Snooter Knows

JIM KELLY USED TO CALL ME HIS SIDE-KICK. And we did have many experiences and sessions together. The COLONEL FROM CAPITOL HILL... That's what we called our fellow journalist, found out that the college yearbook, "THE LOCUST" up in Commerce, referred to us as "SENATOR ESTES." It's been a long time since we wore that salad day tag but it was the truth. The title was fixed on us after winning an oratorical medal for public speaking, participating in a one-act play in the college dramatic department, and for serving on the champion debating team. Yep, we held some sort of illegal legislative sessions up there in the old Catholic convent. And if those historical walls could speak — well — with COL. JIM in the hospital the SENATOR would hurriedly leave town.

DIRECTORS MEET—W. H. Calkins, right, treasurer of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston, shakes hands with Jim Franklin of Stanton, re-elected president of Western Production Credit Association after a stockholders meeting Saturday. Other Western Production officials, counter clockwise, are George Clark of Odessa, director; Ed Guy Branch of Rankin, vice president, and B. W. Golladay of Midland, director.

It's Our Crusade

The campaign to raise money for the American Cancer Society is in progress with members of Mu Lambda Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi spearheading the effort with Mrs. Leland Nelson as the Crusade Chairman.

Mrs. Leo Turner, as always in the past, is lending every assistance to the drive. Mrs. Turner is the permanent chapter chairman in Martin County.

The campaign was officially launched last week when Mrs. Guy Eiland opened her home for a coffee. Other hostesses have followed practice and coffee meetings will be held until the goal of $900 is achieved.

Naturally, that much money cannot be expected from cancer coffees. So, a march will be held in the city on the evening of April 25. Mu Lambda chapter members and girls from the FHA will canvass the town for money to aid this very necessary cause. Then too, the ministers of the city will be called on to make special announcements from the pulpits of the town on Sunday, April 30. Leaders of other organizations, both in Stanton and outside the city, will be called on to assist in raising the money.

Contributions can be mailed to Mrs. Leland Nelson, Box 655, Stanton. Mrs. Bob Johnson, wife of the county agent is also accepting contributions and checks mailed to her in Stanton will be credited to the fund.

Martin County has never failed to subscribe the full quota to a campaign for a necessary cause. IS THE CURE FOR CANCER NECESSARY? How well the people of this county know the answer. Cancer has been a leading life claimer here always. Approximately fifty percent of deaths in this area have been due to cancer. HOW LONG WILL CANCER CONTINUE AS A KILLER? Just as long as research funds are limited. Just as long as we fail to realize that IT WAS MONEY that caused the prevention of polio to be brought about. Just as long as we fail to think that cancer money is secondary. WE SIMPLY MUST GET OUR NINE HUNDRED DOLLARS FOR THE AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY. GIVE WHAT YOU CAN. GIVE ALL YOU CAN. IF EVERY PERSON IN THE COUNTY CONTRIBUTED SOMETHING THE GOAL WOULD BE FORTHCOMING. LET'S NOT LET THE CRUSADE, THE LEADERS AND WORKERS DOWN. GIVE SOMETHING TODAY!

FHA Girls To Aid Campaign

The sound of ringing doorbells will signal the Mu Lambda Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi and FHA Girls collection crusade for funds to fight cancer here next Tuesday night.

The crusade will be conducted under the generalship of Mrs. Leland B. Nelson, wife of the chief of staff of the Physicians and Surgeons Hospital in this city.

Lions Club Sees Film On Cancer Control

Stanton Lions viewed a film on "Cancer Control" at a meeting Tuesday.

Paige Eiland, program chairman, was in charge of the program.

During the business session Lions discussed a mop and broom sale they are to conduct, Monday, April 24. A truck filled with mops and brooms will be downtown and local Lions will be stationed at the truck to sell mops and brooms. Beginning at 5 p.m. Lions will make a house to house canvass selling.

It was reported that a total of $166.15 was collected by the club on Candy Day, April 14 was observed by local Lions as Candy Day, and the group distributed candy downtown and accepted donations. Proceeds will go to the Crippled Children's Camp at Kerrville, for sight conservation projects and other projects.

Twenty-three members and three guests were present. Guests were Eldon Mahon of Colorado City, Orton Gilbert of Lubbock, and Jim McCoy.

Volunteer collectors will call on homes of friends and neighbors in an effort to send word to the American Cancer Society that MARTIN COUNTY DID NOT FAIL.

