don't have any idea the costs associated with oil production. You have to have those big rigs to mount over an oil well and use a big winch line to pull the rats out of the hole. It's costly—that's the reason we have the rat killing program."

"Of course I'm not putting you on. While the rest of the country is watching Donahue, Rivera and Winfrey, our people are out there after those rats, saving those stripper wells, helping out the economy, doing our part for the national... don't hang up! I haven't told you about the Queens sand."

Chamber will give its award

In 1985, the Snyder Chamber of Commerce initiated its President's Award.

The recipient is chosen based upon a selection by the president of the chamber and the executive committee. The honor is to recognize a member of the chamber who has made significant contributions to the organization during the past year.

In 1988, an award for "exemplary service" was given in lieu of the President's Award. This one-time honor was given to Roy Baze, who served as the coordinator for Snyder's effort to gain the 1,000-bed Texas Department of Corrections prison announced in November of 1987 and scheduled to open in late June of this year.

Montana ponders issuing credit cards to raise money

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Some legislators want the state to cash in on credit cards as a way of balancing demands for increased spending and lower taxes.

A House committee on Thursday approved legislation that would have the state issue MasterCard or Visa cards for a commission.

If approved by the full House during the next week, it would be sent to the Senate.

This predominantly agricultural state of 804,000 residents could reap in millions of dollars in extra revenue by sponsoring the card, said Democratic Rep. Mark O'Keefe.

Montana's chief tax collector, Revenue Director Ken Nordtvedt, thinks it's a good idea.

"Every organization under the sun is doing this," he said. "I have two of those cards in my pocket right now from fraternal organizations."

"And this being our centennial year, where there's a little more sense of pride in Montana, the Department of Revenue is certainly willing to administer such a program," he said.

O'Keefe, who sponsored the legislation, said the idea came from a constituent.

"At first, I thought the guy was crazy," O'Keefe said. "But the more I looked into it, it seemed it was not only legal but it might work."

The card would have a special Montana design and would be issued by banks, which would assume all liability and would process the transactions, O'Keefe said.

Each bank would pay the state a commission, perhaps 1 percent of sales.

The plan could mean up to $7.6 million a year for the state, depending on the terms it negotiates with banks and how popular the card becomes, O'Keefe said.

Such groups as labor unions, wildlife organizations and the National Rifle Association sponsor such "affinity" cards, O'Keefe said. Banks like the idea because it gives them a broader base of cardholders and more interest income.

"It's such a cutthroat industry that the affinity cards have become big business for banks," he said. "It increases the number of people who want to carry these cards and all of these organizations are making money on it."

Parks department stocks trout inside private pond

AUSTIN (AP) — About 500 rainbow trout, which could have been placed in public waters, were placed by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in a private pond owned by a state lawmaker's father-in-law, according to a published report.

Rep. Robert Saunders, heads the House Environmental Affairs Committee, which has budget and oversight authority for the Parks and Wildlife Department, said he does not think he did anything wrong.

The Austin American-Statesman reported Thursday that Saunders, D-LaGrange, said he asked parks and wildlife executive director Charles D. Travis where to obtain fish for his father-in-law's private pond near Columbus.

Manley Leyendecker, Saunders' father-in-law, paid the department for the trout, but it was not determined whether that payment included the cost of department personnel and equipment used to deliver the fish from a state hatchery, officials said.

Gary Matlock, parks and wildlife fisheries director, said stocking trout on private land was a highly unusual action for the parks and wildlife department.

Saunders said he did not think he was asking for or receiving a favor from executive director Travis, except "just access to knowing where we could get fish."

"They probably felt like they would have some excess fish, and that's why they thought they could take them to" Leyendecker's land, Saunders said.

The incident is the latest in a series of published reports concerning parks and wildlife stocking of wildlife on public officials' property.

The department has stocked antelope and bass on House Speaker Gib Lewis' ranch, and antelope on a ranch owned by Louis Beecherl, a member of the University of Texas System board of regents.

Students choose homeless

CHICAGO (AP) — Fourteen young people were heading home to West Virginia today after spending their spring break as volunteers at a homeless shelter in the Windy City rather than the beaches of the Sunbelt.

"I knew I would get a lot more out of this than Florida," said Jennifer Jackson, an 18-year-old high school student who traveled to Chicago with the group.

The 14 worked this week on the city's West Side at the Chicago Christian Industrial League, which provides social services to the homeless, mentally ill and substance abusers.

They spent five days cleaning, doing maintenance work and meeting people who use the shelter operated by the 80-year-old agency.

The volunteers, affiliated with the Baptist Temple Church in Huntington, W. Va., traveled by van to work in the nine buildings of the league — former warehouses west of the Loop that were donated by several corporations.

"They came here to experience another kind of life, another type of existence," said Richard Roberts, the league's executive director.

Renee Childers, 21, a sophomore at Huntington's Marshall University, said the experience hit home.

"I think it is something to really make me grow up," she said. "I didn't like how my life is going. It was at a standstill, and I needed something to get me going."

She said she was impressed with the people she worked with.

"I was sort of afraid at first because of the homeless I saw in Huntington," she said. "I will look at the people at home differently now. (These) people have hopes and goals. They want to get their lives back in order."

The trip was the idea of Greg Creasy, the Huntington church's youth leader who visited the shelter last summer as a member of a singing group. He said a car wash and dinner was held to raise money for the trip.

"We worked hard to get here and worked hard here," he said.

In addition to cleaning off years of grease and grime in a kitchen, the group cleared a basement of debris accumulated during the decades the buildings were used as warehouses.

"They did a major service for us by cleaning out that area, eliminating a fire hazard," said Roberts. "It will allow us to store more food donated for the homeless."

'Bunny' visiting in Snyder

Liz Ferguson, dressed in her Easter Bunny costume, has been making the rounds in Snyder, spreading Easter cheer and treats to young and old alike.

Thursday she visited the Senior Citizens Center and the Snyder Day Care Center.

On Friday, Ferguson was to visit the Noah Project at 11 a.m. In addition to songs and other activities designed to delight youngsters, Ferguson was also to present each child an Easter basket.

