

MANY A LIVEWIRE WOULD be a dead one if it weren't for the connections.

THE OLD TIMERS CAME, THEY saw and were delighted with the fine program that had been arranged and presented to them at the Old Settlers Reunion held last week. Also, the excellent food served them in barbecue style, and the excellent spirit of hospitality that greeted them during their stay in the city.

Many changes had been made since many of the old timers made their first residence in Stanton. The delightful shady city park brilliantly lighted where they assembled to talk over old times, listen to the program, and eat the barbecue, was to their first recollection a span of prairie land with a few mosquito trees.

The mode of travel by horse and buggy, in the early days, the old timer came to the reunion in an automobile, the latest model of a well known make.

As a guest in a Stanton home while attending the reunion, the old timer was served food prepared on a gas or electric range, in place of the pot metal cook stove, fired by cord wood. He saw electric washing machines taking the place of the old tub shaped machine turned by hand and the clothes wrung dry by running them through a ringer. Electric lights in place of coal oil lamps and candles.

These are only a few of the things the old timers at the reunion had witnessed a transfiguration of things since the first time they stopped in Stanton.

WHAT IS THAT ABOUT CASTING "your bread upon the waters and it will return to you fold." Whatever may be the biblical expression, and what it alludes to, we West Texans may never have the opportunity to try it. The reason, if the continued dry weather holds on and the streams and water wells continue to dry up, we'll have no water on which to float a crumb of bread. And we might add if the water disappears there won't be a crumb of bread to float.

The State Water Board says the municipalities have priority over all water rights. If the town or city finds its water source is reaching a critical stage, or arrives at the point where the town is to suffer a water famine the municipality can step in and take over the water source.

This alludes to flood waters from upstream watersheds. In Martin County our water supply comes from underground. In case Stanton, a municipality, reaches the water famine stage, would it be in a position to claim priority in this water business—would it have the right to halt irrigation and turn its use to the city?

We hardly think so. That battle to be fought on this score will be between the municipalities and the rural water users located in areas where the supply comes from flood waters from upstream watersheds.

DURING THE DRY YEARS past the enterprising newspaperman who placed there was no limit to the good advertising would do if placed in his newspaper, made a deal with his merchants to run their advertisements in a page or a double page spread calling the elements for a rain to visit the town. IF

MRS. BOB COX was in charge of publicity for the Old Settlers Reunion when that group's annual program was presented on July 9-10. The Stanton Reporter wishes to acknowledge the fine help and splendid cooperation given the newspaper by Mrs. Cox in preparing publicity for the event weeks before and during the celebration. It has been generally agreed that the annual affair was one of the best in the history of the organization. Mrs. Cox, the former Jo Jon Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Morgan Hall, worked well with the staff writers of the county newspaper at all times and this is our way of saying, thanks to her for a job well done.

IMPORTANT!

George Glynn, ASC office manager here said today that one copy of soil bank agreements carried out of the local office must be signed and returned by July 20.

Glynn explained that a report had to be made on Friday. He said that regulations prohibited sending in agreements after the deadline.

July 20 Final Day To Sign For Soil Bank

George Glynn, office manager of the Martin County ASC, announced this week that the final date to sign an agreement to participate in the 1956 acreage reserve part of the soil bank program is July 20.

Producers are urged to sign agreements as soon as they have definitely decided to participate in the acreage reserve.

If payment is to be divided between tenant and landowner, both must sign agreement. Agreements are binding, and farmers should not sign until they understand the terms and are willing to abide by them.

Farmers who otherwise meet the eligibility requirements may take part in the 1956 acreage reserve under the following conditions:

1. Wheat, cotton, or peanuts were planted on the farm, but were destroyed by natural causes such as drought, hail, etc.

2. A crop of wheat, cotton, or peanuts is growing on the farm, but the farmer decides to plow under a part of the acreage in order to take part in the acreage reserve.

3. Underplanting the 1956 allotment of wheat, cotton, or peanuts either because of abnormal weather (drought) conditions, or in anticipation of taking part in the Soil Bank Program.

