A Life of Life

Everyone has heard honest fears expressed that the family farm is going down a road that leads to ultimate extinction. Yet no less an authority than Secretary of Agriculture Benson has said that the family farm "has always been, is now and, I think, always will be the backbone of American agriculture."

There is every indication that those who are pessimistic about the future of the family farm have lost perspective. They are seeing a kind of farm that belongs to the past—not to today or tomorrow. They have, in other words, failed to take account of the enormous and beneficial changes that have been brought about by mechanization, vastly improved seeds and fertilizers, and other comparatively new developments.

This has turned farming into a business, requiring substantial investment along with high skills and knowledge on the part of the farmer if he is to succeed. There is little room left for incompetent people or those unsuited by temperament, background or training to agriculture.

The developments mentioned also have brought a new concept of the size of the family farm. A farmer with modern mechanized equipment, for instance, can handle a much greater acreage than did his grandfathers. But he can still run a family farm, in the full sense of the term, and the opportunities are greater than ever before.

All farmers have problems. But in every section of this country family farms are doing well, and a way of life that is typically American is being maintained and improved.

Philosopher Offers President Eisenhower A Little Advice On His Farm Operations

Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw has some advice for a well known farmer this week.

Dear editor:

I know that President Eisenhower, with the budget on his hands and the fate of the world hanging on the size of it, has no time to be worrying about farm problems, but a little matter has come to my attention which he ought to know about in advance.

According to an article I read in a newspaper last night, the manager of Ike's farm at Gettysburg said the farm isn't making any money right now because they aren't selling any of the cattle they're raising. They're keeping the calves to build up and improve the herd.

Well, now, I'll tell you. I guess all herds ought to be improved, probably the same thing goes for human beings too if anybody can figure out how to do it, but just in case Ike is interested in the benefit of somebody else's experience, I'd like to point out to him it's possible to sell cattle and still not make any money on a farm.

I mean, just because he's not selling any calves off that Gettysburg farm, doesn't mean that's all that's keeping him from making a profit on it. I don't know anything about the financial details of the place, but I have enough trouble keeping up with the financial details of this place out here on Mustang Draw, but I can tell Ike and his farm manager too that there have been years when I sold calves and lost money just the same.

That is, there's more to making money in the cattle business than just getting some calves ready for the auction ring, and it's possible to work all year with a bunch of cows, pouring feed to them in the winter, fighting blots in the spring, doctoring them through the summer, and getting their calves safely born and up to market stage, only to find out when you get your check you ain't any better off financially than you were when you started. There are more cattlemen in this country who are richer in experience than cash.

I'm not saying Ike's farm wouldn't make any money if he sold his increase, I'm just saying that if he has any time left in between fighting for his budget and modernizing the Republicans and dodging the Democrats, he ought to prepare himself and consider the possibility his farm may not show a profit, even after he sells some calves. It wouldn't be the first time for something like that to happen to a cattleman.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Sloane Announces TMA Contest Rules

The Texas Manufacturers Association has begun receiving entries in its Eighth Company Annual Report Competition.

Announcement of the contest came from Ben H. Sloane, TMA's state public relations vice president and operations manager of the Aluminum Company of America plants at Point Comfort.

Sloane said the contest, which was inaugurated in 1950, is held to encourage more Texas companies to tell the story of the American business system in their annual reports to stockholders and employees. It also enable companies to see how their reports compare with those of other Texas companies, said Sloane.

Competition is open to any firm whose main sphere of operations is in Texas. Entry deadline is August 15.

Entries are judged in four categories, according to the type and size of companies. Reports are judged for over-all appearance, editorial content, format, illustration, typography and financial-statistical presentation.

Lyndon Johnson Says Eisenhower Budget To Be Cut

Congress will cut the budget submitted by President Eisenhower for the fiscal year 1958, Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, Senate Majority Leader, predicted this week.

"There will be material cuts in the budget," Senator Johnson declared. "We are going to try to make them material enough to justify relief from the heavy tax burden."

Senator Johnson is a member of the House Committee on Appropriations.

Johnson said last during a visit to Texas the latter part of April he heard many "disturbing reports" about the economic situation. "Business men tell me their profits are down even though they are doing more business than they did last year," he said. "People on a salary tell me their bank accounts are lower even though they have had no salary cuts."

