The neighborhood children in my block are going to have a fine place for recreation this summer. Your writer talked with OHMER KELLY Friday morning while he was supervising the removal of some brush from a lot located on the corner of St. Boniface and W. Carpenter streets and belonging to MRS. LENORAH EPLEY. JIM EILAND is serving as top ram-rod for the private playing field. Others in the neighborhood are enthusiastic about the project. PAUL JONES is a solid backer and young MARK EILAND, JOEL STALLO, STEVE and MIKE PAYNE and others are going to enjoy their own outdoor playing field. Of course, the boys intend to let the girls in the neighborhood hang around too. Who knows — could be that one of the gals — say STACY PAYNE or JERRY LYNN STALLO will be needed on second base this season. With either of the pretty youngsters in the lineup the spectators are sure to turn out.

MARGARET and WARNER HANEY brought the results from Box 2, Stanton, to the courthouse first Saturday night. It was very fast and efficient work. The box results were announced just a few minutes after voting ceased.

MRS. BOB GLENN was in town Monday with her attractive daughter, NANCY, and more attractive granddaughter, LA RAE. VYE said: "NEAL, I know this is the prettiest baby in the world." She is a cutie too — the daughter of MARLIN RAY and NANCY THOMAS is just past three months old.

We had a nice visit at our house Sunday evening with NANCY, RED, and MARY GIBSON. We persuaded RED to write a story for us while visiting his parents, MR. and MRS. MARTIN GIBSON and it appears in the space we usually reserve for one of our columns on the back page. It is interesting and we trust our readers will enjoy it.

Your editor, as most of you know, served as JUDGE JIM LANGDON'S county campaign manager. JUDGE LANGDON has asked us to personally thank all of his supporters in Martin County for their confidence and help.

Lewis Stewart attended the eighth annual school homecoming at Scranton, Texas on Sunday. Approximately 350 people attended the event.

Health And Safety Tips

From The American Medical Association

The common fever blister is primarily an uncomfortable, unsightly nuisance, one that will go away in a week or so with or without treatment.

A fever blister is caused by a virus that is known medically as herpes simplex, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association. It is a group of small blisters often erupting on the lips. The blisters swell, itch, hurt. Then a crust forms and healing takes place. There seldom is a scar.

The fever blister is caused by a virus, but colds, upset stomach, menstruation, illness accompanied by fevers and exposure to sun and wind lower our resistance and allow the growth of the blister.

There are various preparations on the market that reduce discomfort of fever blisters. It's dubious as to whether they speed healing. Doctors advise caution in using the popular remedies. Some of them may cause irritation.

Fever blisters usually are not a serious medical problem and seldom require the attention of a physician. If you have a persistent recurrence of these annoying little sores on the lips and around the mouth, it is advisable to seek medical advice.

With the return of warm spring days, millions of home gardeners once again are getting out to spade beds, plant seed, spread fertilizer, mow grass — and the other countless minor tasks attendant to keeping the lawn neat and attractive.

Your doctor recommends gardening as excellent therapy, for both body and mind. For those who enjoy digging in the dirt, gardening offers good exercise, fresh air and sunshine after a winter of being cooped up indoors.

Your doctor also offers a few suggestions on keeping gardening fun and safe:

Take it easy, at least for the first few sessions. Don't try to work a 10-hour day at hard manual labor on the first warm weekend. Take frequent rest breaks and work at a pace that isn't too tiring. As the season advances, your muscles will limber up and toughen and you will be able to do more with less discomfort.

Cuts, scratches and bruises are the fate of most gardeners. Usually they aren't serious. Clean minor cuts with warm water and soap and cover with a light bandage. Tetanus lurks in the soil, and a booster shot of tetanus toxoid is recommended at the onset of the gardening season for all who have not kept their immunization up-to-date.

Stop and think briefly, about safety before handling garden tools — especially power tools such as lawn mowers. Power tools are great labor-saving devices, properly used. Used carelessly, they can slash off fingers and toes. Always turn off the mower when it is left unattended, even briefly. Always turn it off when adding gasoline to the tank. If the motor is electric, don't use the machine in wet grass. Power tools usually are accompanied by safety instructions. Read them carefully.

Modern gardening is made possible by the pesticides that dispose of the many varieties of bugs that thrive on growing plants. Careless use and storage of pesticides can cause serious accidents. A cardinal rule is to read the instructions on the package carefully and obey their safety warnings. Pesticides are safe, if used properly and kept away from children.

Poison ivy, poison oak and poison sumac also sprout up in the spring, to the

Drive To Start To Build DO School

Plans for an osteopathic medical school in Texas have been initiated by trustees of the Texas Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons.

The trustees met in Dallas last week prior to the opening of the annual TAOPS convention held in that city. Five men compose the board, headed by Dr. Walter R. Russell of Dallas.

Dr. J. Warren McCoele, a Mineola osteopath and incoming president of the association, said, "We hope to build the nation's seventh osteopathic medical school within a few years. We've set no timetable, but hope to open the school within seven to 10 years."

The current TAOPS president, Dr. Loren R. Rohr of Houston, said, "There are no osteopathic colleges in the Southwest, yet Texas, Arizona, and New Mexico are phenomenal growth areas for osteopathic medicine."

He said that Texas with 744 practicing osteopathic physicians ranks fourth in the profession. And, "in the Dallas area our hospital bed capacity has grown from 35 to 835 since 1949. We feel this hospital and physician growth is indicative of the care and faith entrusted to us by Lone Star citizens."

Texas is seventh in osteopathic student recruitment, supplying 65 of 1,586 students now attending osteopathic medical colleges.