As nearly every farm is an individual case, farmers interested in the acreage reserve are requested to call at this office for complete details on the program.

ONLY GOD CAN MAKE A TREE . . .

Park officials of Fort Worth are urging their citizens to help save their trees which are dying at an alarming rate due to the hot weather and lack of rainfall.

Stanton has lost several fine shade trees, both at private homes and along street curbs owned by the city, mostly due to the lack of care by the citizens. The city and the home owners have had plenty of water at their disposal to provide the trees moisture nourishment, but failure to dig ditches around the trees and fill them with water, and also failure to trim them at the proper season, and care for them otherwise, has been the main reason for these trees to die.

What the park officials of Fort Worth recommends to its citizens to do to save their water-hunger trees, might be applied to Stanton citizens.

The recommendations follow:
 "First, watering the grasses on the lawn is little help to trees, especially large and old ones with deep roots.

"Instead, take a crowbar and drive holes about a foot and a half deep in the ground. Put the holes about two feet apart and circle the tree from a point under the far reaches of the branches. Make smaller circles under the tree until you are within five or six feet of the trunk.

"There's no point watering near the trunk. There are no roots there.

"Then fill the holes with water. Keep doing this until the water stands in the holes."

The park official declared that if the tree owner would water well the trees in the early spring and fall, he wouldn't have to bother doing it during the summer months.

Some trees which in former years have afforded a considerable spread of shade and brought beauty to the premises in Stanton are no more, and others are dying for the want of the proper care and attention. Plenty of water has been at the disposal of Stanton citizens to put on the trees, but no one seems to have had the urge to water them.

ANDREWS ON THE BOOM . . .

The frequent uncapping of oil wells in Andrews County, ranging in production from 500 to 1500 barrels per day, is putting the city of Andrews on a "greased pole" tempo up into the city class. Its climb to city proportions has left no room or time for the pessimist to set up shop.

James Roberts, editor of the Andrews County News, sat himself down to his typewriter and in his column "Drifting Sands" gave a preview of what's going on in his home town. He said:

"These are trying times in Andrews for the pessimist and the optimist.

"A confirmed pessimist has about as much chance surviving here as a thirsty teetotaler locked up in a brewery.

"But it's even rougher on the optimist. Things are popping in town so fast that he can't get the rumor spread that a new outfit is coming to town before the deal is signed, designed and taxed.

"It's hard to see the outlook for Andrews as anything but rosy.

"The desperate need for housing should be alleviated in the near future with new projects—big projects—planned in almost quarter of town.

"And for the first time the big housing developments planned have the men, money, and machines necessary to back up their plans.

"Permits were issued last week to one builder who has todate completed over 3,000 homes in West Texas and New Mexico. He is envisioning 600 here if the market holds up.

"And the commercial building continues at a steady pace with construction already underway on a steam laundry, shoe store, a department store building, and an office building.

"With the school planning to launch a five million dollar program, the city planning expansion moves, a new post office on top, and a pot full of other projects in the stewing stage, things are percolatin'.

"As the feller said in the post office, all the town needs now is a river, two mountains, and Pappy's fire truck."

Philosopher Wants Surplus Money Voted For Defense Dept.

Dear editor:
 Sometimes you have to read some news out of Washington two or three times before it soaks in.

The other day I read where Congress had voted 800 million dollars for the air force to build more jet bombers and Defense Secretary Wilson said he didn't need it, take it back. I didn't pay too much attention to this at the time, figured the next day's paper would have a denial in it, saying Sec. Wilson had been misquoted again. But as I would have it, I got hold of a paper the next day and sure enough, Sec. Wilson was still resisting that 800 million, and a few days later I got hold of still another paper, somebody had used it to wrap up a piece of ice and while it was plumpy and a little hard to read, I managed to find out it was a fact, one department in Washington was actually complaining because Congress had voted it too much money.

