FEWER BRACEROS FOR U. S. WORK

Fewer Mexicans will be coming into the United States to work on farms this year, President Kennedy predicted Thursday in his budget.

He proposed an appropriation of $870,000 to carry on contract compliance investigations in the year starting July 1, compared with $1,344,500 a year earlier.

The budget estimated 225,000 braceros would be imported during the current calendar year, compared to 282,515 in 1962. An estimated 130,000 will be brought in during the first six months of calendar 1964, it was predicted.

Under the program U. S. employers pay a fee of $15 a worker to cover the cost of recruiting the workers in Mexico and part of their transportation to employment centers in this country.

Bible Comment—

Blessedness Of Work Is Told

Work is more than just a task, more than drudgery. Saint Paul says, "Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God."

The spirit in which one's work is performed is important. One may take great satisfaction in performing his part in the fabrication of finished, marvelous products.

Also, there is a great compensation in the fact that even monotonous routine has been offset by shorter hours of labor, which leave the worker more time for family and real business of living.

Nevertheless, the old debate remains as to whether work is a cure or a blessing. The original conception of Genesis suggests that it is something of a curse: — "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread"—. But in the Old Testament that conception received another interpretation. To extract from the soil abundance and prosperity became a national and social idea. A glory was attached to work, and to achievement of craftsmanship.

The blessedness of work, too, became more emphasized and vindicated in all that Jesus said. —"My Father worketh hitherto, and I work"—. Work was what Jesus called his "Father's business." It was Christian work, and as such Paul commended it by precept and example.

And St. Paul had a message as a tent-maker as well as in the roll of an Apostle and Christian leader.

Cardinal Cushing Raised $1 Million Cuban Ransom

Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, disclosed Thursday that he was the anonymous collector of $1 million to help liberate Cuban invasion prisoners.

Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro made a last-minute demand for $2.9 million before he would release 1,113 Bab of Pigs prisoners. He said the money was owed him for the release last April of 60 other sick and wounded prisoners.

The money was in addition to $53 million worth of food and drugs used to ransom the 1,113 prisoners.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, head of a committee which advised and assisted families of the prisoners, obtained a $1.9 million loan on his own signature. Then he sent telegrams to industry leaders and obtained contributions.

It was announced that the other $1 million was contributed at the request of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy by a donor who was anonymous until Cardinal Cushing made his announcement Thursday.

Cardinal Cushing said he finally identified himself as the "mysterious donor" of the other $1 million because of pressure from news sources.

He said he promised to raise the $1 million by the end of January and had done so, through night-and-day person-to-person contacts with benefactors who have helped him collect money through the years for Catholic charities. He pointed out he had been a sponsor, adviser and fundraiser for the Cuban Families Committee and became active again when more money was needed.

He said he "wanted no publicity . . . because I was only a voice appealing for those who could not appeal for themselves. The donors responded in the spirit of Christmas . . ."

Council President O. D. Albright will serve as master of ceremonies.

Back To Bible Or Jungle, Says Billy Graham

Evangelist Billy Graham said Wednesday the time may come "when our President will take the vows of his office with his hand on the Constitution instead of the Bible."

"It is back to the Bible or it is back to the jungle," Graham said in a speech at the annual Texas Baptist Evangelism Conference.

"There is growing in America today a movement to take God out of this country, but when the Bible goes down, anarchy will raise its ugly head," Graham said. "There may come a time when the words 'In God We Trust' will cease to be our nation's motto."

"Today divine revelation of the Bible is being questioned as never before," Graham said. "This is an issue that is dividing Southern Baptists, Presbyterians and every other denomination."

He said it was the strategy of Satan to undermine man's confidence in the Bible as the word of God.

Philosopher Joins In Move For A Tax Cut, But Not Just On The Washington Level

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw joins the tax discussion this week, his letter reveals.)

Dear editor: In nearly every newspaper or magazine I've gotten my hands on lately there has been a bunch of articles on the prospects for a tax cut this year.

According to the experts, a tax cut will stimulate business, increase capital and initiative, and produce more revenue for the government in the long run. I don't know how this will work, but if the government believes it can get more money out of me by taking less, I'm willing to enter into the experiment.

As I understand it, the present income tax system is riddled with loop holes and a drive may be made by Congress to close them up. My position is that I'm in favor of either closing them or having them pointed out. I'm opposed to all loop holes I don't know anything about and can't take advantage of.

However, I have given the tax cut idea some thought and I'm afraid the experts are victims of a blind-spot. They're spending all their time on the state and local level, what's going to keep it from going up on the state and local level? This advanced idea that a government can get more revenue by taxing less may not have trickled down to the lower levels yet.

It may take years for Congress to unsarl the present income tax regulations, but in the meantime I have a handy solution to tide us over. Just give everybody a ten per cent cut in his taxes, from top to bottom. I guarantee I will take my ten per cent and stimulate business with it.

I know a lot of people will say all we'd be doing is piling up a debt for our grandchildren, but what makes you think our grandchildren won't be smart enough to have grandchildren of their own?

Yours faithfully,
 J. A.

Knight Of Road Banquet Set For Austin On February 8

The Most Representative Hobbs Knight of the Road for 1962 will be named at the Ninth Annual Hobbs Knight of the Road Awards Banquet Friday, February 8, in Austin.

