Mrs. J. A. Wilson telephoned us shortly after the last issue of the newspaper hit the mail boxes last week and said that the "mesquite is called the silent signal of Spring because the Spring season is not considered officially open until the mesquite greens up. She also told us that this was the sign the Indians went by. Mrs. Wilson said her late dad used to hunt buffalo in West Texas and that the Indians told him that the Winter season definitely would not end until the mesquite "flashed the signal."

Our neighbor, Arthur Meixner, another native of the area, telephoned to advise us to take the advice of people who knew that the "mesquite was the silent sentinel of Spring." He said, "Neal you know when I helped you prop up that tree in your back yard a couple of years ago that you didn't actually know a mesquite from a willow." As a matter-of-fact, Art is telling the truth. I did think, at first, that the tree, blown loose from its earthly moorings, was a willow. But when the thorns started coming out—I learned better fast—real fast.

The flowers are very colorful in the yard of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pries. The circular-shaped bed around the tree on the front lawn is brimfull of pretty blossoms. The Prieses always have a pretty yard and it is constantly well kept. Mr. E. can be seen part of almost any day out doing something in the yard. But he learned somewhere back down the line to refer to the flowers as his wife's. When we went over to look the display of nature's beauty over one day the past week, the retired businessman was careful, we noticed, to mention the flowers as being the results of his wife's planning. A smart man will always give his wife credit.

Boy-oh-boy — this summertime weather has really blasted a lot of wind out of our Springtime sails. It was so hot Sunday and Monday that sport shirts and thin garments were definitely in vogue. We noticed several bags of ice being sold Sunday and Monday too. It's that time of year again when a cold glass of iced tea tastes real good.

We dropped by Woody's Barber Shop awhile Saturday. Jess was pretty busy — very busy — but he wasn't so busy he didn't have the time to make the purchase of a car for young Woodrow Taylor. The energetic youth has been with Jess for a long time and he is a real, first-rate helper. The popular red-head does everything in the shop from shining shoes to worshipping his boss. He is a real nice young lad. Jess was as proud of the car as his youthful protegee. By-the-way, they call Woodrow — what else — Woody, for short.

K. R. Meek, the Washingtonian now taking our newspaper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Meek, this city. He is on the staff of U. S. Rep. Henry Gonzales of San Antonio, and we wish to commend Congressman Gonzales for his good judgment in placing our Martin County subscriber on his office staff. Rep. Gonzales is doing a good job in Washington for his constituents.

We deeply sympathize with members of the families of the late Jim Fryar and N. G. Haggard in their sorrow. Mr. Fryar was claimed by death in a car accident week before last and the past Sunday Mr. Haggard

Local Women Attend State Music Club Meet In Dallas

Mrs. Glenn L. Brown

Mrs. Glenn Brown and Mrs. Arthur Wilson were in Dallas last week to attend the State Music Clubs convention held at the Adolphus Hotel. Both Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Wilson participated in many of the program events and Mrs. Brown was tapped as a "Lifer" at the breakfast held at the Adolphus.

Annual District 2A-1 Lions Convention Set For Midland

The annual convention of District 2A1, Lions International, will be held in Midland May 4-5, with headquarters in Hotel Scharbauer.

Midland's Westside Lions Club is the host organization, assisted by the other six clubs of this Headquarters City of the Permian Basin Empire.

Yater Reports Enrollment Now Normal

J. M. Yater, principal of Stanton Elementary School, reports the attendance is beginning to increase in the school system for the first time in many weeks. He stated the students who have been absent with the flu and the childhood diseases are coming back to school and looks as if the illness has run its course.

Awards were presented, life members elected and artists presented Thursday at the Texas Federation of Music Clubs convention at Hotel Adolphus in Dallas.

Mrs. Carl Edward Bock of Austin-state president, and Lanham Deal, head of Southwestern Artist Service, were luncheon speakers. Among the guests was Mrs. C. Arthur Bullock of Canton, Pa., president of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Beckville Music Club, Beckville, Mrs. Frank Jordan, president, received the first place award for its achievement record. Second place went to the Stamford Music Club, Mrs. John West, president.

Life members elected at the "Lifers" breakfast were Mrs. S. E. Cone, Lubbock; Mrs. Glenn L. Brown, Stanton; J. S. Palmer, Baytown; Carl Edward Bock, Austin; Arthur W. Howard, Lubbock; W. D. Humphrey, Palestine; Miss Janette C. Altgelt of New Braunfels and Robert Brownlee of Houston. Mr. Brownlee, a pianist, and a national contest winner, was presented in the Thursday night concert.

53 Citizens Vote In City Election

Cities Service Will Attempt To Final Test In Strawn Production

Cities Service Oil Company will attempt to complete a Strawn discovery at No. 1-N Nail, South Martin County wildcat, 13 miles west of Stanton, and seven miles northeast of Midland.

The prospector drilled to total depth of 12,290 feet in the Fusselman. That horizon carried only sulphur water.

that point. It will test the Strawn through perforations.

The section at 10,965-618 feet developed a gas flow of 311,000 cubic feet daily and recovered 1,395 feet of 41-gravity oil, and 945 feet of oil and gas-cut mud during a 3½-hour drillstem test.

The interval at 10,618-663 feet recovered 90 feet of slightly gas-cut drilling mud in a two-hour test.

The prospect is 2½ miles south of the Fran-Glass (Pennsylvanian) pool and 1,990 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 3, block 38, T-1-S, T&P survey.

Chambers & Kernely of Midland will drill No. 1 Wade as a 12,300-foot Devonian wildcat in Northwest Martin County, four miles south of Patricia, 1¼ miles southwest of the Breedlove (Spraberry and Devonian) field and two miles east of Devonian production in the multipay Breedlove area.

Miss Yater is a 17 year old senior in Stanton High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Yater. She is very active in school, church, and civic organizations.