I can't understand this. I know it's been hot in Washington, the same as it has here, but this is the worst effect of the heat I've ever seen.
 At any rate, I've been thinking. As I understand it, Sec. Wilson says he will have to accept the money, but that since the defense department has no use for it now he'll put it in the bank.
 Now here's my point. He didn't say what bank, and I was just wondering, why couldn't he put it in the Soil Bank? As I understand it, the Soil Bank is turning out sort of like some other phases of banking. That is, occasionally a bank will advertise that it has money to loan, but when I go in and inquire about it, the story is a little different from what I had hoped for. The size of the loan, and its terms, fall considerably short of what my situation demands.

This Soil Bank sounds fine, but when they get down to the size of the check they can write out for you, the story is a little different.
 And I was just thinking, why can't Sec. Wilson turn this unwanted money over to the Soil Bank? That's one department that could use a little more. This country may be producing jet bombers at a satisfactory rate, but right now the production rate on solvent farmers is a little low.

Yours faithfully,
 J. A.

BIBLE COMMENT

City of Sin Was Springboard for Christianity

The new disciples of Jesus were called "Christians" first in Antioch, in Syria. This city of outward grandeur and proportions was a city of paradox. The moral corruption of its people beneath the grandeur and the seeming culture was such that when a Roman orator deplored the moral decay of Rome, he did so by saying that "the Orontes had overflowed the Tiber."

Surely this was a strange place for the progressive movement of Christianity to take its rise. The beliefs, character and ideals of these early Christians were so much at variance with the life of the prosperous and licentious city that not only was the contrast so extreme, but it seemed incredible that so small a group, probably called Christians as a nickname or term of reproach, could presume to attain any supremacy. Yet, the great city on the Orontes is a thing of the past, centuries ago gone down in ruin, while the Christianity that the little group represented, coming from Jerusalem and taking hold in Antioch, has spread and taken root in every part of the world. Yet, the more one thinks of it, Antioch was a fitting place for Christianity to assume its new missionary beginning; for is not the purpose of Christianity to conquer sin and licentiousness, to take root in an evil world and grow, conquering the evil?

Associated with this city of Antioch is the first missionary journey of Paul and Barnabas. When the disciples at Jerusalem heard how deeply the new faith had taken hold at Antioch, they sent Barnabas, a good man and John Priddy is deferring all of his grassland this year. Priddy said he sold his stock before they got too cheap and that he was going to let his pastures get better before he stocks them again.

Mr. Priddy has drilled an irrigation well and if he gets water he is going to irrigate grass and feed for livestock.

Harry Echols is planning an irrigation well and if he gets water he is going to irrigate grass and feed for livestock.

Harry believes he can make more money with livestock than he could by raising cotton and he could tend his stock without hired labor.

Bernard Houston has got a rotation program started on his cultivated land. He plants small grain in the fall and follows that with cotton or grass and feed which gives him a three year rotation. Cotton following Blue Panic grass has more growth and will go several days longer between waterings than cotton following cotton. Bernard is deferring all his pasture land now and plans to continue deferring them until the better grasses are back in fair condition.

No wonder more people who can afford the best buy Fords rather than any other low-priced car*

The low-priced car most like the high-priced cars!

Partly, it's Ford's Thunderbird V-8 power—up to 225 h.p. strong! For why, indeed, pay more for power when such a low price buys the type of V-8 that put the "scoot" in America's goingest dream car? It's the kind of "git" that won for Ford the Manufacturer's Award for best all-around performance over all cars in the big Daytona Championships.

Partly, it's because there's more future in a Ford! Ford's 5-cross-member frame . . . Ford's exclusive angle-poised ball-joint front suspension . . . Ford's variable rate rear suspension are just a few of the "pluses" that give Ford its reputation for lasting and lasting.

Partly, it's Ford's quality body construction! People who can afford the best know a well built body. They appreciate the things that make Ford's body extra solid . . . extra quiet: rubber-insulated body bolts, the most generous sound-proofing in its field, extra-firm body-cross-bracing . . . to name a few.