The winner of this title, one of the highest awards a commercial driver in Texas can receive, will be selected from approximately 100 commercial drivers who were knighted during the past year for "acts of outstanding courtesy" to fellow travelers.

Finalists for the Most Representative Knight are to be announced later this month. Naming of the winner will be the climax of the awards banquet which is expected to draw an attendance of some 600 persons.

The affair is held annually to honor all Knight of the Road, with special attention being focused on men cited during the previous year and, in particular the man chosen for the top award.

The Knight of the Road Award Program was initiated by Hobbs Trailers, Fort Worth, in June, 1954. Since then, almost one thousand commercial drivers have been given recognition for acts of outstanding courtesy performed on Texas' streets and highways.

Recipients of the awards are nominated by the Texas Department of Public Safety patrolmen who witness or investigate incidents of exceptional courtesy. The patrolmen report their findings to the Award Board in Austin. Each recommendation is carefully investigated before a driver is knighted.

The Texas Safety Association and the DPS are co-sponsors of the award program.

Previous winners of the "Most Representative" title are H. E. Box of Waco, 1954; M. W. Denney of Dallas, 1955; W. L. Lotspeich of Houston, 1956; J. G. Coward of Lubbock, 1957; Jesse Carr of Diboll, 1958; Russell Brown of Mt. Pleasant, 1959; M. O. Griffith of Big Spring, 1960; and W. E. (Gene) Turner of Dalls, 1961.

The Most Representative Hobbs Knight of the Road named in February will serve as "the standard bearer of excellence" for all Knights for the ensuing 12 months.

Last week Mrs. Hubert Burns, the former Nina Holder, was honored with a shower at the home of Mrs. Sam Wilkinson. The hostesses were Bobby Wilkinson, Zora Lou Houston, Flora Dee Wilson, Margie Richards and Flora Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Estes entertained a group of friends at their ranch home in the north part of Martin County. The party celebrated the birthdays of Miller Self Estes, Tom Estes, and L. M. Estes, also the 32nd wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Estes. The water glasses used were 71 years old and custard cups 70 years old.

Martin County's first oil producer was developed the middle of January, 1945. It was the Texas Company No. 40, John E. Mabee in Mabee Field, one quarter of mile inside the west line of Martin County. At the time it was standing full of oil. Total depth, 4,719 feet. After reaching the total depth the well made a 30-minute flow and produced 24 barrels of oil.

College Costs To Rise Rapidly In Next Decade

College costs, now ranging from $800 to $5,800 a year, will jump to a range of $2,000 to $14,800 a year by 1975, according to Changing Times the Kiplinger magazine.

1965: Public schools, $1,000 to $4,600, average $2,500; private schools, $1,450 to $7,200, average $3,000.

1970: Public schools, $1,400 to $6,600, average $3,600; private school, $2,050 to $10,300, average $4,350.

1975: Public schools, $2,000 to $9,600, average $5,150; private schools, $2,950 to $14,800, average $6,200.

The median money income of families in the United States was $5,700 in 1961, the last year for which the official figures are available. This marked a 2 per cent gain over the preceding year. That, however, was offset, by half, by a 1 per cent rise in consumer prices.

Grassroots Opinion

The Association of American Railroads will co-sponsor 1963 National Transportation Institute on January 30 in Chicago with the Transportation Association of America and 32 other transport and industry groups. The Institute will feature experts from transportation, industry, banking, education and government under the general theme "Gearing Transportation for the Space Age."

Marked increases were recorded in all major categories of FBI accomplishment in the past year, according to Director J. Edgar Hoover. There were rises in convictions in FBI-handled cases and in the apprehension of fugitives. Fines, savings and recoveries exceeded $200 million as compared with $148,421,690 in 1961. This figure, Mr. Hoover added, far exceeds the funds spent to operate the bureau.

Hale-Aikin committees from 224 Texas counties approved "years of experience" and "college degree held" as the base for teacher salary schedules.

200 West Texans Expected To Make WTCC Sponsored Tour

A steady flow of reservations continues to arrive at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce office in Abilene as the date nears for the annual WTCC Livestock Feeding and Grain Market Development Tour in Arizona and California, February 17-23. Up to 200 West Texans are expected to ride the Santa Fe special train, Dr. W. L. Stangel of Lubbock, chairman of the WTCC Livestock Feeding Committee, has said.

The tour into Arizona and California is held in cooperation with the Grain Sorghum Producers Association of Amarillo, Texas Technological College and Texas A&M College.

Dr. Stangel said the Western states offer one of the greatest market potentials for grain sorghum produced in West Texas, and one of the principal reasons for visiting these states is to help develop new markets for West Texas grain products.

The WTCC tour last year was into this same area, but a different itinerary will be followed this time entirely, Stangel said.

This year the West Texas delegation will visit the Tucson-Casa Grande area of Arizona, the Los Angeles area, and the San Francisco-Stockton sectors in California. Livestock feeding facilities in all of these areas will be visited, grain storage and distribution facilities, and other points of interest.

Dr. Stangel said the tour would interest bankers and financiers; grain producers, grain and feed dealers, livestock feeders and breeders, farmers, and many others in the livestock and grain business.

There are still seats left on the special train, he said. The price is $245.00, except for those in the Fort Worth-Dallas area where increased rail fares make the price $255.00.

