Philosopher Up In Arms Over Scientist Who's Glad He Escaped Becoming A Farmer

Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw seems a little riled up this week. He'll get over it.

Maybe some farmer had rather be a scientist than farmer, and maybe some teachers measure their failure by the number of their pupils who fall into farming, but I don't believe I'd be willing to swap. I haven't won any gold medals for scientific achievement, but on the other hand you can't pin the hydrogen bomb on me. I haven't sailed a submarine under the ice at the North Pole, but on the other hand I've spent some right comfortable times under a tree in the shade on this Martin County grass farm. Every man to his own taste, and if every teacher had been as good as that scientist's teacher, and there weren't any farmers left, a lot of scientists would be getting mighty hungry.

Dear editor: There are some days when I'd just as soon not have seen a newspaper.

Yesterday I was reading along fairly contentedly, some people get excited over world events but they've been going on so long I've gotten used to them, when I ran into a statement that flabbergasted me.

A famous scientist was leaning back in his chair recalling his early days and he said a school teacher was responsible for his being a scientist.

"If it hadn't been for her, why I probably would be farming now," he said, with considerable self-satisfaction, as though he'd escaped ditch-digging or the penitentiary.

As I understand this, the better the teacher you have, the less likely you are to become a farmer, and I'll admit that at first this made me mad. One of the loudest arguments I ever heard for improving the teaching profession. Then I began to ease up a little.

BIBLE COMMENT

The Law Was Both Moral, Strong In Jesus' Day

The Jewish law reached its peak in the ten commandments and in the verses from Deuteronomy, known as the "Shema," which were recited every Sabbath in the Synagogue.

They must have left a profound impression on the minds of sensitive and serious youths who listened to them over and over again. We cannot overestimate their importance in the development of Jesus when He was an impressionable youth.

Also, we cannot underestimate the moral and spiritual inheritance the world has received from the Jewish law.

Thus, when Jesus said: "Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets," he added, "I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill."

The law Jesus came to fulfill was the old Jewish law which was a mass of rules and regulations that must seem bewildering to the average reader. Jesus made a distinction between the moral precepts of the law and the petty regulations.

This distinction is revealed, for example, in the conversation Jesus had with the lawyer who asked how to inherit eternal life. "What is written in the law?" asked Jesus.

When the lawyer replied, reciting the two commandments which tell us to love God and to love our neighbor, Jesus affirmed the answer. "Thou hast answered right; this do and thou shalt live."

But the lawyer asked a clearer definition. He asked, "Who is my neighbor?"

Jesus said, "You can be a neighbor to anyone who needs your help." In these last words lies the true moral of the law. It directs the hearer to practice neighborliness-unlimited.

A still deeper meaning lies in this sentence. That is the fact that it means neighborliness, not in terms of the other fellow who might benefit from your good deeds, but in terms of yourself.

BARBECUED CHICKEN... A WONDERFUL TREAT!

Take a chicken outdoors to the barbecue grill and treat the family to elegant eating. Flavored throughout with tangy sauce and accompanied by charcoal grilled corn, tossed salad and garlic bread warmed over the coals, this is one meal not soon to be forgotten.

Charcoal Grilled Barbecued Chicken
Allow time for gray ash to cover charcoal briquets, about 45 minutes. Spread coals 1/2" apart with poker or long stick. Shake off outer ashes just before, and occasionally during barbecuing. Brush grill with fat to keep meat from sticking.

Brush chicken broiler pieces with Barbecue Sauce or marinate in sauce while getting the fire ready. Drain off excess sauce. Set chicken on grill 6 to 8 inches from coals. If distance has to be less, watch carefully to avoid charring. Keep turning chicken every 5 minutes, basting with sauce, 30 to 60 minutes, depending on size.

Barbecue Sauce
1 cup tomato puree or catsup
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup soft butter
1 medium onion, finely chopped
1 tsp. paprika
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
Mix all ingredients and bring just to boil. If sauce thickens on standing, dilute with water to good spreading consistency.

Charcoal Grilled Corn
Discard outer husks. Strip inner husks to end of cob; do not tear off. Pull out silk. Soak in ice water 20 minutes. Drain corn on towel; leave husks wet. Spread corn generously with butter. Rewrap in husks; then in double thickness of heavy duty aluminum foil. Cook on ash gray coals 10 to 15 minutes, turning once.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hamilton of Abilene, who have been in Stanton called by the serious illness of his father, Horace Hamilton, returned to their home last Tuesday with the father improving.

Coach Hyde of the Stanton Buffaloes, was scouting the Big Spring-Roscoe game Tuesday afternoon. The game resulted in a 24-0 score in favor of Big Spring.

A petition carrying a large number of Stanton citizens names was filed this week with the State Highway Department at Austin, opposing the department's intention of changing the route of the Bankhead Highway through Stanton. The new route would parallel the T&P railroad.

The football game Monday afternoon between the Stanton Buffaloes and the Midland Bull Dogs resulted in the Buffs taking a drubbing. The score 20-0 in favor of Midland.