Saturday appearances will include Toys Galore, 11 a.m.; TG&Y from noon to 1 p.m.; Kmart, from 1-2 p.m.; and The Pleasure's Mine, 2 p.m.

Entities providing donations for the Easter Bunny's visits include Kmart, Kiwanis Club, American State Bank, Jaycees, and Hinshaws.

Ferguson's appearances are sponsored by KSNV and Music Line Production.

DR. GOTT PETER GOTT, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have inherited the shakes from my mother and grandmother, and now at age 85 it is showing up fast. My doctor says nothing can be done. I'm tempted to change doctors.

DEAR READER: As people age, they often exhibit a tendency to shaking or tremulousness, called "benign essential tremor" in medical parlance. This is a harmless annoyance for which there is no cure. The tendency to the condition appears to be inherited; the ailment is probably accelerated by the normal aging process that is associated with progressively poor circulation to the brain from arteriosclerosis.

This shaking must be differentiated from Parkinson's disease, a more severe but treatable affliction, marked by involuntary muscle movements.

Rather than change doctors, I suggest that you ask your physician to refer you to a neurologist for a second opinion and suggestions for treatment, such as drug therapy.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I eat a big bowl of fresh fruit sprinkled with bran for breakfast, a green salad with oil-free dressing for lunch, and a low-protein high-complex carbohydrate dinner — lots of beans, pasta and fresh vegetables. I also drink three to five glasses of water a day, yet I am still constipated. What am I doing wrong?

DEAR READER: From the standpoint of diet, you seem to be doing all you can to treat your constipation. I think you should see a doctor. Depending on your age, you may need special help.

For example, older people tend to become constipated because of sluggish bowel action (and lack of exercise) that can be worsened by certain medicines, such as diuretics and antihypertensives. A gentle laxative, or a change in medication, may be in order.

On the other hand, some people may be constipated because of a thyroid deficiency or other physical ailment that should be corrected.

Ask your doctor for an examination to discover the cause of your bowel problems.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband, 25, had a double hernia operation in the groin three years ago. Since then he doesn't have as good an erection and seems to leak a bit during sex. Is there something he can do about this? He can't return to the doctor or hospital due to a dispute over bills.

DEAR READER: Hernia surgery that is properly performed should not in any way affect sexual performance.

I suppose that after a double hernia, there could be some post-operative swelling and discomfort that could affect sexual functioning but after three years, healing should be complete. I suspect that your husband has developed a problem unrelated to his surgery. He should see a doctor, preferably a urologist, for a diagnosis.

Because you seem to be having a problem with medical bills, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Insuring Your Good Health." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

It's fortunate that you enjoy lots of activities and involvements because the year ahead could be a very busy one for you. You're likely to earn more than you have in the past, but you will also have to work for it.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you are too dictatorial today, it will provoke unpleasant responses from others that you will find difficult to contend with. A nasty incident could result. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 94128, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Discipline may be required to focus in on important details today. There's a chance you might be a trifle absent-minded and do something forgetful, like locking your keys in your car.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Something quite unexpected could suddenly develop in your financial dealings today, especially if friends are involved. Should a misunderstanding erupt, be sure it's settled as promptly as possible.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Using pressure tactics in order to get your mate to do your bidding today could misfire. Your mate might make motions to comply, but when not in your presence do just the opposite.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) No matter how cleverly you try to camouflage neglected work, you're apt to be discovered today. Your best course is to do the tasks instead of designing cover-ups.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A relationship you have with a close friend is under more strain than you may realize. If you want to maintain a harmonious association, root out the underlying problems today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Companions could be annoyed with you today if they cannot pin you down to a definite decision that affects them as well as yourself. Don't be a victim of paralysis from overanalysis.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Usually you're a very clever and resourceful person, but today you might insist upon doing something that won't work, even when the flaws are obvious to you as well as to others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Try not to get yourself involved today in an acquaintance's complicated financial affairs. Think carefully before making a loan or even offering advice or suggestions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You are amply endowed with stick-to-it qualities which usually serve you well. Today, however, these attributes might not be operative and you might quit at the first sign of resistance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you are subjected to some unexpected additional tasks today, don't let your imagination make more of them than they actually are. Instead use your ingenuity to dispense of them quickly.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't take gambles on things today where you have to rely upon information that comes to you through an unfamiliar channel. There's a chance the facts could be wrong or you may misinterpret them.

Jessica McClure movie not filmed in Midland, Tex.

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — It's a movie about the dramatic rescue of toddler Jessica McClure from an abandoned well in the West Texas city of Midland.

But as the filming of the television movie starts, most of the scenes are not being shot in Texas.

Viewers around the nation will only see the hospital and city hall in Midland when they watch the ABC film "Everybody's Baby: The Rescue of Jessica McClure," scheduled to air May 21.

Filming of the drama began last week in the back yard of a suburban Los Angeles home, a spokesman for Interscope Productions said.

Trapped for 2½ days in October 1987 in a 22-foot-deep water well, 18-month-old Jessica captured the attention of the world, which focused on Midland as her saga was broadcast nationally and internationally.

Film crews, consisting of several hundred people, including many who helped in the rescue, will be in Midland April 21-22.

Patty Duke will star as Carolyn Henry, a victim's assistance volunteer; Beau Bridges will portray Midland Police Chief Richard Czech; Pat Hingle has been cast as Midland Fire Department Chief James Roberts; Roxana Zal will portray Cissy McClure, Jessica's mother; and Will Oldham will portray Jessica's father, Chip McClure.

Toddler twins Laura and Jennie Loesch will take turns portraying Jessica. The underground shaft will be recreated in a Hollywood film studio.

"The production company has really gone all out to ensure every bit of authenticity. We have been in constant touch with Midland and have hired a Midland geologist (Will Murley) as a technical consultant," Bremer said.

Drilling equipment used as movie props has been provided by Flow Products of Midland, the company that donated equipment for the actual rescue, the Odessa American reported.

Filming of a movie detailing the rescue sparked controversy when two separate participating groups signed contracts with different film production companies.

Highland Communications in California signed one group and Interscope signed another. A community panel settled on Interscope, the Midland Reporter-Telegram said.