The committee is to study planning procedures used in development of the 40-million university in Lansing, Michigan, trustees said.

They also said that discussions with state, federal, and professional agencies will determine if there will be available funds to match money donated by Texas osteopaths.

If you find poison ivy in your yard, dig it out — roots and all — being careful not to touch. If you burn poison ivy avoid the smoke. The poisonous oils vaporize in the smoke and thus expose your whole body, eyes included. ## Bible Comment—

Positive Thinking Helps Make "Good Life"

What is the conception of the good life, the best life of all, as we see it set forth and exemplified in the teachings and example of Jesus?

Though there are profound and striking exceptions, there have been many followers of Jesus who, inspired by Him, have lived lives of conspicuous devotion and service. In our time there have been men like Father Damien of Molokai, and Sir Wilfred Grenfell of Labrador; women like Jane Addams of Chicago.

And their name, in spite of all the shortcomings of professed Christians, has been legion; for many unknown to fame have not been unknown to God for their sincerity and goodness.

But in general the emphasis on historic Christianity and the church has been negative, rather than positive. It has been upon sins, rather than upon the great positive expressions and acts of righteousness and truth.

If one doubts this, he need only make wide observation of life to see how many lives of "good" men and women, well-intentioned and free from evil, are none the less inconspicuous for evidence of the "Fruit of the Spirit."

The 13th chapter of I Corinthians, next to the Sermon on the Mount, the greatest sermon ever written, in its simplicity, conciseness and brevity, makes plain the nature of the good life as the Apostle Paul learned it from His master.

In the positive emphasis upon the good life, such as Jesus made, there is no danger that there will be less inhibition against sin and sins.

The positive attuning of the heart to truth and righteousness is, in fact, the surest guarantee that one's life will be inwardly and outwardly correct. A world concentrating more upon righteousness and the spirit and acts of love will be, correspondingly, a world freer from sin and evil.

Philosopher Keeps Up With All New Crises To Get His Mind Off The Old Ones

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw reflects on crises this week, but he doesn't say which ones.)

Dear editor:

I had read all the newspapers I had on hand and was watching television. I forget which program it was, which bears out what some people claim, television programs are remembered not longer than ten minutes after they're over, but they say it as criticism while I think it's an endorsement as I have seen very few programs I'd want to remember any longer than that; at any rate, if this sentence is still holding together and if not you can prop it up, I've got more important things to do. I was watching television when the western finished and a news program came on and President Johnson was holding a news conference standing on a bale of hay, which shows the difference between me and the President. If I had an extra bale of hay, I'd feed it to my cow.

At any rate, some reporter asked him if he thought another crisis is developing over Cuba and the President said he hoped not, adding, "I don't need another crisis."

On this, me and the President are on equal terms. We both have all the crises we need. His may be bigger than mine, but any time you're confronted with a crisis there's not any answer to, size doesn't matter.

However, I have been reviewing some of the crises I've had and some the nation has had, and have discovered that generally me and Washington use about the same system of attack. We both deplore the thing and do what we can and eventually the crisis moves away and a worse one moves in.

The only system I know for handling a crisis is the one used by a man I was talking to the other day. He doesn't keep up with them.

He doesn't read a newspaper, watch television or listen to radio. "Why should I find out about all these new problems when I've got more old ones than I can handle?" he asked.

I don't look at it this way. I like to read about brand new world crises. It gets my mind off the old ones I've had around here.

Yours faithfully,

Osteopaths Have No Plans For Merger

State osteopathic physicians seek better relations with the Texas Medical Association but have no immediate desire to merge with the group.

Dr. Loren H. Rohr of Houston made the statement in Dallas Saturday at the state convention of Texas Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons meeting.

Dr. Rohr, outgoing president of the Texas Assn. of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, said cooperation between the two schools of medicine will continue to provide better health care for Texans.

Rohr spoke to some 400 osteopaths at the annual president's banquet during the TAOPS convention. He said there were no advantages — professional or ethical — to merger.

Osteopathic medicine's success in Texas may be the profession's biggest problem, said incoming president Dr. J. Warren McCorkle of Mineola.

He warned osteopaths against complacency and urged members to "sacrifice time and personal gain" to build an osteopathic college in Texas.

Six Flags To Host Baptist Youth Festival

Approximately 35 young people from the local First Baptist Church have made reservations to attend the Baptist Youth Festival to be hosted by Six Flags Over Texas in Dallas June 2.

The group will go in private cars, accompanied by sponsors, and will stay at the Western Hills Motor Lodge in Dallas.

Plans for the event gained momentum with the announcement that an almost complete roster of program personalities has been confirmed.

Principal speaker for the giant Youth Rally to close the all-day activities at the family recreation center between Dallas and Fort Worth, will be professional football star Bill Glass.

Glass, a Baptist preacher studying at Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth, is a defensive end for the Cleveland Browns. He was a member of the 1962 National Football League All-Star defensive team and an All-America football star at Baylor University.

The festival program, which places emphasis on spiritual values combined with good, clean Christian fun, has already enlisted many outstanding choir groups as well as leading personalities in the field of television, motion pictures and sports to appear on the program.

Among them are All-American tackle Scott Appleton and the "Golden Toed" Tony Crosby, both active Baptists and stars of the 1963 National Champions University of Texas football team.

Gregory Walcott, leading character in NBC's "87th Precinct" series; Miss Pam Baird, pert singer and actress who starred in the "Wonderful World of The Brothers Grimm," "Good Morning, Miss Dove," "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker" and a host of other motion picture and television productions; Bob Turnbull, key performer in many TV shows such as "Arrest and Trial," "Going My Way," "The Millionaire" and "Dr. Kildare"; Ray Hildebrand, popular singer and songwriter whose record of "Hey Paula" was the nation's number one song hit for four weeks last year and sold over a million copies; Miss Linda Loftis, talented singer and beauty who was named "Miss Texas" in 1961 and runner-up in the Miss America Pageant that year.