The quota is $900. That amount will be raised. Word must not go out to the world that the signs so well publicized at the three highway entrances to the city is false. No, we must show all concerned that we really do have 3,000 progressive people here in Stanton and that there are 4,000 other progressive people living in Martin County.

"I hope that every door in the community will be open to welcome our Crusaders on Tuesday," Mrs. Nelson said.

"The girls will be wearing badges identifying them as Crusaders and they will deposit leaflets at every home," Mrs. Nelson continued.

If any family is away from home when the doorbell rings they will find a supply of literature left by the Crusaders when they return home. The girls will appreciate a check mailed to either Mrs. Leland Nelson, Box 655 in Stanton or to Mrs. Bob Johnson, Box 65 or bring it by Mrs. Nelson's residence at 401 West First or Mrs. Johnson's residence at 706 College Street in Stanton.

Statistics Show Polio Cases Increase During Summertime

Experience and proven tests indicate that polio cases are more prevalent during the Summer months than at other periods of the year.

The Salk vaccine is plentiful and has been found to be highly effective in stemming the tide of poliomyelitis, and right now, in the pre-summer months is the time to start thinking about immunization for the entire family. As a matter of truth, entire neighborhoods need to conduct a community check to determine who needs the vaccine. If one case breaks out in a neighborhood, it has a better possibility of spreading.

Paralytic polio in the United States has declined from 9,289 cases in 1959 to 2,265 cases in 1960. This is great progress. But an area cannot rest comfortably as long as thirty-eight per cent of children under five years; sixty-three per cent of men aged 20 to 40; and forty-eight per cent of women aged 20 to 40 are not fully vaccinated.

Study of paralytic polio cases in 1960 show that almost half were babies and children five years and under and young adults who contracted the disease were among those most seriously paralyzed. A booster shot is essential where one has already been immunized. A series of three shots must have been completed for the vaccine to really be effective.

Dr. Leland Nelson advised the newspaper, when contacted by the editor, that plenty of polio vaccine was on hand at Physicians and Surgeons Hospital and those desiring information were welcome to call.

Urgent Business

Voluntary health agencies are an integral part of our democracy and as such they are a tower of strength to our way of life. They have made the nation stronger through better health and through a better understanding of other people's problems.

The American Cancer Society, which this month is conducting its annual education and fund raising Crusade, is such an organization. It is made up of all kinds of people—people with a great desire to serve their fellow man and rid civilization of the profound tragedy cancer is.

The American Cancer Society is many things. It is doctors in their offices trying to detect cancer early, when it is most curable. It is scientists in their laboratories seeking new cures and possible means of prevention. It is dedicated volunteers manning detection centers, providing comfort and service to cancer patients.

It is also more than just people. It is great corporations, businesses and institutions cooperating in the effort to save lives today and in the search for the eventual conquest of cancer.

The American Cancer Society is an organization driven by a sense of urgency. There are more than 1,000,000 Americans alive today who have been cured of cancer. This would have been thought impossible a few decades ago. But 45,000,000 Americans now alive will die of cancer if greater advances are not made. The American Cancer Society wants to see these lives saved, cancer conquered and then go out of business.

Indeed the Society belongs to the people—to anyone who wants to join the struggle to destroy the disease that brings so much hardship and tragedy to so many families.

Make it your organization. Do it by having a health checkup to guard your own health. Do it by offering your services as a volunteer. Do it by making a contribution to the annual Crusade which will mean more research, more life-saving education and more service to stricken patients.

Philosopher Says Space Travel, Like Riding On A Bicycle, May Lose Its Novelty

Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw calms his concern about the Russians' space flight, in his letter this week.

Dear editor: I was out here on this Martin County grass farm the other afternoon looking up at the sky and a neighbor stopped and asked: "What're you doing, looking for a Russian traveling through space?"

I told him nope, just looking for clouds.

Everybody I know has been excited, and a little concerned, about the Russians' getting the first man into space, and it is an achievement, but I have a notion that the Russians, who threw their hats in the air when they heard they were first in space, spent the next few minutes looking for them on the ground, as hats spring from the products of the earth, not from space.

You will notice that man, when he goes into space, has to carry his own earth-produced oxygen with him, whereas I've already got all the oxygen I need completely free any place I want to go on this farm.

My point is, outer space may be interesting to look at the first trip or two out, but it could get mighty boring in the long run.