Although he was a rescue leader, Roberts said he has not been contacted about the movie.

"I really don't know anything about it," Roberts said. "Most of us (the rescue workers) just kept involved with the movie end of it in the hopes that it would be good for Midland."

The production company was the choice of the mayor's committee and Jessica's parents, he said.

"I just hope it sheds a favorable light on Midland," Roberts added.

Income tax assistance said available

Income tax assistance for disabled or low income older people is being offered locally through the Tax-Aide program sponsored by the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP).

AARP works with the Internal Revenue Service Tax Counseling for the Elderly program to provide trained volunteers for the Tax-Aide project.

County residents who would like to take advantage of the service are to call the Senior Citizens Center at 573-4035 to have their names put on the service list. They are to bring a copy of last year's tax form, any forms showing income earned or pension or Social Security paid, 1099 forms showing interest or dividends earned on investments, and receipts or cancelled checks for income or property taxes paid or contributions made to charities.

The assistance is available from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Senior Citizens Center through March 29.

Randall Adams comes home

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Randall Dale Adams has said he always knew he would come home a free man one day.

But even Adams did not expect the throng of cheering, weeping well-wishers who greeted him Thursday with signs and yellow ribbons as he walked off of a plane and into the arms of his mother.

"I couldn't have dreamed this. I knew I would be home, but not this way," the 40-year-old native of suburban Grove City said shortly after his arrival at Port Columbus International Airport.

Adams, convicted in 1977 for the murder of a Dallas policeman, was freed from a Texas jail on Tuesday. The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals earlier this month set aside the conviction, saying Adams hadn't received a fair trial because prosecutors suppressed evidence and witnesses had lied on the stand.

A crowd of about 100 cheered loudly as Adams rushed through the terminal gate and into the arms of his mother, Mildred Adams, embracing her for several moments. He was presented with a daffodil lei, an Ohio State Buckeyes cap and an Easter basket topped with a yellow ribbon, similar to those sported by those there to greet him.

"I feel happy, really happy," said Mrs. Adams, clutching her son's arm as they left the gate. "You're supposed to have a resurrection around Easter. I guess this is it."

Adams fought back tears as he embraced Errol Morris, director of "The Thin Blue Line," a 1988 film that gained national attention for Adams' case. Then Adams drew his mother into the hug.

Another cheer arose minutes later when news arrived that the Dallas County district attorney had announced Adams would not be retried for the 1976 shooting death of officer Robert Wood.

But Adams, who appeared flushed and complained of feeling ill shortly after disembarking, cautioned against such enthusiasm.

"I'll wait until I hear it from my attorney," he said as he walked away from the gate, being supported by his mother and his sister, Nancy Adams. "I cannot discuss my case. This is a homecoming."

Kay Kaho, a former grade-school classmate of Adams, called the news from Dallas "absolutely wonderful," then added, "I just hope that it's the truth...."

"We're all apprehensive because we've been through so much," she said. "But he's home now and he's got all his family and a lot of good friends. He can get his life back together."

Also among the supporters was Tressa Lucas, a family friend.

"It feels great," she said. "It's the best I've felt in 40 years, almost. His mother and I are real good friends, and we just stuck by each other. She's just really had a hard time. I told her all along that the Lord would have him released."

At a news conference following his arrival, Adams said he had no immediate plans for the future, although he is mulling a job offer from Columbus Mayor Dana Rinehart, who also was on hand to greet him.

"I didn't really want to be mayor," he said, smiling. Rinehart said he will discuss what jobs are available with Adams once he settles in at home.

A clue is overlooked

By James Jacoby

We usually think of overbidders as fine card-players. Here is an exception. South bid a strong two spades on somewhat sparse values, and then launched into Blackwood asking for aces after partner responded with positive values. When North showed one ace, South bid six spades, hoping that North's heart holding would be a source of tricks. When declarer ducked the opening queen of clubs lead, West continued with a second club, ruffed. Declarer now took the simple play for 12 tricks. He played K-A of diamonds and ruffed a diamond. But East overruffed, so the contract was down one. It's better for declarer to take the view that East, with length in clubs (implied by his lead-directing double), is perhaps short in the other suits. So South should ruff the second club and draw trumps, discarding two clubs and one heart from dummy. He can then play K-A of hearts and ruff a heart. When they fail to split, since West has the remaining high heart, declarer can cash his last trump. To keep the master heart, West must shorten his diamonds. So declarer now throws a heart from dummy and takes the remaining tricks with the king, ace and seven of diamonds. Note that this approach would also work if East held three diamonds. On that last trump, since dummy would be left with the K-5 of diamonds and the king of clubs, East could not keep three diamonds as well as the ace of clubs.

Western heats up at Odessa; Merchant leads bulldogging

ODESSA - Western Texas College cowboy Russell Merchant clocked a 5.4 to take over the lead in the steer wrestling at the Odessa College Rodeo, being held at Ector County Coliseum. Merchant, a freshman from Madisonville, should qualify in the top 10 of the event and advance to Saturday's short-go or finals. The rodeo, which began Wednesday, continues tonight and Saturday at 8 p.m. Western's Denny McLanahan also took over first place in the bareback Thursday with a score of 71. McLanahan has prior commitments and will not be able to compete in the finals, noted rodeo coach Bob Doty. For that reason, the sophomore from Canadian is not on the designated six-man WTC team this week. In results involving team members, Ray Brown joined Eastern Mexico's Roger Montano for a 9.2 in the team roping. The time moved them into fourth place. Two other WTC team members and team ropers, Jim Blain Kenney and Brian Davis, are in fifth place with a 9.4. Kenney, a sophomore from Pecos, also took over third place in the saddle bronc with a score of 74. Other efforts had Brown taking a no-time in the calf roping and Melanie Graf clocking a too-long 7.4 in the breakaway roping. In efforts involving WTC students who are competing for individual points only, Donnie Jones moved into fourth in the calf roping with an 11.5 and Steve Roberts took over sixth in the saddle bronc event with a score of 67. Also, Ty Robertson's time of 6.4 in the steer wrestling on Wednesday is now in third place. Robertson and Terry Graff are also second in the team roping with an 8.1 which they turned in during the rodeo's first performance. Kyle Ham, Buddy Reed and Denny McLanahan had no-scores in the bull riding Thursday. Snyder natives Leslie Ward and Adam Brewster got off to a good start here. Ward, who competes for Texas Tech, flashed a 14.81 to share first place in the barrels with Kenna Boultinghouse of Tarleton State. Brewster, who transferred to Sul Ross after a successful two years at Western, is third in the bull riding with a 6.9.

