

Snooter Knows
By JAMES E. KELLY

A NATIONALLY KNOWN EVANGELIST is quoted as saying in substance, if we all pulled together we would have the devil in a hospital by the Fourth of July. Even so, there would be some left who would send him flowers.

It can hardly be attributable to the devil's connivance that people go away from home to trade. We are aware of the fact, that prices the merchants have on their merchandise, causes people to trade with out-of-town merchants. Then there are people who never visit the local store to learn the price the hometown merchant has on his merchandise.

Be that as it may, The Stanton Reporter, wishes to call attention of the reader to read the advertisements that appear in the newspaper. A constant perusal of the columns will find every so often a new advertisement of some local merchant or businessman. At every opportunity make your purchases from the merchant who is advertising for your business. These advertisers are spending many dollars to get their messages to you. In doing so they are helping this newspaper pay county, city and school taxes and current expenses, which in the end helps the readers of this paper for the money we spend goes into the local channels of trade.

The dollar spent with the local merchant enables him to pay his taxes, which goes to help defray the expense of operating the schools so that your children may guard against growing up in ignorance.

In the final analysis the dollar you invest with your local merchants places that merchant in a position to subscribe to a donation to rebuild the church house or school house in your community, or more important still, it enables the merchant to give to a fund to build back the little home of yours that was destroyed by fire, or contribute money to help pay the expense of sending your child to a hospital for treatment.

Halfback Neal Shaw raced 32 yards for the second Eagle touchdown and David Besire ran over from the five as O'Donnell forced gained a 22-0 lead.

The Buffs recovered swiftly and played fine football in the remaining three periods but were never able to overcome the initial period deficit. Stanton scored in the second and fourth frames and threatened on other occasions while holding the Eagles to a lone counter during the last three quarters.

Jeff Glendening, substitute halfback, got the first touchdown for the Bisons. His payoff thrust climaxed a 55-yard drive and was the 11th play in the series leading to the goal line.

O'Donnell got its last touchdown in the waning minutes of the third period on a 36-yard pass completion from Gardenhire to Kenneth White.

The final Buff tally came only a few plays before the close of the contest.

Safe Driving Demonstration Given At Stanton High School Friday

Safe driving must be made a personal habit of every motorist if the slaughter on America's highways is to be curbed, Vernon Gayle, Safety Director of the Texas Farm Bureau Safety Department told Stanton High School students Friday.

Gayle lectured the students on safe driving, showed motion pictures and conducted a driving demonstration.

"Excessive speed is the greatest single cause of automobile accidents," Gayle told the 218 high school students who attended the demonstration. In the demonstration he pointed out the conditions under which even 20, 30 or 40 miles per hour can be excessive.

"When drivers know the true facts and base their driving on those facts, highway accidents can drop sharply," he said.

Students and teachers took part in the tests which were conducted in a specially equipped car. The test driver was signalled to stop by an electrically controlled detonator. As the shell was fired, the street was marked with yellow paint. A second bullet was fired as brakes were applied and a third after the car came to a complete stop. Distances between the spots were carefully measured to determine in feet and inches how far the car traveled before the driver applied the brakes, or the reaction distance, and how far it traveled after the brakes were applied, or the braking distance.

Gayle emphasized the fact that a driver who observes the speed laws carefully is not a safe driver if he neglects many other items such as proper signalling for turns, approaching an intersection in the proper lane for a turn, the proper way to turn around, and many other things which he demonstrated in the test car.

The Stanton Reporter was advised by special bulletin from Big Spring at 1:25 p. m. that W. T. Wells, Jr., injured in a gin saw accident in Stanton at 2:30 a. m. Tuesday morning died at 1:05 p. m. Wednesday afternoon. Arrington Funeral Home announced funeral services for 3 p. m. Friday at the First Baptist Church in Stanton.

W. T. Wells, Jr., was injured critically early Tuesday when he became entangled in rolling machinery at the Farmers Gin and Cotton Company here.

Wells was working on the gin floor at 2:30 a. m. when his right hand got caught in the whirling circular saws which cut the lint from the seed. He was all but drawn into the gin stand before the machinery could be halted and he could be rushed to Cowper Clinic in Big Spring.

His right arm was amputated after he reached the clinic. In addition he had a broken collar bone, a fractured left leg and both ankles were broken. His face and body were severely lacerated.

The gin power had been cut for a stop, and the machinery was coasting at the time of the accident, Lloyd Henson and Bernard Houston advised the paper.

Wells retained his composure, and called instructions for his release from the spinning saw-cylinder made up of 80 whirling blades running at 750 revolutions per minute.