Reservations may be made by writing the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Box 1561, Abilene, Texas, and enclosing a check for the cost. Reservations will be limited to 200, and the deadline for accepting reservations will be February 2, Stangel said. Complete instructions as to boarding the special train, departure and arrival times all along the route, and other details will be mailed to all of those making reservation. Passengers may board at a number of stops along the Santa Fe route, and the special train will form at Clovis, N. M. for departure at 11:50 a.m. on February 17.

Highlights of the California portion of the tour include a tour of the Fort of Stockton area, with a stop at the mammoth Stockton Elevators from whence grain is shipped all over the world; beef cattle feedlots near Stockton; harvest store operations around Stockton; a 800-cow dairy near Los Angeles which does drylot feeding and extensive milk processing and distribution; a 10,000-head feedlot in the same area which is set up near beef packing facilities; a visit to California Polytechnical College of Agriculture and its facilities; a grain company at Artesia, Calif., which handles bulk feed and supplies milled concentrates to dairymen of Los Angeles County's milkshed; and a visit to a poultry ranch which has 70,000 laying hens.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

The Internal Revenue Service folks are putting in automatic data processing. The electronic machines will tell IRS every business transaction that you made throughout the country during the year. The IRS folks expect to eliminate double claims on exemptions, among other things. If the husband in Maine and the wife in California are both claiming a dependent who is living with and being supported by Grandma in Texas, the machine will tell on them. It is a wonderful age we are living in. Maybe these machines will help us who are voluntarily paying by making reluctant taxpayer more willing.

It Isn't Too Late To Plant Your Bulbs

By NEAL ESTES

Perhaps by this time most of the people of Martin County know that one of the hobbies of your country editor is the growing (or attempted cultivation) of flowers.

Maybe a modern day psychologist would say that we picked the idea up from our late mother's deep love of flowers. We used to be at home in a daisy or poppy bed in Commerce. It was our mother who always took the flower to her church on Sundays and it was our mother who also had a bouquet of something or the other in our home most of the time.

We still keep flowers in our house too. When nothing is obtainable in West Texas we arrange the artificial variety.

It is our thought that there is something about a flower that keeps us close to nature.
So we will pass along a little planting advice to our readers. It is not too late to plant spring bulbs.

Bulbs planted up until February 1 will come up and bloom in the spring.
Do not plant them as deep as this time as you would have earlier. Plant tulips four inches deep now; hyacinths should be set less than three inches below the surface of the ground. Anemones and ranunculus go approximately one inch deep. Plant foods should go beneath the bulb, as in earlier plantings; a tablespoonful of bone meal or well-balanced commercial fertilizer, with just a sprinkling of quick-acting superphosphate added.
Add a big handful of sand into which to firm the bulb. It will provide good drainage too. A rock or two won't hurt either.
Cover the bulb with loose earth; a good loam — and water slowly and thoroughly. Nothing more to do after that but to wait for the blooms to appear in your garden or yard.

Top Senate Posts Go To Friends Of Smith

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith named Senator A. M. Akin, Jr., of Paris to head the powerful State Affairs Committee and Senator Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo as chairman of the Finance Committee in fast action the first day he presided in the Texas Senate.
Smith, always a man of action, lost no time in putting these important committee posts in the hands of long-time friends and qualified men.

Smith waited only ten minutes after taking over the gavel to preside over the Senate before making his committee appointments.
The State Affairs Committee controls the action on passage of much of the Senate's important legislation, including tax bills and also possible the loan shark bill.

(Continued from page 1) strong man. When 12 years old he enrolled in the Texas Military Institute at San Antonio. At that time he weighed 200 pounds and stood six feet tall.

From the military institute he went to Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene for a semester, then to Sul Ross State College at Alpine, on a football scholarship, to major in physical education.

He changed his major to drama before he was graduated in 1950.

From Alpine he went to Boston for summer stock. Then, as did most young men of his time, Dan Blocker received greetings from the President and went overseas for a whirl at Korea.

When he finished his army hitch, he came home with the stripes of a first sergeant, to further impress Dolphia Parker, his college sweetheart. They were married on August 25, 1962. They now have four children, twin girls and two boys.

Blocker returned to Sul Ross shortly after his marriage to work on his master's degree. He left classes for one year to teach in the high school at Sonora. Upon receiving his Master's degree in drama and English, he taught school at Carlsbad, New Mexico.

In 1956, he went to Los Angeles for graduate work at UCLA. Almost immediately he was chosen for a feature role in a Gunsmoke episode, where he made more money in four days than a month of teaching.

Since that time his rise to stardom has been rapid. He has played in many significant TV roles and top billing with Bonanza.

The Texas Press Association, on behalf of its 76 member dailies and 432 weeklies, has presented "Top Texan" awards to two previous occasions. In 1961 the honor went to Paul Richards of baseball fame, a native of Waxahachie, who at the time was manager of the top-ranking Baltimore Orioles. Last year the "Texan of the Year" award went to Van Cliburn, world renowned pianist from Kilgore, Texas.

Selection of the "Texan of the Year" is made from nominations by Texas editors and publishers. Nominees must be well known Texans, outside the field of politics, now residing beyond the borders of the state, but bringing fame to the state by outstanding accomplishments in their own chosen fields of endeavor.