Partly, it's the years-ahead way Fords are styled! The sleek, low-slung Thunderbird set the style for every Ford for '56. That means style that will stay in style . . . it's that far ahead of the field. Yet, Ford is priced with the lowest!

Partly, it's the extra protection of Ford's Lifeguard Design! For pioneering this exclusive family of safety features that gives added protection in case of accident, Ford received the coveted Motor Trend Award. But come in! Take a Test Drive. See why the fine-car buyers are going Ford!

*SURVEYS BY LEADING MAGAZINES show that more people with over $5,000 . . . over $10,000 . . . even over $100,000 a year incomes own Ford than any other low-priced make.

NOW! A FORD with AIR CONDITIONING costs less than many medium-priced cars without it. TRY ONE TODAY! Based on a comparison of suggested list prices.

FORD goes first . . . in looks . . . in go . . . in safety!

Statutory Division Of Separate Estates Explained

The death of an intestate person (one who has made no will) may give rise to many problems regarding distribution of his separate estate. In the preceding column we investigated the manner of dividing the community estate upon the death of a husband or wife. Now we shall see that, where separate property is involved, a completely different set of rules applies in determining heirship and apportioning the estate among the rightful claimants.

It may be well to recall that the separate estate of a husband or wife includes property owned by either before marriage, and that which is acquired after marriage by gift or inheritance. Any other property acquired after marriage is presumed by law to be community property until the contrary is clearly proved.

Now, here is a general idea as to how your separate property will be divided if you do not make a will with contrary provisions prior to your death.

If your husband or wife survives and if, in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of previously deceased children, the children and their descendants immediately obtain a full (fee) title in two-thirds of the real estate involved. The surviving spouse receives a life interest in the remaining one-third of the real property, which passes on to the children and their descendants upon the death of the spouse.

The rule for distributing personal property—cash, stocks, bonds, furniture, or any other items not constituting real estate—is different. Here the surviving spouse gets full ownership of one-third, and the children and their descendants inherit the balance.

Now suppose your husband or wife survives, but there are no surviving children or their descendants. In this case the surviving spouse inherits all of the

Miss Elaine Hazlewood Honored With Salad Supper Saturday

Elaine Hazlewood, bride-elect of Paige Eliand, was the honoree at a salad supper at 7 p.m. Saturday in the home of Mrs. Jess Burns.

Mrs. Jarrell Barbee of Coahoma and Mrs. Bill Burns were co-hostesses for the affair.

A theme of love was carried out in the menu. Chicken salad molded into the shape of a heart represented courtship; a fruit salad made in the shapes of butterflies represented the time before the wedding when everything is hurried. The potato salad was molded into the shape of a wedding ring and desert was strawberry shortcake topped with whipped cream.

Small cards on which wishes for the future bride were written marked the places. Each guest read the wish and then dropped it into a miniature wishing well, which was the centerpiece.

The honoree and her fiancé looking into the future when they would be married was represented on the buffet by pictures of the couple looking through a cloud at a bridal couple standing in a misty cloud.

Attending were the honoree and her mother, Mrs. L. C. Hazlewood, Suzanne Reynolds, Jere Coon, Mrs. Duane Connell, Mrs. Jarrell Barbee, Mrs. Bill Burns and Mrs. Jess Burns.

This shaggy dog story has a moral for you-

One day the U.S. Treasury received a letter enclosing fragments (only) of a $50 Savings Bond. The letter came from a distressed dog owner who confessed that his shaggy canine companion had given the Bond a thorough chewing, and plaintively asked what could be done about it. The Treasury wrote right back assuring the unhappy man that his Bond would be replaced upon presentation of satisfactory evidence—and enclosed the proper form to be filled out.

Several days passed. A second letter arrived—enclosing fragments of the Treasury's letter and bits of the enclosed form. You guessed it. The shaggy dog had done it again. Could the Treasury please send along another application form?