Tiger boys strand 11 in 4-2 loss to Pecos; host Big Spring next

PECOS - Forget how Webster defines "stranded". Coach Albert Lewis defines it as a loss. Snyder's Tigers, who left 11 players on the basepaths, couldn't get the timely hit and dropped their District 4-4A opener to Pecos here Thursday. "We played good defense and our pitching wasn't bad but you've got to score runs to win," said Coach Lewis after the Tigers fell 4-2. "We aren't being very selective at the plate, especially in key situations. Sometimes we're just swinging wild up there." Snyder scored its two runs in the fifth inning on a series of walks issued by Pecos pitcher Lance Love, 1-3. Love walked Jason West and Randy Morris, who were moved around on a sacrifice bunt by Toby Goodwin. The Eagles intentionally walked Willie Garcia to load the bases. Love got Tommy Lane to strike out, but hit Bert Otto with a pitch to force the first run across. He also walked Bart Morton for Snyder's second and only other run before getting Tracy Odom to pop up. Pecos rallied up in the bottom of the fifth on a walk and a single. Two outs later, Tommy Valdez tripped to tie the ballgame at 2-2. Ricky Flores then singled, sending Valdez scampering home with the winning run. The Eagles added one more run in the sixth. Love picked up the win. He went the distance to allow four hits, walked seven and struck out three. Morris, the Tigers' junior third baseman, had two of Snyder's hits, including a double. Lee Fletcher took the loss. The senior righthander gave up nine hits, walked five and struck out three. All four of Pecos' runs were unearned. In the only other District 4-4A game played Thursday, Fort Stockton ripped San Angelo Lake View 13-5. In a non-district outing, fourth-ranked Andrews spanked Hobbs, N.M. 17-1. Thursday's loss puts the Tigers at 8-5 for the season and 0-1 in district play as Lewis prepares the team for back-to-back home ballgames next week. Snyder entertains Big Spring on Tuesday and Andrews on Friday. Both contests are set for 7 p.m. at Moffett Field. Pecos, 5-5, will travel to Fort Stockton on Tuesday.

Basketball camp in June

Tony Mauldin's 1989 Boy's Basketball Camp is set for June 19-23 at Western Texas College. The camp will stress the fundamentals of basketball - passing, dribbling and shooting. Rebounding and defensive techniques will be stressed. All campers will receive a basketball, camp T-shirt, certificates and "report card". Special awards and trophies will be given for contests and competition. The camp is open to boys entering the fifth through the 12th grade who have no high school varsity playing experience. Fees are $160 for resident campers and $100 for commuters. A non-refundable deposit of $50 is required. Mauldin is head men's basketball coach at Western Texas. Joining him will be a group of successful area high school coaches. For more information, contact Janice Mauldin at (915) 573-5900.

Sooners, North Carolina fall in NCAA Southeast Regional

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) - Virginia, by doing the little things well, moved one step closer to college basketball's big show. The Cavaliers took good shots, rebounded well and played sound defense in beating top-seeded Oklahoma 86-80 Thursday night in the NCAA Southeast Regional. Now Virginia, the No. 5 seed, must beat third-seeded Michigan in the regional final Saturday to earn a trip to the Final Four at Seattle. Michigan, behind 34 points by Glen Rice, beat No. 2 seed North Carolina 92-87 in Thursday's other semifinal. Virginia did most everything right against the high-powered Sooners, who ended the season 30-6 in failing to repeat last year's visit to the Final Four. The Cavaliers, 22-10, made things miserable for All-America center Stacey King in the first half while opening as much as a seven-point lead, then had the poise to stay in their offense when the Sooners made second-half runs. Bryant Stith pounded Oklahoma inside with 17 first-half points, and Richard Morgan added 12 from outside. Those two continued their inside-outside success in the second half, while Brent Dabbs grabbed eight of his career-high 14 rebounds and John Crotty ran things from the point. Stith, the top freshman in the Atlantic Coast Conference this season, finished with 28 points and Morgan had 25. Later in the evening, Rice and the Wolverines, 27-7, avenged two tournament losses to the North Carolina Tar Heels. Rice made eight 3-pointers, including a backbreaker with 1:02 left, as Michigan reached a regional final for the first time since 1977. J.R. Reid scored 26 points and Jeff Lebo had 19 for North Carolina, which wound up 29-8.

Seton Hall upends Indiana and...

UNLV upsets Arizona, 68-67

DENVER (AP) - He could well be one of college basketball's worst handicappers, but Jerry Tarkanian is going to the NCAA West Regional final anyway. Tarkanian, acknowledging he was the only member of the Nevada-Las Vegas delegation who thought his team would lose to top-ranked Arizona on Thursday night, admitted he missed on the night's three other games as well. Tark's Rebels upset Arizona 68-67 on freshman guard Anderson Hunt's 3-point basket with four seconds left. In the other West Regional semifinal, Seton Hall upended Indiana 78-65. "I picked Indiana and Arizona, so that shows you what I know," Tarkanian said. Informed that Oklahoma had lost to Virginia and that North Carolina had bowed to Michigan in Southeast Regional, he said, "That's surprising. I wouldn't have thought so." UNLV, 29-7, and Seton Hall, 29-6, will meet Saturday, with the winner advancing to the Final Four in Seattle. It was a night of upsets, with the top two seeds in the West eating dust. After a closely contested first half, the Rebels squandered a seven-point lead with 5:35 left. According to the calculations of Arizona coach Lute Olson, UNLV went 11 straight possessions without a basket down the stretch. The Wildcats, sparked by Sean Elliott's 17 points in the half, rallied to take a 67-65 lead with 1:35 left. When Arizona's Matt Muehlebach was whistled for traveling with 30 seconds to go, UNLV had one last chance. Hunt made a move to the basket and collided with Arizona guard Ken Lofton, who went sprawling. "I looked to see whether he had just staggered or had fallen," Hunt said. "When I saw he was down, I put it up." Olson said he "knew it was good from the instant it left his hands." Hunt paced the Rebels with 21 points, while Butler had 16 and Stacey Augmon 15. Elliott had 22 for Arizona. Anthony Cook added 12 and Jud Buechler 10. In the other semifinal, Seton Hall used 3-point shooting and brutal interior defense to knock off Indiana. Andrew Gaze, a transplanted Australian, hit four of the Pirates' eight 3-pointers. Meanwhile, the Seton Hall defense collapsed inside and made Indiana settle for shots on the perimeter, which it failed to convert with its usual efficiency. The Hoosiers hit only 2-of-7 from 3-point range and just 39 percent from 2-point range. John Morton led Seton Hall with 17 points. Jay Edwards was tops for Indiana with 18.