Reflecto Logs

The heat from your camp fire goes a lot farther if it's not wasted. And it's easy to deflect it right where you want it. One good way is to wrap logs in aluminum foil and use them as back logs to throw heat not up . . . but out toward you or in your tent. Foil keeps logs from burning but bounces heat off. And if you have very damp wood, wrap wet logs in foil and toss right into the flames. Wood dries in a jiffy, can be burned later.

Decoy Duck "Bait"

It's against the law to put out corn or grain to attract ducks in your decoys. But you will probably find no law (check to make sure) against artificial baiting. To do that, mix pea gravel with yellow paint and scatter in shallow water around your decoys. Ducks are used to seeing corn in refuges will swing in for the feast.

Fire Starter

Regular household cement works wonders as a fire starter. Just squeeze over wood and light. Burns hot and heavy.

Pheasants On A String

Hard-hunted pheasants are tough to scare into the air. Even on a drive they will slip between men and scurry out of sight without once flying. Try this trick to stop 'em. Just trail clothes line between each hunter. Slithery line is too much for even the steeliest nerved ringneck. One swoosh over his head and how much to lead him becomes your problem.

No-Slip Sponge

Sponges tied under your boots will provide good slip protection on mossy rocks. Waterproof adhesive tape holds them on.

Win A Drink

Test this one out before you try . . . but reliable authority says you can win a drink from your pals this way. When a whiskey bottle is emptied down to the last drop, bet you can squeeze ten more drops out. Trick to drop a light cotton thread down to the bottom, then tip the bottle on its side and count the drops as they climb thread and fall. Giving liquid an easy route to travel makes the difference.

Tooth Paste Handles

Need some cheap . . . real cheap . . . drawer handles? Cut the ends

Stop Rod Danger Time

Most dangerous time for your rods is when they are disassembled in pieces. Especially in a boat can they be bounced overboard. Here's an idea that will insure you never lose a section overboard. Just place a snap on fishing float on one of the guides or on the tip. In case of accident, no diving required.

Unstick Your Rod

Now is a good time to double check that all your rods are disjuncted and ferrules rubbed with the finest emery cloth. BUT if you forgot and can't get a rod apart, carbon tetrachloride poured into the female ferrule and allowed to sink down will help loosen the stubbornest fit.

Tighten Rod

And if you've got a rod wherein looseness of the ferrules is the problem you can stick them with a few drops of solder melted and poured down deep in the joint.

Eggshell Decoy Weight

One good way to make decoy weights is to twist heavy wire (coat hanger wire is good) in a circle and rest it in half an eggshell. Pour lead in the shell and you're in business. Paint wire with no-rust paint.

Kamp Kooler

Last week we had a Kar Kooler. Now comes a kamp kooler. Take an old apple or orange crate and wrap it in burlap. Soak the burlap and stand the crate in the shade of a tree. The hotter the day, the quicker the evaporation, the cooler you keep your supplies.

Fly Line Care

Got an expensive fly line that's worth babying? Use a hot water bottle to store it. Making sure there is enough air in bottle to keep the sides apart, wrap the line slowly around it. When through, deflate the bottle and slip the neat coil off. No sharp edges can possibly cut the line.

Plastic Shell Bag

Manufacturers do a good job of making spool shells water-proof. But heavy soaking can expand them enough to foul automatic or pump action ejectors. You can nip the possibility in the bud by wrapping shells in a cheap, replaceable plastic bag.

Troll On A New Line

Here's a super-simple way to bend on a new line. Don't fight a spool chasing all over your living room floor. Just wait until you are in your boat. Thread line through guides, tie on reel . . . and throw the spool overboard while trolling. Line unwraps, you reel in with no chance of tangles.

According to Newsweek, space industry business will exceed $5 billion this fiscal year, and will provide half-a-million jobs. Of the federal government's space budget of $3.5 billion, 85 per cent will go to 500 prime contractors and some 8,000 subcontractors. Universities, non-profit institutions, and government facilities will get the remaining 15 per cent. In addition, private firms are expected to spend $900 million on space research and development.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

Serving as Governor of Texas should be a snap for John Connally.

Any man who can wage a rigorous, 12 months campaign for Governor, such as he has done, reorganize the state government, plan and participate in all the ceremonies he has been through since his election and inauguration, and assume all the allied responsibilities related thereto . . . should find the task of being governor a cinch.

It seemed like half of Texas was in Austin to see the first mass turnout in state government since Jimmy Alford took over from "Ma" Ferguson in 1935.

Man of the hour was, of course, John Connally! Bus loads of people, from his old hometown of Florence and his latest hometown of Fort Worth, came to Austin for the festivities that surrounded his inauguration as governor.

Most of them were here by inauguration eve when nearly 5,000 people packed Austin's Municipal Auditorium for the Democrat's "Victory Dinner," rated as the biggest social dinner in the state's history. It was sponsored by the State Democratic Executive Committee. At $25 a plate, it netted the party $100,000 and put it on its feet, well-heeled.

Inauguration Day led off with an interdenominational prayer breakfast and the dignity of the day carried over to the high-noon swearing-in ceremony in front of the State Capitol.

Some 5,000 people clustered on the capital lawn as Governor Connally and Lieutenant Governor Preston Smith solemnly took their oaths of office from Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert of the State Supreme Court.

Both Connally and Smith expressed a sincerity of purpose and a real desire to work with the 58th Legislature in pushing progress for the state . . . while holding down spending.