The Volunteer And Cancer

During April one of the more than 2,000,000 American Cancer Society volunteers will call on you. The volunteer will ask for contributions for the Society's cancer research, education and service program. Also, you will be urged to have a health checkup, if you have not already had one this year, as your best protection against death from cancer.

The American Cancer Society has appropriately designated 1963 as "The Year of the Volunteer." Actually, every year is "The Year of the Volunteer." However, we are happy to see this special earned honor paid to them.

A desire to help others motivates the volunteer. It is an unselfish desire rewarded only in the knowledge of a job — needing to be done—being done well; of helping people in distress; of seeing the inroads of disease being narrowed, and of sighting stunning victories ahead.

Volunteers have already won stunning victories over disease. There would have been no Salk vaccine against polio without their hard work and enterprise. It is inconceivable that without their efforts, we would be saving one out of three cancer patients today, instead of the less than one out of five of 25 years ago. Or that we would be saving at least 50 per cent of all uterine cancer patients, which was, 25 years ago, the leading cause of death from cancer among women.

The volunteer is on the threshold of another stunning victory—saving at least half of those who develop cancer instead of the one third now being saved. This year, volunteers are redoubling their efforts to persuade all people to have a health checkup once a year. They have set their sights—to get people to act in their own interest. With your help, the volunteers will win, and another 88,000 lives will be saved each year.

By vigor and dedication, the volunteer has contributed immeasurably to the lives of all people. They are a great and human national asset. The country benefits daily from their dedication and purpose. Our national life needs them.

We salute the volunteer. He deserves our greater consideration. When Cancer Crusade volunteers call during April open your doors and your hearts and your minds to them.

Pocketbook Vote

News reports from Austin as well as Washington indicate that certain groups of voters, with special interests at heart that will benefit the group, want more and more state services and benefits provided for them.

This means more and more spending, of course — but these special groups raise a screeching howl when new taxes are mentioned. They don't want to pay the extra taxes needed to meet the bills, and they let the legislators know it in no uncertain terms.

This is what is known as the "pocketbook vote" groups which calls constantly for better schools, bigger state universities, more state colleges, more benefits for this and that—but tuck tail and run complaining when tax money is needed to pay the bills.

The United States gained sovereignty by the Hay-Bunau-Varilla Treaty of November 18, 1903.

MATADOR TRIBUNE: "Automobile, pickup, and truck registration is for short of what it was a year ago, according to figures from the office of Sheriff, Tax Assessor and Collector Jinks Wilson."

THE FORT STOCKTON PIONEER: "Deposits of two Fort Stockton banks have increased a whopping 15 per cent in the last year to a total of $11,464,624 on March 18, date of a surprise call for statement of condition by national and state bank authorities. Combined deposits last March were $9,736,265, and December 31, 1962, were $11,367,204."

THE WINK BULLETIN: "The third type of Sabin anti-polio oral vaccine will be administered in Wink, Kermit, and Mentone on Sunday, March 31, according to Frank R. Barton, chairman of the local anti-polio campaign."

Questions And Answers

Q—As an enlisted man in the reserves I was recalled to active duty and I have been told my former job will not be waiting for me. What should I do?

A—If you are refused reemployment and you apply for it within 31 days after release from service, you should report immediately to the nearest state employment office or, if you were working for the Federal government, to the nearest office of the Civil Service Commission.

Game Officers Get Careful Training

Today's game and fish law enforcement officer is a versatile man, whose duties include many activities beside writing citations, according to J. B. Phillips, law enforcement coordinator for the Game and Fish Commission. "To perform his myriad conservation duties, the officer must be well trained in facts and methods," said Phillips. "The first step in selecting a trainee for the enforcement function is taken by each prospective officer," he continued. "An application form, which may be obtained from the office of the Personnel Director in Austin, must be completed and returned to the personnel office. A photograph must be attached to the application."

The commission is now accepting requests for applications, at its Austin office. Applications should be filled out and turned in by May 1. Following this, exams will be given in various cities across the state. A list of the dates and locations where exams will be given will be provided at a later date, according to the law enforcement coordinator.

Bible Comment—

Tolerance Is A Vital Part Of Christianity

If one reads the earlier history of many churches, the impression spreads that there were individuals whose religion consisted chiefly in the delight that they took in disciplining others. In general it may be said that the church has been far readier to adopt Paul's suggestions about discipline than it has been to put into practice Paul's much more important teaching concerning love as the greatest thing in the world.

A good cause is never well served by intolerant attitudes. There is such a thing as being intemperate, even in our advocacy of temperance. At a temperance convention was headed by the loud and raucous voice of a rather intolerant man who was haranguing the crowd. My friend, a total abstainer and strongly opposed to the liquor traffic, said to me, "I never heard that man advocate temperance with feeling like going out and having a drink."

Philosopher Doubts Medicine Is Ready To Perfect O Coin-Operated Diagnosis Machine

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw takes a look at automation in his letter this week. It's hard to tell what he sees.)

Dear editor: I figured it was bound to happen sooner or later.

Any time you can wipe out whole cities just by pushing a firing button, explore outer space with a radio transmitter sending back messages from 10 million miles out, calculate vast and complicated mathematical problems in 2 seconds with an electronic brain, or have your coat dry-cleaned by an automatic machine you just drop in, it's just a matter of time till automation hits the medical profession.

And sure enough, last night I read an article predicting that before very long medicine is going to have an electronic machine that'll produce an instant diagnosis. You just step inside, it'll x-ray you, take a blood sample, register your temperature,

Speed Bill Okayed 70 MPH Highway

Rep. Forrest Harding's bill to allow 70 mile per hour speeds on uncongested Texas highways and to prohibit speeds of over 90 in business and residential areas of cities passed the Senate Thursday.

The bill by the San Angelo representative also contains more definite rules for speed law enforcement and for passing on admissibility of evidence.

It empowers the State Highway Commission to alter maximum prima-facie speed limits upon the basis of engineering studies when it is found that designated speeds are greater or less than reasonable and safe.