The gin crew stopped the forward motion of the machinery and backed it up to release Wells. He then was rushed to the Cowper Clinic in Big Spring.

Wells had been a long-time employee of the gin, and his employers described him as a very careful man. They could give no explanation for the accident, other than Wells might have been trying to remove trash.

After admission and examination at the Big Spring clinic an attending physician described Wells as the "most severely injured person I have ever seen."

BIBLE COMMENT

Speaking The Truth Is Only Christian Way Of Life

Perjury done in the act of self preservation when a man is under the stress of great fear or emotion is far removed from the evil act of lying in order to injure someone else.

This is the greatest evil and is mentioned in the Ten Commandments. Moses put great stress on the importance of not bearing false witness against anyone.

Today the question of perjury is suddenly of great interest to many of us. Several men have been sentenced to prison for lying while giving testimony of great importance to our national security.

No matter why a man lies, his act is inherently evil.

Paul's description of Christian conduct is a good one. He pointed out that "Speaking the truth in love" is the Christian way — and the only Christian way.

To be sure, there have been dramatic instances of perjury which surprise us when we consider the sources of these false statements. One is the denial made by Peter when he was accused by the young girl as he sat in the outer room of the high priest's palace.

But Peter's denial was based on a sudden surge of his instinct for self preservation. His true nature is revealed almost immediately when he breaks into sobs at the realization that he has fulfilled the prophecy and denied his Lord.

The professional perjurers, the informers for profit, and those always ready to lie for their own advantage, are the men destined to suffer for their violation of the commandment. Because the great stress put on the commandment was not enough, even for the small group of people who made up the tribe of Israel in those ancient days.

Mentioned in the Proverbs are references to "buring lips" and "wicked hearts."

Ruin is the ordained fate of the perjurer. This is probably clarified best in the statement: "Whoso diggeth a pit shall fall therein; and he that rolleth a stone, it will return upon him."

Philosopher Amazed To Find Out Russian People Like Money The Same As Rest Of Us

Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw believes he has found out something new about Russia, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

When it comes to Russia, I don't know anymore about it than the foreign policy experts in Washington, but I was reading an article in a newspaper last night that has me stumped.

According to it, the Communist bosses in Russia have discovered that they get more production from individual workers when they give them a pay boost for extra work or for taking on more responsibilities.

"It is now maintained here that more and more problems can be settled with offers of cash rewards," Premier Krushchev announced. This bowled me over, or would have if I hadn't been stretched out on a couch when I read it. You mean to tell me that the Russian people are after all human? You mean to say they like money the same as us capitalist Americans?

Up to now, I had been led to believe that the Russians worked strictly for the satisfaction of seeing a five-year plan completed, and as soon as they got one finished they were miserable until their bosses announced another one. As I understand it, a Russian wasn't interested in getting his hands on any money of his own, all he wanted was a place to work, a picture of his dictator hanging on the shop wall, and a pallet to sleep on at night, where he could dream happily about how much bigger their satellite was then ours.

But if the Communists are finding out money talks in Russia like it does around here, this opens up a brand new field of speculation. You start letting people have money, and the first thing you know the women will be going to beauty shops and swapping gossip, families will be demanding bath tubs and hot water, boys will start playing football, girls will start getting style-conscious, men will start buying fishing tackle, and before long somebody will turn up in the neighborhood with an automobile and then the dam has busted.

If the Communists ever let the people get a taste of money and the advantages of getting ahead, the game is up. Scientific production is fine, but living is more fun.

And to tell you the truth, despite how hard the Russian farmers worked the state land, I've always suspected most Russian farmers would swap all the satellites Russia will ever launch for one piece of land they could call their own.

Yours faithfully,
 J. A.

This is the 'rat-est' cat we have so far heard of. In Tuxedo, a small community in the Stamford area lives a farm lady, Mrs. D. J. Meads. She has a cat named Nigger. She has rats by the hundreds. Every morning when Mrs. Meads wakes she finds from two to 28 dead rats on her front porch or front walk. She puts the dead rats in paper sacks and goes and buries them in the ground.

Mrs. Meads keep a check on Nigger's kill — rats only — mice are not counted. In 49 days Nigger has killed 195 rats.

Eden is now faced with the situation of being left without a doctor or hospital facilities. The doctor operating the hospital closed it last week and went to Post where he had accepted a position with a hospital there. Efforts are being made by local civic leaders to encourage a doctor to locate in Eden and reopen the hospital clinic.