The games of '42' and dominos featured the entertainment held by the Love Class of the Baptist Church at the home of Miss Maxine Hall Tuesday evening. Mrs. J. R. Sale, long time teacher of the class was present during the business session. Those present were: Misses Jones, Tate and Everett, teachers; Misses Evelyn Taylor, Emma Jean Bassett, Agnes Louder, Loraine Lamar, Allen Kaderil, Kathrynne Scott, Maxine Hall, Mrs. J. R. Sale, Messrs. Phillip Scott, Ben Scott, Stanley Whitson, Woodford Sale, Maurice Kaderil, Hilton Kaderil, W. V. Stephenson, A. C. Bassett, Eugene Parks, and Clark Hamilton.

Woodrow Wilson, former quarterback on the Stanton Buffalo squad, is making football history at the School of Mines in El Paso. In the game between the El Paso Miners and Wayland Jack Rabbits, Wilson, snagged a pass on his own 40 yard line and scampered 60 yards for a touchdown. Another featured play by Wilson was a punt down the field for 55 yards. The game ended 25 to 0 in favor of the Miners.

Buck Richards of Odessa, was in Stanton Monday, visiting friends. He has been working on a ranch there since his mother passed away.

Lenora Notes: Raymond Glascock, who is working on the John B. Lewis ranch in the north part of this county, was visiting in this community Sunday. The Lenora girl turned out its first bale of cotton Tuesday. Elmo Pollock brought it in.

Courtney Notes: The ladies of the community met with Mrs. T. B. Stewart, Sr., last Wednesday and gave a miscellaneous shower to Mrs. Henry S. Stoeger, whose home was destroyed by fire.

Two important enterprises of the same kind in towns almost within a stone's throw of each other, have a varied experience. The only hospital in Eden closed last week for the want of insufficient funds to operate it. With the closing of the hospital Eden lost its only doctor. The week following Menard opened its only hospital, modern in every detail. One of the physicians joining the hospital staff at Menard comes from Weslaco where he practiced medicine 25 years.

The first plea Gene Dow made to the City Council after assuming ownership of the Van Horn Advocate, was for more curbs, gutters and paved streets. Gene said, "Van Horn is growing and will continue to grow and soon the residents will begin demanding paved streets with adequate curb and gutters, along with street signs, house numbering, etc."

Alpine has just completed paving 27 blocks of streets. The county, the city and the property owners, all cooperated in paying the expense required to build the improvement.

An assistant instructor to teach geology in Sul Ross College, Alpine, was relieved of his services because he refused to sign the non-communist oath as required of all state employees, so reported the Alpine Avalanche.

The merchants of Graham are cooperating in staging a three-day "Krazy Days" event to start with Oct. 16. The program of events will include parade, Krazy costumes, street dances, and the bargains offered by the merchants there will be something "krazy" connected with them. A purse of $1,000 has been hung up to be distributed in prizes during the three day occasion.

Emaline Harris, who writes a column "Here and There" in the Graham Leader spoke of "nothing more interesting to read than a good cook book." The cook book she has was presented to her many years ago while she lived at Rule by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church. It contained a recipe how to make "Mother's Beer." To all this Emaline adds: "We are supposed to be living in a very modern age and Methodist women today wouldn't dare to publish a recipe 'how to make beer' in their cook book."

Our good friend W. W. Aiken, editor and proprietor of the Crockett Courier, wrote an editorial appearing in his last week's paper, he had no desire to travel to the moon. To our way of thinking that all depends. If the space ship came along with a bevy of pretty girls aboard Aiken would tear his shirt to get aboard. We shouldn't tell it on Editor Aiken, but he is a bachelor and has remained at this status eighty-four years, for that's how old he is. But he shatters that statement by saying, "there are more pretty girls here than might be on the moon."

Last week's Wink Bulletin made a plea to save the Girl Scout program in Wink. Unless the number of Scout leaders needed will volunteer their services the Scout movement faces folding. There are 80 Girl Scouts in the organization, and 24 leaders are required to carry on the activities of the Girl Scout program. The Bulletin says at this time there are only four probable volunteer leaders.

The Post Dispatch was somewhat irred at the course its city council took when it held a special meeting without inviting a representative of The Dispatch. Jim Cornish, publisher of the Dispatch, said he firmly believed the people have the right to know what goes on at such meetings. "That's not a snub at the Dispatch, it's simple a snub at you, the people," said Cornish.

With nine major weekly newspapers participating an advertising-marketing association has been organized to cover the South Plains area. Jim Cornish, Post Dispatch, president; Curtis Sterling, News-Herald, Brownfield, vice-president; Francis Perry, Slaton Slatonite, secretary. The member papers compiled information that showed their counties contained 400,000 people who make about $500 million annually.

The printer, who worked for Douglas Meador on his Matador Tribune, was caught in an Oklahoma town and is back in Matador jail. Meador had a pair of trousers hanging up in the washroom of the office. In the hip pocket was a bill folded with $100 in it. He went to the washroom to put on the trousers and found the money gone. Simultaneously, the printer and the money were missing. The printer had been arrested and placed in jail for driving without a license. Meador gave him a part-time job to pay his fine and off he scampered with the boss' $100.