Texans Seek Two-Year Bracero Extension Act

Commercial growers of vegetables and cotton urged Congress Thursday to extend the Mexican farm labor program for at least two more years. Spokesmen for various grower associations told a House Agriculture subcommittee domestic farm workers still are not available in sufficient numbers for the seasonal work of planting and harvesting crops.

Charles M. Creuziger of Sturtevant, Wis., president of the Vegetable Growers Association of America, said that without the imported Mexican labor many vegetable growers, particularly in California, Arizona and Texas, would be forced to curtail production drastically or go out of business.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz recommended Wednesday a one-year extension of the program through 1964. He urged tighter restrictions to assure maximum use of domestic workers.

The grower representatives supported a bill by Rep. C. E. Gathings, D-Ark., to extend the program for two years and ease some of the present controls.

Stewart Bossell, spokesman for the National Cotton Council, objected to the fixing of minimum hourly wages for piece work by Mexicans.

J. B. Kirklind, of Pecos, president of the Trans-Pecos Cotton Association said the guaranteed wage is not fair to employers. C. B. Ray of El Paso, chairman of the National Farm Labor Users Committee, said Mexicans have helped American agriculture produce a plentiful food supply and the program has been a tremendous benefit to the Mexican workers in income and training.

Reps. Ed Foreman, R-Texas, and George Mahon, D-Texas, urged a two-year extension of the program. Foreman said U. S. citizens will not perform agricultural stoop labor as long as unemployment compensation rates are high. Too many, he said, would rather be "gainfully unemployed."

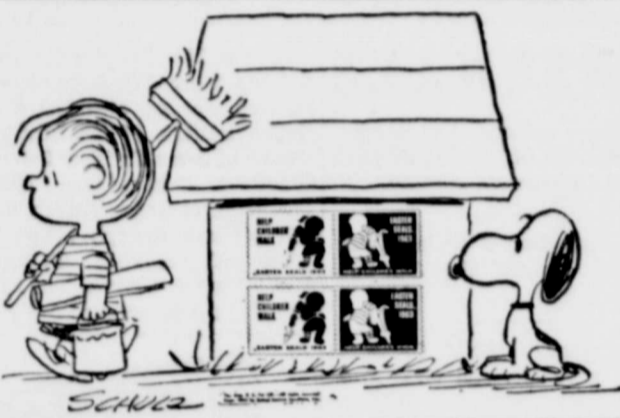

Mahon said the one-year extension recommended by the administration makes no sense because Mexican workers may not be imported unless they are certified to be needed.

The morning after Charles Lindbergh flew the Atlantic nonstop from New York to Paris, an associate of Charles Kettering rushed into the research expert's laboratory in Dayton, Ohio, shouting: "He made it! Lindbergh landed safely in Paris!"

"He did it all by himself!" Kettering looked up from his work momentarily and remarked quietly: "When he flies it with a committee, let me know."

It's Spring - - -

Spring comes this April to add beauty to Easter with its church services, the Easter Parade, and of course, the Easter Bunny. Easter reaches a high point with the breaking of the Lenten fast, and for the Jewish people comes the sumptuous feast of the Passover. Good Friday, April 12, is the Friday of Holy Week observed as the anniversary of the crucifixion of Christ. Easter commemorating Christ's resurrection, comes this year on April 14. Holy Week, beginning on April 8 will be observed by special church services in many Christian lands.

died of injuries suffered in a one-car accident. The men maintained homes adjacent to each other in Stanton. The community has lost two good citizens.

Granville Graves was by the office Tuesday morning to advise us of the illness of his mother, Mrs. Walter Graves, known to many friends as Pauline, is a patient in the Big Spring Hospital. She will remain there for a few more days. We send our newspaper ally best wishes for a quick recovery. In the meantime, Pauline, we will follow through on the instructions conveyed to us by Granville.

Congratulations to Mary Prudie Brown upon her selection as a "Lifer" in the Texas Music Clubs Federation. The honor was bestowed on Mary at a convention held in Dallas last week. Glenn and the children are very proud of their pretty wife and mother. And the entire county appreciates the dedicated service the Browns have given to their county in all avenues of community betterment.

Mrs. Leo Turner has named Mrs. L. B. Nelson to head the annual April Cancer Fund Drive in Martin County. Norma has named her committees and Jendo will also assist the campaign in every way possible. The girls were up in Dallas last week to attend a state meeting concerning the fight against cancer. Their picture appears with Ralph Edwards, the Hollywood star, in this issue of the paper.

We talked with Dwain and Quida Henson awhile Monday afternoon and they brought us up-to-date on the activities of their attractive children and also told us that Mrs. Roy Polk, mother of Mrs. Henson, was out of the hospital in Big Spring and home. Mr. and Mrs. Polk lived in Stanton for a number of years. We are happy to inform friends of the Polk-Henson families that Mrs. Polk is well on the road to recovery.

Bruce Fraizer, one of our valued subscribers is opening a fine 200-bed nursing home in Big Spring soon. It will be called the Bennet House, named for an early day Howard County medical doctor. Rates are going to be reasonable too — they will start at $155 per month for our senior citizens. Isn't that fine, — a nice home with all the latest conveniences, air-conditioning and all, right next door to our county. Fraizer said that the facility represented the first fruits of an intensive study conducted at a cost of several thousand dollars. Bruce said that the target date for completion of the first unit is August 1.

Shine Phillips, beloved Big Spring, will be the first patient. And Bruce we know where you are going to get two more early patients. Friends of ours have contacted us for assistance in lining up a nice home for two of the best people on earth in their golden years.

We are happy to have these old friends and some new readers with us for another year: Edmund Tom, Stanton; O. F. Eisenbraun, Lancaster, California; K. R. Meek, Washington 25, D. C.; Mrs. John Morgan, Midland; Tommy Hursb, Lenorah; Joe E. Davis, Bethany, Oklahoma; Mrs. Bill King, Rt. 1, Stanton; T. A. Thigpen, Big Spring.