Ten youth choirs from Baptist churches throughout the Lone Star State will present special musical programs, and the Hardin-Simmons University theatre group will offer a dramatic presentation depicting the roles Baptists have played in the early history of Texas.

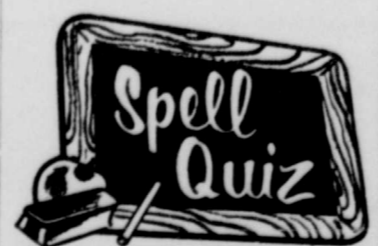

Arrangements for the big day and tickets are being handled through the local Baptist churches.

All the regular rides and attractions at Six Flags will be in operation throughout the day, in addition to the special schedule of five different Youth Festival events and testimonials.

Local youths planning to attend the festival are: Lynda White, Beverly Clements, Cindy Clements, Brenda Hightower, Johnny McIntyre, Kathy Workman, David Hicks, Rodney Brantley, Steve Hall, Terry Franklin, Connie Gillum, Jerry Gillum, Jimmy Shaw, Rhonda Morris, Jimmy Louder, Sherry Vest, Luan Louder, Katina Johnson, Stephen Milam, Dwight Martin, Sheila McQuerry, Carolyn Brumley, Jimmy Epley, Wayne Ship, Jackie Hankins, Jane Hodges, Gene Hodges, Gene Wheeler, Linda Hopper, Margaret Uhlman, Mel Rae Angel, and Sharon Brantley.

Sponsors who will accompany the group are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sale, R. C. Vest, Mrs. Bob Priddy, Mrs. Carlos Brantley, Gene Clements, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip White.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Kelly of Lubbock, spent several days this week with Mrs. Ralph Kelly, Rex and Ima Preston Kelly of Odessa, was also a visitor in the home on Sunday.

Chamber Chatter

By MAURYNE VARNADORE

How did you like the Spring Festival? Wasn't it fun? The town was really buzzing all day and into the night on Monday. Crowds thronged the sidewalk sales, and more than 200 were served at the Pancake Supper. While people looked at the new cars and implements, the High School band played several selections. Then the auction started, and it was a dandy. Dub Bryant, Big Spring, was the auctioneer and he kept the auction moving at a rapid pace. The sale lasted until 10:30, and everyone was entertained and had a fine day and evening of fun.

Space limits listing all those who participated in the Festival, but the Chamber wants to thank each and everyone for the excellent job they did to help put this Festival on and to make it the success it was. Without our volunteer workers, we would be lost. So, many, many thanks to all of you for your fine efforts.

At a hurried glance, the Auction made over 450 dollars for the residents who participated. And we do want to thank each of those who brought articles for sale. And we especially want to thank the donors of the ingredients for the Pancake Supper. We will get notes off to them just as soon as possible.

This column will be short this week as The Stanton Reporter is waiting on it at this very minute. We surely do want to say a big Thank You to the Reporter for the very fine news coverage and publicity it has given the Festival. Not only does it publicize our activities, it goes out of its way to aid and assist the Chamber in any endeavor.

See you next week — bye, now.

Bart and Kevin Johnson, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson, have been patients in the Cowper Clinic at Big Spring for several days.

The state president, Mrs. J. W. Danforth, 22 board members and the 16th District president, Mrs. Alvie L. Cole, were present for the conference. Mrs. Danforth was guest speaker at a banquet in Newman High School cafeteria Thursday evening.

At the first general session Friday afternoon a panel of six persons discussed, "What's My Role." Mrs. Chesley McDonald was moderator. The panel was composed of Mrs. Danforth, Mrs. Argus McDonald, Olaf South, Frank Wilson, Mrs. Mary Foreman, and Mrs. Ray Cantrell.

The conference was held in the Baker Hotel, and a buffet luncheon was served at noon.

1/2 cup sugar
3 tbsps. bacon drippings or cooking oil
1 cup flour
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. soda
2 cups buttermilk

Sift dry ingredients together; add buttermilk and fat. Bake in well-greased loaf pan for one hour at 350 degrees or until nicely browned. Let stand a while, covered, to sweat before removing from pan.

Shade trees and summer-flowering ornamental shrubs should be pruned during the winter months when the temperature is above freezing. Pruning should follow careful thought and include repair of injuries, dead wood removal, and controlling the size and shape of the plants.

Homespun Treat: Tomato Gravy, Beef Pot-Roast

Throughout this nation beef pot-roast is a favorite choice. Remember the tender, succulent pot-roast grandma used to serve? Of course there was flavorful beef gravy on the side.

Some day soon you'll want to treat your family to this versatile beef pot-roast that boasts a tasty tomato gravy studded with ripe olive slices. Just before serving, sour cream is spooned into the gravy to make it extra good.

A home economist and meat authority suggests using leftover pot-roast for delicious sandwich making.

Pot-Roast With Tomato Gravy

- 3 to 4-pound beef arm or blade pot-roast
- 1/4 cup flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1 large onion, sliced
- 1/2 can (10 1/2 ounces) or 1/2 cup (10 1/2 ounces) or 2/3 cup condensed beef consommé
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
- 1/2 cup sliced ripe olives
- 1/2 cup dairy sour cream

Combine flour, salt, pepper and garlic salt. Dredge pot-roast in seasoned flour and brown in lard or drippings. Add onion, consommé, water and Worcestershire sauce. Cover tightly and cook slowly 3 hours. Add tomato paste and olives and cook 1/2 hour or until meat is tender. Remove meat to a heated platter.