Throughout Inauguration Day, Texas' two top men kept popping up in unexpected places — arriving early for ceremonies and dropping in at events related to the inauguration. They shook every extended hand and signed as many autographs as time allowed.

At seven in the evening they took their places, alongside their wives, in a Capitol rotunda receiving line and shook thousands more hands with unrelenting enthusiasm.

When Governor Connally presented his plan for progress to a joint meeting of Senate and House members, on the following day, he was met with applause that many legislators felt never had been equaled. Majority of the legislators said that they felt they could support him "most of the way." All praised his "tremendous grasp of state government" and said if there were difference between the governor and the legislature, such difference could be worked out.

Many were pleased to see Connally urge the strengthening of family sanctity laws. He recommended: An end to common-law marriages; a 90-day waiting period for divorces; prohibiting remarriages until six months after a divorce; and requiring both parents to appear in court when a divorce involves children.

His views on upgrading higher education were approved almost unanimously. But there was quite a bit of disapproval of his proposal to combine the Game and Fish Commission and the State Parks Board. Opposition was based largely on the idea that the Game and Fish Commission would suffer.

EQUAL RIGHTS — The perennial battle for women's equal right will hit the limelight in the Texas Senate early in the 58th Legislative session.

Senate constitutional amendments committee set public hearing for 7 p.m., January 30, on a proposal to give women equal legal rights. Proposed constitutional amendment was submitted by Sens. W. T. Moore of Bryan and Bill Patman of Ganado.

VOTE AGE TARGET—Rep. V. E. "Red" Berry of San Antonio wants the minimum voting age in Texas lowered to 18 years.

Berry has filed a bill which would propose a constitutional amendment allowing the Legislature to make the change.

Present law requires voters to be 21 years of age.

COST CUTTING BILL — A bill to create a commission to study ways to cut costs of Texas' government is on file in the House of Representatives.

Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria said his bill would create a "little Hoover" commission composed of 12 members. Three members would come from the House, three from the Senate, and six would be appointed by Governor Connally, who also has recommended formation of the commission.

Cory said his bill has been passed by the House on five different occasions but never passed the Senate.

STOCKMEN RAISING FUNDS — Texas Livestock Auction Association is sponsoring a drive to help raise the $1,000,000 still needed to meet the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation's $3,000,000 goal to stamp out the screwworm.

Texas' screwworm eradication program will come to a halt in March unless the million is raised.

Governor Connally recommended that the legislature quickly determine whether the screwworm eradication program is in trouble. Result was a hurriedly called meeting, attended by about 30 legislators and as many livestock producers and animal health officials.

DeVaney Asks Farm Bureau Leaders Aid

The president of the Texas Farm Bureau has called on county FB leaders across the state to assist in the emergency drive for funds to complete the screwworm eradication program in the southwest.

C. H. DeVaney of Coahoma, in a message to the 200 county presidents in Texas, pointed out that voluntary contributions by producers had fallen $1 million short of the $3 million goal set by the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation.

He emphasized that the eradication project would "come to a halt" March 31 unless the $1 million is raised to match federal funds.

DeVaney, who is also a member of the board of trustees of SWAHRF, reminded the county leaders that a policy adopted at the TFB's convention in November in San Antonio "obligates the membership of the Texas Farm Bureau, possibly more than any other group, to see that this program of voluntary contributions by producers is a success."

The policy reads: "We favor and endorse the Screwworm Eradication Program in the Southwest and urge Farm Bureau members to participate in it. We also recommend that Texas Farm Bureau help secure non-federal matching funds from contributions, fees, and/or transfer of available funds."

The final phase of the voluntary contribution campaign will be planned at a state-wide rally of county Screwworm Committee chairmen and citizens who have moved to metropolitan areas.

IMPACT IN SUPREME COURT—Waggoner Carr made his first appearance before the State Supreme Court as attorney general when the high court heard the case of the state versus the city of Impact. Impact is a satellite of "dry" Abilene which proposes to operate "wet."

Carr made a brief argument for the state, but turned the major presentation over to Tom Eplen of Abilene, end former State Senator Clint C. Small, who have worked on the case for about three years.

MARCH DRAFT 404 — Texas' March quota for draftees is 404 men. "This is more than double the calls of recent months," says State Selective Service Director Morris S. Schwartz.

February quota was 173 and the January call for was 163 men.

OATH TAKEN — Crawford C. Martin of Hillsboro has been sworn in as Texas' Secretary of State.

Ceremonies were held in the Texas Senate where he served for 14 years.

Oath was administered by Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert of the Supreme Court.

Several hundred persons were present, including legislators, appellate judges and friends, with a delegation of more than 100 on hand from his home city and county.

About Your Health

Cancer is often spoken of as one of the "silent" diseases. This is because in many cases cancer develops without producing any symptoms. Pain, which is most often thought of as accompanying diseases, is not generally present until cancer is far advanced.

Most cancers can be treated satisfactorily if detected in the early stages. The difficulty in cancer control, then, lies in early detection of the disease.

Only a physician can tell if cancer is present. Any suspicious symptom should be examined by the family physician. But often, by the time symptoms of cancer show up, it is too late for cure. Treatment of advanced cancer is difficult.

Good insurance against this silent growth is a regular, at least yearly, physical examination.