And as for our being behind the Russians in space, it's true, but I'll tell you, I believe we can catch up and I believe we will. In the final analysis, a new scientific feat is impossible to get a monopoly on. You can't keep a secret very long. Everybody's got laboratories these days. It's sort of like the secret of the bicycle. One country at one time no doubt had the bicycle first, but once the idea was discovered, bicycles turned up all over.

The United States sooner or later will be sending men through space too, and this generation won't be over before we start having traffic collisions up there too, but I have a notion the novelty will wear off and traveling through space may wind up like a man I know who saved up his money and traveled around the world. He said the trip was interesting, but the best sight he saw was the look of home when he got back. And you've got to remember this man was on the earth's surface, not going around it 150 miles up where you don't meet any new people and your main past-time is wondering if there's a leak in your oxygen hose.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

State Runoff Election Set For May 27

The runoff election in the U. S. Senate race will be called for Saturday, May 27 Gov. Price Daniel said.

"The election law permits the runoff to be held only between the date of May 21 and June 5," Daniel's announcement said. "The Saturday, May 27 date was chosen as the most favorable for the largest possible turnout of voters."

He said the date would be officially announced after the canvass has been completed. Votes of the April 4 election in which Republican John Tower and interim Sen. William A. Blakley finished on top will be canvassed April 21.

State law says the governor technically cannot call the runoff election until the votes are canvassed. Large number of inquiries prompted the announcement Thursday.

Election laws say the governor must call a runoff within five days after the canvass shows a runoff is necessary. The runoff must be held 30 to 40 days after it is called.

It was speculated earlier that Daniel might call the runoff on June 3 since some people might consider May 27 as part of the May 30, Memorial Day, holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hardin and children visited recently in Lubbock.

Income Tax Refunds Surpass Old Levels

Americans are claiming larger average income tax refunds this year — $117 compared with $108 in 1960. This was disclosed Saturday by the Internal Revenue Service, which said $2,700,000,000 in refunds had been mailed to 23,200,000 taxpayers by April 10. By the same date a year ago, $2,200,000,000 had been refunded to 20,500,000 taxpayers. IRS expects to pay out about $4,500,000,000 in refunds this year. Refunds will be claimed by about seven out of every 12 taxpayers. The tax agency must distribute all refunds by May 31. If it delays beyond then, it starts paying six per cent interest on the amount of the refund.

Cabbage Rated High On April Plentiful List

The ancient Greeks held cabbage in high esteem. One fable tells of a Greek prince who was bound to a vine as punishment for his misdeeds. He wept so hard that his tears took root and became cabbages. Another story says that cabbages sprang from the divine beads of perspiration that formed on Jupiter's brow as he struggled to think out a difficult problem. These legends may or may not be true. But here's one cabbage fact we can rely on: Cabbage will continue plentiful all April. Shipments from Texas' Lower Valley and other areas have been heavy, according to the Agricultural Marketing Service. You probably won't want to build an altar for it, as the Egyptians did, but it's definitely time to include cabbage in spring-time meals. Prices are so low that cabbage is rated as a "best buy" in most markets. Here's a cabbage treat you may not have tried: It's Spaghetti and Cabbage with Cheese Sauce, fit for Egyptians, Greeks or Agriculture. To prepare, as suggested by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, cook 3/4 cup spaghetti, broken into 1-inch pieces, in salted boiling water and drain. Shred 2 cups cabbage. Make a sauce by heating a cup of milk, 1 1/2 tablespoons butter, an equal amount of flour and a little salt; remove from the heat and add

She has been a cheerleader and majorette in the pep squad and also has participated in basketball, volleyball and tennis. Seidenberger is a senior and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Seidenberger of the St. Lawrence Community. He is serving as president of FFA and has been a class officer several times. He also was a member of the football, basketball and track teams for four years. To be eligible for this honor a student must maintain a B average, participate in sports and school activities and have a good personality.

Garden City Places Third At Track Meet

Garden City placed third and Sands was fifth in the District 20-B track meet Saturday in San Angelo. In first place was Sterling City with 160 points. Second was Forsan with 96 1/2 points. Garden City had 84 1/2 points; Water Valley had 75 points for fourth place and Sands scored 67 1/2 points. In the elementary division Sands won the title with 133 1/2 points to 123 for second place finisher Garden City. Sterling City was third with 113; Forsan had 43 1/2 and Water Valley had one point. A cup of grated cheese and stir until cheese is melted. Then, place alternate layers of spaghetti and cabbage in a greased baking dish and pour the cheese sauce over the top. Sprinkle with crumbs. Cover and bake about 40 minutes in a moderate oven. Remove the cover at last quarter-hour so the crumbs will brown. Carol Ringener has returned home from a Big Spring hospital.