Thicken cooking liquid for gravy, if necessary. Stir a small amount of gravy into sour cream and add mixture to remaining gravy. Cook just until heated through. 6 to 8 servings.

Spring Quail Like Insects

Research biologists on the Matador Wildlife Management Area near Paducah, after examining crop contents of bobwhite quail, confirmed that insects are a vital part of the birds' diet, reports J. Weidon Watson, executive director of the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Insects found in nine quail crops collected in April included 24 ants, 10 grasshoppers, 68 beetles, 20 squash bugs, 1 tarantula, 1 spider, 1 millipede and 1 insect pupa. Plant material made up the remainder of their diet with Texas croton seeds occurring 4,277 times.

Technicians said widespread insect control during spring months on Texas quail ranges will no doubt reduce the number of insects available to quail as well as other wildlife.

of free-fall parachuting. All the events and displays will be free to the public.

Supreme Court Broadens Freedom Of Press Right

In a landmark decision—unanimous—by the Supreme Court of the United States, freedom of the press has been broadened.

The Court has established the principle that public officials cannot win damages for libel from a newspaper which criticizes their official conduct, unless the criticism is made "with actual malice — that is, with knowledge that it was false or with reckless disregard of whether it was false or not."

The case that brought forth the landmark decision overturned an Alabama judgment of $500,000 against the New York Times and four negro ministers. Plaintiff was the City Commission of Montgomery.

The U. S. Supreme Court did not limit the unanimous decision to advertisements but applied it to editorials and even slander cases involving conduct in office.

For all practical purposes public officials are now on notice that they have no legal protection against criticism.

The Supreme Court also declined to overturn a Massachusetts decision which upheld the right of the weekly Winchester Star to refuse to publish letters to the editor.

The best policy in administering city government, following these Supreme Court decisions is to do it openly, honestly, under audit, and print the audit so the taxpayers—the PEOPLE, if you please can KNOW what is going on.

The old day of "closed meetings" is out with a capital OH!

Mesquite Bean Jelly May Come From Tests

The much-maligned mesquite bean might enjoy some semblance of culinary glamor in the near future.

As most Texans know, the mesquite tree and its bean pods are not always welcome in cattle country. The beans are eaten and scattered by livestock and wildlife, causing widespread infestation of pastures with new brush and trees.

Stockmen have for many years been trying to eradicate, or at least control the pest. Success of these campaigns has varied.

Ross LeGrande of Rio Grande City, senior horticulture major at Texas A&M University, figures that maybe man should learn to live with mesquite. As long as the plant persists so vigorously, it should be utilized.

LaGrande is working on a system of making mesquite bean jelly in his advanced fruit and vegetable processing course. The class, headed by Dr. E. E. Burns, has already come up with such novelties as prickly pear jelly and cantaloupe sherbet. Another project underway is the making of perfume from peach flowers.

Right now, LaGrande's research is at a near-standstill because mesquite trees haven't put on any beans this early in the season. But once he does get a supply in the green pod stage, he will boil them down to extract flavor, sugar and pectin. The extract is then concentrated to the desired jelly thickness.

Burns said the final color is amber. The beans are high in pectin content, a jelling agent.

Actually, mesquite beans are nothing new on human menus, Burns pointed out. Indians ate them regularly. And pioneer women learned to make jelly from the pods in the early days when getting and keeping food supplies was often a problem.

Court Rules In Pickle's Favor In Lobby Case

The Third Court of Civil Appeals has ruled that former Texas employment commissioner J. J. Pickle violated no laws by lobbying for a state unemployment act favorable to employers.

Pickle was employers' representative of the TEC until last fall, when he ran for Congress and was elected as 10th District representative.

The Texas AFL-CIO filed the suit, contending Pickle's efforts to influence state legislators on the unemployment act were illegal.

"Part Of Job" In an opinion by Justice Robert G. Hughes, the court said Pickle's activity in favor of the bill was part of his job.

The opinion said a commissioner "may expound, expostulate, exhort about and upon and convince and convert anyone to his point of view regarding defects in the unemployment law, but if his voice is not heard by the lawmakers his efforts are wasted."

AFL-CIO leaders said they were considering appealing the decision to the state supreme court.

The suit named as defendants, in addition to Pickle, TEC Commissioners S. Perry Brown and J. Ed Lyles and four TEC employees.

The AFL-CIO charged that Lyles, Brown and Pickle helped prepare an unemployment bill unfavorable to labor.

Some men never outgrow the need for a wagon

A wagon has a way with men. Always has. Always will. Especially when it's a Dodge Wagon. Case in point: that Polara shown above. As rugged and handsome a carryall as you've ever laid hands on. Inside—saddle-grained vinyl that resists cracking, scuffing, shrinking, stretching. Hand-fitted carpeting on the floor. A center armrest in front that snaps down solidly under your arm. And there's room. Big, open room you can cram to the roof. Seating for six or nine passengers. And underhood—a choice of engines ranging from a frisky Six to an optional, ripsnortin' 425 cubic inch V8. It's a tough combination to beat.

Look 'em over at your Dodge Dealer's. The wagons that have a way with men—Dodge Wagons. Man-sized. Man-powered. Eight versions to pick from. (And you might as well bring along your better half. Seems the gals prefer the big, strong, silent type, too.)

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

MARTIN-HOWARD-MIDLAND SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT
Jack Buchanan, Bob Cox, Bernard Houston, Larry Shaw, J. D. Crawford.

Community to celebrate Soil Stewardship Week May 3 to 10.