All physician's offices should be cancer detection centers. The family doctor is the front line against cancer. For a physical check-up, whether cancer is suspected or not, the personal physician is the logical person to see.

If cancer is suspected, the family doctor may refer his patient to a specialist, if necessary.

A top-to-toes physical examination will include inspection of the body surfaces, followed by examination of various organs such as the heart, blood vessels, lungs, mouth, nose, ears, eyes, throat, abdomen, rectum, sex organs and breasts.

The blood, urine, uterine cells, or other body fluids may also be examined or tested X-rays of the chest and other parts of the body and a proctoscopic examination (visual inspection of the lining of the rectum and lower bowel with a lighted tube) may also be performed by the physician.

A proctoscopic examination has increased in importance because frequently cancer of the colon and rectum can be discovered in this way.

If a physician suspects cancer, a biopsy may be performed and if possible a sample of the suspect tissue sent for microscope examination by a pathologist. Cellular tissue examination frequently establishes the diagnosis of cancer.

The individual is the key to the prompt diagnosis of cancer. For only if a person presents himself to his physician can suspicion of cancer be made.

With regular physical check-ups the "silent" disease can be detected. (A weekly feature from Public Health Education, Texas State Department of Health.)

FARM REVIEW AND FORECAST

THE STANTON REPORTER, THURSDAY, JAN. 24, 1963--7

EFFICIENT FEEDING AND LIVESTOCK MANAGEMENT

By Dr. Gustav Bohstedt
Emeritus Professor of Animal Husbandry
University of Wisconsin

Modern Hog Rations Are Efficient

Rip Van Winkle, if he raised hogs at all, no doubt had them foraging for acorns and grubs in the woods. He probably would have fed them only limited grain and whatever kitchen offal was available. Wouldn't he rub his eyes if he ever saw our streamlined modern hogs and their rations that include antibiotics, trace mineralized salt, and other supplements that would surely baffle him.

A recent report from the Kentucky Experiment Station said that growing pigs benefited from aureomycin, making larger and more efficient gains than pigs fed without this antibiotic but otherwise getting identical rations. Other stations report that certain amino acids, or vitamins, or minerals, both major and trace minerals, improve even the modern rations that we very recently thought adequate.

The Wisconsin Experiment Station now combines many of the findings at its various Swine Testing Stations over the state and feeds the following rations in pelleted form. Obviously they cannot be prepared on most farmsteads:

Up to 125 lbs.
Gr. yellow corn	1490
Soybean meal	390
Meat scraps	60
Alfalfa meal	50
Dried skim milk	40
Fish solubles	35
Trace mineral salt	10
Dical. phosphate	10
Gr. limestone	10

From 125 pounds to market weight the protein is reduced to 12.0 percent, by reducing the soybean meal to 120 pounds and increasing the corn in the ton mixture of 1740 pounds. Omitted are the dried skim milk, fish solubles, and the three vitamins near the bottom of the list. Also the antibiotic (either aureomycin or terramycin) is reduced to 10 grams. Other minor changes are made in recognition of the fact that the older pigs do not need quite as large a proportion of calcium and zinc as do the younger pigs.

Looking at this list of tested ingredients makes one wonder whether our children are fed as scientifically as are the pigs under our care. How frequently teenagers stuff themselves with popcorn and frankfurter buns with pop as a chaser. This often leaves little room for an honest-to-goodness balanced meal of Mother's cooking.

Question: We have heard much talk about radio-active fallout material and strontium 90 in milk and wonder if we should curtail the use of milk, especially for babies and youngsters?

Answer: We are assured by atomic scientists that even though cows may eat considerable amounts of strontium 90 in their feed, their digestive and urinary systems greatly reduce the amount, and make milk one of the safest foods from that standpoint. All foods that we eat are well below our tolerance limit for fallout material.

USDA Studies Farm Accidents

Farm-accident fatalities are not declining in proportion to the decline in farm population, according to a report received by the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council from the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

One reason cited for the continuing high death rate in farm accidents is the increasing average age of people on farms. Another is that farms are somewhat isolated, with little opportunity for an injured person to obtain first aid immediately. Also, traffic on rural highways is less controlled than on urban streets.

Accidents resulting in non-fatal injuries occur to about a third of the farm population annually, the report said. About 19 percent of farm people are injured seriously enough in these accidents to lose time from their work, and about 3 percent are permanently disabled each year.

Traffic accidents account for many of the serious injuries of farm people away from the farm. Accidents on the farm are often associated with farm machinery and falls are the most common cause of accidents in farm homes.

The report stated that hospitalization and medical treatment are believed to account for less than a fourth of the total cost of farm accidents. As yet, little is known about the economic loss of wages or production, which probably accounts for a considerable part of the total costs.

The information developed by USDA's Economic Research Service, points out the Safety Council is aimed at stimulating more effective accident-prevention programs for farm people. The Council encourages farm people to make farm and home safety a part of community planning and program building.

"We can no longer take safety for granted because the ever-increasing use of machinery, electricity, chemicals and other labor saving devices and materials make training in safety a must for farm people," emphasizes the Council. "The safety record of agriculture can stand a lot of improving and it is up to those in the industry to do something about it," concludes the Council.