By VERN SANFORD
Sometime between now and August 31, the Texas Legislature must come to a showdown, do-or-die, back-to-the-wall decision on a big new money-raising bill.

But many lawmakers believe the situation will have to have reached the desperate, no-choice-left stage before such a decision can be made. To meet current needs, say some lawmakers, the tax bill will have to be a big one and it's bound to bring static from voters.

Only way they can survive, said one, is to be able to say, "Look, I don't like this bill either. But what can we do . . . close the schools?"

In this climate, the House postponed floor action on the general sales tax measure by Reps. John Allen of Longview and Forrest Harding of San Angelo. Gov. Price Daniel attacked the bill as "obnoxious and inequitable," hitting everything "from the cradle to the grave."

Governor Daniel urged compromise through a "package" bill. Ingredients for the package, he said, might be gotten from Rep. George Hinson's omnibus tax bill and Rep. Ben Atwell's selective sales tax measure.

Hinson's bill would hit in many areas — watches, jewelry, power tools and machinery, construction materials, natural gas, restaurant meals, non-essential beverages, etc. Atwell's bill is akin to a general sales tax except that it names the hundreds of items it would tax rather than making a blanket provision.

SENATE COOL TO TAX — With less than bubbling enthusiasm, Senate State Affairs began hearings on the first tax bill sent over by the House.

It is Rep. Charles Ballman's "loophole bill" designed to raise some $43,000,000 toward retiring an expected $63,000,000 deficit in the general revenue fund.

Senators listened with seeming sympathy to witness who criticized the bill's provision for a revised franchise tax formula and a gift tax. They listened, too, to lengthy pro-sales tax discussion by Tom Sealy of Midland, chairman of the Citizens for a Sales Tax group.

Under the Ballman bill's broad caption, the Senate could add extensively to its revenue-raising features, but most observers doubt the Senate will be eager to seize the initiative at this stage.

CAMPAIGN LIMIT KILLED — A bill to limit campaign expenditures to $25,000 in a race for the U. S. senate or congressman at large was killed by the House, 83-to-50.

Sen. Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin was sponsor of the bill which passed the Senate. Supporters of the measure said that as things are "a rich man can buy his way into office." Opponents said the limit was unrealistic and that a newcomer to politics could never become known with such restrictions on a statewide race.

INSURANCE CHANGE FLOUNDERED — Sen. Grady Hazlewood's bill to set ground rules for the state's merit rating auto insurance has at least a temporary set-back.

Senate voted 16-to-13 to take up the bill. However, a two-thirds majority is needed to begin floor action.

Prior to this action, the State Board of Insurance announced extensive changes in the rating plan, effective August 1. Such violations as running a red light or stop sign, illegal passing or turning, negligent collision and breaking of drivers' license restrictions were removed from the list of actions causing a driver to pay higher insurance rates.

Senator Hazlewood was not satisfied with the changes. He criticized the removal of red light running from the list and the keeping of penalties for speeding, no matter how slight.

FREIGHT RATE BILL PASSED — A bill to simplify rate setting for railroads and truckers was passed on second reading by the House.

Under present law, the Railroad Commission has to pass on every rate change request, no matter how trivial. Under the proposed measure, the rail or truck line would publish the proposed new rate and if no one objected, it would go into effect. If there were objections, the Railroad Commission would call a hearing to decide the matter.

CONSOLIDATION PAYMENTS OKAYED — A bill designed to encourage consolidation of school districts received final Senate passage.

It provides that common school districts which consolidate into one will continue to receive, for 10 years, the same amount of state aid they would have received if they had not merged.

Sen. Thomas Creighton of Mineral Wells is sponsor. He said it would promote better schools and, in the long run, economy.

JEFFERSON REPORT "BLOWS IN" — Release of the House General Investigating Committee's report on its study of vice in Jefferson County blew the lid off a long-smoldering controversy.

Report accused Atty. Gen. Will Wilson of failing to follow up vigorously on reports to him of flourishing prostitution and rackets in the Beaumont-Port Arthur area.

It also criticized Liquor Control Board Administrator Coke Stevenson Jr. for merely demoting an agent accused of failing to stop liquor law violations by private clubs in Jefferson County.

House committee completed its study last year and was automatically dissolved at the beginning of this session, but the report was delayed.