Minimum wage...

Battle shifts to Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — House passage of a plan to raise the minimum wage shifts the partisan battle to the Senate, where the leading proponent of an increase is urging President Bush to refrain from further veto threats while Congress settles on a final bill.

The House voted 248-171 Thursday in favor of legislation that would raise the minimum wage from the current $3.35 an hour to $4.55 by October 1991, with the first increase taking effect later this year.

The House then joined the Senate on an Easter recess that ends April 3.

High on the Senate agenda when it returns is a bill sponsored by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., that would raise the minimum wage to $4.65 by 1992.

Kennedy has said he is open to amending his bill, and in a statement issued after the House vote he asked Bush, who has threatened to veto any attempt to raise the hourly minimum above $4.25, to keep an open mind until the House and Senate agree on a bill.

"This is an excellent opportunity for Congress and the administration to demonstrate that they can work together and in doing so achieve a fair increase in the minimum wage and an honest training wage," Kennedy said.

Contra aide....

Bush unveils new plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush, unveiling a bipartisan Contra aid plan as the first plank of his emerging foreign policy, appeared with congressional leaders today to outline a multi-million dollar effort that commits his administration to support Central American peace efforts.

"We will be speaking with one voice," Bush said, striking a sharp contrast to what was perhaps the most divisive issue of the Reagan administration. Flanking Bush were Democratic House Speaker Jim Wright and other congressional leaders of both parties.

"Insurgent forces have the right to reintegrate into their homeland" under the agreement, Bush said. Congressional Democrats, in turn, agreed to support Bush's request for an extension of humanitarian aid to the Contras for another year. "The burden of proof is on the Sandinista government to comply" with democratic overtures, Bush said.

Bush mentioned no specific figure for continued aid to the rebels, but Senate Democratic Leader George Mitchell said the money was to flow at the current rate — about $4 million a month, putting the aid package at roughly $40 million.

The accord called for Congress to extend aid to the anti-Sandinista Contra rebels, now scheduled to end after this month, through Feb. 28, 1990. In exchange, the administration pledges to support peace efforts of the five Central American presidents and the eventual reintegration of the rebels into Nicaraguan political life.

The agreement, in the works for the past month, came together after a series of meetings Thursday between Secretary of State James A. Baker III and Democrats and Republicans on both sides of the Capitol.

"I want to salute the speaker," Baker said in introducing the Democratic leader who was at odds on Contra policy with the previous GOP administration.

"We are trusting the administration, and they are trusting us," said Rep. David Obey, D-Wis. "I do think the administration is legitimate on this."

"If we have learned anything from the division of this decade in Central America," it is that no policy can survive without broader bipartisan support, said Mitchell.

Contra supporters say the continued presence of the 11,000 fighters along the Nicaraguan border with Honduras will maintain pressure on the leftist Sandinista government to restore political freedoms and hold free elections early next year.

President's award slated

The first recipient of the President's Award was Gene Thomas, then superintendent for SACRO and a member of the chamber board of directors.

Ralph Miller, longtime head of the chamber's AJRA committee, was honored in 1986.

In 1987, the honoree was H.W. Cargile, former president and senior board chairman of West Texas State Bank.

Vandalisms at auto lot

Steve Dillaha of Wilson Motors Thursday afternoon requested a close patrol of the East Hwy. business because of the activity of vandals and thieves there during the past two weeks.

Dillaha said a tire was cut on a vehicle parked on the west side of the company's lot and a tire and wheel were stolen from a vehicle in the bull pen, behind the shop.

Donna Smith of Ira told sheriff's deputies at 4:30 a.m. Friday that someone had stolen her husband's motorcycle, possibly for a "joy ride."

The Smiths' residence is two miles east of Ira, and the motorcycle was described as a blue 1982 Yamaha dirt bike.

Juveniles implicated in two box car fires

Two Snyder boys were arrested on felony criminal mischief charges Thursday afternoon in connection with Wednesday night fires that did more than $5,000 in damage to two Santa Fe Railway boxcars.

A city police detective said the charges against the juvenile suspects, 12 and 13 years of age, had been referred to the district attorney's office.

Fire Chief Terry Don McDowell had said Thursday morning that the fires were of a suspicious origin, burned matches having been found inside one of the cars, which were being used as living quarters for railroad employees.

The cars were parked on tracks off the Old Post Rd. and west of Snyder Iron & Metal in northern Snyder. Most of the damage was in one of them, with the fire being concentrated in some mattresses and storage cabinets.

Toilet tissue which had been partially burned was the primary evidence in the other car, McDowell said.

—The President's Award, honoring individuals who have made a significant contribution to the chamber during the past year. It will be presented by immediate past president David Kattes.

Following the presentation of awards, Mayor Troy Williamson will introduce Cisneros as the banquet speaker.

The 41-year-old Cisneros has been mayor of San Antonio since 1981, previously serving as a city council member from 1975-81.

He holds a master of public administration degree from Harvard University and both his undergraduate degree and a masters in urban and regional planning from Texas A&M.

His honors include being named a White House Fellow from 1971-72 and being named one of the "Ten Outstanding Young Men in America" by the U.S. Jaycees in 1982.

His professional experience includes serving as White House assistant to the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare in 1971.