The Merchants and Manufacturers Association, Los Angeles says that in the past six years, Social Security taxes have risen by 78 per cent, not counting the increase which went into effect on January 1. When the plan was instituted, it was forecast that the maximum cost would be $90 a year for each employee and employer. Now, however, the figure is expected to reach $222 each by 1968.

systems, however, are equipped with the "throw-away" types and these should be replaced with a new filter. Allen emphasizes the importance of replacing the filter with size and type recommended by the manufacturer of the system.

Frequent checks of the filter on your heating system along with proper maintenance will eliminate many of the problems commonly experienced and result in a more satisfactory and efficient operating system, says Allen.

One of our neatest packaged and most nutritious food items — the egg — should be in ample supply during 1963 and at prices favorable to the consumer, says John McHaney, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

McHaney reports that the nation's laying flock changed little in numbers during the past 12 months, down only slightly, and that production could be a bit lower during the earlier months of 1963 compared with the same period in 1962. Egg production for the entire year, however, is expected to equal or exceed that for 1962 due mainly to left half of the year increases in hen numbers and higher output per layer.

The economist points out that per capita consumption of eggs has gradually declined for the past decade and was about 321 eggs per person during 1962. Despite lower egg prices in 1962, as compared with 1961, the decline continued and may possibly extend into 1963, McHaney says.

Eggs, therefore, will continue to be an economical food item buy for consumers since prices over the next year are expected to average close to those for 1962.

From the producers standpoint, McHaney believes that Texas producers can maintain their relative position with other states, but adds that they will have to use every known method of efficient production, marketing and distribution in order to operate a profitable business.

The trends toward larger flocks and fewer numbers of producers are expected to continue during the years ahead. Integration is likely to continue in some form and will exert an influence on supply and demand and Texas producers can expect to be continually confronted, by strong competition from other areas of production in the United States.

McHaney advises egg producers to remain alert to changes in production practices and to seek out reliable information on any program which might come into the picture.

because there may be fertility differences in these areas and thus differences in fertilizer needs.

If part of an area has been fertilized, limed, manured or cropped differently, it should be sampled differently, Bennett adds.

Your county agent can help you in your soil sampling and provide you with an information sheet for the job. Bennett advises seeing him soon and sending your sample to one of the three soil testing laboratories at Lubbock, Seymour or College Station.

The demand for turkeys is expected to again be good in 1963 but prospects for a crop second only to the record breaker in 1961 could drop prices later in the year, says Marshall Miller, extension poultry marketing specialist.

Despite the 1962 reduction of 15 percent under 1961 production, total supplies of turkeys last year were down only 6 percent due to the record carryover of frozen birds from the year earlier. On the favorable side of the supply picture, Miller says cold storage holdings at the beginning of 1963 were substantially below of a year ago. Per capita consumption of turkey meat is gaining more year-round acceptance by consumers and this has helped the demand situation, the specialist adds.

Miller says the first indication of a big jump in production for 1963 came in October when a 15-state report of growers' intentions was released. Too, increases in testing of breeder turkeys for pullorum became especially noticeable during August and September. But Miller points out that it is still a bit early to forecast definite trends due to the uncertainty of the number of breeder birds to be kept; movement of turkeys out of storage; length of the hatching season; early demand for poult and other seasonal influencing factors.

The specialist believes that prices for the first part of 1963 will average some higher than for the same months of 1962. However, the expected larger crop will cause prices to dip later in the year. Turkey meat, he points out, will continue to be a good meat buy for consumers.

As for the long-time outlook, he says the industry has undergone dynamic changes and these have created strong pressures toward increased production. They have also made output less responsive to price declines. With the advent of large and highly integrated production and marketing combines, with great financial resources, we can expect total turkey production to continue large. The trend towards fewer but larger specialized producers will continue, he says.

Dirty filters are cause of two common problems with forced air heating systems — loss of efficiency and unsatisfactory performance.

W. S. Allen extension agricultural engineer, says the first indication of a dirty filter may come when fuzz is noted over the house and the efficiency of the system declines. In some instances, the engineer points out, the loss in efficiency is accompanied by an increase in noise made by the heating system fan.

When the surface of the filter becomes heavily coated with fuzz and dust, the air flow is reduced and the efficiency of the system is curtailed, Allen explains. The filter, thus, is a very important part of the forced air heating and/or cooling system.

Allen suggests frequent checks of the filter to make sure it is performing its task. The frequency of replacing the filter will vary from household to household. Believe it or not, he says, a filter will become plugged and dirty shortly after the system in a new home is put into operation. This, he adds, is due to the amount of fine sawdust and "builder's dirt" which is present but unnoticed.

Some types of filters can be cleaned with a vacuum cleaner and washed to remove the fuzz and dust and then treated with a filter solution to extend its useful life. Most

A few weeks ago, CONGRESSMAN GEORGE MAHON visited with us in our office in Stanton. We were convinced that GEORGE MAHON was the "best informed man in the Texas delegation in Washington," and we wrote those very lines in the newspaper. Our faith in CONGRESSMAN MAHON'S integrity, ability, and good purposes of office, was justified in a statement the outstanding Texan issued in Washington this week after President KEENEY'S $51 billion budget for military spending dumped in his lap. You readers know that our Congressman is chairman of the all-important House appropriations subcommittee on defense which will deal with the largest part of the $98.9 billion budget the President asked for. CONGRESSMAN MAHON said this week: "We need to make up our minds whether we can and should live within our means. . . . I personally believe we should live within our means. . . . There is none of the 'go along to get along' with GEORGE MAHON. He is an American first — a party man secondly, and we are very proud of him and the vote we cast for him."