The printer was an AWOL from the Marine Corps.

In the death of E. A. Carlock, it removed a former member of the West Texas newspaper fraternity. In 1908 he came to Paducah, in Cottle County, and a year later purchased the Paducah Post. He retired in 1944 after selling his newspaper. He died from burns caused by his clothes catching fire while burning grass at the golf course.

AG Scholarships Will Be Offered To Texas 4-H'ers

Texas 4-H'ers have an opportunity to apply for a new $800 scholarship which will be given for the first time this fall to a college junior majoring in agricultural economics, and who is particularly interested in grain marketing, according to the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work. The award is provided by the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago in cooperation with the Extension Service.

To be eligible, the candidate must have completed three years of 4-H Club work. Records will be reviewed by Floyd Lynch, State 4-H Club leader. The best one will be sent to the National Committee where a group of Extension judges will determine the final winner. College scholastic standing and all-around 4-H achievement will be considered. Deadline for submitting the candidates' records is October 20.

The State 4-H office will also select two young men for state honors who have demonstrated marked ability in grain production and marketing in connection with their 4-H Club work. These 4-H'ers accompanied by a chaperon will spend three days at the Chicago Board of Trade next January where they will see and hear experts in the grain business.

In addition to the pair of state grain marketing winners, four county champions will be named to receive handsome gold-filled medals. All are judged on individual application and activities. The Board of Trade provides the state and county awards.

Last year's state winners were: Olen Baley, Wichita Falls; Terry Harman, Tulla. They were accompanied by County Agricultural Agent, B. T. Haws, of Wichita Falls.

Hale-Aikin Committees from 224 counties approved "years of experience" and "college degree held" as the base for salary schedules.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

When grandpa came to Texas he probably built the house on the old homestead. The chances are he didn't sell the house he moved from since he lived in the day when it was the custom to wear out a place and move on. Customs and times change and most of us know a few people who have owned seven or eight different homes during their lifetime. Congress has recognized the change in times with a special provision in the tax law. Any gain on the sale or exchange of a residence is taxable the same as a profit on any other property. However, if you buy another home within one year before or one year after the sale, or begin construction of a new home costing as much as the old one, you won't owe tax. If you have to move, you better read the tax instructions on buying and selling homes before you sell.

Texas public schools enrolled 1,309,415 students and employed 50,330 teachers in 1948-49.

More than 30,000 of the 78,000 teachers in Texas hold M. A. degrees.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Through the summer campaigns "economy in government" were words that rustled about as harmlessly as an evening breeze.

But with the approach of winter and down-to-the-lick-log budget-making time, the same words have the cutting edge of a blue norther.

Gov. Price Daniel stuck a pin in any last rosy hopes that "things might not be too bad." He sent back the money requests made by heads of state departments for 1959-61, saying they were "wholly unrealistic."

Governor Daniel had been the last major hold-out against predictions of a major money crisis. Other state officials had been crying doom and foreseeing a shortage of up to $149,000,000 for months.

Governor Daniel took note of these predictions in asking department heads to re-examine their budgets, eliminating any non-essential items. A deadline of Oct. 8 was set for the new requests.

As originally submitted, the requests would require a $272,000,000 increase in spending.

"I think and hope this decline in state revenues is a temporary condition," said the governor, "but a realistic approach . . .

requires that 1960-61 requests should not exceed the 1958-59 level unless absolutely essential."

DEFICIT SOON — A further glum note was the state comptroller's forecast that the general revenue fund would run dry in October.

And it probably won't be a temporary thing, according to Comptroller Robert S. Calvert. Almost every spring the state has a seasonal shortage just before the April deadline for franchise tax paying.

Calvert said this deficit may continue until September, 1959, and bring a return of some of the squeezes of the 1930's. During those years state employees had to pay a discount of from one to five per cent to cash their pay checks since the banks that cashed them had to hold them for some time waiting for the state to get the money to make them good.

Calvert said the general revenue fund began the state fiscal year in September with a $13,000,000 balance. This is not a very big kitty for the government's billion-dollar-a-year operation.

HARD DECISION — Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar is the man in the middle on the controversy over accepting federal aid for Texas schools.

Dr. Edgar has until the end of this week to decide whether to recommend to the State Board of Education that Texas participate in the new federal school aid plan. This program, prompted by national defense concerns, is designed to help

Kenny Foundation Increases Medical Scholarship Grants

Minneapolis, Minn.—To help meet the drastic need for medical and paramedical personnel in the field of rehabilitation, the Sister Elizabeth Kenny foundation has increased its emphasis upon educational and training procedures, according to Marvin L. Kline, national executive director.

Thirty-five scholarships for study at medical centers and universities throughout the nation were announced by the Kenny foundation recently.

Kline explained the purpose of the scholarships is to encourage universities to interest young medical students to specialize ultimately in physical medicine and rehabilitation.