'59 Dodge Offers Style, Comfort, Economy

The tail fins of 1959 Dodge cars, like this Custom Royal four-door Lancer, have softer, more flaring lines. A new high-contour roof provides more headroom and allows easier entry and exit. New engines and advanced torsion suspension provide greater gas and tire economies.

New Dodge Represents Significant Advances In '59

Driver comfort, convenience and control features—including swing-out, swivel seats—highlight the 1959 Dodge, while jet-age refinements of the dart look create a new and distinctive exterior design.

The swivel-type front seats, an instrument panel concentrated more closely around a new "easier-to-get-by" steering wheel, plus pushbutton control of virtually all driver operations, head the list of 1959 advancements inside the new cars.

New styling treatment of both front and rear, side and roof, and sharply defined, contoured rear fins introduce a dramatically new concept of styling.

A striking exterior design is keyed by arched headlight "eye-brows" which curve inward and downward to the front grille. New taillights—patterned after jet-tubes—and new rear-end "control surfaces" on the fins provide a fleet, futuristic image.

October 10 has been set as the tentative date for the new models to go on display in dealer showrooms across the country, according to M. C. Patterson, Dodge general manager.

Improved Suspension
Ride-ability and roadability of the 1959 Dodge have been improved through advances in the Torsion-Aire suspension system, coupled with optional rear-end "Level-Flite" suspension.

Additional new, designed-for-the-driver features of the Dodge include: (1) push-button controls for the heater and air-conditions, (2) a safety speedometer which changes color as speed increases, (3) an electronic earview mirror that automatically cuts glare from overtaking car headlights, (4) an outside rear-view mirror that can be controlled from inside, (5) an automatic headlight dimmer, and (6) a higher steering wheel that is slightly flattened at the top, affording better road vision and at the same time, making it easier for the driver to get in and out of the car.

Colors and color-combinations available on the new vehicles will feature more light hues, following both style and safety trends. Recent studies have shown that lighter tints act as safety features.

Four new engines are offered on the various Dodge models—the less expensive Coronet series, the moderately priced Royal series, and the luxurious Custom Royals.

The Coronets will use either 230-cubic inch L-head six cylinder power plants or 326-cubic inch V8 engines. Royal and Custom Royal series use a 361-cubic inch V-8. The top-power "D-500" engines are 383-cubic inch power units with either one or two 4-barrel carburetors optional on any series.

Horsepowers range from 135 HP on the 230-cubic inch engine to 305 HP on the 361-cubic inch power plant. The regular D-500 has a 320 HP rating while the Super D-500 develops 345 HP.

Swing-Out Seats Hailed
The new swing-out, swivel seats were termed a major new development in car passenger accommodations by Patterson.

"The swivel front seats provide easy accessibility for all passengers in our newer, lower automobiles," Patterson said. "Not only do they provide easy entrance and exit for front-seat passengers—especially the ladies who often wear straight skirts—but they also aid passengers entering or getting out of back seats of two-door models."

The two swivel seats swing out a full 40 degrees on rollers. They return to place and automatically lock into the forward position. The two swivel seats are separated by a stationary center section with a folding arm rest. In normal positions, a regular three-passenger seat is created.

Back rests for both seats can be pushed forward simultaneously, permitting rear-seat passengers to exit from both doors at the same time.

Taillights Visible From Side
Two nacelle-styled chrome mountings on the grille house the parking lights. Twin taillights below each rear fin simulate the jet-tube design while chrome moldings are cut "on the bias" to permit visibility from the side as well as the rear for increased safety.

The tips of the front bumper curve upward and wrap around the fender, giving an additional appearance of sleekness and forward motion.

Four-door hardtop models have a new roof silhouette—featuring a slightly raised rear roof section for increased rear-passenger headroom. Combined with the new roof is an advanced rear-window containing approximately 15 per cent greater glass area for added rear visibility.

New Driver Aids Introduced
"The 1959 Dodge models have important features to put the driver more than ever in the driver's seat and cater to his comfort and control of the automobile," Patterson said.

The instrument panel is clustered closely around the steering column, so that the car can be operated without a change in the position of the driver and without his eyes being away from the road.

The push-button transmission is located at the driver's left—away from accidental contact by other front-seat passengers. Speed-changes can be judged without looking directly at the speedometer, via "peripheral vision color awareness" as speed is accelerated. Speed indicators are green to 30 mph, yellow from 30 to 50 mph and red above 50 mph.

Heater, cigarette lighter, headlights and windshield wiper pushbuttons are close to the driver and easy to operate.