THE chief trouble with a lot of spending going on in government and in business these days is none of the people doing the spending ever met a payroll. There is a difference—a big difference. People who know what it takes to make a dollar are more conservative when it comes to spending one. If there is anything that makes us sick it is to see some silly bird trying to play bigshot by spending the boss' money to further his own personal ambitions. If we had our way no person would be on the spending end of money who had never met a payroll or operated his own business successfully. The same applies to employees in the world of commerce and business. I am so hard against this unlimited and unchecked desire of some people to spend the company's money—not their own, mind you—that I don't think I would consider putting one on the payroll. Sometimes we have observed these clouts using such bland and obscure excuses for spending by saying—it's a good cause—they need it—they are having a hard time, etc. They should be contemplating "going back to the Congo." The monkey's need the coconuts there and the natives are now demanding electric guitars to provide music for their capers. Anyday now a load of ransom money and goods could be heading for KATANGA—that is—if the striking longshoremen get off their socialistic cans long enough to load the boat.

AN old friend of this newspaper—JOSH WOOSLEY, Patricia, Texas resident and long-time subscriber, was in the office Thursday afternoon to renew his paper. MR. WOOSLEY was disturbed about how the mail is delivered to his house from Stanton. It has been arriving about five days late. We are writing GEORGE MAHON a letter about this postal delivery schedule and we hope the service can be improved. JOSH is an admirer of CONGRESSMAN MAHON and the last time that our friend GEORGE and his good wife campaigned in the Patricia community, the congressman asked JOSH if he could do anything for him. JOSH answered: "I have always found a good rain was more beneficial to me GEORGE, than anything I needed from Washington." But now—GEORGE your friends and supporters, JOSH and NEAL, need you to investigate the movement of the mail from Stanton to Patricia. With five-cent stamps, and all, there ain't no sense in five-day delivery to Patricia. That kind of postal service was alright in horse-and-buggy days—but not now—no, not now. We want to add that the delay IS NOT in our local postoffice. The delay is taking place after the mail leaves Stanton.

SHERMAN McKASKLE, one of my all-time Stanton favorite boys, son of HAZEL and EZELL, and now associated with RONNIE GILBREATH in the operation of ARRINGTON FUNERAL HOME, brought us a calendar this week. The calendar shows the map of the State of Texas, and it will occupy a prominent place in the editorial offices of the county publication. Thanks SHERMAN and RONNIE, and by-the-way, we had the pleasure of shaking the good right hand of JACK ARRINGTON in JAMES JONES HARDWARE one day last week and JACK is pleased in the knowledge that he has left the local Funeral Home in good hands.

WE have written it before and we'll write it again. JIM EILAND is one of our favorite people. JIM is a newspaper man's friend—he is intelligent enough to know that one country editor and one office secretary can't leave an unprotected office and telephone to "go out and interview every Tom, Dick and Harry" who has something he or she wants in the paper. EILAND brings in his stuff and it is good that he does. The organizations, clubs, and company that he represents are assured of getting the publicity they need and it helps the paper. So take a tip from the efficient manual of JIM EILAND—if it is worth reporting—show us the courtesy of bringing it by the office or telephoning it in—please don't ask us to send a reporter to your place of business or office for something you ought to do anyway—if you are on the ball.

WE urge all citizens to attend the annual CHAMBER OF COMMERCE banquet scheduled for Stanton on the evening of January 28. Guests will be in our city for the affair from neighboring cities and it behooves us all to turn out and turn on the progressive spirit of our county. Try and make a special effort to be in the audience.

BAD weather failed to dampen the success of the JUNIOR LIVESTOCK SHOW held in Stanton Friday and Saturday. The show is always an appreciated affair and we extend congratulations to those responsible for making the exhibition possible.

BUFFS OFF TO FLYING START IN 7-AA—

Stanton Defeats Crane

Using a superior firepower, the Stanton Buffaloes shot down the Crane Golden Cranes by a 60-56 score in the opening District 7-AA basketball game here Friday night.

After leading by as much as seven points in the early moments of the game, the Bisons had to come from behind five times to eke out the victory and take a giant step toward the league championship.

The lead changed hands eight times and was tied on 11 occasions. With 1:32 left to play, however, the Bisons broke a 53-53 tie on a pair of free throws by Bob Stephenson and the Buffs stayed ahead the rest of the way.

Bud Glaspie started the Stanton scoring with a one-hander from the corner, but Crane tied it up on a free throw by Billy Rhoads and another singleton by Kenneth Van Zandt.

Crane's Phil Thompson injured an ankle in a scramble under the Crane basket and had to leave the game.

Thompson hit for two from underneath but Stephenson tied it up with another driving layup. Van Zandt put the Cranes ahead again from 10 feet out, but Glaspie tied it at 44-44 with a jumping one hander.

Stanton then opened a four-point bulge with a deuce by Stephenson and a pair of free throws by Glaspie, but Crane bounded back with field goals by Van Zandt and Williams. A three-point play by Glaspie put Stanton in front again, but once more Crane retaliated on a singleton by Thompson and a goal by Kirkham.