Cotton Gins Brace Stanton's Economy

Cotton ginning is a long-established industry at Stanton, the county seat of Martin County and a city rapidly acquiring new municipal improvements.

The oldest of the three gins is Farmer's Gin and Cotton Company, a stockholders corporation founded in 1926. Specializing in long-staple Acala cotton, the company ginned a record 7,400 bales in 1962.

With a predominate grade of middling and middling light spot, 80 per cent of the Acala was sold for as much as one cent a pound more than the government loan price, said Bernard Houston, manager. He estimated 86 per cent of the cotton handled was machine harvested.

Year-Round Job

Work will continue at the gin during the cotton planting and growing season. All equipment, from the 24-shelf dryer to the large gasoline engine which can generate 400 horsepower in turning five gin stands to separate cottonseed and lint, will be reconditioned. New ribs and saws will be placed in the gin stands, 11 electric motors cleaned, bearings, belts and pulleys checked, and other repairs made.

Much of the work will be done by the four ginners and gin superintendent, who collectively represent 160 years of experience in the business. During the ginning season, Farmer's uses two ginners on each shift and groups cotton to assure each producer of his true and correct sample, Houston commented.

Other gins located at Stanton are Farmer's Co-Op Society No. 1 and Guitars Gin. The 13 gins in Martin County posted about 45,000 bales last year.

Having 225,000 acres in cultivation, Martin County primarily is an agricultural area whose long-range prospects have been improved by increasing use of irrigation, machinery and chemicals.

Specialized Machinery

Fumigation for control of nematodes and the possible introduction this year of a post-emergence weed killer to eliminate hand hoeing pace the chemical field. Besides cotton strippers and pickers, a machine called a rood is salvaging cotton which in previous years farmer plowed under, because the cost of picking it up off the ground was too high.

A commercial livestock feeding operation recently began at the Brown community 25 miles northeast of Stanton. Managed by David Hill, Coyanosa Feed Yards has a capacity of 1,200 head, and feed milling and handling equipment adequate for 3,500 head of livestock.

Oil, discovered in Martin County in 1945, also is brightening the economic outlook. Crude production for the fiscal year ended August 31, 1960, totaled 1,289,555 barrels.

Stanton, with a population of approximately 3,000 persons, is accelerating a 152-unit street paving program, which when completed will have cost property owners $375,250 and the city $79,201. Building permits, mostly for new homes, hit $503,000 in 1962.

Thirty low-rent housing units were completed this year by the Public Housing Authority, and progress continues on the 124-acre Central Urban Renewal Project for which the federal government has authorized a grant of $478,543.

New Library

This month, the Martin County Public Library moved out of the City Jail Building and into a new home provided mainly through public donations. The city gave the site and the county contributed $1,000 to the project. Burk Construction Company of San Angelo erected the building at a cost of $12,713.

Social Security Officer Visits Listed For Area

Ervin Fisher, manager of the Big Spring District Social Security office, has posted a schedule of the dates his office representatives are to be in the several towns served by the local agency.

The new schedule is effective April 1 through June 30.

A representative of the office will be in Colorado City at the chamber of commerce office each Tuesday from 10 a.m. to noon. The dates are April 2, 9, 16, 23; May 7 and 21; June 4 and 18.