Mrs. H. Barber Shower Honoree

It was reported last week that Mrs. Jim Franklin was the honoree at a surprise shower and that she was moving from the Lenorah community.
In taking the story over the telephone it was understood by the society editor that Mrs. Franklin was the honoree. In fact, it was Mrs. Harlan Barber, honored by friends at the shower.

The right version of the Lenorah social affair is given here. Mrs. Harlan Barber was honored with a surprise lingerie shower recently at the home of Mrs. Bob Thrallkill.
Mrs. Barber and her family are scheduled to move from Lenorah around January 1. Members of the Lenorah Baptist Welcome Class sponsored the shower. Mrs. Barber was their teacher.
Mrs. Barber presented the class with a reproduction of the photograph depicting the Lord's Supper.
Coffee, Cokes, cake and nuts were served to the 15 members and three guests present.

What Happened To All Those Grasshoppers?

The late spring of 1958 will be remembered by many midwesters as the "year the grasshoppers came." It was the worst invasion for Texas in 40 years and the heaviest in many neighboring states since 1949.

Spraying of nearly 5 million acres against the hopper in 10 states apparently prevented any significant damage to wheat and other small grain crops. Rangeland, idle lands and roadsides were sprayed by planes and ground equipment in the cooperative federal-state-rancher program in all these states.

Migratory grasshoppers caused the major outbreaks this year. Weather conditions last fall and spring were ideal for their development, producing some freakish events over the West.

In April, one large migration converged on Las Vegas, Nev. The accumulated dead grasshopper bodies made a special city clean-up campaign necessary, but there was little damage to vegetation.

In May, swarms of flying hoppers descended on Tucson and other Arizona cities. Attracted by the lights, they flew into Phoenix en masse during the early morning hours, blanketing the city. Some were observed by commercial airline pilots at elevations as high as 5,000 feet.

Texas highway right-of-ways and rangeland erupted with new hatched hoppers beginning in May. Quick action by the Texas Department of Agriculture, the federal government and local authorities resulted in some $24,000 acres of land being sprayed to prevent damages. In addition, many more thousands of acres

AND Sidelights

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Texas Legislative Budget Board is somewhat in the position of the harassed husband who's struggling with a stack of unpaid bills when his wife announces the children all need new shoes.

Budget Board works out a recommended state spending plan in advance of each regular legislative session. This year, to make "ends meet," the Board will have to stretch a shorter rope over more territory.

Briefly, the horns of the dilemma are these:

Horn 1. For the next biennium state agencies have turned in requests to the Budget Board for $368,000,000 more than they received for the current two-year appropriation period.

Horn 2. Official predictions indicate the state is far from having enough money to grant increases. Instead, it may start the next two-year fiscal period $100,000,000 short of enough money just to maintain the present level of spending.

That leaves a potential gap of some $468,000,000 between the two horns — money requested and money in sight. For the next Legislature it's a half-billion-dollar headache.

As far as can be seen, closing the gap would involve either (1) sharp cuts in state spending, (2) enactment of a far-zoned new tax or (3) letting the state government go into debt.

None of these courses likely would be either painless or popular. Third possibility is virtually prohibited by the Constitution which says no appropriation in excess of revenue in sight can be passed "save in the case of emergency and imperative public necessity and with a four-fifths vote of the total membership of each house . . ."

In the past the Budget Board has limited its spending recommendations to foreseeable revenue under existing tax laws. Making up the board are the lieutenant governor, speaker of the house and eight other legislators.

MORE HERE, MORE THERE — How did new money requests get up to $368,000,000 when the present state budget is at an all-time high of more than $2,000,000,000?

Big figure results from a lot of requests from a lot of state departments and institutions. Examples:

State colleges, faced with increasing enrollments, want $49,000,000 more.

State Water Board, charged with a stepped-up water conservation planning program, asked for a nearly doubled appropriation of $3,596,180.

Hospitals and special schools asked for a 31.5 per cent increase, up to $114,000,000.

State Youth Council asked substantial increases for the facilities it operates including a 99.5 per cent increase (to $4,745,925) for the severely overcrowded Gatesville School for Boys.

"HOW MUCH" LABELS — Budget Board has proposed enactment of a "price tag" procedure to help lawmakers keep track of just how much each measure they consider would cost.

Suggested bill would require that each spending bill be accompanied by an itemized list (with prices) of the expenditures it would involve.

It was seen as a means of keeping a tighter check on the tax dollar.

MORE TIME FOR TEACHING — Giving teachers fewer extra chores and more time to teach, has been suggested as a means to relieve the shortage of qualified instructors.