"The specialist in physical medicine is essential to the conduct of comprehensive rehabilitation programs," he said. "If effective rehabilitation programs are to be made available to all of the victims of neuromuscular disabilities, a greatly-accelerated training program for specialists in physical medicine and rehabilitation is essential now."

He pointed out that the Kenny foundation, now conducting its 1958 annual fund appeal, is extending its training and education programs to all fields of rehabilitation, including psychology, social work, physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy and vocational counseling. Public contributions make this program possible, he declared.

The Kenny foundation provides follow-up treatment as an important part of its rehabilitation program. This service enables patients to return for periods of up to five years or more for the purpose of periodic check-ups.

FARM AND RANCH REVIEW

The cotton yield record for Merton County was set in the year 1949. It has held good up to the present time, and if the estimate of 51,900 bales made on this year's cotton crop is reached, the 1949 crop yield will have it bested by 32,129 bales. For it was in that year the bale-crop reached the all-time record of 83,129 bales.

The least number of bales produced in the county was in the year 1936 with 9,376.

The next largest cotton crop year was in 1948 when the county produced 48,628 bales.

According to the Agricultural Act of 1958, the Secretary is authorized to increase regular upland farm acreage allotment by not "to exceed 40 per cent" for those who elect Choice B under the cotton allotment program.

The determination announced last Sept. 5, means that such farmers may increase their 1959 upland cotton acreage for the full 40 per cent. He may increase his upland cotton acreage by not more than 40 per cent over his regular farm allotment, and be eligible for price support at a level which is 15 per cent of parity less than the level available under Choice A. For the 1959 crop of upland, each farm operator will be informed of the Choice A and Choice B farm allotments applicable to his farm.

Information comes from the State Health Department that the rat and mice citizenship in Texas at the present time is far greater than any invasion of the rodents since 1889.

The rodents are called cotton rats and mice. Just why, unless it is their work has been confined mostly in the cotton and small grain fields. As yet the invasion of these rats and mice in to the homes and the business places in the towns and villages, is of insignificant consequences.

If there is anything nice to be said about rats and mice these cotton patch rodents have it coming to them. They are not carriers of disease germs. Something unusual for rats and mice from a sanitary aspect. Usually, they carry germ laden fleas—and spread rat fever or dengue fever.

As soon as brisk cold weather moves into the country, and their outside food supplies become scarce, rats and mice are tribute to the general manager and board for having achieved this without "an appreciable increase in the cost per inmate per day."

Also, Governor Daniel took note of the recognition paid Gen. Mgr. O. B. Ellis in his election to the presidency of the National Congress of Corrections.

SHORT SNORTS — Two good-paying state jobs are standing vacant. They are for an $11,500 program examiner and a $10,000 finance examiner for the Commission on Higher Education.

But the Commission director says the salaries are less than terrific for the type men needed. . . . Not since 1889 have there been so many cotton rats and mice loose in Texas, says the State Health Department. What's worse, the upcoming cold weather may cause many to enter homes in search of food. . . . Texas Employment Commission reports that 8,817 Texans were involved in work stoppages over the state as of Sept. 1. Most of the strikes involved construction work.

Edgar's decision must be made in the light of the recent recommendation by the Hale-Aikin Committee, a group of influential citizens and lawmakers, that the state stop taking some federal funds it is already getting—for school lunches and vocational training.

On the other hand, Sen. Ralph Yarborough, a Congressional sponsor of the new aid plan, is strongly urging that Texas take advantage of it. Others who agree declare that to stay out would mean Texas schools would lose millions — some of it paid in by Texas taxpayers.

GENTLE REMINDER — Uncle Sam still wants you—to register, at least.

This reminder comes from State Selective Service Headquarters which says many young men, usually through misunderstanding, are failing to register on time.

All males must register on their eighteenth birthdays — or within five days afterward — even if they're in National Guard or have already been in service.

Texas draft quota for November will be 556 men, according to the state director, Col. Morris S. Schwartz.

ADVERTISING "MAJOR STEP" — Proposal to use tax money to advertise Texas got a boost from one of the state's best-known economists, the director of the University Bureau of Business Research.

Dr. John R. Stockton called the advertising plan a "major step in a program to promote the continued growth of the state." Continued industrial expanion is essential, said Dr. Stockton, since Texas no longer enjoys its position of world leadership in oil production.

Of the recent recession, the BBR director called it "V-shaped" — a quick, sharp rise, just "a gap between rising trends."

STATE SUES OIL COMPANIES — Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has filed anti-trust suits against three oil companies engaged in refining and selling gasoline to retailers in the El Paso area.

Standard of Texas, the Texas Company and El Paso Natural Gas Products Co. are charged with illegally agreeing to fix prices. Wilson said a court of inquiry confirmed reports that gasoline prices were artificially high in El Paso. He said major brands had been selling for 34 cents a gallon in El Paso compared to 21 cents for the same product in Juarez, across the border.

PRISON SYSTEM PRAISED — Texas Department of Corrections has been getting applause from all sides.