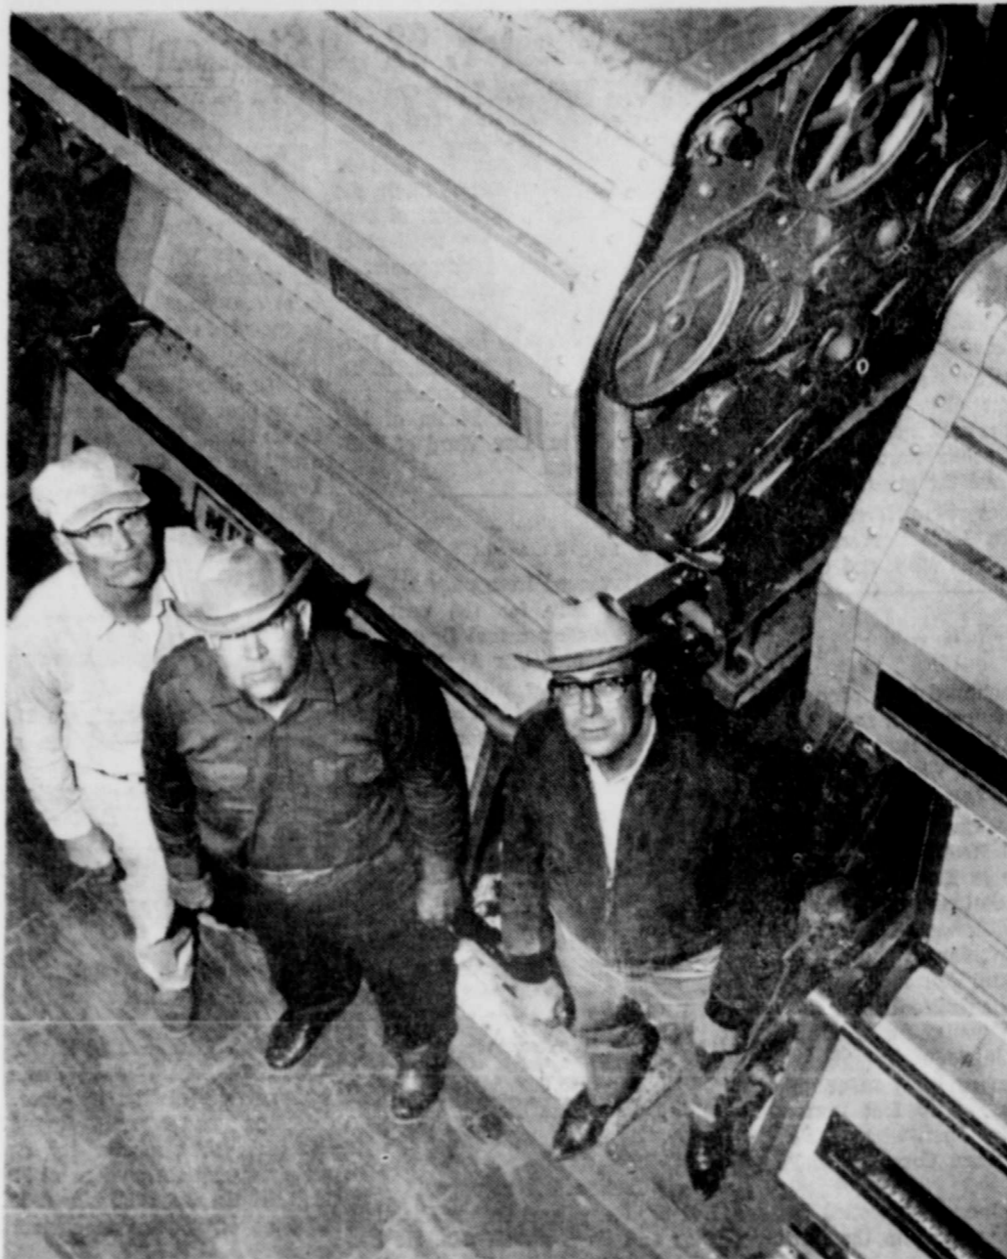

All officials will be in Lamesa Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to noon on April 3, 10, 17, 24; May 1, 8, 15, 22, 29 and June 4, 12, 19 and 26. The place is the post office basement.

The dates for Snyder are Thursday, 10 a.m. to noon, April 4, 11, 18, 25, May 2, 9, 16, 23 and June 6, 13, 20 and 27. The place is second floor of the courthouse.

Stanton dates are Monday 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. April 29, May 27 and June 24.

In Lorraine, a representative of the office will be on hand when special appointment is made for such interviews. These special sessions are in the Lions Club building.

Indeed Strange

The Supreme Court ruled this week that Communist-hunting legislators cannot dig freely into the affairs of groups not clearly linked with "subversive or other illegal or improper activities."

As with so many of the high court's rulings in matters involving enemy Communists, this decision is difficult to understand. One justice, who dissented from the 5-4 split decision, said the ruling will help Reds subvert legitimate organizations.

The ruling was the work of Justice Arthur J. Goldberg who declared for the majority, Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justices Hugo Black, William J. Brennan Jr. and William O. Douglas.

The four who opposed the ruling were Justices Tom C. Clark, John M. Harlan, Potter Stewart and Byron R. White. White joined in a sharply-worded dissent written by Harlan, and wrote an even stronger one of his own in which he said:

"The net effect of the court's decision is, of course, to insulate from effective legislation the time-proved skills of the Communist party in subverting and eventually controlling legitimate organizations."

Justice Harlan noted that there have been various congressional inquiries in the field of Communist infiltration, and added in his dissent: "It is indeed strange to find the strength of state interest now impugned."

It is indeed strange.

Service on dates other than those slated can be served by coming to the office at 700 Rummels. The phone in Big Spring is AM 4-5226. He also called attention that the office will not have a representative in Snyder Thursday, May 30 due to the date being Memorial Day.

They, according to a treaty made a few years ago, were to pay for industries so nationalized. Now they refuse to do so. 'We won't be dictated to,' they tell us."

Port Huron, Mich., Times Herald: "Those who oppose medicare under Social Security are not callous to the real needs of many of our elderly for health care. They simply believe that the Administration approach is a case of attempting brain surgery with an axe instead of a scalpel."

Carlsbad, N. M., Current-Argus: "... Communist China ... has ordered accountants and bookkeepers to spy on their bosses and report any dereliction at once. An official story of the order declares that it was issued 'to ensure supplies and prevent waste and corruption' ... The decree has been long delayed, not because all was well, but because the leadership was reluctant to make any public admission of such bourgeois faults as graft and inefficiency. Now the cat is out of the bag. And a little more stuffing is kicked out of the myth of Communist efficiency and incorruptibility."

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT
Jack Buchanan, Bob Cox, Bernard J. D. Crawford.

More than a million acres in north-west Texas are presently susceptible to severe wind erosion, according to reports just received by H. N. Smith, State Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service. This is mostly cropland on which there are insufficient residues to protect the surface from wind blasting.

The areas most susceptible are the sandy soils of the southern High Plains south and west of Lubbock, and the sandy soils in the eastern Panhandle around Wellington and Wheeler. There are about one-half million acres in the south High Plains that are presently unprotected.

Although the wind season has not fully started, there have already been 39 windstorms reported in the southern High Plains that have been of sufficient velocity to move soil and about 62,000 acres of cropland have already been damaged, according to reports from the SCS field offices.

The windy season, when damaging winds are most frequent, is just starting, according to Smith. March and April are the months when the greatest amount of wind damage usually occurs. The extent of the damage this year will depend largely on how severe the winds and how much moisture is received so that the farmers can list or otherwise treat their land as an emergency measure to control erosion.

State Conservationist Smith warned that the present conditions have the potential for a severe dust season. Twelve soil conservation districts out of 51 reporting are very dry, the soil moisture inadequate to plant crops. Thirty-four have only fair moisture conditions and unless additional moisture is received, will be in poor shape to resist erosion even with emergency treatment. Only seven counties report good moisture conditions.

Wind erosion is always a potential problem in the northwest part of the State and when coupled with drought, conditions can get serious in a short time. The only means of controlling wind erosion is to use cropping systems that maintain considerable amounts of residue on the surface for protection, and to keep soils subject to severe wind erosion under permanent grass cover.

Soil conservation districts have been providing assistance for preparing plans that will control wind erosion. Research data and farmer experience have shown that residues left after grain sorghum harvest will provide adequate protection if they are left on the surface through the blow season. A conservation plan includes crops that resist wind erosion and provides for the management of the residues to protect the soil.