Wilson hotly denied that he had failed or refused to take any action within the power and scope of his office. He said the criticism of him was "politically motivated" by Rep. Tom James of Dallas, vice chairman of the committee.

Meanwhile, the House — rather wearily, perhaps — voted against a bill that would set up House and Senate investigating committees every session, as a matter of law. Better, they decided, to establish such committees by resolution when special circumstances seem to warrant.

HOURS CUT APPROVED — A bill to cut the work week of state hospital employees from 44 to 40 hours was voted out unanimously by the Senate Committee on State Departments and Institutions.

The FICB bought a total of $500,000 in Class A stock during the drought years when association members were hard pressed.

Workman reported Western Production has an operating profit of $33,000 to date and anticipates $65,000 by the end of the fiscal year on September 30.

Western Production paid from four to five and three-fourths percent interest last year on money borrowed from the FICB. The current rate is four per cent.

W. H. Calkins, treasurer of the FICB, said he does not expect the cost of money to the association to vary more than one-half of one per cent the remainder of the year.

The bank officials told stockholders the FICB had been organized in 1923 but it did not begin to accomplish its purpose until 1933 when the Production Credit system was set up. "It was a revolutionary idea for the farmer to run his own credit business," he said.

An FICB director, H. Macon Boddy of Wichita Falls, also spoke at the meeting. He stressed "sound people running a sound organization will survive regardless of the weather or market conditions."

HERE'S another one of those psychiatrist's stories. A patient claimed that he had swallowed a horse. The doctor could do nothing to convince the man to change his mind. At last, in despair, the psychiatrist agreed to operate, planning to bring a horse into the operating room when the patient was unconscious. When the operation was over, the doctor pointed to the horse. "You'll be alright now," he said. "That won't bother you anymore." The patient looked at the horse. "In a pig's eye it won't!" the man said. "That's a boy. The horse I swallowed was black."

DR. LELAND NELSON was an office visitor Tuesday afternoon. As a dedicated man of the medical fraternity he is interested in every proven preventive for any type disease. We are on the eve of the season for polio. It is important to public health that children and adults under 40 get the proper preventive shots. It takes three shots, spaced, if you have never started the series. If you have been immunized you'll need a booster shot before Summer sets in. And from the temperature readings this week, Summer has 'set in.' So go up and get your polio serum.

WHILE DR. NELSON was in our office he observed that we wore a house slipper on our right foot. We explained that we had lost our grip on a heavy iron skillet and same had crashed down on our index toe. Funny thing, the last time DOC NELSON noticed our shoes didn't match we were wearing a blue boot and a house shoe the morning in February when MR. KELLY suffered a light stroke. Our anxiety in getting to EDITOR JIM caused that mix-up in footwear. Really, DOC, most of the time we do wear matching shoes.

MR. and MRS. ERNEST PRICE, 401 N. St. Boniface, are our new neighbors. We hasten to set the record straight — we are new — they have been prominent citizens of this county for years. And to explain further, we only know "MR. E" because it has not been our privilege to meet his wife. MR. E. PRICE is not only possessed of the attributes of a man who has been successful . . . through loyal work in life . . . but he commands a deep sense of searching humor and that sly twinkle in his eyes reveal him as a fellow who understands a lot of the common problems of life. The other day, we found our neighbor down town in a grocery store. We invited him to ride home with us. On the jaunt to St. Boniface he passed a good question to us. It was indicative of concentrated thought. He was right. We think our neighbor would make a good editor.

Also on the program were Morris Standefer who gave the class prophecy; Frances Morrow, who gave the class history, and Gwen McClain, who gave the class yell. Several musical numbers completed the program.

Fat Foods Use Is Up

Eating less fat than you used to? Perhaps so, but the Agricultural Marketing service points out that the total annual consumption of food fats has increased to an average of nearly 120 pounds per person in the last several years.

This compares with 108 pounds in 1935-39, and around 115 pounds in the 1940's.

The increase has occurred despite conscious efforts by many consumers to limit their fat intake. In analyzing these figures, it's convenient to divide consumption into so-called "visible" and "invisible" categories.

The visible fats include butter, lard, margarine, shortening, cooking and salad oils, and other edible fats and oils. In recent years, they have accounted for about 38 per cent of the total.

The invisible fats — dairy products (excluding butter), eggs, animal products, various fruits, vegetables, and cereals — comprised 82 per cent of the total fat intake.