Soil Stewardship Week, a nationwide observance, which places emphasis on men's obligations to God as stewards of the soil, water and other related resources, will be celebrated locally May 3 to 10, according to Jack W. Buchanan, chairman of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District.

This year's observance, with the theme, "To Each Among Us . . . A Share," underscores the responsibility which each citizen has in meeting the responsibilities of soil stewardship. The Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District and some 2,940 companion districts throughout the nation and Puerto Rico, through their state and national associations, are sponsoring this event for the tenth consecutive year.

The Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District will distribute, upon request to churches of all faiths, posters, bulletin inserts, programs, and booklets created particularly for this year's observance. The materials were prepared by the National Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts, in cooperation with a Soil Stewardship Advisory Committee composed of leading churchmen in the nation. The committee consists of the Rev. E. W. Mueller, D. D., National Lutheran Council, Chicago; the Right Rev. John George Weber, National Catholic Rural Life Conference, Des Moines; the Rev. Harold S. Huff, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A., Philadelphia; the Rev. Henry A. McCanna, D. R. E., National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A., New York City; and the Rev. Lewis W. Newman, Southern Baptist Convention, Atlanta.

Through the 1964 theme and in the attractively illustrated booklet, emphasis is placed upon the fact that there is a clearcut need and opportunity to improve upon the conservation, wise use, and development of the nation's valued soil and water resources. In this year's booklet each citizen is asked to consider his share in conservation.

"In the great society of mankind, (since) each of us has a God-given purpose for being. In our time each among us fulfills a mission in the long progression toward the ultimate design of our Maker.

"To each among us, God has assigned a share in the expanding brotherhood of stewards. It is a membership of service dedicated to the husbandry of lands and waters, forests and ranges, and the fish and game He has placed at our disposal."

Chaton, Ala., Call-News Dispatch: "Control is a noun that has become probably the most feared word among Americans, as day by day we see convincing means of the federal government to take hold of the reins in every phase of our daily lives. Another measure that would mean greater central power . . . is the King-Anderson Bill, commonly called Medicare Bill, now before Congress. Control lies at the heart of this legislation, and there is no greater control than financial control. Yet, that is, in essence, the meat of this bill, which we feel is undemocratic, would be a substantial tax burden and most of all, a hindrance to our fine medical system."

Harlem Youths Kill Another White Woman

Two Harlem, N. Y. youths were held without bail this week after admitting the fatal stabbing of a white woman in her family clothing store.

The youths also admitted the earlier slaying of a white New York social worker while she was walking down the street with a colored co-worker.

The arrested pair was questioned about other fatal assaults on whites in Harlem. There were reports that police were looking into the possibility of a racial vendetta by militant negro youths.

Visitors to the New York World's Fair have been cautioned to stick well to the crowds in New York and not stray from the beaten paths—especially after dark. Washington, D. C. has also been plagued by countless crimes in recent weeks.

Salvation Army Drive Is Underway Here

In West Texas last year the local committees of the Salvation Army (this does not include the larger towns like Midland, Odessa, and Big Spring) distributed 1,160 orders for groceries to local people in need of aid. Locally they aided 67 people with rent, they gave 99 new garments, 58 pairs of new shoes, 37 orders for medicine, 13 were aided with hospital care, 27 were given cash assistance, almost 200 underprivileged boys were sent to summer camp, two were from Marfa and two from Alpine. One person was given dental aid, 53 other local people were given a variety of other aid.

We have a record of 57 Christmas baskets being given, there is no way of telling how many other fine aids. Altogether the Salvation Army has helped 1,519 persons in small towns. Our local committees aided 2,207 transients. Again, there is no way of telling how many gifts were given by our local committees, such as used clothing, toys, gifts that were given anonymously.

At the end of the year the

Picnic Items Head Plentiful Food List

The perfect combination for the month of May — picnics and plentiful foods!

For what better items can be found for picnics than hamburgers, delicious grilled beef steaks or beef roast. Another really special picnic treat is smoked, barbecued or roasted turkey. You'll find both beef and turkey especially good buys during May.

According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the cattle industry has enough animals to produce more beef than ever before. And a 25 percent greater farm marketing of turkeys over last May plus large cold storage holdings should make this meat abundant.

Canned ripe olives, salad oils and milk and dairy products complete the May list of plentiful foods released by USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service.

This season's record large supply of 3.7 million cases of canned ripe olives means you can depend on a good supply of these mealtime favorites. Too, salad oil stocks have reached an all-time high, which probably will be reflected in wholesale and retail prices during the next few weeks.

Milk production during the first two months of this year ran slightly higher than 1963. In addition, output over the next several months is likely to be near last year's levels. Such milk production promises increasing supplies of your favorite dairy foods.

Keep in mind that foods listed plentiful by AMS usually reflect their abundance in lowest price tags. So picnics, as well as all meals, can be flavorful, colorful and more economical when you make use of May plentiful foods.

Beta Sigma Phi Banquet Held At Big Spring

The annual Founder's Day banquet honoring pledges of the five chapters of Beta Sigma Phi in Stanton, was held on April 30, at 7:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn in Big Spring.

Opening ritual was given by Mrs. Jimmy Henson. The Beta Sigma Phi grace was read by Mrs. Benny Welch. Mrs. Roy Koonce gave the welcome to the pledges, and the response was made by Mrs. Corky Blocker.

A brief history of the five chapters of Beta Sigma Phi in Stanton was given and each chapter presented a member as "girl of the year." Mrs. P. M. Bristow was named "girl of the year" from Xi Alpha Beta; Mrs. J. C. Epley, Mu Lambda; Mrs. Nolan Simpson, Rho Xi; Mrs. Jimmy Henson, Xi Theta Nu, and Mrs. Homer Schwalbe, Xi Epsilon Delta. Each sorority presented her nominee with a gift.