Women who cook electrically know...

Electric cooking is FAST because it's flameless

Today's electric ranges start heating instantly, reach cooking heat in seconds. Flameless electric surface units put heat directly into the pans, not into the room, so practically all the heat goes into the food being cooked. That is why electric cooking is fast.

The flameless electric oven reaches baking or roasting temperature quickly. Since it is insulated all around, including the bottom, heat stays inside where it belongs. And because electric heat is instant, the broiler requires no preheating. This means your meals can be cooked in a minimum of time.

Electric cooking also is clean, cool, accurate and economical. Select your flameless electric range at your dealer's now and enjoy all these benefits. Electric cooking is one of the nicest things about living better... electrically!

Convicted Slayer Wins Death Delay, New Trial

John Edwin Myers, confessed and convicted killer and presently awaiting the outcome of his appeal to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals in the Howard County jail at Big Spring, won a new trial and a delay in the carrying out of the death penalty last week.

In March, 1962, Myers was found guilty of murder in a trial at Rusk, Texas and doomed to die.

Wednesday, the Texas Criminal Court of Appeals reversed his case and ordered a new trial.

When advised of the action of the court, Myers said: "Boy, that's good news — real good news. I got me another chance to beat that chair. That's the best news I could hear."

Dist. Atty. Gil Jones, who prosecuted Myers for the September 1, 1961, slaying of Arthur DeKraai, was informed of the court action by telephone early Wednesday. "I'm sorry the court has reversed the case but I am not too much surprised. I will try Myers again. Where or when I don't know, but we'll try him," he said. "I hope we can get the case back in West Texas. After all, I feel that when a fellow comes into Howard County it's our duty to deal with him. We shouldn't have to send our dirty linen to our neighbors for washing."

Jones added he would have to consult with Judge James Moore of the 145th District Court in Rusk and find out what the judge has in mind. Judge Moore presided at the trial of Myers in Rusk after the case was transferred from Howard County on a change of venue.

Myers was asked if he had had any recent word from his attorneys. "I got a letter two weeks ago from them, but it didn't say anything, really," he said. "They just said for me not to worry. I tried not to worry, but it's hard to get a thing like that (death in the electric chair) out of your mind. I made myself shove it aside as much as I could. If a fella don't do that and just sits and thinks about it, it'll drive him crazy. I can sleep better. I don't know what'll happen now, but I got another chance."

Myers and his teen-age girl friend, Donna Marie Stone, are charged with slaying DeKraai, a penniless Iowa hitchhiker, to rob him of money they thought he had. The shooting occurred a short distance west of Big Spring on Interstate 20 as the trio rode in a car driven by Myers.

After the slaying, Myers and the girl dumped the body on a lonely road and drove on to Midland. They were arrested there by an officer who recognized the car as being one reported stolen.

The car had been the property of Margaret Wernicker of East St. Louis, Mo. Myers and Donna Marie said they kidnaped the Wernicker woman, forced her to go with them and at a point near Thayer, Mo., shot her to death.

Miss Wernicker was the third victim of the pair. They told of two days earlier shooting George Ballard, 45, and his 11-year-old daughter, Carol, on the shores of a small lake near Bellville, Ill.

Donna Marie, then 14, has been returned to Illinois, where she entered a plea of guilty to her part in the Ballard slaying. She is now in custody of the Illinois Juvenile Authority and will be detained until she has reached 21. At that time, her future will be decided.

Myers' court-appointed attorneys, Orvan B. Jones and Richard Stone, both of Rusk, had sought a new trial before Judge Moore, charging jury misconduct. This was overruled by Moore and the appeal was taken to the Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin.

The contention was that the jury had discussed matters that were not evidence in the case. D. A. Jones said that he had not seen the transcript but that undoubtedly was the reason the high court reversed the case.

"What did you do when you were working of a living in Chicago," Myers was asked.

He grinned merrily: "They said in the paper when I was arrested I had been a dishwasher," he replied. "I sort of took that for an insult—I never was no dishwasher, I was a cook—cafe cook."

Myers displayed several charcoal sketches he had made in jail. "It helped me kill time," he said.

Wynne, Ark. Progress: "The people who still believe American taxpayers' billions can buy us friends would do well to consider the example of God — He gives us everything, even life itself, but even He is not universally loved and respected."

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

Texas' Padre Island National Seashore project is getting closer and closer to reality.

Already approved by Congress, it now is waiting for financing by the U. S. and approval by the State of Texas. Project could become a vast tourist attraction for Texas.

Final version of the bill giving the state's submerged lands in Laguna Madre and the state's approval of the project was worked out in conference committee. It won Senate approval. House endorsement virtually assured.

This will convert the northern 81 miles of Padre Island into a natural reservation of seashore, to be kept unspoiled for the enjoyment of future generations.

LOANS — One phase of the battle over interest rates has ended. But more rounds likely are to come.

Senate spent two tough days in debate before passing a bill which allows those who lend $1,500 or less to charge more than 10 per cent interest. It does not apply to banks, savings and loan institutions, credit unions and many types of cooperative lending organizations. But it does apply to all finance companies.

Sponsors of the bill wanted to allow more than 10 per cent interest on loans up to $3,000. But the Senate cut it down to $1,500. Rates as high as 46 1/2 per cent were permitted on loans as small as $5, under a fixed fee basis of calculating charges on loans under $100.

Further revision in the House, and probably thereafter in conference committee, is expected.

NETS — While one state agency was burning fishing nets, another was advertising for bids to buy some net. So the law change sailed through the Legislature to put a stop to that.

Old law says that when Game and Fish Commission men find an illegal net, they confiscate it, advertise for the owner, and when he does not appear to claim it, they burn it.

New law will say that when they get to the burning stage, they can give it to the Marine Research agencies of the University of Texas or Texas A&M.

BILLS KILLED — Legislators appear to have killed some hot proposals.