State Auditor C. H. Cavness, whose official reports frequently jab at flaws in state agencies, acclaimed the system for having progressed from "one of the worst in the nation to its present and recognized position as one of the nation's best." He paid

Texas Jaycees Search For Outstanding Young Farmer

The Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce's annual search for the year's "outstanding young farmer" is now underway, and Jaycees over the state are urging communities to nominate local farmers between 21 and 35 years of age who they feel deserve special recognition.

Any Texas farmer within the proper age limit is eligible for the "outstanding young farmer" title, and any community group can sponsor any young man of their choice for the honor. Basis of judging in the state-wide contest will be progress in farming, soil and natural resources conservations practices and personal efforts toward community betterment.

From community nominees, a panel of judges will select the Outstanding Young Farmer next February. The winner will be guest of honor at a state Jaycee-sponsored banquet and will receive an all-expense trip to the National Awards Program in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, next April where the nation's four top young farmers of 1958 will be selected. The national program is sponsored by the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce and the American Petroleum Institute Committee on Agriculture. Outstanding Young Texas Farmer of 1957 was Johnnie E. Stefa of Caldwell, a cattle, dairy, cotton and grain farmer. Further information on the young farmer contest can be obtained by contacting any local Junior Chamber of Commerce office or by writing to Mr. Joe Smetana, Chairman, Agriculture Committee, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Perry-Brooks Building, Austin, Texas.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By L. A. WILKE

If you haven't already started on the project, better get busy sighting in that deer rifle for this fall's shooting. Every year we warn hunters against going out with a gun that hasn't been "trained in" for the season's shooting. And every year hunters come back with their shirt tails cut off for missing a big buck.

In some areas it is difficult to find a place to target a big rifle. Around most of the large cities, however, there are shooting ranges where for a fee you can lay a few shots in the bulleye. If you decide to go to the country, however, be sure you get permission of the land owner before blasting away. He may not like to have shooting on his place by someone thoughtless enough not to ask.

There'll be quite a few new guns and calibers on the market this fall. Also some changes have been made in ammunition. For instance, Winchester has introduced a new 20-gauge magnum bird load, comparable in pattern and energy to a 12 gauge load. The new 2 3/4 inch shell is loaded with 1 1/2 ounces of 7 1/2 shot. Previously the shell has been loaded with 2's, 4's and 6's for waterfowl and pheasant shooting.

Another new gun on the market this year is the X-3 Lighting by Ithaca. It is a semiautomatic 22 built along modern streamlines and is sure to become a favorite among those who have been shooting Ithaca shotguns for years.

This new model, the first rifle by Ithaca, is built to Cadillac specifications. It handles easily, has a ruggedness not found in many rifles and is equipped to handle either 7 or 12 shot magazines.

Ruger also has announced a new 22 caliber frontier model. It is in the competitive field of the Colt single action 22 and the new Double 9, of Hi-Standard. The new Ruger, Bearcat by name, has some of the appearance of the original Remington Police 36, and the Colt Model of 1849. It looks more like a gun of the old west than the others.

Ruger now claims to be the largest manufacturer of single action pistols. In addition the company also has a very interesting line of semi-automatics.

Hunter's Handbook Out
With the approach of the big game hunting season in Texas and elsewhere it is fitting that we give some thought to the handling of trophies. The average man who sits at the desk 50 weeks a year can't be expected to know too much about the dressing out of wild game, or preserving a head for mounting.

Major B. J. Brewer, who is the wildlife management coordinator for the Red River Arsenal at Texarkana, thought of this. Accordingly he has written a book telling how to handle your prospective trophies. He got his inspiration while visiting in the taxidermy shop of Kelson S. Tillery of Fort Worth. Major Brewer was looking over some of the trophies shipped to Mr. Tillery. Most of them had been badly handled and had major things wrong with them to prevent perfect mounting.

A PICTURE OF PROGRESS

PIPELINES FOUND THEIR BEGINNING IN THE AQUEDUCTS AND CONTROLLED WATER COURSES OF ANCIENT TIMES.

LEAD WATER PIPES WERE FOUND IN THE EXCAVATION OF POMPEII.

CHINESE USED BAMBOO PIPES FOR TRANSPORTING NATURAL GAS.

TODAY THERE ARE OVER 100,000 MILES OF CRUDE AND PRODUCT PIPELINES IN THE UNITED STATES ALONE DELIVERING 2,148,370,000 BARRELS OF CRUDE OIL A YEAR.

THE FIRST SUCCESSFUL PIPELINE IN THE U.S. WAS BUILT IN WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA IN 1865. IT WAS FIVE MILES LONG AND DELIVERED 600 BARRELS OF OIL A DAY.

10 OR 15 DIFFERENT BATCHES MAY FOLLOW EACH OTHER IN AN OIL PIPELINE. MIXING IS PREVENTED BY PRESSURE MAINTENANCE AND SCIENTIFICALLY CONTROLLED RATES OF FLOW.