"Costs are up all along the line—the cost of living, the cost of money, the cost of doing business. We have prosperity in terms of gross income. But in terms of take-home pay and profits—the kind that puts pep chops and potatoes on the table—the picture is far from bright. "It is not surprising that there are such strong demands for economy in government. The recent tax bite was a heavy strain on our people."

The Last Supper Of Jesus Accents Fellowship Among All The Faiths

The Last Supper of Jesus with His disciples stressed the communion as the symbol of fellowship in the Christian church.

This is marked to such an extent that denominations, or sects, are called "communions," even in the very separateness which denies the unity that ought to be in Christ.

For that, of course, there are historic reasons, which to a large degree are being overcome by many who in mind, soul and heart accept as fellow Christians all who love the Lord, regardless of barriers of organization and formal creed.

But there ought to be even deeper implications of fellowship as we contemplate that Last Supper in the upper room.

That Last Supper was the celebration by Jesus and His disciples of the Passover, the most sacred rite in the Jewish religion, which was their heritage as Jews and which Jesus said He had come to destroy, but to fulfill.

The fact ought to give the Last Supper a significance that it has never had, neither for Jews nor Christians, and a meeting place in fellowship that they have never found.

Surely the supreme task of all who believe in the Christ and the fellowship of the upper room is to bring to reality and fullness in the world the spirit and the practice of brotherhood.

U. S. Marine Corps Enlistment Program

It was announced today by M/Sgt Robert E. Porter NCO in charge, Marine Corps recruiting station, Odessa, Texas that a new policy concerning the two year enlistment program has been adopted by the Marine Corps.

Men who are enlisted in the two year program are not required to participate in weekly drills or attend summer camp after completing two years of active duty. This gives all men an opportunity to fulfill their military obligation and at the same time be able to complete their education or resume their civilian positions without further interruptions. Upon completion of two years of active duty they would then be transferred to an inactive status and serve the remainder of their obligated service in the inactive reserve. Complete information may be obtained on the new program by contacting the Marine Recruiting Station nearest you. If there is no Marine Recruiting Station in your city then full particulars may be obtained by writing or visiting Marine Corps Recruiting Station located at Room 207, Banks Building, 118 E. 6th St., Odessa, Texas.

What Was The News Of Note? -Twenty-Five Years Ago-

Friday evening, May 20, Maxine Hall and Katherine Scott, entertained the High School Senior Class, immediately preceding the graduating exercises, at the home of Miss Hall.

A picnic party on the lake east of Stanton was enjoyed by a party of young people, including Misses Maxine Hall, Margery Collier, Ruth Eidson, Lela Hamilton, Dorothy Bassett, and Dorothy Hamilton. After lunch a motor boat ride in "May 22," was enjoyed by the group.

Thirty-three graduated from the Stanton High School — 20 boys and 13 girls—the largest in the history of the school. Nola Shelburne won the highest honors in the class by a fraction of a point over Dave Foreman. Her average was 95.88 and that of Foreman 95.59. The valedictory and the salutatory were delivered by these students respectively.

County Attorney Bob Hamilton of Stanton and Bob Smith, district attorney of Odessa, returned Wednesday night from attending the State Democratic Convention in Houston.

Monday evening the Stanton Study Club held their annual

Lt. Ray Simpson Completes Advanced Course At Connally

JAMES CONNALLY AFB, TEXAS. First Lieutenant Ray P. Simpson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Simpson, Sr., of Stanton, completed the Advanced Observer Intercept training program at James Connally Air Force Base in April 1957.

Students in the program receive advanced training in B-25 aircraft, leading to specialization in all-weather jet interceptors. From James Connally AFB, these officers are assigned to Air Force installations throughout the world, serving with the Air Defense Command. Their training period here lasts for sixteen weeks.

Lt. Simpson attended the graduation ceremony in Lubbock, receiving his Bachelor of Science degree in Agriculture in May 1955.

His wife is the former Betty Yvonne Ory, Route 1, Stanton.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

Things have been popping under the State Capitol dome throughout 1957.

Tops among the stories that kept the Capitol newsroom tele-typing jangling were:

1. WATER PROBLEMS — Floods, tornadoes and hurricanes brought 10 years of drought to a close. Reservoirs then filled to 91 per cent of capacity—a two-years supply. But Lampasas, Dallas, Silvertown, and other towns added up damage toll of more than $100,000,000. Pasturage flourished, but many crops washed away or rotted. Water's importance couldn't be ignored. Result: Legislature passed two major measures. People approved $200,000,000 bond-selling amendments for water conservation projects.