Mrs. Homer Schwalbe read the Founder's Day pledge, and Mrs. Leo Turner brought a message from Walter W. Ross, the original founder of Beta Sigma Phi.

Closing ritual was said by the group.

Seventy members from Stanton attended the banquet.

'Beef-Up' Your Menus With Bargain Bonanza

Now's the time to "beef up" your menus, says Mrs. Gwen-dolynne Clayatt, Extension Service consumer marketing specialist.

Ample supplies of top quality beef will be available for the next few months, and should be one of the best values at the supermarket.

Large supplies of fryers also are on the market. Consumers are enjoying what economists call a "buyer's market" with plenty of competition for food dollars tending to drive prices downward.

Owners of home freezers may want to give consideration to current low meat prices. Indications are that as the year advances, prices will go up to more normal levels.

At the vegetable counter, look for good values in carrots, cabbage, beets, green onions, dry onions, mustard, collards, turnips and greens. Head lettuce and celery are other good choices. Asparagus, broccoli and cauliflower are available at moderate price levels.

Apples, coming from storage, continue to be moderately priced. Good quality strawberries are available, but prices vary. Other fruit choices are pineapples, bananas and pears.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Gibson and Marty of Houston, have been visiting for several days in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gibson. Mr. and Mrs. Gibson will also visit with his sister and family, Dr. and Mrs. Don Gaddis in Alpine. The two couples plan to make a train tour of Old Mexico before returning to Stanton. Marty will visit with his grandparents while his parents are away.

Mrs. James Eiland left Sunday for College Station, where she will attend a short course in "Human Nutrition" at Texas A&M University. She will be gone approximately one week.

Texas Moves To Simplify Car Registration Act

While the Johnny and Jane-come-latelys were rushing to purchase 1964 automobile license plates before the April 1 deadline, production of 1965 tags was well under way.

It has been, in fact, for 30 or so days. Plates are manufactured by the Texas Department of Corrections in Huntsville under an inter-agency agreement with the Texas Highway Department. The Highway Department provides the design and material specifications for plates, maintains inspections, and accepts delivery within the plant.

Inmates of the Department of Corrections finished '64 plates by January 30. After a 30-day period for spring cleaning — the tag plant is known as the "show place of the prison plants" — inmates started turning out those for next year.

The 1965 plates will have a "new look," according to R. W. Townsley, Townsley is Director of the Highway Department's Motor Vehicle Division, which is located in Austin.

Each passenger plate will have three letters and three digits (i.e.; AAA 787) instead of the usual two and four combination. Studies show this combination can be perceived quickly and accurately with little difficulty. Commercial and miscellaneous vehicles will retain their own special registration system.)

By adopting a new license numbering system, the Highway Department will be better able to cope with the rising registration rate. Since World War II, approximately a quarter-million more vehicles have been registered yearly by the Department. This trend should continue.

Because of the spiraling registration rate, Texas was about to exhaust its license number combinations. Taking stock, Department officials decided to revamp its system. After careful consideration, the three-letter prefix English System was adopted. It is known as the English System because it has been used in that country for more than 20 years. This is the only system yet devised which will adequately handle the number of passenger vehicles to be registered in Texas in forthcoming years.

Using all 26 letters of the alphabet as part of the prefix, the system provides as many as 17½ million possible combinations. To fit its own needs, however, Texas has modified the system. Only 20 letters will be used. Besides "Q," the vowels will be eliminated to avoid possible formation of undesirable words. For obvious reasons, letter combination prefixes of "LBJ" and "JFK" will also be eliminated. Although the modification reduces the prefix possibilities to around eight million, this system should produce enough numbers for passenger plates for the next 10 to 15 years.

The predicted registration increase has had another effect on plate production. Although production of plates has been a year-round operation, prison inmates — thanks to automation — may be finished sooner than usual this year. With an eye to the future, the Highway Department installed two new presses. The presses emboss two sets of plates at once and will be well able to cope with the growing demand.

The presses — and processing of plates — will proceed at top speed anyway this year, so that prison inmates will be able to expend their industrial endeavors if the inmates finish processing '65 plates before the year is out, they will devote their time — and equipment — to the other industries.

With adoption of the new numbering system and equipment, the Texas Highway Department has once again demonstrated its ability to keep pace with the times. So it is that the Department has abandoned a plate pattern long in use. It seems fitting — and symbolic, somehow — that the last 1964 plate produced in the prison was "touched up" by an inmate with an obvious sense of humor.

Instead of the usual letter-number markings, the plate read "THE END."

Star City, Ark., Ledger: "Impatience is a common trait. We want to get places in the quickest way. One of the major causes of traffic accidents is a driver's crowding too close to the car ahead. The only reason for crowding is that the rear driver 'can't wait.' It is the impatient driver who endangers not only his own life but that of others."

It's The Law

NEW PROVISIONS IN DRIVER SAFETY RESPONSIBILITY LAW

To make the Texas Safety Responsibility Law as effective as possible, the 1963 Legislature enacted several amendments. The strengthened law became effective January 1, 1964.

To protect your driver's license and motor vehicle registration, you should know the following facts about this new law:

In any accident in which a person is killed or injured or where there is damage to the property of any one person to an apparent intent of at least $25 or more, the operator of every motor vehicle involved is required within 10 days to report the accident in writing to the Texas Department of Public Safety. If the accident involved death, personal injury or damage to one person's property of at least $100, the accident then comes under the Safety Responsibility Act and its requirements must be met. Accident report forms can be obtained from any law enforcement officer.