In 1984, he was interviewed by Democratic Party officials as a potential vice presidential candidate.

He has also been widely discussed as a potential candidate for governor of Texas.

'Madman' with semiautomatic kills two, then kills himself

LITTLETON, Colo. (AP) — A man with an insatiable appetite for cocaine killed two women with a semiautomatic gun and wounded two deputies and a hostage before killing himself during 10 hours of rape and terror, authorities said.

Eugene Thompson Jr., 20, of Littleton, was armed with a MAC-11 assault pistol when he broke into a woman's suburban Denver house early Thursday and began his crime spree.

The rampage, during which he raped two women, ended in a gunbattle at a townhouse as 100 officers searched house-to-house for him.

Thompson opened fire on the two officers who burst into the townhouse, hitting one in the chest and neck and the other in the leg, authorities said. He then shot 18-year-old Jake Carper four times in the back, went upstairs and shot himself in the head.

"A madman, it appears, is what we have," said Douglas County Sheriff Steve Zotos. "We were hoping it wouldn't end this way, but I don't know of any other way it could have ended. There is just no reason to this whole thing."

Thompson died at a hospital three hours after he shot himself.

Carper, who lives in the townhouse, remained in critical condition.

Arapahoe County Deputy Arthur L. Hilton, 37, was in serious condition with wounds to the chest. Deputy Daniel Thomas, 36, was released after treatment.

Thompson, a suspect in at least 140 thefts and burglaries, was wanted on arrest warrants that were issued Monday for his failure to appear in Golden District Court for probation revocation, authorities said.

He had been enrolled in a cocaine residence treatment program as part of his probation for thefts but was kicked out after being caught stealing, said Eugene Strauber, regional vice president of the Cenikor Foundation cocaine residence treatment program in the Denver suburb of Lakewood.

"He had an appetite for drugs — mostly for cocaine — that he couldn't keep up with," said Lakewood police Detective George McGlynn.

It wasn't known if Thompson was on drugs during his rampage — an autopsy was pending.

The trouble began around 5 a.m. when Thompson broke into 47-year-old Beverly Swartz's house in Littleton, authorities said. She called for help, but hung up before she could give her address. Authorities traced the call but when they arrived she and her car were gone. Her husband, Ralph, summoned from work, arrived at the house and was talking with investigators when the telephone rang.

It was his father, Oscar Swartz, calling for help.

Thompson had driven the woman to her in-law's home outside Littleton, broke in at gunpoint and tied up the three — Beverly, Oscar and his 68-year-old wife, Janice.

"He raped the younger woman downstairs, then executed her," Sheriff Zotos said. "Then he executed the older one upstairs."

Thompson then stole a car, and drove about 10 miles to Douglas County south of Denver, where he broke into a house, held a man, woman and child at gunpoint and raped the woman, Zotos said.

About 30 minutes after leaving the house, he crashed a stolen car into a fence and fled, setting off the manhunt.

3 rafters uninjured after snipers open fire

BIG BEND NATIONAL PARK, Texas (AP) — Park officials have closed a five-mile section of the Rio Grande while investigators try to figure out who shot at three rafters for more than three hours.

None of the three Texas men were hurt Wednesday when someone shot at them 20 to 30 times from a canyon rim on the Mexican side of the river a few miles from where a Texas man was shot to death in a similar incident last year.

The men, all about 30 years old, were riding a rented raft through San Vicente canyon when at least one and possibly two snipers began firing at them about 4:15 p.m., Big Bend National Park spokesman Roy Given said.

The men dove into the river, pulling their raft behind them, swam to shore, hid behind rocks and shrubbery until night fell, then walked to a dirt road and hitchhiked to Rio Grande Village, Given said. They got to the village, about 12 miles downstream from the canyon, about 1:30 a.m. Thursday, he said.

Park rangers, U.S. Border Patrol agents and state police from Mexico searched the area, but no one was arrested and clues were scarce, Given said.

The men told authorities the shots continued until about darkness fell as they dashed

Convicted killer missing for 3 years finally caught

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — A fugitive convicted killer who also is a former police officer will soon be headed back to Texas following his recapture in California, authorities said.

FBI agents apprehended Lafayette Russell Wynne on a federal warrant for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. Authorities said Thursday they were arranging his return to Texas.

His arrest Wednesday came after he eluded authorities for more than three years following his conviction in a 1982 shooting. Wynne was being held in the San Diego County Sheriff's Department as he awaited his return to Officers tracked Thompson to Littleton, where he broke into Carper's house and shot him and the officers.

"All (Carper) said was, 'Jesus Christ! Jesus Christ! He shot me and then went upstairs and shot himself,'" Arapahoe County Sheriff Pat Sullivan said.

A day before his deputies were wounded, Sullivan lashed out at the sales of semiautomatic weapons in a nine-page position paper for the state Legislature.

3 rafters uninjured after snipers open fire

from cover to cover on the river bank.

"They were being shot at, but to deliberately try to hit them or harass them or scare them, I don't know," Given said. "We don't really know what provoked this, but we don't believe drug-smuggling is involved."

Four teen-agers were arrested after a similar incident in November that resulted in the death of an Eastland man.

In that incident, a few miles upstream from the park, 40-year-old Michael Heffley was shot fatally as he shielded his wife from the bullets. Four youths were arrested, one in the United States and three in Mexico, and all are awaiting trial on murder charges.

The three men who were shot at Wednesday told park rangers they saw one assailant, wearing an orange or red baseball cap, on the canyon rim on the Mexican side of the river. Given said it appeared the men were fired at by a .22-caliber rifle.

Given identified the rafters as Reuben Saage II of Alpine, James Gentry of Houston and Russ Alexander of Riesel. Saage and Alexander have unlisted phone numbers and there are several James Gentrys in Houston.

The men's rented raft drifted downriver and was recovered later, Given said.

Potter County. A former captain of the Amarillo Police Department detective division, Wynne was found guilty in 1985 of shooting Amarillo oilman Erle Winston Mathis.

An appeals court overturned Wynne's original 1983 conviction in 1984, more than a year after he started serving a 50-year sentence.

In a new trial, he was convicted again in September 1985, but he disappeared before the jury handed down a 55-year sentence.