The Treasury could—and did—and eventually the chewed up Bond was replaced.

Nothing further has been heard from the man—or from the shaggy dog. (The Treasury is hoping that no news is good news.)

This true story illustrates the safety—the indestructibility of U. S. Savings Bonds. Just remember this. Any of your Bonds that are lost, stolen or destroyed will be replaced by the U. S. Treasury without charge. That's why Bonds are said to be, "Safer than cash."

U. S. Savings Bonds are not only safer than cash, but one of the best investments you can make. You can be sure of the principal, sure of the returns (an average 3% interest when held to maturity)—and sure of the future when you invest regularly in Savings Bonds.

So don't stash cash in sugar bowls and mattresses. Start investing in Savings Bonds today. That's the safe and sure way to save.

For the big things in your life, be ready with U. S. Savings Bonds

Snooter

It rained by a certain date advertised the merchants were to pay the full advertising rates charged by the newspaper, and if it didn't, the merchants were to get their advertising free. It was not often the newspaperman would come out the winner, but there were occasions when he did.

In a recent issue an Iowa newspaper carried the following advertisement for a rain and it seems the result was worth millions of dollars to the state and county:

"WANTED—GENERAL SOAKING RAIN. PLEASE RUSH. CLIFF PERKINS" It appeared in the West Branch, Iowa, Times, on April 26. The paper went into the mail about 8:00 in the morning. By supertime the rain came and brought an end to the 8-month dry spell.

It is estimated that this advertisement was worth millions to the residents of Cedar County and the state of Iowa. You don't have to argue with Cliff Perkins and his friends on the power of the press.

THIS PUBLISHED IN THE American Bankers magazine, is sound advice:

"No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being published somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a whole, half, or even a quarter of a page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned if you do not use more than 2-line space. A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town by looking at the paper. This is the best town advertiser. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and his town. The life of the town depends upon the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising men."

Linda Bess Bryan

Linda Bess Bryan To Wed Thomas E. Angel In August

The approaching marriage of Linda Bess Bryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Bryan, to Thomas Edward Angel, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Angel, was announced at a tea here Saturday, given in the Bryan home by the bride-elect's mother.

The wedding date was revealed by the party favors, miniature pink and white musical scores tied with white ribbons and wedding bands. Inside each score was printed the main theme from "Lohengrin," with "Tom and Linda Bess, August 10." The couple will be married in the First Methodist Church of Stanton.

Assisting the honoree in the receiving line for the announcement party were her mother and the mother of her fiancé. Mrs. T. W. Angel and Mrs. W. E. Hazlewood grandmothers of the prospective bridegroom, were honor guests.

Organ selections were played during the tea hour by Ima Joy Williamson and Mrs. James Jones.

Emphasizing the bride-elect's chosen colors, the tea table was laid with a floor-length cloth of white organdy over pink cotton satin, caught at the corners with large bows of pink satin ribbon.

Focal point of the centerpiece was a pair of lovebirds, holding wedding rings, swinging over pink carnations, caladium leaves and fern in a pink and white cage. An adjacent triangular arrangement of mixed flowers completed the rectangular centerpiece.

Others in the houseparty were Mrs. I. F. Kennedy of Ruidoso, N. M., Annie Jo Estes of Lamesa, Jane Blizzard and Joyce Howard of Big Spring, Mrs. Douglas Moore of Munday, Linda Nuttall of Midland, Mrs. Charles Pierce of Tarzan and Janelle Jones, Barbara Smith, Jan Nichols and Kay Bryan of Stanton.

West Texas Fair To Be Back With Full Program This Fall

ABILENE—The West Texas Fair will be reviewed in this city of 62,000 people September 10-14 after a five year lapse while waiting for a new Exposition Center.

It will be held at the recently completed Taylor County Exposition Center and will have a whopping $18,454.25 premium list.

The Fair was de-activated after the 1950 show until more adequate facilities could be built to handle the continually increasing Fair crowds.