One is the effort to abolish the state tax on property. Senate voted 23-4 to kill a proposed constitutional amendment to do away with the smallest part of that tax—that which furnishes cash for state office buildings and pensions for old Texas Rangers and Confederate widows.

House killed a bill by Rep. Howard Green of Fort Worth to prevent city councils from saying that employees of their cities must live in the cities.

Also, House killed a proposal by Rep. "Bud" Berry of San Antonio to allow 18-year-olds to vote. It got a bare majority — 72-71 — but as a constitutional amendment, it needed a two-thirds majority. Berry abandoned his proposal to allow betting on horse races in Bexar County.

Another bill to regulate companies which sell funerals in advance on the easy payment or "lay-away" plan was killed on a point of order.

FASTER SPEEDS — The long talked-about proposal to allow 70 miles an hour speeds on open highways went to Gov. John Connally for signature. Rep. Forrest Harding of San Angelo was the sponsor.

Proposal sets top speed at 70, but gives State Highway Department the power to reduce that speed limit where it is not safe.

LICENSE FEES — House passed a bill to exempt anhydrous ammonia tanks from the license plate fee if they weigh less than 4,000 pounds and are on wheels. If weight is between 4,000 and 10,000 pounds, license fee will be $5.

Cotton seed trailers were given the same treatment, extending to them the exemption which already applies to stock trailers.

Senate action now is required.

HOME-TOWN TREATMENT — A program aimed to save money and do a better job on treating mental illness went to Governor Connally for signature.

Rep. Malcolm McGregor of El Paso and Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth sponsored the plan. It allows the Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools to contract with local city or county hospital to treat mentally ill or tuberculars in their home counties.

Authorization of such a program on a statewide basis followed a test at El Paso which proved highly successful from both medical and financial standpoints.

STUDY ORDERED — A group of 25 Texans to be named by Governor Connally will take a long look at the state's system of education beyond the high school. Bill to allow him to allow him to appoint such a group went to his desk.

Group will report back to the next Legislature in 1965.

LAND FUSS — A dispute over ownership of 1,812 acres of land in Laguna Madre in Cameron County has resulted in a House resolution by Rep. Eligio (Kika) de la Garza of McAllen.

Resolution now is in a House State Affairs subcommittee. It would allow J. W. Luttes and Shell Oil Company to sue the state and establish title to the Laguna Madre tract.

WATER FOR ALICE — The city of Alice in Jim Wells County proposes to solve its water problem by creating a reservoir to capture water from Chiltipin Creek and by drawing on Lake Corpus Christi for an additional supply.

Project was approved by the Texas Water Commission.

Alice has been depending on wells, but C. R. Marks, engineer for the project, said the wells are no longer sufficient. However, they will be continued in use after the Chiltipin-Lake Corpus Christi program is completed.

SLICK OPERATORS IN LIQUOR — An illicit liquor scheme, being worked along the Texas border in such a way as to escape taxes, is the target of Rep. John E. Blaine of El Paso.

He says his bill — or the committee substitute for it — would mean thousands of additional dollars to state and federal governments.

Bill, which is in a House Liquor Regulation subcommittee, would authorize Liquor Control Board to require a bonded liquor exporter, with a state license fee of $750 per year, and eliminate a "bootlegging" operation along the border, Blaine said.

Operation, which is devious and complex, would be hampered by requiring the Texas-Mexican liquor traffic to move by common carrier.

CANDY BARR — Governor Connally approved recommendation of the Board of Pardons and Paroles to parole Juanita Dale Phillips, known as Candy Barr, who has been serving a prison sentence for narcotics violation.

SHORT, SHORT SNORTS

Governor Connally urged Congress to reject the changes in oil and gas tax laws proposed by President Kennedy. . . . Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said he will send an assistant to help in the Jim Wells County grand jury investigation of last November's general election. . . . Hardin, Jasper, Stone and Tyler Counties are among those for whom hospital district laws are being passed under a new constitutional authority. If legislators authorize them, voters in the counties can tax themselves to set up and operate hospitals. . . . Rep. Charles Wilson of Trinity wants to outlaw professional boxing in Texas, as an aftermath of deaths of fighters. . . . A Senate committee killed a bill which would have prohibited the state or local units of government from discriminating against anyone because of sex, race, creed, color or national origin. Vote was 12-4. . . . Flying while intoxicated will be against the law if Governor Connally signs a bill to that effect by Rep. Stanford Smith of San Antonio. . . . Texans who run crop-dusting services want a state licensing agency, but there is legislative resistance to setting up any new state agencies. Trend this year is to abolish them, not create them. . . . Higher retirement benefits for teachers will be possible under a bill by Rep. George Hinson of Mineola awaiting the Governor's signature. Rep. Alonzo Jamison of Denton, one of the original sponsors of the bill, voted against it on final passage because he felt it had lost its original purpose — improvement of benefits for those who retired when teacher salaries were low.

Carolyn Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Stone, has been put on the "Dean's List" for the fall semester. Carolyn is a student at SMU at Dallas.

Lift Systems Course Slated

The 10th annual West Texas Oil Lifting Short Courses is scheduled for April 18-19 at Texas Tech in Lubbock. The program is sponsored by the petroleum industry of West Texas in conjunction with the department of petroleum engineering at Tech.

Registration begins at 8 a.m. April 18 in the Student Union Building. C. L. Kay, vice president of public services at Lubbock Christian College, will speak at a luncheon in the Union ballroom. The rest of the meetings will be held in classrooms of the east and west engineering buildings.

Subjects for study will include operation and control of water injection projects, reservoir operations, gas production, corrosion scale and paraffin control and others.

Mrs. Henry Ringhoffer is now home from San Angelo, where she has been a patient in the Shannon Hospital.