Texas Grain Sorghum Boom Sparks Increase In Storage Facilities

The five-year boom in Texas grain sorghum production is reflected in new grain warehouse licenses and the upsurge in construction of additional grain storage facilities over the state.

A total of 691 warehouses have been licensed by the Texas Department of Agriculture in the first months of the current licensing year which began June 1. This compares with only 589 licenses issued during the entire 1957-58 period and 200 licenses for the first year the Texas Grain Warehouse Law became effective in 1953.

Storage space has always been scarce during harvest, resulting in millions of bushels of grain being poured on the ground at a great risk to owners. Licensed Texas warehouses to date have a capacity of 322,460,671 bushels and more space is needed for the coming season.

Preliminary estimates show a harvest of 427,906,400 bushels of grain this year, most of which will require storage for varying periods of time. To meet this demand, the number of licensed

AG Inspectors To Enforce New Texas Egg Law

September 1, 1958, marked the deadline for Texas egg industry to secure 1959 licenses required under the Texas Egg Law, and some 1500 firms who haven't complied face possible cease-business action by Texas Department of Agriculture inspectors.

About one-third of Texas egg dealers, wholesalers, processors and brokers required by law to be licensed before doing business failed to make application for renewal or initial license by September 1, when 1958 licenses expired. Licensing for the 1959 period began August 1, and all licenses issued prior to August 1 were valid only for the remainder of the 1958 licensing period just ended.

Whereas total 1958 egg business licenses issued up to July of this year were more than 4500, applications for 1959 licenses received up until September 15 totaled below 3,000. This lag in applications is partially due to the relative newness of the licensing law which first became effective a year ago.

Egg firms which have not made application for 1959 licensing should do so immediately to avoid any difficulty in their operations. Licenses can be obtained by writing to the Texas Department of Agriculture, Capitol Station, Austin 11, Texas.

From my front porch
By CARL HELM

A reader who, as myself, was incarcerated for years in a stone-walled, granite city, writes that he, too, likes to see grass growing between occasional cracks in sidewalk in his hometown.

I'll bet there may be hundreds of such egg characters as we — perhaps, even a Mrs. or two of the fussy type who can't abide even a spot of comfortable dust around the house. . . .

"Comfortable" dust, I said. Show me a house that doesn't have a smidge of clean, honest dust in it, and I'll prove (to myself, anyway) that it isn't a comfortable house where a man can sprawl out with his pipe and his newspaper, or munch an apple in calm male content. . . .

"If I saw just the good in you
"And you the good in me,
"Perhaps within a day or two
"We'd find a remedy
"For all distrust — suspicion,
"Too!
"And we'd quite friendly be —
"If I saw just the good in you,
"And you the good in me!"

Irvin Family Met In Fortune Home Last Week

A reunion of the Nick Irvin family of Danglerfield was held last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Fortune.

Visiting in the home during the week were Mrs. Fortune's two sisters, Mrs. Buddy Trullit, 80, Mrs. W. T. Newby, 71, Hughes Springs, Texas; three brothers, Will Irvin, 86, of Athens, Joe Irvin, 83, of Burksville, Texas and Green Irvin of Hughes Springs, Texas.

It was the first time the six remaining members of the family had been together in 49 years.

Also visiting with the group were Mr. and Mrs. Pollard Wise of Lamesa, old friends of the Irvin family; and Mrs. Will Irvin of Athens.

In Texas this percentage may be even higher.

The game belongs to the people, but the land belongs to individuals. If they fail in providing cover and feed for wildlife, there will be no harvest.

On the other hand, if landowners treat their wildlife as a crop, it can be profitable to them financially, and provide recreation for the millions who like to hunt.

The pledge in the Hunt America Time program is (1) to be law abiding; (2) to respect the rights and property of others; and (3) to be careful with fire and firearms.

If you are interested in more details on this program, write to the Izaak Walton League, 1326 Waukegan Rd., Glenview, Ill.

Public Hunt Applications Being Issued

Applications now are being received by the Game & Fish Commission for free deer hunts on five management areas in Texas. There will be 1,520 permits issued this year, according to the director of Wildlife Restoration.

Requests for application blanks for the hunt should be sent immediately to the commission offices in Austin. All applications must be on file by 8 a. m., Oct. 30, when a public drawing will be held. Assistant Director Al Springs will be in charge of permit issuance.

The five areas include: Gus Engeling area in Anderson County, Nov. 16-25 inclusive, with 240 permits for both buck and doe.

Kerr Area, in Kerr County, for 250 permits, Nov. 16-25 and Nov. 29-30, both buck and doe. These permits will be for two days of hunting for each permit holder.

Angelina Area — Angelina-Sabine-Tyler Counties, Nov. 17-21, Dec. 1-5 and Dec. 17-21, 550 permits for buck only.

Black Gap Area in Brewster County, Dec. 1-8, with 400 permits, both buck and doe. Each permit holder will be permitted two days of hunting.

Sierra Diablo Area in Culberson County, Dec. 1-8, 80 permits for buck and doe. Two days hunting allowed for each permit holder.