The Department of Public Safety is required by the law to suspend the driver licenses and all motor vehicle registration plates of both the operator and owner of vehicles involved in an accident coming under the Safety Responsibility Law. BUSINESS:

Evidence of liability insurance coverage in the minimum amounts of $10,000 where one person was injured or killed, $20,000 where more than one, and $5,000 for property damage is reported to the Department of Public Safety, OR a release signed by damaged or injured persons is filed with the Department of Public Safety. In addition, the operator and owner must file proof of financial responsibility for the future and maintain it for five years.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

KNOW YOUR INSECT ENEMY—MIGRATING WEEVILS

The boll weevil, most widely publicized and one of the most destructive insects, is a ne'er-do-well vagabond! Immortalized in song, verse and bronze, this "little black bug came up from Mexico, just lookin' for a home," so it was claimed. But its insatiable quest for cotton showed it was no home-body. It marched through most of the cotton belt leaving a wake of hardship and famine, and proved to be a hopeless migrant.

A native of the New World tropics, where cotton first came into cultivation, the boll weevil meandered northwest through Mexico and crossed the Rio Grande River near Brownsville, Texas in 1892. By 1894, it had a foothold in six counties in the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas.

Fancy migratory footwork helped the scourge of the Old South's plantation economy to advance 40 to 160 miles a year until it had infested more than 85 percent of the cotton belt by 1922. The rapid advance caused the staple crop to fail, loss of farm credit and former aristocratic families to become needy following the collapse of the cotton economy. Farms were deserted, gins and oil mills closed, railroads were interrupted, merchants went bankrupt and banks failed.

The boll weevil today continues to spread and look for new fields to conquer as it slowly moves into the High Plains area of Texas and tries for a toehold in New Mexico. Long-range migration isn't this bug's only specialty. It also deals in short hops after hibernation. Adults overwinter in old cotton burs, under field trash, in cotton houses, barns and other buildings; and they are also fond of sleeping under loose boards and shingles, along edges of woods, in Spanish moss on trees and many other protected places near the cottonfields.

Adults begin to emerge from hibernation as the weather becomes warm. After emergence they may travel considerable distances to locate fields. They become established in the fruiting cotton and are contented weevils until late in the season when juicy squares become scarce.

At this time, they spread out extensively, taking flight by short stages that may total 20 to 50 miles or more. As cold weather approaches, old Mr. Weevil goes back to bed to await the coming of spring.

Migrating boll weevils no longer cast a shadow of gloom over the cotton grower's future. Today he puts the quietus on the weevil with insecticides like the new carbamate, called Sevin, that controls even the toughest ones that are developing resistance to some of the older pesticides. Growers report that Sevin insecticide gives long-lasting and safer control of boll weevils and many other cotton pests throughout the season. Cotton producers will continue to keep the weevil on the move with good control practices and effective cropping materials. F.N.S.

One-third of our school children—and your daughter or son could be among them—fail minimum physical fitness tests. Parents and schools can correct this shocking situation. But only if more interest and more time are given to physical education. A basic school program that can improve any child's physical abilities is described in a free leaflet from the President's Council on Physical Fitness, Washington, D.C. 20548.

Red Gibson Writes About Stanton Past And Present

(Editor's note: Leroy (Red) Gibson came to Stanton as a toddler in 1936 and lived here until 1954. He is now chief of the night copy desk at the Houston Chronicle. He and his family have been visiting his parents, the Martin L. Gibsons, for a week. Here Red tells how Stanton has changed—and how many things have stayed unchanged—in 19 years.)

By RED GIBSON

Jimmy Wheeler, as president of the Chamber of Commerce, wants to make Stanton known as the farm center of West Texas.

He is thinking big, but perhaps not unrealistically.

Stanton owes its life to farming. And although a little oil and a little industry change things slightly, Stanton will continue to depend on farming.

But Stanton is a farm town with a new face. The change has been more pronounced in the last couple of years, but Stanton has always been changing.

If I hadn't been back for weekend visits I would hardly know the place.

One of the big changes has been wrought by the urban renewal program. I will not argue for or against the program here. On the one side is a belief that the program amounts to selling a birthright for a mess of porridge. On the other side is the belief that the money belongs here and that the program has been worthwhile.

So, skipping the arguments, let's say only that the program has changed Stanton's appearance.

The most noticeable change is paving. It doesn't take a great memory to recall when Stanton had three paved streets: Highway 89 and the two streets that cross in the center of town.

Then we paved around the courthouse and inched on out Broadway toward the school.

Now you can reach most parts of Stanton on paved streets.

Paved streets also run by a park that wasn't here 30 years ago. This park is equipped as well as any in Houston, and it will likely be more crowded when mothers begin to realize what a good place it is for active youngsters.

The park is a credit mark for urban renewal, although I suspect that Leonard White could have turned out the equipment in his blacksmith shop just as well as it was built under government contract.

However, Leonard White can do a lot of things. He is an old line Stantonite and is one of the many things about the town that have changed little.

The northwest quarter of town has had the greatest rejuvenation. What used to be pasture land has become the city's choicest residential area. There are homes on both sides of the Lamesa highway that would do credit to any town.

One of them is occupied by Henry Louder, who in the limits of my memory has changed from farmer to store owner. He has staked out a watermelon patch in part of his garden, so perhaps he hasn't changed too much.

There is a temptation to take another look at that melon patch sometime this summer, because Henry grows a tasty crop. However, he is pretty sharp of eye, as he proved almost 20 years ago, when he caught me in his patch south of the cemetery.

He bundled us up in his car (Jack Hill and maybe Hubert Gregg were along) and started talking about how long we would have to stay in jail, etc.