2. ICT FAILS — Ben Jack Cage became a household word after the crash of an empire he had built with heavy investments from organized labor. Losses were estimated at $4,500,000. Two legislative committees and two grand juries spent months trying to untangle ICT's fantastic history. Cage was indicted. After his return from South America, he was convicted on embezzlement charges and still faces trial on other indictments.

3. EX-OFFICIALS ENMESHED — Former Insurance Commissioners J. Bryon Saunders and Garland Smith, were accused of receiving money from ICT while they were in office. Both were indicted on perjury charges. Trials are pending.

4. INSURANCE REORGANIZATION — Texas insurance regulation must start over with a "clean slate," declared Gov.

Price Daniel shortly after taking office. Over strong opposition, he pushed the insurance reorganization bill through the Legislature. It enabled him to appoint new officials to the battle-scarred department.

But more static developed in the special sessions. Senate tried to oust the new commissioner, William A. Harrison. Attorney General's opinion said they had no say-so over Harrison's appointment. However, the Insurance Department still faces continued critical surveillance from disgruntled senators.

5. COX CONVICTED — Things talked about for years erupted into the open with the sensational resignation, indictment and conviction of Rep. James E. Cox of Conroe. A tape recording of a conversation between Cox and a Naturopathic Association leader was the prime evidence used to back up a charge that Cox had agreed to accept a $5,000 bribe. This provided extra fuel for the reform drive. A code of ethics and lobby registration laws were passed.

6. NEW SEGREGATION LAWS — East Texas legislators put plenty of steam behind proposals designed to preserve local authority over school segregation. Futile filibusters caused delays, but five bills were passed. They'll probably be in the news again as opponents bring them to test in courts.

7. OIL SAGS — Violent fluctuations in Texas oil production gave everyone the jitters. Pressure from the Suez Canal crisis forced production allowable to an all-time high of 18 producing days in March. But Suez reopened and foreign oil came flooding back into the U.S.A. Texas' allowable had tumbled to 13 producing days by July, skidded to an all-time low of 12 in September. President's order for voluntary import cuts brought some hope.

8. RAIDS — Attorney General Will Wilson padlocked Galveston gambling houses with less repercussion on the Pleasure Isle's economy than expected. Latest Wilson raids rounded up naturopaths on charge of violating the Medical Practices Act.

9. RUN-OFFS DECREED — Almost forgotten now is the furor over the Pool Bill to require a run-off in special elections. Ralph Yarborough became junior U. S. senator in an old-style one-shot election. Then the Legislature passed a bill requiring run-off elections in the future.

10. MONEY SHORTAGE — It didn't make black headlines, but it troubled men in high places. By the end of the second special session, the Legislature had scraped the bottom of the state treasury. Comptroller predicted the state would be $12,000,000 in the red by 1959. Depressed oil, a prime tax source, and extra sessions contributed to the problem. But most people agreed that Texas was bursting its fiscal seams from inevitable growth. A special Tax Study Commission is studying the issue over-all. Observers say new taxes are unavoidable.

MORE INSURANCE WOES — Texas insurance world is "all shook up" again. Fuse was relit when the Senate investigating committee announced it had uncovered a $2,000 gift from a company president, to an Insurance Department employe. Sen. Charles Herring of Austin, committee chairman, called a new round of hearings.

Insurance Commissioner William A. Harrison fired the employe, Examiner J. W. Pierson, who had been with the department 24 years. He demanded removal of the company president, John L. McCarthy of Estate Life Ins. Co., Amarillo. McCarthy resigned.

Estate officials swung back, threatened to sue the department. They contend the company was rooked in a department-approved reinsurance contract taking over policies of the bankrupt Physicians Life.

Harrison also took aim at another company, United General Life of Dallas. Hearing was set for Dec. 31 in which the company must prove "competence, fitness and reputation" of its officers or lose license.

Largent Parks, who came under Senate committee fire earlier, resigned as president of Preferred Life of Dallas. Insurance Department had made Parks' removal mandatory for company's continued existence.

GILES PAROLE DENIED — Former Land Commissioner Bascom Giles faces another year in the State Prison at Huntsville. The Board of Pardons voted 2 to 1 against recommending clemency. More than 100 Austin citizens, 4 ministers and Giles' family presented pleas to the board.