In announcing the premium list, Fair President John A. Wright, Abilene, said that the Board of Directors is anxious to once again make the annual event the outstanding success it was for 50 years. "With the new and modern facilities, and the extra large premium list, we hope to make this revision an outstanding success for West Texas," Wright said.

Two of the top attractions at the 1956 Fair will be in the beef departments. The State Aberdeen-Angus Show and Sale will be held September 14 and 15 and $3,600 will be paid in premiums.

The Hereford Show will be held September 11 which has been designated as "Roy Largent and Hereford Day" at the Fair. $5,000 in premiums will be paid in the Show which will be judged by Largent, resident of Merkel and past president of both the American Hereford Association and the Texas Hereford Association.

Dairy cattle will vie for West Texas honors in both Holstein and Jersey departments. Premiums of $1,330 each will be paid in both.

Sheep breeders can look forward to prizes of $1,144 in the Sheep department and the Swine Show will have a cash total of $1,016 for the winners.

The Rabbit Show at this 51st West Texas Fair will have premiums of $169.00 and the Poultry Show will have a total of $275.

Top prize money of $799.50 in premiums awaits the winners in the complete Women's department which is to be the largest ever held at the West Texas Fair. And county, girls' boys, and women's club exhibits will have a total of $855.00 for winners.

There will also be other special shows such as the Art Show with $176.00 in prizes and the Youth department which has $287.75 in premiums. A big relics and antiques show will also be held with awards of $591.00. And on September 15, there will be a Flower Festival Show.

In the big Agriculture and Horticulture Show, West Texas farmers will have a premium list of $618.00. And there will be Junior Shows in the Hereford, Sheep, Swine, Rabbit, Poultry and Dairy departments.

In addition to the many competitive departments, there will be free circus type shows presented nightly on the beautiful new midway, prizes, band concerts, and Bill Hames famous carnival will be there during the six days of the Fair. And Abilene and West Texas merchants and manufacturers will dramatize the progress of this vast region of Texas with over 100 exciting exhibits.

Junior girls from the First Baptist Church attending camp this week at Big Spring include Phyllis Long, Marilyn Sale, Judy Doshier, Joann Wells, Joanna Epley, and Carolyn Springer of Lenora. Mrs. Woodford Sale accompanied them to camp.

Sunday visitors in the Ernest Ross home were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore of Lamesa and their daughter, Mrs. Gene Stoneburner and children of Houston.

TEXAS YARBOROUGH PROGRESS

VOTE JULY 28

you'll get TWO LETTERS and FIVE NUMERALS in your telephone number on C-DAY

all telephone numbers will change in Stanton on August 5

August 5 will be C-Day (Change Day) for all Stanton telephone numbers. On that date, Stanton will join the nation-wide telephone numbering system.

Beginning that day—Sunday, August 5—all telephone numbers here will have two letters and five numerals. In general, there will be no change in the last four numerals of telephone numbers. Only the first two letters of the new central office name and a number will be added — SK yline 6 (SK 6). For example, number 4-5111 will become SK yline 6-5111, and you'll dial SK-6-5-1-1-1.

However — for technical reasons — some numbers will have to be changed entirely.

New telephone directories, containing all the new numbers, will be distributed throughout the city. Be sure not to use your new directory until August 5.

Starting August 5, you will dial a new way. But the change is simple, and it paves the way for telephone progress.

Just as easy... only different

Starting August 5, you'll dial the first two letters of the central office name, then the five numerals. For example, to call SK yline 6-5111, dial S-K-6-5-1-1-1.

When you give a telephone number to the operator, or to a friend, the easy way to say it is to break it up like this: "SK yline-six... five-one... one-one."

This is the best way to say it — to understand it — to remember it.

HERE'S THE NEW LOOK IN TELEPHONE NUMBERS

SK yline 6-5111

New system means telephone progress

The new numbering system will bring even better service for you and all other telephone users in Stanton. It is part of a nation-wide program for a uniform numbering plan designed to increase the speed of long distance service.