Eleanor Roosevelt married Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1903 in New York.

Cut your own taxes and save Daycare credit drops as income rises

By George W. Smith, CPA

(Eighth of 14 parts)

The child-care credit is based on a sliding scale. Parents with adjusted gross income below $10,000 receive the greatest benefit. They are able to take a credit for 30 percent of their child-care costs, up to a maximum of $720 for one child and $1,440 for two or more children.

The credit decreases as income goes up. Parents with adjusted gross income of more than $28,000 may claim only 20 percent of their child-care costs, up to a ceiling of $480 for one child and $960 for more than one.

The total expenses used to figure the credit cannot be more than the earned income of the spouse who earned less.

Example: Jane earned $13,000 while her husband, Dick, earned $2,000. Combined income after adjustments is $11,075. They can take a credit equal to 29 percent of their child-care expenses. Because of Dick's low income, they are limited to a ceiling of 29 percent x $2,000, or $580 for one child, rather than the usual ceiling of $696.

You may claim the credit for hiring someone to care for:

- Your child or other dependent who is under 15 years old.
- Your husband or wife who is physically or mentally incapable of caring for himself or herself.
- A member of your household not capable of self-care whom you claim as a dependent or whom you could claim as a dependent except that he or she had income of $1,950 or more.

The expenses must have been incurred to permit you to be gainfully employed either full time or part time. In addition to being claimed by working parents with young children and by the spouse of a person incapable of self-care, this credit can be claimed by an unmarried son or daughter maintaining a home for a parent who needs care, or by the working parent of an older child who is incapable of self-care.

Fees paid to a nursery school or a summer day camp that the dependent child attends so that a parent can be employed are considered child care expenses. Overnight summer camp expenses no longer qualify for child care expenses.

If child- or dependent-care expenses also qualify as medical expenses, you will not be able to use these expenses for both purposes. Therefore, if you include these with your other medical expenses, any part that is not deductible because of the 7.5 percent floor cannot be considered for the child-care credit.

If the child- or dependent-care expenses that also qualify as medical expenses are more than you can use to figure your credit because of the earned income or dollar limits, then you can add the excess to your medical expenses before applying the 7.5 percent limit.

Married taxpayers must file a joint return to claim the credit. In claiming the credit, complete Form 2441, Credit for Child and Dependent Care Expenses, and attach it to your Form 1040 or 1040A. You cannot file Form 1040EZ to claim this credit.

The earned-income credit: This has been around since 1975 but is still frequently overlooked. Many qualifying individuals don't understand that you can receive a refund without having had one cent of tax deducted from your paycheck.

This credit is available to low-income workers with a child living with them for more than half the year (a whole year if filing as a qualifying widow).

Employees eligible for the earned income credit may receive it either on their tax returns or in advance payments during the year. Those who would like it in advance must file Form W-5 with their employer.

Eligible employees who do not file Form W-5 will not receive any advance payments, but they will still get the full benefits for the earned-income credit on their annual tax returns. For 1988 this credit can be as much as $874.

No special form needs to be used in claiming the earned-income credit, but a work sheet to help you determine the amount of credit is included with the instructions for both the 1040 and 1040A returns. In addition, an earned income credit table is provided.

The earned-income credit can be claimed only on Forms 1040A and 1040. You may not claim the earned income credit on the 1040EZ.

Chilean grapes are returning to markets at higher prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fresh Chilean grapes are being trucked across the country today after a two-week absence from store shelves because of a cyanide poisoning scare, industry leaders say.

Consumers may see slightly higher prices on the produce initially, but prices are expected to drop back to pre-scare levels in a couple of weeks when supply catches up with demand, they said.

Losses to Chilean exporters and to U.S. fruit importers as a result of the cyanide scare over grapes and other produce are estimated at $240 million, Ronald S. Bown, executive director of the Chilean Exporters Association, said Thursday.

Some of those losses may be offset by a plan being developed by the Chilean government to compensate U.S. importers, wholesalers and retailers as well as Chilean growers and exporters, Bown said.

Officials at the Chilean embassy in Washington did not return telephone calls for comment on the plan Thursday.

An estimated $50 million to $75 million worth of Chilean fruit is being destroyed under the U.S. Food and Drug Administration's advisory that was issued after the agency on March 12 found traces of cyanide in two grapes from Chile. Earlier in the month an anonymous caller to the U.S. embassy in the Chilean capital of Santiago had threatened to inject cyanide in export fruit.

Some 2 million to 3 million crates of the fruit — grapes, berries, pears, nectarines, peaches, melon and apples — had been removed from store shelves or was being held in warehouses until the FDA concluded last week that it would have to be destroyed because it could not be readily inspected.

The FDA then announced a plan for stepped-up inspections of Chilean fruit at the docks and on ships to clear the way for the Chilean exports to get back into the stores with safety assurances.

Bown said the Chilean fruit industry is anticipating a "sustained level of consumer demand" in the United States and is doing all it can to ensure that fruit coming from Chile will be "fresh, nutritious, of premium quality and available at a reasonable price." The reason, he said, is simple: "The U.S. is by far our biggest and best customer — and we want to keep it that way."

Exporters are concentrating their efforts on returning table grapes to U.S. markets, since they constitute 70 percent of Chilean fruit exports. Pears and nectarines will follow, and should be on some store shelves by the weekend, Bown said.

There was no estimate when other fruits may begin appearing. The FDA has been holding up distribution until laboratory tests can give inspectors a better idea how to see evidence of cyanide tampering.

Prices initially may be "slightly higher" than they had been before the scare began because of pent-up demand, said George F. Carstens, president of the American Produce Association, which represents 65 companies that import Chilean fruit.

The weak link in Latin America between research and development and its practical application constitutes a major stumbling block in the region's way of making advances in the field of biotechnology, according to the Inter-American Development Bank. In Latin America, nearly all research and development is carried out at universities and other specialized centers which traditionally shun the practical business of putting new techniques into production. At the same time, manufacturing firms do virtually no R&D themselves.