Giles began serving a six-year term for his part in veterans land program frauds in January, 1956. As a model prisoner and trusty, he can complete the sentence by January, 1959. His case has come up twice for review by the Pardons Board. Each time it has been rejected on grounds a pardon might "depreciate the seriousness of the offense."

RESERVOIRS URGED — Construction of new reservoirs should have first priority in state water planning, say engineers. Some 25 consulting engineers from over the state met with the Water Board to help get the new planning program rolling. It authorizes the first state effort at topographic mapping since the 1920's. Since there's not enough money to map everywhere, engineers urged mapping areas where reservoirs are needed.

Retiring Board Member H. A. Beckwith will direct the mapping. Beckwith was hired by the board as a $100,000-a-year engineer.

SHORT SPORTS — Back in business is the veterans land program after selling $12,500,000 in

Irrigation Short Course Set For A&M

What does the future hold for irrigation in the state of Texas? This question and various answers to it will be the theme on which the annual Irrigation Short Course is opened at Texas A and M. College January 16-17.

One wet year doesn't make irrigation unnecessary, and right now, while the pressure for more water is lessened is the best time for everyone concerned with irrigation to make a calm study of the situation, says Prof. F. R. Jones, head of the college's Department of Agricultural Engineering.

Following a morning of discussion about the future potential of irrigation, the conferees will then take up, in order, the various aspects and problems involved in cotton irrigation, irrigation problems generally, and management with irrigation, to round out the two-day conference.

Subject titles range from "Irrigation Potentials in Texas" by H. P. Burleigh, area engineer, U. S. Department of the Interior, Bureau of Reclamation, Austin, through "Cotton Varieties Suited to Irrigation" by Dr. T. R. Richmond, head, Cotton Investigation Section, Department of Agronomy, and "Well Failures, Their Causes and Solutions" by R. V. Thurmond, irrigation engineer, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, to "Soil Mismanagement Under Irrigation," by M. E. Bloodworth, Soil Physics Section, Texas A. and M. System Department of Agronomy.

This short course is sponsored by the System's Department of Agricultural Engineering, and is open to any person interested in irrigation. Professor Jones says. All sessions will be held in the Memorial Student Center on the campus.

FRUITED CREAM BOWL

Take chilled whipped cream and fold into it plump pieces of prunes and other fruits, plus cubes of cake and slivers of toasted almonds—and what you get is this delectable dessert. On the surface this dessert seems light as foam yet charms with a deep down, all-out fruitiness. So luscious it can be your pride as a party refreshment, yet so easy to prepare it belongs in family meals, too.

In the making, the trick is to cut the prunes in large pieces. Then their full soft meanness lends real body to the blend, and the cream takes on something of the natural, good tart-sweetness of the prunes themselves.

Here are the simple directions:

- FRUITED CREAM BOWL
- 1 9-oz. can sliced pineapple, cut up or 4 slices and 1/2 cup syrup
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 2 cups diced sponge cake
 - 1/2 cup chopped pitted prunes
 - 1 large (or 1 cup) sliced banana
 - 1 cup orange sections
 - 1/2 cup slivered toasted almonds
 - 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
- Combine pineapple, prunes, orange sections, sugar and sponge cake cubes; mix well. Let stand in refrigerator until needed. Just before serving, add banana slices and almonds. Fold in whipped cream. Serve in large dessert dish garnished with whole plumped prunes, almonds and fruit slices. Makes 6-8 servings.
- *Prunes are soaked overnight in cold water to plump.

Citrus Fruits Star As January Plentiful Foods

Citrus fruits rate star billing on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's January plentiful foods list for this area.

Here's why. The orange crop is 3 percent larger than last year and 26 percent larger than average at 73.3 million boxes. Add to this supply 43.3 million boxes of grapefruit—a crop as large as last year and only slightly less than average—about 4.5 billion boxes of tangerines and 14.7 million boxes of lemons.

Only other plentiful fruits for January are apples and dried prunes.

Broilers and fryers take the spotlight at meat counters with January production running about 11 percent above last year. Frozen whiting is plentiful, too.

January promises heavy stocks of canned and frozen peas, potatoes, dry blackeye peas and dry pinto beans.

Dairy foods return to USDA's plentiful list for the first time since October as milk production breaks all records for this season.

Other January plentiful foods include almonds, dates and fiberts.

USDA determines what's plentiful every month by a survey of major food suppliers in this area.