Use of visible food fats per person has changed remarkably little in the past generation. It averaged 45.1 pounds in 1935-39. In most years, it has fluctuated within 10 per cent of that level. However, there has been some changes: We're now eating more margarine, shortening, cooking and salad oils but less butter and lard.

Employers Face April 30 Deadline For Wage Forms

April 30 is the deadline for employers to report their employees' wages for the first quarter of 1961. H. P. Thomas, District Manager of the Odessa Social Security Office, announced today.

The earnings of anyone who worked at any time during the period January through March on any job covered by social security, Thomas pointed out, must be reported to the District Director of Internal Revenue on or before April 30.

These wage reports must be filed on Internal Revenue Form 941, regardless of how small the earnings or whether one or more workers is involved.

Employers of household workers, including maids, cooks, handymen, cleaning women, etc., should use Internal Revenue Form 942 to report cash wages paid to domestic employees, if those wages amounted to $50.00 or more during the calendar quarter.

Tax forms and reporting information are available at the nearest office of Internal Revenue. For social security information and pamphlets, visit your local social security office at 1423 East 8th Street, Odessa, Texas.

Texas cattlemen are asking "What Bermudagrass is best for improved pastures?" With several varieties to choose from, your decision may be easier with a quick review of research findings, says George McBee, extension pasture specialist, Texas A&M College.

All factors considered, Coastal Bermudagrass ranks at the top of the list, the specialist reports. The hardy hybrid generally is adapted to all sections of the State below 3,500-foot elevation. But supplemental irrigation he warns, is necessary in areas of low rainfall.

Midland Bermudagrass, a hybrid cross between Coastal and a cold-resistant strain of common Bermudagrass grown in Indiana, generally is a bit less productive than Coastal, McBee says. Its added cold-resistance, however makes it well suited for the Lubbock area and northward.

Savannee Bermudagrass, also a hybrid, is similar to Coastal. Georgia tests revealed more drought resistance on deep sands, but it is less tolerant of heavy grazing and less desirable than Coastal in Texas.

I Give You Texas

By BOYCE HOUSE
Tradition says that, at one time, the largest town between Fort Worth and El Paso was Thurber.

Now a "ghost town," Thurber, in its heyday, was the center of a district which gave employment to several thousand coal miners. So important was the Thurber mining industry that Eugene V. Debs, Socialist candidate for president, spoke there; and, on one occasion, a young leader of the national miners' union, John L. Lewis, conferred with officials of the Texas Pacific Coal Company, which owned the Thurber mines.

The town began to decline about the time that oil was discovered at Ranger in the Fall of 1917. This flush field, and other oil fields, provided a cheaper fuel for the T. & P. Railway, which had been the chief customer for Thurber's coal.

A strike, too, at about this time aggravated the situation and mining came to a halt, never to be resumed on a scale of any importance.

In 1921, when this writer went to Eastland to edit the Daily Oil Belt News, Thurber (25 miles to the East) was still a sizable and active place. The town continued to be the headquarters of the company, renamed Texas Pacific Coal and Oil, and this concern conducted extensive oil operations in Eastland, Stephens and other counties. Also the company was operating a large brick plant at Thurber. The workers in this plant and the large force in the company's general offices gave Thurber a substantial population.

The stores were company-owned; in fact, the whole town was owned by the company, including the hotel, country club, baseball park, a lake, residences occupied by executives and cottages tenanted by workers. The business buildings were of brick, giving the downtown a handsome appearance, and the stores were well stocked. On Saturdays, the business section was busy. And there was plenty of activity in Thurber on Saturday nights, too.

At least a thousand persons still lived in the town at that time. The miners had come from half a dozen countries, chiefly in Southern Europe, and many of them were residing in Thurber in 1921, and even for some time after that. They spoke the languages, they maintained the customs, sang the songs and danced the dances of their native countries. Festivals were frequent and colorful. And those Saturday nights were gay occasions, too, with the celebrants having fights, or a knifing or, even, now and then a killing.

For, despite the fact that national prohibition then was the law, they were able to obtain wine and beer by the simple process of making their own. The wine was called "grappo" and the brew was known as "choc" beer. These products, especially the beer, were sold to visitors from Ranger, Eastland, Cisco and other towns. That choc beer was quite powerful—so I was told.