Teen's Idea of Home Company Causes Parents to Hit the Roof

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1989 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 years old and consider myself a man. I work full time, live with my parents and pay room and board. My question: Shouldn't I be allowed to have my girlfriend sleep over in my room? She's 19 and my one and only girlfriend.

I believe that since I am paying for this room and am of age, I should be able to have overnight company here if I want to. My parents disagree. They think I should live by the house rules they set before I turned 18. I always respected their rules and never complained.

I love my parents and enjoy living with them, but think they should not put any restrictions on what I can do in my room as long as I am paying rent. What do you think? Must I move out to avoid a hassle? This is the only thing we ever argue about.

A MAN WITH LITTLE BOY RULES

DEAR MAN: Obviously your parents are not comfortable with the idea of their son sleeping with his girlfriend under their roof, and I can certainly understand their feelings. But since you can't, I suggest you rent a room or apartment elsewhere for complete independence and privacy. The next move is yours.

DEAR ABBY: You should have told that man signed "Hurting in Waukegan" what you told me when I had the problem of a cheating spouse. I have carried it in my wallet for years and could probably recite it from memory. No truer words were ever written. It helped me a lot. Maybe it will help "Hurting" if you want to pass it along. Please print it for others.

MINNIE

DEAR MINNIE: That item was clipped by many, and here it is:

DEAR ABBY: Why will a married man pick up a tramp and treat her like a lady, then turn around and treat his wife (who is a lady) like a tramp?

MINNIE

DEAR MINNIE: A man picks

up a tramp because he wants a female companion who is no better than he is. In her company he doesn't feel inferior. He rewards her by treating her like a lady. He treats his wife (who is a lady) like a tramp because he feels that by degrading her he will bring her down to his level. This makes him feel guilty, so to get even with his wife for making him feel guilty, he keeps right on punishing her.

DEAR ABBY: I can't get "Torn Mom's" letter off my mind because I know exactly how she feels. "Torn" had a 3-year-old child who had strikingly beautiful red hair that caught the attention of strangers who couldn't resist commenting on it — in the presence of a 5-year-old sibling who was repeatedly hurt when he was overlooked.

I have a similar problem with well-meaning admirers making a fuss over my identical twin daughters who are a year and a half old. When I have the twins out in public with their older brother, the twins get all the attention and the boy is ignored. May I suggest some reminders to public admirers?

The best way to admire children is from afar. But if you must come closer to comment or ask questions, please make it a point to "notice" the other siblings first. It will make their day.

When you see twins, don't ask, "How do you tell them, apart?" Parents of identical twins learn to look for the differences. Also, don't ask, "Are they twins?" It is obvious that they are.

MOTHER OF TWINS

DEAR MOTHER: Good suggestions. Being a twin myself, may I add another to mothers of twins: Do not dress identical twins alike — it discourages individuality and thwarts personal growth. Trust me.

DEAR ABBY: Over the years, you have been very rough on smokers. It may surprise (and interest) you to know that smoking is endorsed in the Bible: "Let him that is filthy be filthy still." (Revelation 22:11)

Shooting shocks friends, relatives

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Friends, relatives and former teachers said they were shocked to learn a college sophomore had been arrested and charged after a shooting incident in a Texas A&M University dormitory room.

Harry Louis Horak was arrested in his ex-girlfriend's dorm room after the incident early Tuesday. He was charged with two counts of attempted murder, two counts of aggravated assault, use of a prohibited weapon and burglary with intent to commit assault.

Horak, 20, a Texas A&M sophomore nuclear engineering student from Corpus Christi, remained in the Brazos County Jail Thursday in lieu of bonds totaling $100,000.

At about 3 a.m. Tuesday, an assailant entered the dormitory room of Horak's former girlfriend, Trisha Michelle Sexton, 19, of Newport, N.C., and her roommate, Sandra Dolores Alcala, 19, of El Paso. The man pulled out two rifles hidden under an overcoat, said Bob Wiatt, Texas A&M University police chief. The women were able to disarm him and force him into a closet until university police came, but during the scuffle, eight rounds were fired from two rifles. The women suffered minor powder burns but were otherwise unharmed, Wiatt said.

The shots were fired from a 30.06-caliber rifle and a .223-caliber Ruger Mini-14 semiautomatic rifle.

"He never got into a fight when he was little and going to school," Horak's 21-year-old brother, Nick Horak, told the Corpus Christi Caller-Times.

Harry Louis Horak is a petty officer third class in the U.S. Navy Reserve, said his brother, a University of Texas senior.

Harry Horak has been involved in military-related activities since the 10th grade at Richard King High School in Corpus Christi, where he was a member of the Navy Junior ROTC program.

"He was a good model for other students," said Retired Navy Cmdr. Jim Cramer, Horak's NJROTC teacher at King High.

University officials don't know what to do with buried statue

DENTON, Texas (AP) — Now that the statue called "The Student" has been found after being buried for 20 years, officials at the University of North Texas are not quite sure what to do with it.

Construction workers discovered the statue Wednesday, and administrators don't know what to do with the 8-ton vandalized statue that turned up just in time to celebrate its 50th birthday.

"There had been talk of the statue being buried in that area for many years," Fred Pole, vice president for administrative affairs, said Thursday. "Rather than going in and crumbling the thing unknowingly, we wanted to see what could be done. We don't know what kind of condition it's in."

If university officials are not sure what to do with the statue, it's creator knows what he wants them to do with it.

"Put it back in the ground and put a plaque on it," said Sterling Cook, now a 72-year-old retired museum curator living in Ohio.

"It was not a great piece of work," he said. The 8-foot tall statue was unearthed in Chilton Hall's courtyard, the same area where it was once displayed, during a renovation project.

Cook, then 22, created the statue as a class assignment.

"I don't even remember what grade I got on it," he said.

The statue, made of cement and marble chips, depicts a student in blue jeans and no shirt reading a book.

It was to be one of five statues to decorate Chilton Hall to depict various aspects of college life, but apparently none of the other statues were completed, Pole said.

In 1975, the student newspaper, The North Texas Daily, said it was vandalism that caused the burial of the statue in the early 1970s.

"One service center worker said several physical plant workers were ordered to bury the figure," the newspaper reported. The physical plant director at the time denied the allegation.