He let us out at our houses, after getting solemn promises never to touch another illicit watermelon.

I'm not sure, but I don't believe he actually intended to put us in jail.

But he did put the fear in us, and left us with a memory that will be hard to forget.

The scene will be repeated in Martin County sometime this summer, although it will be a different patch and a different bunch of scared boys.

These are the things that do not change in Stanton.

One thing that has changed is the school system. Physically, the new high school is an impressive structure, as fine as any.

From what I hear around town the new superintendent, Beryl Dean Clinton, is dead set on making Stanton known as the home of a first-class system. From what has been said over several cups of coffee, I gather that the people are willing to put out what it takes to make such a system.

There seems to be a new spirit toward education. Stanton seems to know that students in most places are learning in high school what used to be saved for college.

There was a time when a man could farm with two words, "Gee" and "Haw."

No more.

Now Stanton is producing high school graduates that are able to tackle the best there is to offer. Norman Blocker, Gordon Stone, and Bobby Carille are going to wind up as Ph.D.s before you know it. And the new crop of students will be even stronger.

One thing that stays the same, fortunately, is Stanton's interest in high school sports.

Another quick dip into the memory tank produces a picture of an unfenced, unlighted football field. People sat in cars or on the ground.

Then came stands.

Then lights.

And somewhere in there Stanton got a full set of uniforms.

The names? Ed Bloomer, the White boys, Freight Train Clinton, Marvin Standerfer, Sousa Stallings, Guy Henson . . . there are dozens more.

Stanton had a successful run of basketball teams just after World War II, and that run is easy to recall. The names pop up just as readily: Billy Avery, Douglas Church, Leroy Gregg, Billy Louder . . . again, there were many others.

The girls were having a fair amount of success about the same time, winning second in the state meet once and fourth another time. I could mention some names there, too, but had better not. I'm spending some time with my sister, Betty Ruth, this week, and if I mentioned the year she played I might wind up with sand in my beans.

The 1950-51 school year was perhaps Stanton's best in athletics, at least as far as winning hardware. Stanton lost the regional football championship to Rochester, 20-19, on a touchdown in the last seven seconds. It was the only loss in 12 games.

Most of the players on that team keep in touch, although it is easy to get out of contact. Marshal Huffman, Bobby Lindley, Lee Graves, James Tunnell, Fred Church, Floyd Deavenport, and Bobby McLain made up the line, with Ray Simpson and James McCoy as top reserves. The backfield included Kenneth Henson, Earl and Gearl Koonce and me, with the Fisher twins, Alvis and Elvis, pushing us.

That basketball team made Stanton's only trip to the state meet, winning third place after losing to champion Cayuga. Kenneth, as most people recall made the all state team.

It was the same story in baseball, where Stanton went as high as it could go, the bi-district championship. The track team mopped up in district and got Norman Koonce to the state meet.

Stanton fell on lean years in sports through most of the 1950s, but a comeback seems to be in store. Today's Stanton athletes are bigger and stronger and faster, not to mention better equipped and trained, than those of previous seasons.

They are also up against rougher competition.

Reminiscing serves little purpose, perhaps, but it is enjoyable in its fashion. It serves to tie us all a little stronger to Stanton.

I do a lot of reminiscing on my too-infrequent visits to Stanton. The thing is, it isn't at all hard to find someone willing to talk over what we call old times.

The thing about Stanton that has changed least is the character of its people. Stanton people are willing to talk about past, present or future—but most of all they are willing to talk to friends. And almost everyone is a friend.

Stanton's character is its strength. Stanton has its quota of backbiters and general all-round no-accounts, but these people are hard to find.

It is not hard to find someone willing to pitch in when someone else needs a hand.

It is not hard to find someone willing to pay for a cup of coffee in return for a few

Late Editor's Son To Get Scholarship

David Snyder, Denver City High School senior and son of the late Cal Snyder and Mrs. Snyder, present proprietor of the Denver City Press, has won the West Texas Press Association journalism scholarship for 1964.

According to James Cornish of the Post (Texas) Dispatch, chairman of the WTPA scholarship committee, young Snyder was chosen out of a field of 15 entries. The award pays $600 over four years of college.

Chosen as first alternate was Terry Williamson of Snyder High School. Second alternate will be Jan Carpenter of Sweetwater.

All three students have indicated that they will attend Texas Technological College to either major or minor in the journalism department there. Young Snyder plans to major in accounting and minimum in journalism in preparing himself for eventual management of his family's newspaper.

Although only 17, he has already had six years of newspaper experience ranging from operation of backshop equipment to writing of stories and the making up of advertisements. He is also a skilled photographer.

David was born in Iowa and moved to Lodi, Calif., with his parents when they began operation of a newspaper there. In 1955 the Snyders came to Texas to take over the Denver City Press.

"I think it is the satisfaction of performing an indispensable service to the public that makes a journalism career exciting and rewarding to me," David said.

"A small town would be rendered practically helpless without its newspaper," he continued. "The newspaper is the bridge between merchant and customer, a messenger carrying information from the individual to the public, an informer of both heart-warming and blood-curdling facts. The newspaper is all these, and it is more: it is the very foundation of democracy."

Along with the practical experience gained on his parents' newspaper, David has found time to be a school leader. He is a top ranking student and president of the Denver City High School National Honor Society. He is the only member of his class who has been elected a class officer each year of high school. He is editor of his high school yearbook and a member of the newspaper staff and of numerous organizations. Last summer he represented Denver City at the Attorney General's Youth Conference in Austin. He is an Eagle Scout and past president of his church's Youth Fellowship. He represents his senior class in Who's Who in American High Schools.