The Launching Pad

By NEAL ESTES

SUNDAY afternoon was beautiful in Stanton. We climbed in our Thunderbird and just drove around town. While bird-dogging, we also observed some nice improvements in the residential section of our city. If you haven't driven by the newly completed Urban Renewal government sponsored projects be sure and make a point to see them. You will be amazed at the dwelling apartments. No homes in Stanton can top them. And the grounds are wide, spacious and some trees and rose bushes and other flowering shrubs have been decked here and there about the landscape. There's room enough to play touch football—and if you are old to play touch football, you can sit in a rocking chair and watch those who do play. You can see the country moving forward—and down Highway 80—in cars. And occasionally some guy or gal goes up the highway by foot power—not because they are participating in the 50-mile hiking program for physical fitness but for the plain reason that they have no other means of moving forward. Seriously, you owe it to yourself to drive by and look at these beautiful structures. You really owe it to yourself if you paid a few hundred in income taxes this year. Cause guys and dolls, some of your money went to help build them. I like to think that I was responsible for buying a venetian blind in one of the rooms. I don't have venetian blinds in my house but I have always admired them. And I had rather buy a venetian blind for Stanton than send a thousand or so to help save a three-section country like Viet Nam. I almost made that last sentence rhyme.

THE closest thing I have seen recently comparative to the old-fashioned "holy-roller" meetings in East Texas, was served up on the ED SULLIVAN SHOW Sunday evening. Down in deep Panola-Shelby country the meetings held the fourth Sunday in August by the colored folks never lacked zeal. The young performer who opened ED'S spot was a dead-ringer for a preacher we knew in Carthage once who was "rockin'-n-rollin'" in the pulpit a long, long time before ELVIS PRESLEY. One night I visited the meeting with the sheriff of the county. Things were really hot—boiling over—the congregation had run amuck with enthusiasm. My cook was really getting with it—she shouted, romped around the church and then actually started rolling toward the front door of the sanctuary. When she peeled off after several complete body rolls and saw me standing there quietly said: "My God, it's MR. NEAL and the sheriff."

It is, perhaps, only natural to be proud of your heritage. There is a fine little lake up in north Texas named for our late uncle, our mother's youngest brother, JAKE J. LOY. The lake is situated in the center of a state park, LOY MEMORIAL. The people of Grayson County bestowed the name. Sherman is the county seat of Grayson and Denison is the other large city in the county. There is also Pottsboro, Whitewright, and other smaller towns in the county. For many years, my late uncle served Grayson County as Judge and the beautiful courthouse there in Sherman was built under his administration. He resigned from the county judge's job once just to run for the state senate and was elected. He made the race so he could go to Austin and introduce a free bridge bill. The people he served up on the Red River—bordering on the Oklahoma line, wanted nothing to do with toll bridges. UNCLE JAKE remained in the Texas Senate two terms—He died in office. The bridges up there across Red River, bear name plates which tell why toll bridges between Texas and Oklahoma were eliminated—by the free bridge bill introduced by SENATOR LOY. As a lad I used to go up in the beautiful section of north Texas and pass out candidate cards for UNCLE JAKE. But back to the lake, and the reason for this paragraph. The state game commission passed out a press release the other day stating that the commission had started a four-step project aimed at cleaning out the popular county lake at the southwest edge of Denison. They are going to fix it up real nice and restock it with fish. That sure would make the fellow who never lost a political race in his life happy and proud. And we are proud that some of his and my late mother's blood courses through our veins too. The Sherman-Denison area is heavily populated by fine men and women of the Catholic faith. My late uncle was a Methodist and a Shriner. But for the many years he remained in office—he really must have been what we like to think he was, a good man and friend to all.

BY-THE-WAY, there is a lot of talk about redistricting the old fourth congressional district. That's my home-town district—that's the one represented so long by SAM RAYBURN, the late Speaker of the House of Representatives. MR. SAM and my dad were the best of friends. And when we were very small, CONG. RAYBURN used to drop in for a meal at our house now and then. It was against the house rules to think ill of MR. RAYBURN. He was sort of a part of many households in his district. No voter in our family ever thought about casting a vote other than for RAYBURN. My dad would have disowned his own flesh and blood for the Bonham congressman. Years after my dad died and they were looking around in Washington for a federal judge in Texas, it was SAM RAYBURN who, for the first and only time in his life, joined the Dallas Bar Association, in endorsing his old friend's boy for the place. EISENHOWER was the president and appointed my brother, JOE. But he didn't do it without consulting SAM RAYBURN. Incidentally, EISENHOWER was born in Denison, SAM RAYBURN represented that city and many others in Congress. Despite political party differences, RAYBURN and EISENHOWER remained good friends through IKE'S administration. And IKE flew down to Perrin Air Force Base in Sherman and motored over to Bonham to attend the last funeral services for RAYBURN. A young fellow from McKinney is representing the fourth district now. We understand he is very capable. We don't know CONGRESSMAN RAY ROBERTS, but we hear he is doing a splendid job in Washington. For strictly sentimental reasons, I would hate to see the old fourth turned upside down for political concerns.

Chamber Chatter

The Board of Directors met in the Chamber office Monday night with its president, Roy Pickett, presiding. Others in attendance were: Jim Wheeler, Dr. Shy, Bob Cox, Jimmy Stallings, O. C. Turner, and Maurice Varanadore. Several committee chairmen reported that their committees have been selected and are ready to go to work.

I attended an all day area leaders work shop in Midland on Wednesday.

Thursday will be housecleaning at the Chamber. It will be given a good cleaning and then I am moving into the front office. There have been times when someone would stop by but go on as if appeared from the hall that the office was empty. With my desk off in a corner in the back office, it is hard to tell if I am in. So after this, it will be a little friendlier to be met at the door and easy to tell if the office is empty.

I am looking forward to Friday as I have been invited out to see the peach orchard of the Rev. McReynolds. He tells me that the trees are just beautiful and in full bloom. I hope to get some very pretty pictures, weather permitting.

Mr. Joe Moore of the Salvation Army Service Unit Dept. in Midland, was a visitor in the office on Monday.

Bye, now.