Only persons 17 years or older will be permitted to hunt on these areas. Applications can be filed on a party system, with not more than four persons in the party.

International Letter Writing Week Proclaimed

International Letter Writing Week will be celebrated in America during the week of October 5 to 11, Postmaster General Summerfield announced today.

Twenty-one years ago, realizing the importance of written communication, the Post Office Department joined in the observance of an annual letter writing week—an event celebrated to emphasize the meaning and value of letter writing as a link between people throughout the world.

Postmaster Summerfield explained that by participating in both International Letter Writing Week and National Letter Writing Week this worthwhile objective is promoted between all peoples everywhere.

"As we all know so well," Mr. Summerfield said, "a personal letter is next to an actual visit, the most intimate means we have to communicate with our fellow human beings. Letters between our citizens and between peoples of different nations are a sure method of establishing friendly relationships and understandings."

"I urge all citizens to join in this celebration of International Letter Writing Week. And at the same time, don't overlook your friends and relatives in America. Write them a letter too!"

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

MARTIN-HOWARD SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT
Jack Buchanan, Ollie Robertson, Bernard Houston, Edgar Phillips.

A. G. Donelson, who farms just north of Stanton, has started harvesting seed from his six acres of Woodard Sand Blue-stem. Donelson planted this grass in 40 inch rows in the spring of 1957. Since that time it has been fertilized and irrigated. Grass of this kind seldom produces enough seed the first year to justify harvesting, but Donelson should get a good seed crop each year for several years. Many farmers might think it would be too much trouble to plant grass for seed production, however it does not require much if any extra equipment. The Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District has grass drills and row seeders that can be used to plant the grasses. After planting, the grass can be cultivated with regular farm equipment. Donelson is using a grain combine with the belt removed from the fan to harvest his grass, and is doing a good job.

The natural resources of America are the heritage of the whole nation and should be conserved and utilized for the benefit of all our people.

Grass harvesters also getting started on F. tragalpis love ranch in northwest Tarrant County. Breedlove has about 100 acres of different grasses. His grasses include Blue Panic, Sideoats, Gramma, Indian Grass and Blue Gramma. Breedlove plans to plant about 60 acres of native grasses next year for seed production.

In land management there is no substitute for proper use. Every acre used according to its capabilities and treated according to its needs means proper use.

Now is the time to get winter cover crops planted on land that needs protection from the wind during the winter and spring. There are several acres in this area where cotton was plowed up leaving the land bare. There has been enough rain in almost all of this area to get a cover crop up and growing. Crops suitable for cover crops include all the small grains and vetch and winter peas. These crops should be planted as early as possible so they will make more growth and furnish the most protection.

Applications for participation in the Great Plains Conservation Program have been received from M. H. Nance and W. L. Lindsey. Nance has some cropland in the Courtney community and cropland and rangeland on his home place about 20 miles north of Stanton. Lindsey has about 62 acres of irrigated cropland just north of Stanton.

"If tomorrow's newspaper revealed a foreign nation was plotting to steal America's topsoil, acre by acre, over the next 20 years—to bring us to our knees for food—we would be stressed into immediate action. The Government would mobilize to save our soil, Congress would pass legislation, we would be at war. And overnight, the hearts of every citizen would beat with sincere emotion for our long forgotten, newly discovered friend, the land." Joseph W. Frazier

Many farmers in the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District are planting winter cover crops for soil protection and winter pasture. R. S. Higgins planted 60 acres of Vetch and Rye on Virgil Sanders place north of Lenorah. Higgins seeded this cover crop in cotton middles to furnish protection from wind and water erosion. Jesus Briseno has about 40 acres of small grain that is up and growing good on C. S. Carwiles farm. McKeskie has about 30 acres of small grain and plans to plant some more. There are several acres of land where cotton was plowed up to meet allotments that need to be planted to cover crops. Moisture conditions are favorable now for planting cover crops and crops planted now should make adequate growth to protect the land from erosion.

The foundation of soil conservation farming is proper land use—using our farm lands for the things they are best fitted to produce and in such a way that they will keep on producing." Anonymous

Brenda Laird To Head Grady Girls 4-H Club

Brenda Laird was elected president of the Grady 4-H Club at a meeting Thursday at Grady school.

Other officers are Lana Althart, vice president; Pat Thrallkill, secretary-treasurer; June Harrell, reporter and Lana Althart, June Harris, council delegates.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Holland, Bob and Brenda, visited Sunday in Lamesa with relatives.

West Texas' Population Shows 45.4 Increase In Eight Years

West Texas' population has increased a whopping 45.4 per cent since 1950, a survey by one of the Southwest's leading population analysts reveals.

The survey, made by Dr. R. L. Skrabaneck, a sociologist on the staff of Texas A & M College and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, was published in the current issue of West Texas Today, monthly magazine of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Skrabaneck's survey, which covers the entire 132-county region served by the West Texas Chamber, shows that West Texas now has a population of nearly three and one-half million people compared with less than two million in 1940 and slightly more than two and one-third million in 1950.