The Thurber country club was the scene of one of the leading annual golf tournaments of West Texas and the Thurber baseball team was probably the best in all its region. The fatal blow to Thurber came when the company moved its headquarters to Fort Worth and the brick plant went out of existence. Houses were sold, to be moved away, and what had been blocks and blocks of homes went back to grass, cactus and mesquite. Today, a few residences and three or four brick buildings, one of them a filling station remain — as well as a graceful, 100-foot smokestack made of Thurber brick. These — and the half-cut-away sides of two hills from which the brick clay was taken; and the piles of earth and waste beside the forever-sealed mines are the only reminders of the once-prosperous Thurber, which claimed close to 10,000 inhabitants.

team was composed of young college stars, who were provided jobs by the company in order to maintain their amateur status, and by older players good enough for "pro" ball. I used to attend the games. They were played on Sunday afternoon before a crowd of a thousand or so and there was a brass band that performed before and, sometimes, during the game. One season, after Texas League play was over, a team of Texas League all stars invaded Thurber to meet a nine composed of the best in the Oil Belt and the large stands were not adequate for the throng.

The process whereby a people becomes a nation varies in its time span according to many and varied circumstances. The American colonies built themselves into a nation after a slow and tedious beginning as tiny spots of civilization along an untamed coast which fringed a wilderness.

Israel began slowly to achieve a sense of national unity, ripening suddenly as she acquired strong leaders with the will to weld the tribes into a country under a ruler who gave his people a feeling of sovereignty.

Moving slowly from the Egyptian bondage to the haven of the Promised Land, the feeling of the people was more on a tribal, racial and religious level rather than national.

Eli was a great leader and had high personal integrity, but his sons "made themselves vile and he restrained them not."

A new leader, Samuel came to give the people such a strong national consciousness that they demanded a military leader instead of a religious one. In this way they went too far, paving the way for the disaster which was soon to come to them.

We first meet Samuel as a small boy brought to the Temple by his mother, Hannah, who devoted him to the service of the High Priest Eli.

Eli enjoyed more success with the little helper than with his own sons. When Samuel heard the voice calling him, Eli realized it was the divine call and told the boy that when the call came again he should say, "Speak, Lord for thy servant heareth."

And thus Samuel became aware of having a great mission. He purged the temple of abusive practices and restored the religious life of his people to its former strength. He had his undeniable part in the building of the Jewish nation.

poor yield prospects resulted in the abandonment of some experimental plots.

To sum it up, Midland Bermudagrass appears best for the Texas Panhandle, and Coastal gets the nod for the rest of the State, McBee concluded.

According to Fred Gardner of the poultry science department at Texas A&M College, the egg is becoming modernized. With the goal of the housewife having to spend less time and energy in the preparation of egg dishes in mind, research personnel are developing new packaging ideas and new uses for eggs.

During the past ten years, researchers have come up with some amazing products. How does preparing enough scrambled eggs for the whole family in 30 seconds sound? It can be done with a recently developed scrambled egg package. All you do is add hot water, stir and you're ready to serve a plate of eggs. Maybe you don't want scrambled eggs. In that case, pop some of the new instant French toast into your toaster. These are just two of the many new egg products that should be on grocer's shelves in the near future, says Gardner.

There are also many new egg products that are still in the developmental stage. For instance, pressurized cans of egg yolk, egg white or whole egg may soon be available. With these, all you do is press a button and you have whipped whites, scrambled eggs or egg soufflé. Or perhaps you would prefer packaged sliced hard cooked eggs, frozen egg sandwiches, pickled eggs, smoked egg dip, frozen scrambled eggs and bacon, deviled egg roll, and either fried, poached or scrambled eggs as warm and serve items. These should also be available in the not too distant future.

Within certain limits, Arch Meek—ma, extension dairy specialist, says the levels of concentrates and roughages in the dairy ration should be determined by the cost of nutrients in each type of feed. Also the upper limits of concentrate feeding should take into consideration the cow's ability to respond with higher milk production and the relative prices of feed and milk.

The Macartney rose, a real pest on some 400,000 acres of fertile East Texas and Gulf Coast land, can be controlled by repeated yearly applications of chemicals. Early Spring or Fall, when the roses have enough soil moisture for active growth, is the best time to apply the control measures, says G. O. Hoffman and Bobby Ragsdale, extension range specialists. They suggest a visit with the local county agent for details on the control program.

WTCC Meet Set For May 11-12

Harold W. Handley, former governor of Indiana, will be dinner speaker for the 43rd annual meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, WTCC President J. Carter King Jr. of Albany has announced.

The convention will be staged in Mineral Wells, May 11 and 12.