Texas Education Agency conducted a survey on ways to make better use of existing teachers and school buildings. Resulting report noted the many miscellaneous tasks that fall to teachers — keeping up with lunch money, football tickets and charity drives; sponsoring athletic events and special programs; keeping extensive records. Use of teaching aides and secretaries was suggested to free teachers to concentrate on class work.

In regard to building use, the report suggested consideration of a longer school year, a longer school day and greater use of special purpose rooms such as laboratories, shops, homemaking departments, etc.

FRESH START — After months of upheaval and dissension, the State Insurance Liquidator's office is reorganized and off to a new start.

C. H. Langdeau newly appointed liquidator, has announced the names of nine attorneys who will make up his legal staff. They are Cecil C. Rotsch, general counsel, John R. Grace, Clay Cotten, V. F. Taylor, Horace Wimberly, Art M. LeCroix, J. C. Thomas, William Colburn and Hoyt Cole.

Missing from the scene will be Renee Alred Jr. who had been appointed by Dist. Judge Charles O. Betts as receiver for all insurance liquidation cases in his court. Betts had refused to accept Langdeau as receiver. Langdeau was appointed by Insurance Commissioner William A. Harrison.

Situation was resolved when the State Supreme Court ruled that Betts must accept Langdeau.

Langdeau said his staff would have to do extensive investigating before deciding whether to pursue a $15,000,000 damage suit Alred had filed in connection with the ICT bankruptcy. Suit charges some 54 different corporations, including some famous names in the financial world, with having some responsibility for the building up of a fraudulent enterprise.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health, HENRY A. MOLLER, M.D., Commissioner

If you have small children or if you have raised them into adulthood, you have at one time or another had a sick child on your hands. Today, if you are like most parents, you call the doctor right away.

This puts the doctor on the spot. He can't see your child over the telephone, so the only way he can get a small understanding of the problem is for you to give him a reliable and full description of symptoms your child is displaying.

An adult or older child can describe his own symptoms — "It seems to hurt right here doctor, a sort of sharp pain . . ." But a small child, even if he can talk, has a great deal of trouble explaining how he hurts or what is bothering him, because usually he has a fever and is not thinking clearly.

For this reason there are several things you can do to help the information ready BEFORE the call or visit so the doctor will not be burdened with a guess in the dark.

First, take his temperature with a reliable thermometer (a rectal thermometer is best) following directions carefully. Feeling a child's skin tells little unless the temperature is exceptionally high and by then the child may be seriously ill.

Notice carefully the appearance of the skin—rash, yellowish cast, grayish, pale — and make certain to note the type of rash, whether it is flat or raised above the skin level.

Is the breathing unusually heavy or light? Take count of the breaths per minute and pass this information on to the physician. It is often as important as a temperature reading. Also, check other symptoms, such as wheezing, coughing, etc.

Important to the doctor, is whether the child is restless, drowsy, or if there are peculiar movements of a jerky or wild nature. If he is quiet, is he unconscious and slow to respond or just tired? The parent is the best judge of these signs since he is familiar with the normal child. Don't omit them from your report.

One of the first questions a physician will ask is the character of the bowel movements. Have they been loose, hard, watery, more often or less often? What color, darker or lighter? Don't forget cramps or stomach pains often associated with digestive disorders. If he has vomited, describe how — with pressure or did the youngster seem to "spill over"?

Have all this information ready before you telephone so the physician can decide whether a personal call is warranted or if you should bring the child to the office. Help the physician and he will be better able to help your child get well.

Hurricane winds and clouds usually extend up 40 to 60 thousand feet, according to the Navy's "Hurricane Hunters."

By MRS. LYNDELL ASHLEY

There's a cloud of smoke hanging over Lenorah these days, but its a welcome sight to the farmers, for it means the rains are running again after the recent bad weather.

Mrs. Jim Franklin's fifth grade Girl Scout troop met Monday afternoon at Grady. One of the members, Carolyn Kuhlman, was honored with a surprise birthday party. The Girl Scout calendars are on sale now by troop members and I hear they're selling like hot cakes.

Cub Scouts of Den Three and Four met Tuesday afternoon with their den mothers, Mrs. Delmar Hamm, Mrs. Glen Cox and Mrs. Louise Robertson. Plans are being made for another den to be organized soon.

October would be a splendid time to take a vacation and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin B. Jones have done just that. They returned the first of this week from a trip which took them to Denton, College Station, Baytown, and points in Louisiana. Mrs. Jones' mother, Mrs. W. E. Loveless of Denton, came home with them for a few weeks visit.

Anyone passing by late at night, might wonder why the lights are still on in so many homes. But its six week exam time and students and parents are burning the midnight oil.