Heaviest gain in population since 1950 was recorded in the Permian Basin area of the region. The Midland-Odessa-Big Spring area has increased its population by 104 per cent since the last U. S. Census, Dr. Skrabaneck states.

Although, as Dr. Skrabaneck points out, "not all areas of West Texas have shared equally in this growth," each of the WTCC's 10 administrative districts has gained population since 1950 . . . ranging from 12.9 per cent for the district with least gain to the Permian Basin district's tremendous 104 per cent.

"Naturally the question arises to why certain areas are being drained of people while others are increasing their numbers so rapidly. There are dozens of minor reasons but it is relatively easy to determine a few that get to the heart of the matter quickly," Dr. Skrabaneck stated.

"With but few exceptions, factors that have caused rapid population increases in certain areas of West Texas are oil and gas developments, irrigation and the presence of large population centers with job opportunities that attract a lot of people. On the other hand, those areas that are heavily dependent on farming and ranching without any industry to take up the slack have been and will be losing population," the analyst declares.

Population estimates for 1958 indicate that 54 counties in the 132-county WTCC area now have fewer people than they did in 1950. Thus, about two out of five counties in West Texas are declining in population.

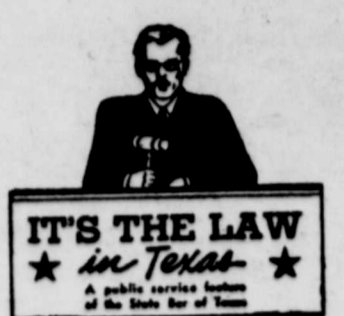

"With such a large number losing people," Dr. Skrabaneck says, "the counties that gained had to have a large increase since they not only had to offset the losses of others but in addition permit the West Texas area to register an increase of over one million as a whole."

The largest population increases since 1950 have been centered in the largest cities. Tarrant County (Fort Worth) gained almost a third of a million people in the last eight years; El Paso County (El Paso) has increased by more than 150,000; Lubbock (Lubbock) over 80,000; McLennan (Waco) by 60,000; Ector (Odessa) 60,000; Wichita (Wichita Falls) 56,000; Potter (Amarillo) over 55,000; and Midland (Midland) almost 50,000.

Not to be overshadowed, however, are some of the less populous counties. Leading the list is Andrews County which boomed from 1,300 in 1940 to 5,000 in 1950 and an estimated 14,000 in 1958. Other counties which increased by an estimated 60 per cent or more in the last 8-year period are: Castro, Crane, Culberson, Hale, Moore, Parmer, Reagan, Reeves, Upton and Yoakum.

West Texas population in 1940 was 1,926,093; in 1950, the population was 2,364,088 (an increase of 22.7 per cent over 1940); and the region's population in 1958 is estimated at 3,438,064 (an increase of 45.4 per cent over 1950.)

Mr. Duane Connell and children of Dallas are visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kyle Shoemaker, and others.

SPECIAL LEGAL REMEDIES

Sometimes you see newspaper stories telling how various courts have issued "injunctions" to protect the owner of a patent from infringing, to stop someone from putting up a building which would be a hazard to the neighbors, or to prevent some other type of activity which might harm one or more persons. Occasionally you read where a "writ of mandamus" has been directed against some public official. This column will briefly explain both of these extraordinary legal remedies.

The injunction got its name because in the old days the English king commanded ("enjoined") special action when an ordinary court action could not solve a problem at hand. Today it is an order requiring a person (or corporation) to refrain from doing a particular act.

As a rule, one would first get a "Temporary Restraining Order" which would stop someone from doing something harmful—like polluting a stream or annoying the peace of your home. By granting it the judge preserves the status quo until a hearing has been held to hear both sides of the controversy. Usually, if you want an injunction, your lawyer will take sworn statements into court to show that your grievance is one which could be taken care of only by an injunction.

Often you must put up a bond to make up for any damage you do the other side if the court doesn't see things your way.

After you've made your request, the court arranges to hear the other side. They must "show cause" why the injunction should not be issued. Because most injunctions deal with immediate problems, the court hears the merits of such a case in a very short time.

After the temporary injunction is issued, a "permanent" injunction may be obtained or either party may start a lawsuit to settle the problems which the temporary injunction has cleared up for the moment.

If the court grants an injunction, it must be served on the defendant to be effective. Then if he disobeys the order, he is disobeying the court and is subject to a fine or a jail term for "contempt of court."

"Mandamus" is a special remedy used to right wrongs or enforce proper action by a public officer.

When we elect public officers to work for us, we place a great deal of authority in their hands. Sometimes they fail to do their lawful duty. One way to make a government official do his job is to ask the court for writ of mandamus.

Suppose you have applied for a permit to build a house under a city building code. You submit your plans which meet all the requirements of the code but the proper official won't give you the permit and you can't get one elsewhere. You can then ask the court for a writ of mandamus and if you were right and the building official had no grounds for refusal, the court will order him to issue the permit.

Before the court will issue such a strong command as this, the officer must have refused to do his clear legal duty — not something that he may or may not have to do as part of his job.