During the afternoon of May 11, prior to the dinner meeting, the regional chamber will hear a debate on "Solutions of Texas' Financial Problems." Arguing a general retail sales tax pro and con will be Frates Seeligson of San Antonio, rancher, and Hank Brown of Austin, president of Texas AFL-CIO.

The meeting will end at luncheon the following day after addresses on agriculture and status of the state and national economy, reports of WTCC activities and election of officers for the new year.

Approximately 400 delegates and their wives from the 132-county region of the WTCC are expected to attend the convention, King said.

Writer Tells How To Catch Big Red Fish

Action on the Texas coast is described in the April issue of Texas Game and Fish magazine, in an article entitled "Red Raiders of Padre Island." The article deals with red fishing in the surf waters along the Southern coast line of Texas.

"To meet bull reds on an equal footing, surf casters have learned a few tricks that make the job easier for them," according to author Gus Getner. He is a constant fisherman along the South coast.

"For instance, we have found that four-wheel drive jeeps and powerful motored trucks are a must to penetrate the treacherous shell banks along the beach. These vehicles carry everything from shovels and staves to bank spaces and ice boxes. In addition, they carry extra food and gasoline supplies in case of emergency.

"A tip worth remembering is that a typical Padre Island surfer carries two types of fishing outfits. One is a salt water spin rod and reel for spooning the bars, and another is a sturdy conventional surf rod and reel for mullet fishing on the bottom. These surf rods, in the 12 or 13 foot class, are made of tough Calcutta bamboo and can

A good practice to follow on your farm for increased yields and soil protection is strip cropping. Farmers in many areas have had good results with cotton planted two in and four out. About 45 days later plant feed or a Summer legume in the two middle rows. There will be a slight increase the first year with weather conditions natural and a larger increase the next year over solid cotton. This system has been proven to be very good in soil improving and for controlling wind erosion as well as increasing your yields.

Poultry Grades Show Increase Last Two Years

Have you noticed how much easier it is these days to buy ready-to-cook poultry that bears the official grade mark of the U. S. Department of Agriculture? You'll find it in the shape of a shield.

In the past two years, the volume of poultry, (excluding turkeys) graded under federal-state cooperative agreements has leaped forward by more than a billion pounds. In 1958, it was just over 818 million pounds; in 1960, close to 2 billion.

The number of graded turkeys also increased, but not as spectacularly, since a large part of the turkey crop has been graded for some time. In 1958, about 654 million pounds of turkey received USDA grades; in 1960, more than 811 million.

As production of turkeys and broiler-fryers increased, so has the grading program. But, in recent years, increases in graded volume have far outstripped increases in production.

Compare 1955 and 1960: The annual volume of chickens sold off farms increased from 3 million pounds to about 5 million. The volume graded jumped from 13 to 35 per cent of the total.

Turkey sales during the past five years increased from 800 million to more than a billion pounds, and the amount graded rose from 44 to 76 per cent of the total.

Why has the amount of graded poultry increased? Reasons vary. But consumers, generally, prefer consistently high quality. They get it in a U. S. Grade A bird, no matter which market they buy it from. It helps the producer, too.

Why is the Ford Galaxie head and shoulders above all the imitators?

61 Ford Galaxie, like all Fords, is available with the Thunderbird 292 V-8 engine that won the low-price V-8 class in this year's Motor Trend Economy Run—averaging 21.3 miles per gallon!

Because it's beautifully built to take care of itself!

Frankly, we're tickled to see so many other cars trying to latch on to the styling trend started by Galaxie. But they can't copy that Thunderbird roofline—any more than they can match Galaxie's Thunderbird luxury and handling.

What's more, Galaxie is the fine car built to cut your operating costs—by being beautifully built to take care of itself! For example, you can go 30,000 miles without a lubrication. And when you compare price, you find that Galaxie costs several hundred dollars less than some cars that give you less. Challenging statement? We're here to prove it—today.

Here's how the '61 Ford takes care of itself:

- Lubricates itself—You go 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications (which cost only about $4.00 and take about 20 minutes).
- Cleans its own oil—You go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter (which filters better through fibers).
- Adjusts its own brakes—New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves—automatically.
- Guards its own muffler—Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and slummed to last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.
- Protects its own body—All vital underbody parts are specially primed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing the body panels.
- Takes care of its own tires—Ford's new Diamond-Lust tires wash and clean and it will continue to glister like new. It never wears.
